DAM BREAKS; PEOPLE FLEE TO THE HILLS

Fifteen-Foot Wall of Water Sweeping Down North Potomac.

Structure Has Been Holding 3,000,000,000 Gallons of Water.

No Loss of Life Is Yet Reported in Flood's Path.

Piedmont, W. Va., Jan. 15.—A wall of water fifteen feet high is sweeping down the North branch of the Potomac river following the bursting of the dam of the West Virginia Pulp & Paper company at Dobbin, W. Va., shortly before noon. According to reports received here inhabitants of the valley are fleeing to the hills and the greatest anxiety is felt for the safety of the entire district. No loss of life has been reported.

Piedmont, Westernport and Luke, Md., known as "the tri-towns," are threatened with destruction.

An operator employed by the Western Maryland at Schell, W. Va., fifteen miles below the dam, sent a message to the company's offices at Cumberland, Md., stating that the water was at least twenty feet high and was carrying everything before it, and added:

"I'm going to duck. Good bye."

The dam is 1,025 feet wide at the breast, backing the water up for three and a half miles and holding 3,000,000,000 gallons of water. The dam is 90 feet high on the outside, 65 feet on the inside and built on a concrete foundation 60 feet deep.

Fled To the Hills.

Cumberland, Md., Jan. 15.—Information was received at the offices of the Western Maryland railroad at noon today that the whole of the Stony River dam of the West Virginia Pulp & Paper company near Dobbin, W. Va., had given way.

The employes of the company's mill at Lake, W. Va., in the path of the flood fled to the hills. So far as known there has been no loss of life.

"Only Partly Gone."

Washington, Jan. 15.—A special dispatch to the Star from Cumberland, Md., says forty feet of the West Virginia Pulp & Paper company's dam went out early today; that the remainder of the structure seems to be holding, and that no loss of life has been reported. The West Potomac river at Schell is reported to have risen fifteen feet. Residents were warned and escaped. No estimate of the property damage is made.

ANOTHER WAR IN THE BALKANS IS IMMINENT

Tension Greater Than at Any Time in Recent Struggles.

Berne, Switzerland, Jan. 15.—The situation in Albania is much more grave than is generally acknowledged by the European powers, according to authoritative information gathered in diplomatic circles today.

The various governments are directing all their efforts in order to prevent a fresh outburst of war in the Balkans.

The tension is considered to be greater at present than at any time during the recent Balkan wars, and is said to have reached such a point that Germany has proposed joint Austrian and Italian military intervention in Albania.

The suggested intervention is the reason why Italy and Austria have recently concentrated their warships along the Albanian coast.

Evidence has been obtained by the powers that the Mussulmans are determined to use Albania as a center of disturbances in the Balkans and Greece.

BULL MOOSERS PUT PLATFORM TOGETHER

Demand Referendum on Liquor Question in Pennsylvania.

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 15.—Resolutions setting forth the principles of the Washington, or Progressive party, including the initiative to settle the liquor question and a demand for a constitutional convention, child labor and minimum wage laws, were adopted here today at the conference which has brought together 300 leaders from every county in the state.

James A. Garfield of Ohio, former secretary of the interior, spoke on the national movement of the Progressives.

Gifford Pinchot was given a noisy greeting when introduced. Pennsylvania, he said, made Roosevelt's nomination possible and Wilson would never have been sent to the White House if Pennsylvania had not stood behind Roosevelt. Pinchot is regarded as the probable nominee for the United States senate.

Clapp Will Stump.

Senator Clapp of Minnesota, in a short speech, promised to make addresses in the coming campaign.

A cablegram was sent to Col. Roosevelt extending greetings and best wishes for his health.

MORE TALK ABOUT NEW COMPTROLLER.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Consideration of President Wilson's nomination of John Skelton Williams for comptroller of the currency and member of the Federal reserve board was continued today in the senate banking committee. Administration supporters were confident it would be reported favorably to the senate.

FINALLY DECORATED WITH LEGION OF HONOR

—Copyright by George Grantham Bain.
SARAH BERNHARDT.

Paris, Jan. 15.—Sarah Bernhardt was decorated last night with the Legion of Honor. Mme. Bernhardt had been nominated many times by various ministers of instruction, notably M. Bryand, but the chancery had always rejected the nomination for reasons not made public. It is understood that the same objections were made in the present instance, only to be withdrawn on the direct intervention of President Poincare.

The news of the honor accorded Mme. Bernhardt caused great rejoicing in literary and artistic circles. Hundreds of telegrams of congratulation poured in on her from all parts of the world. The members of Mme. Bernhardt's company presented her with a cross set with brilliants.

FEVER CASE FOUND ON KRON PRINZESSIN

Steamer's Officers Explain Failure to Answer "S. O. S." Call.

New York, Jan. 15.—When the steamer Kron Prinzessin Cecille arrived in quarantine yesterday afternoon, one of the steerage passengers, a girl 16 years old, was found by a health officer to be suffering from fever. Clinical indications led the officer to suspect the case as typhus. Though a bacteriological examination made in the quarantine laboratory did not fully bear out the diagnosis ,the suspected passenger and twelve others who occupied the same compartment on the ship, were removed by the officers and the ship was allowed to go to her pier. The fever suspect was taken to Swinburne island, while the twelve contacts were sent to Hoffman island, where they will be held for observation.

Could Not Answer "S. O. S."

The trip of the Kron Prinzessin Cecille was one of the stormiest experienced by the officers of the vessel. An incident of the voyage was the picking up of an "S. O. S." signal from the steamer Cobequid.

Heavy weather and a short coal supply did not permit the vessel to go to the assistance of the Royal Mail liner.

When the Kron Prinzessin Cecile had docked, customs officials searched closely the baggage of Mrs. Pradza Della Tazena, whose husband was taken off the vessel at Cherbourg by the French authorities on the charge of embezzling $2,000 from the Paris branch of La Banque Suisse. When Tazena was arrested only $200 was found on him. His wife was searched for the remainder of the money, but no large sum was found in her possession. She was allowed to leave the vessel.

ALASKA COAL FAILS ON ITS FIRST TESTS

Bering River Product Not Up to Standard of Navy.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Preliminary tests of Alaskan coal from the Bering river district have been very discouraging to officials who hoped they might develop a new fuel supply for the navy. Rear Admiral Griffin has reported to the house naval affairs committee that the Bering river coal tested is so far under requirements as to be of no value. Coal from the Matanuska fields and other sections of the Bering district is yet to be tested, and the navy is hoping for better results.

Chemical tests of the Bering river coal indicated that it contained a higher efficiency of thermal units than the Pocahontas coal of West Virginia, but when tested in the navy, notably aboard the cruiser Maryland, it developed only 43 per cent efficiency.

Made Immense Clinkers.

It made immense clinkers and covered the grate bars with a molten substance like tar, which shut off the draft.

Opponents of the Alaska railway bill, now being debated in both houses of congress, are pointing to the admiral's testimony before the naval committee. One of the arguments advanced by the supporters of the bill is that a government railroad is needed to tap the Northern coal fields and bring a fuel supply to tidewater for the navy.

SAYRES' SHIP IN DANGER OF SINKING

Steamer Begins to Take Water and Returns to Port.

Cherbourg, France, Jan. 15.—The steamer Majestic, which left here for New York last evening with Francis Bowes Sayre and his wife, formerly Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson, among her passengers, returned to port this morning. Violent seas had broken a number of her starboard portholes and she was taking water through them.

Repairs will be made here by the ship's own workmen. It is expected that the liner will be delayed only a few hours.

COBEQUID IS TOTAL LOSS

All Passengers and Crew Are Taken Off Steamer.

Day and Night of Terror Ends in Safety for All.

Yarmouth, N. S., Jan. 15.—The twenty-four pasesngers and seventy-two members of the crew of the Royal Mail steamer Cobequid, rescued late yesterday, were comfortably housed here this morning and recovering from the effects of their long exposure to icy winds and waves.

When it was seen today that the Cobequid would be a total loss, the captain and men who had remained on board, abandoned her and were taken to St. John on the government steamer Lansdowne.

The Cobequid, impaled on "Trinity rock," six miles off Port Maitland, was badly smashed and coated with ice, but the officers' quarters remained intact. The government steamer Lansdowne stood by throughout the night.

Cabin Only Dry Spot.

Capt. McKinnon of the Westport, the little coastal steamer which rescued seventy-two persons, said today that when he came alongside the Cobequid he found all the passengers and crew in the captain's cabin, the only dry spot on the steamer. The seas were breaking over the main deck. The Cobequid was lying headed to the westward, with the bow down and the stern well out of water.

All of those taken on board the Westport left the Cobequid in three boats launched by the crew of the wrecked vessel. Notwithstanding the gale and the heavy sea, the transfer was accomplished within two hours without accident. The nine women and children among the passengers were the first to be rescued.

Struck Tuesday Morning.

The bay was swept by a typical west-

LINCOLN RELICS SELL FOR OVER $16,500

Original of Thirteenth Amendment Brings $3,250 at Sale.

New York, Jan. 15.—The sum of $16,588 was realized at the opening sessions of the sale of the William Lambert collection of Lincolnia—said to be the finest collection in existence of Abraham Lincoln autographs, books and relics. Book lovers and collectors from many cities attended the sale.

George D. Smith was a persistent bidder and the most extensive purchaser. He paid the top price of the sale, $3,250, for the original copies of the Thirteenth constitutional amendment signed by Lincoln, Colfax and Hamlin. For one of fifty authorized copies of the original Emancipation Proclamation signed by Lincoln and Seward he paid $1,900, and for the "Webster" dictionary for private schools" used by Lincoln when he was an attorney at Springfield, Ill., $730.

E. D. North obtained for $675 originals of the play bill issued by Ford's theater the day on which Lincoln was assassinated—thirty-five in all, mounted in heavy board and bound in half morocco—and for $600 the "Illinois Conveyancer" with "A. Lincoln, 1854," written on the fly-leaf.

Charles Feffler of Philadelphia paid $550 for "A treatise on the limitations of actions at law" and "Suits in equity and admiralty" by Angell, having Lincoln's autograph three times upon legal documents inserted.

REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN DESERTED BY HUSBAND

MRS. P. C. KNOX, JR.

New York, Jan. 15.—P. C. Knox, Jr., has gone away with his mother on a long journey and it is reported that he has left his wife and will not return to her. She was a shopgirl when young Knox married her and he was then a student at college. His parents at first refused to receive her, but they afterward relented. They have never been satisfied with his marriage, however.

WILL HEAR SHIPPERS AS TO RATE ADVANCE

Commerce Commission Will Not Wait for Railroad Action.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Shippers will have opportunity to present to the interstate commerce commission their objections to specific instances in the 5 per cent increase of freight rates proposed by the fifty-two Eastern railroads. They will not be obliged to present objections to the increase as a whole.

The interstate commerce commission today announced that the shippers would first be heard in regard to petroleum. Hearings in other commodities, coal, cement, brick, plaster, flour, packing house products, iron, steel and lumber, will be heard as rapidly as possible.

The railroads have not yet answered the inquiries filed with them Dec. 20, but the commission decided to expedite the proceedings as far as possible by commencing at once hearings on objections.

HEARS SHE IS WIDOW; IS KILLED BY SHOCK

Tomah Woman's Husband Dies of Injuries Received Christmas.

Tomah, Wis., Jan. 15.—Frank Rosenick, aged 32, died here early today from the effects of burns received on a hunting trip on Christmas day. Rosenick entered a railway shanty to rest, built a fire and his clothing ignited from it. Rosenick's wife, who had gone to Chicago to spend Christmas with her parents and who had been kept in ignorance of her husband's condition, was notified of his death by wire and she dropped dead from the shock. Relatives are arranging for a double funeral.

SOUTH AFRICA STRIKE WEAK

Strikers Seem to Be Losing Ground—Bain Has Surrendered.

Over 100,000 Citizens Under Arms to Help Keep Order.

Johannesburg, Jan. 15.—Although the struggle between employers and trades unionists in South Africa continued doggedly today, there were indications that the strikers were losing ground.

The railroad strike showed signs of collapse this afternoon when 250 men applied for reinstatement at Braamfontein.

Secretary Bain of the South African Federation of Trades and his band of 300 comrades, who had barricaded themselves in the trades hall here since Tuesday, surrendered unconditionally to the police today. Mr. Bain and ten other leaders were lodged in jail.

A seven-pounder field gun trained on the Traders' hall proved an irresistible argument to Mr. Bain and his companions. The government authorities gave them a quarter of an hour in which to yield, informing them that if they did not do so they they would be buried beneath the ruins of their fortress. After a brief conference they surrendered.

Open Shop Announced.

The Transvaal Leader, a newspaper which has hitherto employed only union labor, issued only four pages this morning. These had been composed by hand instead of type-setting machines, and contained an announcement that "in future only non-union men will be engaged on this paper."

Along the Rand the situation is reported satisfactory to the government.

Some of the workmen at the mines have volunteered their services for the protection of property.

Although laborers of all trades in the Transvaal and Orange Free State have joined the strike, the workmen of Cape Colony and Natal still are at their occupations. There is evidently some lack of sympathy with the revolutionary platform of the syndicalist strikers, who correspond to the industrialists (I. W. W.) of the United States.

Citizens Under Arms.

Some of the strikers in this city seem to be in an ugly mood, but are restrained by the presence of large forces of armed police, and of the citizens' defense force, over 100,000 of whom answered the call to arms when martial law was proclaimed.

Provisions are still fairly plentiful, although very expensive. Most of the baker shops and grocery stores are still open.

ST. CLOUD PHYSICIAN KILLED BY HIS AUTO

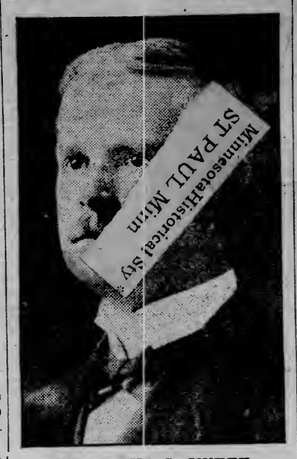

Dr. Vincent Otto Pinned Under Car—Chauffeur Is Injured.

St. Cloud, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. Vincent Otto was instantly killed and Paul Gunderman, his chauffeur, seriously injured when their automobile skidded and turned turtle, several miles west of here last night.

Both Pinned Under Car.

Both men were pinned under the car, but Gunderman succeeded in crawling out. Although severely bruised, he attempted to remove the car from the dead man's body, but was unable to do so until help arrived several hours later.

ELECTED SPEAKER OF NEW YORK ASSEMBLY

THADDEUS C. SWEET.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 15.—Thaddeus C. Sweet of Oswego is the new speaker of the assembly. His election is claimed as a victory alike by the Barnes and the anti-Barnes men.

JAPAN BEGINS RELIEF WORK

Naval Officers Take Charge at Scene of Volcanic Action.

Rescuers Find Warm Ashes Breast Deep—American Aid Offered.

Kagoshima, Japan, Jan. 15.—Telegraphic communication between this city and the north was restored this evening. The officers of the cruiser squadron sent by the Japanese government have taken charge and are rapidly restoring order along the water front.

Many refugees from Kagoshima have returned. All their houses are in ruins and they are compelled to camp. The warships brought a large stock of food and supplies.

The property loss in this city is immense. The clearing away of ashes and debris has not gone far enough to allow even an approximate estimate of the loss of human life.

Sakura Denuded of Life.

A group of thirty-three refugees was rescued from amid a great waste of steaming lava at the foot of the volcano of Sakura-Jima today. Their escape was little short of miraculous. No living being remains, so far as known, on the entire island of Sakura.

The rescue was effected by a boat's crew from the Japanese flagship. As soon as the cruiser squadron arrived here, crews were sent out to circle the island of Sakura, on which the volcano is situated, three miles out in the bay. The contour of the island has been entirely altered during the past week.

The sailors did not risk landing on account of the terrific heat and noxious gases, but made a systematic scrutiny along shore. The entire island was covered with smoking ashes and hot lava.

All was desolation and no sign of human beings was seen until late in

STOCK BROKERS MUST PUT UP COLLATERAL

National City Bank of New York Hits Wall Street Custom.

New York, Jan. 15.—The National City bank today put into effect its new rule requiring the deposits of sufficient collateral to secure any amount of money they may lend to a stock broker on any one day. This practically does away with the time-honored system of over-certification. It is believed that other Wall street banks will follow.

SCHOONER LOST; CREW ALL SAVED.

Boston, Jan. 15.—The foundering of the Bath schooner Grace A. Martin and the rescue of her crew of seventeen men from an open boat, 100 miles off shore by the steamer A. W. Perry, Halifax for Boston, was reported by wireless today.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at noon.

MOYER AMONG THE INDICTED AT HOUGHTON

Federation and Local Union Officers Charged With Conspiracy.

Names of Men Accused of Felonies Withheld Pending Arrests.

Grand Jury Apparently Has Not Acted on Deportation.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, was today indicted for conspiracy, together with other officials of the federation in connection with the strike of the copper miners. The first count of the indictment charges conspiracy to prevent by force and arms the pursuit of their vocations by employes of the mining companies.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A presentment was made to Judge P. H. O'Brien in circuit court here today by the special grand jury which has been investigating lawlessness arising from the copper miners' strike. The court was told that none of the men accused of felonies was in custody, and their names were kept secret.

John E. Anttilla, secretary of the Calumet union, was indicted for conspiracy, the court announcing that this bill charged a misdemeanor and therefore could be made public.

It was brought out that several "no true bills" were included in the grand jury report and the court ordered these made public.

The jury exonerated H. Stuart Goodell, an oil merchant, of complicity in one of the strike shooting affairs.

Thirty-nine in Conspiracy.

The indictment against Anttilla included charges against Charles H. Moyer, president; C. E. Mahoney, vice president; Geo. E. Miller, Yance Tarzich, J. C. Lowney and W. P. Davidson, members of the executive board of the Western Federation of Miners. In addition Lynn Sullivan, William Rickard, Ben Goggia, Frank Aitonen, Charles E. Hietala and other local union leaders were named. The list included thirty-nine individuals.

The first count of the indictment charges conspiracy to prevent "by force and arms" the pursuit of their

COAL COMPANIES AND MINERS WILL MEET

New Wage Scale for Central District to Be Drawn Up.

In Hanapolis, Ind., Jan. 15.—Representatives of the coal mine owners and miners of the central competitive district, comprising the states of Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, met here today to fix a date for the holding of the joint wage scale conference. The present contract expires March 31.

Miners and operators agree that a suspension of work during the negotiations is unnecessary. It has been said that miners are fairly well satisfied with present working conditions.

Two committees, one on resolutions and the other on constitution, of the United Mine Workers of America, which will hold its biennial convention here beginning next Tuesday, commenced work today.

A meeting of the mining department of the American Federation of Labor will be held here during the United Mine Workers' convention. C. H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, is expected to attend.

SIX EARTHQUAKES IN LEGHORN, ITALY

People Are Panic-Stricken, But No Casualties Are Reported.

Leghorn, Italy, Jan. 15.—Six violent earthquake shocks caused a panic in this city today. The shocks started at 4:25 a. m. and lasted till 9:27. No casualties were reported.

NO VICE IN ASHLAND.

State Commission Gives Up Its Inquiry There.

Ashland, Wis., Jan. 15.—The state vice commission, after holding an inquiry here yesterday afternoon and last night, left at 6 o'clock this morning for Rhinelander. The commission's detectives, it is said, were unable to discover vice conditions here on which to base an investigation, and only a few employers of female labor and working girls were examined. The latter were questioned at an executive session.

No Resorts in Rhinelander.

Rhinelander, Wis., Jan. 15.—The state vice commission arrived here this forenoon and this afternoon and tonight will examine a number of witnesses in regard to moral conditions here. There are no industrial plants here employing more than a few women, and no resorts of any sort have been located in this vicinity in the past two years, according to information given to the commission by local reformers who conferred with Chairman Teasdale in regard to the summoning of witnesses. The testimony to be taken will be of a general nature, according to members of the commission.

CITY'S MORALS ARE BEING GIVEN THOROUGH AIRING

Grand Jury Probe Expected to Last Another Full Week.

A wholesale probe of the moral condition of the city which may engage the attention of the January grand jury for several days more is believed to have developed from the inquisitorial body's investigation of the police department. The investigation started Monday afternoon of this week and according to Warren E. Greene, county attorney, the grand jury may not finish its work before the latter part of next week.

Slow progress has been made and only a few of a comparatively large number of witnesses have been called before the jury. Among the witnesses who appeared before the body yesterday afternoon were Osmond G. Twedt, bartender for Gust Egdahl; Henry Brouillette, former patrolman; John Englert, John H. Callahan, patrolmen; Mrs. C. C. Stahli, Sergeant John Roberg and Chief C. H. Troyer of the police department.

Judging from the witnesses who were seen entering the grand jury-room this morning, the matter of the Elgin hotel raid was again taken up by the inquisitorial body. Those who were called into the juryroom were Michael Larkin, Police Officers Ricketts, Olson and Johnson, the latter three taking part in the raid. Larkin is employed as night clerk at the Frederick hotel and it is understood that he was in a position to testify before the grand jury as to the conduct of two of the principals in Elgin hotel affair while they were guests at the Frederick hotel, before the date of the raid.

It is understood that a number of well known gamblers of the city have been subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury in connection with the probe. Before the investigation is completed it is expected that the jury will also listen to the testimony of certain women, formerly engaged in immoral traffic in this city, as to alleged infractions of the law which have gone unobserved by the police.

Was Not Impressed.

Religion didn't appeal to Gust Rodgers, a laborer, last night. With a bundle of squirrel whisky giving him fiery courage, he walked into a Salvation Army meeting and let loose a string of profanity which almost broke up the gathering. A policeman was summoned and placed him under arrest on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. He pleaded guilty in police court today and got $10 and costs or ten days.

Generous Anyway.

If Joe Green stole the $10 which he is accused of having taken from Tony Ruso in a West Michigan street saloon, he evidently didn't mean to profit by the theft, for he gave the money, or most of it, to the cook in the place. Green claims that he found the money on the floor and thought he was returning it to the rightful owner. When brought into court this morning he pleaded not guilty and his case was set for 2 o'clock.

Peddled Without License.

Morrie Seifen, a peddler, was arrested this morning on a charge of peddling without a license. He was canvassing with a pack of dress goods. He pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs or five days.

Sues on Bill.

The James H. Lunz Lumber company of Two Harbors asks for a judgment of $72.90 against Erickson & Lindrose also of Two Harbors, in a suit which is being tried today before Judge Dancer and a jury in district court. The amount is claimed to be due for goods and wares sold to the defendant.

Dispute Over Contract.

A dispute over the terms of a logging contract entered into between E. B. Engren and W. D. Williams, in which Engren agreed to cut and deliver the forest products at a stipulated price to be paid by Williams is on in district court today in a lawsuit which is being tried before Judge Fesler without a jury. Engren, as plaintiff, is seeking to recover $734.16 alleging that this amount is still due him. The defendant denies the liability and presents a counter claim for $1,341.76 which he claims has been overpaid on the account.

Policemen's Ball.

At the regular meeting of the police relief association yesterday afternoon it was decided to hold the annual dance Monday night, Feb. 2, at the Armory. The policemen's dance always draws a big crowd and this year will be no exception. The proceeds are devoted to the funds of the relief association.

True Bills Against Three Postoffice Employes and Three Indians.

Six true bills were returned by the Federal grand jury today and the jurymen were discharged.

Three of the indictments were against employes of the Duluth postoffice and the remainder against Indians on charges of introducing liquor on reservations.

The indictments preferred against the postoffice employes did not come as a surprise as the men were arrested some time ago. The three men are Gustav Lundgrun, Arthur P. Young and Fred C. Hanson. Lundgrun is charged with embezzling $500; Young with embezzling about $300, and Hanson was indicted on the same charge due to a shortage in his accounts. Lundgrun made good the $500, which he is charged with having taken, and Hanson declares he is not responsible for the alleged shortage in his accounts.

Two Indians, Mayne Waywebung and Max Chejuwan, upon being indicted for introducing liquor upon the Leach Lake reservation, pleaded guilty and were sentenced by Judge Morris to sixty days in the jail at Walker and a fine of $100 each. Peter Couture, another Indian, was indicted for introducing liquor upon the Fond du Lac reservation. Couture was arraigned later in the afternoon.

Superior

Poultry Show Next Week.

Preparations for the poultry show to be given by the Douglas County Poultry association Jan. 20 to 24 are about completed. The affair will be held in two vacant buildings on lower Tower avenue. It is expected that there will be more exhibitors this year than in any other year in the history of the association.

Lectures for Farmers.

A course of lectures for farmers will be given next week at the Superior Normal school under auspices of the Social Science club. The courses will be open to all interested in farming and the care of stock. Lectures will be given beginning Monday and closing Friday afternoon. A number of leading farm experts will speak.

Discharged From Custody.

Axel Sellgren of Duluth, who was charged with manslaughter, was discharged on motion of Assistant District Attorney Kennedy when Sellgren was arraigned in police court yesterday. Sellgren was driving a large truck for the Rust-Parker-Martin company in Superior one day last month and ran over Hjalmer Simmons at Tower avenue and Sixth street. The boy died shortly afterwards. He stepped off a car and ran directly in front of the motor car. The attorney held that Sellgren could not successfully be prosecuted by the evidence on hand.

WANTS $15,000 FOR INJURIES

Arguments in the case of Joseph B. McGilligan against the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific railway, which is an action to recover $15,000 for damages for injuries sustained by the plaintiff in a wreck of the defending company, were made by the attorneys in Federal court today. The court has been taking evidence on this case since Tuesday noon.

McGilligan alleges that he sustained severe injuries to his back and side in a wreck near Virginia on Jan. 22, 1913. It is charged that the train upon which he was riding was going at an undue rate of speed to make up a belated schedule causing a breaking of a rail. The plaintiff declares the coach was thrown about 150 feet and that he was hurled against a seat seriously injuring him.

W. M. Steel and A. E. McManus presented arguments for the plaintiff and Hector Baxter for the defendant.

COMMITS SUICIDE AS WEDDING APPROACHES

R. D. Lankford of Southern Railway Kills Self With Gas.

New York, Jan. 15.—Richard D. Lankford, a vice president and secretary of the Southern railway, committed suicide today by inhaling gas in his apartments in Brooklyn. He was soon to have been married to a Brooklyn society girl.

Mr. Lankford was 46 years old. On Saturday he was to have married Miss Nellie Patterson. So far as is known he left nothing explaining his act. A porter employed in the bachelor apartments where he resided smelled gas and forced his way into Mr. Lankford's rooms. In the bathroom lay Lankford's body unclothed.

DULUTH FIRMS ARE TO MAKE EXHIBITS.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Secretary C. N. Barnes of the North Dakota Retail Hardware Dealers' association announces that all but three exhibit spaces for the hardware exposition, which will be a feature of the state convention here, beginning Feb. 18, have been reserved, and applications on file will be sufficient to take these spaces.

Many Twin City and Duluth firms are to be among the exhibitors at the coming show.

The new Loetschberg railway line in Switzerland, opened for traffic on June 28, is of international interest because it gives to the Simplon line a direct outlet to Central and Northern Europe.

TETSIMONY THAT CANNOT BE DOUBTED

I wish to testify to the good that your Swamp-Root did me. I was bothered with Kidney trouble and lame back for some three years; had taken medicine from several doctors but without effect. I finally tried Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and after taking three bottles was completely cured. I have also recommended it to several friends who have been completely cured of kidney and bladder trouble. In one case a friend of mine in Toledo took two bottles of Swamp-Root, which dissolved a stone in his bladder. He has not been troubled since. Also a friend in Springfield, Ohio, who was employed at the Springfield Metallic Casket Company was completely cured of kidney trouble after taking Swamp-Root. I give this testimonial unsolicited, for it may be the means of helping some one else.

Yours gratefully,

NOW LOCKING THEIR DOORS

Settlers of Poupore's Siding Take Precautions Following Murders.

The dual murder and suicide at Poupore's Siding Saturday will abolish an old custom in that community.

Every farmer and settler for miles around the scene of the triple tragedy instinctively locked his doors Sunday night. In many cases it was the first time household doors had been barred for years.

This is attributed to the fact that had Rogers and David Craig, the two murdered men, locked their doors on the night of the murder that they might have escaped death.

Matt Boland, who was also picked for death by Reely, escaped, it is believed, by reason of the fact that he had his door locked on the night of the affair.

After Reely had killed Rogers and Craig, two bachelors who lived together, he went directly to the Boland home, where he attempted to gain admittance. Boland was a heavy sleeper and was not disturbed.

When he opened the door of his cabin on Sunday morning he found the lifeless form of Reely lying across the steps. The top of his head had been blown off evidently by means of the shot gun which was found clinched in his hands.

J. B. Nygaard, a settler at Poupore's Siding, who was in the city yesterday, declared that everybody in the neighborhood now locks his doors at night, although this has not been the custom in years past.

Mr. Nygaard yesterday filed in probate court a petition for appointment as special administrator of the estate of Rogers and Craig, the murdered men. They jointly owned a homestead at Poupore's Siding estimated to be worth $1,400 and left personal property valued at about $150. Rogers has relatives at Aitkin, Minn., but Craig left no heirs.

RIGHT TO STRIKE AT STAKE, HE SAYS

Hilton Talks About Indictments in the Copper Country.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 15.—Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, when informed today that he had been indicted on a charge of conspiracy, said that he would not decide upon a course of action until after he had been formally notified of the indictment and consulted attorneys.

"I shall leave Denver in a few days for Indianapolis to attend the convention of the United Mine Workers of America," he said. "From there I expect to return to the Michigan copper district. So far as this indictment is concerned, I shall make no plans until I have further information."

O. N. Hilton, attorney for the Western Federation of Miners, who had just returned to Denver from the Copper country, said he was unable at present to say what action would be taken with reference to furnishing bond for the indicted union officials. He declared that the indictment would open up the whole question as to the right of labor to organize and to strike to enforce its demands.

FIVE INDICTMENTS AGAINST SHERIFF.

Rock Island, Ill., Jan. 15.—The grand jury today returned five indictments against Sheriff O. L. Bruner, charging him with permitting escape, bribery and embezzlement. One indictment returned by the jury was quashed by the court on technical grounds.

HIS QUANDARY.

Lippincott's: "What I can't git through me," says Farmer Hornyhand, "is how these here dress-makers gits their idees. F'r instance, I seen a woman on th' street that looked 's if they wasn't nobody in her clothes at tall, an' my married darter which is a city dressmaker woman said th' dress wuz 'too full,' when it looked t' me's if it was gosh-dinged nigh empty. An' afterwards I seen one 'at looked's if y' couldn't 'a' squeezed a cambric needle in beside er, an' my darter said 't wasn't full enough,' when it looked t' me's if 't would bust if they tried t' fill it any fuller, by heck."

WHEN BEEF WAS KNIGHTED.

Chicago News: King James I is said to have been so well pleased with a loin of beef as to knight it and make it Sir Loin, or sirloin. However, a story of the same kind was also told of Henry VIII, and is to be found in Fuller's "Church History." Dining with the abbot of Reading, Henry—according to this authority—ate so heartily of a loin of beef that the abbot said he would give 1,000 marks for such a stomach. "Done!" said the king, and kept the abbot a prisoner in the tower until he grew ravenously hungry, and won his 1,000 marks and knighted the beef. But Webster characterizes this etymology as "erroneous," saying that the true spelling should be "surloin"—the "sur" being equal to "super."

INDIANS SAY UNCLE SAM HAS VIOLATED TREATY TERMS

CHIEF MIKE DIVER AND FRANK H. PEQUETTE.

Alleging that the United States government has failed to carry out the terms its agreement with the Fond du Lac band of Chippewa Indians contained in the treaty of 1889, Chief Mike Diver and Frank H. Pequette of that tribe stopped in Duluth today, armed with a set of resolutions drawn up by the Chippewas, which they will lay before the Federal government at Washington, D. C. The charges of bad faith against the government pertain particularly to the provisions of the treaty promising annuities to each Indian family and school privileges.

The resolutions state that the Chippewas have kept their part of the treaty and that they have waited in vain for the Federal government to keep its promises. Following is an excerpt from the resolutions stating what the Indians allege was promised by the government:

"By accepting the treaty of 1889, every family was to have a house built upon his or her allottment, a team of horses was to be given, all farming implements, livestock, schools were to be provided for the Indian children, also churches, annuities were to be paid yearly beginning with the sum of $10 per capita the first year, $20 the next year, $30 the next year, and so on up to five years when each person was to receive $50, that to continue for fifty years, when the Indian would be deemed capable of taking care of himself."

Council-Men.

For the purpose of expediting tribal and reservation business and to reduce expenses, the resolutions demand that a sufficient number of intelligent adult male members of the Fond du Lac reservation, at least twelve or fifteen, be elected to be known as council-men, whose duties shall be to attend to all matters pertaining to the reservation and that the council shall meet at least four times a month at a place to be selected by them.

It is desired, also, that the council draw up a constitution to guide the deliberations.

The Chippewas would take steps to recover the land, which they allege has been taken from the Indian reservation, the boundaries of which were fixed by the treaty of Sept. 30, 1854.

It is alleged that the boundaries concluded at La Pointe, Wis., and that the natural lines enclosing the lands began at an island below "Poscominitig" above Knife Falls in the St. Louis river, due south to a lake known as Trout lake in Wisconsin, thence west through St. Croix lake through the island below the point where the N. P. railroad crosses Kettle river, to the forks of Snake river, thence nearly east to the mouth of the Savannah river, and again from the aforesaid island and nearly east so as to take in Grand Lake, thence west to the mouth of Whiteface river, thence down the St. Louis river to the mouth of the Savannah river.

It is alleged further that the present Indian village of Cloquet embraces the original site set apart for village or agency purposes, but that certain allotments have been taken covering nearly all of the original site. The resolutions demand that the agency be established upon this site.

COPPER COUNTRY REPORTS OPPOSITE

Citizens Say Order Is Preserved; Socialists Report Violence.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Telegrams directly conflicting in their statements of conditions in the Michigan copper district were read today in the senate.

One message to Senator Townsend from a committee which said it represented 20,000 citizens of the district, said law was being enforced and would continue to be enforced. A message to Senator Martine of New Jersey from the executive committee of the national Socialist party said a reign of terror existed in the Copper country, and demanded a congressional investigation.

LUMBER CARRIERS ELECT OFFICERS

Not Much Other Business Done at Annual Meeting.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 15.—Nearly 100 members of the Lumber Carriers' Association of the Great Lakes attended the association's annual convention here yesterday. Aside from the election of officers little business was transacted.

Nothing pertaining to labor conditions on the lakes was brought before the meeting. The work of arranging for a renewal of loading and unloading contracts in ports other than Detroit, Buffalo and Chicago was referred to committees. It is expected contracts will be renewed on the 1913 basis. Officers re-elected for the year are:

HUERTA EXTENDS BANK HOLIDAYS

Will Tax Mortgages to Raise More Government Funds.

Mexico City, Jan. 15.—The banking holidays decreed by President Huerta to enable banks of Mexico City to continue closed, has been extended to March 31. Today was to have been the last of the series.

Another source of revenue has been opened to the government by decree of Huerta placing a tax of 1 per cent on all money invested in mortgages. Exemption is given in the case of mortgages held by charitable institutions or where charitable institutions derive revenue from such an investment. The new tax takes effect immediately, and any failure to pay it will be visited with a fine of three times the amount due.

De La Lama Resigns.

Paris, Jan. 15.—Adolfo de la Lama, Mexican minister of finance, who recently arrived in Paris on a mission in connection with the finances of his country, today cabled his resignation to Gen. Huerta as a protest against the action of the provisional president in repudiating the interest payments on the internal and foreign debts of Mexico. The finance minister said he was not informed of the Mexican government's decision to default on the payments.

To Attack Guadalajara.

Navajoa, Sonora, Mexico, Jan. 15.—Gen. Carranza's southward trip to Culiacan will result in a concentrated movement against Guadalajara, capital of the state of Jalisco, second largest city in Mexico and the strategical key to the interior section of the republic. This was announced at Constitutionalist headquarters.

MINOT WANTS TRACKS LOWERED.

Minot, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—This city will compel the Soo and Great Northern railroads to lower their tracks on Alice street to do away with the grade crossing which has proved exceedingly dangerous. The first step looking toward this objeject was taken by the city commission, which ordered condemnation proceedings.

The Great Northern has agreed to the plan but the Soo has not. The construction work will entail the outlay of about $10,000.

"Rejected Suits."

Tomorrow $14.75 at the Columbia.

WILSON HAS MANY CALLERS AT OFFICE.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Representative Keating of Colorado urged President Wilson today to support a congressional inquiry of the Colorado strike, but Mr. Wilson did not say what course he would pursue.

The earl of Kintore and Oscar S. Straus talked briefly with the president about the forthcoming celebration of the Treaty of Ghent in London.

John Burroughs, the naturalist, and Former Mayor Brand Whitlock of Toledo, Ohio, newly appointed minister to Belgium, also visited the president.

After a conference with the president, Senator Owen said hearings would be begun Feb. 4 on bills for regulating stock exchanges.

75-MILE WALK TO SAVE FRIEND FAILS.

Fort Smith, Ark., Jan. 15.—To save John Sharp, a friend, Brodie Bates, 19 years old, walked seventy-five miles from Brawley, a mountain town, to Fort Smith that he might plead guilty to selling whisky at a picnic. Bates told Judge Frank A. Youngmans of the Federal court that he, and not Sharp, was responsble for the sale of the whisky. The judge, however, fined the boys $100 each, suspending a thirty-day jail sentence, and gave them two months to pay the fine.

DEFENDED HERSELF MOST SUCCESSFULLY.

William Cullen ran into a Tartar when he went home drunk last night and attempted to strike his sister, according to the report in police court this morning.

Grabbing a poker to defend herself, she flayed him over the head with it, inflicting three nasty gashes. She laid him out and then summoned the police. At headquarters Dr. I. J. Murphy, police surgeon, was summoned and dressed the injuries.

When Cullen appeared with the grist this morning his head was swathed in bandages. He pleaded guilty to having been drunk and the court suspended sentence, feeling that he had already been severely punished for his indiscretion.

HAS HIS FIRST EGG SHAMPOO

Gust Carlson Spoils Another Man's Breakfast and Is Arrested.

Gust Carlson had the first egg shampoo of his career this morning and sp oiled another man's breakfast at the same time.

Several sheets in the wind, Gust steered an erratic course into a West Superior street restaurant. Laboring under the handicap of a heavy cargo, he found a berth at the top of a high stool against the beanery's lunch counter. He gave his order between hic-coughs and then began to get groggier than ever. His head began to wobble from side to side. As the momentum increased his body began to sway in unison. Suddenly there was one sway too many, and kerplunk, Gust flopped sideways, his head landing full in the middle of a platter of soft-boiled eggs which had just been served to a man sitting next to him. His feet lost their anchorage and he landed inert and helpless on the floor.

Gust did more damage to the eggs than he did to himself. Bearing in mind the amount of H. C. of L. and the price of eggs Gust might have been taken for a real "plute," for the whole side of his head was one yellow mass of hen fruit. And in these days no ordinary person can afford to wear decorations so golden spread in such lavish abandon.

The boss of the beanery couldn't see it in that light and called a policeman, who bundled Gust off to the police station, where he was locked up on a charge ill-befitting a man so pinendidly and aristocratically adorned, that of common drunkenness. Gust will have his innings in police court this afternoon.

POLICE RAID GREEK CLUB

Arrest Proprietors and Five Members on Gambling Charges.

Louis Gattes, proprietor of a Greek club at 213 West First street, was arraigned in police court this morning on two charges, keping gambling devices and selling liquor without a license.

Gattes and five countrymen were arrested about 10 o'clock last night when a squad of police raided the clubrooms. With the exception of Gattes the prisoners were charged with gambling. In court this morning James Pappos and John Kallas pleaded not guilty. James Cummings, George Smith and Peter A. Apostolakos pleaded guilty.

Gattes denied both charges placed against him and his trial was set for tomorrow afternoon. The other cases were continued for disposition to the same time.

OBITUARY

Gen. Louis Wagner, one of Philadelphia's foremost citizens, former commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, died suddenly at his home Jan. 15. He was 76 years old. Gen. Wagner was a member of the board of trustees of the New York Life Insurance company and of the Philadelphia City Trust, which has in its keeping large estates, including that of Stephen Girard. Gen. Wagner was born in Germany and came to this country with his parents when he was 9 years old. He served in the Civil war as a member of a Pennsylvania regiment and was mustered out as a brevet brigadier-general. He was elected head of the Grand Army in 1880.

Mrs. George C. Lee, widow of a Boston banker, died in Brookline, Mass., Jan. 14, aged 80 years. Her daughter, Alice, was the first wife of Col. Theodore Roosevelt and the mother of Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth.

Benjamin O. Pierce. Hollis professor of mathematics and natural philosophy in Harvard college, died in Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 14. He was author of several books on mathematics and physics.

James A. Foshay, one of the founders and supreme presidents of the Fraternal Brotherhood, died suddenly in Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 14. He was 58 years old.

Mrs. S. Weir Mitchell died of pneumonia at Philadelphia Jan. 15. She became ill after the funeral of her late husband last week. Mrs. Mitchell, who was 77, was Mary Cadwalader, member of a prominent Philadelphia family.

Dr. Wilhelm Thies, aged 61, a graduate of Berlin university and for twenty-seven years a practicing physician of Chicago, dropped dead on the street in Janesville, Wis., Jan. 14 of heart disease.

TELL NEW YORKERS WISCONSIN'S WAYS

Industrial Commission Explains Work to Easterners.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 15.—The new industrial board of New York state heard today from members of the Wisconsin industrial commission how that body administers laws for the betterment of labor and factory conditions. The delegation is headed by James M. Lynch, chairman, and John R. Shilladay, secretary.

Assemblyman J. E. Beck explained how co-operation between employes and employers is secured and maintained, and how various activities of the commission are conducted.

C. W. Price, safety expert of the commission, discussed his work and was followed by Chairman Crownhart and Commissioner Wilcox.

USE OF KNIFE TO CURE CRIME ATTACKED

Chicago Case May Affect Legal Status of Operations.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—A case which is to go to the jury here is expected to affect the legal status of operating surgically to remove criminal tendencies.

A number of these operations have been performed by Dr. E. H. Pratt of Evanston, his patients having included three criminals consigned to him by a Benton Harbor, Mich., judge, who gave the prisoners the option of operations instead of jail sentences.

Dr. Pratt's method was attacked as quackery in Judge McDonald's court today by Stephen A. Malato, assistant state's attorney, in summing up evidence of the prosecution against Harry Hershon, accused of stealing two trunks. Herschon was operated on by Dr. Pratt and the latter testified at the trial that at the time of the alleged theft Hershon was not mentally responsible for his acts, but that he had been restored to a normal condition by the operation.

The state introduced experts who testified against the Pratt methods. Attorney Malato asserted that the claims of Dr. Pratt were "ridiculous, disgusting, vulgar and raw."

Counsel for the defendant attempted to check the attack on the doctor, but Judge McDonald declined to interfere.

The operation on Hershon was performed with the consent of county officials.

FURNITURE MAN LEAVES FOR MARKET.

A. W. Cleveland, vice president and manager of the French & Bassett company, will leave tonight for an extensive inspection of the Chicago, Grand Rapids and Eastern furniture markets, later to be joined in Grand Rapids by Horace Brown, manager of their special furnishing and drapery departments. They will visit New York and Philadelphia for the completion of their purchases and in view of the exceptional increase in business during the past year feel warranted in making more extensive purchases of even higher class merchandise (if that is possible) than in the past.

Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Brown promise the citizens of Duluth and vicinity, the choice of the best to be had in all markets and some agreeable surprises for those visiting this well-known establishment during the spring and summer.

CLAIMS SAFETY BILL WOULD DELAY TRAINS

Dice Opposes Esch Plan for Automatic Block Signals.

Washington, Jan. 5.—Representative Esch's bill to empower the interstate commerce commission to compel installation of automatic block signals and to control the speed and headway of trains, was taken up today by the house committee on commerce.

Vice President Dice of the Reading, appearing for the American Railway association, opposed it, declared that some provisions would prevent fast operation of trains demanded by the public.

Morenci, Arizona, has no streets, only steep trails over the rocks and mountains. The town contains no automobiles or vehicles of any kind, and sturdy ponies, mules and burrows pack all the supplies, while funerals must be attended by train.

What Thin Folks Should Do To Gain Weight

Physician's Advice For Thin, Undeveloped Men and Women

Thousands of people suffer from excessive thinness, weak nerves and feeble stomachs, who having tried advertised flesh-makers, food-fads, physical culture stunts and rub-on creams, resign themselves to lifelong skinniness and think nothing will make them fat. Yet their case is not hopeless. A recently discovered regenerative force makes fat grow after years of thinness, and is also unequalled for repairing the waste of sickness or faulty digestion and for strengthening the nerves. This remarkable discovery is called Sargol. Six strength-giving, fat-producing elements of acknowledged merit have been combined in this peerless preparation, which is indorsed by eminent physicians and used by prominent people everywhere. It is absolutely harmless, inexpensive and efficient.

A month's systematic use of Sargol should produce flesh and strength by correcting faults of digestion and by supplying highly concentrated fats to the blood. Increased nourishment is obtained from the food eaten, and the additional fats that thin people need are provided. Boyce's drug store and other leading druggists supply Sargol and say there is a large demand for it.

While this new preparation has given splendid results as a nerve-tonic and vitalizer, it should not be used by nervous people unless they wish to gain at least ten pounds of flesh.

HILL IRON ORE DEAL IS PREDICTED

Is Said to Involve Spending $5,000,000 on the Ranges.

Hills and Thompson Go to New York This Week.

Magnate Is Not to Make the Trip to Europe.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A deal involving many millions of dollars in connection with the Hill iron ore interests is pending, and negotiations will be closed in New York within a week or ten days.

It is stated upon reliable authority that James J. Hill is preparing to open his Fifth avenue home in New York and will move his family there temporarily. L. W. Hill is preparing to leave for New York tonight, and Carmi Thompson, former treasurer of the United States and in charge of the Hill ore lands, will leave with Mr. Hill or will follow tomorrow night. James J. Hill and his family, it is reported, will go early next week.

Will Spend $5,000,000.

Although the exact nature of the deal is unknown, it is said upon reliable authority that $5,000,000 will be spent on the iron range this year in equipment and improvements for mining.

Rumors that steel mills will be started in Superior to consume a large part of the ore were revived today.

How long the Hills will remain in New York is not known, but it will be at least several weeks.

It was said at the offices of J. J. Hill today that he was not going to Europe, as was reported.

"Rejected Suits."

Tomorrow $14.75 at the Columbia.

BULLISH FEELING IN MINING STOCKS

Quotations Show Advances With Good Buying Through General List.

The market in mining stocks was almost in old-time bullish proportions in the East today. Sentiment was helped by the stronger tone in copper metal with a sharp rise coming in at London. Amalgamated Copper declared its regular quarterly dividend of 1¾c, and that also was a strong card. Advances in quotations were general through the list. Butte & Superior was a feature, closing 75c up at $33.50; Granby closed $1.50 up at $77.25; North Butte 50c up at $28.25; Shattuck 50c up at $27.50; Amalgamated Copper 75c up at $74.12; and Butte & Ballaklava a shade off at $3.94.

In the Duluth curb list sales of Calumet & Corbin were reported at 15c, Calumet & Sonora at 70c and Carman at 25c.

Granby's new smelter in the Hidden creek district is expected to start up in a few days, working to capacity. The new plant will double the company's output, and the richer ore should mean, it is thought, better than double the former profits.

Latest reports from Braden Copper indicate an ore reserve of 78,000,000 tons.

A wire received by Gay & Sturgis from Boston today said: "It is time to stop being pessimistic, but we want our friends to buy on the weak days and not on the rallies. The public is ready and anxious to come into the market. They have been taking large amounts of investment stock in odd lots. Almost every hundred shares of investment stock that comes into the market is taken by odd-lot houses to be split up for investors. In one day this week we put through seventy-seven transfers. All this will have to tell in the long run, but if we buy on a movement such as was engineered yesterday afternoon, we are liable to experience an uncomfortable half-hour some day when it will look as though the bottom was dropping out of the market."

STEAMER'S DECK SWEPT BY WAVE.

New York, Jan. 15.—With her bridge torn away by a giant sea and her decks deep in snow, the steamship Oceanic of the White Star line came in today from Southampton, twenty-six hours late. She brought 362 passengers. It was on Tuesday, during the gale that carried with it sleet, hail and snow, that the big sea came aboard. It buried the forward deck, mounted to the bridge and carried away everything movable.

ARE VICTIMS OF SCIENCE

Remarkable Story Told of Human Sacrifice and Torture.

Berlin Specialist Describes Terrible Agony of the Patients.

Berlin, Jan. 15.—Europe's poorer classes are mere raw material for vivisection by surgeons and doctors. No ailing poor man, woman or child can be put in a doctor's hands without the fear that he or she will be sacrificed to science by being operated on for some non-existent complaint or inoculated purposely with some hideous and even fatal disease. So at least declares Prof. Paul Foerster of this city, and he is backed up by the Austrian doctor, Acken.

Particularly is that so in university and municipal hospitals and clinics, in maternity homes, and in foundling hospitals. This is no mere accusation of anti-vivisection zealots. The vivisectors confess it themselves. Their medical journals and their books show that all over Europe poor patients, without themselves suspecting it, are being tortured and ruined in health in order to increase the sum of medical and surgical knowledge.

Transferring cancer, infecting with bubonic plague, injection of the smallpox virus, dangerous experiments with the heart, wholesale injection of tuberculosis cultures, and artificial production of hideous diseases, and operations for ailments which do not exist, are only a few of the ways in which the poor in Europe's hospitals are victimized.

Experiments In Inoculation.

The scientific operations on healthy organs are the least deadly of these experiments, as they do not usually result in death, but Prof. Foerster declares that death often results in hospitals from experiments in inoculation and infection. Dr. Acken says that a large proportion of operations in hospitals of Central Europe are "undertaken merely to satisfy medical curiosity." He divides these experiments into three classes. Operations on patients who need no operation at all; necessary operations which, however, are pushed for experiment reasons farther than they should be, and in which healing is artificially delayed; and finally cases where necessary operations are not carried out because the human vivisectors, in order to solve doubtful questions of surgery prefer to undertake unnecessary operations.

The amount of disease purposely caused by some of Europe's best doctors is large. Prof. von Vergmann, one of the great physicians who attended the late Emperor Frederick, practiced the experiment of inoculating patients with cancer, "to see how it took." Prof. Foerster gives names of three eminent doctors who inoculate poor children with smallpox poison; and of others who make dangerous experiments with their patients' hearts. In Berlin, the well known Dr. Kolle admits having used bubonic plague cultures obtained from two men who died in London, for the purpose of testing the virus on healthy men. In this case, says Kolle, the men agreed to the experiment. But in nearly all cases the patients, who are mostly ignorant men and women, imagine they are being cured. In reality they are being kept in the hospital for weeks and even for months while doctors inject into their veins the germs of terrible diseases, and then conscientiously cure them.

Injection of Tuberculin.

One of the most popular experiments is with tuberculosis cultures. This has been carried out on a vast scale. Injection of tuberculin is defended on the ground that it does no harm to entirely healthy men, while it hastens on tuberculosis in men who have a hereditary taint. In this way forty Wurzburg recruits were inoculated with the culture without suffering any harm. Often the tuberculin is used more dangerously for injection into persons, and even children, of whose records as regards tuberculosis nothing is known. Prof. Lichtheim of Konigsburg university injected the culture into thirty-one newly-born infants. These experiments were carried out at a time when the use of tuberculin, as a means of curing really consumptive patients, had caused numerous deaths. The director of the Royal Women's hospital admits having inoculated forty newly-born children with tuberculin in doses fifty-fold stronger than Koch prescribed for 5-year-old children. This experimentor admits that his conscience was afflicted by the vision of the hectic cheeks, tremendous rise in temperature and wailing. All these were poor children.

Poisonous Matter Injected.

Prof. Foerster gives us another dangerous and widely practiced form of human vivisection, the introduction into the blood of healthy persons of poisonous matter from the bodies of victims of peritonitis and puerperal fever. These experiments are made with the purpose of producing the disease. An experiment carried out in one clinic is the inoculation of a boy patient with poisonous matter from boils, so as to produce boils all over the victim's body.

In many European hospitals far-fetched and ingenious experiments are made, and tremendous suffering inflicted, merely in order to test vague theories of individual doctors. One experiment described by Prof. Foerster is the artificial stoppage of all the functioning of the skin. This is done in order to aggravate a sufferer's rheumatism. The doctors invented the theory that rheumatism is the result of insufficient activity of the skin. If this theory was true then a complete cessation of skin activity would make the rheumatism worse. The doctrine was put to tests.

One test consisted in completely casing the arms and legs of two rheumatism sufferers in plaster of paris, and covering their bodies with collodium and castor oil. One patient was kept in this state for eight days, in the hope that his rheumatism would get worse, and thus prove the theory right. A third patient, a woman, was then subjected to a much rougher test. Her whole body and face were daubed with ordinary tar; her hair was cut off; and her head also sealed up. She was kept thus for eight days. The experiments caused torture, but they proved nothing; for the rheumatism underwent no change.

A Favorite Experiment.

A favorite experiment of the human vivisectionists is to combine operations with artifical production of disease. Prof. Menge of Heidelberg, reports eighty such cases. In these cases he introduced poisonous matter into the bodies of women on whom he was about to perform laparotomy.

Dr. Acken declares that in Austria at least one operation out of five is carried out without need; and that at least one out of ten is carried out not only without heed, but with the surgeon's knowledge. "In nearly all cases when our surgeons are in doubt they operate." In the case of poor persons they systematically operate where no operation is needed. "Men and women come with some trifling complaint for which operation is no cure; and suddenly without any explanation they find themselves on the operating table with chloroform caps over their faces."

Human vivisection, says Foerster, is carried out, mainly for reasons of economy. Poor people are cheaper than animals. The Stockholm specialist, Janson, admits that. In one of his reports he explains that he ceased vivisecting calves, and began vivisecting human beings for no other reason than that calves were too dear.

LAND ATTORNEY PASSES AWAY

James K. Redington of Washington Dies at Los Angeles.

Word has been received from Los Angeles, Cal., of the death of Former Judge James K. Redington of Washington, D. C., at the California hospital at Los Angeles, to which city he went about eight months ago. He was 65 years old and leaves two sons, one in New York City and the other in Arizona. The body was shipped back to Washington for burial.

Judge Redington was well known in Duluth, especially to the older residents of the city. He was a land attorney and was prominent in the litigation over the famous Section 30 on the Vermilion iron range. He was supposed to represent the interests of the Minnesota Iron company in this case, although the company itself did not appear as a contestant. He practiced for years before the general land office at Washington, and visited Duluth frequently when the Section 30 case was before the local land office.

Los Angeles Times: Miss Gladys Ravenscroft, the new golf champion, was talking in Wilmington about the royal game's difficulties.

"When I began to play," she said, "I had a crusty old Scot for caddie. After I had worked very hard for some months, I asked this crusty old Scot one day:

"'Well, Saunders, how am I getting on?'

"Saunders answered gruffly:

"'Yer no makin' a fool o' yerself, but ye'll never be a gowfer.'"

A FAIR OFFER.

Atlanta Constitution: "If the government will let me out of jail," says a Georgia moonshiner, "I'll quit bein' agin' it, and I'll accept one o' them foreign missions the president is havin' so much trouble in fillin', but in jail yer hands are tied an' you kin do nothin' fer yer country."

The value of farm animals in this country last year was $5,008,149,600.

WILSON DOUBTS THE TRADE WAR REPORT

Does Not Believe England and Germany Are in League.

Washington, Jan. 15. — President Wilson told inquirers today that he did not believe the report that Great Britain and Germany were united in a trade war in South America against the United States. When published articles on that subject were called to the president's attention, he pronounced them baseless, so far as his information extended.

The president made it clear that he would use practically all of the sixty days at his disposal before making any further selections for the Federal reserve board.

A BED TRUNK.

Washington Star: There is a new sort of trunk on the market, or, perhaps, it should be called a new kind of bed. It is both. From the outside it looks like an ordinary trunk of good size. When you travel you fill the trunk with clothes—and it will hold about as many as the ordinary trunk—and start forth. When you stop for the night, you open your trunk, remove the springs and cushion, arrange the springs on the open trunk, put the cushion on them, and go to bed. A simple operation, this.

RELIGION VS. BUSINESS.

Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph: Two brothers down in Southern Illinois run a country store and they have a large trade in wool, on barter. One of the brothers joined the church and became exceedingly religious. He soon got a habit of talking to his brother about the beauties and comforts of religion and tried to persuade him to join the church.

"Yes, brother Jim, I know that it must be comforting and altogether helpful to body and soul to be a good church member," said John, "and I would like to join. But jest look ye, Jim, there has got to be somebody here of the firm to weight this yere wool."

A new form of farm tractor, built to travel over the softest soils, consists of a pair of broad spiked wheels on a frame to be fastened under an automobile's driving wheels and take power from its motor.

How About Your Kidneys?

Every pain, every ache, is a little warning—one of nature's alarm signs, telling you something is out of order. Invariably the kidneys are to blame. They are the organs that remove the poisonous matter from the blood. If they are inflamed, congested or otherwise weakened in their action, the poison remains in the blood and the whole system becomes filled with uric acid. Many physicians say that Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy is the only medicine that can heal with certainty the frail, tubular structures constituting these important organs. It is made from the fresh juices of plants and medicinal roots, gathered at the proper season in various quarters of the globe. Men skilled in botany and chemistry compound it. It is pleasant to the taste and agreeable to the most sensitive stomach. For thirty-six years the record of results obtained from the use of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy has been remarkable in the restoration to health of thousands. A trial will prove its efficacy in your case. Free sample if you write Warner's Safe Remedies Co., Dept. 375, Rochester, N. Y.

A WAVE THAT "STAYS PUT"

How to Curl the Hair Without Injuring It and to Make It Last.

Chicago Inter-Ocean: Every woman whether quite young or of more mature age, improves her whole appearance if her hair is prettily waved and becomingly dressed, and just now when the hair is worn so close to the head it is woefully flat and plastery unless it has a little fluffiness in it.

Naturally wavy hair is unfortunately very rare, and curling and waving tongs, when used in the ordinary way, are most injurious, making the hair harsh and brittle, and in the case of fair or auburn hair spoiling the color.

To wave the hair so that it does not receive any injury and yet will retain the wave for some days requires the expenditure of a slightly longer time than would be necessary in the ordinary way, but even the busy woman, the clerk or typist, could and would spare a little while, say, on a Saturday afternoon or Sunday morning to waving her hair, if it would last for the remainder of the week.

Shake the hair down, brush it out, then dip a perfectly clean brush into some soft water and pass it through the hair, making it slightly damp but not wet. Then take a slip of soft, thin muslin, the full length of the hair and about five inches wide, make it quite damp, take a strand of the hair, fold the muslin over it and apply the waving tongs, making the waves in the usual way, from the roots downward.

The waving tongs should not be too hot, and should remain on the muslin until it becomes dry. Then redamp the muslin and apply to another strand of the hair till the whole head has been treated.

When all the hair has been waved comb it through lightly and dress it. This wave will remain in for a week. Should the hair be very harsh and naturally dry, rub a very little oil into the roots before commencing the wave. Remember always to put the waves each time in the same place and gradually the hair will remain in waves longer and longer until it becomes almost natural.

Another method of inducing a natural looking wave consists of applying a curling fluid and then arranging the hair in waves with invisible hairpins till it becomes quite dry.

When dry, the pins are removed and the hair remains waved. To do this brush the hair out, dampen it with a curling fluid, then comb it flat against the head.

Divide the hair with a center parting, and with a fine comb push it out for about an inch from the parting, then slip in an invisible hairpin, fastening it in place. Arrange the pins at a distance of an inch or an inch and a half apart along the side of the head on both sides of the parting, pulling the hair out between each pin till the whole has been done. Leave the pins in till the hair is perfectly dry, then remove and comb lightly through.

A Curling Fluid—There are many curling fluids which can be bought ready for use, but for those who prefer to make their own the following will be found excellent:

Take one ounce of gum arabic, half an ounce of moist sugar and dissolve them in three-quarters of a pint of water. When dissolved, add two ounces of rectified spirit and shake thoroughly. Bottle and use when required.

Points to Remember—1. Always put the waving tongs each time to the position of the old wave, as by doing this the hair will eventually asssume a natural wave.

2. When using curling fluid, use very little, but brush it well into the hair.

DR. SAMUEL JOHNSON.

A French portrait of the Great Lexicographer, by H. Taine: At 25 he married, for love, a woman of about 50, who was small, very fat, with swelled cheeks of a florid red, produced by thick painting, flaring and fantastic in her dress, and who had children as old as himself. On coming to London to as himself. On coming to London to earn his bread, some, seeing his convulsive grimaces, took him for an idiot; others, seeing his robust frame, advised him to buy a porter's knot. For thirty years he worked as a hack for publishers, whom he used to thrash when they became impertinent. He was always shabby. Once he fasted two days. He was content when he could dine on six pence worth of meat and a penny worth of bread. He wrote a novel ("Rasselas") in eight nights in order to pay for his mother's funeral. When pensioned by the king and freed from his daily labors he gave way to his natural indolence, often lying in bed till midday and after. This is the time to visit him. We mount the stairs of a gloomy house in a narrow and obscure court on the north side of Fleet street, the busy quarter of London, and as we enter we hear the scoldings of four women and an old quack doctor—poor, penniless creatures, bad in health and in disposition—whom he has rescued, whom he supports, who vex or insult him. We ask for the doctor, a negro opens the door, and we gather round the master's bed; there are always many distinguished people at his levee, including even ladies. Thus surrounded, he "declaims," until dinner time, when he goes to a tavern and talks all the evening; thereafter he goes out to enjoy in the streets the London mud and fog, picks up a friend to talk again, and goes on pronouncing oracles and maintaining his opinions till 4 in the morning.

DUMAS' LOSS.

New Orleans States: Job Hedges was answering an opponent of scientific management.

"My dear sir," he said, "do you know whom you remind me of? Well, you remind me of the elder Dumas—Dumas pere.

"Dumas pere wasn't in the habit of counting his money. One day, however, in leaving his money on the mantel, he counted it—nine louis—and went into the bathroom to shave. On his return, a quarter of an hour later, his servant was dusting the furniture, and of the little pile of gold on the mantel only seven louis remained.

"'A loss of two louis,' sighed Dumas pere. 'I never counted my money before, and I'll never do it again. It doesn't pay.'"

To Keep Skin Healthy Youthful, Wrinkleless

Now that the social season is here, be especially careful to keep your skin in fine condition. You know how conspicious complexion defects appear under the bright light of the drawing or ball room. Also how very evident are some makeups when similarly illuminated. I have myself discarded cosmetics entirely, using a process which gives far better results, and which leaves no trace on the skin. At night I smear on a thin coat of ordinary mercolized wax, washing it off next morning. This gradually absorbs the devitalized particles of surface skin; just as gradually the more youthful skin beneath comes forth, providing a complexion as clear, smooth and delicately tinted as a young girl's. Get an ounce of mercolized wax at your druggist's and try this remarkable treatment.

Remember, too, that wrinkles, even the finer lines, are not easily concealed in a brilliantly lighted room. You can quickly obliterate these hateful marks by bathing your face in a solution of powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in witch hazel, ½ pt. And your face won't look sticky, as after using pastes.—Aunt Sally in Woman's Realm. Advertisement.

How to Cure Rheumatism

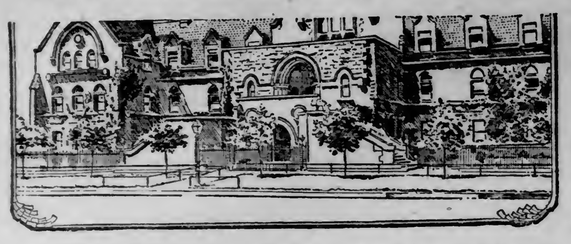

Prominent Doctor's Best Prescription Easily Mixed at Home.

This simple and harmless formula has worked wonders for all who have tried it, quickly relieving chronic and acute rheumatism and backache. "From your druggist get one ounce of Toris compound (in original sealed package) and one ounce of Syrup of Sarsaparilla compound. Take these two ingredients home and put them in a half pint of good whisky. Shake the bottle and take a tablespoonful before each meal and at bedtime." Good results come after the first few doses. If your druggist does not have Toris compound in stock he will get it for you in a few hours from his wholesale house. Don't be influenced to take a patent medicine instead of this. Insist on having the genuine Toris compound in the original, one-ounce, sealed, yellow package. This was published here last winter and hundreds of the worst cases were cured by it in a short time. Use Peruna for Coughs, Colds - Grip

With the approach of winter colds and grip are prevalent. Both of these need to be treated at once, to prevent them from becoming very serious. It is interesting to learn in this connection that numerous charity hospitals are using Peruna. Peruna seems to be successful in their hands in the treatment of colds, cough, grip and dyspepsia, and in all other cases where a reliable tonic laxative is required.

A Prominent Charity Hospital in Quebec Writes as Follows:

"Although we have used Peruna for only three or four weeks, we are happy to state that it has been with excellent results. Several persons suffering from dyspepsia and constipation have been benefited by its use."

A Later Letter States:

"We are pleased to say that we have found Peruna a very good and useful remedy in several cases, and we are happy to recommend it to others."

Another Canadian Hospital Writes:

"We have been using your Peruna during the past month and we take pleasure in stating that the results obtained thus far are most satisfactory." A later letter states:

"We have used your remedy in a number of different cases and the result obtained is very good."

Convent Uses Peruna for Grip.

A prominent Montreal, Province Quebec, convent writes: "Some of our Sisters have used Peruna with happy results. It is especially good as a tonic after la grippe, or a severe cold."

Another Canadian Hospital Reports Its Experience.

"We are happy to tell you that your Peruna has given us satisfaction. Three patients have tried it. One 68 years old, Benoui Dupuis, afflicted with catarrh, is much relieved, more than he has been for a number of years. A young girl, 15 years old, had an obstinate cough, which half a bottle of Peruna caused to disappear. As to myself, two bottles have convinced me that Peruna is magnificent as a tonic. Before the treatment I could not walk for a quarter of an hour without experiencing much fatigue. Now I can walk a mile easily. Through these three cases we desire to make known to the public the efficiency of your remedy."

A Later Letter Highly Recommends Peruna for Colds and Catarrh.

"Three weeks ago I wrote to tell you how satisfactory we found Peruna. We recommend it highly for colds, catarrh and neuralgia. I have used it myself as a tonic with the best results, taken as directed, half a teaspoonful every half hour."

A Well Known Institution in Quebec has Found Peruna Useful in Indigestion and Debility.

"We have given your valuable medicine, Peruna, a fair trial, and it has given general satisfaction to our patients suffering from weak digestion, debility and nervous headache."

TANGO AND "IMMODEST DRESS" CONDEMNED

Bishops of Belgium and Archbishop of Bologna Issue Letters.

Brussels, Jan. 15.—The bishops of Belgium have issued a joint letter condemning the tango and other dances which are "threatening to invade Christian homes," and the "more and more accentuated immodesty of feminine dress."

"Savage's Dance."

Bologna, Italy, Jan. 15.—Monsignor Della Chiesa, archbishop of Bologna and formerly papal under secretary of state, has issued a pastoral letter strongly condemning the tango. The archbishop says he knows of the dance only through illustrations in the newspapers. He warns the clergy and the people especially against certain forms of the dance. The newspapers publishing the pastoral letter call the tango a "savage's dance."

CROWDS ATTENDING FARGO AUTO SHOW.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is a large attendance at the Fargo-Moorhead automobile show. The general public has shown a great interest in the exhibition of the machines and Friday and Saturday promise to draw large crowds from the country. Every foot of available floor space in the Armory-auditorium is being utilized.

North Dakotan Candidate.

Minnewaukan, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—State Senator James Duncan of Benson county announces that he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for the state railroad commission. Senator Duncan has twice been a member of the upper house, and two sessions previously he served in the house.

Heating of Street Cars

It is doubtful if many of the persons who complain of the way street cars are heated have given more than a passing thought to the difficulties of the problem.

There is nothing quite so hard to heat as a street car. This is particularly true when low temperature is accompanied by a high wind. Thus far no means has been invented for keeping the air just inside the constantly opening door or close to the walls, which are practically all glass, from sixty to ninety degrees warmer than the air immediately outside, as sometimes seems to be expected.

Our cars are heated by means of hot water which is the most satisfactory method known for this climate. Most passengers keep on their heavy outdoor clothing while riding in street cars in cold weather and a temperature as high as that maintained in our homes and offices would be very uncomfortable to them. We instruct our employes to keep the temperture in the cars as near 60 degs. as possible at all times, but this is not possible when the outside temperature is below zero with a strong wind blowing.

We wish to remind those who are familiar with the operation of hot water heating systems in their homes that the rapid circulation which they are able to secure by placing the heater at a considerably lower level than the radiating surfaces cannot be obtained in a car. In a car the radiating surfaces must necessarily be placed below the level of the heater and this is a serious handicap in obtaining good circulation.

While hot water heaters are, all things considered, by far the most efficient for heating cars in this climate things sometimes go wrong with them, as would be the case with any other system. The causes of trouble are sometimes such as cannot be foreseen by the management nor controlled by the employes and sometimes due to an attempt to force the circulation too rapidly by the motorman, but the usual result in either case is a poor circulation and a cold car with a hot fire in the heater.

If under such circumstances the employes increase the fire in the heater in response to the requests they always get from passengers to "fire up" it results in mixing steam with the water, shutting off the circulation entirely and sometimes in blowing all of the water in the heater out through the safety valve on the roof of the car. When the circulation has been stopped by such forcing the only way to make the car warm again is to allow the fire to go down and then to rebuild it slowly, re-establishing the circulation of water very slowly without getting steam mixed with it by attempting to force it. To do this the car is pulled into the car house but often while it is completing a long trip, or before it can be exchanged for a warm car, many pasengers are likely to ride upon it and suffer more or less from the cold. We are using every effort to make such cases as rare as possible and we believe that our employes generally observe our instructions to notify the office promptly when they have a car which it is necessary to take off the line to get the heating system working properly again. It is possible that employes may sometimes neglect to do this and for that reason we are always glad to have passsengers promptly notify our office when they find cars unusually cold. We always make it a point to have cars looked after at the very first opportunity.

LAKE PORTS' MEN MEET

Traffic Commissioners Consider Divorcing of Boat Lines and Railroads.

Will Get Sentiment of Their Organizations and Meet in February.

G. Roy Hall, secretary of the traffic commission of the Duluth Commercial club, returned this morning from Chicago, where he spent yesterday at a meeting of representatives of the traffic commissions of the leading lake ports, discussing matters that affect the ports in general. The cities, besides Duluth, that were represented at the meeting were Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit, Milwaukee and Chicago.

The matter under discussion was the law recently passed divorcing the boat lines and the railroads. The law came as an amendment to the interstate commerce law, and provides that no railroad can own, hold stock in or in any way be connected with a boat line with which it competes. However, the interstate commerce commission is given discretionary powers in connection with the law's enforcement. Under the law it was to go in force on July 1, 1914, but the commission is empowered to extend the time where it sees fit, for the benefit of trade or other sufficient reasons.

The traffic men met for the purpose of deciding how to petition the commission; that is, as to whether it will be well to have the law enforced or to have the time extended. Mr. Hall said this morning, however, that while there was some discussion no sentiment was expressed. The respective traffic commissioners were directed to return to their organizations, present the matter and find out the desires of these organizations. Then they will hold another meeting in February, at which time some plan will be formed and the interstate commerce commission will be petitioned one way or the other.

BIRTHDAY OF ROBERT BURNS

Anniversary Will Be Celebrated By Members of Clan Stewart.

At the meeting of the amusement committee of Clan Stewart, held in the U. O. F. hall last night, final arrangements were made for the celebration of the 155th anniversary of the birth of the Scottish poet, Robert Burns. The celebration will consist of a banquet, concert and ball, to be given at the Spalding hotel on the evening of Jan. 26. The banquet will be served at 7 o'clock.

The toast "Robert Burns," which will be the only toast given at the banquet, will be responded to by W. D. Gordon, who was chief of Clan Stewart in 1896-1897, and who at present time is royal deputy for the Order of Scottish Clans in the state of Minnesota. He has just received his commission as royal deputy from Royal Chief Findlay of Seattle, and this will be his first official visit to the local clan. From here he expects to make a trip to Virginia and Hibbing to complete the organization of a clan on the range.

Philip Gordon Brown, J. R. Batchelor, Miss Maud Matteson, Miss Richardson, A. F. Melrose and Master Willis Peer will sing. Miss Daisy McAskill and Miss Margaret Smith will give an exhibition of Scottish dances, and Miss Agnes Mae Johnson will read. Clan Stewart bagpipe band will discourse Scottish airs several times during the evening.

The anniversary this year has aroused widespread interest, inquiries having been received from all of the range towns and from Cloquet, Two Harbors and Ashland. It is expected that the records of attendance of this annual affair will be surpassed this year.

The amusement committee also arranged for a "stag" social, to be given at the clan hall on Wednesday, Jan. 21. After the business meeting, which will close at 9 o'clock, the meeting will be open to friends of the clansmen who are eligible for membership. A number of vaudeville stunts will be presented, including one entitled "Among the Scotch in Swedeland." During the program coffee, sandwiches and cigars will be served.

The newly elected chief, Angus Macaulay, will preside both at the Burns affair and at the stag social.

BANKERS OPTIMISTIC.

North Dakota Financiers See Good Times in Country.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Reports by heads of a dozen banks in western North Dakota, made yesterday at the conference in this city of the various bankers associated with D. N. Tallman of Willmar, Minn., indicate a general spirit of business optimism in the state.

"We are very well satisfied with the outlook," said Mr. Tallman. "It is true that in many parts of the state business is rather quiet, but we do not regard that as a bad sign.

"The experience of the last three years have taught the bankers and business men a lesson, and as a result they are operating on a more conservative basis than formerly. Business, although somewhat quiet, is, I think, being operated on a sound basis everywhere, and conditions are generally satisfactory, especially when the difficulties of the last three years are considered."

D. R. McLENNAN NOW A BANK DIRECTOR

The career of D. R. McLennan, a former Duluthian, has been watched with interest by his hosts of friends in Duluth, and the latest achievement adding to his success will interest them all. That is his election to the directorate of the Continental and Commercial National Bank of Chicago. Two vacancies occurred, one by death and the other by retirement. Mr. McLennan was chosen for one but the other, according to the Chicago Record-Herald of Chicago, has not yet been filled.

Mr. McLennan will be associated on the directorate with such men as J. Ogden Armour, Eugene J. Buffington, president of the Illinois Steel company, Edward A. Cudahy, President A. J. Earling of the Milwaukee road, Elbert H. Gary, Edward Hines, President Darius Miller of the C. B. & Q. road, Frederick E. Weyerhaeuser, and other noted financiers.

Only recently Mr. McLennan startled the insurance world by landing the largest railroad fire insurance policy ever handled by one company. It was a blanket policy for $12,000,000 or over, covering the property of the Canadian Pacific railway. He is a member of the firm of Marsh & McLennan of New York and Chicago.

INCOME TAX PROBLEM.

J. J. Robinson Explains Feature That Seems to Bother Many.

Attorney J. J. Robinson, who conducted the questions and answers department in The Herald regarding the income tax, has discontinued the department, but one question has been asked so often in one form or another, and so many seem to be unsettled as to the answer that Mr. Robinson has again answered it. This is the question in substance:

"I made $3,300 for the full year of 1913, but only $2,700 during the ten-month period between March 1 and Dec. 31, 1913. As you see, my net income was over $3,000 for the year, but less than $3,000 during the period the law was in force. Is every person whose net income was $3,000 or over for the full year required to make a return? Or, are only those persons required to make returns for 1913 whose net income was $3,000 or over during the last ten months of the year?"

And this is the answer:

"The only persons required to make income tax returns for 1913 are those whose net income was $3,000 or over for the last ten months of the year. If your net income from March 1 to Dec. 31, 1913, fell below $3,000 you need make no return even though your net income for the full year greatly exceeded $3,000.

"This answer does not apply to corporations or to incomes after 1913.

"A corporation is obliged to make a return under the income tax law for the last ten months of the year 1913, and under the amended excise tax law for the first two months. After 1913, all persons whose net income is $3,000 or over for the full year will be required to make returns to the government."

WILSON SUGGESTS HE MAY USE THE VETO

Objects to Taking Assistant Postmasters From Civil Service.

Washington, Jan. 15.—President Wilson has let it be known that he is opposed to a return to the "spoils system" of postoffice appointments, and will veto the postoffice appropriation bill now before the house unless the "rider" in it exempting assistant postmasters from the classified service, is eliminated.

The president, it is understood, has decided to call a halt on what has been charged by civil service advocates as a tendency in congress to break down the merit system. He was confronted in the tariff, currency and urgent deficiency bills with the civil service problem, but in signing these measures took the position that his power of placing employes in the classified service had not been weakened, and that the merit system could be applied.

The "rider" in the postoffice appropriation bill, as reported to the house, would give the postmaster general the right to revoke the appointment of any assistant postmaster, "and appoint his successor at his discretion," without regard to the civil service act or its amendments.

Postmaster General Burleson recently wrote Representative Moon, chairman of the postal committee, stating his opposition to the proposal, but it was not withdrawn. The president is expected soon to inform house leaders of his views.

Try This Treatment for Superflous Hairs

(The Modern Beauty.)

Beauty specialists are greatly interested in the new treatment for removing objectionable hairs, and the success of this treatment (which is positively assured) means the abandoning of the painful and time-consuming electric needle treatment. A paste sufficient to cover the hairs not wanted is made with powdered delatone and water and applied; after two or three minutes remove, and with it comes every trace of hair. Washing the skin to remove the remaining delatone leaves it clear and firm. Be sure you get delatone. Advertisement.

GRONNA PREDICTS POLITICAL REUNION

North Dakota Senator Prophesies Republican Split Will Be Healed.

Lakota, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—United States Senator Gronna, before leaving last night for Washington, declared his belief that the progressive and regular Republicans will get together and work out their problems together.

"We have given the third party men everything they want, and I can see no reason why the split should longer continue. Our platforms are identical in almost every respect. Not only do I expect to see a reunion in the state, but in the nation as well."

Senator Gronna is not yet an announced candidate for re-election, declaring that he prefers to wait before taking any definite action.

More Crime in New York.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 15.—There were 68,337 persons convicted of crimes in the state during 1913 up to Dec. 1, marking an increase of 19,414 over the same period in 1912. Most of the prisoners were between 21 and 30 years old.

WOULD DECREASE PROPERTY VALUES

East Fond du Lac Resident Does Not Want Ice Houses.

M. M. Gasser, one of the East Fond du Lac property owners who signed a petition to have that division declared a residence district, asserts that to allow the Duluth Ice company to build its ice houses on the shores of the river would be a colossal blunder.

In a letter addressed to the city commission he states that he has investigated the situation at Spirit lake, where the ice houses are now located, and characterizes the premises as "horrible and unsightly." He adds that the residents in the vicinity tell many stories of drunkenness. He believes that the ice houses would depreciate property values for several blocks.

The residents of East Fond du Lac have asked the council to have that division defined as a residence district, which would not only prevent the construction of the ice houses but the location of other industries, stables, hotels, garages and apartment houses within the limits defined in the petition.

SAYS FUEL COMPANY SOUGHT TO GAG HIM

Former Employe Testifies in Coal Fraud Trial.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 15.—Edwin Powers, former assistant superintendent for the Western Fuel company, gave testimony in the trial of eight officers, directors and employes of the company for alleged coal weighing frauds against the government, that an attempt had been made to close his mouth after the accused men were indicted.

While he was a witness before the Federal grand jury, Powers testified, David C. Norcross, secertary of the Western Fuel company, took him to the office of one of the attorneys for the company, and on the way suggested that the company was ready to treat him handsomely.

"I'd like to tell you what J. B. Smith said he would do for you, but I can't now. I'll tell you later," Powers quoted Norcross as having said to him in the elevator.

J. B. Smith is manager of the company and one of the defendants in the present fraud cases.

Found Array of Lawyers.

When he got to the attorney's office, Powers testified, he found an array of lawyers seated in a circle, with a chair for him in the center. Norcross remarked:

"Eddie and I were afraid Federal secret service men were following us."

Powers was not asked what the lawyers said to him.

Norcross had been very friendly with him ever since the present trial began, Powers said. On one occasion, he said, Norcross told him:

"After the trial is over, we'll take care of you."

In support of the government's contention that it was cheated on coal bought from the Western Fuel company for the army transport service, Powers testified that when he had charge of loading coal at the transport docks, Supt. Mills, one of the defendants, instructed him to underload the coal tubs that were not weighed.

SWINDLES BANK BY UNUSUAL SYSTEM.

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 15.—A novel bank swindle, by which it was robbed of $1,750 on Jan. 2 by a man giving the name of Shackleford T. Miller, is admitted by the Fidelity National bank of this city.

Miller deposited $1,750 in the bank as a checking account last October. A few days afterward he changed it to a savings account. On Jan. 2 he called at the bank and withdrew all but the accumulated interest.

When a new paying teller went on duty as luncheon relief, Miller again appeared at the window, presented a book that showed no withdrawals, and was again paid the $1,750. In the brief interval the first withdrawal had not been entered in the bank's books by the regular teller.

NOSTRILS AND HEAD STOPPED UP FROM COLD? TRY MY CATARRH BALM

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning! the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

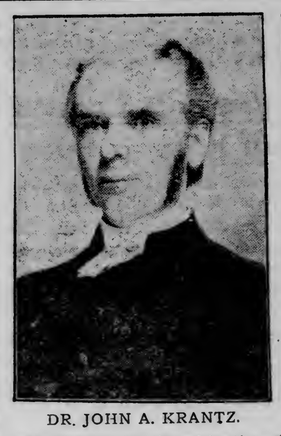

Don't lay awake to-night struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its runnig nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

THREE-DAY PROGRAM FOR CHURCH ANNIVERSARY IS COMPLETED

DR. JOHN A. KRANTZ.

REV. CARL G. OLSON.

The program for the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Bethany Swedish Evangelical Lutheran church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, which will be held Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of next week, was announced yesterday afternoon by the pastor, Rev. Carl G. Olson. A feature of the program will be a reunion of all the various classes that have been confirmed, to be held Sunday evening.

Among the out-of-town visitors during the celebration who will take part in the program are: Mrs. Ellen Cassel of St. Peter, Minn., widow of the late Rev. C. O. Cassel, the first pastor of the church, and her son, Prof. Carl Cassel of the Detroit, Minn., high school, and Rev. A. F. Elmquist of Minneapolis, the only other former pastor of the church.

Starts Sunday Morning.

The program will commence Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Sermons will be given by Rev. Carl O. Swan, pastor of the First Swedish Lutheran church of this city, and Rev. Mr. Olson. Special music will also be given by the choir.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon a special session will be held by the Sunday school at which the pastor will be leader. An address will be given at this session by Prof. Cassel.

The feature meeting of the celebration will be held at 7:45 Sunday evening. Every class confirmed since the organization of the congregation twenty-five years ago will be represented on the program. The first class will be represented by Dr. John A. Krantz, pastor of the Elim Swedish Lutheran church of West Duluth. Dr. Krantz was confirmed with this class and will give a talk on his early recollection relating to the church. Prof. Cassel as a representative of his late father, will also be a speaker during the evening. The committee in charge of the celebration has made arrangements to reserve 500 seats in the center of the church for the accommodation of members of the former classes.

Reception For Women.

Monday afternoon a reception for the women of the congregation has been planned by the Ladies' Aid society. The affair will begin at 2:30 o'clock. All women members of the congregation and their friends will be invited to the affair. Mrs. Constance Cassel, sister-in-law of the late pastor, will be the principal speaker and give an address on "The Importance of the Work of Women in the Church." The program will also include a vocal solo by Rev. F. O. Hanson, a vocal solo by Mrs. Charles Eliason, and talks by Mrs. Ellen Cassel, Mrs. S. Dahl and Mrs. Maria Nordstrom. The committee will also serve refreshments.

The following program will be given on Monday evening commencing at 8 o'clock:

Organ solo—Prof. A. F. Lundholm.
Address—Rev. A. F. Elmquist.
Greetings from the Mother Church—Rev. Carl O. Swan.
Greetings from the Daughter Church—Rev. F. O. Hanson, pastor of the Trinity English Lutheran church.
Chorus, selected—Choir.

The choir has planned to entertain on Tuesday evening by rendering the sacred cantata "Jerusalem." Members of the choir have been rehearsing this selection for several weeks under the direction of Miss Mabel Samuelson, choirister.

ATHLETIC EVENTS AT CAR BARNS

Street Car Men Will Put on Mat Bout and Other Features.

More than 100 employes of the street railway company expect to attend the program arranged by a committee of the men to be held in the employes' club rooms at the street car house this evening. The program will begin at 8:45 o'clock.

A feature of the program will be two wrestling matches of which the one between Andrew Olson, a conductor, and E. B. Holum, a motorman, will be the principal events. Olson recently gained notoriety by defeating Martin Carlson in two straight falls during a similar entertainment held recently at the Y. M. C. A.

As a preliminary to the main bout August Gresal and Mike Schafer will wrestle. Several other contests of an athletic nature are planned. The program will also include musical numbers and refreshments. Only employes of the company will be admitted to the rooms.

MUCH CEREMONY AT INSTALLATION

Grace M. E. Sunday School Makes Ready for Reception.

Newly elected officers of the Sunday school of the Grace Methodist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, will be inducted into their offices this evening. Following the installation a reception will be held after which refreshments will be served.

All members of the Sunday school as well as their parents are invited to attend. The arrangements are being made under the direction of P. T. Gorman, Daniel Donaghy and Rev. George E. Silloway. Mrs. E. W. Lund and Mrs. T. S. Fowler are in charge of the refreshments.

The new officers of the school are: Charles E. Dice, superintendent; A. D. Swan, assistant superintendent; Daniel Donaghy, superintendent of teachers; P. T. Gorman, secretary; Arthur H. Haskins, librarian and treasurer; Miss Hazel M. Moir, organist, and Miss Margaret Gorman, assistant organist.

NO ONE LIABLE IN INJURY CASE

Victim of Icy Sidewalk Loses Action in District Court.

Fred Colby, who slipped and fell on an icy sidewalk at 1811 West Superior street on New Year's day 1913, sustaining a broken collar bone, failed yesterday to recover damages in district court either from the city or Charlotte C. Robinson, owner of the premises in front of which he fell.

Judge Bert Pesler declared the owner of the property was not liable, but allowed the case to go to the jury to determine whether the city was liable or not. The jury returned a verdict for the defendant after having been out for forty minutes. This absolved the city from any liability. Colby sued for $1,275 damages.

PREPARE FOR CROWD.

Commercial Club Expects 150 Guests to Attend Banquet.

The members of the West End Commercial club will complete their arrangements for the banquet to be given on Jan. 28 at the Rex hotel, at the meeting of the club to be held this evening at the Simonson hall, Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street. Arrangements are being made by the committee to entertain about 150 guests.

It is expected that a large number of the members will turn out to the meeting. Several other important matters relating to the western end of the city will be taken up by the club. Among these will be the request for the establishment of a passenger and freight station by the Soo line, the opening of Railroad street, the junior high school matter, and the proposed "white way" for Superior street.

West End Briefs.

B. L. Perry of Edmonton, Alta., Can., who has been visiting his brother, T. B. Perry, 2833 West Third street, has left for his home.

Miss Edna Berhquist, 1931 West Fourth street, has left for Rock Island, Ill., after spending two weeks at the home of her parents.

Mrs. W. E. Harmann and Mrs. John Wallin were hostesses this afternoon at a meeting of the Rebekah guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church, held in the church parlors.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry O. Mochord of Omaha, Neb., who have been spending two weeks visiting relatives in this end of the city, left last evening for their home.

Miss Clara Ettman and her brother, George Ettman, who have been guests of West end relatives since Christmas, left yesterday for their home in Joliet, Ill.

EIGHT-HOUR DAY IN TIMBER INDUSTRIES

Resolution Is Adopted at Union Meeting on Coast.

Aberdeen, Wash., Jan. 15.—Without a dissenting vote, the delegates to the twelfth annual session of the International Union of Shingle Weavers, Sawmill Workers and Woodsmen adopted a resolution declaring for the eight-hour day for all men engaged in the timber industry, no matter in what branch employed, and for a minimum wage of $2.25 a day.

The new wage scale and eight-hour day are to go into effect May 1. The resolution is effective throughout the country where men are engaged in the timber industry, and its chief effect will be in Western Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana and British Columbia. The international claims 10,000 members, of which, 2,100 are said to be in the Grays Harbor district.

HEAD STUFFED? GOT A COLD? TRY PAPE'S

"Pape's Cold Compound" Ends Colds and Grippe in a Few Hours.

Take "Pape's Cold Compound" every two hours until you have taken three doses, then all grippe misery goes and your cold will be broken. It promptly opens your clogged-up nostrils and the air passages of the head; stops nasty discharge or nose running; relieves the headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffling. Ease your throbbing head—nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only 25 cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, and causes no inconvenience. Accept no substitute.

OFFICE MEN TO HEAR VINCENT

Will Hold Organization Dinner—Speech By State University President.

The organization dinner of the Duluth Association of Office Men will begin at the Commercial club this evening at 6:15 o'clock, and it is feared that a problem will arise in the matter of accommodations for the crowd. Only 200 can sit at tables and more tickets than that have been sold. Aside from the fact that at this dinner there will take place the formal organization of the association, which has been working in a preliminary way under a temporary organization, the diners will have an opportunity to listen to President G. E. Vincent of the University of Minnesota.

About 125 applications for membership have been received and it is therefore certain that the permanent organization will start out with good support. This evening, C. R. Pattinson, president of the temporary organization, will introduce Mayor Prince as toastmaster, and after the dinner the program will be given. Aside from President Vincent, the toast-list consists of the following:

"The Civic Duties of a Young Man." Bentley P. Neff.
"The Weekly Dinners" ..... C. D. Risser, president of the St. Paul Association.
"The Monthly Dinners and Their Benefits" .....
D. L. Stine, President of the Minneapolis Association.
"Co-operation" .....
J. G. McLaven, Former President of the Minneapolis Association.
"The Work of the Association, Its Advantages and Ideals" .....
M. A. Naylor of Minneapolis.

IMPORTED BEEF TO BE LABELED FRESH.

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 15.—In an opinion given to the dairy and food commissioner, the attorney general holds that beef brought from South America in refrigerator ships is not to be classed as cold storage beef, but as fresh, and may be sold in this state as such. The Pennsylvania cold storage law provides for shipping in refrigerator cars and for storage in cooling rooms for forty-eight hours after reaching destination. It is held that a cold storage plant is a permanent establishment, whereas a refrigerator ship is the same as a refrigerator car.

This Special Dessert Beater FREE To Every Housewife

THE lady in the picture here is holding up the spoon to show you that she has made all the delicious Snow-Mellow meringue in the bowl from just one tablespoonful of Snow-Mellow and four tablespoonfuls of hot water.

One tablespoonful of Snow-Mellow, costing only four cents, makes a snowy, fluffy, thick, delicious meringue—more and better than you could make with 12c to 15c worth of eggs!

But to make this amazing quantity of delicious Snow-Mellow, you must use our Special Snow-Mellow Beater. And we will give you this special Snow-Mellow Beater—12 inches long, nickel plated—Absolutely Free.

So that you may use this wonderful exquisite Snow-Mellow to save yourself the expense of eggs—so that you may delight your family with these many new Snow-Mellow desserts—you may have absolutely FREE one of these specially designed dessert beaters, which beats up a bowl full of delicious, snowy meringue from just one tablespoonful of Snow-Mellow.

Quick! Ladies! Learn All About Snow-Mellow

and Have a Score of Delightful New Desserts

Snow-Mellow is wonderful. It is so economical. Full directions come inside every package for making Meringue for Pies, Puddings, Custards, Floating Island—Fillings for Layer Cakes, Cream Puffs, Eclairs—Sauces for Puddings, and to use instead of cream for fruits, berries and cereals—Plain and Boiled Icing without eggs — Candies — Divinity, Fudge, Marshmallows and Kisses—and many other dainty special desserts for your family.

Here are some of these new desserts: Snow-Mellow Delight—Rainbow Loaf—Snow-Mellow Fruit Pudding—Snow-Mellow Pineapple Cream—Snow-Mellow Peach Cream—Snow-Mellow Orange Cream—Snow-Mellow Currant Whip—Snow-Mellow Apple Sponge—Floating Island—Mocha Charlotte Russe—Mock Macaroon Souffle—and more than a score of delightful new desserts for your family.

So Economical!

We want to explain to you how we have arranged to make Snow-Mellow the most economical of desserts for your table.

In business there is a certain "overhead" charge against each package—packing, wrapping, boxing, cartage, freight, delivery, etc. And here is how we solved the problem of making Snow-Mellow economical for you. The same "overhead" expense that pays for delivering a ten-cent package to you will pay for delivering five or six or seven times that quantity of Snow-Mellow if we put it all in one package, and that is what we have done.

Instead of putting only enough Snow-Mellow for one dessert in a package and charging ten cents—we put seven times that quantity—enough for seven desserts—in one package, and instead of charging you seventy cents, the price is only 25c—because we save for you the cost of packing and delivering the six extra packages.

That is the only fair way. For after you once find how easy to make and how good to eat Snow-Mellow is—you will want to serve it in different desserts several times every week.

So go today, madam, to your grocer and get for your family this exquisite, wonderful Snow-Mellow.

Free! Free! Free!

HAIR STOPS FALLING, DANDRUFF DISAPPEARS---25 CENT DANDERINE

Save Your Hair! Make It Soft, Fluffy, Lustrous and Beautiful.

Try as you will, after an application of Danderine, you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all.

Woman's Realm

"The height of true culture is to deal with the profound truths in language that a child can understand," said Dr. William Forney Hovis, pastor of the Endion M. E. church, this morning in his lecture on "The Philosophy of Life" given before the members of the Twentieth Century club at the library clubroom. There were about seventy-five members of the club present and the meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. N. F. Hugo. Mrs. J. C. H. Engel, chairman of the literature department, introduced the speaker.

"True culture," he said, "is not the ability to do a lot of desultory thinking, but as the height of good dressing is not to attract the attention to the garb, but to make the garb attract attention to the person and set off the grace and charm of the wearer, so true culture does not attract attention to a special ability to speak or a peculiar sparkle of mind. True culture is something which makes the listener forget the phraseology, style, personality of the speaker or writer and remember only the things he says. Mental snobbishness is equally as disgusting as social snobbishness, and the truly cultured person endeavors to make those who have not had equal educational advantages feel at ease.

"The ultimate aim of a club like this, of universities and colleges of schools, reading circles and study groups is to give the understanding and real culture the symmetrical development of mind and soul, not for show or ostentation, but that the deepest knowledge and most profound philosophy may be expressed in the simplest form. The real aim is not to know Browning, Tennyson and Shakespeare; to discourse in a flowery or profound manner; but to have the ability to handle truths so that all may get the message and forget the messenger."

Amusement Notes.

Aside from its qualities as an amusement enterprise, the photo drama "Quo Vadis," which is announced for a return engagement at the Lyceum today, Friday and Saturday, with daily matinees, is doing a world of good as a time saver and neatly fits the demands of the present age. It would require two weeks of the average business man's time to read Henryk Sienkiewicz's original novel, whereas the whole story with every essential detail is visualized with wonderful perfection in this photo drama. The novel leaves much to the imagination, whereas the photo drama leaves nothing omitted that the eye and mind can compass.

Gaby Deslys always travels with her own chef. This, of course, is necessary while she is aboard her private car, but even at the best hotels her dearly beloved Gaston must see to the preparation of her dishes. To him is entrusted her gold service and gold inlaid chafing dishes, and close in the wake of the chef follows a suave French sleuth who sees to it that no garden variety American cook even touches the precious utensils. Metals, the actress claims, are better to have one's food served upon as dishes of gold are cleaner. Each plate bears her crest. Her egg cup is of gold and silver, and might easily pass for a miniature tub. It is from this cup that Gaby eats the eggs laid by Henriette, her prize winning Victorian Leghorn hen.

Few professional musicians would become so eager for a chance to play in a symphony that they would spend an hour waiting in a theater dressing room in order to join an orchestra and play without any financial recompense, but that is what Julius Romer, of the team of Carlisle and Romer, is doing every evening at the Orpheum this week.

Under the direction of Fred G. Bradbury the Orpheum orchestra this week is playing a symphony for the motion picture music. They selected the Haydn Military Symphony. Mr. Romer was formerly the chief concert meister and the assistant conductor of the Dresden Philharmonic orchestra which toured this country several years ago. Sunday evening he was late in getting away from the theater after his performance and caught the strains of the symphony being played for the motion picture music.

"Well, listen to a vaudeville theater orchestra playing a symphony for motion pictures," he exclaimed to Miss Carlisle. "What kind of music would they play when they were in earnest?"

Mr. Romer sought Mr. Bradbury the next afternoon.

"Want an assistant who won't cost you anything?" he asked.

"Sure," said the leader.

"I haven't played in a symphony for so long that I want to take a fiddle and get in for the pictures every show this week," said the performer, so at every performance Mr. Romer joins the orchestra and enjoys himself as he does his share toward giving the Haydn symphony an adequate presentation.

Theatergoers have always loved the crook—on the stage—a strange symptom of the complexity of human nature. If he is bad, however, he must "get his" in the end—that is a law no dramatist dares to avoid. If he is good at heart, though, the audience is satisfied with his promise to be good thereafter.

Paul Armstrong and Wilson Mizner, in their latest, "The Deep Purple," a drama of the New York underworld, which opens at the Empire today, matinee, will present samples of both kinds of crooks in the same play. The greater part of the action transpires in the meeting places of a band of modern crooks who use their wits and mechanical skill to rob their victims. In the gang are "Pop" Clarke and Harry Leland, played respectively by Edward Pollard and Alfred Bruce. "Pop" plays upon the foibles of humanity, being crooked principally because he lacks the energy to apply his wits to a better end. Leland, however, is bad. For a while, perhaps, his unmitigated wickedness has a peculiar fascination of its own.

The atmosphere and denizens of the underworld are said to be portrayed with remarkable fidelity in "The Deep Purple."

VINCENT HAS A BUSY DAY

Head of University Will Give Three Addresses in One Evening.

Finds Time to Visit Experimental Farm and Curling Rink.

Busy ever since his arrival from St. Paul this morning, President George E. Vincent of the University of Minnesota has an even more strenuous program for the remainder of the day, which includes three addresses after 6 o'clock this evening.

Just how the head of the state university plans to work his local program, no one but himself knows.

At 6 o'clock this evening President Vincent will be the honor guest at the annual banquet of the Northern Minnesota Alumni association to be held at the Spalding. He will address the alumni of the university and their wives following the dinner and will then hurry over to the Commercial club, where he is scheduled to give a fifteen-minute talk to the members of the Duluth Association of Office Men, who will complete the local organization at a banquet and meeting this evening.

Following the talk to the office men Dr. Vincent will then be rushed over to PRESIDENT GEO. E. VINCENT.

Central high school, where he will deliver an address on "The Mind of the Mob." He is the first speaker in a program of lectures, readings, recitations and music planned for this city during the coming winter by the extension department of the University of Minnesota.

Extension Work.

At the Spalding hotel this morning Dr. Vincent spoke of the extension department and its rapid strides the past year, and also the experimental farm and the agricultural work that is being done by the institution throughout the state. There are now, according to Dr. Vincent, 1,100 students enrolled in the agricultural high schools at the farm school and at Crookston and Morris. These students are studying for entrance to the university farm school at Midway, and are receiving an early training that is a feature in this state's educational program.

The extension department has already enrolled 1,500 students in Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth. R. B. Oshier, who is conducting the campaign throughout the state, is here today with Dr. Vincent and will attend the lecture this evening. Mr. Oshier organized the local classes and has completed arrangements for the opening of similar classes at Mankato, Red Wing and Winona in the near future.

Lecture Work.

The Lyceum branch of lectures and music planned by the extension department is an entirely new feature and has already proven very popular wherever instituted. There are now twenty-five cities and towns in Minnesota included in this program, according to Dr. Vincent.

This morning, shortly after his arrival, Dr. Vincent was taken to the experimental farm by Maj. H. V. Eva, secretary of the Commercial club. They were accompanied by Richard B. Price of the university farm school, who came to Duluth this morning with Dr. Vincent. At noon Dr. Vincent was the guest at a luncheon at the Commercial club, which was attended by the members of the local extension educational work committee appointed yesterday by Mayor Prince. During the luncheon he explained the various phases of the extension work to the members of the committee.

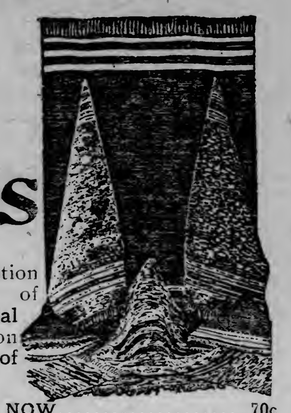

At 3 o'clock this afternoon President Vincent was scheduled to address the educational committee of the Commercial club, after which he plans to visit the curling club for a short while and watch the play in the Northwestern bonspiel.

Following this Dr. Vincent will hold a reception at the Spalding hotel for the alumni of the university and their wives. This will last until 6 o'clock, when the annual banquet will start. He expects to leave late this evening for Minneapolis.

Different Standards of Living Responsible for Its High Cost.

Do you know that some people rather make light of the high cost of living today? People who have been keeping house for twenty years or more are prepared to show you that many staples and more luxuries, whether they be food, furniture or clothing, are to be procured for less money than they were twenty years ago.

A thrifty woman of my acquaintance, who has reared a family of five children and is now lending a hand in the bringing up of her children's children, has this to say of living today. She declares that if people were contented to live as the average family lived thirty years ago they would not meet with as many financial difficulties as in those days.

To begin with, men and women did not have as many opportunities to spend money as they do today. They didn't have as much money to spend either. They had fewer clothes and fewer pleasures, too, judging by present standards. Diet was not as varied. When it did present variety the ingenuity and the efforts of the housewife were responsible. It was not to be procured at every street corner in tempting array, as is woman's opportunity in these piping times.

Off-hand, I should say that there was no more forceful factor in the making of high prices than what seems like our combined determination to live on the very best, regardless of what we can afford. The best in every case is always the highest priced, never the most nutritious nor the most appropriate.

It looks to me as though life was just as much of a struggle fifteen, twenty and twenty-five years back as the average man and woman finds it today. Examples of extravagant living were not as numerous or conspicuous. Had they been, you can rest assured that no such number of people as now find means in some way to gratify their vaunting ambitions, could have done so under the then existing conditions of wages and prices.

Nine, ten and twelve dollars a week were the princely salaries upon which men and women married and established homes. They didn't demand anywhere near the standards they do today. They didn't have anywhere near as much—and yet they were reasonably happy, well-fed and respectably clothed.

Get some woman to tell you how she managed on $13 a week twenty-five years ago. Let her tell you what she had to eat and how she made shift to clothe and educate her six children and provide for her husband's mother. I'll guarantee that you can save money if you will follow her directions carefully and faithfully. But of course you won't. That's what is responsible in part for the high cost of living.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Vancouver Sun: A cut lemon may be kept fresh a long time by laying it on a piece of waxed paper, with the cut side downward, and folding the paper over it in such a way as to exclude the air.

I always remove perspiration stains on white dresses and underclothing in the following manner: First dampen the article with a little lemon juice before it is put into soap and water. Otherwise, the soap sets the stain, and very often makes it almost impossible to remove.

To soften hard water, into four gallons and a half of water stir one ounce of quick-lime. Let it settle, and then pour off the clear solution, which will be enough to add to two barrels of hard water.

To remove the label from a jar or bottle: Wet the bottle thoroughly and then hold it near a fire for a moment. The steam thus generated immediately acts on the paste or gum.

When mixing plaster of Paris for mending cracks in plaster use vinegar instead of water. It should be of the consistency of putty, and when the cracks are filled the top should be smothered over with a knife. The mixture will not harden for about half an hour.

When cleaning the kitchen table or boards try washing first with vinegar and then scrub in the usual way. This method is worth trying, as it removes all stains and makes them quite white.

FOUR YARDS OF EGGS.

Christian Science Monitor: While in the Orient, a correspondent had occasion to call on friends who lived near Seoul, the principal city of Korea. He tells the following story:

One morning my hostess, while giving orders for the necessary things from the market for the day, mentioned four yards of eggs. I accompanied the steward that day on his marketing trip and when the eggs were asked for, the grocer reached down in a barrel and brought out the end of a large straw rope. He measured off the required length on the counter, just as a dry goods store would measure off cloth, rolled them up and put them in the basket without a smile. The eggs were inside of this hollow straw rope, with a string tied on the outside of it between each egg. This effectually protected the eggs from being broken while handling.

Another day my hostess ordered two "small" oysters for dinner. This order caused me to wonder a little, for I knew that there would be seven to dine, besides the servants, but when the oysters arrived all was explained for one weighed four and a half pounds, and the other five pounds. On inquiry I was informed that some of the oysters on the northern side of Korea weigh as much as ten pounds.

SPELLING FIFTY YEARS AGO.

Youth's Companion: The recent revival of that excellent sport and admirable educational device, the spelling match, is none the less to be welcomed because we are not, perhaps, so inferior in orthography to our grandfathers as pessimists would have us believe.

Fifty years ago, a group of horrible examples of the bad spelling supposed to be then prevalent was going the rounds of the press. A few of them may perhaps bring cheer to those who are inclined to despair of our young spellers today.

"A young lawyer in an interior city," the pessimist of half a century ago begins, "one morning locked his office door, and left upon it this mysterious sentence:

"'Gon to brexfus.'

"In Pittsburg, the foreman of a jury handed up to the judicial bench a communication thus addressed:

"'To the onerable gug.'

"The proprietor of a country store worked himself nearly into brain fever endeavoring to interpret a note, presented by the son of one of his important customers:

"'Mister Gream, Wunt you let my boay hev a pare of ezy toad shuz?'

"He was, however, somewhat less horrified than the schoolmaster to whom a prospective pupil brought a note from his father, that began:

"'I have decided to inter my boay in your seul.'

"And it was not to a bear, but to the bearer of a note presented to a druggist, that the note had reference. It ran:

"'Pleas give the bare sumpthing to physic him 15 sense worth."

Denver is to open a chain of municipal neighborhood produce markets.

THE PARTISAN CALAMITY HOWLER.

Democratic Leader Underwood paid his respects in the house Tuesday to the Republican leaders who are seeking to manufacture panic and hard times in the hope that the resulting distress and misery of the people will force them to reject the Democrats and return the Old Guard Republicans to power.

He didn't do the subject justice, of course. Nobody could. It would rack the dictionary to produce terms of contempt strong enough to do justice to the pinhead politician who would not scruple to wreck a nation's prosperity if thereby he could gain some party and personal advantage.

"The Democratic party," said Mr. Underwood, "has achieved for the American people more than has been accomplished heretofore in the history of our government. We have secured the results which the Republican party struggled for in the course of twenty years: the results which they gave their pledges to secure and which for term after term of congress were left undone."

True enough; though we have grave suspicions of the character of that Republican "struggle" for the results which the Democrats have achieved within two-thirds of a year. Anybody must be suspicious of that "struggle" who knows that what the Democrats have done they have done because they really wanted to do it, and that all they have done in this short time the Republicans could have done—if they wanted to—in any similar period in the past generation.

The administration in nine months has done more for the people, more for the country, more for sound and stable business conditions, more for continuous and well paid employment, more for permanent and reasonable business profits, more for orderly and responsible financial conditions that will serve all fairly instead of serving a few unfairly at the hard cost of the many, than the Republican Old Guard which is now howling calamity has done in all its history, and more than it would have done in a thousand years more of continued power.

There is no place in this fair land and under this rosy sky of promise for the wretched and contemptible spirit of the calamity howler.

A lumber company has paid an employe sixty dollars for the loss of his little toe. If said toe had a corn on it, the owner ought to have been the one to pay the sixty dollars.

THE PRESIDENT'S TRUST PROGRAM.

President Wilson, informally but apparently very definitely, has let his trust-control program be known. It involves four items, and though nothing is said of that, the unmistakable inference is that he believes that with these four things done, the campaign for the present should stop right there, and industry be given a fair opportunity to establish itself under the new conditions. These items are as follows:

1. The prohibition of interlocking directorates. Of the need of this there can be no question. By interlocking directorates the secret fact of complete harmony in plunder has existed side by side with the open appearance of complete competition. Not only has the public been plundered, but the corporations themselves. That the country is ready for such a law, and able to withstand it without shock, is shown by the fact that the "system" of interlocking directorates has voluntarily begun to disintegrate at its keystone—the house of Morgan.

2. The elimination of all uncertainty as to what constitutes the "restraint of trade" forbidden by the Sherman anti-trust law. This all business interests, as well as the people, require. Business should be told precisely what it cannot do, in order that it may release its pent-up energies to do what it can and should do. With the way of honest industrial operation clearly defined, industry will lose no time in taking it.

3. The establishment of an interstate trade commission to take over the bureau of corporations, to serve as an auxiliary of the courts and the department of justice in enforcing the law, and to inform the business world what is expected of it and to see that it does it.

4. Provision that in every case of anti-trust law violation, punishment shall be personal, as guilt is personal. In other words, as the president has put it, we shall lock up the joy-riding chauffeur instead of the automobile. There has been nothing more stupid in all American history than the attempt to punish the offenses of trust managers by inflicting penalties upon industries—penalties which in every case the people had to pay while the really guilty persons went scot-free.

This program is sound, progressive, wise. It goes none too far, but it goes far enough for the present. These laws passed, the country will enter upon its experiment with regulated competition, in which economic problems will be solved with the building tools of constructive statesmanship, instead of with the ax of the wrecker.

At least there seems to be no indication of an effort to forbid the Federal league baseball reporters to use the established forms of baseball slang.

THE HOUSEWIVES' LEAGUE, THE RETAILER, AND THE PRICE OF EGGS.

The Housewives' league, which is vigorously pursuing some wise and well-directed efforts to overcome the handicap of the ogre Highcost O'Living, had another egg sale yesterday. Like its previous sale of the kind, it was successful in every way, the league having no difficulty in disposing of its eggs, and the purchasers getting eggs much cheaper than they could in any other way.

And there is a very tangible benefit in the fact that people needing eggs got them quite a bit cheaper than they could in any other way.

There is danger, however, that the real lesson in these sales will be overlooked by many. To get at the real value of it, it is necessary to ignore altogether the aspect of competition with retail dealers, for of course that competition isn't fair.

These demonstrations do not teach that retailers could sell eggs much cheaper than they do now, but that the thing to do in fighting high cost living is to bring about shorter cuts between the producer and consumer of food.

That's what the league did—it brought about a short cut between the egg raiser and the egg eater. Perhaps it is not feasible to arrange permanently quite so short a cut as this. But where individuals can buy direct from growers, or where individuals acting co-operatively can buy direct from growers selling co-operatively, a cut short enough for all practical purposes is made.

The real lesson of these egg sales is altogether lost unless the observer remembers these things:

That the Housewives' league pays no rent, while the retailer does.

That the league pays nothing for light and heat, while the retailer must.

That the league pays no taxes, while the retailer does.

That the league does not deliver goods, while the retailer must, and must add the cost of delivery to the price.

That the league does no credit business, and so loses nothing on bad bills, while most retailers lose a good deal that way; which the paying customers must of course help pay for.

That the league has no hired help to pay, while the retailer must pay living wages to his force of clerks, bookkeepers and deliverymen.

That the league expects, wants and gets no profit, while the retailer, to live, must get a profit on his sales.

To get anything out of these demonstrations one must, as we said before, ignore altogether the appearance of competition with the retail dealer, because there is no fair competition.

The lesson of it is—and it is a lesson of high value—that to lessen the cost of living shorter cuts between grower and consumer must be devised.

Gen. Pershing says the Moros are pacified for good, unless somebody stirs 'em up. The same might be said about some of those South American nations.

THE POOR MAN'S BANK.

It is still another striking demonstration of the new civic conscience, of the new realization of society's responsibility for the individual's well-being and of the individual's responsibility for society's welfare, that plans for a "poor man's bank"—or rather a chain of them—are well advanced.

Associated with this interesting project are the names of Julius Rosenwald of Chicago, Dr. E. R. L. Gould of New York, Andrew Carnegie and Vincent Astor—men who have money, but who also have aspirations for greater social justice.

The poor man has had no bank, though he needed one. He has had no bank because banking has been exclusively a profit-making enterprise, and his business was not tempting to profit-seekers—except the "loan shark," who has fattened on his need so egregiously that society is sending him to jail for it.

That there should be a definite movement for a poor man's bank in spite of the fact that only small profits can be hoped from it shows that this country has learned at last to think in other terms than those of profit—and that's the finest thing that could happen to this nation.

Moreover, as those public-spirited souls discovered who have helped to establish remedial loan agencies here and there, such as the one now operating in Duluth, the poor man's bank is the best weapon to fight the loan shark with. The loan shark met a real need, a need that was not met otherwise, and the only trouble with him was that he took more than his pound of flesh for performing the service which fell to him because nobody else assumed it.

Often the poor man's need to borrow money is just as legitimate as the business man's need; so unless the loan sharks are to be left in control of the business, such plans as Julius Rosenwald and others are considering must be carried out.

Another danger about dancing the tango on the ice is that the ice may make some funny cracks.

A WARNING.

In a report by Dr. Allan J. McLaughlin of the Federal public health service on the water supply of the Great Lakes, he makes the statement that "the present position of intakes is such that there is not a single municipality using water from the Great Lakes or their connecting rivers which can be said to possess a safe water supply without treatment."

If there IS a city on the Great Lakes which has a pure and perfectly safe water supply, it is Duluth; and certainly Duluth—as yet—has had no dangerous pollution of its water supply.

But the future is not without danger, and the frequent repetition of these criticisms of the Great Lakes water supply should be a warning to Duluth that it cannot hope much longer to loose its sewage into the lake from which it drinks. Sooner or later—perhaps very soon—Duluth will be compelled to create a system for the interception and treatment of all its sewage—an operation of great difficulty and great expense for which it even now should be preparing.

There is a movement afoot to provide horses for all the state militia. Here's hoping this isn't an insidious wedge toward making the guardsmen try to manipulate the army mule.

Justifiable Osculation.

Philadelphia Telegraph: Here is one that was told at a recent dinner by Congressman William J. Browning of Camden, when one of the speakers referred to a plea of extenuating circumstances.

Some time ago a young man was walking through the suburbs with a beautiful girl when he suddenly paused, threw his arms about her and impulsively kissed her on the sweetest lips. Real peevish got the pretty one. Hastily backing away from the impetuous youth, she called a cop and had him arrested.

At the subsequent trial the young man made no defense, and after hearing the girl's story the jury retired to deliberate. Ten minutes later they filed back into the courtroom and asked the privilege of questioning the plaintiff. The judge granted the request.

"When that young man kissed you, miss," queried the foreman, impressively, "were you wearing that saucy little hat cocked down over your left eye?"

"Yes, sir," was the prompt reply of the wondering plaintiff.

"To put it all in a bunch, miss," continued the foreman, "were you dressed like you are now and looking just the same?"

"Why, yes sir," answered the girl, with increasing perplexity, "I believe that I was."

"Then, your Honor," said the foreman, turning to the judge, "we acquit the defendant on the ground of emotional insanity."

"The Level and the Square."

We meet upon the level and we part
upon the square;
What words of precious meaning these words Masonic are!
Come, let us contemplate them, they are worthy of a thought.
With the highest, and the lowest, and the rarest they are fraught.

We meet upon the level, though from every station come;
The rich man from his mansion, and the poor man from his home;
For the one must leave his wealth and state outside the Mason's door,
And the other finds his true respect upon the checkered floor.

We part upon the square, for the world must have its due;
We mingle with the multitude, a cold,
unfriendly crew,
But the influence of our gatherings in memory is green,
And we long upon the level, to renew the happy scene.

There's a world where all are equal—
we are hurrying toward it fast;
We shall meet upon the level there,
when the gates of death are past;
We shall stand before the Orient, and our Master will be there
To try the blocks we offer by His own unerring square.

We shall meet upon the level there,
but never thence depart;
There's a mansion—'tis all ready for each trusting, faithful heart—
There's a mansion and a welcome, and a multitude is there
Who have met upon the level and been tried upon the square.

Let us meet upon the level, then while laboring patient here,
Let us meet, and let us labor, though
the labor be severe;
Already in the Western sky the signs bid us prepare
To gather up our working tools and part upon the square!

Hands round, ye brother Masons, form
the bright fraternal chain;
We part upon the square below to meet in heaven again.
Oh! what words of precious meaning
these words Masonic are.
We meet upon the level and we part
upon the square!

Democracy and Co-operation

Editorial in the San Francisco Bulletin.

A defiant and bracing individualism, even in the face of the flagrant abuses of individualism which afflict our civilization, is breathed from the pages of David Starr Jordan's latest book, "America's Conquest of Europe." Yet there are admissions in it which prove what a hard struggle the apostle of individualism has to keep from being crowded over his boundaries.

America is the refuge and breeding ground of pure democracy, according to Dr. Jordan's thesis, and it will be Amercia's function to impart this democracy, strong and individualistic, to the harassed, caste-ridden and war-ridden nations of Europe. "It is for us," he declares, "to help the accumulated evils of civilization." And this is to be done, he believes, by a democracy not collective, but individualistic. Collective philosophies, Dr. Jordan holds, have no root in American soil. He clings to the Jeffersonian theory that government would best undertake only such functions as are absolutely forced upon it.

"It is the function of the state," he writes, "to establish justice among men and to perform those acts of common necessity, contributing to the preservation and enjoyment of human life, which collective action can accomplish better than private effort. Further than that, democracy, which is simply enforced co-operation, should not go."

Here, perhaps, is the gist of two philosophies. One regards co-operation as an evil, or at least as a disadvantage, to be avoided wherever feasible. It would strictly limit the purposes for which men should co-operate, allowing the individual so long a tether that he would not feel the pull of it. The other looks upon common action among men for a common purpose as a definite good. It believes that the more of the functions of society we perform in this way the more closely will men be bound together in mutual brotherhood. It believes that economic associations of this sort have already imperiled war, and will soon end it; and that more complete co-operation between man and man will end all kinds of war, national or civil, physical or economic.

In the end, perhaps, the two schools are not so far apart. One puts the emphasis upon liberty, the other upon unity. We shall probably have both, in the society of the future. If either is lacking now, in this iron economic system, it is liberty. If either will be sacrificed by co-operative organization of society it will not be liberty. Those who are dreaming of a happier society, and fighting for their dreams, are not fighting for less freedom. Freedom is the breath of a rebel's nostrils. They are struggling for greater liberty for all men, liberty of self-expression, liberty of self-development, liberty, natural and unconfined. The liberty of today is bound about by economic chains; the liberty of tomorrow will be circumscribed only by the rights of others.

This is what Dr. Jordan wants, and has been working for all his life. If there is a flaw in his thinking it is in the failure to see that for every freedom we surrender in co-operation we shall gain a greater freedom.

The Demand for Sobriety

Chicago Inter Ocean: This is the day of the sober man. Time was, and not very long ago, when the brilliant alcoholic could hold a job in almost any trade or profession, despite his unreliability. That time is past. Industry has come to realize that dependability is better than brilliancy and that brilliancy itself is more common with men of clear heads than with those whose brains are muddled with alcohol.

One of the many factors which have made for putting a premium upon sobriety is the workmen's compensation law. This lays "increased burdens on the employer in the way of compensation for injuries received," according to a circular letter to all of its employes written by the general manager of the Sheffield Car works of Three Rivers, Mich.

This letter calls attention to the fact that sober men are required to avoid accidents in the plant, and has an acute bearing upon the local situation inasmuch as it is made clear that the policy of the company is opposed to saloons. Three Rivers is a "dry" town. There is a movement afoot there looking for the resubmission of the "wet and dry" issue to the voters, and the circular letter plainly states that any employe of the company who signs a petition for resubmission will jeopardize his position with the company. This it runs, in part:

"We desire to advise you that in signing petitions for resubmission of the local option question again to a popular vote all persons in our employ who do this are by that act placing themselves in opposition to the interests of this company.

"It has become doubly necessary that this company employ only sober, clear-headed men who have at all times the full possession of their faculties. There is no question that the open saloon greatly increases the use of intoxicating liquors and is therefore opposed to the interests of this company."

In short, although this may seem rather an infringement upon the individual rights of the men in the employ of big industrial concerns, the legislation recently placed upon the statute books in many of the states imposing additional responsibilities upon employers for the benefit of their employes has made it necessary for employers to protect themselves against habits and practices of their employes which tend to increase the accident risk.

Dean Swift Ostracised.

Boston Transcript: "Who is this Dean Swift they are talking about?" a parvenu once said to Lady Bulwer: "I should like to invite him to my receptions."

"Alas, madam," replied Lady Bulwer, "the dean has done something that has shut him out of society."

"Dear me, what was that?"

"Well, about a hundred years ago he died."

A White Hope.

Washington Star: "I have a mind to give you a whipping!" exclaimed the impatient father.

"Well," replied the athletic youth, "maybe you can. But if you succeed it will be some item for the sport page."

Not Guilty.

Conway Springs, Kan., Star: We would hate like thunder for the impression to become general that this paper "moulded" some of the kinds of public opinion around here.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first time Associate Justice Joseph Rucker Lamar ever appeared in court was as attorney for a bright young Chinese murderer.

Everybody knew the Chinaman was guilty and had no chance of escape. And that was why the court appointed Lamar to defend him. Lamar had never had a case up to that time and it was considered a great joke, even in those crude days, for a judge to place a promising young attorney in the midst of a losing cause. You see, if a young lawyer were appointed a dozen times or so to defend men certain to be found guilty, the lawyer could gradually work up a reputation for getting his clients convicted. Then the young lawyer's friends would twit him about the inevitable outcome of his cases, and with all the repartee this would stir up there would be a great increase in the gayety of the community.

Well, anyhow, young Lamar was to defend this Chinaman, and the Chinaman was guilty; one of the defendant's own countrymen had seen him fire the fatal shot and was prepared to swear his life away.

Now, Lamar cared almost nothing at all about his client, personally, but it occurred to him that it would be rather amusing if he could devise some way to get him off after all. So he set to work on the case and gave considerable effort to searching for some technicality by which he could upset the well-laid plans of blindfolded justice. He tried to find a misplaced comma in the indictment or a grammatical error in some of the Latin words in the legal phraseology by which he could show conclusively, the way lawyers will, that his client was being done a serious wrong.

But all this search was in vain, and Lamar entered the trial of the case without knowing how he was to save his man from an unpleasant fate.

The trial proceeded and the Chinaman who was the prosecuting witness swore away the life of the other Chinaman.

Then at last Lamar grasped an idea and dragged it out of nowhere into there.

He had been in Chinese laundries many times and knew a number of the strange customs the Chinese are addicted to. For example, he knew that, for some reason, laundry men usually work in threes, and that they take a nap every afternoon at 3 o'clock. Another odd fact he had picked up was that the Chinese method of taking oath is entirely unlike the average form of oath. Whereas almost any one else swears by placing one hand on the Bible and saying: "I do solemnly swear," etc., a Chinaman swears by killing a chicken and smearing part of its blood on a plate and then breaking the plate—or some such scheme as that.

Lamar said nothing about this until the trial was nearly over, and then he pointed out that if the jury paid any heed to the testimony of the Chinese witness it would be sending a man to his doom on unsworn testimony which is little better than mere idle chatter. Because, he said, the Chinaman had taken oath on a Bible and the Chinese do not believe in the Bible. Hence he might as well have been sworn on a copy of Aesop's fables. Lamar then explained how a Chinese oath must be taken, and the court looked about for a chicken and a plate. But there was no chicken or plate to be had, and the court ruled that they would have to get along the best they could with the white folks' form of oath.

That made it all the easier for Lamar. He told the jury what would happen to them in the hereafter if they were parties to convicting a man on evidence not sworn to with a dead chicken and broken plate.

And so they let the prisoner go free.

A stranger dropped into the office of Representative Hensley of Missouri the other morning and inquired if Hensley knew him. The representative, without even handing him the old one about his face being familiar, said frankly that he did not remember him.

"You met me several years ago," the stranger told him, "when you were prosecutor out our way. You came out to our house one day and took my dying statement."

Though not a vain man, Champ Clark has never had a photograph of himself that suited him. It isn't that he thinks he is so well favored; he simply doesn't think any picture he ever had taken looks quite like his face as it appears in real life. He has one picture of himself that is his favorite, but he likes it only because it seems less objectionable than the others. As a matter of fact this is simply a whim on the part of the speaker. Almost any picture one ever sees of him looks precisely like him.

Senator Ollie James was commenting the other day on the case of the little colored boy down in Kentucky who was seen going about with no shirt on.

Why don't you wear a shirt?" inquired a curiosity-seeking passerby.

"It's in the wash," replied the youngster.

"But why don't you put on another shirt then?" persisted the onlooker.

"Do you expect me to have a thousand shirts!" exclaimed the boy.

Work Is Prayer.

Soul! look forth where shines the Future!
Lo! where march in radiant lines
Glorious hosts with snow-white banners—
Banners bright with glorious signs;
Gleams the press, in golden glory,
Shines the plow, in silken pride;
Waves aloft the flashing anvil,
Floats the pond'rous sledge beside.

Stalwart men, with limbs of iron,
Bear those gleaming flags above;
Men with lips and eyes of gladness—
Valiant souls and hearts of love.
Rings o'er earth a loud hosanna—
Soar to heav'n those banners fair;
Hark! th'eternal conclave echoes—
"Labor! labor! work is pray'r."

Gleam with golden grain the deserts—
Shine the swamps with flowers bright
Still march on those glorious armies—
Wave their flags in radiant light.
Ocean's forms to them are playthings,
Chain'd the earth, and fire, and air;
Merry rings their loud voic'd anthem—
"Labor! labor! work is pray'r."

Foll'wing close these conquering armies—
Dancing on with happy feet—
White-arm'd maids and flow'r-crown'd children
Haste those warrior men to greet—
Hands are clasp'd in holiest union;
Joy, like incense, soars above
Hail! thrice hail! th'industrial armies!
Hail th'Immortal Strife of Love!

Northern Minnesota, Land of Opportunity

Chorus of Minnesota Boosters.

Down With Sectionalism.

St. Peter Free Press: The Duluth Herald still is working for a federation of the various development associations in the state, as the means of putting a stop to the petty jealousy among the different sections and of making it possible for all to work hand in hand for the growth and prosperity of the state as a whole. That is certainly a splendid program and far better than the present factional fights, stirred up by individual agitators for private gain. There is really no occasion for sectional differences over matters in which every citizen should have an equal interest. Better drop that nonsense and let us get together upon a common basis for the common good. It is the only way to help the state and incidentally ourselves.

Advertising Pays.

Gheen Record: The Minnesota state board of immigration is giving the Minnesota agricultural interests a boost by sending out a car filled with Minnesota farm products on a 2,000-mile journey through Nebraska, Missouri, Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin. The car will stop in eighty-five towns and will undoubtedly interest and lead many who are contemplating going farming that Minnesota is the place to come to.

And Get Land Cheap, Too.

Aurora News: While the bottom is falling out of Western Canada many are returning who have left their money on the barren wilderness, but in Minnesota they can gain a fresh start in a land where crop failures are unknown and a few acres can be cultivated with profit.

It Would Be Idle to Ask.

La Porte News: It is reported that W. R. Mackenzie, secretary of the Northern Minnesota Development association may resign soon after the first of the year. If he does, M. N. Koll of Cass Lake is being prominently mentioned to take his place. We do not believe a better man could be selected. He is thoroughly acquainted with the conditions, has had valuable experience fitting him for the position, and is an energetic hustler and enthusiastic booster. What better qualifications could be asked for?

Fittingly Represented.

Gonvick Banner: The Northern Minnesota Development association met at Bemidji recently. This was the annual meeting of the association, and was attended by the largest crowd in its history. Never have we seen a larger bunch of boosters at any one time or at any one place.

That they had come for a purpose is most emphatically true. Several suggestive resolutions were adopted, which will in the near future prove of great value to Northern Minnesota. Probably the most beneficial move made by the association was the adoption of that board-gauged policy of reclamation by creating a state revolving fund to be used in draining, clearing and road building. We never knew that Northern Minnesota was gifted with such posted men until we attended this meeting. Much good information for the development and improvement of Northern Minnesota was shouted into the atmosphere, and we hope that everyone present, especially the newspaper men, inhaled it at every breath and that they will carry it home and repeat it to their readers in column lots.

The Twins Fall Out

Minneapolis Tribune: St. Paul is sending letters generally to the people of the Northwest asking support of its claim to a regional bank. It supports its request with the argument that St. Paul is the seat of the Federal government for the Northwest.

We wonder if the business men of our sister city realize what an overwhelming argument they suggest for a central bank located in Washington?

Consider Washington's claim—

It has the Howard university for the education of colored youth.

It has the office of superintendent of public buildings and grounds.

It has the headquarters of the revenue cutter service.

It has the war college.

It has the army medical museum and library.

It has the office of the admiral of the navy.

It has the bureau of animal industry.

It has the bureau of lighthouses.

It has the children's bureau.

It has the Pan-American union.

It has the American National Red Cross.

It has the government hospital for the insane.

What has banking to do with the location of regional banks?

Why the Constitution Doesn't Fit.

San Francisco Bulletin: In the year 1790, according to figures printed in one of the recent publications of the census, there was only one city in the United States with a population of 30,000 or more. That was New York. Only eight-tenths of 1 per cent of the people of the country were living under anything resembling urban conditions. No wonder statesmen of that time believed that America would never be a manufacturing country.

In 1860 there were twenty-six cities of more than 30,000 population, and 10.3 per cent of the population lived in them. And still the country was overwhelmingly agricultural.

But, with the Civil war off our hands, things began rapidly to change, and the latest report is that America has 193 cities of more than 30,000 population, and that 30.4 per cent of the nation's population live in them. If we add to this the numbers of people who live in cities of 20,000, or 15,000, or even 10,000, under conditions which are really more citified than those in New York in 1790, we can realize what a vast change has taken place. The United States has moved into the city. Our national problems, despite our vast farming acreage, are problems of cities.

Considering this, and considering that the frame of our government was laid in 1787, it is no wonder the Constitution doesn't fit.

Shaw as a Socialist.

From a Literary Bulletin: George Bernard Shaw is a true Socialist. At the close of one of his lectures on the benefits of Socialism he offered to answer any questions that might be put to him.

"I should like to ask you one thing," said a man who arose in the middle of the hall. "Don't you think that these huge incomes one hears of are all wrong? Don't you think that there should be a law passed to prevent any man having more than £1,000 a year?"

"Certainly not," Shaw promptly replied. "Why, I make more than £1,000 a year myself."

Twenty Years Ago

From the Herald of this date, 1894.

A change was made in the fire department at West Duluth today. J. Shay and Gunder Anderson were transferred to Duluth. Michael O'Donnell, who was captain of the hook and ladder truck at No. 1 house, was given full charge of the West Duluth station, supplanting James Ryan, formerly chief, and George Mahan, formerly lieutenant at No. 2 house, was transferred to West Duluth.

Dr. Fred K. Richardson, who is now located at Northampton, Mass., arrived today for a visit with his friends and relatives in Duluth.

Austin A. Mendenhall has retired from the firm of Mendenhall & Hoopes and will go to California, where he has an interest in a large fruit farm.

W. E. Chanery of Farmingham, Me., has returned home after a visit with relatives here.

A. Frew, bookkeeper for Mendenhall & Hoopes for ten years past, has resigned and will go to Canada.

Mrs. J. L. Dickenson, wife of Manager Dickenson of the Woodward Clothing company, has arrived here from Excelsior, Minn., with her three sons.

H. D. Morton is confined to his bed with a severe attack of the grip.

The state superintendent has received notice that E. T. Critchett has been appointed superintendent of the New Ulm schools. He was formerly principal of the high school at Mankato and later of the Duluth high school. For the past year he has been in Chicago with Maj. Crooker, who was agent for the Menage property in that city.

"Wang" will be sung at the Temple tonight for the first time in Duluth. Edward F. Stevens is the comedian of the company and Miss Virginia Earl takes the part of Mataya.

Insurance adjusters are at work upon the loss sustained by Howard & Haynie's dry goods stock from the fire in the basement of the Ingalls block on West Superior street. The fire did not get into the store, but heavy damage was done by the smoke. The firm has $78,500 insurance on the stock.

Dr. Northrup of Marquette, chief surgeon of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railroad, is visiting friends in Duluth.

Collectors Johnson of Duluth and Shields of Superior have just finished a joint compilation of the customs house statistics of the Head of the Lakes for presentation to the authorities at Washington by the Duluth-Superior harbor improvement committee.

Mother Goose Revised.

New York Evening Sun: Certain educators suggest that Mother Goose should be rewritten so as to take out of it every notion that might injure the mind of a child.

We demand that the reform go further and that a definite moral lesson be taught by each set of verses. For instance:

"Clickety, clackety, my fat hen,
She lays eggs for gentlemen!"
Marvelous, faithful fowl obese,
Her eggs are worth a dime apiece!
Honor the type of industry then—
Clickety, clackety, my fat hen!—
Bird that studies night and day
To make the golden moments pay!
Gladder pullet gabble and squawk
And loaf in the sun by the garden walk—
Clickety, clackety, my fat hen
Is the busiest bird in the chicken pen!
Children, model your lives on hers;
Work is the thing that she really prefers!
You will be busy and happy then—
Clickety, clackety, my fat hen!

Ding, dong dell! Pussy's in the well!
Who put her in? Little Johnny Green!
Who pulled her out? Little Tommy Stout!
Of typhoid germs in his inside:
In after life this Johnnie Green
(A brute to cats, as we have seen)
Drank from the self same well and died
Of typhoid germs in his inside;
While Thomas Stout—a surgeon he—
Took from Green's heirs a handsome fee;
The moral, children is: You should
Boil drinking water—and be good!

"Little Bo Peep has lost her sheep
And don't know where to find 'em—
Leave 'em alone and they'll come home
And bring their tails behind 'em."
Children should try never to cry
Or worry when forgetful—
Little Bo Peep, she lost her sheep,
But it didn't make her fretful!
If a child should lose his hat or shoes,
A child should never worry!
Little Bo Peep, she lost her sheep,
But it put her in no flurry!
High or low a child may throw
His blocks and then forget 'em!
Leave 'em alone and they'll come home—
If not, make mamma get 'em!

Side-Light on History.

Washington Star: "And you are eating grass!" said the sympathetic bystander.

"Sh-h-h!" returned Nebuchadnezzar. "That's the story I gave out, but the truth is that I think there is a hen's nest somewhere out here in the weeds."

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of Th Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

"THE WRECK OF THE JULIE PLANTE."

Recently a correspondent of the Open Court asked for the poem "The Wreck of the Julie Plante." Here it is:

On wan dark night on Lac St. Pierre
De win' she blow, blow, blow,
And de crew of de wood scow Julie Plante
Got scar't and run below.
For de win' she blow lak hurricane,
Bimeby she blow some more,
An' de scow bus' up on Lac St. Pierre
Wan arpent from de shore.

De capitinne walk on de fronte deck,
An' walk de hin' deck, too,
He call de crew from up de hole,
He call de cook also.
De cook she's name was Rosie,
She come from Montreal,
Was chambre maid on lumber barge
On de grande Lochine canal.

De win' she blow from nor'-eas'-wes',
De sout' win' she blow, too,
W'en Rosie cry, "Mon cher, capitinne,
Mon cher, w'at I shall do?"
Den de capitinne t'row de big ankerre,
But still de scow she dreef,
De crew he can't pass on de shore,
Becos' he los' hees skeef.

De night was dark lak wan black cat,
De wave run high an' fas',
W'en de capitinne tak' de Rosie girl
An' tie her to de mas'.
Den he also tak' de life preserve
An' jump off on de lak,
An' say "Goodbye, my Rosie dear,
I go drown for your sak'."

Nex' morning, very early,
'Bout half-pas' two-t'ree-four,
De capitinne, scow, an' de poor Rosie
Was corpses on de shore.
For de win' she blow lak' hurricane,
Bimeby she blow some more,
An' de scow bus' up on Lac St. Pierre
Wan arpent from de shore.

MORAL.

Now all good wood scow sailor man,
Tak' warning by dat storm,
An' go an' marry some nice French girl
An' leev on wan big farm.
De win' can blow lak' hurricane,
An' s'pose she blow some more,
You can't get drown on Lac St. Pierre
So long you stay on shore.

TOO MUCH FOUNDATION.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Why do the architects of Duluth want a two-foot trench dug for a foundation for a boiler or two boilers, filled up with stone or concrete and at the same time the whole building resting on the same foundation as before the trench is dug. The foundation for the building is dug nine feet deep and two feet for the boiler makes eleven feet from the surface. At that depth you generally go through hard pan. Then you strike quicksand. Then they call for reinforced work. What do you think of that for a waste of material? They make foundations for about 12,000 brick to stand on. Then comes six inches of concrete floor up against the boiler wall, which is enough foundation for the biggest boiler in the state, when it is set on a cellar dug eight feet deep from the surface. Engineers and architects, take notice of the above. Yours from a mechanic.

AUTOMOBILES AND STREET CARS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Minneapolis and St. Paul have ordinances requiring automobiles to come to a stop when approaching a street car that is taking on or discharging passengers, and visitors to those cities will notice that the ordinance is strictly enforced. I would like to know why Duluth does not have such an ordinance. Surely human life is worth as much here as in the Twin Cities. What influences have prevented the enactment of such an ordinance in the Zenith City?

Duluth, Jan. 16.

THE COPPER STRIKE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Resolutions by Socialists of Duluth or elsewhere will not settle the strike in Northern Michigan, for we yet have a Constitution and laws under which we live and by which we must abide, even if it takes the United States army to enforce them.

Calling upon congress to investigate a thing will not help matters, as the governor of Michigan has been on the job and attained facts.

Congress cannot override the people of Michigan, nor compel employers to swallow the Western Federation of Miners or any other body of men.

Gompers and his workers along down the line are getting fat salaries and living on the poor dupes of the labor unions, who are paying the bills of the agitators who are fast filling our land with anarchy and bloodshed.

Obey the laws and this will cease.

WHO ARE THE QUACKS?

To the Editor of The Herald:

In The Herald of Jan. 12 there appeared an article entitled "Help Down the Quacks," in which the health officer accused an unlicensed doctor of treating a case of tuberculosis and insinuated that the doctor in question did not know how to properly handle said case, but the health officer did not give us the name of the doctor.

I personally do not believe in medicine at all, and therefore depend upon the drugless practitioners in the city when myself or family are sick. Our experience with medicine compelled us to go to a drugless practitioner when my wife, who had suffered for years, was told by two of the best physicians in Duluth that nothing but an operation could possibly do her any good. So we went to a drugless, unlicensed practitioner, (I do not know whether the health officer refers to drugless practitioners when he uses the term "quacks"), and in a few months my wife was a real woman and has enjoyed good health for the past four years.

I do not think the health officer has been explicit enough in his warning to the public. Just whom does he mean by the terms "faker" and "quack"? I certainly could not consider the man who brought health to my wife either a faker or a quack. If that is the professional term for him, then it is a good fake, and I, as a public-spirited citizen and taxpayer am not willing to down him. I consider we need him.

However, if this sort of man is not the man referred to by the health officer, and if there are fakers and quacks in our city claiming to know what they do not know, and to be able to do what they cannot do, tell us who they are, for it is my privilege and the privilege of every other taxpayer, who are paying the salary of the health officer, to have the names of the parties involved. If there was such a case, give us the names. Respectfully yours,

W. H. ROBERTS,

The DOCTOR'S HELPS

By DONALD McCASKEY, M. D.
Member of Staff, General Hospital, Lancaster, Pa.; Fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine

THE EARLIEST PREGNANCY CAN NOW BE DETERMINED BY EXAMINING THE MOTHER'S BLOOD

Within the last few years some very remarkable results have been obtained for better health by the use of the modern vaccine. Thousands upon thousands of lives have been saved because of the efficient research work upon the blood serums in the modern laboratory. This has been particularly the case in the matter of treatment of typhoid fever. The modern serum treatment of typhoid fever is to prevent the disease before it has actually gained a foothold in the body. The blood is the agency by which we can tell within a few days whether or not pregnancy exists when all other means of diagnosis are uncertain and it becomes absolutely necessary to know the exact truth. Within the space of a few weeks after impregnation has occurred there is a change develops in the quality of the mother's blood. The change is purely a chemical one and very delicate. By modern laboratory methods a drop of blood smeared upon a glass slide is enough to reveal the test. Certain serum tests are applied. Each of these gives a definite reaction. These latter are now so absolute and unvarying that where pregnancy exists the blood can be made to reveal the condition. One of the most valuable uses to which this new discovery can be put will be in the determining as to whether or not any abnormal condition exists, such as fibroid tumor or an ectopic pregnancy. This latter is a most dangerous abnormality and has a high death rate because of the impossibility heretofore of its being discovered until rupture and hemorrhage.

FOR A 3-YEAR-OLD PAINFUL FOOT ULCER.

A gentleman writes asking for aid for his foot ulcer, which has been stubborn and painful for three years, running from his great toe back along the sole to his heel. I have been treated for syphilis, have had a negative Wasserman test made and have had many doctors attempt to cure this ulcer, but with no benefit.

To intelligently stimulate the growth of healthy tissue around the ulcerated surface of your foot depends upon a number of conditions. Just salves and luck won't bring the result.

If you haven't syphilis and if the ulcer isn't a tubercular one, it can be healed. But you must fulfill your end of the contract.

First, if I were treating you I would want to know the condition of your blood as to its specific gravity and the proportion of hemoglobin. Blood furnishes the food to every tissue in the body. If the blood is poor, you cannot expect healing to occur.

Second, I would want to know the chemical and microscopal condition of your urine.

Third, I would want to know what sort of treatment and usage your foot has received.

These things cannot be learned by mail in a satisfactory degree. Neither could I treat disease by mail satisfactorily. It may be that a persistent course of strapping your ulcer with zinc oxide adhesive strips would stimulate granulations. Likewise an alternating treatment of hot and cold water therapy, together with a month or so of Biers hyperemic treatment, whereby the blood is forced into the sluggish area of ulceration and the latter is forced to become invigorated and heal. There are many phases to your treatment.

Americans and Foreigners

(By Sayegard.)

Washington, Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Some of our great journalists write with magnificent verbosity and boundless volubility about a conspiracy on the part of England and Germany to keep our trade out of South America. It is absurd. There are several alibis to the charge. In the first place England is moved by rivalry of us less than she is of Germany, and Germany is less jealous of us than she is of England. We read in fable that an old woman made a tour of the world, circumnavigating the globe, in search of a "four-leaf clover," without avail, but when she got back to her home she found one right under her doorstep.

What is the use of these fellows talking about a "conspiracy" somewhere on the other side to shut us out of South America? The reason for the failure of the Panama exposition is not far to seek. They are numerous and they are logical and they are under our doorstep.

In the first place "expositions" long ago were "run into the ground." They have been too much exploited. There is no longer any profit to be made showing your wares at such places. The game is not worth the candle. We can have a sentiment when it comes to warfare or politics, but emotion rarely mixes with business when it comes to trade and hence it was a piece of improvidence when congress recklessly rushed into an exposition to commemorate the completion of the Panama canal.

But that is not all of it—it was a chunk of asshood to put it over on the fringe of the republic in California. When they put it out there it was doomed to failure. Look you, it is the middle class that supports such shows. Even the theater in your town would be "dark" every night of the week but for the folks of small means. How are you going to get the masses of the Atlantic slope and the great Mississippi valley to cross the continent to see a poorer show than they saw at Chicago or St. Louis years ago? The thing will be a failure, and what is the use of lying about it?

With all my little might I tried to have the exposition at New Orleans, where it would have stood a little chance of success, and where it would have been an immense success had the country not been surfeited with such shows. Three days before the vote was taken New Orleans had the thing nailed down; but the California lobby got in its work; I do not know that it was in any way corrupt work so far as congress was concerned; but I do suspect that agencies were corruptly employed and I am certain that congress was cajoled.

The day San Francisco was chosen I knew, as everybody knows now, that the show would be a miserable failure. You can't run a theater established so far from the audience. And there is going to be a big bill for congress to pay after the doors are closed.

There is another thing. As a matter of comity, I am sure both England and Germany, knowing the venture would prove barren, would have enlisted in the enterprise had not the American congress in flat violation and contempt of a solemn covenant exempted American vessels in the coastwise trade passing through the Panama canal from tolls. There was a piece of downright and absolute dishonesty that shocked all nations and it will cost us a hundredfold more than we can ever hope to make by it when we enter that terrific scuffle now at hand for a Latin-American trade.

Credit is the soul of trade. It is delicate beyond compare. It withers at the slightest touch of dishonesty. Who but must admire that old Scotch noble who "accepts" a forged bank check purporting to have been drawn by himself with the proud declaration, "The name of Crawford, though counterfeit, shall not go to protest."

We built that canal for all the world and it is bound to prove of more advantage to our republic the first half a century of its existence than to the rest of mankind. Then why chill everybody by this hoggish piece of business? Even in a material way this repudiation is bound to be ruinously costly and as a matter of personal and national honor the thing will prove disastrous beyond calculation.

"The fear o' hell's a hangman's whip,
To haud the wretch in order;
But where you feel your honor grip,
Let that ay be your border;
Its slightest touches, instant pause—
Debar a' side pretences;
And resolutely keep its laws,
Uncaring consequences."

That is the only way for an honest man to get along, and that is the only way for an honest nation to get along, and just as the nation is greater than its unit, so is its obligation to be honest correspondingly greater.

RESINOL STOPS ITCHING EASILY

Why Suffer With Skin Humors When You Can Heal Them So Quickly?

Don't stand that itching eczema torment one day longer. Go to the nearest druggist and get a jar of Resinol Ointment and a cake of Resinol Soap. Bathe the eczema patches with Resinol Soap and hot water. They dry and apply a little Resinol Ointment.

The torturing itching and burning stop instantly, you no longer have to dig and scratch, sleep becomes possible, and healing begins. Soon the ugly, tormenting eruptions disappear completely and for good.

Resinol Soap (25c.), and Resinol Ointment (50c. and $1), are also speedily effective for pimples, blackheads, dandruff, sores and many forms of piles. Prescribed by doctors for the past eighteen years, and sold by practically every druggist in the United States. For trial free, write to Dept. 41-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md. Don't be deceived by preparations similar in name or appearance, offered as "just like Resinol," by a few unscrupulous dealers. They are crude imitations upon which such dealers can make a few cents extra profit—at your expense.

WOULD GIVE FARM CREDIT ON COWS.

Topeka, Kan., Jan. 15.—E. T. Ransom, a banker of Wichita, Kan., told the Kansas Improved Stock Breeders' association that all bankers should change their system of credit from the steer to the cow. He was discussing the conservation of the cow, and asserted that when a bank extended credit to a farmer on steers, it was credit that meant the removal of the steers to a butcher shop.

"But when the banker gives a farmer credit with which to buy cows, he does something that means additional animals on the farm each year," Banker Ransom said.

Crew Safe, Boat Lost.

Vineyard Haven, Mass., Jan. 15.—Capt. C. A. Berriman of St. John, N. B., and all the members of the crew of the British schooner Greta, were brought to this port on the tug Nemasket, which took them off their dismasted vessel. The Greta is supposed to have sunk.

WHOLESALE TRADE GOOD

Sales of Duluth Jobbing Houses Are Showing General Increases.

Optimism Is Reflected in Business Circles Through the Northwest.

Sales managers of the various local wholesale establishments are growing more optimistic as the first month of the year passes over. The volume of trade being taken in all jobbing lines is reported to be making favorable comparisons with the tally of a year ago.

Said a jobber today, "American business men appear to be getting back into their fighting togs, thanks to the course of the present administration at Washington in handling the difficult problems that have confronted them during the last six months. Confidence is being rapidly restored, and with that will undoubtedly come a general expansion in business operations. I think that Duluth houses will find 1914 a remarkably good year. There is likely to be recorded more real progress right here than at any other point in the country."

Grocery Trade Active.

General trade in grocery lines is reported exceptionally good by the Twohy-Elmon Mercantile company of Superior and the Barthe-Martin company of this city. "Our volume of trade is showing a substantial increase over last year," said P. Elmon of the former company, today. "Salesmen are booking good orders over the territory and the tone of their letters regarding the outlook is all on the optimistic side."

As regards quotations, the opinion is generally held by jobbers that the sugar market is now at the bottom with a firming up likely within the next few weeks.

In canned and dried fruits and vegetables prices are unchanged. Some lines, including tomatoes, in which there was an overproduction by canners, are still showing weakness.

Coffees have advanced from ¼@¾c during the last few days and the tendency is still upward on improved buying.

The market in teas is marking time at present. Advance advices received by jobbers predict that the new season's teas will open up at from a cent to 1½c above the figures prevailing in last year's importations. Flour is firm with a slightly high range in wheat quotations.

Dry Goods Orders Good.

Both future and current business in dry goods is said by F. A. Patrick & Co. to be well maintained. Trade in heavy woolen fabrics is showing improvement as a result of the recent touch of cold weather through the West.

Satisfaction is expressed by the local house over the orders coming to hand in its garment department, a splendid showing being made by travelers in all sections of the country. The Patrick knitting mill is now running and is well booked up ahead. With it and the garment factory and woolen mill in operation, about 500 hands are afforded employment in the firm's manufacturing department.

Large Stationery Sales.

"We are doing the best January business in our history, and the outlook is growing brighter all the time," said B. M. Peyton, president of the Peyton Paper company. Trade is said to be well distributed from over the ground being covered and from the initial orders being taken in building papers, activity in building operations is forecasted next season. Quotations in wall boards have been advanced by the mills.

Heavy Harness Shipments.

E. A. Schulze, president of the Schulze Bros. company, averred that January shipments of harness, horse collars and leather fittings promise to set a new high record for his house. The company's factory is operating full time and employing a larger force than a year ago. Additional salesmen have been put on to cover Western Minnesota and part of South Dakota, and arrangements will probably be made to go after trade through Eastern Washington and Idaho.

A gain in orders is advised in the company's glove department and in the manufacture of foot cosies.

Shoe Output Enlarged.

The Northern Shoe company has completed the installing of additional machinery and equipment in its factory, and its output is reported larger than at this period last year. While business is broadening out nicely through the territory, the volume being taken from over Northern Minnesota is said to be making the best relative showing.

Furniture Market Firm.

While the present is the off season in the furniture trade, fair shipments over North Dakota and Montana especially are advised by the De Witt-Seitz company. A tendency on the part of the factories to advance prices in the better grades of furniture is reported. Among the outside buyers at the company's warehouse during the week were E. R. Blair, Coleraine, Minn.; John Glava, Ray, Minn., and G. A. Juuti, Mountain Iron, Minn.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We Eat Too Much Meat Which Clogs Kidneys, Then the Back Hurts.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble. Agent, Wirth's Red Cross Drug store, 13 West Superior street.

NO DAMAGES FOR DEPORTING HINDU.

Vancouver, B. C., Jan. 15.—The deportation of Bhagwan Singh, a Hindu priest of prominence, from Canada on Nov. 26 last, is sustained in a written judgment by Justice Harrison of the supreme court of British Columbia. No action for damages, in the court's view, can lie against the immigration department because of the deportation.

Singh was forcibly put aboard the steamer Empress of Japan in November and sent to the Orient. Pleas were made to have him put ashore at Victoria, his attorney having obtained a writ of habeas corpus. The wireless order of the court was ignored by the immigration inspectors, whom the higher tribunal has now sustained.

Pass Nickle Plate Common.

New York, Jan. 15.—Directors of the New York, Chicago & St. Louis railway, known as the Nickle Plate, a Vanderbilt line, passed the annual dividend on the common stock. At this time last year a dividend of 4 per cent was declared, and for three years previously 3 per cent. The regular semi-annual dividend of 2½ per cent on the first and second preferred stocks was declared. The common stock went up 1½ points on the stock exchange.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

WRITTEN FOR THE HERALD BY REV. J. S. KIRTLEY, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: JAN. 18.

Luke X, 25-27: The Good Samaritan.

CONNECTION.

It was perhaps on the borders of Samaria when Jesus was asked two questions by a conceited expounder of the Jewish law who started in with rather a puerile motive and got more instruction than he had expected. Just when it was we cannot be certain but it was during that autumn after the Master's visit to Jerusalem.

THE LESSON.

I.

Getting the Principles Right, 25-28.

"And behold, a certain lawyer stood up and made trial of Him, saying, Teacher, what shall I do to inherit eternal life? And He said unto him, What is written in the law? how readest thou? And he answering said, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself. And He said unto him, Thou hast answered right: this do, and thou shalt live."

1. SMARTNESS.—This expounder of the law had made it his business to know all the words of Scripture and be ready for any question. He was evidently not malicious but merely afflicted with a desire to show his superiority in splitting hairs. He had heard of the shrewdness and skill of Jesus in meeting issues and answering questions and had no doubt said to his friends "just watch me do him up when I get a chance," and they were there to see the combat. But he was disappointed. "What shall I do to inherit eternal life?" He thought he knew the answer; he thought he had eternal life; he didn't want information. He simply wanted a chance to show Jesus how much he knew or to trip Jesus up. He "stood up" in the meeting with great self-importance.

2. HELPLESSNESS.—When Jesus asked what the law said on the subject he gave a perfect summary of its teachings—complete love to God and love to one's neighbor equal to love of oneself. He said it because it was the teaching of the rabbis which he knew perfectly and he probably repeated in his daily prayers. He must have been disappointed when Jesus agreed with him. That seemed to shut out occasion for debate and he couldn't live without disputation. Especially when Jesus said "simply live up to it and you have eternal life, your question is answered," he was left speechless. Jesus spoke truth—all you have to do is to love God supremely with all the powers of your whole being and love your neighbor as well as you do yourself. That is simple enough and is reasonable, but who in the world can do it? "That Smart Aleck," as we would call him, knew he couldn't do it unless he could get a construction of God and his neighbor that would suit him. He raises that question.

II.

Getting the Practice Right, 29-37.

"But he, desiring to justify himself, said unto Jesus: And who is my neighbor? Jesus made answer and said: A certain man was going down from Jerusalem to Jericho; and he fell among robbers, who both stripped him and beat him, and departed, leaving him half dead. And by chance a certain priest was going down that way: and when he saw him, he passed by on the other side. And in like manner a Levite also, when he came to the place, and saw him, passed by on the other side. But a certain Samaritan, as he journeyed, came where he was, and when he saw him, he was moved with compassion, and came to him, and bound up his wounds, pouring on them oil and wine; and he set him on his own beast, and brought him to an inn, and took care of him. And on the morrow he took out two shillings, and gave them to the host, and said: Take care of him; and whatsoever thou spendest more, I, when I come back again, will repay thee. Which of these three, thinkest thou, proved neighbor unto him that fell among the robbers? And he said, He that showed mercy on him. And Jesus said unto him, go, and do thou likewise."

1. CONCEIT.—The next question the lawyer asks is a display of his conceit and Jewish self-righteousness. He would trap Jesus with his superior knowledge, for he knew who his neighbor was. His first question was so simple and the answer so easy he felt he might be thought by those who heard him to have acted foolishly in asking it. Now, in order to "justify himself" in doing it, he asks another question. This would be sure to show off his skill and put Jesus at a disadvantage. Of course, as a lawyer, he would know who his neighbor was, for the rabbis had taught him. This was the one ambiguous word in the talk and this would show up Jesus as different from the rabbis who taught that one's neighbor is another Jew; all others were "dogs." He was sure of showing off his subtle knowledge and exposing any divergence in the teaching of Jesus from that of the rabbis. This is his chance. "Watch me while I show you how smart I was in asking that question," he seems to say. "Once let Jesus dodge the issue or make a slip and the "show" is complete.

2. TROUBLE.—The parable was skillful beyond the power of any short-story writer of today to equal and that's saying a good deal. It displayed a man in trouble. He was not said to be a Jew or a Gentile, only a human being and in trouble. The nature of his trouble was such as could easily befall any traveler, as it had befallen many a one in the same lonely road between Jerusalem and Jericho, where the descent is 4,000 feet in a distance of about twenty miles through a narrow pass, amid caves infested by robbers so bold that men used to have to buy the privilege of passing through in safety. He was not only robbed; he was almost killed, as would be expected in a contest with robbers, and he would soon be dead if some one didn't come to his help. Here then was the basis of the parable, a man in need.

3. NEGLECT.—We would say at once that any man who saw him would help. It was simply a question of having a human soul with its necessary sympathies and the first man who came along would do it, simply because he was a man, not because he was a Jew or Gentile. A priest came along and of all men you would expect him to help the poor fellow. He was trained in the law of God and all the laws of kindness enjoined by Moses. Perhaps he was reading the law just then, for all priests carried a copy of it with them lest they should not know how to meet any ceremonial emergency. But he went on and left him to die. Why? The reason he assigned for it was that it was not his official business, or he might defile himself with a dead body, for he might die any minute, or he might himself be robbed if he didn't hasten, or he had to reach Jericho by nightfall or get to the temple service at Jerusalem—plenty of excuses. But the real reason was that he had put something else above life in its sacredness. He called a Jew the only neighbor; then he narrowed it. He was denatured. The Levite did the same thing. The very men who should do it did it not.

4. HUMANITY.—A Samaritan did it and did it thoroughly. He went down to the unities. They were human beings. Jesus let the lawyer draw his own conclusions and the story carried its own lesson. A neighbor is any human being in need, whatever his race, or religion, or wherever he lived.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

She lives in the same apartment, just down the hall. You have passed her many times, but you were absorbed in your own pursuits. You had your own friends. So you passed her by on the other side. You did not know of the heartsickness so bravely hidden. You could not see the wound death had left in her heart. It was not until a dear little lady came to live next to you, one of Christ's own, who found her needs and took her to the great Physician. Then you wished you had been more thoughtful.

This Samaritan typifies the democracy of the kind heart. His overflowing love sweeps all caste barriers aside. A gentleman who had built a fine mansion suggested that a housewarming would be appropriate. His wife agreed, but asked him to invite everyone who had worked on the building, from the architect down. The husband accepted the novel idea, so an evening was planned in which the men who dug the cellar, the carpenters, the masons, the plumbers, the painters, the paper hangers, the teamsters, even the water-boy, mingled with the proprietor and his family, the architect, the lumber merchant, and the hardware dealer, in a feast of brotherhood, in which each was a neighbor to all the rest, and the humblest worker and his wife or sweetheart was made to feel that his part in rearing the home was gratefully appreciated.—Cowan.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. What, really, is eternal life?
2. Do you possess it?
3. What limitation do you put on your definition of a neighbor?
4. In what respects have you failed to be a neighbor?
5. How may you discover the needs of people?

WILL SELL FOOD AND FUEL AT COST PRICE

Chicago Plans System to Help Those Out of Work.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—A chain of retail groceries and coal markets, financed by the city of Chicago and operated for the benefit of the unemployed who still have small savings, and therefore have not been reduced to applying for relief, will be started in a short time, according to the plans of city and Cook county officials and the leaders of labor unions. An item of $25,000 to provide capital for the venture has been placed in the city's annual appropriation bill by the finance committee, and the expectation is that it will be passed upon favorably by the council.

With the adoption of the budget, the money will be turned over to the city "unemployed commission," and the immediate direction of the plan will be taken over by Rev. R. A. White. It is proposed to rent stores in different parts of the city, with a general superintendent and a force of clerks for each. Suplies of food and fuel will be purchased at wholesale by John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, and these will be retailed at cost to the customers, cash payment being required in all cases.

See New York Topsy Turvy.

New York, Jan. 15.—Lower New York upside down greeted passengers of the steamer Prince Joaquin as the vessel inbound from Colon, paused off Sandy Hook yesterday, waiting for the mist to clear. In the dense vapor raised by the cold weather appeared the tip of Manhattan inverted. Notwithstanding the extreme cold, passengers crowded the decks to view the mirage.

LITTLE PROSPECT OF PEACE IN MEXICO

Earl Smith, superintendent of the Santo Domingo mine at Batapilas, Mex., is visiting friends in this city, having left the warring republic with a party of Americans and foreigners ordered out of the country by Gen. Jose Villa in November.

Mr. Smith has been in Mexico for three years and states that the feeling of outsiders who are familiar with conditions, is that order will not be restored for months. Little hope of intervention by the United States is entertained.

He says that Villa gets his strength by allowing the poor and ignorant to drink and plunder and do no work. For the same reason he is more cordially hated by the better class than any of the other leaders, having absolutely no regard for property rights.

ACTOR FOR MOVIES SENTENCED TO DIE.

Riverside, Cal., Jan. 15.—Superior Judge Densmore has sentenced Thomas Green to be hanged at San Quentin, April 3, and Paul Case to serve life imprisonment in that penitentiary. They are the two moving picture actors convicted of having robbed the Palo Verde bank at Blythe, Cal., Dec. 1, 1913, obtaining nearly $5,000 and killing the cashier, William Bowles.

Green exonerated his companion of blame for the murder. In their trial they told of their roles in film holdups and how they planned the holdup, thinking it must be easy in real life.

NO NAVAL PROGRAM FOR CANADA IN 1914.

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 15.—Canada is not going to launch a naval program this year, it developed with the opening of the Canadian parliament. At the last session of the parliament the government brought in a bill appropriating $35,000,000 for the three battleships which were to be assigned to the British home fleet. This measure met with pronounced opposition, but with the aid of closure, was carried through the Canadian lower house, only to meet defeat in the Canadian senate, where the Liberals were in the majority.

It was expected that the government would introduce the measure again next session. However, the speech from the throne, which outlines legislation, said, that in view of the defeat of the naval bill last session, and as there is still a Liberal majority in the senate, the government does not deem it expedient to bring forth naval legislation this session.

A DANGEROUS MISTAKE

Duluth Mothers Should Not Neglect Kidney Weakness in Children.

Many children have weak kidneys,
An early warning is bed-wetting.
Often followed by backache, headache, languor.
'Tis a mistake to neglect, these troubles,
To blame the child for its own distress.
Seek to check the cause,
Save the child from dangerous kidney ills.
Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for weak kidneys.

Duluth parents know their worth.

Mrs. W. W. Cook, 14 West Myrtle street, Duluth Heights, Minn., says: "I had my children use Doan's Kidney Pills several months ago and this remedy soon brought relief from kidney weakness. Others of my family have been greatly relieved of backache and other kidney ailments by using Doan's Kidney Pills. We generally keep a box of this remedy in the house."

PLEDGE SUPPORT TO FOREST REGULATION

Members of American Forestry Association End Their Meeting.

Washington, Jan. 15.—With the election of officers and the adoption of a platform announcing policies to be advocated on the regulation of national, state and private forests, the thirty-third annual meeting of the American Forestry association closed here. Dr. Henry Sturgis Drinker of South Bethlehem, Pa., was re-elected president, and San Francisco, Cal., was chosen for the 1915 convention.

Statistics were made public showing that the forests supply more than $1,250,000,000 worth of products annually, and that the industry employs 735,000 persons, pays $367,000,000 yearly in wages, and utilizes 550,000,000 acres unsuited for agricultural purposes.

The association pledged support to the Federal government in the administration and management of national forests, and urged adequate appropriations for proper care of the timber resources. Federal co-operation with the states, especially in forest fire protection, was indorsed and the platform suggested that private owners should be aided and encouraged by investigations and educational work, since they cannot be expected to practice forestry at a financial loss. It proposed further that the Federal and state governments should undertake scientific forestry on national and state forest reserves for the benefit of the public.

RURAL SCHOOL IS DESTROYED

Fire Which Took Place Jan. 4 May Have Been Incendiary.

Although fire destroyed Unorganized School No. 41, near Cook, on the evening of Jan. 4, the office of the county superintendent of schools was not notified until yesterday.

The teacher, Miss Minnie Hillman of this city, has been ill at her home and was not at Cook at the time of the fire. It is believed by some that the fire was of incendiary origin in view of the fact that an attempt was made, it is believed, to fire the building on Halloween.

PLAN FARM CREDITS.

Glynn and His Advisers Draft New York State Plan.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 15.—Details of the projected state land credit system were discussed at length by experts and Governor Glynn, and the result of the discussion is that separate methods will be employed for effecting short term loans for such purposes as moving of crops, and long term credits for general improvements and similar purposes.

The long term credits, it is proposed to have cared for by a land bank which will crystallize the co-ordination of the 250 savings and loan associations in the state. A bill to this effect has been drawn and will receive its final touches in time for introduction next week, assuming that it shall have the approval of the State Agricultural society, which will begin a session here next Thursday.

This land bank is the keynote of the proposed system. In connection with it, it is proposed to issue debenture land bonds bearing the state's guarantee, thus providing needy farmers with liquid assets on the security of their lands. As a supplement to this, a special commission for the marketing of farm products is proposed; also the broadening of the law relating to commission merchants.

The short loan requirements are expected to be taken care of by the forming of farmers' credit co-operative unions throughout the state.

MILITIA PAY BILL IS AGREED UPON.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Secretary Garrison and adjutants general representing the national guard organizations of more than thirty states have agreed upon the terms of the proposed militia pay bill, under which the Federal government would provide pay for militiamen who in turn would enlist as "Federal reservists" subject to the call of the president to duty either within the United States or abroad.

It is proposed that the militia bill shall provide an annual appropriation of $14,500,000. Of this $4,000,000 would be expended for encampment and maneuver purposes, $8,000,000 is for home service pay and $2,500,000 for armament and equipment.

Secretary Garrison will lay a draft of the measure before President Wilson, with an explanation of just what the Federal government may expect in return for the money appropriated. If the president gives his indorsement, the bill will go before congress as an administration measure.

MAKE GOOD WORKMEN

When "Drunks" Get Whisky Out of System, They Like Farm.

Farmers Near New Institution Hope to Find Assistants There.

"Shay, old man, whash number of thish camp? Who'm I workin fer anyway?"

Questions such as this one are not uncommon these days at the joint county and city work farm six miles west of the city and on the Swan Lake road where numerous police court "drunks" have been sent to sober up.

According to Fred Ward, superintendent of the farm, the habitual drunkard is not much good for work the first few days. However, as soon as he gets the "booze" out of his system, he usually develops into a good worker.

When "drunks" are first received at the farm they are usually put through a Finnish bath house. Their old clothes are thoroughly fumigated and new clothes supplied.

"The prisoners seem to like the farm," declares Supt. Ward, "and many of them are willing workers and would make excellent foremen. We call our guards foremen here. The farmers in this vicinity are hoping that they will be able to hire men from the farm when their sentences expire, as farm hands are a scarce article at the present time.

Clearing Swamp.

"This winter, the timber will be cleared around a large swamp on the farm to allow the wind and sun to help dry it out, and when this land is drained it will make the best land on the entire farm. By studying the best paying crops, the farmers will undoubtedly be glad to join with the county and city farm in shipping their produce to market.

"There are a good many things in the truck garden line that can better be raised here where we have cool nights than in the southern part of the state where the nights are hot. A good market can be found for these things in Duluth and the Twin Cities. No return can be expected until the crops are put in. A great deal of time must first be taken in clearing the land. In clearing the land the rocks and stones will be piled up to be used in the stone crusher next winter. Eventually this rock will be used for the building of roads and for use in mixing concrete for permanent buildings.

"After starting out carefully, we do not want to go full blast until the organization is complete. We have no guard house for vicious prisoners and it requires some little time to instruct the guards or foreman in the matter of handling the men. The foremen work with the prisoners."

Members of the county and city work farm commission visited the institution this week and were well pleased with what they saw on their inspection tour. On account of the good weather during the present winter, the temporary buildings were erected in record time. A good deal of the material used came from the land itself and this served to bring the cost down to a minimum.

ern blizzard as the Cobequid, bound from the tropics, began to feel her way toward St. John. The last of the ebb tide was running and the wind blew strong from the west—conditions which tended to drive the steamer closer to the eastern shore than her skipper anticipated.

The crash came just before dawn on Tuesday, and a few minutes later the wireless "S. O. S." was flashing over the waters. The Cobequid's operator was unable to give her location, for no one on board knew it definitely. Four hours later, flood tide and gales had driven the steamer still further on the rocks, breaking her back and flooding the engine room. This put out the fires and interrupted the wireless operation.

The passengers were greatly alarmed, but the courage of Capt. Hawson and his abiding faith in his ship reassured them repeatedly. The steamer took water rapidly and the cargo began to tear away.

Throughout the day and night that followed, the officers scanned the sea for passing craft, and the operator worked heroically to restore his wireless outfit. Meantime steamers that had picked up the first cry for help were searching for the distressed craft.

Seen by Fisherman.

A heavy vapor caused by the action of the intense cold handicapped the searchers and it was a fisherman on Port Maitland shore who first made out the Cobequid as the vapor rose late yesterday afternoon and revealed the liner on the dreaded Trinity.

Darkness was gathering fast when the rescue began, but the boatmen from the coastal steamers knew the rock and the surrounding shoals as well as they did their own front yards ashore, and they went at the work before them with perfect confidence. Less than five hours later those who had faced death for two days, were being warmed and fed at the hotels here.

Tuesday furnished a day and night of terror on the steamer. Life belts had been passed out to all on board, and when the seas began to break over the ship all hands were ordered below, where they huddled in the cabins. It was feared that the hull would part. Daylight and the knowledge that their appeal for help had been heard gave renewed hope, but the position of the ship grew more dangerous hourly. Up to noon, the gale showed no signs of subsiding. The bridge, charthouse, companionways and everything movable on deck, including all but four lifeboats, were washed away.

Various expedients to prevent suffering from cold were adopted. Fires were kindled in an iron bucket, in which holes had been cut to afford a draft. This crude utensil was used to heat water and make tea. One of the crew suffered a broken arm, but this was the only accident.

through soft, warm ashes breast high, until they reached a great rock. Sheltered behind this rock they found thirty-three people still living, but coated with thick dust and weakened by starvation and thirst.

Among the rescued was a schoolmaster, who had borne with him from his schoolhouse the portrait of the emperor; the village policeman, who had saved the records of the station house, and the postal clerk with a small bag of mail.

The refugees were taken on board a warship and provided with food and drink. They explained that they had hidden in a great cave near the shore during the rain of ashes.

Volcanic activity in the district north of this city is abating and the work of restoring communication is going forward rapidly.

Offers American Aid.

Washington, Jan. 15.—On receiving further details of the earthquake and tidal wave in Japan, President Wilson today sent a second cablegram to the emperor of Japan, as follows:

"Permit me again to express to you the deep sympathy which the American people feel for their sister nation, Japan, in her great calamity. Their hearts go out to the thousands upon whom suffering and disaster have come so suddenly and in so terrible a form. Is there any way in which we can help?"

vocations by employes of the mining companies.

The second count is of similar tenor, but the charge is broadened to include all classes of workmen.

In the third count it is charged that the union men had by their conspiracy and by attempts to intimidate, interfered with the rights and property of non-union men.

No Reference to Moyer Case.

The jury made no reference to the Moyer deportation so far as could be learned.

The court officials promised that as fast as warrants were served, the names of the indicted men would be made public.

One guess as to the nature of the concealed charges had it that they related to the four guards and two deputy sheriffs who are charged with what has become known as the Steeberville murders. These men have been out on bonds awaiting disposition of their cases by the grand jury.

The conspiracy indictment carried with it a list of 137 witnesses for the people. Named in it were the following mine officials: James MacNaughton, Calumet & Hecla; Charles L. Lawton, Quincy; F. W. Denton, Copper Range Consolidated; Theodore Dengler, Mohawk and Wolverine; R. R. Seeber, Winona, and Enoch Henderson, Franklin company. The others were nonunion employes of the companies, several women and some business men.

Incidental to the indictment the jury found that the Federation had 7,000 members in the strike district.

South Range Case Dropped.

Coupled with its exoneration of Mr. Goodell, was a no true bill in the cases of twenty-seven members of the union residing near South Range. They had been accused of unlawful assemblage and threats to destroy property on Dec. 10, and their activity resulted in one of the first general alarms after the organization of the Citizens' alliance. Mr. Goodell's case arose the next day after some one had fired a shot at a striker. The jury became convinced that the persons who accused Mr. Goodell of the shooting were mistaken.

After the grand jury's brief report had been handed in court adjourned until Saturday, Judge O'Brien returning to L'Anse to continue the strike cases being tried in Baraga county.

A score or more witnesses were on hand in the corridors and anterooms and the jurors plunged again into their grind of examinations.

WOOL GROWERS IN ANNUAL SESSION.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Jan. 15.—The fiftieth annual convention of the National Wool Growers' association opened here today with a thousand delegates. Addresses of welcome were responded to by Mayor E. O. Selway of Dillon, Mont. The convention then listened to the annual address of President Frank J. Hagenbarth.

Opposition developed early to the proposed leasing of public lands, as provided in bills now before congress, but the speakers generally urged the sheep men to adjust themselves to existing conditions.

FALLING WALL KILLS TWO MAINE FIREMEN.

Bangor, Me., Jan. 15.—Two firemen, John Leonard and Walter Morrill, were killed by a falling wall while fighting a fire that destroyed the Bangor opera house today. Four other injured firemen are expected to recover. The loss was about $100,000.

BODY PLACARDED.

Mexican Cattle Thief Hanged in Conspicuous Place.

Douglas, Ariz., Jan. 15.—"Let this be a warning to all thieves," is the text of a placard affixed to the breast of Roman Valenzuela, Mexican cattle thief, whose body hangs from a tall gatepost near the main highway at Cuquiarchi, Sonora, thirty-seven miles southwest of here. Valenzuela was hanged a few days ago after a year of operation as leader of a band of cattle thieves.

Sentence of death was recently passed on him in Cananea and a force of Rurales sent out with orders to capture and summarily execute him or any of his men. Valenzuela was captured and was hanged at the most conspicuous spot in the vicinity.

REVIEWING TESTIMONY

Big Volume of Evidence in Suit Against Duluth Street Railway.

Oscar Mitchell Arguing Before Court—F. B. Kellogg Will Follow.

Testimony adduced at the trial of the quo warranto suit against the Duluth Street Railway company in which the city is attacking the validity of the traction company's downtown franchise is today being carefully reviewed by Oscar Mitchell, one of the attorneys for the company, who has launched into an exhaustive argument. Mr. Mitchell started his argument yesterday morning and may not conclude today.

About 1,500 typewritten pages of testimony was taken in the case. The suits, so far as issues of fact are concerned, turns on the question of whether or not the street railway company complied with the terms of section 2 of its franchise, which provided that a mile of track should be constructed and operated within one year after the company obtained the grant. Witnesses differed widely as to the location of the termini of the first stretch of line put down. Those who testified for the company established the western terminus of the first line in the neighborhood of Eighth avenue west, while the witnesses for the city were as positive that the first line did not extend west on Superior street beyond a point midway between Sixth and Seventh avenues west. Witnesses for both sides agreed that the eastern terminus of the line was located in close proximity of Third avenue east.

As soon as the company's attorneys have concluded their main arguments in the case, it is expected that Frank B. Kellogg of St. Paul, of the law firm of Davis, Kellogg, Severance & Olds, will address the court on behalf of the city. He will argue that the street railway company failed to meet the requirements of section 2 of the franchise and under the terms of the franchise there was an automatic forfeiture. It is expected that he will argue that the company has been occupying the streets and operating its lines only through sufferance on the part of the city and not by virtue of this franchise.

MALFEASANCE IS LAID TO PHILLIPS' SHERIFF

City Attorney Asks Governor to Remove Christianson From Office.

Phillips, Wis., Jan. 15. — Alleging malfeasance in office, City Attorney J. S. Barry of Phillips has petitioned Governor F. E. McGovern for the removal of Sheriff M. Christianson of Price county. It is charged that Christianson has failed to account for fees received; that he extorted money from persons committed to his charge, and that he unlawfully received money for the compromise of a criminal case. A hearing in the matter will be held at Phillips on Jan. 26, when Thomas Mahon, executive counsel, will represent the governor.

ASK U. S. OPERATION OF DISTANCE PHONES

Independents Adopt Resolution at Meeting in Chicago.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—N. C. Kingsbury, vice president of the American Telephone & Telegraph company, who was expected to make, in an address here today to the convention of the National Independent Telephone association, the first public detailed explanation of the recent announcement that the business of the Western Union company and the Bell Telephone system would be divorced, is reported ill at his home in New York. Officials of the Independent association stated that they had no intimation of the substance of Mr. Kingsbury's expected address.

Government operation of long distance telephone service was favored in resolutions adopted by the association. The resolutions also declared for laws prohibiting any corporation which furnishes telephone service from engaging in the manufacture and sale of telephone apparatus.

"We favor government operation of long distance lines," the resolutions read, "but believing there is an overlapping of jurisdiction and duplication of control by state commissions and the interstate commerce commission, we favor the control and regulation of exchange business and purely local business entirely by the states."

N. G. Hunter of Wabash, Ind., was appointed chairman of a committee to meet with the American Telephone & Telegraph company to arrange details of a proposed working agreement

Remarkable Discovery That Cuts Down the Cost of Paint Seventy-Five Per Cent
A Free Trial Package is Mailed to Everyone Who Writes.

A. L. Rice, a prominent manufacturer of Adams, N. Y., has discovered a process of making a new kind of paint without the use of oil. He calls it Powdrpaint. It comes in the form of a dry powder and all that is required is cold water to make a paint weather proof, fire proof and as durable as oil paint. It adheres to any surface, wood, stone or brick, spreads and looks like oil paint and costs about one-fourth as much.

Write to Mr. A. L. Rice, manuf'r., 581 North St., Adams, N. Y., and he will send you a free trial package, also color card and full information showing you how you can save a good many dollars. Write today.

MUST NOT CUT ICE AT NEW DULUTH

The health department will not allow the East End Ice company to cut any ice opposite its ice house at New Duluth, according to Dr. H. E. Webster, health director.

Dr. Webster explains that the ice house is located but a short distance below the outlet of the Commonwealth avenue sewer, which contaminates the water and is therefore liable to contaminate the ice. He says that the company may take ice at a safe distance above the outlet as there are no sewers emptying into the river above that point.

Both the local ice companies may cut ice from Spirit lake as there is very little danger of contamination. But this is probably the last winter that the ice companies may reap their annual harvest at that point. Next season several sewers will be emptying into it or into the river a short distance above and the safeguarding of the public health will make it imperative that the ice supply be obtained elsewhere.

"I am of the opinion that it will not be long before Duluth will be supplied with artifical ice," said Dr. Webster this morning. "I believe that it can be manufactured and sold just as cheaply as the ice which has been secured from the river."

MINNESOTA LEADS IN IMMIGRANT MOVABLES.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Figures given out by Fred D. Sherman, commissioner of immigration, show that during the year of 1913 Minnesota has led every other state in the Union in receiving carloads of immigrant movables handled by the Minnesota Transfer Railway company. Out of a group of thirty-one states which have received carloads of immigrant movables handled by the Minnesota Transfer, Minnesota has received 2,345. The nearest competitor is Canada, which received 1,453. Montana comes next receiving 807; and North Dakota with 755. Wisconsin received 535; Iowa 171 and the state of Washington 131. The balance of the states received from 1 to 100 cars.

LIVE SPORTING GOSSIP

NOW that we have the Eastern exchanges on the Gibbons-McAllister setto, the wonder regarding the cleverness of the tall Californian is increased. One of the accounts of the scrap states that the San Francisco youngster popped Gibbons time and time again with his snaky left and the Phantom was unable to counter. Some boxer—yes, some boxer!

But McAllister can't hit; at least those critics who reviewed the battle say so. In the first four rounds of the bout the speed boy from the Pacific coast had it on Mike in the matter of points. Those around the ropes were wondering how in the world Gibbons, glove marvel that he is, could hope to gain the popular decision. Then Mike showed 'em. Gibbons tore right in—something amazing for Michael—and hooked the comparative novice with some nasty lefts and then right crossed the native son. Some of this would dispell the notion that the Phantom can't hit. His friends have said he could for some time back—now the rest of us are ready to believe it.

A thoroughbred horse—there is only one in the world, the running horse—can't pull much weight. He is built for speed. So are certain boxers. The draft horse can haul a wagon out of the mire, but on the track the friends of the noble beast would be heartily ashamed of the exhibition. It would be like asking the fat woman of the circus to imitate Mlle. Anna Pavlowa.

McAllister is built for speed and he has already shown the blase modern critics that he is one of the really great scientific boxers of the world—but he can't hit. Maybe he will learn some day. Let us hope so; he is so great in some ways that the lovers of the game would like to see him improve in other ways.

The Bohemian Is King.

YESTERDAY'S mail brought in the bundle of Chicago morning papers with a lengthy review of the Fristensky-Americus contest. The Examiner declares that the Bohemian star is the greatest wrestler that Europe has sent us for years—that he is ready at the present time to meet Gotch. The Daily News declares that at last we have a real wrestler in all that goes to make a wrestler.

Commenting further the Daily News critic, George S. Robbins, an authority on wrestling, declares Fristensky is the strongest wrestler that Europe has sent over since George Hackenschmidt was in his prime.

The officials of the Greater Duluth Athletic club have secured the strongest bill of the present season in signing Ivan Mamutoff, the gigantic Cossock and Fristensky on the same card. In addition to the two big star bouts of the evening the officials announced yesterday that they were casting about to secure some fit opponent to meet Carl Hanson, the West Duluth wrestler who has made a record in the Northwest.

Tillman Wants Chance.

GEORGE BARTON writes that Johnny Tillman will appear in the semi-final of the Rivers-Wolgast contest that will be staged in Milwaukee on the evening of Jan. 23, and that in addition to the appearance in the Cream City the little Minneapolis lightweight star has a number of bouts for the near future.

"Johnny believes that he can hand Brown a licking in ten rounds," writes Barton. "So do some of the rest of us. Johnny is one of the best boys before the public today. He is young and he is also willing. They said Murphy was going to annihilate Tillman. Well, he didn't. Wait until some of the followers of Brown see the boys hook up. They will see some bout.

"I hope that the Twin Port club will put the boys on. Tillman really wants a crack at the sensational Minnesota Iron Ore scrapper, and if Johnny does what he says he will do, the fans will be surprised by seeing the Minneapolis youngster tear into the range youth. It should be some scrap."

Good Night, Heavies.

IN most of the sections of the country the doors of the boxing clubs are being closed to the heavyweights. Tom McCarey of the Pacific Athletic club tried the so-called white hopes and the fans of the sunny Los Angeles spot have been beseeching him never to try it again.

Billy Gibson of the Garden A. C. tried the white hopes and reported that he was through with them for good. Jim Coffroth of San Francisco is also reported to be tired of the lumbering agents.

Taken on the whole it looks as if some of the heavyweight boxers of the country would be actually forced into going to work.

The Winter Resort Idea.

IF all of the teams of the Federal league go South for spring training there will be some more of the young and thriving winter resorts of the balmy section of the country breaking into the limelight. One of the favorite business modes of breaking into the coveted print is to raise bonuses for some of the larger teams to train at one of the favorite resorts. Now that the Federals are in our midst—or nearly so—it is possible that it will prove profitable advertising to get one of these embryo, should we say, teams to come to one of the prominent resorts and permit the dear reading public to cast its collective eye on the date line and occasionally read of the charms of the resort.

AMERICAN FEATURE FOR SHAMROCK IV.

London, Jan. 15.—The Standard announces its belief, on good authority, that the most radical feature of Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock IV will be the adoption of the American centerboard. This will be the first time in the history of British yachting that a large craft has been fitted with a center-board, and the challenger will be the first yacht of this type to be sent across the Atlantic to compete for the America's cup.

British yachtsmen have always protested against the use of this device, and its adoption at a time, when the American types are beginning to approach the British designs, is expected to cause much comment here.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAMS TO HAVE TOURNAMENT.

Sign With Federals.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 15.—Secretary Harry Goldman of the Baltimore Federal league club returned last night with the signed contracts of three players in his possession. They are Enos Kirkpatrick, infielder of Brooklyn Nationals; Guy Zinn, outfielder, formerly of the Boston Nationals and now the property of the Rochester Internationals, and Frank Smith, who played last season with the Montreal International league club.

ELIMINATION WRESTLING

Ten of Best Matches Ever Seen in Gotham in Big Tournament.

Fristensky, Zbyszko and Mamutoff Win the Principal Events.

New York, Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Six thousand spectators last night saw some of the best wrestling contests ever seen in New York. They were the first round in the international tournament. The principal contests were won by Gustave Fristenskey of Bohemia, Wladek Zybszko of Poland, and Ivan Mamutoff of Russia.

The next round in the tournament will be held in Madison Square Garden on March 2. The results of last night's bouts follow:

Bernard Hanson, Norway, defeated Paul Alvarez, Spain, in twenty-three minutes with a crotch and half nelson.

Wladek Zbyszko, Poland, defeated John McLaughlin, Ireland, in seven minutes with a throat and crotch hold.

John Hdareken, America, defeated George Sandelll, Greece, in eight minutes with a throat and crotch hold.

Mamutoff, Russia, defeated Paul Samson, Germany, in twenty-eight minutes when Samson quit, claiming to be injured.

Gustave Fristensky, Bohemia, defeated George Lurich, Russia, in thirty-five minutes with a back-arm and neck hold.

Alexander Aberg, Finland, defeated Mort Henderson, America, in thirty-four minutes with a half nelson and back-arm hold.

DULUTH AWARDED THE NEXT ANNUAL BONSPIEL

D. B. McDonald Is Elected President of Northwestern Curling Association---Banquet of Curlers Proves a Thoroughly Joyous Occasion.

Duluth gets the twenty-second bonspiel of the Northwestern Curling association and D. B. McDonald, a Duluthian, was elected as the president of the big curling association at the annual business meeting of the delegates, held at the Commercial club following the joy feast of the curlers.

Coming in the midst of the week of sport, the banquet proved an occasion of mirth and genuine good fellowship, making new friends among the curlers and cementing into stronger bonds of mutual regard the friendships that have been formed during other years.

Warren E. Greene acted as toastmaster last evening and the wit of the genial county attorney kept the large gathering of stone throwers in continual roars of laughter.

During the course of the evening President Stephen H. Jones told how a $125,000 clubhouse could "be built for $1.25." President Jones went into detail somewhat as to the methods pursued in the rasing of funds for the construction of the finest curling home in the world, and assured the visiting curlers that they could do the same if they secured the support and hearty co-operation of their members, as was accorded the directors of the Duluth club.

J. T. Haig of Winnipeg paid a glowing compliment to the Duluth Curling club, stating that it was the finest rink in the world, in his opinion, admitting at the same time that Winnipeg, the home of curling, possessed some of the very finest homes of the roaring game that could be found on the North American continent.

New Home in Minneapolis.

George K. Labatt expressed the hope that Minneapolis would have a new home one of these days, and also declared that the Mill City organization had just started to grow.

R. I. Tipton of Superior also expressed the hope that some day the city across the bay would be the host of the curlers of the Northwest, and declared that the Superior curlers had hopes of adding to the present club some time within the not too distant future.

Others who made short addresses during the course of the evening were W. Y. Montgomery of the Port Arthur club, Dr. Keyes of West Duluth, W. D. Stewart of St. Paul, C. B. Reedal of Phillips and T. Benson of Virginia.

Charles A. Duncan, the retiring president of the association, made the address of welcome, and spoke of the great joy the people of Duluth take in the entertaining of the curlers from the various cities of the Northwest.

The Scottish Rite quartet under the leadership of Prof. A. F. M. Custance gave one of the rare treats of the evening. The genial professor had several appropriate songs ready for the occasion, and the take-offs on several of the prominent curlers proved so popular that the quartet was obliged to respond to a number of encores.

Miss Gladys Reynolds sang several songs and was also forced to respond to a number of encores.

Following the banquet the delegates of the clubs of the Northwestern Curling association sat in business session, awarding Duluth the next annual spiel and setting the date Jan. 18. The following officers were elected.

President—D. B. McDonald, Duluth.
Secretary—Wray Withrow, Duluth.
Treasurer—J. E. MacGregor, Duluth.
First vice president—G. B. Reedal, Phillips.
Second vice president—T. P. Tipton, Superior.
Executive committee—J. Robb, Eveleth; George K. Labatt, Minneapolis; W. F. Stewart, St. Paul; E. J. Zauft, West Duluth, and F. W. Hargreaves, Duluth.

The following delegates attended the meeting:

R. C. Ogilvie and R. Tipton of Superior; B. O. Greening and J. A. Robb, Eveleth; A. F. Benson and Dr. Lenont of Virginia; V. C. Anderson and W. F. Dash of New Duluth; C. Ilis and E. J. Zauft of West Duluth; W. D. Stewart and Thomas McDermott of St. Paul; James H. Hunter and George K. Labatt of Minneapolis; George B. Reedal and J. Krauth of Phillips, and H. T. Hurdon and Stephen H. Jones of Duluth.

ON THE BUTTON

Tom Cameron of St. Paul was telling stories yesterday afternoon and we overheard what he happened to say about Bill Carson and Tammas Lowe, both of the Peg. Here it is exactly as we remember it:

Tom was walking along Portage avenue in Winnipeg several weeks ago with a large bundle under his arms, apparently his wash. Bill Carson happened along and seeing his friend Tammas, he inquired, "I thocht you took your-r wash to Mrs. O'Reilly. How does it happen you are gangin oop this way?"

"I used to Bill," answered Tom, "but I changed recently and am noo takin' it doon to Mrs. Flannigan. She is a mooch better-r-r washlady. You see, she's very accommodatin'. If there is a button missin' on my shir-rt, she'll always sew one on."

The next day Tom met Bill going down Portage avenue with a small pill box in his hand. "What have you there?" asked Tom.

"I've brought me along a shirt button and am takin' it doon to Mrs. Flannigan to have a shirt sewed on it."

Looks like Duluth may come in for a couple of prizes and possibly the aggregate this year.

Quinn lost to Cluff Gates of Superior yesterday afternoon by the score of 16 to 1. Bryan, please take notice.

And just to be chivalrous, we will add that women ought to make most wonderful curlers, because they know more about buttons than men do; that they have curled in their dressing rooms nearly every morning of their lives; that they often curl up in bed, especially if it's cold; and last, but not least, they have always succeeded in drawing very well, especially money from old dad. So why say women will not make good curlers?

"What do you think of McGilvray as a curler?" somebody asked of McNabb yesterday afternoon.

"Mon, he's great," said McNabb. "He's funny without being the last bit vulgar."

BANQUET BRIEFS

That banquet was a fitting climax for a bonspiel such as is going on right now.

Steve Jones made a speech on "How to Build a $125,000 curling club on $1.25." Warren E. Green conducted the banquet as he would an investigation, and each speaker was introduced as a witness.

In introducing Reedal of Phillips, Warren E. told the following story. Of course, we've heard it before, but it's good just the same.

A judge in a small town was also the president of the bank, Reedal, by the way, owning the town of Phillips and also operating the bank. One day a business man came to the judge and asked him to cash quite a large check. The judge asked question after question and even called in a few friends of the man.

"Say judge," said the man, "It seems to me you are going to a lot of bother. You can hang a man on less evidence than that in your court."

"It doesn't take so much to find a fellow guilty or not guilty," replied the judge, "but when it comes to cashing a check, you've got to be mighty careful."

Mr. Reedal, being the next witness, was told to testify if he would cash the checks of every curler in the bonspiel. Then C. B. got up and said that he would cash the checks of the curlers, but only the curlers. Mr. Greene is not a curler.

And then came some real classy music by Prof. Custance and his quartet, consisting of Charley Applehagen, Don Gearhart, Don Cole and O. R. Bjorkquist. The boys sang several songs about the curlers at the spiel and ended with an original toast to the game of curling. Miss Gladys Reynolds endeared herself to the hearts of every curler present with several very well rendered selections.

This is the story Toastmaster Greene used in introducing J. T. Haig of Winnipeg:

A lawyer was cross-examining a man, who was suing his wife for divorce on the grounds of drunkenness.

"Does your wife drink?" the lawyer asked.

"She does."

"Do you drink?"

"That's my business."

"I know. But have you any other business?"

J. T. was then told to give testimony on "What Is Your Other Business?" He gave a pretty good talk, even if he is from Canada.

George K. Labatt of Minneapolis came up especially for the banquet and talked about the baby club of the Mill City. He promises to give us a great big club some day. You ought to get Steve Jones to help you, George.

Frank Wade of the Western Curling club in West Duluth refused to be on the program, because the speakers were allowed only five minutes. And Frank H. claims that he is unable to tell what he wants to about curling in that short time. So he got Dr. Keyes to speak for him and Doc made a pretty good talk. Here's how Doc was introduced, although the genial practitioner denies the story as told by Mr. Greene:

It seems that the doctor was called to attend a very beautiful young woman at one time and that when he came she complained of her lungs and said that it was very hard for her to breathe. The doctor said that he would listen to her breathing and see what the trouble was. He laid his head on the young woman's breast and listened. He told her to count, one, two, three, etc.

The next thing Doc heard was the young lady counting, 20,123; 20,124.

LITTLE JOURNEYS TO THE HOMES OF FAMOUS CURLERS

This is Hans B. Haroldson, probably the best individual curler in the bonspiel.

Hans, in his day, was a famous track star at the University of Minnesota, but when he entered politics he didn't run so fast. Now he is attending strictly to the law and curling, and doing well at both.

Visiting curlers are advised to get Hans into a corner and force him to make his speech about the delegate from "Yellow Medicine county."

This is "Sandy" McNabb of Grand Rapids, probably the best individual curler in the bonspiel.

"Sandy" as his name indicates, comes from a fine old French family. He and the rest of his rink are chastely clad in white suits, which are very natty. He is undoubtedly the best curler by the name of McNabb in all Grand Rapids. He makes furniture when he isn't curling, or if he doesn't he should. Everybody from Grand Rapids is either a pugilist or makes furniture, and Mr. McNabb is too distinguished looking to be a pugilist.

This is Elmer N. Whyte, probably the best individual curler in the bonspiel.

Elmer was once a football star at the University of Michigan, later an oarsman, and now with the approach of the lean and slippered age has settled down to curling in the winter and golf in the summer. Between seasons he finds time to get out a few logs from the Northern Minnesota woods.

Michaud, Artie—Product of Duluth; graduate of her schools. Admittedly luckiest curler in the 'spiel, and probably the best. Beat McDermott 'tother day, and everybody has been wondering ever since how he did it. Talks curling so much that he is acquiring a bur-r in his speech. Older curlers say that he is a "comer" as a skip, for he seems instinctively to know the game. Is impervious to weather, for he lives on Park Point the year round. Aside from curling and autoing he occasionally gives attention to the chemical rubber company of which he is manager. You see he superintends the job of manufacturing rubber; too impatient to wait for it to come out of trees.

Stewart, Bill—Born, somewhere on some date. Entered training for later curling career by throwing stones through windows and at dogs at very early age. Martyr to the cause, for as result of window episodes sustained numerous hidings. Later, the ruling passion still strong, entered the lime, cement and brick business in St. Paul. Still at it when not curling. Prefers latter. Has made good record at successive 'spiels; repeats at this one. Known formally as W. D. Stewart; informally as Bill.

Williams, Dr. V. G.—Answers when you yell 'Doc.' Acknowledges Winnipeg as his port of hail, although previously from the tight little island. One need not be told this if one has a talk with him. He possesses a musical comedy English accent, and believe us his voice has some inflection. Sometimes—chiefly in summer—the doctor takes care of human ills; but in winter the public is perfectly safe so far as he is concerned. He is a good curler—he admits it himself. He won his game in the international yesterday and helped materially in making the Canadian score so close. Thought once of setting somewhere in the South, but the curling fever ras bound him to the Frozen North, and Winnipeg continues to claim him for her own.

ON THE HOG LINE

This is just about the right time to hand a bouquet to Secretary Hargreaves of the Northwestern Curling association and Secretary MacGregor of the curling club. They have both done nobly and deserve a great big bunch of credit for the success of the spiel.

The International was some event. Especially if you stop and figure out that the United States rinks were twenty-three points behind the Canadians at one time. Well, they won, even if it was only four points. And it was some fight.

Kenneth MacGregor and Norman McLean gave a bagpipe entertainment for the curlers and the onlookers yesterday afternoon that was a real treat. The two Macs are both good players and from what we hear are part of a bagpipe band the Clan Stewart has assembled. Here's hoping we hear more of them in the future.

While we're on the subject, we just want to mention that Charley Brewer should get much of the credit for the victory as his rink won over Langtry of Winnipeg by 16 to 6. That ten extra just made it a win for the United States.

And just for consolation to the Canadians, we want to mention that they won three of the six games, anyway. And if they didn't win, they put up a real good fight.

The hit of the event was the laying of six rocks by Reedal of Phillips in the eighth end against Carson of Winnipeg.

There was some crowd watching the games, many of the onlookers being members of the fair sex, who have shown quite an interest in the Scotch game during the present spiel. Of course, we think it's the game, but who knows?

Steve Jones should have some consolation anyway; he is drawn for the Consolation event.

And before we forget, our morning contemporary called the above event the Consolidation.

Doc Williams of Winnipeg played the best game for the Canucks, his rink beating Joe Gates of Superior by 13 to 9. And Doc also made one of the prettiest billiard shots in the second end that we have ever seen. He just cleaned the ice with it, that's all, and succeeded in killing four of Gates' rocks.

AMERICANS VICTORIOUS IN THE INTERNATIONAL

Curling Honors Won By United States Rinks By 67 to 63 Score.

The Brewer-Whyte Four Remains Only Undefeated Rink of Spiel.

Two large events featured the third day of the Northwestern bonspiel.

The International, the most important event of the spiel, was won by the American rinks by the narrow margin of four points, and the Brewer-Whyte combination, the crack Duluth rink, came through another day unscathed by withering defeat and has the honor at the present writing of being the only rink in the imposing list of some sixty-four entrants that has not as yet met with a setback.

What made the victory of the American rinks in the International all the more gratifying in the end, is the fact that at the end of the third head the Canadians had a commanding lead of seventeen points and were curling in a manner that presaged disastrous defeat for the defenders of the curling honors of the good old U. S. A.

At the conclusion of the fourth head the score stood the same. After this the lead of the Canadian contenders was gradually but surely cut down.

In the fifth head the American rinks laid twelve points to the three of the Canadian rinks and reduced the gap to a margin of eight points.

Score Is Tied.

At the end of the eighth head the score was tied up and the fact was proclaimed by a mighty shout that re-echoed around the rink, the packed galleries venting enthusiasm that was shared generously by feminine onlookers, who seemed fired by the spirit of international conquest.

The enthusiasm of the followers of the Americans was somewhat dampened at the end of the tenth head when the Canadian rinks again forged into the lead and had the Americans down by three points.

Again a gleeful, exultant shout arose from the excited crowd when the conclusion of the eleventh head found the American rinks four points in the lead. The American rinks laid eight stones in this head to one for their opponents.

In the final head each of the opposing sides laid four stones, the lead of four points made in the eleventh head being maintained as the final margin of victory.

Contest Very Close.

McNabb of Grand Rapids had the time of his life winning from the veteran Lowe of Winnipeg. Sandy didn't score until the fifth head, when he laid four rocks and this proved the turning point of the game, for the American rink was never stopped after this head.

Hunter of Minneapolis won out over McIvor of Port Arthur by the uncomfortable margin of one point. Sime of Port Arthur took Billy Stewart of St. Paul into camp by the score of 11 to 9, and Reedal of Phillips went down to defeat before the prowess of old Bill Carson, and this after the Phillips skip had nearly caused conniptions among the members of the Carson rink by laying six rocks in the eighth head. Carson came through with a 14 to 11 win, the Reedal rink being clearly off its game at several crucial points.

With Elmer Whyte skipping the Brewer-Whyte combine won handily from Langtry of Winnipeg, it being the large point margin of the Brewer-Whyte rink that turned the victory, the Duluth rink winning out by the score of 16 to 6.

Joel Gates of Superior went down before Dr. Williams of Winnipeg by the score of 13 to 8. The American rink was down at one stage of the game 13 to 4, but came strong during the latter part of the contest and made the score more even in the end.

Duluth Rink Leading.

With the fourth day of the spiel on, the Brewer-Whytes are leading all of the rinks of the spiel and stand an excellent chance of winning the grand aggregate. During the first two draws of the day the Brewer-Whytes will meet Oldham and Dunlop, both of Duluth, and if the form that has marked the playing of the only undefeated rink of the spiel is maintained throughout the day, there is at least an even chance that the conclusion of the fourth day will find the Duluthians with a spotless record.

One of the surprises of the day was the defeat of Carson of Winnipeg by Tom McDermott's kid rink. Tom patted the boys on the back, promised to take them to one of the moving picture shows and treat them to ice cream soda after the comic film treat, in the event of winning, and with the childish delight before their eyes the little boys of Father Tom's rink curled like fiends and set the veteran down for his first real defeat of the spiel. The game was in the Minneapolis Curling club event and the kiddos won by the crushing score of 10 to 4.

Owing to the International being the piece de resistance of yesterday, but comparatively few games were played. Today's draws are heavy and the conclusion of play tonight promises to show a large day's work.

BLACKBURN PAROLED.

Negro Pugilist Released From Murder Sentence—May Go to Paris.

Philadelphia, Jan. 15.—Jack Blackburn, the negro pugilist, was paroled from the Eastern penitentiary yesterday after having served four and a half years of a 15-year sentence for killing Alonzo Folk, another negro. Blackburn is in good physical condition and is considering going to Paris in an effort to secure a match with Jack Johnson.

Polk was shot by Blackburn during a quarrel at the latter's home in this city.

NO APPROPRIATION FOR THE OLYMPIC.

Berlin, Jan. 15.—The budget committee of the imperial parliament today rejected a proposition to appropriate $50,000 for the Olympic games to be held here in 1916.

The rejection of the appropriation was due largely to resentment among the Socialists over the government's alleged systematic persecution of the working men's gymnastic societies. The Socialist deputies voted solidly against the appropriation and the clericals joined them declaring that it was no business of the empire to support such "private affairs." The Polish deputies made up the remainder of the adverse majority.

Clemens Delbrueck, minister of the interior, energetically defended the proposed appropriation. It will probably be reintroduced in a plenary sitting of the imperial parliament.

FREE RINK ON OLD COURTHOUSE SITE.

The old courthouse site at Sixth avenue east and Third street will be transformed into an ice rink. Yesterday the county commissioners directed Sheriff John R. Meining to prepare the grounds for the purpose and the sheriff accordingly put a gang of prisoners to work on the job.

The Duluth Universal hockey team recently requested the use of the grounds for an ice rink. The county board members have decided to allow the site to be used by the team between the hours of 7 and 9 every evening of the week except Sundays, providing the team bears the expense of installing electric lights.

Arrangements have been made with the city to have the rink flooded at intervals. At other hours during the week the rink will be opened to the public for free skating. The rink will be closed Sundays.

FEDERALS INVADE HERMANN'S BAILIWICK.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 15.—A local business man has announced that he and others associated with him have secured $250,000 to place a Federal league club in this city. Officials of the league expected here could not be found. The man backing the movement said that an application would be made at Chicago on Saturday for a Federal league franchise.

"The Mauler" Here.

James Mulhern, who sailed under the title of "Mauling Mulhern" in the district around Taunton, Mass., has arrived in the city, and is employed as an electrician at the Orpheum theater.

Mulhern fought at 140 pounds around Taunton. He claimed a Massachusetts championship at the weight, but says he has quit the fighting game for good, and will follow his trade of electrician.

Stays With Brooklyn.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 15.—Otto Miller, catcher of the Brooklyn National league club, who has been negotiating with the local Federal league officials, announced last night that he had signed a contract to play with Brooklyn.

HAS BRAIN CONCUSSION.

Boxer in Serious Condition as Result of Knock-Out.

Racine, Wis., Jan. 15.—Jack Racer, a California boxer, suffered concussion of the brain when he was knocked out by Barney Richter in the sixth round of a scheduled eight-round bout here last night. For several minutes Racer was unable to leave the ring and later again lapsed into unconsciousness. He was taken to a hospital where it was said his condition was serious.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

OLDHAM FINALLY LIFTS THE BREWER-WHYTE SCALP

Hangs First Defeat of Bonspiel on the Local Rink.

Sloppy Ice Is Making Curling Closely Resemble Hard Work.

In the early play of today John Oldham and company put the Brewer-Whytes out of the charmed circle of the undefeated, administering the first defeat of the spiel to the strong contenders for the grand aggregate prize, the defeat coming in the Duluth Curling club event, the score being 17 to 10.

On sloppy ice, which is literally true, the curlers for the first time of the spiel encountered some very hard going. There is little use of sweeping with the ice in the present condition, and in the early games of today there were a multitude of rocks that failed to find lodgment "in the house."

Oldham had clearly the better of the game with the Brewer-Whytes, the converted enthusiast from the balmy section of Indiana laying three four heeds, the fourth, seventh and tenth. The members of the losing rink had extreme difficulty in getting their rocks in the house and encountered some very bad going at several stages of the game.

Contrasted to the poor game of the Brewer-Whytes, was the strong and consistent curling of the Oldham crew. The game was won thoroughly on its merits, and now Oldham declares his rink will bear watching through the remainder of the spiel.

Gates Wins Again.

Clough Gates of Superior became more of a factor in the grand aggregate event by winning from McDermott's kid rink in the Duluth event, and Parkinson of Reedal put the veteran Lowe of Winnipeg out of consideration in the Minneapolis Curling club event.

Smith of across the way sprang another surprise by winning easily from the strong John McLeod rink.

Sandy McNabb easily won from Stevenson of Superior and Quinn of West Duluth surprised the onlookers by beating Tom Cameron's St. Paul aggregation.

Williams of Winnipeg kept up the good work of the past two days by winning from West of Duluth in the Patrick event. Hunter of Minneapolis proved an easy winner over Forsyth of Duluth in the same event.

The Ordway Event.

The range rinks are making good progress in the Ordway event. Three games were played in this event in the early draw of today and some good curling—good as far as curling could be good on the poor ice—resulted from the contests.

Because of the time required in the playing of the International event of yesterday afternoon, it looks at the present time as if it will be late Saturday night before the final game of the spiel is played. The draw makers declare that it will take a bit of crowding to get all of the games out of the way.

MUST MAKE GOOD OR DEAL IS OFF

Indianapolis Federals Quit Flirting With Five Players; Business Now.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 15.—Five major league baseball players who for two months have been negotiating with the Indianapolis Federal league club, must sign three-year contracts at a conference to be held today, or the negotiations will be ended, Manager William Phillips of the local team has announced.

The men are Owen Bush, shortstop; George Dauss, pitcher, and Pat Bauman, infielder of the Detroit American league club, and Otto Miller, catcher, and Elmer Brown, pitcher, of the Brooklyn National league team. All of the players live in Indianapolis and the Federal league promoters had hoped to have the local team largely composed of home players.

Manager Phillips announced that George Mullin, formerly of the Detroit club had offered to sign a one-year contract to play with the Indianapolis Federal league team.

WINTER GOLF RESULTS.

Men's Semi-Finals on at Pinehurst—Women's Contest Settled.

Pinehurst, N. C., Jan. 15.—The four players who enter today's semi-finals in the annual tournament here of the Winter Golf league, are R. R. Mamlock of Fox Hills, L. I., who defeated L. A. Hamilton of Englewood of New Jersey, N. M. Purves of Woodland, Mass., who won from J. J. Hazen of Oakland, L. I., T. A. Ashley of Woodland, Mass., who took his match with W. J. MacDonald of the Calumet club of Chicago, and Harold Slater of Fox Hills, L. I., who eliminated Z. T. Miller of Dunwoodie, N. Y.

Mamlock is matched with Purves, and Ashley with Slater.

Mrs. Herbert L. Gillson of the Bethlehem Country Club, New Hampshire, yesterday won the final round of the women's championship division from Mrs. M. B. Ormslee of Brooklyn.

Survivors in the first division consolation of the men's tournament are George C. Dutton of Belmont, Mass., T. B. Boyd of Bellerieve, St. Louis; J. D. Plummer of Springfield, Mass., and Thomas T. Rushmore of Garden City, N. Y.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

THINK RATES WILL BE LESS

Predict North Dakota Will Benefit By Federal Express Rates.

Rivalry Between Grand Forks and Fargo Crops Out at Hearing.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Decision to give the Federal express rates a tryout in North Dakota, it is expected, will result from the hearing held by the state railroad commission here yesterday.

Answering objections that the federal rate would work a discrimination against Fargo shippers and in favor of Grand Forks, the shippers of this city responded that they would be able to take advantage of the interstate rates by shipping from East Grand Forks, Minn., and that any attempt by the commission to promulgate a higher rate of tariffs to points in the state than that provided by the federal rate, would be combatted in that manner.

Traffic experts of the state gave the railroad commission the opinion that the federal rates, used as a basis for state rates, would bring about an average decrease of from 20 to 30 per cent in the express rates.

ACQUITTED OF CHARGE OF STEALING NICKEL.

Warren, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—An adjourned meeting of the November term of court is being held here by Judge Grindeland. Frank De Gray, who was accused of grand larceny, was acquitted by the jury. The trial took the greater part of the day. De Gray was alleged to have taken a bill book containing a nickel from the person of H. Olson one evening at a carnival at Middle River last summer. He has spent the last five months in a cell at the Marshall county jail as he could not furnish bail.

DR. POWELL'S FAMILY UNDER QUARANTINE.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 15.—Rev. John Walker Powell, religious director at the University of Minnesota and a former resident of Duluth, his wife and three children are quarantined for smallpox at their home, 819 University avenue southeast, Minneapolis. As the cases are light, it is expected they will not be in seclusion for more than a week. The family, which includes two boys and one girl, contracted the disease when one of the boys caught it during the midwinter vacation.

THROW AWAY YOUR EYEGLASSES?

A FREE PRESCRIPTION.

You can have filled and use at home.

Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eyestrain or other eyeweakness? If so, you will be glad to know that there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days, everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by the following simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Optona, fill a two-ounce bottle with warm water, drop in one Optona tablet, and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you even a little take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

BRIDGE AT MANDAN DIFFICULT PROBLEM

Lack of Highway Crossing Over Missouri Halts Road Plans.

Mandan, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The heavy expense of a bridge across the Missouri river is the greatest handicap to the proposed auto highway east and west across North Dakota. It is proposed to connect with the Minnesota roads at Fargo and those of Montana at Beach and to make a road that will attract national tourists. It will be along the main line of the Northern Pacific.

Needs Federal and State Aid.

For years Bismarck and Mandan have urged a bridge across the Missouri but the expense is an unsolved problem. It would require both Federal and state appropriations to make a bridge possible, unless some arrangement could be made by which a road could be attached to the Northern Pacific railway bridge and that is not regarded as feasible.

The matter will be given further investigation.

WARM WINTER IS CAUSING FREAKS

North Dakotans Report Lilacs Budding and Birds Coming Back.

Steele, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—G. A. Dieruf of this place says his lilac bushes have budded almost to the bursting point and the plants are surging with sap. Buds are forming on other flowering plants and Mr. Dieruf believes the climatic conditions here compare favorably to states far south without the disadvantages of the rain, slush and mud.

Blackbirds Come Back.

Drake, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Some blackbirds, wiser than their fellows, who hastened toward the gulf last fall, have remained in this vicinity all winter and appear to be enjoying life as much as in midsummer. The great quantities of feed seems to have decided them to remain in this locality, instead of making the long Southern flight.

SHOW RESPECT FOR GAME LAWS

North Dakotans Observed Measures Last Year Better Than Ever.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—North Dakota's game laws were enforced in 1913 in a manner that was rather pleasing to the members of the board of control.

The sale of resident licenses increased 23 per cent over 1912, or 33,308 as compared with 25,613. The non-resident license sale increased 37 per cent, being 101 as compared to 63 in 1912 and 60 in 1911.

Cass County in Lead.

In resident licenses Cass was the only county to exceed the 2,000 mark. There were eight counties between the 2,000 and 1,000 mark, Ramsey county being second, Ward third, Stutsman fourth, McHenry fifth, Grand Forks sixth, Benson seventh, Bottineau eighth, and Richland ninth. All the rest fell below 1,000 and Oliver was the only county that did not reach the 100 mark and the only one to show a decrease in the number of licenses sold in 1912.

The gross receipts this year were $35,813, and the net, after deducting the county auditors' fees, was $32,272.20. There were 130 arrests as compared to 31 in 1912. The convictions were 121 as compared to 29. The total of the fines paid was $2,241 as against $465 in 1912.

During the year the wardens took 525 hides from illegal trappers as compared to none the year before, 293 traps were confiscated as against 6 in 1912, and 9 guns as compared to 2. Eighteen nets were taken last year and done the year before.

Respect Game Laws.

The most marked results have been an increased respect for the game laws, especially regarding the observance of the closed season, the bag limit and the legitimate hours for shooting. A more sportsman-like spirit is being developed.

The 1914 game laws will be the same as in 1912.

REWARD FOR CAPTURE OF BESSEMER YEGGS.

Bessemer, Mich., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—No clew has yet been found to the yeggs who tried to blow the safe in the office of the Bessemer Lumber company a few nights ago, but succeeded only in wrecking the building. E. Z. Bayliss, the manager of the company, has offered a reward of $100 for the capture of the burglars.

RIGHTS OF CHICKENS

To Scratch Neighbor's Yard Involved in Fargo Lawsuit.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—To determine whether one man's chickens and ducks have a right to roam over the property of another's, Judge Pollock, a jury and several attorneys are trying a case. Charles Bloom, living on the edge of Fargo, sued Robert Schunke for damages done by the latter's poultry, and he won in the justice court. The case was appealed and it may eventually be carried to the state supreme court.

OUTRUNS WOLVES.

North Dakotan Some Sprinter When Pursued By Pack.

Ambrose, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Huske, who lives in the Lincoln valley, near here, was returning home from the postoffice when he was pursued by a pack of wolves. He was unarmed, except for a small knife and did not even have a stick of any kind. He trusted to his speed and it did not fail him. The wolves followed closely at his heels but did not attack him.

READY FOR EDITORS.

Little Falls Plans to Give Newspaper Men Fine Time.

Little Falls, Minn., Jan. 15.—Preparations are complete for the entertainment of the editors of Northern Minnesota here on Friday and Saturday when the Northern Minnesota Editorial association is to hold its annual meeting. A strenuous program of business meetings will be broken by a banquet Friday evening.

Organized in 1908 by nine editors, who met at Park Rapids, the association has grown to a membership of 125. A. G. Rutledge of Bemidji has been secretary and treasurer since 1909.

BADGER TAX INCREASE.

State Tax Rate Over 2 Mills Above 1913.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 15.—The tax commission announces that total taxes of all kinds for 1914 amount to $41,496,960.21, and that the state assessment from which the tax was derived was $2,998,187,705. The tax rate is computed at .01387403466.

Comparison with 1913 shows an increase of $7,973,547.30. The total assessed valuation in 1913 was $2,841,630,416, the total taxes $33,623,412.91, and the tax rate .011822 43701. This increase is slightly more than two mills, equivalent to $2.04 for $1,000 of true valuation.

MRS. FULLERTON BURIED

Last Rites at Mill City for Deputy Fire Marshal's Wife.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 15.—The funeral of Mrs. Samuel Fullerton, wife of the deputy state marshal, who died in a local hospital of hemorrhage of the brain, was held yesterday.

A native of Indiana, aged 59, she came to St. Cloud with her parents when 2 years old, lived in St. Cloud until she married Mr. Fullerton, and then moved to Minneapolis.

She is survived by one brother, Fred Jones of St. Paul, and three sisters, Mrs. C. H. Granger of St. Paul, Mrs. G. Boardman of Chicago and Mrs. T. Boss of Montana.

Mrs. Fullerton was a niece of D. H. Freeman and Mrs. James F. Stevenson of St. Cloud and a cousin of Edward Marvin.

Eat and Get Thin

This is turning an old phrase face about, but modern methods of reducing fat have made this revision possible.

If you are overfat and also averse to physical exertion and likewise fond of the table and still want to reduce your excess flesh several pounds, do this: Go to your druggist (or write the Marmola Co., Farmer Building, Detroit, Mich.) and give him (or send them) 75 cents. For this modest amount of money the druggist will put you in the way of satisfying your ambition for a nice, trim, slim figure. He will hand you a large case of Marmola Prescription Tablets (compounded in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription), one of which you must take after each meal and at bedtime until you begin to lose your fat at the rate of 12 to 16 ounces a day. That is all. Just go on eating what you like, leave exercising to the athletes, but take your little tablet faithfully and without a doubt that flabby flesh will quickly take unto itself wings, leaving behind it your natural self, neatly clothed in firm flesh and trim muscles.

The Doctor's Advice

by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Elwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

Answer: The tightest cough can be loosened in one hour by using the following: Get from your druggist a 2½-oz. package of essence mentho-laxene and make according to directions on bottle. This will break up any cold and loosen the tightest cough and soon cure it by its laxative tonic action.

"Miriam G." writes: "I am afflicted with stomach and bowel disorders and am fearful that it will result in appendicitis. Please advice me."

Answer: Undoubtedly a great many people could prevent appendicitis by using precaution, and overcoming stomach and bowel disorders in time. I advise that you take tablets triopeptine.

"Carpenter" writes: "I have pains in my spine and frightful headaches in back of head, fainting spells, twitching and trembling, nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite and strength, and in fact am a 'has been,' when it comes to performing accustomed work and duties. Please advise."

Answer: In all such cases the assimilative functions have not kept pace with waste functions and a powerful, harmless tonic treatment is needed. I find three-grain cadomene tablets unexcelled and astonishingly beneficial in such cases and advise them for you.

"Mrs. W. C." asks: "Is it safe to reduce one's weight when it is excessive? I have often wanted to take something but have been afraid that it might do more harm than good."

Answer: Some remedies might not be safe, but I prescribe one which is both safe and effective. Ask any well-stocked pharmacy for 5-grain arbolone tablets, packed in sealed tubes, with full directions for home use. They will usually reduce at the rate of a pound a day.

"Geraldine" writes: "I am troubled a great deal with headache, dizzy spells, dark spots before my eyes, twinges of rheumatism. Can I be helped at all?"

Answer: You can not only be "helped" but you can be freed of all the troubles you mention. You need three-grain sulphurb tablets (not sulphur) which are packed in sealed tubes and contain full directions for use. They are made of sulphur, cream of tartar and herb medicines. If these are taken regularly they purify the blood, stimulate the liver and bowels into healthy action and will gradually effect a cure.

"Mother"—Bedwetting in children is usually a disease which can be corrected by the use of the following: Tincture cubebs, 1 dram; tincture rhus aromatic, 2 drams; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz. Mix and give the child 10 to 15 drops in water one hour before each meal.

"Nellie G." writes: "Can you prescribe a good treatment for catarrh? I suffer with pain above my eyes, and my breath is offensive."

Answer: Catarrh is very annoying and dangerous if neglected. The best treatment can be had by the use of anti-septic vilane powder. Obtain in two or eight-ounce package or box and use as per directions accompanying same.

"Maud" writes: "Can anything be done for an itching scalp? My scalp is covered with dandruff and I am in great distress."

Answer: You can very easily be cured of an itching scalp, also dandruff, if you will get a 4-oz. jar of plain yellow minyol and use according to the directions given on the jar. Two or three applications have been known to cure. Try it fairly and you will advocate its use to your friends.

"Ellen K." writes: "I am not fleshy enough. I should weigh 20 pounds more. I am ashamed of my thinness and wish to become plump and attractive. Can you help me?"

Answer: Yes, I can help you, "Ellen K," and many others in the same plight. A thorough course of treatment with three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets will gradually give you more red and white blood corpuscles, adding to your weight, health and color, giving you pink cheeks, red lips and sparkling eyes. These tablets are packed in sealed cartons with directions. Do not expect results too quickly, it takes time to change the cells and tissues of the body, but you can depend on gaining weight if you are persistent.

"D. E. F." writes: "If you know of anything that I could take to cure my rheumatism, please tell me, as I suffer all the time. Am getting worse all the time."

Answer: Take the following and you will soon be relieved of your rheumatism. This is the best remedy that I have ever known for this trouble: Iodide of potassium, 2 drams; sodium salicylate, 4 drams; wine of colchicum, ½ oz; comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz. and syrup sarsaparilla, comp., 5 ozs. Mix by shaking well and take one teaspoonful at meal times and again at bed time.

"Helen" writes: "Can you give me a reliable remedy for coughs and colds? My cough is so tight that I am afraid of pneumonia."

ON THE IRON RANGES

CHISHOLM TO VOTE FEB. 5

Question of Reincorporating Village to Be Submitted Then.

Village Council Awards Greenhouse Contract to Gus Anderson.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald)—A resolution prepared by Village Attorney Edward Freeman was passed by the village council yesterday afternoon which calls for a special election, to be held Feb. 5, on the proposition of reincorporation. The village, which was incorporated under the laws of 1895, will, if the voters see fit, be brought under the laws of 1905. If the proposition carries it will mean that the council members elected at the regular spring elections will take their office on April 3 of each year.

Arc Light Inspector Lee Bell, whose office was created about thirty days ago, submitted his report to the council covering the period intervening, which indicated that results were being obtained.

Village Engineer F. C. Lang made his annual report of the white way maintenance, which showed an actual expenditures of $3,175 and includes thirty-eight posts. An item of approximately $1,200 for rewiring the white way system brought the total figures up and when deducted shows a very economical and satisfactory method of street lighting.

Let Greenhouse Contract.

The contract for a service building in connection with the greenhouse was awarded to Gus Anderson, a local contractor, for $2,385.50. He agreed to finish the house within thirty-four working days. M. C. Moore and A. L. Bergeron, both local men, bid $2,704.75 and $2,795.80, respectively. Adam Schirmer landed the contract for plumbing and heating on his bid of $429. His next closest competitor was the A. C. Schirmer company for $476.75. R. E. O'Brien, a local man, also had a bid in.

Settles Damage Claim.

Henry Korhonen, a young Finnish laborer, settled with the village for $150 for a smashed finger. This is the first case where the village has made settlement under the new compensation act.

A. H. Kleffman, representing the Traveler's Insurance company submitted a proposition for indemnity against injury to its employes, but it was decided inopportune to take the matter up at this time.

Robert Winston was authorized to occupy a building on any business street and open up an amusement place to include shooting gallery, striking machines, punching, lifting and weighing machines, etc.

Liquor license renewals were granted to Louis Roth, George Rice and Steve Gervais.

Wants Pulmotor.

City Physician W. R. Schmidt indicated to the council the advantage of a pulmotor, to be used in such cases as the recent electrocution at the substation. The motor would be placed in the fire department and could be quickly delivered when necessary. It might also be of immense value to firemen if overcome by smoke.

The recorder was instructed to write the Mesaba Telephone company and the Chisholm Electric company to box and otherwise protect the guy wires on their poles.

Through the local newspapers the attention of employes of the village will be called to purchasing goods out of town. They will not be instructed that they shall buy at home but failure to do so will reflect upon them, and might become a factor, should any other difficulty arise.

ARE PUT ON METTLE.

Hibbing Commercial Club Would Compel Officers to Attend.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—If the members of the Commercial club at a special meeting to be held next Wednesday evening adopt an amendment to the constitution offered last evening by Robert Stratton, directors and other officers of the organization will have to be diligent in their attendance if they wish to retain their titles.

The amendment provides that the five directors all be elected for one year as are the rest of the officers and that if any official is absent from two consecutive meetings that the offices be declared vacant and a new man elected.

At the same meeting the report of the committee appointed to ask the council to contribute $100 a month towards the secretary's salary will be heard.

ORDERS ATTORNEY TO PAY OVER COIN

Virginia Lawyer Alleged to Have Held Out Big Fee.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Arnold & Pickering of this city, who acted as attorneys for the town of Buyck during the bond troubles of that place, have been ordered by Judge Hughes to pay over $2,250 to the town officials.

It is claimed they collected that amount and kept it as compensation for their services in collecting $5,250 for the town from the Bankers' Surety company. The amount is alleged to have been collected on Jan. 30, 1911, and the town officials aver the money was kept until April 26, 1911, when $3,000 of the amount was deposited in the Miners' National Bank of Eveleth.

From the American Bonding company the attorneys are alleged to have collected $14,657.09, for which they received $6,414.85. C. O. Baldwin, a Duluth attorney, is said to have been paid $976.79, while the expenses amounted to $973.25.

GALLOWAY HEADS COMMERCIAL CLUB

Hibbing Merchant to Guide Activities of Hibbing Organization.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. L. Galloway, a leading merchant and a consistent worker for civic improvements, was selected to head the Commercial club, last evening.

"This should be a year for the merchants," said H. P. Reed in seconding the nomination of Mr. Galloway made by Mr. Stratton. "The other activities in the village have had their turn at the helm and the only other effort this year should be for the merchant's benefit. The plans that have been outlined including the street car extension, the advertising of the village and the securing of new industries will all help the merchants, so that it is eminently fitting that one of them should be at the head of this club."

Other Officers Chosen.

Con Kepple was selected as first vice president; W. R. Spensley, second vice president, J. L. Lewis, secretary; W. J. Ryder, treasurer, and Robert Stratton, director for five years.

The salary of the joint secretary and publicity man was fixed at $150 a month and a committee consisting of President Galloway, Con Kepple and W. J. Ryder was appointed as a committee to wait upon the council with the request that they pay $100 of the salary.

It was also unanimously decided to raise the dues, now fixed at $3 a year, to $9 a year payable quarterly in advance. The membership fee remains at $3 and all members joining now will be given a card to April 1, 1914, from which time the dues will start.

The officers and members present last evening were all enthusiastic over the plans for the coming year.

SCHOOL MEETING AT DEER RIVER

Western Mesaba Educators to Have Conference There Friday.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—G. E. Keenan, who was here yesterday afternoon from Deer River stated that arrangements are all completed for an educational meeting which will be held at the high school at Deer River tomorrow. The meeting will be a conference among the superintendents, school officers and agricultural instructors of the schools of Nashwauk, Coleraine, Grand Rapids and Deer River.

Denfeld to Speak.

George R. Howard of the agricultural extension division of the university and Superintendent Denfeld of the Duluth schools will be present and will be among those addressing the gathering.

Dinner will be served to the visitors by the girls of the domestic science class of the Deer River high school.

OUTLOOK DUBIOUS.

Chances for Extension of Range Trolley Not Favorable.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A petition from the residents of Alice was presented to the Commercial club last evening asking that that body do all in its power to co-operate with the council in securing an extension of the electric road to that section.

Secretary Saxby reported that in his conference at Duluth the chances for any work being done this year were exceedingly slight and that a communication had been promised following the annual meeting of the Mesaba Electric company, which was scheduled for last Monday.

COOK BUSINESS MAN MARRIES MAINE GIRL.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles C. Venning, a successful business man of Cook, the thriving village north of here, and Miss Susie Small of Bangor, Me., were married here Tuesday evening.

Virginia Red Men Install.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following officers were installed by Nitchie Nobby tribe No. 89, Improved Order of Red Men: Sachem, Al Emnott; senior sagamore, Joseph Rinnert; junior sagamore, Jacob Litman; prophet, Le Roy Edwin; chief of records, W. R. Byrne; keeper of wampum, Albert Staff; collector of wampum, J. P. Chalmers. The installing officer was Deputy Great Sachem Robert J. Thorpe of this city. It is planned by the tribe to hold a big meeting soon, at which time Great Sachem Seeberger of St. Cloud and Senator James P. Boyle will be the speakers.

CHISHOLM FIRE CHIEF REMOVED

Thomas O'Connor, Who Held Position Four Years, Let Out.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village council yesterday afternoon removed Fire Chief Thomas O'Connor and temporarily placed in charge George Nitch, one of the oldest members and who has been assistant chief. The removal of Chief O'Connor followed a demand made Tuesday by Recorder Tramontin for his resignation. He was warned that his removal would follow a refusal to resign, but he preferred to have the council go on record.

One Negative Vote.

Trustee McNiven offered the resolution which received the support of Recorder Tramontin, all members voting in favor of the removal except Trustee Ritchell who voted no. Trustee Borlin was absent.

O'Connor was elected third vice president of the Firemen's Relief association at the state convention at Thief River Falls last June when Representative Cleon T. Knapp and Deputy Recorder F. L. Austin secured the convention for Chisholm for 1916.

O'Connor came here four years ago this month, at the time a paid fire department was established and has been constantly in charge since. Some friction arose last spring over an advance in salary for him but carried and his salary was placed at $150 a month. Dissenting members of the council mentioned a number of irregularities in his conduct but they were not deemed sufficient to carry a vote of the council for his removal. He was not present at the meeting but had been informed the cause for action at this time.

ELY BOY GIVEN $2,500 VERDICT

Youth Who Lost Thumb and His Father Get Damages.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Andrew Westman, the 10-year-old boy who sued Alfred Kolstad, an Ely contractor, for $6,000 for personal injuries which resulted in the loss of a thumb and two fingers of the left hand, was this morning awarded a verdict of $2,500 after the jury had deliberated for nearly twenty hours.

Father Gets $285.

Andrew Westman, the boy's father, was awarded $285 as his damages. The verdict in the latter case is the first on record in the range court to be returned by a jury of less than twelve men.

Westman, Sr., sued for $1,500. Andrew Nelson of Duluth was the attorney for the plaintiffs and A. J. Thomas of Ely for the defendant.

TO PLAY TWO HARBORS.

Biwabik Basket Ball Team to Visit City By the Lake.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Biwabik basket ball team will come here tomorrow evening for a game with the local city team. It is said that Biwabik has a strong team. The local team is holding regular practice under the guidance of Coach McPheeters and is rapidly rounding into a classy team. The two forwards, Freeman and Kernan, who have been in the hospital for the past two weeks have again resumed their position on the team.

The local team will line up as follows: Kernan, forward; Freeman, Sullivan and Dwan, forward; Woodward, center; Johnson, guard; Fillatrault, guard.

JOINT INSTALLATION.

Two Harbors Woodmen and Royal Neighbors Combine Ceremonies.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Woodmen and the Royal Neighbors held a joint installation of officers last night. The Woodmen installed the following officers: Edward Kronman, consul; G. F. Goodeve, advisor; Charles B. Stephenson, banker; John Larson, clerk; John Karlstrom, escort; Dr. E. P. Christenson, physician; Harry H. VanDyken, trustee; Andrew Johnson, watchman; Carl A. Westin, sentinel.

The Royal Neighbors installed the following officers: Mrs. Anna Stephenson, oracle; Mary Peterson, vice oracle; Mrs. Minnie Borak, chancellor; Mrs. Minnie Holliday, recorder; Mrs. Jennie Tennant, receiver; Mrs. Anna Blood, marshal; Minnie Lundquist, inside sentinel; Anna Johnson, outside sentinel; Mrs. Ida Anderson, trustee for three years. Mrs. Louis D. Rose acted as installing officer.

After the installation those present enjoyed a short dancing program after which a lunch was served.

PORTABLE SCHOOL BEING CONSIDERED

Hibbing Board May Use Contrivance for Gilpin Section.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A portable schoolhouse to cost about $1,400 may be stationed near Wilpen in order to take care of the children in the Du Pont, Swandale and Wilpen locations, according to an action contemplated by the school board.

There are nearly a dozen children being brought in from Wilpen by bus in the morning and sent back on the afternoon train. A motion made at the school board meeting last evening authorized the payment of the car fare of these students, which during the past year amounted to about $150. The bus charge is about $80 a month.

To Employ Married Men.

The manager of the Du Pont plant near Wilpen notified the board that in the future married men would be employed at the plant and that he would provide for the transportation of the children to the school, which would have to be located some little distance from the powder houses. The school will be similar to the one now used at Brown's location.

Jelly Roll Recipe

Only Two Eggs Required

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

This Jelly Roll is fast becoming very popular on account of the way it keeps fresh. With proper handling it should keep fresh a whole week, providing it isn't eaten up in the meantime, for it is every bit as good as it looks. 33

KC Jelly Roll

One cup sifted flour; scant half teaspoonful salt; 2 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; grated rind of 1 lemon; 2 eggs beaten light; 1 cup sugar; ½ cup hot milk; glass of jelly; powdered sugar.

Beat the sugar into the eggs; add the lemon rind, then the flour, sifted three times with the salt and baking powder; and, lastly, the milk. Bake in a buttered dripping pan; turn out on a damp cloth, trim off the crisp edges; spread with jelly and turn over and over into a roll while still warm. Dredge the top with powdered sugar.

Hot milk used in the jelly roll enables it to be rolled without danger of cracking. Have the milk scalding hot, also be careful to have the eggs and sugar beaten together until very light and creamy. Bake in a moderate oven.

K C Jelly Roll is illustrated on page thirty-two of the new and handsomely illustrated 64-page K C Cook's Book, which may be secured free by sending the certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder to the JAQUES MFG. CO., Chicago, Ill.

BIWABIK HOME BURNS.

Ben J. McMahon, Asleep in Bed, Has Narrow Call.

Biwabik, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The one-story frame dwelling owned by William Bane and occupied by Ben J. McMahon, a saloon keeper, caught fire about 4 p. m. yesterday from an overheated stove and was practically gutted. Only the piano and some rugs were saved. The loss on the house is about $1,000 and the contents about the same, both being covered by insurance. Mr. McMahon was asleep in bed at the time, his wife being away calling at the home of Mrs. Frank Taber, her mother, and McMahon had a narrow escape, getting out only in his bed clothes. This is the second time he has been burned out in a few years.

NELSON GOES TO COURT.

Ousted Virginia Official Wants Council's Action Reviewed.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—S. A. Nelson, who was ousted by the city council from the position of police and fire commissioner yesterday afternoon secured from Judge Hughes an order to show cause, directed to President Boylan of the council and City Clerk Bickford, returnable Jan. 17, why he was ousted. In other words, a writ of review was secured.

The city clerk is cited to certify to the court all records and proceedings in the matter.

In his petition Nelson denies the council's jurisdiction to try him on the charges preferred, setting forth the several reasons therefor, and brands as illegal each and every one of the acts at his trial by the council. Under the course chosen by the attorneys for Nelson, his case will be reviewed by Judge Hughes. It is almost certain that whatever the decision, the case will be carried to the supreme court.

BOARD RESCINDS FORMER ACTION

Former Virginia School Superintendent Loses Salary Claim.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The board of education last night rescinded its action of last December in allowing Former School Supt. Lafayette Bliss $275 for July salary. When the board allowed the claim by a vote of 4 to 2 last month, Mitchell Stewart, who was then clerk of the board, refused to draw an order for the amount until the legality of the action was determined and the opinion of the attorney general was asked.

Clifford L. Hilton, assistant attorney general, held that the board has no authority to pay Mr. Bliss for the month in question, he having been notified by the board that his services would not be required after the first of July, 1913. The motion to rescind the resolution allowing the salary was passed by a vote of 4 to 2, Directors McGhee and Irwin voting in the negative.

A request from the city council for the use of school buildings for meetings to explain to voters the proposed charter amendments which are to be voted on at the coming city election was denied.

This Home-Made Cough Syrup Will Surprise You

Costs Little, but there is Nothing Better at any Price. Fully Guaranteed.

Here is a home-made remedy that takes hold of a cough almost instantly, and will usually conquer an ordinary cough in 24 hours. This recipe makes a pint—enough for a whole family. You couldn't buy as much or as good ready-made cough syrup for $2.50.

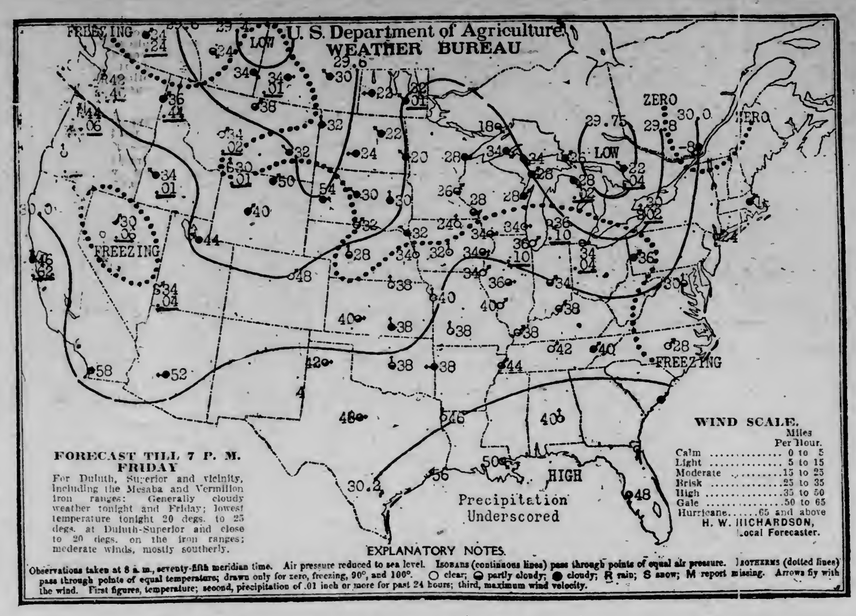

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. This keeps perfectly and has a pleasant taste—children like it. Braces up the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

You probably know the medical value of pine in treating bronchial asthma, bronchitis, spasmodic croup and whooping cough. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and other natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination.

The prompt results from this inexpensive remedy have made friends for it in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada, which explains why the plan has been imitated often, but never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

CLOUDY

The mild weather still is with Duluth and the ice is getting sticky for the curlers. A little bit more of moderating and they will have to put sails on their stanes. Cloudy and mild weather is the prediction for tonight and tomorrow.

A year ago today was cold. The sun rose this morning at 7:50 and will set at 4:46 o'clock, giving eight hours and fifty-six minutes of sunshine, two minutes more than yesterday.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The cold wave in the East has moderated considerably, but zero weather continues in Quebec. In general the temperature is moderate to mild. Light snow or rain fell during Wednesday or last night over the Eastern and Southern lake region. Southwestern Utah, Nevada, Northern California, Oregon, Washington, Western Montana and Idaho."

LURED BY PHONE; MERCHANT ROBBED

Two Strangers Rifle Cash Register in Chisholm Store.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two strangers by the use of a telephone call to distract attention, robbed the cash register of William Jacobson yesterday afternoon between 4 and 5 o'clock. Seventy-six dollars in cash and an $80 note were taken.

One man called Jacobson to the telephone next door and held him on a ruse of a package at the express office needing to be identified, while the other entered the shoe store and rifled the cash register and then walked out. Jacobson did not discover the loss until last evening when he checked up the register.

It is believed the men took a trolley car out of town. The police are working on the case, and have a small clew to the men's identity. The telephone game was established through calls put in from a saloon across the way.

FALLING TREE KILLS WOODSMAN

Gunder Amundson Loses Life in Woods on Drummond Branch.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Gunder Amundson, a lumberjack, in the employ of the Cloquet Lumber company at their Camp No. 4 on the Drummond branch, was instantly killed late yesterday afternoon by a falling tree.

The remains were brought to this city today. Amundson was 22 years of age and single. A brother, John Amundson, of Rhinelander, Wis., was notified and is expected to arrive here today.

GIVES "TANGO TEA."

Gilbert Matron Hostess at First Evening of That Sort.

Gilbert, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Carl F. Stillman was hostess at a "Tango tea" yesterday afternoon at her home from 4 to 6 o'clock, which proved a delightful innovation in social activities for the season. It was the first affair of the kind given here, and the guests enjoyed the hours of dancing with the service of tea, at prettily arranged tables.

CONFERENCE HELD AT MOUNTAIN IRON.

Mountain Iron, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. O. D. Cannon, pastor of the Methodist church at Eveleth, lectured Tuesday night in the Methodist church to a large audience on "The Man That Is." The attendance was fairly satisfactory. After the lecture the second quarterly conference for the Mountain Iron and Buhl circuit was held under the direction of Rev. O. D. Cannon. A finance committee to serve the interests of the Mountain Iron church was elected with the following members: Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Hinchley, W. T. Caddy, W. T. Edwards and J. S. Henderson.

WOMAN IN BAD CONDITION

Restored To Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Montpelier, Vt. — "We have great faith in your remedies. I was very irregular and was tired and sleepy all the time, would have cold chills, and my hands and feet would bloat. My stomach bothered me, I had pain in my side and a bad headache most of the time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me lots of good and I now feel fine. I am regular, my stomach is better and my pains have all left me. You can use my name if you ke. I am proud of what your remedies have done for me." — Mrs. MARY GAUTHIER, 21 Ridge St., Montpelier, Vt.

An Honest Dependable Medicine

It must be admitted by every fair-minded, intelligent person, that a medicine could not live and grow in popularity for nearly forty years, and to-day hold a record for thousands upon thousands of actual cures, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, without possessing great virtue and actual worth. Such medicines must be looked upon and termed both standard and dependable by every thinking person.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

GERMS MADE HARMLESS

Rich red blood is the power that keeps the human body in order. Every day many germs of disease enter our bodies but they are made harmless and passed off if the fighting forces of the body are in good condition. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood, enable it to absorb more oxygen, the agent which burns up the body poisons. In this way Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are not only a tonic but a specific for the host of diseases that come as a result of thin blood and that can get a foot-hold only when the tone of the body is low.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make the blood rich and red, and strengthen the nerves.

Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervousness, sciatica. Build up your blood and note how the purer and richer blood fights your battle against the disease. Take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a tonic if you are not in the best physical condition and cultivate a resistance that with the observance of ordinary rules of health will keep you well and strong. Get a box from the nearest drug store and begin this treatment now.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS.

By Mayor Prince:

Be it resolved by the city council of the city of Duluth, as follows:

Section 1. There is hereby granted to the Zenith Box & Lumber company, its successors and assigns, the right and privilege to place and maintain a single spur railroad track across Forty-fifth avenue west in the city of Duluth, from the westerly line of said avenue to the easterly line of said avenue, in the intersection of said avenue with Traverse street, and to use such spur track for the purpose of loading or unloading freight to and from the property of the said Zenith Box & Lumber company.

Section 2. Said Zenith Box & Lumber company expressly agrees, and the rights and privileges hereby granted are granted upon the following express conditions:

1. That any property now or hereafter owned by the city in, upon or under the aforesaid street, shall only be altered or moved as directed by the commissioner of public works of the city of Duluth, and at the cost of the Zenith Box & Lumber company.

2. That the city of Duluth shall have the right to enter upon all portions of Forty-fifth avenue west, at the aforesaid intersection, to do anything required to be done by the city in the care and maintenance of said street, or in the care and maintenance of the property of said city, without any liability against the city.

3. The Zenith Box & Lumber company will save the city of Duluth harmless from any and all damages occasioned by reason of the construction, maintenance and operation of said spur track.

4. Said Zenith Box & Lumber company shall use said track in such a manner as not to unreasonably interfere with public travel.

5. In the event that the highway above described is ever improved, the said Zenith Box & Lumber company shall improve, in a manner satisfactory to the city council, the space between the tracks above described, and one foot on each side of said tracks.

6. The city of Duluth in no way guarantees any of the rights and privileges herein granted.

Section 3. Before this resolution shall be in force and effect, the Zenith Box & Lumber company shall accept the same by filing with the city clerk of the city of Duluth its written acceptance thereof, within thirty days of the passage of this resolution, consenting to the terms and conditions hereof.

Section 4. This resolution shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

MARKET HAS STRONG CLOSE

Wheat Bulges at Finish on Reported Export Sales at Chicago.

Flaxseed Sags With Quiet Demand From Crushers' Interests.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 15.—Wheat turned strong at the close on reported export sales. May wheat closed ⅛c off and July ⅛c off. May durum closed ⅛c up.

Oats closed ¼c off at 36⅝@37⅛c. Rye closed unchanged at 52½@55½c for the best grades, and barley closed unchanged at from 45c to 67c.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 88¼@88¼c asked, and calls at 88¾@88⅞c.

At Winnipeg May oats closed at 37c.

The wheat market was affected today through the development of weakness in coarse grains at Chicago and lower Liverpool cables. Trading was in small volume and comparatively lifeless throughout the session.

Cash business is in limited proportions these days with the light current receipts. Only 44 cars were inspected here today, as compared with 107 cars last year, and there were just 63 cars of all grains on the tracks. It is interesting to note that corn continues to move this way from North Dakota points, going to show that the growing of the cereal is being more generally taken up in that state. There are now 208,000 bu of it in store here while a year ago there were no arrivals of it on this market.

For the first time on this crop movement, stocks of wheat at Minneapolis are beginning to show decreases. For the five days of this week supplies in elevators down there fell off 50,000 bu.

Operators at Duluth are bullish on wheat for a long pull, feeling that the statistical position of the world's markets will lead to higher quotations later on. The market was higher at Buenos Ayres today. Broomhall's agent at Sydney, Australia, now places the exportable surplus of that country at 49,600,000 bu as compared with 51,400,000 bu last year. Japan dealers are reported to be inquiring freely over there and they are expected to buy heavily on account of the disappointing yields in their country. Farmers in Australia are said to be holding for higher prices.

May wheat opened unchanged at 89¼c and declined ½c during the first three hours trading. The July option opened ⅛c off at 90⅝c and weakened ¼c more. May durum opened ⅛c up at 88¼c and declined ⅜c.

Dull Day In Flax.

Business in flaxseed was the dullest in several days and price recessions were the order. The market broke a cent at the opening on some selling pressure, with only light crushers' demand to take care of the offerings. Trading was confined to the May option in which the price rested at around $1.54¼ after the early break. The close was firm at the lower level.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.55¼ and closed at $1.56¼. The January option was closed up at $1.50¼ nominally.

At Winnipeg, January flax closed at $1.29 and May at $1.35.

MARKET GOSSIP.

The official report for 1913 issued yesterday at Ottawa, Can., makes the wheat and oats crops the largest on record. The wheat crop totaled 231,-717,000 bu; oats, 104,689,000 bu; flaxseed, 17,539,000 bu. The total crop of wheat in 1912 was 216,000,000 bu.

At Minneapolis the cash demand was just fair for the top grades and slow for ordinary wheat. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at 1c over May to 1⅛c under, and velvet chaff at from 1@1⅛c discount. Flour sales are still moderate but shipping directions are freer and the larger milling companies have increased their operating capacity during the last twenty-four hours. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from 86¼@89¼c and No. 2 northern at from 84¼@86¼c.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Wheat—The steady American cables yesterday and strength in Buenos Ayres caused shorts to cover at the opening and values were ⅛@¼c higher. Following the opening, there was further support stimulated by the continued unfavorable crop reports from Argentina and the firmness of Plata holders, together with an increased demand for Manitoba and Australian offers. The advance was checked by freer European offers and indications of liberal world's shipments this week and the good supply in the visible. At 1:30 p. m. the undertone was steady, ⅛@⅜d higher.

"Corn—Opened unchanged and later advanced ¼@⅝d with February shorts covering."

Baker received the following wire from Chicago: "Cables in wheat are higher. The bull fever is still prevalent in our markets based on sales of a small amount of Manitobas and some No. 2 hard wheat for export. In view of the fact that we have some 100,000,000 bu to spare for that purpose and Canada has 50,000,000 bu these sales are only significant if foreigners follow our advance and buy additional amounts. The advance has not stimulated outside interest and local sentiment is unanimously bullish and long on wheat."

The movement of wheat from the Canadian West to Duluth is increasing, arrivals today mounting up to 47 cars, of which 30 were wheat. The bulk of the grain came from territory tributary to the Great Northern railroad.

London Stocks.

London, Jan. 15.—American securities were quiet and steady during the early trading. Prices opened unchanged and during the first hour the leaders advanced on buying, covering. Later the list advanced on Wall street buying. The closing was steady.

USING UP SCRAPS.

Indianapolis News: The French housewife would keep her family a week on the scraps from the ordinary American table. These scraps, incidentally would be so disguised and so daintily served that no one would recognize them from what they really were—just left-overs. One method of saving scraps in France is the potage or soup pot. All the odds and ends of the meal are thrown into a big pot and when enough are collected, excellent soup is made.

In Germany all these scraps are mixed in with the sausage, but here in the land of high food prices, the scraps are thrown to waste.

There is always great waste in bread as well. Stale bread can always be utilized. It may be dried out thoroughly in the oven and then crushed to a powder for breading croquettes or veal chops or cutlets. Or else it may be soaked in milk and used for pudding.

It is all these little economics which tend to reduce the cost of living and make the business side of the kitchen a profitable instead of an extravagant part of household management.

COULDN'T ANTICIPATE.

Chicago News: "What's the matter with the train?" asked the lecturer, vexed with the speed they were making.

"If you don't like this train," the guard retorted, "you can get out and walk."

"By Jove!" said the lecturer, "I'd do it; but a reception committee is to meet me at my destination, and I don't want to get in ahead of time."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Gets Setback Owing to Profit-Taking Sales.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—Profit-taking by holders gave the wheat market today a setback. Many traders seemed to believe that the advance in prices had been too rapid, and was shutting off the cash demand. Signs of liberal world shipmentsc tended also to cause a decline. Opening figures were a shade to ¼c lower, and there was an additional sag later.

The fact that most of the shorts had been forced out yesterday appeared to strip the best support from the market. Closing prices were nervous ⅛c lower to ⅛@¼c up, compared with last night.

Unseasonably mild weather weakened corn. Receivers said consignments were increasing from Iowa and Illinois. Prices started 1-16 to ¼c off and continued to descend.

Country offerings though in small quantities formed a total. The close was steady, ⅜@½c off to ⅛c up, compared with last night.

Oats lacked demand. The downturn in corn was mainly responsible.

Provision orose on account of an advance in the price of hogs. First sales varied from last night's level to 12½c higher, but packers unloaded on the bulge and there was a decided reaction in consequence.

STRENGTH IN STOCKS

More Hopeful Sentiment on Financial and Commercial Conditions.

Demand for Stocks Active and Prices Have Vigorous Rise.

New York, Jan. 15.—The advance in the market today was bracing. Both investment and speculative stocks reflected a more hopeful sentiment regarding financial and commercial conditions. News that necessary financing for some of the large railroads was being arranged satisfactorily and unconfirmed reports that various large corporations were coming to terms with the government, gave a stimulus to the upward movement. There were indications of investment buying in all sections of the list. Such selling as the market had to contend with came from professional sources, in the way of profit-taking. Early gains of 1 to 2 points were reduced before noon, but the list held up well above yesterday's close.

Bonds were strong.

The advance in stocks which began late yesterday on the receipt of favorable advices from Washington regarding the administration's policies toward the trusts was resumed vigorously at the opening today. All of the favorite stocks were in keen demand, and many lots of 1,000 to 3,000 shares changed hands. National Biscuit rose 2¼ and Lehigh Valley, Chesapeake & Ohio, Atlantic Coast Line and Erie first preferred 1. Steel and Union Pacific advanced nearly a point.

Short covering revealed the scarcity of stocks and the market rose further before profit-taking sales had any effect. Eastern railroad shares reacted half a point to a point, but many other issues held steadily. Steel was conspicuously strong.

Activity in the Can shares strengthened the speciality group and some of the low-priced railroads also advanced. The usual market leaders were sluggish and below their high figures. Buying of Pennsylvania stiffened the general eastern railroad list.

Renewed buying of Steel and Southern Pacific which reached high levels kept the general market intact despite the pressure of profit-taking.

The market closed strong. Demand for stocks was unabated and prices rose vigorously to the end. Active shares gained 1 to 2 points.

SHIPMENT OF RADIATORS

First Carload Sent Out By West Duluth's New Industry.

Rumor of Big Order Placed With Zenith Furnace Company.

The first carload shipment of radiators sent out of the city of Duluth left the Minnesota Radiator plant in West Duluth yesterday. The plant is now well under way and according to the management the orders for its product have been rapidly coming in.

The plant started operations early last month and is giving employment to about fifty men. Practically all of the employes of the plant have been brought here from other cities and are skilled mechanics.

The iron industry in West Duluth is said to be very good at this time. It is said that the Zenith Furnace company recently received an order for 15,000 tons of its product, but officials of the concern would neither deny nor confirm the report. This order is said to have been one of the largest received in some time, the average being about 500 tons per order.

A rumor said to have its origin from a creditable source states that another large iron industry is seeking a site in this locality. It is intimated that this plant may be in operation within the year.

RED MEN PLAN FINE NEW HOME

Committee Now at Work Will Make Report in February.

If the plans which are being considered by members of the Improved Order of Red Men are carried out, the local tribe will own, within another year, a home in this end of the city which the order will be proud of. A committee of ten members of Mesaba Tribe, No. 25, is investigating the proposition and will give its report at a meeting of the lodge in February.

The members of the committee are: James E. Foubister, chairman; Ed Sugars, John Connolly, John C. Ramsbottom, W. S. McCallum, Louis Christianson, Timothy Fitzgibbons, A. R. Armstrong, P. G. Phillips and Frank Smith.

The home planned for the lodge will serve not only as a club house but a part of it will be devoted to the care of the sick and aged, or other members requiring the care of the order. The building will be used for no other purposes except the needs of the lodge and its members.

The committee expects to get prices or options on desirable property in this end of the city for this purpose. While the lodge probably will not have the full amount of cash to put into the enterprise, it is planned to issue stock or certificates against the building and limit the sales of these to members of the local order.

According to statements made by members of the committee it is expected to build or purchase improved property and make additional improvements at a cost not exceeding $25,000. The place to be secured will be such that enlargements can conveniently be made when found necessary.

Pastor Is Absent.

Rev. W. L. Staub, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church, Fifty-seventh avenue west and Ramsey street, who is in New York attending the funeral of his mother, who died Sunday, is not expected to return until the latter part of next week.

The pulpit of the church will be occupied Sunday morning by Rev. Peter Knudson of New Duluth. In the evening Rev. Charles N. Thorp, pastor of the Pilgrim Congregational church of this city will preach.

SPEAKER FOR REVIVALS COMING

Rev. T. J. Paulson Will Open Meetings at Mission Church.

Rev. T. J. Paulson of Virginia, Minn., will arrive here tomorrow for the purpose of conducting a two weeks' revival meeting in the Swedish Mission church, Fifty-ninth avenue west and Green street. The services will begin Sunday and will be continued every evening except Monday and Saturday until Feb. 1.

Rev. Mr. Paulson is said to be one of the most fluent Swedish speakers in Northern Minnesota. During the meetings the choir of the church has planned to give special music each evening. A number of well known soloists will assist on the musical program.

WEST DULUTH CURLERS

Dr. W. E. Judson, skip of the Judson rink, which for the past two seasons has been termed the "Horse-shoe" rink, on account of many of its remarkable victories, has a rink this year which as yet has proven unbeatable. The rink has played five games, two of which games were against the crack Evered rink of the Western Curling club and two against a superior club in the Manley-McLennan event, and in each case it was vistor with a substantial score.

The term "horse-shoe" rink was applied last year. Durnig the season, some of the members of the Western Curling club got to believe that there was far more luck than skill in the playing of the members of this rink. This year it looks very much as if the term would be dropped because none of the games so far have been won on account of chance shots, but by good playing.

The personnel of the rink is as follows: Merritt, lead; Ed Gustafson, second; Dr. W. E. Boerner, third. The rink will be one of the strong contenders for the various trophies this year.

The first game in the Union match trophy event will be played Monday evening. A number of practice games will probably be played tomorrow and Saturday evenings. As yet interest centers in the big bonspiel uptown, several of the rinks intending to enter in the International trophy event and others being eligible to take part in the consolation.

RECEPTION AT MERRITT CHURCH.

A reception will be given by the Ladies' Aid Society and the trustees of the Merritt Memorial M. E. church tomorrow evening. It will begin with a short musical program and will end with games, a spelling match and refreshments.

The committees in charge are as follows: Rev. W. Grant Fritz, chairman reception committee; Mrs. Lucien Merritt, chairman refreshment committee; Mrs. Harry Merritt, decoration committee; and O. M. Holmes, Harry Merritt and L. C. Merritt, program committee.

The following program was announced last night: Piano solo, Mrs. Edith Merritt; reading, Mrs. Pearl Ayotte; vocal solo, Miss Hattie Pennington; address, Rev. W. G. Fritz; vocal duet, Fred Knight and John Hall; violin solo, Miss Bertha Schaller.

Married in Waukegan.

A dispatch received by The Herald today from Waukegan, Ill., announces that Fred Schumann of Duluth and Miss Tillie Conrad of Milwaukee, Wis., were married in Waukegan today. The name of Fred Schumann appears in the city directory, giving his occupation as that of teamster, and his boarding place as 112 South Fifty-ninth avenue west.

Dies Suddenly.

Ernest Conley, 22 years old, died yesterday afternoon at the Grand hotel following an short illness. An autopsy performed last night by Drs. David Graham and Jensen showed that death had been caused by a hemorrhage of the brain.

The young man had been living at the hotel about two months and was employed as structural iron worker. He came here from Green Bay, Wis., where he is survived by his father, John. He also leaves a brother William, living in West Duluth.

The arrangements for the funeral will be made this afternoon when it is expected that his father will arrive. It is probable that the body will be taken to his former home for interment.

Ladies' Night.

The West Duluth Commercial club will entertain at its first "Ladies Night" social in the clubrooms tomorrow evening. A program of music, readings, and refreshments is being planned. The committee in charge consists of Louis Oreck, H. W. Lanners, P. H. Martin, Dr. E. W. Boerner and Charles G. Futter.

Infant Son Dies.

Karl, the 9-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Oettel, 719 North Fifty-eighth avenue west, died at 4:30 o'clock this morning after a short illness. The funeral will be held from the family residence at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Interment will be made in Oneota cemetery.

G. I. A. to Meet.

It is announced that the G. I. A. will hold its regular meeting tomorrow evening at Woodman hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street. A full attendance is asked.

Baluth Funeral.

The funeral for Alois, the 1½-year-old son of Tony Baluth of New Duluth, who died Tuesday evening, was held this morning at 10 o'clock from the St. James Catholic church. Burial was made in Calvary cemetery.

West Duluth Briefs.

Joint installation ceremonies will be held by the Hibernian lodges of West Duluth this evening at Gilley's hall. A program will follow the ceremony.

Miss Pauline Solem of Bay View Heights returned yesterday from Evansville, Minn., where she has been visiting relatives for three weeks.

Mrs. H. C. Brown, 603 South Seventy-first avenue west, will entertain the Ladies' Aid Society of the West Duluth Baptist church at her home next Wednesday afternoon.

Watch repairing. Hurst, W. Duluth. Adv.

The social center meeting at the Irving school for the boys will be held this evening instead of tomorrow evening for this week only according to an announcement made by Miss Margaret Calkin, social center director. Girls will be allowed to attend but will be admitted only to the games and reading rooms.

Don't fail to attend the great going out of business sale at the Bell store, 308 Central avenue.

IS AFTER MARTHA WASHINGTON'S WILL.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 15.—Senator R. E. Thornton of Fairfax county, when the Virginia legislature was opened, offered a bill providing for legal steps to be taken by the state to recover from J. P. THE BUSY BEE

Advertising is the bee that puts the "buzz" in business.

Herald advertising is the best and most productive form of advertising—because it reaches the people at the time they are ready to act on the impulse.

A Herald advertisement suggests something near at hand—not far away.

It carries with it an unwritten "Do It Now" message.

And the advertisement that brings the "I WILL" into the mind of the advertiser—is the advertisement that pays.

Duluth merchants have long counted The Herald as their best help to success and manufacturers are now seeing the light as never before.

DULUTH BANKS SHOW BIG GAIN IN DEPOSITS; LOANS ALSO LARGER

Prosperous Condition of Banks Shown By Their Statements.

Active Demand for Money in All Industrial Lines.

Duluth Depositors Have Nearly $25,000,000 to Their Credit.

Duluth's national and state banks made gratifying showings in their statements of conditions as existing on Jan. 13, made today at the call of the comptroller of the treasury.

As compared with the nearest corresponding call of last year, Feb. 4, progress was shown all along the line. Deposits of the four national banks aggregated $23,802,240.09, an increase of nearly $500,000, while the five state banks held $1,080,198.07 on deposit, a betterment of $248,880.25. Duluth banks thus showed a total increase of $819,684.96 over last year's record in a grand aggregate of deposits of $24,882,438.16.

That there was an active demand for money in commercial and industrial directions is shown by aggregate discounts of $21,188,262.34 reported by the national banks, an increase of $2,366,353.15 over last year. That the institutions were fairly well loaned up is shown in a decrease of $1,615,825.49 in cash reserves held by the national banks at this call.

Combined resources of the four national banks aggregated $30,634,846.36, an increase of $967,526.90 over the figures of a year ago.

The salient features of the bank statements are appended in detail:

WILSON READS TRUST MESSAGE TO CABINET

Stanley Also Hears It and Says He Approves It.

Washington, Jan. 16. — President Wilson discussed with the cabinet today the completed draft of the message he will deliver next week to congress on the trust question. The president also spent an hour with Representative Stanley, chairman of the committee which investigated the United States Steel corporation.

Mr. Stanley said afterward that he concurred in every line of the message, and added that what particularly pleased him was that the president outlined the general principles to be dealt with, leaving the details and specific measures to be worked out by congress.

While altering the Sherman law in no way, specific additions in one sense or another are contemplated to eliminate any uncertainty of interpretations.

Those who know what the president had in mind with reference to an interstate trade commission said today that one of its chief merits would be in its powers of publicity.

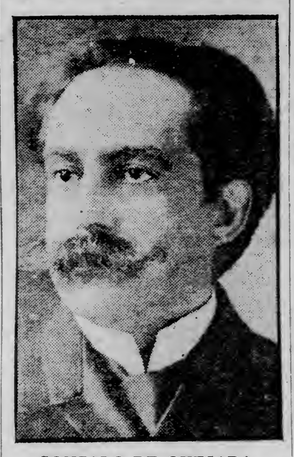

WIRELESS TELLS OF RESCUE AT SEA

Lusitania Reports Taking Eight Men Off the Mayflower.

New York, Jan. 16.—The commander of the Cunard liner Lusitania, which sailed from here on Wednesday for Liverpool, sent a wireless message to the line today saying that at 6:30 o'clock this morning, in latitude 43.12, longitude 50.30, the Lusitania had rescued the crew of eight men from the Nova Scotian schooner Mayflower. The schooner was abandoned and set on fire.

Marine records show that the British schooner Mayflower left Perth Amboy, N. J., on Dec. 30, for St. John, N. B., and touched at Booth Bay, Me., on Jan. 10. She could not possibly have been in the position indicated by the Lusitania today. No other Mayflower of the schooner type is recorded.

MAY BE RETURNED TO WASHINGTON BY CUBA

GONZALO DE QUESADA.

Washington, Jan. 16.—It is reported that Gonzalo de Quesada, who was the first minister of the Cuban republic to Washington, is to be appointed once more to that position. He was one of the ardent workers for the freedom of Cuba during the revolt against Spain. He was also secretary of the junta of which Tomas Palma was the head. He was popular in Washington during the period of his mission here and will be welcomed by the state department and the diplomatic corps most cordially if he should be reappointed.

REGENTS MAY BE RETAINED

Efficiency Commission Not Likely to Suggest Regents' Abolition.

Difficult Problem Presented in Case of Highway Commission.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the problems before the efficiency commission is to sort up the numerous boards on which the duties of the various departments have been devolved. The first impulse is to wipe them all off the slate. Ask the members to show cause why they should not be abolished and every last one of them will put up a beautiful argument to show that, whatever may be said of the rest, their sphere is different. If that particular board was disturbed the foundations of the state would crumble.

It seems to be universal opinion that the university regents are different. They serve as a board of directors, pass on broad questions and do not bother with details. It is altogether probable the regents will be retained in any scheme that the legislature may finally adopt. A good deal is to be said for a board of three members in a place like the railroad and warehouse commission. They decide questions of fecting property interests on a great

FAILED TO FORETELL ERUPTION; IS SUICIDE

Japanese Scientist at Kagoshima Commits Hari-Kari.

Tokio, Jan. 16.—The suicide today by hari-kari of the chief of the meteorological observatory at Kagoshima is announced in the newspapers here. The dispatches declare that the scientist committed suicide because he had been severely criticized for failing to warn the citizens of Kagoshima of their danger from the eruption of the volcano Sakura-Jima. He assured them, it is said, that the center of the subterranean disturbance was elsewhere.

Danger Is Over.

Kagoshima, Jan. 16.—The volcano of Sakuro-Jima still was smoking today. Dr. Fusakichi Omori, professor of seismology at the Tokio imperial university, arrived at Kagoshima this morning to begin an elaborate official investigation.

The people of Kagoshima, many of whom have returned to the ruined city only to find their homes destroyed, waited with wonderful faith for Prof. Omori to give his decision as to the possibility of further catastrophes. He declared this afternoon that there was no further danger.

Wilson Issues Appeal.

Washington, Jan. 16—President Wilson late yesterday issued an appeal to the American people, as president of the American Red Cross, for funds to assist the people of Japan, who are suffering not only from the earthquake but from the failure of crops.

Steamer Dania Is Safe.

Havana, Jan. 16.—The Hamburg-American liner Dania, from Hamburg, about which there has been some anxiety, will arrive here at 3 o'clock this afternoon, according to a wireless dispatch received by one of her consignees.

TELL VIEWS AS TO BANKS

Philadelphia and Pittsburg Men Talk to Reserve Committee.

Nearly 2,300 Institutions in Line for New System.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Philadelphia and Pittsburg bankers appeared before the Federal bank organization committee here today to urge the claims of their cities for regional reserve banks. L. L. Rue, chairman of the Philadelphia clearing house, was selected to speak first for Philadelphia, and Pittsburg bankers waited to be heard next.

Mr. Rue urged the selection of Philadelphia for a district to consist of Southern New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Eastern Maryland. He suggested that all Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina and West Virginia might be added. In addition to Philadelphia, he urged the selection of nine other reserve bank cities—Boston, New York, Chicago, Atlanta, New Orleans, Minneapolis, St. Louis, Denver and San Francisco.

Oppose Washington Bank.

Mr. Rue declared state banks in his region would not join the system if headquarters were in Washington, because the trend of business was not toward Washington. For the same reason he objected to Pittsburg and Baltimore.

Mayor Baker of Cleveland was with the delegation from that city.

Nearly 2,300 banks have made legal application for membership in the new Federal reserve system, and officials estimated that today's applications will swell the number to more than 3,000. Yesterday 640 banks applied.

TAFT KICKS ON TAX ON HIS AUTOMOBILE

Says He Bought It Second Hand and It Is Overvalued.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 16.—Prof. William Howard Taft of Yale is dissatisfied with the tax levied upon his automobile by the city. Recently he received a tax bill showing that the assessors had rated his machine as worth $4,500. To this 10 per cent had been added upon his failure to appear within the required time and swear to his tax list. This brought the total on which the 19 mill tax is computed up to $4,950.

In a letter to the assessors, Mr. Taft today informed them that he purchased the car second hand, paying only $2,000 for it, and fails to understand how they can rate it at $4,500.

Although Prof. Taft owns real estate in New Haven, he did not have title to it when the assessors were making up the list last spring and is not taxable this year.

ROTHSCHILD BUYS FARM FOR BEILISS.

Kiev, Russia, Jan. 16.—Mendel Beiliss, recently acquitted of the killing of the Christian boy, Andrew Yushinsky, left here yesterday, accompanied by his family, for Jaffa, in Palestine. Baron de Rothschild, who manifested great interest in the trial, has bought a small farm in Palestine for Beiliss.

KILLS WOMAN AND HIMSELF

Husband of Former Minneapolis Girl Ends "Eternal Triangle" Case.

Bodies of Cunningham and Mrs. Kerr Found in Auto.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 16.—Seated in the front compartment of an automobile, and clasped in each other's arms, the bodies of Mrs. Viola Kerr and Arthur E. Cunningham, doing a real estate business under the firm name of Kerr & Cunningham, in Long Beach, were found on a lonely road at the outskirts of Long Beach Thursday morning.

It appeared that after a desperate struggle, Cunningham shot Mrs. Kerr twice while holding her tight against his breast, and had then turned his revolver upon himself. For more than two hours the machine of death stood at the roadside and many people passed before the crime was discovered.

At the Cunningham home in Linden avenue, sat Mrs. Cunningham with her four little children, the youngest a babe of nine months, waiting for her husband. Mrs. Cunningham is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kelsey of Minneapolis.

"He Killed My Love."

"He killed my love when he deliberately chose this other woman in preference to his babies and myself," she said.

"Why should I grieve myself to death over the inevitable? For six months I had eaten my heart out with grief; had pleaded and begged almost on my knees for him to give her up and he would not. I am almost tempted to say he deserved his fate. God must have thought him too wicked to live. As for the woman, I have nothing to say. She deliberately came between my husband, the father of my

SAYS "VICE REIGNS SUPREME" IN SUPERIOR

Teasdale of State Commission Calls Conditions There "Terrible."

Sheboygan, Wis., Jan. 16.—"We have been going at a strenuous pace for two solid weeks, and we shall take a little rest after this week," said Senator Teasdale, chairman of the Wisconsin vice commission, which body reached Sheboygan from Rhinelander today and prepared to hold sessions for two days.

Asked as to the findings of the commission at Rhinelander, Ashland and Superior this week, Mr. Teasdale said:

"Rhinelander is not bad. It is only a small city and appears to be well governed. Ashland also is a much cleaner and better city than we had expected to find.

"But the conditions in Superior are terrible. The town is wide open and vice reigns supreme, due, I think, to the officials' not making any effort to enforce the laws; but they are due for a cleanup there, and steps are now being taken for a recall of the officials."

The sessions of the commission here are being held in the courthouse. The first thing the commission did was to send officers out with long lists of names of girls employed in shops and stores, who are to be examined.

City and county officials, ministers and members of the women's clubs will be heard tomorrow.

SUB-MARINE STAYS DOWN

Seventeen British Navy Men Imprisoned Under the Water.

Craft Fails to Rise After Maneuvers Off Plymouth.

Plymouth, Eng., Jan. 16.—The British submarine "A-7" foundered off here today and the authorities say there is little hope of her crew being saved, though at 6 o'clock this afternoon all the crew still were alive. The parent ship Onyx succeeded in getting into communication with them at that hour.

The salvage vessels made speedy efforts to grapple the submarine, whose whereabouts was indicated by bubbles rising to the surface.

It is understood that several additional men were undergoing instruction and it is believed that the total of those on board reached seventeen.

The submarine was engaged in exercises in the sound with a number of her sister vessels. She failed to come to the surface with the other boats when the maneuvers were brought to an end.

The "A-7" was one of a class of nine boats numbered "A-5" to "A-13." She was built in 1904 and measured 150 feet in length. Her submerged displacement was 204 tons. Her engines developed an indicated horsepower of 600, giving her a surface speed of sixteen knots and a submerged speed of nine knots.

PUT GOETHALS AT CANAL ZONE HEAD

Secretary Garrison Outlines Plan for the Government There.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Secretary Garrison today submitted to President Wilson his plan for the permanent government of the Panama canal zone. While the secretary would not disclose its features, it is understood it contemplates making Col. George W. Goethals the first governor of the zone, with plenary powers, and would create from the retiring members of the canal commission a new commission, to take charge of the ceremonies preparing for the opening of the canal in January, 1915.

The impression in official circles is that President Wilson is in accord with Secretary Garrison, and that Col. Goethals alone is to be charged with the administration of the canal, which, as chief engineer, he has constructed.

An executive order abolishing the isthmian canal commission is understood to be in preparation by the president in accordance with the provisions of the administration act.

Unless Col. William C. Gorgas is made surgeon general of the army or chosen for some other important work, he will be continued with the other members of the new commission, whose salaries are to remain the same, but who will serve only until the canal is opened.

BARON IS KILLED BOARDING TRAIN.

Berlin, Jan. 16.—Baron Hermann von Soden was killed last night while attempting to board a moving train in the underground railway. The baron was born in Cincinnati in 1862. He was professor of theology in Berlin university and pastor of the Jerusalem church here.

MICHIGAN INDICTMENTS ACCUSE STRIKERS OF CARRYING WEAPONS

Four Are Arrested as Result of Grand Jury Action.

Union Men Say True Bills Are Result of Prejudice.

Ferris Denies Statements on Strike Sent to Washington.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The mystery of the secret indictments returned yesterday by the special grand jury which has been investigating disorders growing out of the copper miners' strike, was cleared up today with the arrest of four strikers charged with carrying concealed weapons.

In Calumet, the heart of the strike district, there was a shooting affray last night in which Lawrence Caine suffered a shattered arm. Caine has been one of the most active deputies paid by the county and has appeared as complaining witness in a number of minor cases arising in the Kearsarge location. Last night as he turned into a side street in Calumet he was shot from ambush. The sheriff's office said they had no clew to the identity of the person who wounded Caine.

Although the jury continued its deliberations this morning, only one other true bill had been found, and those who had expected a return on the deportation of Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, admitted today that there was nothing on which to base a prediction as to probable action.

Only one secret indictment remained

SPILL FLOUR AND DISCOVER $12,300

Detectives Upset Crock and Find Stolen Express Money.

Connelsville, Pa., Jan. 16.—More than $12,000 of the $13,000 stolen by Ralph Wiant, a clerk of the United States Express company here, last Monday night, has been found in a crock partly filled with flour in the home of Fred B. Wiant, a brother. Detectives had learned from Miss Margaret Dunnington of Morgantown, W. Va., that Ralph Wiant, who visted her Monday, informed her he had left most of the stolen money with a friend in Connelsville.

Fred Wiant's home was searched from top to bottom. Three tons of coal were examined. A crock containing flour was overturned and $12,300 of the stolen money fell onto the flour. Wiant then admitted that his brother had called on him Tuesday morning and requested him to hide the money.

Wiant is believed to have gone to a Western city.

LIND RETIRED AS UNIVERSITY HEAD

Governor Eberhart Declines to Reappoint Him as Regent.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Eberhart last night announced the appointment of George H. Partridge, a prominent business man of Minneapolis, to the board of regents of the University of Minnesota, to succeed John Lind, whose term expires March 4. The governor also appointed John G. Williams of Duluth to succeed himself as regent.

The appointment of a successor to John Lind was anticipated, in view of statements emanating from the governor's office that Mr. Lind's duties as President Wilson's envoy to Mexico would prevent him continuing on the board of regents. Stories were also circulated that he intended to remain in the diplomatic service and was preparing to give up his law practice in Minneapolis. The facts are that Mr. Lind expects to return to Minnesota as soon as the Mexican trouble is settled; that he has no intention of staying in the diplomatic service or giving up his law practice, and that he was prepared to remain on the university board if reappointed. It is known that Governor Eberhart has not been desirous of reappointing Mr. Lind to the board and has taken his temporary absence in Mexico as an excuse for putting another in his place.

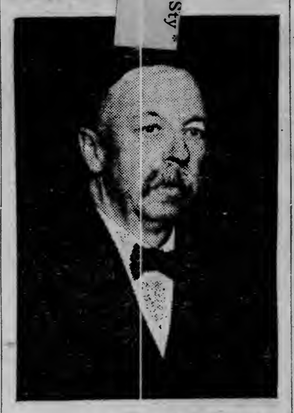

Mr. Lind is president of the board of regents, and there is talk that the board will elect Dr. W. J. Mayo of Rochester president, when Mr. Lind's time expires, in March.

SEVERAL WEEKS OF DELAY FOR THAW.

Concord, N. H., Jan. 16.—The matter of admitting Harry K. Thaw to bail will not be decided for several weeks. In a rescript filed with the clerk of the Federal court today, United States Judge Aldrich said that there would be no hearing on the matter of bail until the final hearing on the questions involved in the extradition and habeas corpus proceedings.

An extension of twenty days in which to file their brief in the main case was granted Thaw's counsel by Judge Aldrich. This brief was due last week, but counsel were unable to comply with the court's order and asked for more time. As Attorney General Carmody has already filed the brief for New York state it is believed that the hearing on the main case and also on the matter of bail will be held in February.

PREDICTS P... OF ALASK... TUESDAY

GEORGE E. CHAMBERLAIN, Senator From Oregon.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The Alaska railway bill may come to a vote in the senate next Tuesday. Senator Chamberlain, in charge of the measure, said today he would ask unanimous consent for a vote, and believed it will pass, providing only for a government-owned and operated railroad. The proposal to establish a government steamship line to Alaska from Pacific coast ports will be left for separate consideration.

ALL SAFE IN DAM FLOOD

West Virginia People Are Warned in Time and Escape.

Damage to Property May Not Exceed $200,000.

Cumberland, Md., Jan. 16.—Reassured that the worst of the flood which swept down the Stony Creek and Upper Potomac valleys yesterday as a result of the breaking of the great dam of the West Virginia Pulp & Paper company at Dobbin, W. Va., is over, the hundreds of refugees who fled to the hills upon the first warning began to return to their homes early today. The valley is getting itself together and counting the damage from the flood.

Although thousands of persons were imperilled, no lives were lost so far as has been ascertained. There were, however, reports of many thrilling rescues. It is believed that the prompt action of the pulp and paper company's employes in sending out warning of impending danger throughout the valley enabled all in the danger zone to escape.

Return to Their Homes.

No damage was done by the rising waters at Piedmont, W. Va., the largest place in the line of the flood, and the people there who had fled to higher ground returned to their homes. It is expected that traffic will

HOPES FOR QUICK WORK

President Would Like to See Congress Adjourn in June.

Wants Trust and Rural Credit Questions Disposed of First.

Washington, Jan. 16.—President Wilson has outlined the status of a number of the problems before him. He announced that he probably would utilize the full 60-day period allotted by law before making final selections for the Federal reserve board, and would proceed slowly and carefully. He intends to canvass the field thoroughly, giving attention to geographical considerations, but not through any hard and fast division.

The president will not insist that anti-trust legislation be given precedence in congress over rural credits, or vice versa; but is disposed to leave them to parliamentary procedure, hoping that both will be accomplished at the present session.

While he also hopes that the presidential primary idea outlined in his annual message may be enacted into a law before congress adjourns, he would not object to it going over until the December session, believing the opinion of the country should be gathered on it, and bills drawn that are universally satisfactory. He expects soon to confer about it with Chairman Kern of the committee on privileges and elections.

Hopes for June Adjournment.

Mr. Wilson would like to see congress adjourn by June with the trust question and rural credits disposed of, but is not sure that congress can complete its work by then.

No time as yet has been set for the reading of the address to congress by the president on the trust question, but it is likely to be next Tuesday. The president will confer with Representative Stanley, head of the Steel investigating committee, today, and hopes to consult others prominent in trust reform before giving his message to the printer.

The president considers the Mexican situation unchanged, and according to White House officials, has received no communication from any of the foreign governments concerning Mexico's default on the payment of interest on outstanding bonds.

Last night the president attended a dinner given in his honor by Secretary Bryan, the second of the series given by the vice president and members of the cabinet to the chief executive.

TAKEN ON BENCH WARRANT.

Border Settler Indicted for Selling Liquor to Indian.

L. M. Nelson, settler on Lake Kabotogama near the international border, who was secretly indicted by the January grand jury on its first report to the court, was arraigned before District Judge Cant yesterday afternoon on a bench warrant charging him with the sale of liquor to Jennie McKelvin, an Indian woman, Nov. 2. Nelson pleaded not guilty and his case was transferred to Virginia for trial.

VALUE OF TOWNSHIP MUTUAL COMPANIES

Shows Saving Which Can Be Effected By Co-operation.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Addressing the annual convention of the Association of Township Mutual Fire Insurance Companies, J. A. O. Preus, state insurance commissioner, said in part:

"The average cost of insurance in the township mutual companies doing business in Minnesota in 1912 was about 19 cents per $100 of insurance in force. The average premium rate per $100 of insurance in force on business written by stock fire insurance companies in Minnesota during the last thirty-five years was 60 to 70 cents. The average premium rate per $100 of insurance in force on business written by township mutual companies in Minnesota during the last thirty-five years was 15 cents. The total amount collected by township mutual companies from their policyholders in assessments and otherwise in the last thirty-five years ending Dec. 31, 1912, is the sum of $6,409,463. Figures for Dec. 31, 1913, are not yet available. If the township mutuals had collected premiums during this period of 60 cents per $100 instead of 15 cents per $100, they would have collected a total sum from their members of $25,637,852 instead of $6,409,463, the sum actually collected. It will thus be seen that the township mutual companies have saved their members during the past thirty-five years approximately $19,228,389. Of course, township mutual companies are not required to pay taxes or license their agents, as is the case with stock fire insurance companies.

Insurance in Force.

"There are at this time 154 township mutual companies licensed by the department of insurance. The combined assets of these companies as of Dec. 31, 1912, the latest figures available, were $401,000; number of policies in force at the end of the year 147,000, and the amount of insurance in force $317,126,656. There is today approximately $1,400,000,000 of fire insurance in force in the state of Minnesota. Making due allowance for the increase in insurance written by township mutual companies, it may safely be said that there is now $333,000,000 of insurance carried by such companies. This is approximately 24 per cent of the total amount of insurance in force in the state.

"In this day of numerous complaints against the high cost of living, the township mutual companies furnish one of the best examples of the saving which can be effected by co-operative enterprise when properly managed. The growth of the township mutual fire insurance companies has been significent. These companies first reported to the department of insurance in the year 1878. In that year they carried a total amount of insurance of only $823,000."

MISSING "J. C. R." REPORTED FOUND.

Rochester, Minn., Jan. 16.—The mysterious "J. C. R.," an inmate of the Rochester state hospital for several years, his identity still remaining unknown, and who escaped from that institution last November, is believed by the authorities to have been located at an infirmary at Lake Forest, Ill.

The information to this effect, received yesterday, came in a communication from officials of the Cook county hospital that several weeks ago a man who had evidently lost his identity was brought to that institution. The only name he could give was "J. R. R.," and that he was a lieutenant in the United States navy. The facts were sent to the navy department, according to the letter received here. In reply the cook county officials were informed that the man was undoubtedly the missing "J. C. R.," wanted here.

Believe He is Man.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—"J. C. R.," whose case has been a mystery to students of disorders of the brain, and who escaped Oct. 31 from a hospital at Rochester, Minn., is believed to be a man known only as "J. R. R.," who was found wandering on the streets here Nov. 10. He is now in the county infirmary at Oak Forest, where every effort has been made to learn something about him.

"J. R. R." answers in detail to the description of "J. C. R.," and James Mullenbach, superintendent of the infirmary, received a letter from the navy department that he is undoubtedly the same person who was undergoing treatment at Rochester for the restoration of his memory.

NEW FORM FOR BIG PRUSSIAN LOAN.

Berlin, Jan. 16.—The loan of $100,000,000 to be floated by Prussia on Jan. 29 is to take a new form—4 per cent treasury warrants. In view of the lack of success of government issues made during 1913, it is to be offered on better terms, being issued at 97 and redeemable at par from one to sixteen years. The loan issued in June last year was at 97.90 and that in March at 99, and these were largely unsubscribed.

The German empire has decided to refrain from borrowing at the present, in view of the unfavorable money conditions.

OFFICE MEN ORGANIZED

New Association Launched With 125 Charter Members.

President Vincent, B. P. Neff, Mayor Prince and Others Speak.

The Duluth Association of Office Men, the junior commercial club of the city, was formally launched last night with a signed membership of 125 business men. President George E. Vincent of the University of Minnesota, Mayor W. I. Prince and other speakers were on the program, and a large number of guests rounded out an attendance of fully 200.

President Vincent congratulated the new organization, after receiving a round of applause as he took his place at the head of the banquet table. Dr. Vincent gave two other addresses during the evening but by hurrying was able to arrive at the Commercial club in time to make the principal speech of the evening.

The gathering was a notable one both in the personnel of those present and because of the forces they represented. The St. Paul and Minneapolis associations sent representatives and speakers, and offered co-operation and assistance to the new club. Professor Price, head of the extension division of the University of Minnesota, was present and gave an excellent address on "Life Efficiency." Mayor Prince acted as toastmaster.

President Vincent said the red-blooded man gets the most pleasure of his life out of his work—if it is work, not drudgery.

Making Work Worth While.

"You office men are preparing to make your work more worth while," said Mr. Vincent. "The first requisite of making a man love his work is to make it require intelligence and responsibility. A man wants to be a thinking, powerful workman.

"He wants recognition. He wants to know that he is doing something that is necessary to the well being of humanity. He also wants technique, to be an accurate, skillful workman, and will take pride in his skill, if he is an alert, keen, ambitious man.

"Here among you are men who, some day, will be introduced at gatherings of big men as 'one who has arisen through his persistence and intelligence, his honesty and use of intelligent business methods.' Though you are incognito, I congratulate you. I do not know who you are, but you're here. And you will have to thank, partially, at least for your success, this organization which you are forming tonight."

Civic Duties.

Bentley P. Neff urged the young men of the city to join the citizens' staff, which assists the G. A. R. every year on Memorial day. In an address on "The Civic Duties of the Young Man," Mr. Neff pointed out the various fields of usefulness for the club's future activities. Mr. Neff's address in part follows:

"There never was a period in the history of the world when competition was as keen as it is today. Therefore, it behooves each of us to be constantly on the alert, scraping off the barnacles that impede our progress in order that we may be better prepared to endure in this great march of progress.

"The progress of the world comes from co-operation and the distinguished men who rise to the top and stand forth as conspicuous examples of learning, statesmanship and unusual ability but serve to prove the truth of our statement.

"There is no business, gentlemen, which does not demand system. The meanest trade exacts it and will go to ruin without it but in a complicated business it is indispensable. It is this that binds all its parts together and gives unity to all its details.

"Commissioners of insolvency say that the books of nine bankrupts out of ten are found to be in a muddle, kept without plan or method. Let every man, therefore, see to it that his work is systematized, arranged according to a carefully studied method which takes up everything at the right time and applies to it adequate resources.

Flexible Methods.

"Method without flexibility, which ceases to be a means and becomes an end, proves a hindrance rather than a help and he who forgetting its inner meaning becomes its slave, shows a narrowness of mind which is unfitted for great and comprehensive enterprises, but an unintelligent method, catching up whatever is nearest to hand or trying to do half a dozen things at once, will sooner or later bring one to grief.

"The purpose of your organization should be to bring into special acquaintance all persons engaged in commercial pursuits in Duluth.

"But let me right here sound a note of warning. Don't lose sight of the fact that we have here in our city one of the best organized and best conducted commercial clubs in America. In other words, in working out your problems, don't duplicate effort, but work hand in hand with the Commercial club.

Civic Duties.

"Now, let me call your attention to a few of the civic duties in which your organization can be of great assistance.

"The encouragement of farming in the territory tributary to this city. This city can never be what we are all anxious to have it become unless we develop in agriculture.

"Goods roads is a question of the most vital importance. In fact, it is going to be one of the most important subjects that will engage our attention for the next ten years. There are thousands of acres of splendid farming land in our own county undeveloped because of the lack of roads.

"Watch the legislation adversely affecting Duluth's interests.

"'The home garden idea.' Encourage this as it is a great solution of the high cost of living and furnishes splendid exercise to a lot of our citizens.

"City government and city planning should be topics of careful study. Publicity work, street paving, insurance, taxation, charities, street lighting, parks and playgrounds, schools, university extension work, these are all topics that you may profitably discuss and problems you undoubtedly will be able to assist materially in solving."

Greetings From Twins.

D. L. Stine, president of the Minneapolis club, brought greetings from that club and told of the monthly dinners which that organization holds. He urged the Duluth club to make plans for similar events.

J. G. Melaven, former president of the Minneapolis association, and C. D. Risser, president of the St. Paul association, told of various phases of the work being done by the clubs in the Twin Cities.

President Pro Tem Pattinson outlined briefly the purpose of the association and introduced Mayor Prince as toastmaster. He was also elected president of the club for the coming year. Other officers were elected as follows: R. E. Bartholdi, vice president; George McCarthy, secretary; B. W. Robinson, treasurer. The board of directors follow: W. P. Majo, J. M. McDonald, Freeman K. Randall and C. W. Fitzgerald.

President Pattinson announced that the next meeting would be called in a few days. A constitution is being drawn up by the temporary executive committee and will probably be adopted at the coming meeting.

KEEP "HEALTH DAY" IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Concord, N. H., Jan. 16.—Meetings to consider public health problems were held in various parts of the state today in accordance with a recent proclamation of Governor Felker, naming this as "health day."

The governor expressed the belief that the setting aside of a day for this purpose would serve "to focus thought and stimulate activity along the lines of the prevention and restriction of disease, and to concentrate action that will result in greater efficiency of purpose."

BLAMES LAWYERS FOR UNION TROUBLES

Official of Garment Workers Talks to Federal Commission.

New York, Jan. 16.—The commission on industrial relations appointed by President Wilson, with the authority of congress, held its first session here yesterday and considered the agreement governing relations between the garment workers and garment manufacturers of New York. Its aim was to learn whether this arrangement could be extended to other controversies. J. H. Lennon of Bloomington, Ill., presided as chairman of the commission, and J. Borden Harriman of New York was one of the other members present.

Abraham Rosenberg and John A. Dyche, president and secretary, respectively, of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union, differed regarding the effect of the agreement. Rosenberg said that it was responsible for better working conditions, but Dyche thought that the improvement was due to the strike of 1910.

"Lawyers," said Dyche, "have been responsible for most of the troubles of the labor unions."

Both witnesses said that the terms of the agreement could be improved.

Officials of various unions in the garment working trades who appeared as witnesses pointed to what they considered objectionable features in the protocol, and generally urged its amendment. Nearly all were of the opinion that with modifications it could be made a good instrument.

Charles Winslow, statistical expert of the department of labor, submitted data showing that over 7,000 disputes had been settled under the agreement since its adoption. The machinery of adjustment was quick and accurate in its action, he said.

Extract From Duluth Herald Tuesday, Jan. 13th:

STOCK AT NOTION STORE FLOODED

Imperfect Water Pipes Cause Damage in Wholesale House.

Leaks in a water pipe above their warehouse caused a flood of water through the ceiling sometime during the night and damaged the stock of Tupper & Spiegel, 327 West Michigan street, to the extent of about $1,200.

When Dave Teplisky, city salesman for Tupper & Spiegel, wholesale dealers in notions, arrived at the store about 8 o'clock this morning he discovered the center of the building flooded with water, while there was a stream coming down from the ceiling on the shelves and tables. A few minutes later both Mr. Tupper and Mr. Spiegel arrived and they immediately notified the salvage corps of the fire department.

Members of the department covered up the stock and after a few minutes succeeded in repairing the water pipe.

Mr. Spiegel said this noon that the water damaged a considerable quantity of the stock. He estimates the loss to be about $1,200.

LUMBER COMPANIES ARE DEFENDANTS

Homesteader Asks $32,850 for Timber Taken From His Land.

A jury is being drawn in the United States district court today which will sit in the case of Granville A. Burns against the Cloquet Lumber company and the Northern Lumber company.

The action is to recover $32,850 in principal and $10,000 interest, alleged to be the value of pine and spruce logs which Burns says were cut and removed from his homestead in St. Louis county between October, 1900, and May, 1901.

Attorneys Van Derlip & Lum and R. R. Briggs are appearing for Burns and William B. Phelps for the defendants.

WOULD ABOLISH YALE'S "TAP DAY."

New Haven, Jan. 16.—That the agitation against Yale senior secret societies has not died out was evidenced last night when 200 members of the sophomore class gathered to discuss the question. The abolition of historic "tap day" was advocated by some speakers, and there was a demand that future society members be selected on merit rather than social standing. No definite action was taken and the meeting adjourned to a later date.

VILLA SURE OF VICTORY

Says He Will Strike Mortal Blow at Huerta Government.

Picturesque Army of Ragged Refugees Leaves Presidio.

Chihuahua, Mex., Jan. 16.—Definite announcement was made by Gen. Francisco Villa today that he will enter the central and southern states of Mexico with a rebel army of 15,000 soldiers. He will attempt to joint forces with Gen. Carranza at Guadelajara, where an army of 25,000 or more will begin a march toward Mexico City.

"We will strike a blow which the Huerta government will be unable to withstand," said Gen. Villa after he had been in communication by telegraph with Gen. Carranza, who is in Sinaloa state.

He said he had been informed that Gen. Carranza could muster 10,000 men and that his own army was being increased daily.

Refugees Leave Presidio.

Presidio, Tex., Jan. 16.—All the 3,300 Mexican Federal soldiers and the 1,000 women refugees who sought safety in the United States after the capture of Ojinaga had left Presidio today for the march to Marfa, from which point they are to be transported by railroad to Fort Bliss, near El Paso.

Never had there been seen on the border so picturesque a migration as when the tattered Mexican army was set in motion on the four days' march to Marfa. Small detachments had been drifting along the road for several days, but it was not until daylight today that the main body started.

Line Sixty-seven Miles Long.

The ragged army was scattered for sixty-seven miles along the mountain road to Marfa, closely guarded by United States cavalrymen. Gen. Salvador Mercado, until recently Huerta's military chief in Northern Mexico, rode in an automobile with Gen. Francisco Castro. Other Federal generals rode on horses.

The common soldiers and the women refugees, many of them carrying children in their arms, made the march afoot.

Powers' Action Denied.

Berlin, Jan. 16.—An authoritative denial was given at the foreign office this afternoon of a report published by the Lokal Anzeiger that an interchange of views on the Mexican suspension of interest payments was taking place between the powers.

The Lokal Anzeiger said that the German government had taken the initiative in an interchange of views between Germany, France, England and the United States on the question of making a strong representation to Mexico against the recently decreed suspension of the payment of interest on the internal and external debts of that country.

Seven Battleships in Gulf.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The battleship Ohio, being fumigated for smallpox off Delaware breakwater, was today ordered to leave Philadelphia Jan. 24 for Mexico, to relieve the Kansas, which will proceed to Guantanamo for winter maneuvers with the Atlantic fleet. The change will leave seven American battleships and half a dozen smaller crafts in the Gulf of Mexico.

The cruiser New Orleans is en route from San Francisco to Ensenada, Lower California, where Americans have been alarmed by threats of forced loans to pay Mexican soldiers. The cruiser Pittsburg, which has been observing conditions at San Blas, on the Pacific coast, started back to Mazatlan today.

CORPORAL PERRY WINS.

Takes Honors in Drill Down of Five Companies, M. N. G.

Corporal Russell Perry of Company E, M. N. G., Duluth, won out in the contest of five companies last night at the Armory as the best drilled enlisted man. Twenty-five men took part in the contest.

The troops represented were Companies A, C and E of Duluth and Company M of Hibbing and Company F of Eveleth. Capt. Van Duzee of the first regiment, St. Paul, acted as judge.

The contest was followed by a dance for the members of the companies and their friends. Lieut. Col. F. E. Resche had charge of the drill-down.

WASHINGTON STATE BANK IS HELD UP.

Everett, Wash., Jan. 16.—Five armed men held up the Granite Falls State bank, sixteen miles northeast of here, late yesterday and escaped with between $1,500 and $2,000 after a running pistol battle with a posse of citizens.

MANY VESSELS HELPED TO PORT.

Vineyard Haven, Mass., Jan. 16.—No steamer in trouble, as reported last night by the revenue cutter Itasca, could be seen between Hedgefence Shoal and Edgartown today. The weather was calm and clear throughout the night and no distress signals were heard by persons on shore.

The revenue cutter Acushnet reached here last night towing three schooners. All were badly crippled and their crews were suffering from exposure.

The revenue cutter Itasca is on her way to port with two disabled schooners. Then other vessels in the shoals have asked for assistance in getting back to port.

ENGINEER'S FATAL FALL IN DEPOT.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 16.—A. B. Reynolds, 38 years old, an engineer on the Omaha road, fell downstairs at the union station here yesterday. His skull was fractured and he died fifteen minutes later at the city hospital.

Reynolds met his wife and child a few minutes before and they were all about to go to their home at Hudson, Wis.

TWO HOMES WRECKED BY GAS EXPLOSIONS.

Ishpeming, Mich., Jan. 16.—Seven persons had a miraculous escape here when the homes of Fred Lessard and Modeste Robare, were destroyed by explosion of gas. The ruins caught fire shortly after the explosions and were destroyed, along with an adjoining building. Seven years ago a similar incident occurred here in which four persons were killed.

Snowball Kills Child.

Hastings, Minn., Jan. 16.—While Mabel Wetterlin, 8 years old, was on her way home from a country school near this city, a snowball thrown by one of her playmates struck her on the temple and she fell insensible. Her death followed a few hours later from the effects of her injury.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—"Quo Vadis" in photoplay.
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—"The Deep Purple."

Amusement Notes.

Probably unparalleled in the world for photographic beauty, human interest, dramatic power and spectacular grandeur is George Kleine's production of the photo-drama, "Quo Vadis?" which is the attraction at the Lyceum today and tomorrow with daily matinees. Although this is a strong statement to make, it would seem to be verified by the remarkable runs this attraction has had in the Astor theater, New York city, the Garrick at Philadelphia, McVicker's in Chicago, Tremont theater in Boston and a host of other cities under the most adverse circumstances and in summer time, too, when every other dramatic form of entertainment has failed to attract the public into theaters.

When Gaby Deslys visits Duluth soon she isn't going to take any chances on the high cost of living, for with her comes her prize Victorian Leghorn hen, which, even if it didn't start a revolution in Portugal, has become as nationally famous as its mistress. Although Gaby is credited with receiving $5,000 a week she believes in living within her income, and Henriette, the fowl, is her chief means of holding down the lid for Gaby is fond of eggs, and fresh ones.

Sailing from London a few weeks ago Gaby created a mild sensation by arriving at the boat with Henriette, snugly tucked under her arm. The incident made a "story" for the world. London doubted, New York smiled, and Francisco appeared puzzled. Within a week Gaby and her hen arrived in America, and then came authentic pictures of the famous fowl that had laid three eggs as the boat was stormbeset. Now Gaby and Henriette are nearing Duluth, and with fair weather the hen is going to do its noble work with greater dispatch, and perhaps, more results.

The members of the Orpheum stage crew and performers on this week's bill spent one whole hour last evening chasing monkeys around the fly galleries of the theater.

Ordinarily the monkeys, owned by Edward Gillette and appearing on this week's bill, are quiet as soon as the curtain goes down, and submit with little protest to being led down stairs to their cages, but last evening something went wrong. One of the big baboons was suffering from a "grouch" and nipped one of the smaller monkeys, just as the curtain dropped. The little fellow raced up the scenery to the big loft above the stage, with the baboon after him. Two other small monkeys got away, and in their excitement also clambered up the ropes to the loft. Mr. Gillette, the owner of the monkeys, started after them, but they would not listen to his blandishments, for the first time in many months. They chattered away safely out of reach. Other performers and the stage crew joined in the chase, and it was a full hour before the last of the monkeys was cornered and captured and led chattering to his cage.

The monkeys are the most carefully cared for animals yet seen at the Duluth theater. Mr. Gillette feeds them himself, four times a day, beginning with a drink of warm milk in the morning, and ending with the big meal after the evening performance. He has never yet lost a monkey by death in the many years he has been training them.

The new bill will open at the Orpheum Sunday afternoon and will be headlined by Maud Lambert, the comic opera prima donna, and Ernest Ball, the popular song composer; Frank Milton and the De Long Sisters, another headline act, will also be seen on the bill.

"The Deep Purple," which began an engagement at the Empress theater yesterday, probably is the best tabloid attraction that has been seen at that theater this season. The play, which has been recognized the country over as one of the greatest of the underworld dramas, is cut to advantage for a three-a-day house, and the players were remarkably well cast.

So large were the audiences yesterday that a few people had to postpone seeing the show on its first appearance. Manager Abrahamson expects a big run on the box office for the remainder of the week.

The plot of the play is woven around the life of the New York underworld, but there is nothing suggestive or vulgar in the lines or actions of the players. The action is full of thrills and clever situations, and the characters are well drawn and realistic.

The cast includes an unusually good list of players. Miss Adelaide Cumming, who played the role of Kate Fallon or "Frisco Kate," a more illuminating title, is probably the best actress seen at the Empress this season. It is hard to see how anyone could have got more out of the part than Miss Cumming did.

Frank Hamilton as Gordon Laylock, a westerner, who goes East to escape punishment after committing a crime and decides to lead a better life, played his part with great realism. He is a big, rough fellow with a big voice and natural manner. Alf. Bruce as Harry Leland, Edward Pollard as "Pop" Clark, and Doc Allison as Connolly, three underworld confidence men, were all well cast. Evelyn Boyce as Doris Moore, a minister's daughter, who was duped into eloping with one of the confidence men, played well as a girl unfamiliar with the ways of the world.

"The Deep Purple" will be the attraction at the Empress for the remainder of the week.

WINNIPEG ROAD AWARDED VERDICT

Federal Jury Denies Claim of J. B. McGilligan for $15,000.

A verdict in favor of the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific railway was returned today in an action brought by Joseph B. McGilligan in the United States district court to recover $15,000 for alleged personal injuries.

McGilligan charged that the train upon which he was traveling Jan. 22, 1913, was wrecked near Virginia, and that he was thrown violently from his seat in the coach and hurled against a seat in front of him. He claimed that he sustained serious injuries to his back and side, which may impair his health for several years.

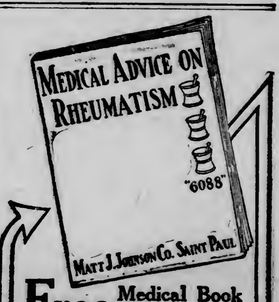

Hector Baxter, attorney for the railway, maintained that McGilligan's complaints of ill health were not well founded, and that he was trying to "put one over" on the road. He said that McGilligan had brought an action against another road some time ago and that his suit was unsuccessful.

Guano Plant Scorched.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 16.—Fire which broke out in the immense fertilizer plant of the F. S. Royster Guano company at Fairfield, Md., just south of here, today caused damage estimated at between $50,000 and $100,000 before the flames were extinguished. The loss is fully covered by insurance and the management of the company said business would not be interrupted.

SETTLE $10,000 ALIENATION SUIT.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 16.—On motion of the plaintiff that settlement had been made out of court, the case of Mrs. H. E. McAndrees versus Laura E. Ruthruff, brought for damages to the extent of $10,000 for alienation of the affections of the husband of the plaintiff, was dismissed in district court. According to the plaintiff, $5,000 was paid her by Mrs. Ruthruff.

CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS AND OUTLINES PLANS FOR BANQUET

GEORGE M. JENSEN,
Re-elected Secretary.

L. A. SIMONSON,
Re-elected President.

L. A. Simonson was re-elected president, George M. Jensen, secretary; John Moir, financial secretary, and Carl E. Lonegren, treasurer, at the meeting of the West End Commercial club held last night at the Simonson hall, Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street. John Thygeson was elected vice president in place of A. B. Anderson, who filled that office last year. The new directors elected are William L. Bernard, James W. Preston, James Maghan, Victor Juten and John J. Moe.

The banquet committee reported that all arrangements with the exception of the program, had been made for the banquet to be given by the club on Wednesday evening, Jan. 28. Preparations have been made to entertain 150 guests and the invitations are to be limited to members of the club and their wives and a few friends of the club. A meeting of the committee will be held within a few days at which the toastmaster and speakers will be decided on.

Members of the club praised the action of the commissioner of public works in deciding to improve Superior street from Fifteenth to Twenty-fifth avenue, but condemned the action taken regarding the department's proposal to pave Superior street west of that point and Oneota street to Forty-sixth avenue in preference to the First, Vernon and Third street route. A communication was read relating to this subject from the Oneota and Hazelwood Improvement club, which stated that this club, although favoring the Third street proposition, would raise no objection to the Oneota street improvement.

Mayor W. I. Prince sent a communication to the club stating that the West end branch of the public library was not being well patronized by the West end people. He deplored this fact and asked the Commercial club members to investigate the causes. If the location was not favorable he suggested that the club find a better one. A committee comprising W. L. Bern, John Thygeson and Albert Moe was appointed with instructions to investigate the matter.

The club appointed an auditing committee, the members of which are George M. Peterson, Alfred Moe and Victor Juten.

OLSON WINS MAT HONORS IN STREET CAR MEN'S BOUTS

Before a crowd of over 200 street railway employes at the carhouse last night "Andy" Olson demonstrated that there were no men employed by the company, near his weight, who could pin his shoulders to the mat. In three fast and furious rounds Olson not only threw the man against whom he was originally pitted, but also vanquished one of the contestants of the preliminary match, whose weight was thirteen pounds greater.

In the preliminary bout August Kresal, 163 pounds, threw Mike Schafer, 154 pounds, twice in ten minutes. The contest between Olson, who weighed in at 150½ pounds, and E. B. Holum, who weighed 153 pounds, did not last long. Olson had the advantage of knowing more about the game and at no point was in danger. The two falls came in less than seven minutes.

After a brief breathing spell the victors of both battles were matched for one round. While the size and strength of Kresal showed that he would be a worthy opponent of Olson, the training which the latter had undergone, resulted in Kresal's shoulders being pinned to the mat after seven minutes of fast work.

Following the mat game many of the employes enjoyed an entertainment in the clubrooms. A delegation of thirty-five employes from Superior came over in a special car to attend the match.

MRS. EKHOLM DIES.

Pioneer Duluth Woman Survived By Sixty-Eight Descendants.

Mrs. Margaret Ekholm, 93 years old, a pioneer resident of Duluth, died yesterday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. F. Backman, 316 North Twenty-first avenue, after a short illness. Mrs. Eckholm leaves sixty-eight descendants, of whom four are sons, two daughters, thirty-six are grand children and twenty-six are great grand children.

Mrs. Ekholm came to this city from Sweden thirty-four years ago. Since then she has lived continuously in this city. Her children, all of whom survive her, are, Mrs. Backman, Mrs. Anton Sangred, John, Gust and Carl Ekholm of this city and Emil Ekholm of Brainerd.

The funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street. Rev. John J. Daniels will officiate. Interment will be in the Hermantown cemetery.

WOULD DEFY WILSON'S WISH

Moon and Steenerson Want Postoffice Assistants Out of Civil Service.

Tennesseean Refuses to "Bow to Will of the President."

Washington, Jan. 16.—Defiance of administration disapproval of the postoffice appropriation bill because of the provision exempting all the 2,400 assistant postmasters in the country from civil service, was voiced in the house debate on that measure by Representative Moon of Tennessee, chairman of the postoffice committee. In the course of his speech, he attacked the American diplomatic corps as a "superfluous appendage to the republic," and a "gang of political reprobates and society degenerates that we ought to wipe out of existence."

Mr. Moon said he had received a letter from Postmaster General Burleson saying the president did not approve the section regarding assistant postmasters.

Not to Be Controlled.

"This committee is not here to bow to the will of the president or of the postmaster general on a question on which they differ," he added. "No domination of the postmaster general or threat of veto from the president ought to swerve us from the point which we believe to be right. The views of the president and postmaster general, however much I respect them, as I do, certainly will not control me in my vote."

Suggesting the possibility of overriding any veto of the bill, Mr. Moon said he would have none but Democrats on guard in the administration of the bill.

"If you wanted to make a monarchy of the republic" he added, "all you would have to do would be to apply the civil service to congress, the president and his cabinet."

Representative Steenerson of Minnesota also spoke attacking the assistant postmaster's section.

MEN OUSTED BY HARRISON FIGHT.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—The fight to regain their seats has been begun by the four former members of the financial board who were ousted by Mayor Harrison for failing to vote to re-elect Mrs. Ella Flagg Young superintendent of schools. Counsel for James B. Dibelka, John C. Harding, Henry W. Huttmann, and Charles O. Sethness, the four former trustees, delivered their petition in quo-warranto proceedings to Maclay Hoyne, state's attorney, and he will ask leave to file the petition in the superior court.

The men contend that they were illegally removed from the board because their resignations which Mayor Harrison accepted, were delivered in his hands before their appointments had been confirmed by the city council.

ALLOWS DELIVERY OF BEER IN KANSAS

Probate Judge Says Arrests of Drivers Are Illegal.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 16.—Kansas City, Kan., officials lost a point in their fight with the breweries to prevent the delivery of beer there when John T. Simpas, probate judge, held that the police have no right to arrest the drivers of beer wagons upon the streets. The decision was given in the case of Clay Miller, a driver, submitted to Judge Simpas a month ago. Miller asked release on habeas corpus.

The appeal to the probate court was made by the attorneys for the breweries after the injunction proceedings were withdrawn in the Federal court. Federal Judge Pollock had intimated that he intended to enter an order prohibiting the delivery of beer in Kansas, except where it was ordered and paid for in Missouri.

The police began arresting the drivers. Attorneys for the breweries questioned the legality of the city ordinance on the grounds that in providing for the searching of the wagons on the street, it went further than the state prohibitory law.

STORM BARES CROWN HIDDEN BY MONARCH.

Vienna, Jan. 16.—Severe storms at Cracow, in Gallicia, formerly capital of the kingdom of Poland, have uprooted an ancient elm, revealing the hiding place of the crown worn by the former kings of Poland, dating back to the fourteenth century.

The hidden crown has been lost since the middle of the eighteent century. Some magnificent gems had fallen from the crown, but none is missing.

SEEK COMBINATION TO FIX COAL RATES

Commerce Commission Attorneys Quiz Philadelphia Witnesses.

Philadelphia, Jan. 16.—Attorneys for the interstate commerce commission, which inquired here into the rates and practices of the anthracite coal carrying railroads and the so-called railroad coal companies, endeavored to show by documentary evidence, supplemented by testimony from a witness, that there was a combination among certain corporations identified with the hard coal trade to fix a basis for rates.

The finances of the Reading company, Reading railway, Reading Coal & Iron company, and subsidiaries of these corporations, were also taken up.

The witnesses examined included Gordon Chambers, assistant real estate agent of the Reading company, W. H. White, comptroller of the Reading company and the Reading railway, and George Seigel, also an official of the Reading companies.

Purpose of Inquiry.

The primary purpose of the present inquiry of the commission is to establish whether coal freight rates are reasonable, and counsel for the commission delved into the finances of the Reading company to find this out.

The commission's counsel endeavored to show that the Reading company, the holding concern for the other Reading companies, owned the stock of the Philadelphia & Reading Terminal company, despite the fact that bonds amounting to $8,500,000, secured by this stock and carried as a liability of the Reading Railway company, with no corresponding asset. Counsel for the Reading and the commission and Mr. White, the witness, discussed this for some time, but apparently did not satisfactorily explain it to the commission's attorneys.

EDITOR ACCUSED OF SHERMAN LAW BREACH.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 16.—Edgar Wallace, editor of the United Mine Workers' Journal, was arrested yesterday on a warrant charging him with violation of the anti-trust law in connection with the strike of the coal miners in Colorado. He was indicted at Trinidad several weeks ago.

Wallace, who a few days ago underwent an operation, was unable to leave his bed, and Howard S. Young, United States commissioner, accompanied the deputy United States marshal who served the warrant.

The editor, lying in bed, waived preliminary examination and gave bond of $5,000 for his appearance in Colorado to stand trial on the charge.

The warrant for Wallace's arrest was received here several days ago, but at that time he was in a hospital.

FIX UP TELEPHONE AGREEMENT JAN. 21.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Directors of the National Independent Telephone association will meet here Jan. 21 to form plans of co-operation with the American Telephone & Telegraph company. It is understood these plans have been indorsed by the national government as one of the provisions give use of toll lines of the American by independents. The plan was announced at the close of the annual meeting of the independents here and was the result of the inability of N. C. Kingsbury of New York, vice president of the Bell company, to attend the meeting and explain the proposed agreement.

ADDRESS TO THE ALUMNI

President Vincent Tells Former Students What University Is Doing.

New Buildings, New Teachers and New Life in Institution.

President George E. Vincent of the University of Minnesota outlined the past, present and future of the state institution at the annual banquet and meeting of the Northern Minnesota Alumni association held at the Spalding hotel last evening.

Although compelled to hurry through his address, owing to two other engagements the same evening, one at the Commercial club and the other at Central high school, President Vincent carefully reviewed the work that has been done since he became head of the university, what is being done now and what the plans are for the future. Continually growing, the University of

WALTER F. DACEY,
Retiring President Northern Minnesota Alumni.

Minnesota, according to Dr. Vincent, is making its most rapid strides at the present time, while the outlook for the next few years is even brighter.

The address was optimistic throughout and toward its close, Dr. Vincent painted a beautifully worded picture of the new plaza and campus toward which end those at the head of the institution are now working. The new buildings are all being erected on the plan to form a semi-circle, with a large open amphitheater extending down to the shore of the Mississippi river, which flows alongside the university grounds. It will mean a complete cost of nearly $50,000,000 when finished, according to the plans submitted several years ago by Cass Gilbert, a prominent Minneapolis architect.

In opening his address following the dinner, at which President Vincent, Regent John G. Williams and Richard P. Price, head of the extension work at the university, were the honor guests, the head of the state institution extended the heartiest greetings from "Prexy" Northrup, Dr. Folwell, Prof. Zeleny, Prof. Segerfoos and Prof. Hutchins, all of whom graduates and former students still remember, and of whom such greetings bring back the fondest memories.

New Teachers.

"During the past year," said Dr. Vincent, "we have added seventy-nine new teachers to our staff, and discounting those who left, it means an increase of over 10 per cent for this school year. The budget for this year, which means only the money appropriated for running the institution, is about $1,750,000 and we are going to keep within that figure until the end of the year. The old system of running over the budget and making many deficits will not be tolerated any more and we are operating your institution on a real business basis.

"And now with regard to the new buildings being erected for your school, for it is the school of every resident in this state. Two new medical buildings and a hospital have already been erected and are now in operation. The two large engineering buildings, erected just a short distance from the other new structures and in line with the new campus and plaza plan, are also being used this year.

"At the present time the new chemical building is being erected, while work on the new biological building and the women's gymnasium is expected to begin very soon. The gymnasium will be connected with Shevlin hall by a subterranean passage.

"The old mines' building has been rebuilt and has been rearranged into a model school for instruction in mining. Next fall we expect to erect a vocational school, where students in graduate work will receive practical instruction in teaching. In this school there will be 180 high school students, who will be taught subjects similar to those in other schools, in additional to vocational subjects. In this way we expect to turn out the best trained teachers.

The Farm School.

"Plans are now being made for several new buildings at the farm school, which will include a gymnasium, domestic school and several smaller buildings, one of which will be a large dormitory. The trolley line, which we expect to build very soon and which will connect the university proper and the farm school, is another wonderful improvement. It will mean that students will be carried from one institution to the other in eight minutes and that will bind the students closer together and unify the college into one mass.

"In our law school we have reduced the attendance to one-half and have raised the standard to that of the best law schools in the East. There are now 180 pupils in the institution. And I am still of the opinion that if we graduate but fifty lawyers a year, the school will be doing its duty to the state. You will notice that not a single member of the football team last year was a member of the law school. This is because the work is too hard and because it does not afford the men a single opportunity to take any time away from their studies. And right now I want to congratulate you on the brilliant Mr. Morgan, whom you sent to our institution. He has succeeded admirably in his work and is very popular with the students. Just recently he was elected chairman of the Men's union, the largest organization at the institution.

Architecture.

"A department of architecture, which now has sixty students, was inaugurated last fall and is fast becoming a recognized school. We have Prof. Mann, formerly of Illinois, in charge of the new school and he has secured men under him, who are really building up an exceptional department.

"At the college of agriculture, we have introduced courses in training teachers. This is entirely new in this country and has already proven very popular. The dental college is filled to its capacity and last fall we were compelled to turn down over forty applicants. Without a doubt the college at Minnesota is the best in the United States. There are now six students from foreign countries attending the dental college and who came to this country for the sole purpose of taking that course at Minnesota.

"The college of pharmacy is now housed in its new building and is making wonderful progress in its work.

The Medical School.

"And lastly, the medical school, which is fast becoming one of the very few leaders in this country, is making the greatest progress. Housed in the two new buildings, together with the new Elliott hospital, Dean Lyon, who last fall took the place of Dr. Wesbrook, who left to organize the University of Toronto, the medical college is even now considered better than Harvard. Dean Lyon formerly taught at the universities of Chicago, Illinois and St. Louis.

President Vincent closed his address by appealing to the alumni to always lend their assistance and to show a much greater interest in the institution they formerly attended. He was compelled to leave rather early, as he had arranged to address the Duluth association of Office Men at the Commercial club and to later deliver a lecture on "The Mind of the Mob" at Central high school.

Dr. Vincent was introduced by W. H. Hoyt, who later called upon Dr. Price of the university extension department for a short talk. Dr. Price explained the work of this new department and showed what strides have already been made.

Following the addresses Walter F. Dacey, president of the association, announced that the annual election of officers would be held. A nominating committee was appointed and a list of offices recommended. These were elected by a unanimous ballot. They are: Laird Goodman, president; George Morgan, ice president; and Phillip Ray, secretary-treasurer. Mr. Goodman was secretary-treasurer the past year.

DIRECTORS INDORSE PLAN FOR NEW HAVEN

Will Divorce B. & M. and B. & A. and Trolley Lines.

New York, Jan. 16.—The directors of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad have ratified the agreement recently entered into by Chairman Howard Elliott and Attorney General McReynolds for the dissolution of the New Haven system by divorce of the Boston & Maine and Boston & Albany railroads, all its trolley lines and some steamship lines.

The directors accepted the resignation of J. P. Morgan, Edwin Milner and Galen L. Stone. Mr. Stone's resignation was said to be due to his connection with an underwriting syndicate formed to relieve the New Haven of its steamship holdings.

The return to the company's treasury of any moneys or bankers' commissions appropriated in connection with the proposed issue of debenture bonds annulled by the Massachusetts supreme court was authorized.

FAVOR INCREASE IN FREIGHT RATES.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—An increase of 5 per cent in freight rates is favored in resolutions by the board of directors of the National Business League of America.

"We believe," the resolution read, "that the present net earnings of the railways are insufficient for the proper maintenance of equipment, extension of facilities, efficient service and safety of life and property; resulting also in the curtailment of purchases from dependent industries which seriously cripples the general business of the country."

WAVES CHANGE THE BEACH AT FRISCO.

San Francisco, Jan. 16.—A shift in the wind has begun to calm the breakers that for a week have been hurling themselves on Ocean Beach, below the Cliff house, until it is now almost unrecognizable to the countless thousands familiar with its old contours.

The beach itself has vanished. The sea has eaten away the sands to the foot of the ocean boulevard, and in places has begun to undermine the roadway.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS APPEALS DECIDED.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 16.—Appeals for California, Virginia and the Panama canal zone, were decided at the meeting here of the supreme tribunal of the Knights of Pythias. Colostin D. Myers of Bloomington, Ill., sat at the supreme tribune.

The tribunal held that the grand lodge of California was not authorized to make assessments on subordinate lodges for charity funds. It was decided that the tribunal did not have jurisdiction in the Virginia case, which involved a controversy regarding a substitute delegate to the Virginia grand lodge. In the canal zone appeal it was held that a past chancellor of a newly established lodge had not been properly elected.

Several new questions were submitted and they will be taken up at a meeting to be held in Winnipeg, Canada, later in the year.

MAY ARREST MAN IN RAMPOLLA'S HOUSE.

Rome, Jan. 16.—Those who have undertaken the task of searching the apartment of the late Cardinal Rampolla for a last testament bearing a later date than that of 1889, are beginning to fear that it will not be found. It is reported that the authorities are about to take more energetic measures, which will include the arrest of one of the men employed in the cardinal's household.

The examination of the apartment continued yesterday, particular attention being given to the furniture of the bedroom, most of which was taken apart. The writing desk was found to contain secret drawers in which were many valuable papers. In a safe was found an envelope containing $700, which had been handed to the cardinal by a visitor to be distributed to the poor.

Beginning Jan. 21, a complete inventory will be made. In the meantime the investigating magistrate will continue his interrogatories to establish, if possible, who is responsible for the disappearance of the testament.

PROFIT-SHARING PLAN PROPOSED.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 16.—Directors of the National Carbon company have mailed letters to the stockholders asking approval of a plan for sharing profits with their employes. Stockholders are asked to set aside $500,000 of a new issue of stock to be given employes on terms to be announced at a public meeting Feb. 16. The company employs 4,000 men and has branch factories in other parts of the country.

Administrator Indicted.

St. Louis, Jan. 16.—Louis Reptto was indicted here on a charge of embezzeling bonds worth $17,000 from a $45,000 estate of which he was administrator. The estate was that of John J. Rogers, turfman and bookmaker, who died in September, 1912.

Northey President.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—I. L. Northey of Waterloo, Iowa, was elected president of the American Refrigerator Manufacturers association at the annual meeting here.

SOME FAMILY MIXUP.

St. Louis Girl Who Is Her Own Sister and Her Aunt.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 16.—Mrs. Edward Wysong, formerly Miss Frances Doyle, 16 years old, of this city, has become her own aunt. Likewise she became her mother's sister-in-law. Also she became a daughter of her grandfather, sister to her uncle and aunt to her three sisters.

Incidentally, and just to make matters genological in her family a bit easier to define, as a sister to her mother and consequently a sister to her mother's sisters, she is a sister to herself, as she is a sister to all of her mother's sisters.

For the same reason she is a sister-in-law of her mother's first husband, being not only his daughter, but a sister of his wife, and by the same token, being a sister-in-law to her stepfather, she is a sister-in-law to her mother's husband's brother, and therefore a sister-in-law of her husband.

This charmingly simple combination resulted from the marriage of Miss Doyle to Edward Wysong, 19 years old. Wysong is a brother of Raymond Wysong, his wife's stepfather, second husband of Mrs. Minnie Wysong. Mrs. Minnie Doyle and Raymond Wysong were married three years ago.

RUB PAIN FROM STIFF, LAME BACK END BACKACHE, LUMBAGO, SCIATICA

Get a Small Trial Bottle of Old-Time, Penetrating St. Jacob's Oil.

Ah! Backache is gone!

Quickly?—Yes! Almost instant relief from soreness, stiffness, lameness and pain follows a gentle rubbing with "St. Jacobs Oil."

Apply this soothing, penetrating oil directly upon the ache, and like magic, relief comes. "St. Jacobs Oil" is a harmless backache, lumbago and sciatica cure which never disappoints, can not injure and doesn't burn the skin.

Straighten up! Quit complaining! Stop those tortuous "stitches." In a moment you will forget that you ever had a back, because it won't hurt or be stiff or lame. Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of "St. Jacobs Oil" from your druggist now and get this lasting relief.

MAKES YOUR BACKACHE VANISH, DRIVES ALL RHEUMATIC PAINS AWAY

New Discovery Eases Stiff, Sore, Swollen Joints and Muscles Relieving Backache and Bladder Disorders After Few Doses Are Taken.

No matter how badly you suffer, how chronic your case may be, or what has failed to cure you, your pains will leave, your aches vanish and the torturous, killing backache or rheumatism will bother you no more.

This is what Croxone, the new scientific discovery, does for sufferers of such troubles. It cures these diseases because it reaches the cause and removes it. It soaks right into the walls and linings of the kidneys and cleans out the stopped-up, inactive organs like water does a sponge—neutralizes, and dissolves every particle of uric acid and makes the kidneys sift from the blood all the waste matter and poisons that lodge in the joints and muscles to scratch and irritate and cause rheumatism. It soothes and heals the delicate linings of the bladder and leaves the kidneys in a clean, strong, healthy condition, so they can filter the blood and keep you well.

If you suffer with backache—have pains in the neck or sides—nervous or dizzy spells—a few doses of Croxone will relieve the congestion and you will be surprised how quickly all kidney, bladder and rheumatic troubles will disappear.

Croxone is different from all other remedies. It is not like anything else on earth ever used for the purpose. It starts to work the minute you take it and relieves your suffering the very first time you use it. It is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. You can secure an original package of Croxone at trifling cost from any first-class druggist. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if Croxone should fail in a single case.

STATE SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state supreme court today gave out the following decisions:

St. Louis County.

I. T. Burnside, appellant, vs. Mary E. Moore, respondent—

1. The notice of expiration of the time for redemption from tax sales required to be given by Chapter 270 Laws of 1905 must comply in substance with the form prescribed by Section 47, Chapter 2, Laws of 1902.

2. To redeem from a tax sale made under Chapter 339, Laws of 1901, the owner must pay the subsequent delinquent taxes paid by the purchaser, and a notice of expiration of the time for redemption which does not include such taxes so paid is fatally defective.

3. The limitations contained in Chapter 271 Laws of 1905, apply only to tax certificates issued before the lands became forfeited to the state and to notices of expiration of the time to redeem issued thereon. The time for giving such notices as to lands forfeited to the state remained unlimited.

4. The rights of the purchaser of lands, forfeited to the state for nonpayment of taxes before the enactment of Cahpter 2 Laws of 1902 and sold to him before the Revised Laws of 1905 went into effect, are governed by the law in force prior to 1902, and where a defective notice of the time to redeem has been given, such purchaser may give a new and proper notice and thereby perfect his title unless redemption be made. Judgment reversed.

TAYLOR, J.

St. Louis County.

Tom Sandrette, respondent, vs. Fred Wahlsten, et al, appellants.

1. A deed purported to convey the portion of the grantor's land lying west of a designated county road. Its courses and distances and statement of amount conveyed would carry the grant to the east of the road. The cardinal rule of construction of contracts is to give effect to the intention of the parties. In construing a deed with inconsistent descriptions, preference is given to the part most likely to express the intention of the parties, and as to which there is least likelihood of mistake. The reference to the county road as a boundary is held to prevail over courses and distances and figures as to the quantity of land conveyed.

2. If doubt exists as to the meaning of the language of a deed, reference may be had to the circumstances attending its execution, the parties' practical construction of it, and the previous negotiations of the parties. The evidence as to such matters makes clear the actual intent of those parties to bound their grant by the county road.

Judgment reversed, with directions to proceed in accordance with this opinion.

HALLAM, J.

St. Louis County.

Kate Truan, respondent, vs. Range Power company, et al, defendants; London Guarantee & Accident company, appellant—

A guarantee insurance company held not liable as garnishee upon a judgment against the assured on an indemnified risk, where, at the time of service of the garnishee summons and when disclosures was made, it held a valid claim for policy premiums against assured in excess of such judgment, though it defended the main action, the rule of Patterson vs. Adan, 119 Minn., 308, being inapplicable.

Judgment reversed.

PHILIP E. BROWN, J.

Ramsey County.

William P. Shields, respondent, vs. Minneapolis, St. Paul, Rochester & Dubuque Electric Traction company, a corporation, appellant—

1. Plaintiff was injured while riding in the baggage compartment of one of defendant's cars. He was sitting in the doorway, with his feet hanging outside. His feet came into contact with a platform of defendant. The train was overcrowded. There is evidence that defendant's trainmen directed passengers to ride in the baggage car, assented to their sitting in the doorway with their feet outside, took up tickets from them while so seated, and on one occasion cleared a place for them to sit in this manner. Held, a question for the jury whether there was imposed on defendant a duty to warn passengers of the proximity of this platform to the track and whether failure to give such warning was negligent. When a passenger carrier overcrowds its trains beyond its seating capacity it is bound to exercise care proportioned to the increased danger caused by such overcrowding.

2. The question of plaintiff's contributory negligence was also for the jury. His conduct would under ordinary circumstances be negligent. But where an act ordinarily negligent is done by a passenger upon the express or implied invitation of the employes in charge of the train, the passenger will not as a rule be charged with contributory negligence as a matter of law. The act of the passenger may be so obviously dangerous that even such invitation will not relieve him of contributory negligence. The act of plaintiff in this case was not so inherently dangerous that it can under all the circumstances be said to be negligent as a matter of law.

Order affirmed.

HALLAM, J.

Ramsey County.

Joseph Resnikoff, appellant, vs. Louis Friedman, respondent.

Plaintiff was injured by the breaking of one of the timbers in a scaffold erected by carpenters in the construction of a house under a contract with defendant. Plaintiff had entered into a contract with defendant to furnish and put in place the tin valleys and gutters for the house at a specified price, and was injured while using the scaffold in the performance of his contract. It is held:

1. The relation of master and servant did not exist between plaintiff and defendant, and the rule of safe place to work does not apply.

2. Defendant owed plaintiff the duty of exercising ordinary care to avoid injuring him. The scaffold was erected by the carpenters, who were not servants of defendant, but independent contractors. The rule of respondent superior does not apply. Defendant did not select the timber that went into the scaffold but it was selected by the carpenters out of the timber furnished by defendant for the erection of the house. Defendant was not bound to inspect the timber so selected by the carpenters for the scaffold, and was not guilty of a breach of his duty to use ordinary care to avoid injuring plaintiff.

Order affirmed.

BUNN, J.

Hennepin County.

Minneapolis Plumbing company, respondent, vs. Arcade Investment company, et al., defendants, Arcade Investment company, appellant—

Leased realty is subject to a mechanic's lien for improvements made at the instance of the lessee, where the lessor knows such are being made and, without excuse, fails to give or post the written notice of irresponsibility provided for by G. S. 1913, Section 7024.

The burden of proving the giving or posting of notice is upon the defendant land-owner.

In an action against a corporation, the complaint need not alleged defendant's corporate existence, and a denial thereof in the answer is unavailing where it is refuted by the terms of the verification and by evidence brought out by defendant itself.

Defendant corporation held charged with its secretary's knowledge that the improvements to its realty, covered by the lien in suit, were being made at the instance of the lessee of the property, so as to subject the same to lien under the statute.

Objection to amendment of the settled case held insufficient to present the question whether such would be precluded after perfection of the appeal.

Slight excess in the lien account filed, due to clerical error in adding the items, held harmless. Judgment affirmed.

PHILIP E. BROWN, J.

Hennepin County.

Troy S. Miller, appellant, vs. Hennepin County Medical society, et al, respondents.

The Hennepin County Medical society, a voluntary association of physicians and surgeons, the by-laws of which provide for the trial of a member for a criminal offense or for misconduct, and provide a penalty by discipline or expulsion, may try a member for acts which were necessarily involved in a criminal charge, tried in the district court, and of which the member was acquitted.

Order affirmed.

DIBELL, C.

Polk County.

Claus F. Ekblaw, administrator, respondent - appellant, vs. Raymond Nelson, et al, appellants-respondent.

The evidence sustains the special verdict that a deed was delivered by the grantor to the grantees.

A warranty deed containing the provisions that the grantor shall remain in full possession and ownership of the premises conveyed during his lifetime and that the deed should not be recorded until after his death passed the title to the grantees subject to an estate for life in the grantor.

Such deed was not signed by the grantor's wife and was void as to the homestead included therein. The record contains no evidence of acts or words of the grantor influencing the conduct of the grantees so as to create title in them by estoppel.

Judgment affirmed.

HOLT, J.

WANT MILLION TO FIGHT HOG CHOLERA.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 16.—United States Senators W. S. Kenyon of Iowa and Atlee Pomerene of Ohio and Governor Cox of Ohio joined yesterday in urging a nation-wide campaign against hog cholera, to be started by an appropriation by congress of at least $1,000,000.

The addresses favoring the step were delivered before nearly 2,000 farmers and others in attendance upon the Farmers' congress. Senator Kenyon declared that an appropriation of half a million dollars would prove inadequate. Senator Pomerene declared that the menace to the country's pork supply can never be obliterated until the campaign is made more than statewide.

SCENE FROM "THE DEEP PURPLE," AT THE EMPRESS TONIGHT.

APPLES IN NICE CHOICE

Fruits and Vegetables Grow More Abundant on Duluth Market.

Prices in Butter and Eggs Unchanged From Last Week.

Supplies are abundant and the choice good for the season in all edibles on the Duluth produce market today.

The recent cold snap was without appreciable effect in holding up arrivals of Southern fruits and vegetables. With the exception of oranges, which are considerably cheaper, quotations through the list are on about the same basis as last year, according to the Fitzsimmons-Palmer company. Offerings of both Southern and Northern California oranges are liberal and a strong demand is reported for them. Grapefruit is another feature in which sales have increased heavily as a result of its present reasonable quotations and good quality available.

Box Apples Abundant.

Western box fruit is largely holding the boards in the apple line. All the leading varieties are still available and prices are unchanged from a week ago. New York barrel apples are being rapidly cleaned and it is thought that supplies will not cover the demand more than a few weeks longer.

Cranberries have advanced 50 cents a barrel, and are now quoted at $11.50 and $12.50. The figure in Malaga grapes remains at $7 a keg, and California pears are still going at $2.75 a box. Florida strawberries are to be had at 75 cents a quart.

Vegetables Choice Good.

The choice in California vegetables includes celery, cauliflower, carrots, radishes, shallots, head lettuce, oyster plant, egg plant, peppers, spinach and sprouts.

The situation in potatoes is slightly firmer, but their price is still 72 cents a bushel for standard or 77 cents for extra fancy Minnesota stock. Growers through this district are said to still have a considerable proportion of the crop remaining to market and they are being offered 60 and 65 cents a bushel at shipping points by dealers. Cabbage is scarce, and for what there is the street is quoting $45 a ton.

Butter Situation Easier.

Quotations in butter are unchanged, with fresh creamery at 35@36 cents a pound and June storage at 29@30 cents. While the market is firm in the East, it is inclined to be weak locally. Receipts of cream are steadily on the increase through this district and the make of fresh butter is gaining rapidly on current consumption outside of the demand for cold storage stock. A continued easy situation in butter is predicted.

Egg Prices Unchanged.

Fresh eggs remain at 32@33 cents a dozen. The market is now entirely dependent upon current marketings by fanciers and farmers as cold storage supplies are completely exhausted.

The Bridgeman-Russell company reports consumption on the increase with supplies of fresh-laid eggs now available at reasonable prices. Barring an extended period of below-zero weather, no further skyrocketing in eggs is expected by the trade. That Duluth consumers are buying eggs cheaper than they are offering in many of the leading Eastern cities, is evidenced in the statement that the local company mentioned netted more from a carlot shipment to New York this week than it could have done on the market here.

Higher Poultry Quotations.

A strong call for poultry is advised by the Victor company and as receipts are light that has resulted in a higher range of prices in both fresh dressed and live birds. It is to be noted that choice turkeys are now up to 24@25 cents a pound wholesale. Receipts and inquiry for ducks and geese is at present only nominal.

Meats are firm through the list with the demand reported by Michigan street houses to be showing improvement.

OLD MAN DIGS FOR AN $85,000 CACHE

Hid the Gold in 1883, But Fire Destroyed Landmarks.

Kellogg, Idaho, Jan. 16.—Edward Cornelius, an old resident of Murray, has been working on the Kellogg sewer, apparently for $3 a day, but in reality he says, he has been working to locate $85,000 which he buried in 1883 in a Dutch oven and which he has never been able to find.

In 1883 he and his partner left Montana for the new gold country around Murray. They loaded their pack horses, he says, with $85,000 in gold, all in $20 gold pieces, planning to use this money to buy up all available placer country, which was reported to be unusually rich.

They came down the Prospect Creek trail and over the Mullan road, down to what is now Kellogg.

They there heard that the country for which they were headed was not as rich as first reported, and as the country was full of gold hunters and was wild and rough, they decided to cache their gold, Cornelius says, and go into the Murray country to investigate before making any bargains to buy the placer ground.

The gold was hidden in the flat which extends from the Kellogg depot to the Bunker Hill and Sullivan Mills, it is asserted, and the gold hunters marked the spot by blazing a fir tree and two pine trees, burying the gold in a Dutch oven in the center of this triangle.

Cornelius and his partner remained in the Murray country for a year, and on their return to dig up their money and quit the country they found a fire had swept the district and eliminated every landmark. The pair searched for days and finally gave it up.

On several occasions Cornelius has returned and made a hunt without result. It was when he learned that the sewer excavation would extend through the ground in which he buried his money thirty years ago that he came to Kellogg, took up his pick and shovel and kept his eyes open. The work along this section is completed, and Cornelius is ready to return to Murray without having found the treasure.

HAS 10 GRANDPARENTS.

Child Has Uncles and Aunts in Great Number.

Batesville, Ark., Jan. 16.—There are very few people in Arkansas or elsewhere who have ten grandparents living, but there is a little girl in this county who has that many, and it is believed she has more uncles and aunts than any other girl in the state. She is Miss Ethel Hooper of Salado, and her grandparents are: Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Hooper of Salado; Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hogan of Batesville, parents of her father and mother; Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Hooper of Salado and Mr. and Mrs. John House of Rosie, grandparents of her father; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hogan of Batesville, grandparents of her mother.

The child has twenty-one great-great uncles and aunts; twenty one great uncles and aunts, six uncles and aunts. She has more than 200 cousins in this county.

BIG COUGAR SKULKS NEAR SEATTLE HOMES.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 16.—Residents within four miles north of the city limits along the Everett interurban line are out in force with traps and guns for one of the biggest cougars ever reported in this section of the country. For ten days the animal has been skulking around the homes in that section.

Several nights ago the wife of Al Sutherland, manager of the J. Henry Packing company, saw the cougar at their home at Ronald station. A large St. Bernard dog was heard whining at the rear door and Mrs. Sutherland took the dog into the house and unmuzzled him. A few minutes later the fall of a heavy body, following by a scraping and clawing, intermingled with cries of pain of a dog were heard in the house. Mrs. Sutherland opened the door in time to see a cougar dart away in the darkness. Her dog was terribly bruised. The dog was attended later by a surgeon and every effort is being made to save its life. One eye was lost in the encounter.

A party of gunners is going into the woods in an effort to round up the animal.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

is always put up in clean bottles, with a seal over the cork. But in order to protect yourself against fraud in refilling, we ask all consumers to be sure and break each bottle as soon as empty.

In a few remote instances unscrupulous dealers who have failed to work off substitutes and cheap imitations on their customers have tried refilling Duffy bottles when they could get them, hoping in this way to line their pockets. You can aid us to stop this practice by breaking Duffy bottles when contents have been used.

Be sure and get the genuine—if in doubt examine your purchase—see that the seal over the cork is unbroken; the cork should be new and perfect—the name, 'Duffy's Malt," is on each side of the cork. Look for the original signature on the label and firm name and monogram blown in bottle. Break the bottle when empty and help us to prevent fraud.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is sold by most druggist, grocers and dealers at $1.00 a large bottle. Valuable medical booklet and doctor's advice sent free.

FRUIT LAXATIVE FOR MAMMA, DAD, BABY, "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS"

Better Than Calomel, Oil or Salts for Liver, Bowels and Stomach.

Mother, daddy and the children can always keep feeling fine by taking this delicious fruit laxative as occasion demands. Nothing else cleanses the stomach, liver and bowels so thoroughly without griping.

You take a little at night and in the morning all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and fermenting food, delayed in the bowels gently moves out of the system. When you awaken all headache, indigestion, sourness, foul taste, bad breath, fever and dizziness is gone; your stomach is sweet, liver and bowels clean, and you feel grand.

"California Syrup of Figs" is a family laxative. Everyone from grandpa to baby can safely take it and no one is ever disappointed in its pleasant action. Millions of mothers know that it is the ideal laxative to give cross, sick, feverish children. But get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups on each bottle. Refuse with contempt the cheaper Fig Syrups and counterfeits. See that it bears the name—"California Fig Syrup Company."

WANTS U. S. TO OWN ALL COAL

Senator Martine Makes Report on West Virginia Inquiry.

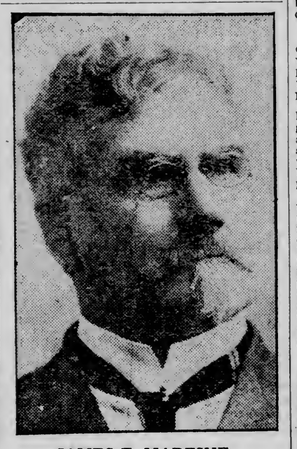

Says He Is Convinced That Is Only Solution of Troubles.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Government ownership of the great coal mines of the country as a remedy for strike disturbances was recommended by Senator Martine of New Jersey in a report submitted yesterday to Chairman Swanson of the senate committee which investigated the West Virginia coal strike troubles.

Senator Martine, charged particularly with the inquiry regarding interference with the mails and the employment of contract labor, reported that the evidence failed to establish either of these conditions. The report attributed much of the violence and bloodshed in West Virginia to the presence of armed guards hired by mine operators, and recommended the passage of a bill which Senator Martine introduced in the last senate session, prohibiting the employment of armed police by private organizations.

Mail Delayed by Conditions.

"While there was some delay in distributing mail, owing to the strike and general disturbed conditions existing in this district," said the senator, "I found no attempt to suppress

JAMES E. MARTINE,
U. S. Senator From New Jersey.

the general mail delivery to all the great patrons of the respective post-offices of this district. The presence of armed guards, however, naturally excited bitter feelings, and their presence cannot be too strongly condemned. In many instances it was found that these guards loitered around the coal company stores, which stores constituted in the same building the office of the coal company and the postoffice.

As to Foreigners.

"Regarding the employment of immigrant labor in blocks or on contract from foreign countries, this, too, was found impossible to establish. Though the fact was plainly brought out that labor was hired by agents of the mine owners in the great cities of our country, that the said agents did not tell the men so hired the whole truth of the situation at the place of destination, that in most instances these men were unable to speak or understand our language, the burden of testimony tended only to prove that the transportation of these men was a serious reflection on our boasted civilization.

"God has blessed West Virginia with profligate hand. Here, above all sections, should peace, plenty and happiness reign supreme. On the contrary, your committee found disorder, riot, bitterness and bloodshed in their stead.

Hiring of Armed Men.

"In no spirit of malice or hatred, but with a view that the country through knowledge of the true conditions, may right the wrong, I charge that the hiring of armed bodies of men by private mine owners and other corporations and the use of steel-armored trains, machine guns and bloodhounds on defenseless men, women and children, is but a little way removed from barbarism.

"A millionaire owner of a great section of the state of West Virginia calmly admitted on the witness stand that so long as he got his per ton royalty he never inquired further.

"Coal, under our civilization, is a necessity. This great commodity cannot be increased a fraction of a pound, yet our population is multiplying by leaps and bounds each year, thereby increasing the demands for this article. We must have warmth for our bodies and fuel with which to cook our foods.

For Government Ownership.

"With this condition existing, and with avarice as the dominating characteristic in man, I at the risk of criticism by my many friends and countrymen, unhesitatingly say that government ownership of the mines is the only hope or solution for those who may come after us.

"These thoughts are not a dream of today, but the result of many years of thought and consideration. My recent investigation into conditions in the Paint and Cabin Creek strike, with all the attendant horrors, has confirmed my thoughts into fixed judgment."

Additional partial reports on various phases of the West Virginia investigation still are to be submitted to Chairman Swanson by Senators Shields and Kenyon. When these have been made, Senator Swanson will combine all of the partial reports in a general discussion of the results of the investigation.

STEEL HEARING IN SOUTH IS FINISHED.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 16.—Taking of testimony in the government's suit for dissolution of the United States Steel corporation was concluded here yesterday. J. A. Brown, special examiner of the department of justice, will begin sittings in St. Louis Monday. Paul Laurissini, president of a manufacturing company, testified he had always found competition in the steel business particularly active.

Nordica Improving.

New York, Jan. 16.—Further improvement is reported in the condition of Mme. Lillian Nordica, stricken with pneumonia after escaping shipwreck near Thursday island, off the coast of Australia. According to three cablegrams from Thursday Island, given out here by her husband, George Young, the singer was better on Tuesday. Wednesday her condition remained the same, but she passed a fairly comfortable night and more improvement was noted yesterday.

LAND UNDER CULTIVATION

Only Twenty-Seven Per Cent of Tillable Land Cultivated.

Department of Agriculture Figures 829,000,000 Acres Not in Use.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Only 27 per cent of the tillable land of the United States is actually under cultivation, according to estimates of the department of agriculture, based upon reports of 35,000 correspondents. These reports were obtained in order to gain information as to the tillable area of the United States, the amount of land that cannot be used for crops that have to be plowed, but available for pasture or fruits, and the total number of acres that never can be used for agricultural purposes. From the returns, which were generally very consistent, preliminary estimates have been made for each state and for the United States. Further investigation in the far Western states may modify somewhat the present estimate for those states.

The entire United States, excluding foreign possessions, contains about 1,900,000,000 acres. Of this area about 60 per cent or 1,140,000 acres is estimated to be tillable, that is, capable of being brought under cultivation by means of the plow. This includes land already under such cultivation and that which in the future may be brought under cultivation by clearing, drainage, irrigation, etc.

Non-Tillable Lands.

It is estimated that 361,000,000 acres, or 19 per cent, are non-tillable but valuable for pasture or fruits. Only 21 per cent, or 399,000,000 acres, was estimated to be of no use for agriculture, present or future.

According to the census of 1909, the land area in crops where acreage was given was 311,000,000 acres. This is about 16 per cent of the total land area, or about 27 per cent of the estimated potential tillable area of the United States, exclusive of foreign possessions.

In other words, for every 100 acres that are now tilled, about 375 acres may be tilled when the country is fully developed. In the development of the agriculture of the country the land which was most easily brought into a state of cultivation, as the great Mississippi valley, was the first to be brought into such use. Extension of tilled area will be at greater expense for clearing, drainage, irrigation, etc. The increased production of the future will be the result of increased yields per acre as well as extension of area.

Minnesota's Lands.

Detailed estimates, by states, show that the total land area of Minnesota is 52,000,000 acres, or which 84 per cent is potentially available for tilled crops and 10 per cent for pasture or fruits, while only 6 per cent is of no use for agriculture. Of the tillable area 34 per cent is estimated to be in crop.

North Dakota has a land area of 45,000,000 acres; 80 per cent tillable, 14 per cent available for pasture and fruits, and 6 per cent non-agricultural. Of the tillable land about 44 per cent is under cultivation.

The land area of Wisconsin is 35,000,00 acres, and 79 per cent is capable of being tilled, 13 per cent available for pasture and fruits, and 8 per cent non-agricultural, and 31 per cent of the tillable land is under cultivation.

BATTLES WITH SIBERIAN TIGER

American Balloonist and Fiancee Have Thrilling Adventure.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 16.—A thrilling adventure of American balloonists with a tiger has just been reported here. Accompanied by his fiancee Mr. Fobster, an American airman well known in Siberia, about a fortnight ago made an ascent from Vladivostok with the intention of reaching Khabarovsk, a town on the Amur.

The balloon was a small one, unequipped with a ripping valve for easy descents. The weather, however, proved unfavorable, and the airman resolved to land.

He accomplished the descent, and as the balloon neared the ground jumped out, holding the trail rope, intending to drag the balloon down to earth and assist the girl to descend. As soon as he had jumped, however, he noticed a Siberian tiger, which jumped over the American, who had thrown himself on the ground, sprang at the car and remained hanging while the balloon reascended.

Mr. Fobster had no weapon with him but a big knife, and it was out of the question to urge the girl to jump out, since she would have been killed on the spot. Shouting to the girl to keep quiet he grasped the end of the guide rope and ran to the river, 200 or 300 yards away.

Meanwhile the tiger was making desperate efforts to climb into the car, and the airman, reaching the river, which happily was not very deep at that point, jumped in and then shouted to his fiance to jump down. The girl hesitated, but at that very moment the tiger, struggling for life, made a last desperate effort and climbed into the car. Then the girl took the leap.

Mr. Fobster then let the guide rope go and swam to the rescue of his companion. At the same time the balloon, lightened of the weight of the girl, rose quickly up with the amazed tiger in it. The couple were rescued by peasants.

ACCEPTS REDUCED AWARD.

Miss Miller Complies With Court Order in Injury Case.

Miss Selma Miller has accepted the terms of Judge Ensign's order reducing by $500 the verdict which she obtained from the Duluth street railway in a personal injury action tried at the November term of the district court.

The jury awarded her $1,512 for injuries sustained when caught in a car gate. Thomas S. Wood, attorney for the company, asked the court for a new trial on the ground that the verdict was excessive. Judge Ensign directed that the verdict should be cut to $1,012 or a new trial granted. Andrew Nelson, attorney for Miss Miller, yesterday filed a formal consent to the reduction with clerk of the court yesterday.

200 BOYS OFFER SKIN AND FLESH.

Stockton, Cal., Jan. 16.—More than 200 boys, ranging in age from 18 down to 4, appeared at a hospital here in answer to a physician's call for volunteers to supply skin and bits of flesh to be grafted on the body of August Rosa, a child who was badly scalded a few weeks ago. Fifteen were accepted.

When the last was chosen, there were still fifty in line awaiting examination. One boy of 4 wept bitterly when he was turned back. He wanted to be a hero, he lisped, and help save the little sufferer's life.

MURDERED WITH POISONED BEER.

New York, Jan. 16.—The murder of Maurice Wycz, whose body, crammed in a trunk, was left in the street by two push cart men on Dec. 29, was described by Stefania Kiviatkowska, a young Polish woman, one of the six persons under arrest for the crime. She said one of the two men now in prison killed Wycz with a drink of poisoned beer. The murderer, she says, lured the victim to the house where she was an inmate, with a promise of work as a stable helper. They suggested that he celebrate his good fortune by buying a drink, and when he consented, set before him a glass that had been drugged. The motive was robbery, she said, but all they obtained was a cheap watch and $2 in money.

AGED TWINS ARE PARTED BY DEATH.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 16.—Death yesterday separated Daniel and Samuel V. Harris of this city, twin brothers and bosom companions throughout the seventy-two years of their lives. The Harris brothers were found by the police late Wednesday weak from hunger and exposure; huddled in a coal shed. Samuel was placed in the city hospital and Daniel was taken to the county jail.

Daniel Wednesday night begged the jailer to take him to the hospital so that he might help care for his brother, but this request was refused. Early yesterday Daniel was found dead on his cell bunk. Physicians said death was due to starvation and exposure. At the hospital it was said that the twins' separation would not be for long, as Samuel was unconscious and physicians declared he could not survive.

For forty years the brothers drove mule cars here, but when the trolley cars came they retired, buying a farm with the $6,000 they had saved. They lost the farm, and when infirmities came upon them they became dependent.

Woman's Realm

"There are about 1,300 girls in Duluth who ought to be reached through the extension department of the Young Women's Christian association," said Miss Clara I. Taylor of Minneapolis, secretary of the North Central field of the Y. W. C. A., at a luncheon given this noon at the local association building for the members of the extension work committee and others interested in the work, who will help in carrying out the plans which will be discussed following the luncheon.

Miss Taylor explained the national policy of the association that the Duluth workers might make their plans along similar lines.

"Our idea is," said Miss Taylor, "to have educational and recreation work planned for these girls, some of it to be free and some given for a small tuition. Of course, the recreational work will all be free and we plan to form clubs and classes in gymnasium, cooking, fancy work, home nursing, plain sewing, china painting and other studies in which there is any interest and to add to these educational talks to be given at the places of work of the girls once or twice a week to interest those who will not come to the association building.

"This includes those who work in factories, shops, laundries, telephone exchanges and similar work and we hope that every one of them may be interested in the work."

Miss Taylor spoke of study classes for the committee members and volunteer workers who will take up this work for the association, giving valuable information on how to go about the work.

Miss Taylor has been in Duluth this week going over the field, with Miss Mae C. Anders, the extension secretary of the Duluth association.

Day of Prayer.

The state-wide day of prayer for the success of the national constitutional amendment providing for prohibition was observed in Duluth yesterday by the members of the local unions of the W. C. T. U., the state organization of that union planning the day.

The regular meeting of the West Duluth W. C. T. U. was held at the home of Mrs. David Adams, 2314 West Second street and members of the Central union were their guests. Mrs. Leigh Gunther opened the meeting with prayer and gave a short talk on prohibition. Mrs. Milton Fish spoke on "The History of Prohibition in Kansas," and read extracts from letters from the governors of prohibition states, showing that taxes were lowered, banking accounts increased and arrests lessened. Mrs. Alfred Jaques gave a short talk on the subject.

Members of the Scandinavian union held a prayer meeting at the Norwegian Danish M. E. church and the speakers there were Rev. Ofstie, pastor of the church; Rev. J. J. Daniels, Mrs. Swaney Nelson and Mrs. E. Gustafson. There were vocal solos by Rev. Ofstie and Mrs. Daniels, accompanied by Mrs. Frank Carlson, and Mrs. W. Felset gave a reading.

"THE MIND OF THE MOB"

President Vincent, in Witty Talk, Illustrates the Methods of Spellbinders.

"What we need is strength of character, individuality and power to do our own thinking, to have the courage of our convictions and to dare to be different," said George E. Vincent, president of the University of Minnesota last evening in his lecture on "The Mind of the Mob," given at the assembly hall of the Central high school as the first of the course of five lectures, and recitals arranged by the extension department of the University of Minnesota to be given here during the winter and early spring.

Every seat in the hall was filled and the speaker held every member of his audience with the brilliancy and keenness which usually characterize his lectures.

"The Mind of the Mob" or "The Psychology of the Crowd" as he termed it was taken up by Dr. Vincent in three phases. He told of the reaction on the individual mind of the feeling of the crowd; how this condition is created; the results and dangers of losing one's critical power of reasoning and being merged into the great emotional mass, finishing with a plea for a firm stand on one's own reasoning powers and convictions.

He gave in an interesting series of word pictures three types of "spellbinders" people who are able to merge a crowd into one mind and told of some of the tricks of their art. The old street faker, the missionary or book agent who hypnotize their subjects into giving what they want, and the politician in his pre-election speeches came in for their share of attention and were wonderfully well portrayed by Dr. Vincent whose power of mimicry is unusually keen. Throughout his lecture Dr. Vincent used the same methods used by spellbinders in fixing the attention of a crowd, and then analyzed them.

The next event of the course will be a recital by Dr. James Davies, who will give in dialect selections from Kipling's works followed by the singing of several of his poems.

WILL HOLD HEARINGS ON IMMIGRATION BILL

President Wilson Plans Action When It Comes Before Him.

Washington, Jan. 16—President Wilson will give a public hearing on the immigration bill when it gets out of congress and comes before him for signature. Presidents Cleveland and Taft gave such hearings, and it was after one that Mr. Taft vetoed the last immigration bill, proposing among other things a literaracy test. Many provisions of the pending measure are being hotly contested.

ARREST MADE FOR SHOOTING IN 1911

Laborer Accused of Trying to Murder Monroe F. Ellis.

Somerville, N. J., Jan. 16.—Interest in the mysterious shooting more than two years ago of Monroe F.Ellis, president of the New Jersey State Lumber association, was revived today by the news that an arrest had been made in the case. The prisoner is Paul Carl, a laborer, who it is intimated was the tool of more prominent persons who are suspected of hiring him to shoot Ellis for motives of revenge. Carl was arrested Wednesday at Camden, N. J.

Ellis was wounded by a charge of buckshot fired through the window as he sat at dinner in his home at Basking Ridge, N. J., on Nov. 20 1911. For the arrest of his would-be assassin he offered a reward of $1,000, which still stands.

NAVAL STUDENTS SHOT TO DEATH

Bodies of Two From Chicago Training Station Are Found.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Two students of the government naval training station, Earl Bostwick and E. A. Buchanan, were found shot to death in a hotel here last night. They had deserted the school twice, but both times were brought back and disciplined.

"Buchanan had been very unhappy at the station," said G. G. Gerrow, chief master at arms of the school today. "He wrote repeated letters to his mother, asking her to get his release, saying he could not stand the discipline.

"Bostwick fell heir to some money recently and I believe he was financing a trip to parts unknown. Whether it was a suicide pact, or one shot the other and then killed himself in the course of a quarrel, I do not know."

The training station at Lake Bluff, a suburb, was built on a navy cost amid beautiful surroundings, and completely equipped. The discipline is a modification of that exercised in the navy, designed to fit the needs of boys fresh from the liberty of civilian life.

LIVE FOR DAYS ON SALT FISH AND BAIT

Six Men Given Up for Lost Are Picked Up By Schooner.

Pensacola, Fla., Jan. 16.—Six men of the fishing motorboat Lenore, given up for lost, were landed here today by the schooner Ellen C, from Mobile. Last Saturday night the engine of their boat went down and they were blown to sea. The men lived on salt fish and bait, and when picked up by the schooner were 100 miles out.

$61,458,000 for Missions.

New York, Jan. 16.—Protestant congregations in the United States and Canada spent $61,458,000 in 1913 in foreign mission work, according to figures issued by the foreign missions conference.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Let Every Day Be As a New Year to Those Determined to Improve Themselves.

How many of you have had the forethought to attempt to straighten out your various affairs before the advent of the glad new year? All, I hope, for there is nothing like starting it with a clean slate. Each one owes it to himself or herself to begin the new year as free from old tasks, old worries, old debts and old obligations as possible. If you have not already done this it is not too late to begin now as 1914 is still in its infancy.

Though each new minute opens up a new year to the one eager to profit by experience, and while the really determined individual will not wait until Jan. 1 to put his resolution into operation, the calendar new year sets many people to thinking. As a result many worthy resolutions are made with the soundest of intentions.

The trouble with the average new year's resolutionist is, that he and she are too easily discouraged. The moment there is a relapse into an old habit each is disposed to give up the fight and sink back into the shambles of carelessness and indifference. The feeling that it is useless to try to do the right thing frequently follows very fast upon the determination to attempt to do better.

The person who offers "I can't" as an excuse is lost. There is no surer way of destroying all the forces within one that would gallantly make the fight to conquer human weakness than the very limp spirit summed up in the two words, "I can't." When failure has leveled your hopes to be able to do better remember that it is possible to turn every day into a new year if you will. Also that it is by repeated effort that success is ever won in any aim or walk of life.

If you resolve one thing in the morning and find before nightfall that you have broken your resolve, do not be discouraged and give up without making many more trials. Let the very moment that you realize you have failed in your endeavor be the dawning of a new year for you. And keep it up until you have conquered the bad habit that threatens to hold the ascendency in your life.

The success which results from doing one's best lies within the power of all. And though it may not be the success of money or fame—it is something better than either or both—this sense of having done what one could to achieve it and be worthy of it at the same time. I hope each may see the helpfulness of striving for this spirit and of attaining it in the year 1914. May the remaining days of the year be happy and prosperous for all.

IOWA COMPLAINS OF HIGH STATE TAXES.

They are complaining bitterly in Iowa about high state taxes.

That's interesting, for so they are in Minnesota.

For the purpose of driving home again the need of sustained attention in this state to the duty of electing a legislature pledged to economy and efficiency, and made up of men that can be trusted to keep that pledge and to carry it out wisely, let us compare the situation in these two states.

Iowa, according to the last census, had 2,224,771 people while Minnesota had 2,075,708.

Iowa's state expenditures increased from $4,292,418 in 1910 to $5,700,000 in 1914, a gain of thirty-three per cent.

But in the same period Minnesota's state expenditures increased from $13,145,739 to $21,371,680, or SIXTY-SIX PER CENT—just twice the percentage of gain recorded by Iowa!

From 1910 to 1914 Iowa's state tax rate increased from 3.8 mills to 4.9 mills—a gain of twenty-nine per cent.

But in the same period Minnesota's state tax rate increased from 2.7 mills to 5.03 mills—a gain of EIGHTY-SIX PER CENT, almost three times as great a gain as Iowa's.

From 1910 to 1914 Iowa's per capita state expenditures increased from $1.93 to $2.55.

In the same period Minnesota's per capita state expenditures increased from $6.33 to $10.49. Minnesota's per capita expenditures in 1914 will be more than twice Iowa's combined per capita expense in 1910 AND 1914!

If Iowa is complaining about high state taxes and extravagance, WHAT ABOUT MINNESOTA?

The prosecutor of Mendel Beiliss, who failed to convict his man, has been knighted. Maybe if he had secured a conviction he would have been made a grand duke.

IT HAS PASSED THE JOKE STAGE.

There are many worse ways of testing public sentiment than by the reception given jokes or pictures touching on public matters in theaters of one kind or another.

The president or other statesman whose picture thrown on a screen meets with a stolid silence on the part of the audience should have his political obituary prepared.

The president or popular leader whose picture brings out hearty applause still has a future.

The public cause out of which comedians can get an invariable laugh from their audiences is not likely soon to disturb anything.

And when a public cause has reached the stage where jokesters find their quips against it falling flat, then look out for it.

This is all just preliminary to recording the interesting fact that orders have been given to cut out all anti-suffrage jokes on the big Keith vaudeville circuit.

Queen Mary refused to leave her umbrella behind when she went into a museum. Probably the courtier from whom she had borrowed it was somewhere around.

CHICAGO'S NAVIGATION PLANS AND THE LAKE LEVELS.

The Chicago newspapers are exulting over the fact that the lake levels were higher last month than they usually are, in spite of the outflow through the Chicago drainage canal. From this they draw the conclusion that the drainage canal is acquitted completely of the charge that it is lowering the lake levels.

Says the Chicago News: "The Federal lake survey discloses that last month the water in all the Great Lakes except Ontario was higher than it was the preceding December, while in every case the level was above the average stage for the last ten Decembers. The time has arrived, therefore, for the hitherto hostile interests to forget the bugaboo that has frightened them into opposing Chicago's diversion of the needed volume of water into its sanitary district canal."

Has it, indeed? We doubt it.

On the contrary, the lake communities should not relax their vigilant watchfulness of Chicago's plans for a moment.

Lake levels rise and fall, according to precipitation and other influences.

Last year, though dry elsewhere, was a wet season in the upper lake region, and it is not surprising that lake levels are high.

But—and here is the point which Chicago is overlooking but which no other lake community should overlook—the issue is not about the water Chicago is using to float away its sewage, but what it proposed to use in developing a deep waterway to the gulf with elaborate water-power attachments!

That, dear and overgrown neighbor, is a horse of another color.

Now that Sarah Bernhardt has at last been decorated with the Legion of Honor she may feel encouraged to make another farewell tour of the United States so we can see her decorations.

A NEW DEAL IN MINNESOTA.

This year, for the first time in the history of this or any other state, members of the legislature and county officers in Minnesota are to be nominated and elected on their individual merits, and utterly without regard to what national party they may profess membership in.

It is to be doubted if many have yet realized the scope and significance of this change.

The Battle Lake Review takes a highly optimistic view of it:

> You won't elect a dunderhead because he happens to be a Republican or a Progressive or a Democrat. You will elect a man because he is honest, progressive, and economical. His politics won't cut any ice. You may not even know what his politics are. * * * The old scheme of things has broken down. The time has come when the state needs business management, a curtailment of expenditures for the sole aid and benefit of idle parasites who never worked for an honest livelihood and never will. It means the beginning of the end of political and therefore wasteful rule in Minnesota. It means that men will go to the Minnesota legislature to abolish useless political boards and bounce political incompetents, to end the pull of brewery, railway and steel politicians who pose as party Elijahs, and to cut the taxes to a decent rate so that Minnesota will no longer have the reputation of being the most profligate and wasteful state in the West.

We shall hope that non-partisan election of state lawmakers will mean all of that. It CAN mean all of that; it WILL mean all of that if the voters make intelligent use of the opportunity that lies before them.

Minnesota's state finances are a scandal and a disgrace. The state needs a legislature that will be vigorous enough to cut off every waste and every abuse, but big enough to reduce useless expenses without harmfully curtailing useful ones.

To that end, the state needs in its legislature the best and biggest and ablest men each district can impress into the state's service. Doing away with partisanship makes it easier to pick such men.

It may not be so long before the progress of the language leads to classification of bigamy as "interlocking of families."

WAR ON WHAT?

Ex-Senator Foraker rears himself from the political tomb to say that "the time has come to help business." The New York Sun, in commenting on his speech, reduces its essence to this form:

> The time has come to help business.
> War upon railroads is practically war upon all other kinds of business.
> War on business is war on ourselves.

As to Foraker, he put in his political lifetime "helping business"—into the pretty pickle which business so helped has found itself in late years.

But what are they talking about, anyway? Who has made "war" on railroads? Who has made "war" on business interests?

Many have made war on Wall Street exploitation of railroads as pawns in a great gambling game; but they never offered any harm to legitimate railroad business.

Many have made war on business conspiracies to plunder the public; but they never offered or intended any harm to legitimate enterprise of any kind.

The Pittsburg Dispatch wants to know, too:

> What is "war upon the railroads?" Literally interpreted it would mean tearing up their tracks, burning their trains and seizing their stations and terminals. Certainly if anyone should propose such steps he would meet with universal condemnation.
> But is it war upon the railroads to enact laws to prevent them from favoritism in rates or making unreasonable charges? If so, the system has grown to its present magnitude under a state of war in theory, since those practices have been illegal from the time that the first railroad started its first train. Only the trouble inserts itself that for the greater part of the past fifty years the law has not been enforced.
> Is it war on business when the railroads are asking the privilege of increasing their freight rates by a percentage that would mean an increase of $100,000,000 per year on the entire freight business of the country, which must all be paid by other classes of business, to declare that they must make their case plain?

In twenty years of protest and rising revolt, now reaping its victory, not a rail has been torn up, not a train wrecked, not a depot burned. There has been no war on railroads, no war on business.

Some measures that were ill-advised have been proposed, it is true, but they have harmed no one.

None of them are laws.

Many sound proposals, on the other hand, have become laws, and, more important still, they are now being enforced.

The voice of Foraker is an echo from other days.

Laborers in Nuremberg have had a 9 per cent increase in wages since 1910. Now they get 88 cents a day.

CUTTING OUT THE MUFFLER CUT-OUT.

The nuisance of the muffler-cut-out, after the virtual failure of various methods of contending with it, seems about to be abated in a manner that hardly had been thought of by those who had been combatting it.

The manufacturers are ceasing to put it on their cars.

That will be glad news to people with nerves. The muffler cut-out, so far as the average observer can see, serves no useful purpose except to graitfy that type of automobilist who delights in making all the noise he can, and who loves to come sky-hooting down the street, screeching and sputtering and exploding and making various uncouth noises all to this effect: "Here I come! Look at me! I own an automobile, and even though I am little better than half-witted, I am allowed to run it! Look at me! Here I go!"

If the manufacturers have taken a tumble—and they seem to have done so—and are cutting out the muffler cut-out—the public will surely rejoice.

Now comes the suggestion to stick a pin through the cork of every bottle of poison in the house, so as not to make a mistake in the dark. Seems to be one way of getting stuck when you go for the drinks.

If You Talk About Snow You Will Scare It Away

From London Answers.

Why, I do believe it's beginning to snow!" incredulously exclaimed Willie Smith.

"'Ush!" begged Carrots in anxiety. "Don't breathe or it might change its mind. Cough and begin to talk aloud about something else."

"But it is snowing!" asserted Willie. "Look, it's beginning to come down quite fast."

"I love the snow," stated Carrots.

"It's coming on much faster," observed Willie. "What a pity it didn't start earlier. I've got to go indoors in a few minutes. Carrots," he advised earnestly, "don't you ever learn the piano!"

"Not me," agreed Carrots. "Seems to me that it ties you to 'ome so, that you might just as well be married. We'll 'ave a fine time in the snow to-morrow, to make up for it."

"A snowman?" eagerly suggested Willie.

"A snow regiment," ambitiously amended Carrots. "And we'll make some snowballs, too. There's three or four people 'oo I want to put 'paid' to their account with a snowball."

"No stones in 'em, though," stipulated Willie.

"No fear. It wouldn't be sporting. Besides, if you squeeze 'em proper, stones couldn't make 'em any 'arder. 'Ard snowballs for 'ard people, soft ones for soft ones—that's my motto."

"That old chap what chased me three streets just 'cos I asked 'im where 'e 'id on the fifth of November—well, 'e gets a 'ard one. 'E's number one on the list for tomorrow. Then there's the chap at the picture palace—'im in the medals and the hovercoat big enough for 'is father. I owes 'im one, and I'll pay 'im in the morning.

"What's he done to you?"

"It's a bit 'ard to explain," admitted Carrots. "But I've noticed that whenever I goes past 'is picture palace without a copper in my pocket 'e's always shouting 'is loudest what a fine show there is hinside. Still," he said graciously, "I won't 'urt 'im. 'I'll be just, without being 'arsh."

"What else shall we do?"

"We could 'ave a toboggan," said Carrots. "That's easy enough, if you can find a tea tray when your ma ain't looking. You've only got to sit down on it at the top of a 'ill and say, "'Ome, James!' and you finds yourself at the bottom of the 'ill, trying to push a lamppost over."

"Perhaps we shall get some skating," suggested Willie.

"Not unless you pay a bob for it and go roller skating," replied Carrots. "I ain't ever roller skated, but I'm blowed if I can see the fun of shifting round on casters like a dining room table. But we shan't get any skating with this snow. May get a slide or two."

"I love sliding," said Willie.

"So do I. It's all right when you're standing straight and whizzing along like a telegraph boy going to a football match.

"It's that hawful moment when you don't know whether your last moment'll be your next that I don't care for. You know, when your 'ead is pointing to 2 o'clock and your foot is pointing to 11 o'clock. That's when you finds what a 'ard world this is."

"We might make a few slides on front doorsteps," suggested Willie. "I'm sure my father would never mind a little joke like that."

"Depends 'oose doorstep it was," said Carrots. "Some men'll laugh like fury at a chap slipping upon a banana skin, and yet they'll slap the nearest kid's 'ead if they themselves 'appen to fall over a loose 'alf brick.

"'Ere, I know," he went on, in sudden excitement. "We'll make a bit of money tomorrow sweeping snow away from doorsteps—eh?"

"Fine," agreed Willie with enthusiasm. "Fust of all, we'll sweep a few doorsteps, so's to buy some sweets and things. Then we'll make some snowmen. Then we'll snowball a few people. Then we'll try tobogganning. Then we'll make a slide. And then——"

"Stow it, you silly kid!" disgustedly ordered Carrots. "Look what's 'appened! It's stopped snowing and started to rain!"

When "Dreamland" Is No State of Bliss

H. De Vere Stacpoole in the London Globe.

Why do we use the word dreamland as a formula to express scenes of beauty and states of bliss? For myself, and I am sure I speak for a large proportion of humanity, dreamland is about as beautiful and blissful a place as, shall we say, Gower street. Less, for Gower street has at least two practicable ends by which you can escape to better things, whereas in dreamland the ways of escape nearly always lead to things that are worse, and, as one is frequently escaping from things in this detestable country, one is nearly always exchanging bad for worse in the attempt.

Only last night I was escaping from a steam roller which was chasing me—a way they have in dreamland—when I found my path blocked by the official end of a hippopotamus. That the hippopotamus turned into a house door was a fact in development that brought me no surprise nor indeed relief, for the house door introduced me to a company of evil people, each one far worse than the steam roller, and in escaping from them I ended the dream—stuck fast in a flue.

I do not know what inherent malice of mind sets the stage for a dream like that, but I do know that it is constructive in a feeble sort of way, and that it is the chief demon of the miserable set of demons who have, no doubt, been turned out of hades for stupidity, and let loose to amuse themselves in this misbegotten land that the poets rave about.

I count seven of these larvae as personal acquaintances, and though I have never seen them, I know them by their works, and it gives me the deepest pleasure to expose them in print.

First, there is the feeble and evil dramatist before mentioned; secondly, the demon who presides over the railway stations one is always trying to reach, and the trains one is always losing, and the dreamland railway porters, who are so exactly and horribly like the real things that I believe railway porters are the only real things that ever enter dreamland without change—perhaps because they never leave it.

Thirdly, the devil who takes all my clothes away from me with the exception of a shirt, which he has carefully washed and laundered beforehand so as to shrink it properly, and who turns me just so into a drawing room full of people to whom a shirt, however well laundered, does not seem to appeal.

Fourthly, there is the honors distributer, who tells me that the king has made me a duke, and Mr. Rockefeller has made me his heir, and sets me hunting through the Morning Post to see for myself the glorious news in print. Glimpses of the tidings are here and there, glimpses that never lead to anything but advertisements for lost dogs or leading articles about tariff reform. Fifthly, sixthly, seventhly—you know them all perhaps as well as I do. Futile fools, malevolent, yet incapable of anything but small and evil tricks with which to rob a person of his or her self-respect, comfort—and even clothing.

I had forgotten the boot demon, who runs away with one's boots in the middle of Cornhill, let him be satisfied, he is not the only one forgotten, from the barber devil who shaves one's head in mistake for one's chin, to the mean beasts who dress themselves up as polar bears and purple cows, and chase unfortunate children over the delectable hills of dreamland. Physicians tell me all these supposed evil ones have their real homes in plum duff and toasted cheese, and that, if you could see a theater supper table set out with the edibles, each top knotted with its contained sprite, so filled would your mind be with horror that you would never look at a theater supper again.

I do not believe this libel on honest food, the evil is essential to the place wherein it is experienced, it pervades everything there from the firm ice that breaks under your foot to the motorcar that turns into a coster's barrow under you in the middle of Piccadilly. It is in the air of the place as well as in the bodies of the residential devils. For one whiff of that noxious air which blows across the hills of dreamland renders a man capable of accepting any proposition incapable of consideration by common sense.

Apply Pure Food Laws to Children's Books

Scribner's Magazine: It is time that the pure food laws should be applied to the literary fare offered to American school children. A certain amount of quack literature is being circulated in our schools, with laudable intentions but with inevitably disastrous results to the literary taste of the younger generation. Not many months pass without the publication, in words of one or two syllables, of a new version of some famous masterpiece, or some form of "simplification" of a large topic. Only yesterday I saw an announcement of a book which "includes all that a well-bred child should know about mythology."

Not all these books are injurious; some really nourish the intellectual powers; but others, speciously simple in appearance, have in reality a subtle poison that eventually undermines the aesthetic health of a child, and induces a fatal sluggishness and intellectual power.

Of the pedagogical reasons which make us hesitate to give our young a surfeit of great plots, as we hesitate to give them a surfeit of sweets or of sours, I will not speak, nor will I venture to allude to the hideous priggishness engendered in children who are given the treasury of literature while they still lisp. The "well-bred" child of today recognizes any allusion to history, painting, literature, and mythology. He can set his elders right on many details.

Writers show a misdirected zeal for overloading a child's memory by acquaintance with the mere names of the great characters in history and in fiction. What advantage is there in knowing the fact that Siegfried is a character in an opera by Wagner, that Sidney Carton appears in "The Tale of Two Cities," by one Charles Dickens, and that Apollo is the Greek god of the sun? The miserable child of today has to swallow so many drops of tincture of art, so many of syrup of fiction, and so many of aqua mythologicalis. What wonder that he disdains the printed page? There are facts that cultured people should know, but why should they be learned mechanically, as people add accounts? Why should living organisms be torn from their environment, to lose all their significance, and become mere isloated data, like the objects in a boy's pocket?

Cerebral Shortage.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Trust busting operations under the present administration are in charge of a young man so quiet and modest that he looks as if he would not molest even a kitten.

George Carroll Todd is the young trust-buster's name, and he is about as self-effacing, unassuming a chap as could have been selected to go forth with his legal war-stick and slay the dragon. Unconsciously, or subconsciously, one falls into the habit of thinking of a trust-buster as a mighty person who ought to be about the size of Ollie James with the cocksure manner of an insurance agent, and a voice like a Klaxon horn. Todd isn't at all like that. He is 35 years old and has short, neatly combed, prematurely gray hair. But he has a boyish face and a boyish modesty. Take a bashful youth and place him in the center of a dining room at a young ladies' seminary and he would be about as much at ease as Todd would if called upon to talk upon his own achievements.

Yet do not get the impression that Todd is lacking in self-confidence or that he is afraid of a trust. He will walk right up to a trust, but experience has taught him that when hunting trusts it is a wise precaution to go armed—armed, that is, with all the necessary legal papers and formalities.

You see, trust-busting is a different proposition from an old-fashioned country lawyer trying a murder case. Scaring a wicked corporation into submission isn't just a matter of glaring at a jury through heavy-rimmed spectacles, shouting, waving one's arms like semaphores, and mussing up one's hair. The cases have to be argued, of course, but the great thing is to know what one is about before one starts. And that is where Todd comes in. He is a good man to have around when it comes to framing up the papers. Almost from the day he left the law school he has been devoting himself to exasperating trusts, and he knows just which way a trust will turn when driven into a corner.

When he was a youngster, pursuing his legal education here in Washington, Todd prepared a thesis on "The Government Control of Corporations." That must have given him an idea, although he did not know it at the time. When he was cast out into the big wide world to practice law, he found himself without enough money to open a large, sumptuous office with a corps of blonde stenographers and row after row of leather-bound statutes. So he took the civil service examination for a place in the department of justice, intending to stay there only until he could accumulate car fare and a small stake.

That was in 1903 when anti-trust legislation was just coming into fashion, along with the Marcel wave. Judge W. A. Day, now president of the Equitable Life Insurance company, was then in the department of justice as the first of our trust-busters, and Todd made up his mind to apply for a job as Day's assistant. For it occurred to him that trust-busting was a promising young industry, and that he might get in on the ground floor.

Being a modest, bashful young man Todd asked for the job with a good deal of timidity.

"You think you can do some trust-smashing, do you?" asked Day, looking him over.

"Yes, I could try, sir," replied Todd, meekly, like a Horatio Alger hero.

A trust, if it could have seen Todd then would not have been afraid of him at all, but Day took him on and within two or three months young Todd drew up the briefs for one or two of the most important anti-trust cases of those times. Day had him draw them up with a view to working them over himself, but they were so well done that he found no occasion to add so much as a comma.

In that way did young Mr. Trust-buster Todd become an anti-trust lawyer. He went to New York a couple of years later and associated himself with James C. McReynolds. And that is how he happens to come back to Washington now with the title of assistant to the attorney general, to occupy the same room in the department of justice where he had his desk when he obtained his first legal job ten years ago.

He assisted McReynolds in the anthracite coal case when both were in private practice in New York, and in several others, including the tobacco trust suit. He was also assistant to Mr. Untermyer as counsel for the committee of congress that investigated the money trust.

When McReynolds became attorney general, Todd was the first man he thought of for the place of chief trust walloper.

And in consequence of his several years of association with McReynolds in New York, Todd can automatically reflect McReynolds' notions of what ought to be done. He knows as well how McReynolds desires to proceed at the trust-smashing jousts as McReynolds does himself.

"To Wave the Bloody Shirt."

Baltimore Sun: The origin of this phrase was given by Roscoe Conkling in a speech made in New York Sept. 17, 1880. Referring to the bloody shirt, he said: "It is a relief to remember that this phrase, with the thing it means, is no invention of our politics. It dates back to Scotland, three centuries. After a massacre at Glenfruin, not so savage as that which has stained our annals, 220 widows rode on white palfreys to Sterling tower bearing each on a spear her husband's bloody shirt. The appeal waked Scotland's slumbering sword and outlawry and the block made the name of Glenfruin terrible to the victorious Clan Alpine even to the third and fourth generation."

High and Low.

Cardiff Western Mail: Naturally the clergyman was annoyed when the waiter asked if the luncheon party would be High Church or Low Church. "What on earth has that to do with you?" he demanded. "A great deal, sir," explained the waiter; "if your friends are High Church I must provide more wine; if Low Church more wittles!"

An Important Consideration.

Washington Star: "What reform will you advocate?" asked the friend.

"I don't know," answered the woman who had just returned from a trip around the world. "What reform is most fashionable at present?"

Another Sign of Old Age.

Atchison Globe: When you begin to wish that all your rooms were on the ground floor you are beginning to become old.

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

There's Nothing Unusual In It.

Grand Rapids Independent: "The Great Northern has laid off a large number of brakemen. Seattle has 5,000 in the bread line. Nearly 1,000 men have been laid off in the iron mines in Minnesota. What's coming?" says the Park Rapids Clipper. "Another season of great activity when the railroads, the mines and the farms can't get enough men," is probably the answer, Bro. Ward. It seems hard, but this good old world does not seem to have been built so that all classes of labor could be employed the year round.

This Is Frank Enough.

Deerwood Times: Among other important documents received this week, was a copy of the resolutions adopted by the Chatfield "Everson club." Unless accompanied by some remuneration, considerable postage could be saved in the mailing of this class of matter to the Times. We are not in the business solely to help elect public officials—the H. C. of L. has settled that. During the coming campaign we shall hesitate in declaring ourselves for any candidate who fails to appreciate the fact that newspaper support is worth having, and that the printer needs the money for his services just as much as the candidate needs the job. This does not mean that we have no choice. It means that we want the "kale" for what we say. If newspaper support is worth soliciting, it is worth paying for.

It Would Help Them.

Princeton News: The principal reason why the farmers don't sell more produce direct to the consumer, with a profit on both ends, seems to be that it would call on them to work their brains rather than their hands. Advertise!

Yes, Just This Once, Anyway.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: The proposition to have the government build some real roads covering the main lines of the country is the best yet. Not only can the country afford it, but it will be a splendid investment and will add to the pleasure, health and happiness of the people. And no plan of internal improvements during the history of the government would be of direct benefit to so large a percentage of the people. We have been aiding the railroads with big land grants, and have been spending billions on the rivers and harbors for the water crafts. Now expend a little loose change for the mere people.

Who Would You Recover From?

Fairmont Independent: The next legislature should pass a law similar to the employers' liability act; the proposed law should insure employers of labor against damage caused by careless ones and neglect of their employes in the breaking of machinery, destroying of goods and manufactured product, and against the violation of contracts by laboring men engaged for a specific time, who coolly walk away and leave their employers, most generally at a time when they are needed the most.

And Both Play Safe.

Baudette Region: The press of the civilized world continues to heap praise upon the head of President Woodrow Wilson, the man who stands true to his ante-election pledges. The United States tariff has been radically revised, and the second great work is the passage of the currency bill, a measure that the president declares will reorganize the American nation's banking system. In the president there is honesty, in measure running over, he has won the confidence of the people. All things in the right direction are possible with such a man. He trusts the people; the people are trusting him.

He Must Be Reckoned With.

Princeton Union: James A. Peterson has announced that he is a candidate for governor, and he will make an opponent worthy of any man's steel. That "Jim" is a vote getter was conclusively shown in his campaign against Knute Nelson for the United States senate in 1912, when he polled 63,431 votes against Nelson's 88,145.

Right Man for the Place.

Albert Lea Standard: Although the mission of John Lind to Mexico, which has been to eliminate Huerta, has not been accomplished, his work has been none the less important. He has become thoroughly advised as to conditions there—no man is equally so—he has fully informed President Wilson thereof and thus his services have been of great value. He personifies the policy of President Wilson, which is to avoid the calamity of armed intervention, to wait and watch and give the Mexicans a free opportunity to fight it out and settle their own affairs.

Thus Lind has staunchly remained on duty, "patient, keen-eyed and implacable, the grim image of Uncle Sam," relentless only in the determination to save his country, if possible, from the tremendous sacrifices of a thankless war.

The Medical Value of Rest.

The Family Doctor: The value of rest in the medical management of acute inflammatory and infectious diseases is not fully appreciated. Its effect on the circulation is significant. The average daily output of energy by the heart is 400,000 foot-pounds. By simple rest in bed it is possible to save the heart a daily expenditure of 50,000 foot-pounds of energy. The faster the heart beats, the less time it has for rest; so that decreasing the pulse rate saves the heart. Again, in the recumbent position this organ is saved the labor of elevating that part of the blood which goes to parts above its own level. Rest of the voluntary muscles is still more important. An immense amount of energy evolved in muscle movement is conserved by rest in bed.

Thy Will Be Done.

Not in dumb resignation
We lift our hands on high;
Not like the nerveless fatalist
Content to trust and die.
Our faith springs like the eagle
Who soars to meet the sun,
And cries exulting unto Thee
O Lord, Thy will be done!

When tryant feet are trampling
Upon the common weal,
Thou dost not bid us bend and writhe
Beneath the iron heel.
In Thy name we assert our right
By sword or tongue or pen,
And oft a people's wrath may flash
Thy message unto men.

Thy will! It strengthens weakness,
It bids the strong be just;
No lip to fawn, no hand to beg,
No brow to seek the dust.
Wherever man oppresses man
Beneath Thy liberal sun
O Lord be there Thine arm made bare,
Thy righteous will be done!

—John Hay.

Twenty Years Ago

From the Herald of this date, 1894.

Former United States Senator Henry M. Rice of St. Paul died at San Antonio, Tex., yesterday, aged 78. He was one of the builders of the state of Minnesota. He was on the survey of the Sault Ste. Marie canal in 1837, and subsequently, as agent of a fur trading company, established trading posts from Lake Superior to the Red river. Mr. Rice became interested in land around what is now the city of Duluth, and Rice's Point in this city was named after him. He acted as United States commissioner in making many treaties with the Indians. Settling in St. Paul in 1849, he was elected a delegate from Minnesota territory to congress in 1853 and 1855 and procured the legislation for the admission of Minnesota into the Union. He was then elected to the United States senate, serving from May, 1858, to March, 1863. Mr. Rice was the founder of Bayfield, Wis., and Munising, Mich., and gave Rice park to the city of St. Paul.

Fred Patton has returned from Minneapolis to again become a resident of West Duluth.

Mrs. H. Schwalm of Bay View Heights has returned from Lansing, Mich, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Morfsky, who will visit here for some time.

Next week, Col. W. F. Cody, president of the Cody-Powell Panmalt company, will arrive in a special car from La Crosse, Wis., where the company's factory is located. Col. Cody, better known as Buffalo Bill, will be accompanied by Dr. Frank Powell and several other capitalists, who will visit Duluth to investigate its claims as a suitable place for the headquarters of the Panmalt company. Col. Cody is already the owner of considerable Duluth realty.

J. F. Bishoff, Sr., of Superior, one of the best known old settlers at the Head of the Lakes, died yesterday in Superior from heart trouble caused by the grip. He was 83 years of age.

The ice is gradually breaking up in the lake. Open water is now plainly visible from the houses on Third street, and the lake appears to be open a very short distance below Lester river.

Charlie Lee Sing, who keeps the Chinese store near Lake avenue, left today for Louisville, Ky., to visit his brother, who is ill.

The stockholders of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad held a special meeting yesterday and decided to double track the road from Duluth to Iron Junction, to complete the ore docks at the West end and to finish the terminals and increase the equipment of the road. For these purposes it was decided to issue second mortgage bonds to the amount of $3,500,000.

Bryan as a Spellsman.

Washington correspondent of the San Francisco Argonaut: One of the most humorous sidelights on the ingenuity displayed by the secretary of state in his effort to cancel his political obligations is described by some of his Nebraska associates. There is one position in the department of state that is very hard to fill. The salary is not large and the work requires thorough application and a complete mastery of statistics. The position is not the kind that usually appeals to a politician.

Bryan has reserved this position exclusively for the political boll weevil of Nebraska. When one of his Nebraska supporters becomes particularly annoying in demanding a position, Bryan appoints him to this statistical job. The Nebraskan usually sets to work with great zeal. He finds the work piling up, but he feels sure that he will soon be able to get it out of the way and have the usual leisurely time which the average politician expects when he takes a government position. As the days go on, however, he finds that he has not made even the slightest impression on the pile of work that remains to be done; that he must labor at a desk from early in the morning until late in the evening; and that he is no farther ahead at the end of the day than he was at the beginning. After two weeks he becomes disgusted, throws up the job and goes back to Nebraska.

It is stated that not less than four Nebraskans have had this job since Bryan came into office. Bryan never cracks a smile as he offers it to a new man, but it is probable that he realizes fully the humor of the situation and feels that the position is one of the best that ever came under the jurisdiction of a secretary of state. It can be worked indefinitely to cancel obligations, with the realization that no man will keep it very long and that all will be thoroughly disgusted with government work.

"JOHN AND PETER AND ROBERT AND PAUL."

To the Editor of The Herald:

I am most anxious to get hold of a poem which I believe you published during November, 1913, beginning "James, and John, and Peter, and Paul, God in His mercy created them all." Would it be possible for you to reprint it some time when you are short of copy? Yours truly,

MARGARET J. QUILLIARD.

Duluth, Jan. 15.

The Chemistry of Character.

John, and Peter, and Robert, and Paul,
God in His Wisdom created them all;
John was a statesman, and Peter a slave,
Robert a preacher, and Paul—was a knave.
Evil or good, as the case might be,
White or colored, or bond or free—
John, and Peter, and Robert, and Paul,
God in His wisdom created them all.

Out of earth's elements, mingled with flame,
Out of life's compounds of glory and shame,
Fashioned and shaped by no will of their own,
And helplessly into life's history thrown;
Born by the law that compels man to be,
Born to conditions they could not foresee,
John, and Peter, and Robert, and Paul,
God in His wisdom created them all.

John was the head and heart of his state,
Was trusted and honored, was noble and great;
Peter was made 'neath life's burdens to groan,
And never once dreamed that his soul was his own;
Robert, great glory and honor received,
For zealously preaching what no one believed;
While Paul, of the pleasures of sin took his fill,
And gave up his life in the service of ill.

It chanced that these men, in their passing away
From earth and its conflicts, all died the same day;
John was mourned, through the length and breadth of the land,
Peter fell 'neath the lash in a merciless hand;
Robert died with the praise of the Lord on his tongue,
While Paul was convicted of murder, and hung.
John, and Peter, and Robert, and Paul—
The purpose of life was fulfilled in them all.

Men said of the statesman: "How noble and brave!"
But of Peter, alas!—"He is only a slave!"
Of Robert: "'Tis well with his soul, it is well;"
While Paul they consigned to the torments of hell.
Born by one law, through all nature the same,
What made them different, and who was to blame?
John, and Peter, and Robert and Paul—
God in His wisdom created them all.

Out in that region of infinite light,
Where the soul of the black man is pure as the white;
Out where the spirit, through sorrow made wise,
No longer resorts to deceptions and lies;
Out where the flesh can no longer control
The freedom and faith of the God-given soul,
Who shall determine what change may befall
John, and Peter, and Robert, and Paul?

John may in wisdom and goodness increase;
Peter rejoice in an infinite peace;
Robert may learn that the truths of the Lord
Are more in the spirit and less in the word;
And Paul may be blessed with a holier birth
Than the patience of man had allowed him on earth;
John, and Peter and Robert, and Paul,
God in his mercy will care for them all.

NATIONAL PROHIBITION.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In a recent issue of The Herald you print an editorial on "National Prohibition," in which you take the very sensible ground that men cannot be made sober by act of congress, and, besides, such regulation is not the proper function of the Federal government. You say:

"With three-quarters of the country's area and more than a majority of its population living today in 'dry' territory, the per capita consumption of liquor is as great as it ever was in the country's history. A better showing than that will be necessary before an appeal for national prohibition can be successfully made."

You say that "Prohibition in advance of an overwhelming public demand for prohibition is worse than ineffective—it is an invitation to hypocrisy and law-breaking, a deliberate manufacture of contempt for all law. Men will not be good because they have to. They are getting better very rapidly because they want to."

That there is no demand for national prohibition that would prohibit is evidenced by the fact that the people of this country consumed 140,418,289 gallons of distilled spirits and 2,022,611,876 gallons of beer during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1913, according to the official reports of the United States commissioner of internal revenue and the census bureau. This was an average annual consumption of 22.25 gallons for ever man, woman and child in the United States. In 1896, when there was little "no-license" territory, the average annual per capita consumption was only 16.52 gallons. As you truly observe, a better showing will have to be made before national prohibition can be sustained.

Regulation is the solution of the liquor problem. Prohibition tends to create disrespect for all laws because it is not enforced by reason of the demands of the American people for stimulating beverages. Wherever there is such demand it will be supplied. In "no-license" territory it is supplied through the unlawful agency of speak-easies or bootleggers or through the lawful agency of interstate shipments. Those who receive whisky in large quantities—by the jug or case—are apt to drink more of it than they would if permitted to go into a licensed place and take a drink occasionally.

The liquor question should be taken out of politics. The National Model License league, made up of leading distillers, brewers, wholesale and retail liquor dealers and others who have given the subject serious consideration, is urging constructive legislation along these lines:

A liquor license once issued should carry with it the right of renewal so long as the dealer obeys the law and the community in which it is issued does not vote for "no-license." The license should be suspended for thirty days upon the holder's first conviction of violation of law and permanently cancelled upon second conviction.

No new license should be issued until the proportion is one for each 500 of population. The license fee should be reasonable; excessive high license must inevitably tempt the dealer to resort to unfair or unlawful methods.

Very respectfully,

T. M. GILMORE,
President National Model License League.

IDLE MEN ON THE COAST.

To the Editor of The Herald:

A clipping from your paper dated San Francisco, Jan. 2, and probably appearing that afternoon—if not, the next day—sets forth a statement of which the following is an extract:

"California has approximately 100,000 idle men. San Francisco's jobless are estimated at 20,000, Los Angeles 35,000, Portland 15,000 and Seattle about 20,000."

Whoever sent that dispatch to you ought to be hung up by the toes and kicked to death by spiders!

There is not the slightest foundation in fact for any such statement—although the inauguration of a new tariff by a new party has necessarily prostrated business throughout the United States, including the Pacific coast, and such prostration will continue until business can adjust itself to the new tariff conditions.

Incidentally, the tariff has been taken off of timber and its products when sawed. That lets the coolie cut timber of British Columbia into Washington without charge, as well as the finished product.

This tariff lets British Columbia coal into Washington free of duty—and the two have temporarily prostrated lumber and coal business in the Pacific Northwest.

The unemployed in the Pacific Northwest consists almost entirely of men heretofore cutting timber in the woods, and men sawing lumber into its products at the mills.

The best estimate that can be made in Seattle of these unemployed, who came to Seattle with plenty of money to last them a few months, as a rule, is about 4,000—and the city and county provided for their care until the lumber camps and mills shall reopen, which will occur as soon as the lumbermen and mill men can adjust their business to the new schedules of the tariff.

The probable number of idle men in Portland do not exceed the number in Seattle, but about half of those arise from the fact that the great boom of building and public improvements which has been going on in that city for three and a half years, has come to a very serious curtailment, as all such booms do, and at least one-half of their idle men are the result of a discontinuance of public improvements and new buildings.

The number of idle men in San Francisco has not materially increased since they restored the city from the effects of the great earthquake, which occurred on the 18th of April, 1906, and which improvements were completed about 1910.

The losses by fire and earthquake at that time, you know, exceeded $300,000,000, but the insurance companies paid $265,000,000, and the expenditure of that amount of money in the restoration of the city caused a great influx of men from everywhere, and when the city was restored and things got back to normal conditions, there was necessarily a great surplus of men who immediately sought work elsewhere.

Frisco has no more idle men today than she has had for the last three years.

Los Angeles is very much in the same class with Portland, her idle men consisting of those who have been steadily employed for years in the great boom that has prevailed throughout Southern California, and possibly reach 10,000 men—but 10,000 men is 25,000 less than 35,000, as stated in your dispatch.

Five thousand men in Frisco is 15,000 less than 20,000.

Five thousand men in Portland is 10,000 less than 15,000, as stated, and 4,000 in Seattle is 16,000 less than the story your correspondent tells.

Your man very evidently leaves out Tacoma, which has her proportion of unemployed men; and especially leaves out Vancouver, B. C., which has suffered more from depression than any American city on the Pacific coast.

An inquiry of the Associated Press develops the fact that no such dispatch was sent out by it. Therefore it was obtained from some irresponsible whelp to whom you are paying cash, I suppose, on the "string" basis—and therefore the bigger the lie the longer the string, and hence the cause of the lying.

You will do the city of Seattle a favor—only justice—as well as all the other cities I have defended, if you publish the plain truth—and keep in mind that just as likely as not a still hunt in Duluth might find a very large number of persons out of employment.

Respectfully, A. J. BLETHEN.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 12.

The Herald is glad to give Mr. Blethen an opportunity to present Seattle's case, which he does vigorously. However, we must confess that our feeling toward those who ascribe the inevitable results of over-booming to "the inauguration of a new tariff by a new party" are very much like his feeling toward the sender of the dispatch he quotes. And Mr. Blethen says that anybody who would do that ought to be "hung up by the toes and kicked to death by spiders."—The Editor.

SCHOOL FOR EMPLOYES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Several days ago there appeared in The Herald an interview by one of our retail merchants on the difficulty of getting competent help, and he believed the solution to the problem is in a course of business training at the public schools.

While the writer believes that the more education a person gets, the better fitted they are to win success; yet education alone is not going to make for efficiency.

The Union School of Salesmanship of Boston was quoted as an example of what has been done for increasing the earning power of the students.

The writer would suggest to the merchant who has trouble in getting efficient help, that he start a school for his own employes. One-half hour a day would soon work wonders. He could have his employes report at the usual time in the morning and, instead of opening the store, devote one-half hour to study, and then they would be better fitted for their day's task.

Suggestion No. 2 would be that as they become more efficient, to spur them on to greater efforts by a proper reward, for there is nothing that will make a clerk take more interest in his work than for him to feel that his services are appreciated and that he is to receive a fair wage for his labor.

From the writer's experience as an employer of labor, he has found that it pays not only as a matter of dollars and cents to give a good wage, but from a standpoint of good citizenship, and better morals, and he believes that for this reason, he has never had trouble in getting and keeping efficient employes.

IMPROVEMENT IN IRON TRADE

Substantial improvement is reported in the iron and steel trade situation in the East and manufacturers generally are now feeling hopeful.

As a result of the placing of belated orders in various lines, several hundred additional men have been placed at work this week in the Pittsburg and Sharon districts. The leading independents are said to have shared equally with the United States Steel corporation in the betterment. It is in fact intimated at Pittsburg that the Jones & Laughlin company has had a larger percentage of new order sthan the Carnegie Steel company.

It is regarded as significant that after withdrawing its quotations from the market a week ago, the American Steel & Wire company has advanced its price of wire and wire nails $1 per ton to the old quotations in effect a month ago.

An official of the company says that a good supply of orders is being taken at present. Offers of contracts for future delivery on the present basis of quotations are reported to have been turned down.

SOUR, UPSET STOMACHS FIXED IN FIVE MINUTES --- PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN

Best for Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn and Dyspepsia—It's Great!

When your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large fifty-cent cases contain enough "Pape's Diapepsin" to keep the entire family free from stomach disorders and indigestion for many months. It belongs in your home.

Wise Investors Are Taking Advantage of Our Sale of Furs and Fur Coats at ¼ Off

The coldest weather of the winter is just ahead and there are nearly three months of fur wearing before us and this sale offers furs of the very highest class made up in the styles preferred by fashion at ¼ off our regular low prices.

Your regular every day trade is worth more to us than your fur buying, for when you buy furs you supply your needs for years to come.

Consequently we would rather not sell you furs than sell you furs which would not give you entire satisfaction—hence we have carefully selected our stock; you will find the furs exactly as represented, our original prices exactly as claimed and the reductions precisely as stated.

We urge you to see our furs, and learn our prices before buying. We will not urge you to buy.

We believe your own good judgment will decide in our favor—it's natural for us to think so from the business now coming to us from those who have carefully considered the Fur Market.

JURY DISREGARDS SANITY OPERATION.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—A jury here disregarded the testimony of Dr. E. H. Pratt that he had by an operation restored to sanity a prisoner who, when he stole two trunks, was insane. The defendant was convicted. The defendant, Harry Hershon, collapsed when Judge McDonald sentenced him to an indeterminate period in prison. His was the first case here where Dr. Pratt's operation was made the chief basis of the defense.

Nearly 400 people attended the dance given by the party last evening at Coffin's dancing academy.

Pimples Often the Source of Serious Blood Trouble

In thousands of instances blood troubles have been the result of coming in contact with disease germs in public places. And the apparently insignificant pimple has been the cause. It spreads with astonishing rapidity, often infecting the entire system in a few days.

It is fortunate, however, that there is a remedy to cope quickly and thoroughly with such a condition, in the famous S. S. S.

This preparation stands alone as a blood purifier. It is somewhat revolutionary in its composition, since it has accomplished all that was ever claimed for mercury, iodides, arsenic, and other destructive mineral drugs, and yet it is absolutely a purely vegetable product. It contains one ingredient which serves the active purpose of stimulating each tiny cellular part of the tissues to the healthy and judicious selection of its own essential nutriment. There are more cases of articular rheumatism, locomotor ataxia, paresis, neuritis, and similar diseases resultant from the use of minerals than most people are aware of. These facts are brought out in a highly interesting book compiled by the medical department of The Swift Specific Co., 304 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. It is mailed free, together with special information, to all who write describing their symptoms.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. to-day, but be careful not to have something palmed off on you falsely claimed to be "just as good."

The only reason why anyone will try to sell you something in place of S. S. S. is the extra profit.

SHAME WAS UNENDURABLE

Woodsman Tries to Hang Himself in the City Jail.

Fell Into Platter of Eggs—Made Fun of By Prisoners.

Ashamed and mortified because he had been arrested in the morning for being drunk and humiliated by fellow prisoners who jeered him for having fallen head first into a platter of soft-fried eggs, Gust Carlson, a woodsman, 35 years old, tried to hang himself in the city jail at 8:30 last night.

Fastening his necktie to a bar of the upper tier of cells he slipped an improvised noose about his neck and threw his feet from under him. John Martin, locked up for begging, heard him gasping and choking for breath. After one glance at the suspended form he summoned the jailer by pounding frantically on the iron door. The police responded quickly and cut Carlson down without loss of time. He was still breathing and quickly recovered without the assistance of the pulmotor. A bucket of cold water thrown in his face brought him to a sitting posture, spluttering and fully conscious.

Asked why he had tried to kill himself Carlson declared that he was feeling badly because he had never been arrested before and had been "guyed" by others in the bull pen, who ridiculed him because of his ludicrous appearance. One side of his face and head was still a yellow smear from his morning's experience. While sitting on a stool at a lunch counter he began to doze and sway and fell over into a platter of eggs which had just been served to the man sitting next to him.

Carlson had $76 in his pocket when arrested and said that he had been working in a lumber camp on the Alger-Smith line. The police refused to release him on bail last night, fearing that he might repeat his attempt to end his life.

children, and myself. I grieve for her husband. Poor man! I think he knew nothing of the infatuation of his wife for my husband.

"I knew things were approaching a crisis. Two months ago I told my husband that he must choose between us.

Pistol Under His Pillow.

"I thought I would frighten him into giving her up. I told him that unless he consented to break with her I would go to her husband and tell him all I knew. That night I found a loaded pistol under his pillow. I became afraid that he would kill me to prevent me from telling Mr. Kerr. I wrote to my parents in Minneapolis, telling them my fears, and they at once came to Long Beach. I was almost wild.

"Imagine how I felt to see that woman drive up in front of my house every morning in her automobile and take my husband down town—to see him smile at her as he got into the machine and was whirled away, with no thought of me, his wife.

Married In South Dakota.

"We came to Long Beach two years ago from Portland. We had formerly come from Aurora, S. D., where we were married. We had known each other since we were children. I will go home with my parents in the spring."

Kerr, the husband, and his twin sons, aged 19, declare they never heard a breath of suspicion against the wife and mother. The Kerr family is wealthy, Mrs. Kerr occupying a high place in Long Branch social and religious life.

Was Minneapolis Girl.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 16.—Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kelsey, 2956 Polk street northeast, are the parents of Mrs. Cunningham. Anticipation of trouble for their daughter took them to Los Angeles. They left Minneapolis two weeks ago. Mr. Kelsey is president of the Kelsey Realty company.

R. Kelsey, a son living at the Kelsey home since his parents left for Los Angeles, was unmoved at the news of the tragedy and expressed no concern. "We all thought something would happen quick," was all he would say. He did not even ask for details.

Mrs. Cunningham was Sophia Kelsey before her marriage. Her sister, Inez, married Ira Cunningham, a brother of the man in the Los Angeles trouble, a year after her sister's marriage. She lives with her husband at Portland, Or.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cunningham and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Cunningham were in Minneapolis a year ago the past summer to attend a reunion of the family at the Kelsey home here. Neither of the Cunningham families have lived in Minneapolis since their marriages.

sealed, according to information at the county clerk's office.

In South Range "Battle."

The four men taken into custody on the concealed weapons charge are accused of having taken an undue part in the disorders at South Range on Dec. 11. They are Olli Tikkanen, Elli and Lino Lukkonen and John Lampki. These men were arrested at the time of the "battle of the South Range," and it is alleged that they were armed with particularly formidable revolvers and sawed off shotguns.

The sheriff's office learned this morning that W. P. Davidson, the British Columbia member of the executive board of the Western Federation of Miners, and Dan Sullivan, president of the district council, spent the night in the Laurium village jail. The fact that their arrest under the conspiracy indictment returned yesterday had not been reported to headquarters was responsible for a report that they could not be found. A dozen deputy sheriffs searched Hancock for them until today.

Arrested Man Not Accused.

The Laurium deputies also took R. R. Mackenzie of Denver into custody, but released him when they found that he had not been named in the true bill.

The only Federation leader of prominence who had not been served with a warrant during the night was Charles E. Heittala, secretary of the district council. It was intimated at union headquarters that he would surrender as soon as satisfactory arrangements could be made for his release under bonds. Meanwhile bonds were being sought for Davidson and Sullivan and two other union men arrested at Calumet last night. Fourteen of the men taken into custody on the conspiracy charge were released before midnight on bail of $1,000 each.

Extradition Not Sought.

So far as could be learned there is no intention of attempting to obtain the arrest and requisition of Charles H. Moyer, C. E. Mahoney and other national officers of the Union, who are beyond the jurisdiction of the court, on the misdemeanor charge of conspiracy. It is probable that the warrants for these men will be held and served only in case they return to Houghton county.

Indicted With Moyer.

Besides Mr. Moyer, the following were indicted:

C. E. Mahoney, vice president of the Western Federation; J. C. L. Towney, Guy Miller, W. P. Davidson, and Yanko Terzich, members of the executive council of the Western Federation; William J. Rickard and Joe Antilla, president and secretary of the Calumet local; Dan Sullivan and Charles E. Heittala, president and secretary of the Hancock local; Sidney Thomas, president of the Ahmeek local; Ben Goggia, Mor Oppman, John Valimaki, John Dunnigan, Patrick Dunnigan, Heiner Mikko, Andre Petala, Peter Jedda, Henry Koski, John Huhta, John Strizich, Victor Branden, Eino Wiitanen, Frank Aatonen, William Krall, Dolphus Little, Anton Pechauer, James Pauli, W. T. Williams, E. James Rowe, Henry Grebb, Stephen Oberto, Jacob Oliver, George Toth, Louis Fodar, Joseph Gasperich and James Kulick.

Davidson Only There Twice.

With the exception of Mr. Davidson, none of the national officers of the union was in the district. All of them, however, have been here at various stages of the strike, and have taken active parts in directing it. Several of the local men listed in the indictment also are absent.

Davidson has visited the district only twice. Several months ago he was here less than two days, according to information from Federation sources. He reappeared on the scene and addressed a mass meeting of strikers. That his name was not included in the list of indicted men at first was evidenced by the fact it was written into the typewritten document with pen and ink.

Say Jury Is Biassed.

Union men did not seem surprised today that indictments had been returned yesterday against Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, and thirty-seven other union men on charges of conspiracy in connection with the strike of the copper miners.

"This charge is no surprise to us," said Charles E. Heittala, secretary of the Hancock local and one of the men indicted. "It has been openly acknowledged that at least nine of the jurymen owe allegiance to the Citizens' alliance, and that body is frankly the enemy of organized labor. Everything we have done in connection with this strike has been open and aboveboard."

More than a dozen of the thirty-eight indicted had been released on bonds this morning. Deputy sheriffs expected to make other arrests today.

Misdemeanors Charged.

Because of the wording of the bill, the allegations against the union men constitute a misdemeanor. Much interest was manifested by union men today as to the contents of several other true bills which were returned yesterday and which were not made public because they charge felonies. None of the sealed indictments relates to the deportation of President Moyer from Hancock, as far as can be learned.

The indictment against the labor leaders was in three counts, the first and second charging conspiracy to prevent mine employes from pursuing their "lawful vocations." The third count alleged that the conspiracy extended to an attempt to deprive the laborers generally of their property and rights.

Yesterday's report was only partial and the grand jurymen continued their deliberations today.

True Bills "as Club."

Butte, Mont., Jan. 16.—John C. Lowney, member of the executive board of the Western Federation of Miners, when informed that he had been indicted at Houghton, declared his belief the indictments would be held as a club to prevent the strike leaders returning to the Copper country.

"They will not accept property bonds," said Lowney, "and unless we take money we are paying out in strike benefits and put up cash bonds, we shall be held in jail." He declared he would await instructions from President Moyer before returning to Calumet.

Ferris Denies Report.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 16.—Information has been received here that Governor Ferris yesterday telegraphed President Wilson as follows with reference to the strike situation:

"Senator Ashurst reported to have quoted Michigan congressman, Twelfth district, as saying: 'District the Twelfth of Michigan is a part of the United States where constitutional government no longer exists; that the rights of the citizens under our Constitution and under our laws are overthrown and the laws and the Constitution defied.'

"If the congressman from the Twelfth district said that, he said what is false in every particular; that which is a traitorous insult to his own district and the whole state of Michigan. Attorney General Fellows and I spent three days last week in the Copper country. Both of us had been in daily communication with the strike situation. I know what I am talking about. Michigan asks that the truth be told. Michigan has protected the life and property of all her citizens and will continue to do so. Michigan needs no outside help."

Violated Senatorial Courtesy.

Washington, Jan. 16.—A telegram from Govenor Ferris of Michigan branding as "false and traitorous" statements as to conditions in the Michigan copper district attributed to Representative MacDonald of Michigan and quoted in the senate by Senator Ashurst, was read in the senate and later withdrawn as a violation of the courtesy due a member of the other house.

Senator Townsend of Michigan presented the message with a copy of a similar telegram sent to President Wilson by Governor Ferris. It asserted that law and order was being preserved in the copper district, the courts open, the grand jury in session, and the Michigan military government was available to every citizen.

Senator Bailey of Georgia objected to the reading of the message.

"Neither the governor of Michigan nor the senator from Michigan has the right to have read here," he said, "that which is defamatory to the character of a member of the other house."

With MacDonald's Permission.

In the debate which followed before Senator Townsend withdrew the message and substituted a statement of its substance, Senator Ashurst said Representative MacDonald had sat beside him when he presented his resolution for a congressional investigation of the strike situation, and that the quotations from Mr. MacDonald had been made with his permission.

Senator Bacon, though protesting against discourtesy in the senate toward members of the house, declared himself in sympathy with the position of the governor that Michigan should handle the strike situation herself. Senator Borah took the same attitude.

Senator Ashurst declared that Representative MacDonald had told him of conditions in Michigan that could not be overlooked. He said he had in no place in his remarks referred directly or indirectly to the governor or the laws of Michigan, and insisted that the statements of MacDonald, many of which the latter had not permitted him to quote, dealt entirely with violations of Federal laws and the Constitution of the United States.

Petitions From Montana.

Senator Walsh had inserted in the record a number of petitions which had reached him from the copper region of Montana praying that a congressional investigation of the Michigan situation be held.

Senator Gallinger said he had received similar petitions from his New Hampshire constituents, but had not presented them as he believed the Michigan situation to be "none of New Hampshire's business."

Telegrams were presented by Senator Townsend from a citizens' committee in Calumet and from the sheriff of Houghton county, taking exception to the statements in news dispatches attributed to Representative MacDonald. Both declared that order was being preserved in the strike zone and every citizen afforded protection and justice.

be resumed on the Western Maryland railroad tomorrow.

The Potomac at Cumberland did not rise more than four feet.

It probably will be several days before anything like an accurate estimate of the damage to property can be obtained, but officials here fix it at about $200,000. With telephone and telegraph communication re-established, definite estimates of the loss soon may be had. The greatest damage was to railroad property.

The telegraph operator at Schell is being lauded today as a hero. He stuck to his post until he heard the noise of the on-rushing waters, flashing a warning in all directions. It was feared he had been lost, but he turned up safe at Cumberland later.

Red Cross Offers Aid.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The Red Cross today telegraphed Governor Hatfield of West Virginia, asking whether its services were needed in assisting the sufferers from the flood which swept the Stony Creek and Potomac valleys by the breaking of the dam of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper company.

MORE OF LINCOLN'S LETTERS ARE SOLD

One Telling of Rejected Proposal Brings $1,250.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Lincoln autograph letters again brought high prices yesterday at the continuation of the sale of the William H. Lambert collection. George D. Smith once more was a heavy purchaser, acting as agent, it was said, for Henry E. Huntington. He paid $2,250 for the notebook in which Lincoln pasted newspaper accounts of his speeches relating to negro equality, for use by Capt. James Brown, one of his political adherents, in the campaign of 1858. The letter he wrote on April 1, 1836, to Mrs. Orville H. Browing about the rejection by Miss Mary S. Owens of his proposal of marriage, went to Mr. Smith for $1,250.

Twenty-two letters from Lincoln to Lyman Trumbull, dating from 1856 to 1861, brought a total of $10,555. Mr. Smith paid $1,665 for Lincoln's original drafts of a bill to abolish slavery in Delaware. The total realized today was $31,133.

SOUTH ST. PAUL MAN AMONG HER WIDOWERS

Girl He Married Kills Herself When Accused of Bigamy.

Danville, Ill., Jan. 16.—Mrs. Clara B. Gillis died here today as the result of taking poison with suicidal intent when confronted with the allegation that she had two husbands living. The police assert that although Mrs. Gillis was only 28 years old, she had been married five times and had divorced three husbands. She refused to make any statement before she died.

Mrs. Gillis yesterday was shown a photograph of herself as the bride of Edward Minges of South St. Paul, Minn. Minges in a letter to a local newspaper, stated that he had married "Miss" Gillis in St. Paul, Dec. 20 and that she left him suddenly Dec. 26, with the explanation that her uncle in Danville was ill and needed her. A few days later the woman sent him word that she would not return to him.

SANDUSKY THIEVES MURDER DETECTIVE.

Sandusky, Ohio, Jan. 16.—Moses Price, aged 45, of Lorain, a Lake Shore railroad detective, was shot and killed here today by car thieves whom he was arresting while they were breaking into a car in the yards.

STORK BREAKS ALL RECORDS

More Births in Duluth Last Year Than in Any Previous One.

All hail the stork. He broke all previous records in Duluth last year.

During 1913 Duluth had 2,095 births, or 85 more than were recorded during 1911, the next largest year, according to health department statistics.

The total number of deaths was 1,055, including 68 stillbirths, leaving the net gain of population within the city 1,040.

In 1912 the total number of births reported was 1,970; in 1911, the total was 2,010, in 1910, the total was 1,952, and in 1909 it was 1,855.

TAXES WILL BE DISCUSSED

Interesting Meet Planned for Residents of Oatmeal Hill.

Taxes will be the main subject discused tonight at the monthly meeting of the "Glen-Hunt-Wood commission" at Glen Avon Presbyterian church. City Assessor Scott has promised to attend the meeting, bringing with him his chart of property in the Woodland, Hunter's Park and Glen Avon district, and to explain the system of valuation and assessment as it applies to those districts of the city. It is expected that A. G. McKnight also will be present, and Senator Cheadle will attend if his health permits.

Representatives of the real estate exchange also will be on hand, and it is proposed to give the question of taxation of Duluth real estate a thorough airing. Comparisons will be made between assessments on Duluth property and those in other parts of the state, and every person present will have an opportunity of questioning the speakers.

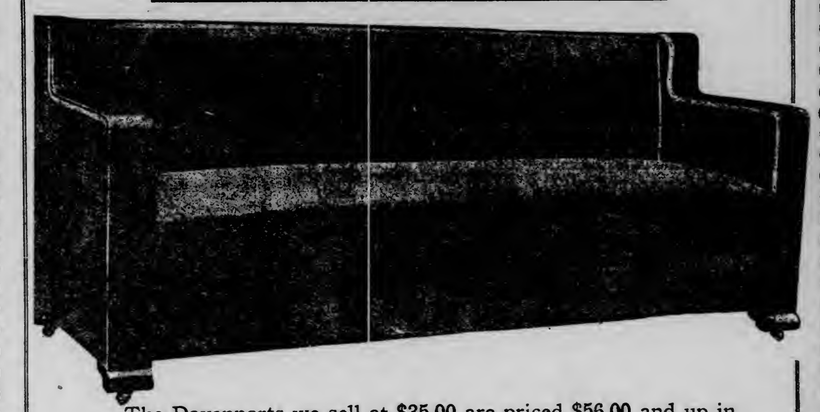

The meeting will be open to the public, and W. A. Pryor, head of the "Glen-Hunt-Wood commission," has urged that every resident of the three districts represented make an effort to attend. Supper will be served in the church parlors by the Glen Avon women at 6:30, and the taxation meeting will follow immediately after.

BURIED AT AITKIN.

Funeral Held of Victims of Poupore Siding Triple Tragedy.

Aitkin, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Funeral services were held in the Methodist church Wednesday afternoon for Alex Rogers and David Craig, who were killed at Poupore's Siding Saturday night. Both men were well known here by the older residents of Aitkin and all speak in the highest terms of them. Interment was made in Lakeview cemetery in a double grave.

MARSHALL COUNTY FIRE COMPANY MEETS.

Warren, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Marshall County Skandinaviske Fire Mutual Insurance company held its thirteenth annual meeting at the courthouse here yesterday. This has been one of the most successful years the company has had since it was organized. According to the report issued by the board of directors there are 1,509 policies carrying $2,148,251 insurance. During the year ten claims amounting to $354.75 were paid. Total cash on hand, Dec. 31, 1913, is $9,669.09.

The company confines its insurance risks to farm property. It has been the means of saving the farmers of the county large sums of money yearly in insurance premiums.

The officers of the company are: Andrew Bergstrom, Warren, president; O. L. Skonovd, Viking, vice president; Nels skaug, Newfolden, secretary; Brede Svendson, Newfolden, treasurer; Peter Erickson, Viking, director.

BEAVER MEAT TO BE TABLE DELICACY.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Beaver meat from Upper Michigan is to be a delicacy served to people in large cities of the country this winter. In response to numerous inquiries, State Game Warden William E. Oates of Marquette has notified his deputies that trappers and others will be permitted to ship the meat of legally-killed beavers out of the state. All packages must be plainly marked to indicate their contents.

WOOL MEN LIKE SALT LAKE CITY.

Salt Lake City, Utah., Jan. 16.—It was the opinion generally expressed here today that Salt Lake would again be chosen for the annual convention of the National Wool Growers' association, although Boise, Idaho, was making a strong bid for the affair. The second day's session opened with nearly every delegate present. William Spry, governor of Utah, opened the meeting. He refrained in his address from mentioning the new tariff bill. He was followed by A. F. Potter.

LINTERS AND SEED CRUSHING REPORT.

Washington, Jan. 16. — There had been 396,934 bales of linters obtained and 3,009,759 tons of seed crushed from the cotton crop of 1913 to Dec. 31, the census bureau announced today. This compares with 352,972 bales of linters obtained and 2,738,897 tons of seed crushed to Dec. 31, 1912, from the crop of that year.

Devils Lake Club Elects.

Devils Lake, N. D., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Col. J. M. Kelly was elected president of the Commercial club, succeeding W. H. Horton. Other officers are: Vice president, Allen Haig; treasurer, W. H. Hamilton; directors, Ole Serumgard, H. Daeley and K. A. Morgan. The club will elect a secretary later.

Grand Forks Paper Elects.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—N. B. Black, formerly of St. Paul, was re-elected general manager of the Times-Herald Publishing company at the annual meeting last night. The stockholders found the consolidated newspaper plan is working out satisfactorily. Other officers elected follow: President, J. D. Bacon; vice president, O. S. Hanson; secretary, F. L. Goodman; treasurer, Owen Young.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

LIVE SPORTING GOSSIP

By BRUCE

BETWEEN shots yesterday afternoon Tom McDermott declared that it was absolutely false and untrue that he treated the members of his rink to candy and crackerjack following a victory. What Tom does, according to his own statement, is to cut down upon the cigarette allowance of the kids when they lose. Thus is the incentive for victory supplied without cost or shopping troubles upon the part of Tom.

The McDermott kids are surely one of the hits of the spiel. One of the members of the McDermott rink looks hardly large enough to send a rock past the hog line; and yet it is this same rink that gave the veteran Carson his first licking of the spiel.

Throwing the First Stone.

WE casually notice where one Hosking of the St. Paul Dispatch says a statement upon the part of one of the Duluth scribes regarding the Winnipeggers being unused to keen ice must have caused much merriment among the curlers.

Also—it is a fact that when Mr. Hosking called Tony James the elongated catcher it must have caused considerable merriment—also when he mentioned Cyclone Johnny Thompson as a promising welterweight.

Verily, Mr. Hosking, be quiet.

He Likes the Money.

FROM Chicago comes the statement that Packey McFarland will not call off the engagement with Mike Gibbons. While it may be that the crafty and none too venturesome idol of the odoriferous regions is generally looking for the break, it is also true and equally trite that he is ever on the hunt for the money.

The Real Big Show.

WITH Gustav Fristensky and Ivan Mamutoff and Paul Martinson and George Costello on the all star wrestling bill that will be offered by the officials of the Greater Duluth Athletic club next Wednesday evening, the patrons of the grappling game will see the largest bill of the season.

Fristensky defeated George Lurich, the big Russian, at the international tournament at Madison Square Garden on Wednesday evening. The gigantic Cossock Mamutoff, the largest wrestler in the world, had little difficulty in winning from Paul Sampson, the German giant. Both of these men will appear in finish matches upon the same bill, and the followers of the game here will see two of the greatest wrestlers that the old world has sent over since Mahmout and Stanislaus Zbyszko hit these shores.

Word comes from New York that the chances are Fristensky and Zbyszko will be matched to meet in this country. Followers of the game declare that Fristensky is as strong as George Hackenschmidt when the Russian was in the very heyday of his career, and that in addition to the strength and wonderful muscular development of the big Bohemian, he is about the most finished wrestler that Europe has ever sent us.

What has surprised the followers of wrestling is the fact that in addition to having the strength and one of the most wonderful physiques of any wrestler in the world, Fristensky also knows a lot of the catch-as-catch-can game.

The way Fristensky handled Americus opened the eyes of wrestling enthusiasts all over the country. Americus is one of the real wrestlers—one of the best we have—so the performance of the Bohemian shows what a wonder he is.

We May Be Wrong.

THE Herald has been talking of the winter sport week for something over a month. Fred Hargreaves was the one who suggested it this winter. But then there is no use arguing over it—it pays to advertise, and it's a good thing to get behind.

Are Willing to Pay.

AS we savvy the thing, several men possessed of several millions—which must be pleasant—are willing to pay largely for what chance this Moran chap has of beating Jack Johnson. The idea, no doubt, is that the cinder has gone back to the extent where a boxer of the class of Moran may have a chance of putting a K. O. after the name of John Artha.

Shrouded mystery surrounds the Johnson party. Some would have us believe that he is through; that the first man with any ability at all will best what was once one of the great fighters of the ring, comparing with the illustrious black Peter Jackson and the great Corbett and Fitzsimmons.

Others are of the reported belief that the dinge is in fairly good shape and can at the present time lick Gunboat Smith, Moran, Pelkey, and several of the others in the same ring. The more the speculation the greater the house. Quite true.

Johnson invariably contrives to nestle where the sporting lamps are glowing. He believes in advertising. When they have the smoke down and out he comes to the surface and gets a large purse. Porter work, it would seem, is some distance away from the lot of John.

In Offense Also.

DE WITT VAN COURT—some name for one connected with pugilism—one of the leading boxing instructors of the country, forges gradually and gracefully to the publicity front with the remark that the boxers of England are greatly lacking in defense. From some of the bouts of the Englishmen we would cut into the argument with the observation that they are also grieviously lacking in offense.

Outside of that they are all right.

Must Have Patience.

TOMMY MURPHY is waiting for a chance at the championship of the world. First Wille Ritchie had a cold and put off the meeting. Now we read that Willie—why not Clarence?—has sprained his heel, and he'll not fight.

Isn't it getting to be awful? Boxers are getting temperamental like the grand opera stars. Willie Ritchie is some champion—yes, he is.

Fitzsimmons fought Jim Corbett with sore forearms, a heavy cold and bad hands. The same grand old fighter fought Gus Ruhlin when he could hardly stand up. Jack McAuliffe fought for the world's championship when physicians told him he was taking grave chances to even take any kind of exercise. Willie Ritchie gets a cold and postpones a fight. Yes—he is some champion—he is not.

NOT VERY STRONG WITH SPORT FUND

British Do Not Subscribe Very Liberally for Olympic Events.

London, Jan. 16.—The Duke of Westminster's Olympic fund committee has decided to resign after disposing of the funds collected.

The sponsors of the fund aspired to raise $500,000 through a national subscription, but the amount subscribed and promised is less than $55,000, nearly one-half of the fund having been promised.

The committee has cash in hand, $16,500; amount due on unconditional promises, $14,500; and on conditional promises, $11,500. A very considerable amount has been utilized for expenses, and the liabilities amount to $14,152.

The committee upon resigning, will leave the conditional subscriptions to be paid over to the British Olympic council. Of the remainder of the fund, a portion will be set aside for training purposes, and the balance will be handed to the British Olympic council for office staff expense.

The amateur Athletic association has undertaken to appoint W. R. Knox, the American, who trained the Canadian team for the Olympic games at Stockholm as chief trainer of the British team for a term of three years at a salary of $2,000 a year and traveling allowance of $750 and to appoint nine supplementary trainers for a term of two years at a cost of $3,500 a year.

INTERNATIONAL TO BE MADE A MAJOR.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 16.—An afternoon paper here yesterday said it learned, "through an absolutely authoritative source" that the International league is to be turned into a major league by removing the draft and transferring the Jersey City franchise to Washington. The paper says that a meeting will be held in New York in the near future to discuss this latest plan to combat the invasion of the Federal league.

Three Sign With Brooklyn.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 16.—Zack Wheat, Joseph Riggert and Pitcher Ragan have signed contracts to play with the Brooklyn Nationals, following an all-day conference with Charles Ebbets, owner of the Brooklyn club. After the Brooklyn man departed last night, Charles Stengel said he would sign up.

Welsh Gets Decision.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 16.—Freddie Welsh, champion lightweight of England, outpointed Mickey Sheridan of Chicago here last night and won a decision over the Chicago lad.

Gets Three Players.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 16.—The Detroit baseball club has received three contracts, from George Burns, first baseman, from the Sioux City team; Martin Kavanaugh, third baseman, last year with the York, Pa., team, and Ralph Comstock, pitcher, whom the Tigers obtained from Minneapolis. Comstock joined the local team last fall after the close of the association season and pitched several games.

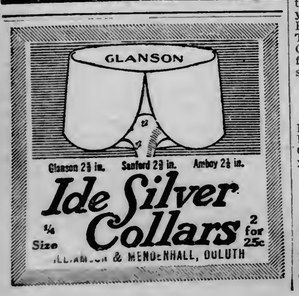

New Pitcher for Naps.

Portland, Or., Jan. 16.—The sale of Pitcher Zerah Z. Hagerman of the Portland Coast league club to the Cleveland Americans, was announced yesterday.

Texas Leaguer Joins Yankees.

New York, Jan. 16.—The signed contract of Luke E. Boone, shortstop of last year's Dallas, Texas league club, was received at the New York American league headquarters yesterday. Boone was purchased by Frank Chance last summer.

HOUGHTON IS WINNER

Duluth Hockey Team Defeated By Score of 4 to 3.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fast Portage Lake hockey team defeated the Duluth team here last evening by the score of 4 to 3, the contest being one of the best and one of the fastest ever played in the Copper country.

Kahler of Duluth scored the first goal in twenty seconds after the call of play. During the entire first period the Duluthians showed excellent team work and exhibited a grand defense.

Shortly before the close of the half a combination play in front of the goal, Haas to Sicotte, brought the score 2 to 1, in favor of the home team.

Evens Score.

Olson of the Duluth team evened up the score ten minutes after the start of the second half. Trathan made a long rush with the puck and just in front of the Duluth goal passed neatly to Sicotte, who shot a pretty goal.

McCurdy made the next Houghton score unassisted, making a long shot from the side. Shortly after this Olson took the puck down the side of the rink and shot a pretty goal from a difficult angle.

The contest was one of the best seen here the present season. There were few individual stars. The feature of the game was the evenly developed team work of both sevens. Some remarkable stops were made by both goal tenders.

The line-up

PLAYERS REFUSE FEDERAL OFFERS

Three Members of Detroit Team Decline Outlaw Temptation.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 16.—Negotiations that have been pending for nearly two months between the Indianapolis club of the Federal league and Owen Bush, shortstop of the Detroit Americans, practically were ended late yesterday when Bush refused to sign a local contract. The player declared he was satisfied with the salary offered and terms of his contract, but was not ready to sign a contract with any team at this time.

George Dauss, pitcher, and Bauman, infielder of the Detroit team, had not accepted the contracts offered by the Federal league last night and according to announcement made by officials of the local club the negotiations will be ended.

President J. A. Gilmore of the Federals came here from Chicago to try to induce the players to sign with the Federal league.

GAMES SCHEDULED.

Basket Ball Teams of Commercial League Will Meet.

The Lake Hardware company's basket ball team will meet the Kelleys and the Big Duluths and the Duluth Universals will also hook up at the Y. M. C. A. this evening. As all of the teams are evenly matched the contests promise some close and interesting sport.

Honors in Field Trial.

Rogers Springs, Tenn., Jan. 16.—First honors in the amateur derby of the all-American field trials club, which was finished yesterday was awarded to the setter, Fanny Okaw, owned by A. J. Hagan, Uniontown, Pa. Whitestones Beauty, a setter owned by Fred Hamilton of Omaha, finished second. The national championship will be decided at Grand Junction, Tenn.

UNITED STATES LEADS THE WORLD

This Country Is Considered the Home of the Greatest Athletes.

The United States is today the envy of the entire world, because of the record it has made in 1913, in practictlly every branch of amateur sport, says a New York sport writer.

The magnificent achievements of the United States team in the Olympic games, held at Stockholm, Sweden, in 1912, placed this country in a class all by itself in track and field sports, and although a year following an Olympic is usually an off-year, it would seem that Uncle Sam inspired by the victories of 1912, determined to unmask his batteries of sport, with the result that the "British Jack" has been replaced by the "Star Spangled Banner" on the flag staff of victory, in such great international games as polo, in which Milburn, Payne and the two Waterburys humbled the picked polo team of old England, in lawn tennis, when McLoughlin, Hackett and Williams outplayed the tennis champions of the entire world, and in golf, when Ouimet, the amateur defeated England's two professional champions, for the open championship of America.

If one were to follow athletic history clear back to the days of ancient Greece, it would be impossible to find any one nation that has ever occupied the position that the United States holds today, in outdoor sports. America can today outrun, outjump, outthrow, outpolo, outtennis, outsail, and autgolf every nation on the globe in amateur sports and in professional indoor sports, can outbox, outwrestle and outbilliard the entire world.

Is Great Record.

Have any of you ever thought what it means for this glorious country of ours to live up to and maintain this supremacy? Have you given any thought to the tremendous ordeal undertaken by every young man who emerges victorious from the countless elimination contests he must undergo in his own country, and who is finally chosen to represent America in a world's championship event? Have you ever thought that he must forego almost every pleasure and luxury in his months, and sometimes years of training for this event? Very few of you who have not been privileged to enter some competition of this class can understand or appreciate the iron will, splendid nerve, the spotless life and the patriotic determination to win that must be the composite "make-up" of what the man must be to represent America in the international competition.

The last and perhaps the most important feature of the athletic history of 1913, is the vindication of American athletics made by the commission sent to America by the German government. The exhaustive report made by these gentlemen was fair, straightforward and to the point, and this tribute makes every sportman in America proud of the teams of his own country.

Americans Were Last.

Vera Cruz, Jan. 16.—An international race for 12-oared cutters manned by sailors from the foreign war ships now anchored in Vera Cruz harbor was rowed over a three-mile course yesterday. The French crew won. The Spanish, German, English and American sailors finished in the order named. All the crews used American boats.

K. O. for Jim Flynn.

New York, Jan. 16.—Jim Flynn, the Pueblo fireman, knocked out Jack Driscoll, the Brooklyn heavyweight, in the sixth round of what was to have been a ten-round bout here last night. Flynn weighed 188 pounds and Driscoll 176.

Nickalls Accepts Job.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 16.—Announcement is made that Guy Nickalls, the old Oxford oarsman and coach of the London crew, has cabled his formal acceptance of the offer to assist in coaching the Yale crews. He is expected to arrive here early in February and will remain with the oarsmen until the annual regatta with Harvard in June.

ON THE HOGLINE

This conversation between two high school girls in the spectators' gallery was overheard yesterday afternoon:

"I don't see why those fellows sweep the ice."

"I don't either, except that they try to stop the stone."

"Well, couldn't they throw some snow in front of it, or sweep a few straws in its way?"

"I guess that's against the rule."

"Do they have to play on ice?"

(Right here we interrupted and told the young lady in the long white coat that they could just as well curl on the sidewalk, but that the pedestrians objected and that it was against the law anyway.)

That's all we heard from them except that one of them commented on the beautiful profile of a certain Port Arthur lead. Of course, we can't see it, but then a woman's judgment is supposed to be different anyway.

A stranger to us, absolutely, turned around and asked us if it counted when a player fell down on the ice. And to be real cute we answered that it was one down.

Tom McDermott and his colts are certainly playing some game. They beat Harry Hurdon yesterday, 12 to 5, running all over our genial H. H. At that, we think that Harry felt kindhearted and wanted to help Tom out.

"What's Scotch for 'I should worry?'"

Someone wrote the editor of the Fireside Companion this morning and asked the above question. There are two possible forms: "I dinna car-r-re" and "I should worr-r-r-r-ry."

Looks like Walter Dash of New Duluth is going to grab the Ordway trophy again this year. We refuse to be prejudiced in any way whatever, but will state right here that we hope he gets it. And we don't care if Robb is a good fellow. Walter told us he thought the Companion was funny.

Three West Duluth rinks are still in the thick of the fight. Looks like a little jewelry for the boys.

Rev. Harry Knowles of Superior, the fellow who put the Kon in Konkel, was out to the club yesterday afternoon watching the boys perform. Rev. Harry is a great booster for the game.

And while we are on the subject, Rev. Harry stopped and watched Frank Wade curl. He asked the crack West Duluthian where his son was. Wade replied that the junior was still playing third.

"I thought you had kids in your rink, Wade," commented the leader of his flock. "I remember seeing the youngster three years ago and he was certainly small."

"Oh, that was three years ago," replied Wade. "You see he has grown some since then. He's 18 now, you know."

Elmer Whyte said things yesterday morning when he lost in the boat race against Johnny Oldham. Of course, Elmer is not used to swimming after his rocks, but it's all in the game, old scout. He said he didn't mind losing a curling match, but he wasn't in training for water polo.

It certainly does take a long experience to handle the stones on ice, such as was played on yesterday.

Of course, we are not much on predicting, but Sandy McNabb ought to grab off at least one trophy during this spiel. Maybe McIvor, one of the Gates in Superior, Carson, Brewer, and one of the McLeods will have to fight it out for the other trophies.

This is a story they're telling about Joe Gates of Superior:

Joe went to the Orpheum theater last night with Tom Mills, also of Superior. Tom is quite a curler; he says so himself. The truth of the matter is Tom used to curl, but now he spends his time talking about the game. Not a bad pastime, if people will listen.

However, to go on with the story. The duo were unable to get seats together down in front, so they took two seats about two seats apart in the fourth row, thinking that maybe they would be unable to change.

Well, when they got down, Joe found a young lady sitting next to him. He politely turned to her and said: "I beg your pardon; are you alone?"

"Sh, kiddo, my husband is with me."

Imagine Bill Carson, Rochon and Bob Dunbar on one rink. Just imagine it.

What's that? Who'd skip the rink? Well, we would, if the three were in need of one.

* * *

This is the last edition of the Fireside Companion. Here's a "wee Dock and Doris."

THE "DOC" WILLIAMS RINK

J. O'GRADY, R. B. HENDERSON, W. O. GRADY, DR. WILLIAMS.

LITTLE JOURNEYS TO THE HOMES OF GREAT CURLERS

H. E. ROGERS, LEAD.

A. M. ROBBIE, LEAD.

A. S. McLEAN, SECOND.

W. G. WHITE, SECOND.

W. Y. MONTGOMERY, THIRD.

JACK FERGUSON, THIRD.

GEORGE McIVOR, SKIP.

TOM LOWE, SKIP.

"Is George McIvor here?" asked President S. H. Jones on the opening day of the spiel.

"He is," said Jack MacGregor.

"Then let the bonspiel open," replied the president.

This man McIvor completes the picture when bonspiels are on in Duluth or Winnipeg. He has a lot of time on his hands in winter and he permits none of it to be wasted. A recent little journey to the home of this great curler revealed many things concerning him. To begin with he is probably the handsomest man at the bonspiel That is apparent without the aid of a little journey, but a real insight into the character and habits of the man was obtained on our visit.

In summer he is captain of one of the Booth tugs and is kept pretty busy, but in winter about all he does is curl and sing. He is a cracker-jack singer of Scotch songs. At least we were told that by W. Y. Montgomery, who plays third for him. We were at once curious.

"Sing does he?" we asked. "What is he—baritone perhaps?"

"No," said Monty, "I should say soprano."

So we compromised on tenor.

He is an inveterate bonspieler. He has the habit so badly that it is said there is no living with him from the time the dates are announced until he gets to the place where the 'spiel will be held. He has been coming to Duluth bonspiels ever since Noah was in long dresses. The oldest inhabitant fails to remember a 'spiel which he has not attended.

He has a good rink. Of Mr. Montgomery we have already written. Then there is Harry Rogers, who plays lead. Harry is a product of our sister city across the bay, but improved himself by moving to Port Arthur some years ago where he is engaged in business. He used to live in that part of Superior known as Central park, and he got the curling habit while chumming around with a bunch of Scotchmen in Superior. Harry is probably the handsomest man at the 'spiel. Then there is A. S. McLean, who plays second. He is a giant in stature. He is a great chum of Ron Smith of Duluth, Port Arthur, Winnipeg and Bruce county, and probably the handsomest man at the bonspiel; and that is saying enough, for a man must be a good fellow to chum with Ron.

Taken all in all this Port Arthur bunch skipped by McIvor is a gang of regular fellers. When you size them up for names—McIvor, McLean, Montgomery, Rogers—talk about your hot Scotch.

Probably the handsomest man at the spiel is Skip Lowe of Winnipeg. And the quartet he heads is some bunch of curlers; if you don't believe it ask any of them.

They have been going through the various events like a house afire and the other rinks have learned that to beat Lowe is some achievement.

A little journey that we took to Winnipeg gave us an insight into the personalities of these men that made the trip worth while. Tom—meaning Lowe—is a railroad man and heads a bunch of railroaders. When writing about him we get familiar you notice, calling him Tom. That's the privilege a bonspiel gives. Up in Winnipeg it's Mr. Lowe and for all we know he has some fancier handle to his name, like "Sir."

It's worth going to the 'spiel if for no other reason than to see W. G. White. He is probably the handsomest man at the bonspiel. Unquestionably he is the tallest. He is six and a half feet high, and is commonly called "High" just for that. He is so tall that Coley Naughton of The Herald could not get him all in the sketch. Mr. White plays second for Lowe and each time he casts a rock he does not put it down on the ice at the near tee, but reaches half way down the sheet. Some claim that when the rink needs a point he reaches down and puts his rock just where he wants it.

A. M. Robbie, who plays lead for the Lowe rink, is squatty as compared with White, and does not have to unwind as does the gigantic second. But just the same he is probably the handsomest man in the 'spiel. What he lacks in height he makes up in noise. He can make more noise over a shot than the combined noise of his four competitors.

But you should see Jack Ferguson, third man in the rink, when he is jubilant. He is out performing as much this year as he did in St. Paul last year. His celebration of good and bad shots became noteworthy. He is probably the handsomest man at the bonspiel, but seems utterly unconscious of it. As a curler he is a bird, and much of the rink's success is due to his masterly work.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

RINKS ARE NOW GETTING INTO THE JEWELRY CLASS

Lowe or McNabb Will Enter Finals of Duluth Event.

Bad Ice Threatens to Mar the Playing of Closing Draws.

With the shining exception of Clough Gates, the play of yesterday proved disastrous for the rinks that have been leaders down through the spiel. In addition to getting it from Johnny Oldham in the early morning draw of yesterday, the Brewer-Whytes were also beaten in the Minneapolis Curling club event by Joel Gates of Superior, and the strong Sandy McNabb rink of Grand Rapids gave old Bill Carson his second beating of the week in the Duluth Curling club event.

McNabb, Lowe and Thomas Cameron are in the jewelry of the Duluth event and Rob is certain to collect some of the plunder in the Ordway event. The play in the other trophy events of th spiel has not as yet progressed to the stage where the place winners can be determined upon.

Ice Is Very Bad.

For some reason or other the chronic grouch of Old Man Weather has returned and the curlers who had their orbs peeled for high honors are in the doldrums. With the kind of ice that prevailed yesterday and promises to rule today, curling is robbed of more or less of its science. At least that is what the skips of the rinks that lost yesterday say.

The ice is very soft and the play of today will probably not be marked with the keen competition that marked the first three days of the spiel. Soft ice as a rule generally causes large heads, for some reason or other, and some of the scores of yesterday would bear out the belief that it requires keen ice for the best curling.

One of the surprises of yesterday was the defeat of Williams of Winnipeg by the McIvor rink. Later in the day Williams came back with a defeat for Parkinson of Phillips.

McNabb and Clough Gates of Superior were the consistent winners of the day. The enthusiastic Scotchman of Grand Rapids won both of his games and C. Gates came through with three wins, two real wins and a forfeit.

Hurdon was one more of the Duluth rinks to drop out of an event, Tom McDermott with the assistance of his kids put the Duluth veteran out of the Western Curling club event. Hurdon came back with two victories in the later draws.

Play Is Narrowing.

In the second draw of today the survival of the fittest battle will be on with a vengeance. McNabb and Lowe will meet in the Duluth club event. Reedal and Carson will clash in the St. Paul Jobbers' event, and J. S. Gates of Superior and Williams of Winnipeg will meet in the Minneapolis Curling club event. McDermott and Brewer will meet in the Western Curling club event.

The first final of the spiel will be reached in the play of today, the winner of the Lowe-McNabb contest going into the final of the Duluth event.

Judging from the progress of the play of yesterday, the spiel will be nicely cleaned up by tomorrow evening.

BRANDT DENIES HE DESIRES PARDON.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 16.—Foulke E. Brandt, former valet of Mortimer L. Schiff of New York, now on parole from Dannemora prison, has written Attorney General Carmody, from a Northwestern lumber camp, denying that he desires an unconditional pardon. Governor Glynn recently heard that friends of Brandt would make an application for such a release in his behalf. The governor said he would deny it if made.

O'LEARY SUCCEEDS RILEY IN BAY STATE.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 16.—A change of leadership was made at the annual meeting of the Democratic state committee. Thomas P. Riley, who conducted the successful campaign last fall for Governor Walsh, was succeeded by Secretary Michael A. O'Leary. Mr. Riley will become assistant attorney general of the state next week. Daniel F. O'Connell was made secretary and Charles F. O'Rierden was chosen treasurer.

ICE IN POOR CONDITION BUT CURLERS CONTINUE

Members of Visiting Rinks Vote to Proceed With Play.

Finals in Ordway Event Will Be Played on Range.

With the ice in such poor condition that the officials of the spiel submitted the proposition of continuing or calling off the play for the time being to a vote of the outside rinks, the fifth day of the spiel opened under less auspicious circumstances than any of the previous days. While the vote was in favor of continuing the curling, the ice is such that good curling is altogether out of the question.

Schiller put McDermott of St. Paul out of the International, and the Brewer-Whytes put Michaud out of the St. Paul event. Billy Dinham surprised the talent by putting Parkinson out of the Western curling club event, and Oldham continued the good work of yesterday by winning from Heimick. Joel Gates of Superior won in this same event from Smith of the same town.

Ordway Unfinished.

According to the arrangements made with some of the range curlers, the Ordway event, which is open to the rinks outside of the Twin Cities and Duluth, will be played out at Hibbing.

Dash of New Duluth and Watt of Virginia were down for today's draw, but after agreeing to the requests of the range curlers that the Hibbing club be allowed to play out the event on its new rink, the Dash-Watt game was postponed.

MINNEAPOLIS GETS OPEN GOLF TOURNEY.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—The Kent Country club of Grand Rapids probably will be awarded the 1914 Western amateur golf tournament at the annual meeting of the association here tomorrow. Other applicants to be voted upon are the Mayfield club of Cleveland and the Omaha Country club, but officers of the association say Kent's chances are best. The open tournament will go to the Interlachen club of Minneapolis, the only bidder.

The regular ticket, headed by Frank L. Woodward of Denver for president, probably will be elected, there having developed no opposition.

PLACING THE TEAM.

W-I League Not Wanted at Fond du Lac Another Year.

Green Bay, Wis., Jan. 16.—The question of placing the franchise owned jointly by Charles F. Moll of Milwaukee and the Wisconsin-Illinois league is bothering President Frank R. Weeks of the league and Mr. Moll at this time. The Fond du Lac baseball fans have said they did not care to have the team play in that city another season, and the two baseball officials have been at Marinette and Menominee this week to see if money enough is in sight to back the team.

President Weeks said today after his return to this city that Marinette and Menominee men are eager for league baseball, and that several wealthy and well to do men have taken an interest in their proposition to put a W. I. league club in those cities, operating, of course, jointly.

BIG GAMES FOR MICHIGAN AGGIES.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 16.—The football eleven of the Michigan Agricultural college will have four and possibly five big games on its 1914 schedule, it was announced today. The contest with the University of Wisconsin is still in doubt, as the local college authorities insist the game shall be played here because M. A. C. played at Madison in 1913. The Wisconsin authorities have made the Aggies an offer for another game on Badger soil, but it is said do not look with favor upon the M. A. C. proposition.

Pennsylvania state, Purdue and Nebraska will be played for the first time.

Brooklyn Signs Fourteen.

New York, Jan. 16.—The Brooklyn baseball club announced today the receipt of signed contracts from six more players, bringing the total enrollment for the coming season up to fourteen, including Manager Robertson. Zach Wheat and Pat Ragan signed for three years; and Mara, Steagel, Riggert and Atchison, one year each.

ADVISE USING THE HOME NEWSPAPERS

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 16.—The Western Retail Implement, Vehicle and Hardware association has adopted resolutions demanding 1-cent letter postage, advised members to advertise in local instead of farm paper, expressed uneasiness at the "national extravagance" and asked for an amendment to the Constitution that would permit the president to veto parts of a bill without killing it.

In adopting the 1-cent letter postage resolutions, members say: "If the nation can make such cheap rates for parcel post and claim it as a success, then we are entitled to 1-cent postage."

In asking for the amendment to the Federal Constitution so that the president may veto riders to bills, the meeting adopted a resolution blaming congressmen for part of the high cost of living "by their extravagant use of the public funds."

The convention adjourned after W. M. Vicker of Blackwell, Okla., was elected president.

OBJECTIONS TO SERVICE CHARGE

Firms Maintaining Sprinkler Systems File Protest on New Rates.

Thirty-one Duluth concerns object to paying $1 a month for each inch of diameter of their fire service connections, this charge being incorporated in the new water rate schedules of the water and light department.

The firms maintain their own sprinkler systems, which are connected with the city mains. The water department officials declare that the city must be ready to serve these systems at all times and maintain that because of these connections the business houses having sprinkler systems are able to get the benefit of material reductions in insurance rates, amounting to much more than the charges levied under the new schedule. They assert that they are convinced after investigation that the charge of $1 per inch diameter of pipe is very reasonable as compared with other cities.

The firms in question have signed a petition, addressed to the city council, protesting against the charge as unfair and not in the interest of the city as a whole. They ask that the matter be thoroughly investigated before final action is taken. The petition was filed yesterday afternoon with City Clerk Palmer.

At its last meeting the city council did not approve the schedule of rates submitted by Commissioner Leonidas Merritt, head of the utilities division. The matter was laid over until next Monday for consideration.

The companies signing the petition are: F. A. Patrick & Co., Patrick-Duluth woolen mill, Glass Block Store, Kelley Hardware company, Gowan-Lenning-Brown company, George A. Gray company, the Albenberg company, Stack & Co., I. Freimuth, Marshall-Wells Hardware company, Christensen-Mendenhall - Graham company, Clyde Iron Works, Paine & Nixon company, Rust-Parker-Martin company, DeWitt-Seitz company, Duluth News Tribune, Yale Laundry, Schulze Bros. company, Ellicott & Co., Union Match company, American Carbolite company, Duluth Show Case company, Scott-Graff Lumber company, Consolidated Elevator company, Alger-Smith company, Miller Hotel company, Kelly-How-Thompson company, Stone - Ordean - Wells company and the Northern Drug company.

GILLETT PREDICTS WAR WITH MEXICO

Blames Bryan for Course United States Has Followed.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Intervention in Mexico as the only result of the present policy of the United States was predicted in the house yesterday by Representative Gillett, Republican, of Massachusetts during the course of a war speech in which he assailed Secretary Bryan.

Recognition of Huerta early in the Mexican trouble, Mr. Gillett said, would have offered the best chance of quieting the disturbance.

"When the war comes," said he, "it will be no excuse that the secretary of state has delivered brilliant speeches in favor of peace. An occasional glorification of peace is not sufficient atonement for a policy whose legitimate and logical result is war.

Criticized Bryan.

"I think when our secretary of state accepted that distinguished position, we had a right to expect from him painstaking and assiduous devotion. His ante-room ought to have been thronged with those ready to throw light on his new problems rather than with office seekers and politicians. The country needed more that he should read international law lectures than deliver chautauqua lectures. He has apparently deemed the state department rather a sinecure and a reservoir of patronage than a field of duty which required earnest and intense and persistent application."

Mr. Gillett denounced the change of American policy in China and the early recognition of the Chinese republic.

M'GOVERN DENOUNCES CRITICS OF TAX RATE

Says They Are Kept By State From Fleecing the Public.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 16.—Aggressive, scheming men engaged in industry and trade, but who represent neither commerce nor industry, Governor F. E. McGovern said here last night, find the state commissions of Wisconsin standing directly in their way when they attempt to fleece the public, so they cry out against the tax rate, which is higher because of the expense of maintaining these protective commissions.

The governor cited statistics to show that the state government is being administered economically, though progressive legislation has its effect in raising the tax rate. He spoke before the Westminster Civic league.

RECEIVER IN CHARGE.

Medina, N. D., Bank in Trouble Following Fargo Failure.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 16.—Following a run on the Medina bank, which followed the placing of the firm of Wheelock & Wheelock of Fargo in the hands of a receiver, the bank was Tuesday taken in charge by Bank Examiner S. G. Severtson. As on regarding the future conduct of the institution has not yet been decided on. The Wheelocks are financially interested in the institution. Deposits amount to $52,000.

FIREMAN JUMPS AND FRACTURES HIS SKULL.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Sutherland, fireman on the Great Northern passenger train which struck a trolley car here last night, was the only person injured by the collision, as the occupants of the trolley car, which was stalled on the tracks, got out before the collision. Sutherland jumped and, striking his head on a trolley pole, fractured his skull. He may not recover.

Catches Weasel in Saloon.

Negaunee, Mich., Jan. 16.—Julius Johnson caught a big weasel in his saloon yesterday. He put the animal on exhibition in the window for a short while but later freed it from the cage.

Rapid City Mill Burns.

Rapid City, S. D., Jan. 16.—The big mill of the Tamphere & Hinrichs Lumber company, was burned last night with a loss of $40,000. A shift of wind saved 8,000,000 feet of sawed lumber from the flames.

HARD TRIP BY CITY FATHERS

Mayor and Commissioners Push Auto Through Slush Up Hill.

Look Over Building Line Easements Near Duluth Heights.

If you could have been on Fifty-ninth avenue west shortly before noon yesterday, anywhere on the grade between the D., M. & N. tracks at the top of the pavement and the foot of the hill, you would have seen a six-passenger automobile crawling slowly upwards.

You would have seen the wheels spinning and the slush flying. You would have seen the machine spasmodically jerking its way upwards, the engine slowly throbbing one minute and humming at high speed the next. Between the spasms when it went ahead, when it looked as if not another foot could be gained, you could have seen three men toiling every bit as hard as the machinery.

Prefer to Walk.

They left the big car muffled in big ulsters, believing that, relieved of their combined weight, the cushioned, gas-driven vehicle would be able to make the riffle. But alas for their hopes. They hadn't gone half a block when they looked back to see what had become of their transportation. It was making futile efforts to catch up to them. They waited a minute and then decided to go back. When they reached the car again they got behind and put their shoulders against it. They pushed and heaved. Without warning, the fractious buzz-cart shot ahead, nearly giving them a tumble to the road. But not for long. The machine bucked again after it had jumped some forty or fifty feet. Once more the three passengers gave it a boost, which helped it a bit further on its way. Thus they made their way to the top of the hill, across the tracks and on to the western extension of the Boulevard. By that time the heavy overcoats were piled in the back seat and sweat was rolling down their faces in tiny rivulets. With a sigh of relief the now weary trio bundled into their coats and settled back in their seats as the car headed citywards along Duluth's famed driveway.

Look Over Easements.

The three men who worked so hard and so faithfully compose a majority of Duluth's city council. They were Mayor W. I. Prince, Finance Commissioner Fred J. Voss and Works Commissioner Roderick Murchison. They had been looking over some proposed building line easements and were on their way to look over a piece of ground which Ole S. Ingebo wishes to plat. The property lies adjacent to the third division of Duluth Heights and the most feasible route appeared to be via the boulevard, reached by going up Fifty-ninth avenue west.

But their trials were not over. The roadway was narrow at places and the embankments sometimes fell sheer away with no comforting high stone wall to lend an atmosphere of protecting security. On several occasions the machine skidded over the slippery, treacherous roadway, and each time the city fathers sat up with a jerk, their hearts in their throats and their breaths choken off with an involuntary gasp.

"We thought more than once that we were going to 'turn turtle' and go tumbling down the side of the hill," said Commissioners Voss and Murchison this morning in talking about the trip. "Every time we thought we'd passed the last bad place and then we got another nerve-wracking jar. We pulled through safely, but we don't hanker for another experience like that right away quick."

The berth of a commissioner is not always a soft and downy couch nor is the pathway always strewn with roses.

The trip was particularly trying on Mayor Prince as he had a heavy schedule ahead of him, meeting the extension committee of the university at noon and continuing with other important engagements throughout the afternoon and evening. The mayor was well played out when the night was over and said that he still felt the effects this morning.

WOMAN BOUND, GAGGED AND CHOKED BY HIGHWAYMAN

MRS. WARREN V. JONES.

Bound and gagged and then choked into insensibility, Mrs. Warren V. Jones, 22 years old, of 214 East Third street, was found lying on the sidewalk in front of the St. John's Lutheran church, Lake avenue and Third street, about 11 o'clock last evening. She was discovered by Edward Sample of 16 East Sixth street, who notified police headquarters and helped carry the unconscious woman itno a small candy store on an opposite corner.

Police Surgeon Murphy attended the young woman and ordered her taken to St. Mary's hospital, where after some time she was able to give a statement of what had occurred. She was taken back to her home shortly before noon today.

Mrs. Jones had been at the Lyceum theater earlier in the evening and had gone to see a friend who owns a small store at Lake avenue and Fourth street. It was while on her way back to her home that Mrs. Jones passed St. John's Lutheran church.

Bound and Gagged.

According to her story this morning, just as she was passing the steps of the church a tall, dark man stepped out from the side of the building, shoving a revolver in front of her and compelled her to back up on the steps. He then tied her hands at the back of her head. The man then tore the gloves off of her hands and finding no rings on her fingers, it having been apparent to her that the man was looking for some rings, he began to choke her with his hands.

Snatching her purse, the man then jumped down the steps and ran away. Mrs. Jones was very weak, but felt that she might be able to get down to the sidewalk and in attempting to do so, stumbled and fell. She was unable to catch herself, her arms having been tied behind her, and the fall stunned her.

Patrolman Smollett, who was sent to the scene of the hold-up, reported later that he had found the woman's purse a short distance from the church. Fifty cents, which was in the bag, was found missing. The officer also noticed signs of a scuffle in the snow.

Mrs. Jones said this morning that she had dreamed of being held up but two days ago and that early Wednesday morning she gave her diamond ring to her husband, who is conductor of a dining car on the Soo railroad. He returned this morning from a trip to Chicago, when he was informed of the attack upon Mrs. Jones. He will take her to Chicago this evening for a short rest, as she is in a very nervous state, although otherwise recovered from her experience of last evening.

CONTINUE ARGUMENTS

Judge Cant Will Hear Attorneys on Special Term Day.

Pioneers Locate Western Terminus of Traction Line at Sixth Avenue.

Closing arguments in the quo warranto proceedings involving the city's attack of the validity of the Duluth Street Railway company's legislative franchise of 1881 will be continued through Saturday. Although tomorrow is a special term day, Judge Cant has consented to hear the arguments as a matter of accommodation to Attorney Frank B. Kellog of counsel for the city. Mr. Kellog's firm is interested in matter to come before the interstate commerce commission at Chicago early next week, which require the attention of either himself or E. E. Olds of the same firm. Mr. Olds has been actively engaged in the quo warranto suit for several months.

Attorney Oscar Mitchell of counsel for the traction company will probably conclude his main argument to the court this afternoon, after three days of argument. Attorney Olds of Davis, Kellogg, Severance & Olds of counsel for the city will follow Mr. Mitchell. Francis W. Sullivan of counsel for the city, who examined a majority of the witnesses who testified at the trial, will probably follow Mr. Olds with an argument on the facts which have been developed at the trial.

Approximately thirty or thirty-five witnesses have been called by the city during the trial to testify as to their recollections of the western terminus of the first line of street railway which was put down during the fall of 1882. The main dispute is whether the line which was built in 1882 extended west on Superior street to a point near Eighth avenue west or whether it terminated in the middle of the block between Sixth and Seventh avenues west. If the latter is true, the company failed to build the required mile within the time limit specified in section 2 of its franchise.

The Western Terminus.

Among the thirty or more pioneers who during the early eighties resided or had places of business on Superior street between Fifth and Eighth avenues west, and who were called as witnesses, all, with but a single exception, were more or less positive in their recollection that the first track laid did not extend west beyond a point midway between Sixth and Seventh avenues west.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gillon, old residents of the city, were the last witnesses to testify for the city on this point. Their testimony practically substantiates, it is claimed by attorneys for the city, the testimony of other "old timers" who lived in the neighborhood of the western terminus of the line in 1882.

Mrs. Gillon was formerly Miss Mary McLennan. The McLennan family lived in a house located in what is now known as Eighth avenue west. The house was located by various witnesses as being a little south of the southerly line of Superior street. Witnesses for the company testified that the western terminus of the line was located in the fall of 1882 at a point near Eighth avenue west. Some of the company's witnesses placed it in the avenue.

Mrs. Gillon testified that the end of the line and the turntable which was built at the western terminus was not located in Eighth avenue but on the contrary was located opposite the old Scovel house. The Scovel house, she said, was located very close to where the Lenox hotel, Sixth avenue west and Superior street, now stands. Asked by Attorney Sullivan as to whether or not there was any turntable nearer west than the one almost in front of the Scovel house, she replied in the negative.

The Stone Quarry.

Mrs. Gillon also testified that the old stone quarry which has often been referred to in this case was located near Seventh avenue west and that between Seventh and Eighth avenues west a ledge of rock protruded into the street making a narrow passageway. She declared that there was no street car line during the year 1882 beyond or west of the curve caused by the rock protruding into the street. In this particular she corroborated the testimony by her two brothers, John and Alex McLennan, and others.

Alfred Gillon, who came to Duluth in 1880 and who was a police officer between 1885 and 1896, told substantially the same story.

An amusing situation was developed during the examination of Mr. Gillon. It appeared that during the fall of 1882 he was courting Miss McLennan who later became Mrs. Gillon. Asked as to whether he ever had occasion to visit the McLennan home that fall, he smiled and admitted that he had urgent business there. At this point, Attorney Mitchell, for the company, interceded with the suggestion that perhaps Mr. Gillon would be more apt to remember his visits to the McLennan house than he would the scenery in the immediate vicinity of the home. Mr. Gillon located the end of the line between Sixth and Seventh avenues west.

The Gillons were put on the stand Wednesday just before the final arguments in the case were started.

L. G. Fouse, president of the Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance company of Philadelphia and dean of the life insurance presidents of America, died at his home in Philadelphia Jan. 16. A stroke of paralysis, which he suffered four years ago, was indirectly the cause of death. Mr. Fouse was 63 years old.

TAKE LONG HIKE ON WOODEN SHOES

Lieut. Nordwall and Sister to Walk From Duluth to Coast.

After hiking on wooden shoes for more than a year Lieut. Herbert P. Nordwell arrived in Duluth with his sister, Wilhelmina, today. From here the two will hike to the coast, on their wooden shoes.

Lieut. Nordwell walked from Duluth to St. Paul, where his sister was ill in a hospital. After she had recovered the two walked to Milwaukee and then came to Duluth. From here they will resume their journey westward.

The two excited considerable curiosity in Duluth as they walked about the city in their wooden shoes and quaint Dutch garb. Walking seems to agree with them and they were a picture of health.

WILL INSPECT DULUTH DOCK

Island Creek Coal Company May Build an Extension.

T. B. Davis of New York, president of the Island Creek Coal company, which owns considerable property in Duluth and Superior, is expected here tomorrow morning on a short inspection trip. He will be accompanied by three other officials of the corporation.

A. W. Fluegel, superintendent of the Duluth-Superior harbor docks, received a telegram this morning from Mr. Davis, in which the latter states that he will arrive here early tomorrow morning from Minneapolis. The party will inspect the new docks and it is understood view some local property adjoining the West Duluth dock with the intention of building an extension.

KILLS HIMSELF IN HOTEL AT CHISHOLM

Fred W. Hahn of Illinois Ends Spree By Poison Route.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fred W. Hahn, aged 30, of Galesburg, Ill., who had been representing tht Chicago Portrait company on the range, wound up a spree by taking his life in his room at the Neally hotel here. He came to the hotel Monday, and his failure to leave his room yesterday prompted George Neally, clerk of the hotel, to force the door yesterday afternoon.

Found Dead on Floor.

He was found lying on the floor dead. Beside the body was a glass that had contained cyanide of potassium, and Deputy Coroner A. B. Kirk pronounced it a case of suicide. On his person was found $15 in cash, some bills and several letters. An unmailed postal card addressed to the deceased's mother indicated she lived at 546 North Chambers street, Galesburg, Ill., and a message was sent to her notifying her of her son's death. Hahn's watch had stopped at 10:10.

An effort has been made to determine where Hahn procured the poison, but so far has failed. A sack containing a large quantity of it was found in the room, but it bore no druggist's mark.

MANUAL TRAINING TEACHERS MEETING

Annual Gathering of Range Association at Chisholm Saturday.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—There will be a meeting of the Range Manual Arts association at the Lincoln school Saturday at 2:30 p. m. Manual teachers from all over the range will be present.

The program follows: Visiting schools; address of welcome, J. P. Vaughan; "Wood Finishing: Where shall it be taught, how shall it be taught and the kind of finishes?" W. E. Anderson, Mountain Iron; "Forging and Its Place in the Schools," R. Knolson, Hibbing; address, A. Y. Peterson, Chisholm; "How Much Machine Work Shall be Done in Our Furniture Classes, Where in the Course Shall it be Done, and by Whom Shall it be Done," Earl Garinger, Coleraine.

After the meeting a lunch will be served by the domestic science department to the members of the association and school board. During lunch, music will be rendered by the high school orchestra.

CAN VISIT GERMANY.

Grand Rapids Man Need Not Fear Being Punished.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Emil Litchke, a harness maker, has received word from Germany that he may now return there without danger of being put to any inconvenience because he neglected to finish his military service before coming to America. A new ruling in the fatherland now makes it possible for those to return who left there to escape this task, and Mr. Litchke will go in the spring.

GRAND RAPIDS CLUB HAS FIRST MEET.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first meeting of the Parents' and Teachers' club was held at the assembly room of the high school yesterday afternoon. The pupils of Miss Campbell's room executed some pretty folk dances, and a Christmas play was acted by Miss Alton's pupils. The speakers for the afternoon were Mrs. L. W. Huntley, Mrs. F. R. Harrison, Mrs. H. G. Becker, Mrs. W. C. Gilbert and Misses Ely and Huderly of the school faculty.

Next Sunday School Meet.

The next meeting of the Itasca County Sunday School association will be held at the Methodist church, Cohasset, on Saturday, Jan. 23, afternoon and evening. W. T. Powell of Minneapolis, a state worker in the cause, will be present as will people interested in the work from all parts of the county.

HAD PROSPEROUS YEAR.

First National of Biwabik Officers Make Good Showing.

Biwabik, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual meeting of the shareholders of the First National bank of Biwabik was held here Wednesday. The following officers were re-elected: President, E. B. Myers; vice presidents, C. W. Bray, Alfred Hoel; cashier, J. C. McGivern; assistant cashier, A. E. Reese. The directors are: E. B. Myers, J. S. Lutes, C. W. Bray, G. R. Shank, L. E. Spurbeck, Alfred Hoel and J. C. McGivern.

The shareholders also passed resolutions authorizing the board of directors to accept the conditions of the recent Federal reserve bank act and make formal application to become a member bank. Reports for the past year showed that the bank had experienced a very satisfactory year, and the shareholders were very much satisfied with the progress made by the bank during the year.

DIES AT TWO HARBORS.

Charles Brown, Old Employe of Iron Range Is Called.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Brown, aged 55 years, died at the Budd hospital yesterday after about two weeks' illness. He had lived in or near this city for the past twenty years and during most of the time has been engaged in the various track departments of the Iron Range. Recently he built a shack near Alger in which he intended to spend the winter. He had been ailing since last summer and on account of his condition growing worse he came to the hospital in January for treatment.

Nothing is known concerning his relatives, if he has any. He came here from Canada.

ELY OFFICER SHOT.

Gun Drops From Pocket and Policeman Gets Flesh Wound.

Ely, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Officer Peter Mattson of the police force is confined to the Shipman hospital as the result of an accidental shooting. Mattson is employed on the night force, and went to look at the fire in the furnace at the city hall at an early hour, when in bending over, his revolver fell from the holster, striking on the cement floor and discharged the weapon, the bullet passing through the fleshy part of his leg. While the wound made is not dangerous, it makes an ugly and painful injury.

CHISHOLM BANKS RE-ELECT OFFICERS.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—No changes were made in the officials of the First National bank at their annual meeting. Gust Carlson was re-elected president; C. A. Munro, vice president; G. L. Train, cashier, and Fred W. Hurt, assistant cashier. The directors are Gust Carlson, Thomas York, C. A. Munro, J. H. McNiven, Edward Freeman, J. J. Hayes and G. L. Train.

The Miners' State bank re-elected S. R. Kirby of Duluth president; John A. Redfern of Hibbing, vice president; W. M. Pratt, Chisholm, cashier, and Frank Gouze of Chisholm, assistant cashier. The directors are S. R. Kirby, John A. Redfern and W. M. Pratt.

GILBERT QUINT IS TO PLAY BUHLITES.

Gilbert, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The basket ball squad at the Gilbert high school is getting busy under the instruction of Physical Director Desmond.

Last Saturday they defeated the strong quint from the Ely high school on the local floor by the score of 25 to 18.

Tonight they will play the Buhl team at Buhl and Saturday night they will line up against the high school team at Biwabik. The line-up of the team will probably be as follows: Forwards, Erchul and Indihar; center, Hill; guards, Shean and Sames; substitutes, Rock and Olson.

ELY MAN BOUND OVER FOR ROBBERY.

Ely, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thomas Hicks was arraigned in municipal court to answer to the charge of robbery. Hicks is said to have relieved George Walker of about $26 at the point of a revolver on the street on Monday night. One other witness was sworn, and testified to an attempted robbery in the rooms of one of the local hotels here by Hicks. Hicks was bound over to the grand jury.

TOWER JOTTINGS.

Tower, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—P. F. Chamberlain of Duluth has been in town several days on business.

Several fine dressed beeves were brought to town from the Benson farm and rapidly disposed of to local meat dealers and consumers. The meat was very much superior to packing house products.

G. B. Heath, formerly in the newspaper business at Coleraine, is reporter on the Tower News, and has taken up the work.

It is rumored that one of Tower's ex-mayors may be a candidate again at the city election to be held Feb. 3.

NASHWAUK WILL HAVE BIG TIME

Installation of White Way to Be Celebrated.

Nashwauk, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new engine for the power house arrived Tuesday and is being installed and will be finished in about three weeks. The engine is of the Ames type and is considered one of the best on the market. As soon as the engine is installed the white way will be turned on, which will be an occasion for much merriment, as it is planned to give a big celebration. The Commercial club will have charge of the event, which will consist of a big banquet and dance, the Nashwauk Commercial club to be guests of honor.

Work on the new village well is progressing rapidly and the water and light commission is making many improvements in the village's present water system. The water in the old well was being exhausted.

FAVORS WORK FARM UPON MESABA RANGE

A. P. Silliman of Hibbing Figures Big Saving Would Result.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. P. Silliman of Hibbing, who is a member of the St. Louis County city and county work farm board, says a big saving could be effected in mileage and other expenses to and from the Duluth farm for Mesaba range inmates if a farm were established on the range. He will advocate the passage of a bill by the legislature permitting the establishment of a joint work and poor farm at Wolf on the range, as he says the cost of taking people to Duluth from this section would be obviated.

PROGRESSIVES TO OPEN CAMPAIGN

Virginia Campaigners Will Issue Semi-Weekly Paper.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The municipal campaign will liven up considerably next week when the progressives' candidate, R. J. McPhee, will open his campaign with a public address defining the issues.

The Progressives will make things hum with a semi-weekly newspaper, to be edited by Former School Supt. Lafayette Bliss and Editor Koln of the Biwabik Times and Editor Koln of printed by the Biwabik newspaper plant and distributed here gratis.

Murphy in Chicago.

Mayor Murphy, who is in Chicago recovering from a slight operation performed in a Windy City hospital, is expected back in a few days and is expected to make a definite announcement as to his stand in the campaign. It is general report that he will not be a candidate, despite earlier reports to the contrary.

WOODSMAN IS TRAIN VICTIM

Matt Maki Fatally Injured Trying to Steal a Ride.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Trying to steal a ride on a Canadian Northern train out of Cusson yesterday, cost Matt Maki, a woodsman his life. He was badly mangled and brought here to a hospital where he died last night. He was about 31 and leaves a wife in the old country.

HIBBING CURLING.

First Games in Elimination Contests Are Pulled Off.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first games in the elimination contest for the Klass button were played at the curling rink last night. More will be played tonight and Saturday until the last two rinks are left for the final match. Last night the Flannigan rink beat the Lewis, 24 to 0; Klessman beat Strang, 23 to 2 and West beat Blackface, 19 to 6.

CREAMERY REPORTS VERY GOOD YEAR.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Itasca cooperative creamery had a prosperous year, according to the annual report presented at the annual meeting, which showed that during the year there had been received at the creamery 242,346 pounds of milk, with a butter fat average of 4.57, making 11,072 pounds of butter fat, for which an average price of 41 cents per pound was paid, netting the farmers $4,594. There were 72,599 pounds of special cream received at the institution, testing 30.2 per cent and containing 9,661 pounds of butter fat, for which $3,249 was paid. The receipts of first cream totaled 73,037 pounds, testing 2.85 and containing 20,844 pounds of butter fat. This amounted to $6,210 for the producers.

The total receipts of the creamery for the year 1913 were $18,800. Of this sum the farmers received $14,058, showing an operating expense of $3,114.

The officers elected are: President, A. J. McGuire; vice president, Neil McKinley; secretary, O. J. Niles; executive committee, A. M. Sisler, William Hoolihan, Frank Gran and George Becker.

Chisholm Maccabees Elect.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the meeting of the Modern Maccabees at Doric hall Wednesday evening the following officers were elected: Mrs. Thomas Dunlevy, commander; Mrs. Frank Bradfield, lieutenant commander; Mrs. M. V. Roberts, past commander; Mrs. James Leighty, record keeper; Mrs. C. C. Estabrooks, finance keeper; Mrs. A. Dugar, chaplain; Miss Florence McDougal, mistress at arms; Miss Vendla Larson, sergeant; Mrs. John Anderson, picket; Mrs. Downy, sentinel; Miss Lillian Anderson, pianist. Four candidates were admitted into the order and after the business meeting a social hour was enjoyed. The installation of officers will be held at the next regular meeting on Wednesday, Jan. 28. The ladies are making plans for a public card party, the date of which will be announced later.

DON'T CENSURE THE MAN WHO DRINKS

The drinking man is helpless. He is the victim of a burning thirst that cannot be satisfied. His system is poisoned with alcohol, which constantly demands more intoxicant. Drive this alcoholic poisoning from the system, and the liquor habit is conquered. That is what the Neal treatment does—and in only three days.

The marvelous success of the Neal three-day treatment has elicited the indorsement of many prominent citizens of the Union.

Call in person at the office of the Neal Institute and have a confidential talk. Make a thorough investigation of the personnel of the local Neal Institutes and the national Neal Institutes Company. Find out all about this physicians' remedy for the liquor curse — effective, but harmless, safe and positive.

There is no longer any reason to feel that treatment for the drink habit is slow and dangerous. The Neal Treatment takes but three days, and leaves the patient in greatly improved mental and physical condition.

For new booklet, "The Modern Method of Treatment for Alcohol and Drug Addiction," address the Neal Institute, 887 West Seventh street, Superior; St. Paul Institute, 676 Dayton avenue; Minneapolis Institute, 403 South Seventh street.

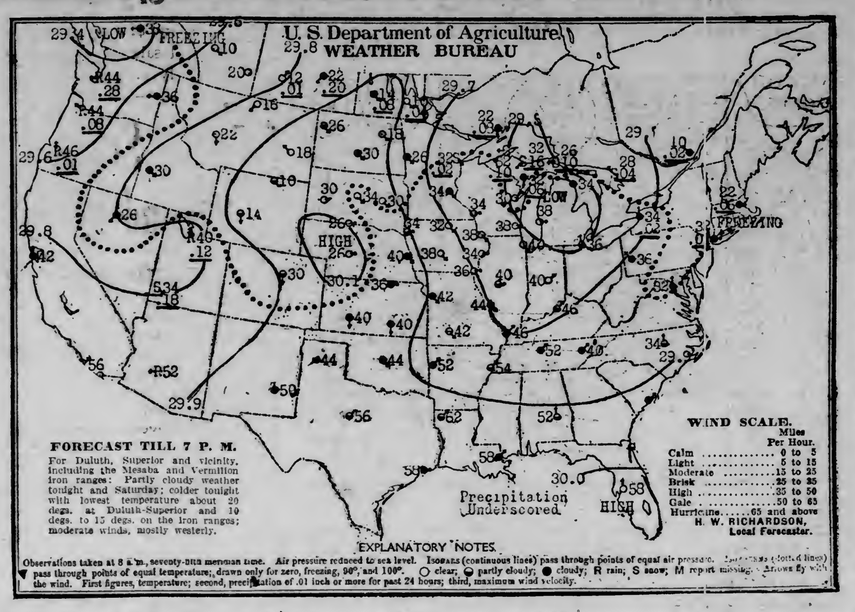

TAKES 10,000 POUNDS OF CARP FROM LAKE.

Fond du Lac, Wis., Jan. 16.—Ten thousand pounds of carp, a record catch in Lake Winnebago, were lifted today by August Bishing of New Albin, Iowa, operating under the state game warden's permission for the removal of rough fish.

NEW BUILDINGS FOR CHICAGO UNIVERSITY.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—The University of Chicago will erect three new buildings this spring at a cost of $800,000. They are a women's gymnasium and club, a geology building and a classics building. Announcement was made today that the corner stone of the geology and classics building will be laid at the March convocation.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

COLDER

A little snow fell last night, but not enough to brag about, and the predictions are for a continuance of the present cloudy weather, with a slight lowering of the temperature. However not enough chill is promised to give cause for alarm. A year ago today was mild. The sun rose this morning at 7:19 and will set at 4:47, giving eight hours and fifty-eight minutes of sunshine, two minutes more than yesterday.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Moderate temperatures are the rule, but the weather has turned colder over Western Canada and the Rocky mountains. Disturbances centered over the lake region and British Columbia caused light rain or snow over North-Atlantic states, the eastern and northern lake region, Canada, Utah, Arizona, California, Oregon and Washington during the last twenty-four hours."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Saturday:

Wisconsin—Fair tonight and Saturday, except snow near Lake Superior; slightly colder in north portion tonight.

Minnesota—Generally fair tonight and Saturday; slightly colder in northeast portion tonight.

Iowa, North and South Dakota—Fair tonight; Saturday increasing cloudiness; moderate temperature.

Montana—Cloudy tonight and Saturday, probably rain or snow in west portion; warmer tonight.

Lower Michigan—Cloudy tonight, probably local snow; somewhat colder in north and west portion; Saturday generally fair.

Upper Michigan — Snow tonight; somewhat colder; Saturday generally fair.

JUDGES APPOINTED FOR FEB. 5 ELECTION

Chisholm People Are to Pass on Question of Reincorporating.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judges and clerks for the special election to be held Feb. 5, when the question of reincorporation will be settled, have been appointed by the council as follows:

Precinct No. 1—Judges, Oscar L. Simstrem and William Mueller; clerk, John B. Raeker.

Precinct No. 2—Judges, Carl Jasna and John Olson; clerk, August Dodier.

Precinct No. 3—Judges, O. H. Higbee and Jack Hatch; clerk, A. J. Sullivan.

Precinct No. 4—Judges, R. Hodge and J. F. Thompson; clerk, O. A. Sundness.

Precinct No. 5—Judges, H. W. McLaughlin and Guy Mitchell; clerk, S. J. Musolf.

The only point to be decided at the election will be for voters to say whether they wish the village to come in under the 1905 laws or remain under the 1895 laws, under which it was incorporated. It is believed there will be no objections to bringing the village under the new laws and it is expected that the election will carry in favor of the 1905 laws.

Shot His Companion.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—George Sabo got forty-five days in the county jail for accidentally shooting his companion, George Stumper, while trying to hit a rock with a rifle. The bullet glanced and hit Stumper, who is in the hospital, but not seriously injured.

Hibbing Couple Wed.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 16.—The marriage of Frank Schultz and Miss Helen Balcom took place yesterday at the church of the Immaculate Conception, Rev. Father Gille officiating. Miss Pearl Dillon attended the bride and Frank Bendee was best man.

scale. In such a matter you would rather have the judgment of three men than a single officer. In fact, in matters of arbitration, whether it is a private dispute or a board to settle a wages controversy, the human instinct is generally to leave it to three fair-minded men. The tax commission again is on on a similar footing. But when a board has purely administrative duties, in most cases it is anywhere from a superfluity to a positive incumbrance. Either it fusses round with details till the executive officer is all snarled up in red tape or else the executive officer does it all while the board twiddles its thumbs.

The Highway Commission.

There is still another case of the executive board. The highway commission for example. Go over its transactions for any series of meetings and one detail after another is listed that the executive officer could better attend to alone. Hiring a county engineer, deciding on the material for some road, passing on a contract. Some of the matters are technical in which the board can hardly be much assistance to the engineer, and some are administrative where the engineer ought to be able to decide for himself and have the responsibility of the decision.

But in the midst of the routine one comes on a dispute of two rival towns for the location of a state highway. If you were one of the disputants you would not want to leave that to an engineer, who would look at the technical factors. You would want the judgment of the business men who would look at the traffic question, the markets, the towns and their territory, the lines of trade, to decide where that road would do most good. And when that was decided you would want to turn it over to an engineer to say what the grade should be and the materials and how the contract should be let and look after the inspection and acceptance.

That is what a railroad would do in laying out a line. The general officers would get from the engineers the information about topography, the relative cost of alternative routes and so on. But for knowledge of the value of the routes for traffic they would depend on their own judgment. And when they had decided in general where to run the line they would turn it over to the engineering corps for the details.

There is possibly a legitimate place in the scheme of state government for a board with powers limited to the location of state highways, to map out a system that would be of the greatest benefit to the communities they serve. At the same time that board might be more effective if it was relieved of other duties that have to do with administrative details and technical matters.

Nothing Yet Agreed Upon.

It is possible such a recommendation will be made in the case of the highway department. You understand nothing has been agreed upon by the efficiency commission. This is one of the things it may conclude is advisable. In that case the highway department would be a branch perhaps of a state department dealing with public works or with public works and public domain. It might possibly have charge of the state's building operations also, relieving to that extent the board of control which has a raft of duties. Connected with the central authority as it would be in a business corporation, it could concentrate its efforts and play a team game with other departments. At the same time the important duty of mapping out the state system, negotiating with county boards and maintaining diplomatic relations with the Federal highway department might be left to a special board with a roving disposition.

Because a private corporation does things in a certain way is no sign the state should follow the same course. Nevertheless business experience counts for a good deal in determining what is the most effective form of organization.

One thing is certain. You find mighty few business concerns that use boards to perform executive duties. They consult, deliberate, agree on policies and board plans. Then they turn it over to a man and tell him to get on the job. And he reports to someone above him whose business it is to know whether they are getting results.

If they don't the man loses his job. If the corporation doesn't get results it dies.

It may not be the correct rule for the state. But it certainly looks like a good hunch.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger. Agent, Wirth's drug store 13 West Superior street.

"TAPPED" WIRE, BUT NEVER TOUCHED IT

Telegraph Operator Worked By Means of Induction Process.

Los Angeles, Jan. 16.—H. V. Warnock, telegraph operator of an alleged bucket shop, was convicted by a jury in the superior court of having tapped a broker's leased wire by utilizing the electrical property of induction. Warnock's attorney filed notice of appeal.

According to the prosecutor, the case is the first on record where a wire tapper obtained results without actually tapping wires.

Warnock was alleged merely to have obtained a telephone wire contained in the same cable which carried the brokers' telegraph wire. He listened in a telephone receiver to the dots and dashes which were transmitted over the telegraph wire and thence transferred by induction into the nearby telephone circuit.

By this means Warnock, it was charged, obtained access to stock quotations and other information carried over the broker's leased telegraph wire from New York.

CHARGES TITANIC WAS UNSEAWORTHY

Steward, Injured in Wreck, Sues Owners in London.

London, Jan. 16.—The plea that the Titanic was unseaworthy when she left England in April, 1912, on her disastrous maiden trip to the United States, which cost the lives of over 1,500 people, is to be advanced in a suit for damages brought against the White Star line by Thomas Whiteley, one of the surviving stewards. The plaintiff sustained a fracture of the right leg in the wreck.

Whiteley's counsel, Allen Clement Edwards, a lawyer member of parliament, will also argue on behalf of his client that there was negligence in the steering of the ill-fated vessel.

The hearing has been provisionally fixed for March 1. This will be the first time that a suggestion in regard to the unseaworthiness of the Titanic has been raised in the courts.

Whiteley, in an interview given while lying in a New York hospital after the wreck, declared that the officers of the Titanic had disregarded the warnings of the lookout that icebergs were in the vicinity.

Bemidji Woman Dies.

Bemidji, Minn. Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. John Peckles died Wednesday afternoon at the state university hospital in Minneapolis of heart trouble and other complications. She was 27 years old on Sept. 24, and is survived by her husband and three children, the eldest of whom is 6 years old. Mr. Peckles brought the body to Bemidji last night.

WHY DOCTORS NO LONGER CLAIM TO "CURE" PEOPLE

A few years ago it was a common thing for the family doctor to say, "I will cure you in a few days." This cheerful prophecy often gave the patient new hope and courage but it is no longer good form. Doctors still "cure" malaria and a few other troubles in which their medicines have a direct or "specific" action on the virus of the disease. In other cases they simply give supporting medicine and keep up the strength of the patient until nature effects a cure.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure chlorosis and other trouble due to thin blood because thye have a specific action on the blood, building it up, purifying and enriching it. This direct action on the blood also makes them the best supporting and strengthening medicine. If you are thin and weak, breathless after slight exertion, if you have palpitation of the heart, gas on the stomach, cold hands and feet, if you are nervous and easily irritated and show other signs of weakened vitality, try these strengthening pills at once and let the rich, red blood cure you. Get a box today at the nearest drug store and begin at once to build up your health. Write now to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood."

MINOT BANK JOINS FEDERAL RESERVE BANKS.

Minot, N. D., Jan. 16.—At the annual meeting of the Second National bank Robert E. Barron was elected president; Henry Byorum, cashier and Walter E. Tooley, assistant cashier.

James Johnson was elected chairman of the board of directors and the following were selected to serve with him for the ensuing year: Julius Fauchald, N. J. Thorson, H. E. Byorum, P. P. Lee, Frank W. Roach and R. E. Barron.

Cashier R. E. Barron presented a report which showed the bank to have done a splendid business during the past year. A dividend of 10 per cent was declared.

The directors passed a resolution to become a member of the new Federal reserve bank which is to be established in the near future.

WHEELER AGAIN HEADS TAX BODY.

Minot, N. D., Jan. 16.—H. E. Wheeler of Minot was re-elected president of the North Dakota Tax association and Grand Forks was chosen for the next conference.

Other officers elected are: Vice president, R. B. Blakemore, Fargo; secretary-treasurer, Prof. J. E. Boyle of the University of North Dakota.

The association adopted resolutions urging the creation of the office of county assessor and careful investigation of the Wisconsin income tax law.

Bankers and Strikers.

Great Falls, Mont., Jan. 16.—Great Falls business men and bankers contributed $1,000 to help the striking Michigan copper miners. A smeltermen's committee announced that the unions of the town would double the amount, the union men pledging $2 a month until the strike is won.

DROPSY TREATED FREE

By Dr. Miles, the Great Specialist, Who Will Send a New $3.75 Treatment Free.

Many Have Been Cured After Doctors Failed.

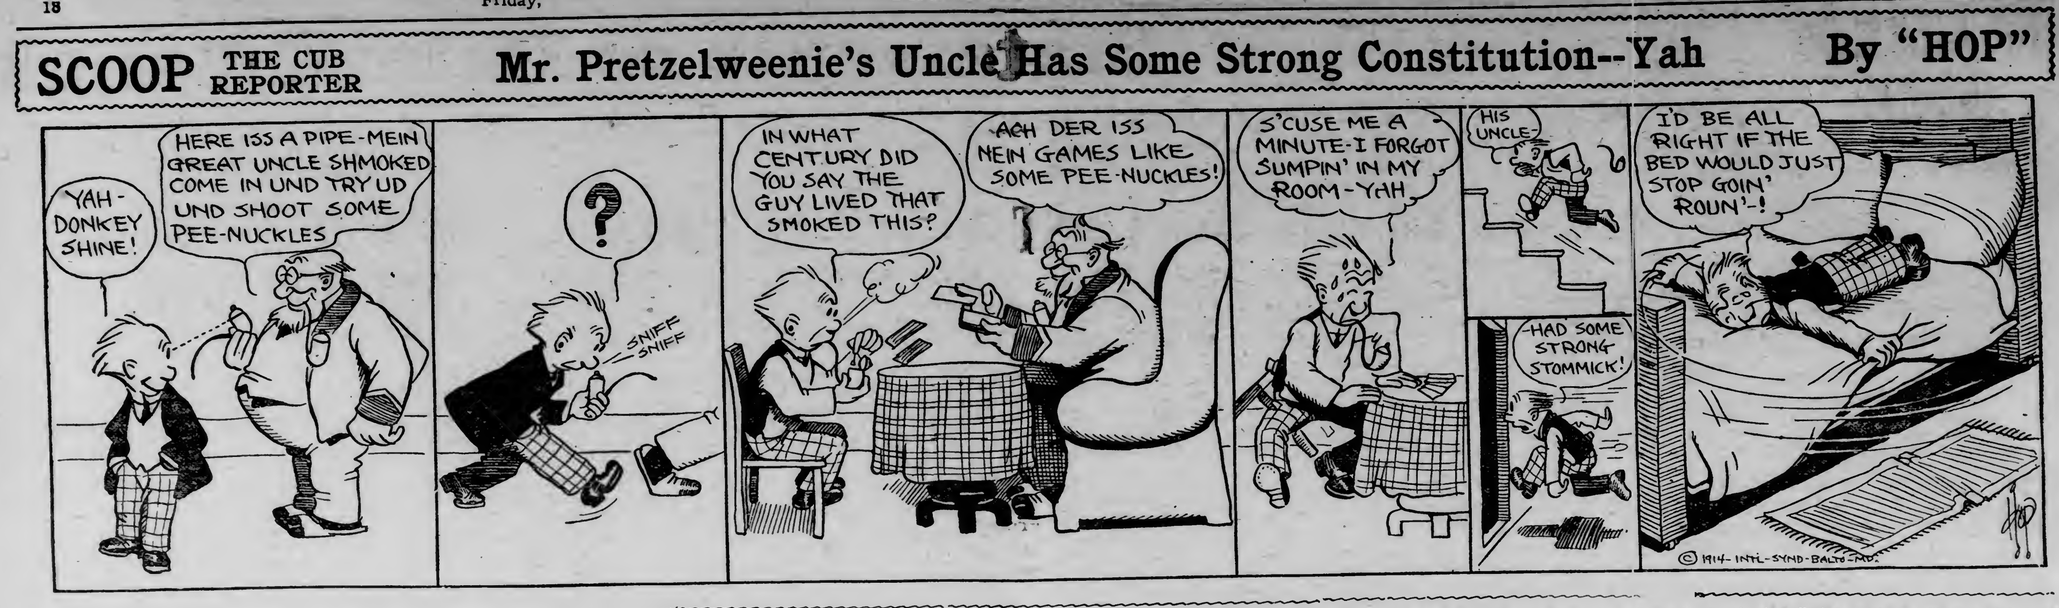

At first no disease is apparently more harmless than dropsy; a little swelling of the eyelids, hands, feet, ankles or abdomen. Finally there is great shortness of breath, cough, faint spells, sometimes nausea and vomiting, even bursting of the limbs and a lingering and wretched death if the dropsy is not removed.

Dr. Miles has been known as a leading specialist in these diseases for 30 years. His liberal offer of a $3.75 Treatment free to all sufferers, is certainly worthy of serious consideration. You may never have such an opportunity again.

The Grand Dropsy Treatment consists of four dropsy remedies in one, also Tonic Tablets and Pura-Laxa for removing the water. This treatment is specially prepared for each patient and is ten times as successful as that of most physicians. It usually relieves the first day, and removes swelling in six days in most cases. Delay is dangerous.

Send for Remarkable Cures in Your State.

All afflicted readers may have Book, Examination Chart, Opinion, Advice, and a Two-Pound Treatment free. Write at once. Describe your case. Address, Dr. Franklin Miles, Dept. DA, 1422 to 1432 Main Street, Elkhart, Ind.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

NEW HIGHWAY SANCTIONED

Carlton County Board Approves Duluth-Moorhead Road Route East.

Bids Will Be Invited When State Highway Commission Approve.

Carlton, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—A hearing was held before the county commissioners here yesterday on the assessments levied by the board of viewers on the land adjoining the proposed Duluth-Moorhead road through Carlton county. There were some objections raised to running the road on the southerly of two routes proposed between Sawyer and Corona, but after a clear explanation by one of the state engineers the southerly course was established.

Road Is Established.

The commissioners sanctioned the report of the board of viewers and established the road. After it has been approved by the state highway commission, the county auditor will advertise for bids on this road work and it is probable that men and teams will be busy at the first opportunity next spring.

SAYS OFFICIALS ARE RESPONSIBLE

"Winking" at Law Violation Blamed By Rhinelander's Ex-Mayor.

Rhinelander, Wis., Jan. 16.—Former Mayor Matt Stapleton, the first witness yesterday afternoon in the vice hearing, said he tried in vain to close saloons and regulate vice during his term in 1910 and 1911, but had largely failed through opposition of the common council and chief of police.

Vice conditions, he said, were largely due to failure of officers to obey the laws. "We never had a sheriff in the country who would enforce the laws unless forced to do so. I do not know much about present conditions excepting that saloons are open on Sundays," said Mr. Stapleton.

He gave the names of a few places which he had heard were in bad repute and told of instances where he had seen judges, sheriffs, district attorneys and other officials in saloons drinking and where miners were playing pool.

No Worse Than Other Places.

Dr. Elliott, city physician, said that conditions here now were no worse than in other cities. He admitted having given treatment to two girls 16 years old who were afflicted with disorders. He thought there was not as much danger to women here now as when recognized roadhouses were permitted. These places, he said, were closed two years ago after the murder of the sheriff of Eagle River.

E. J. Henning, a restaurant keeper, testified that he never allowed minors to drink in his place, but would buy beer for customers when they gave him the money, as he had been informed he could do so without violating the law.

ACCUSED PROSECUTOR HAS RESIGNED JOB

B. G. SKULASON.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 16.—State's Attorney B. G. Skulason of Nelson county has handed in his resignation to the county commissioners who have accepted it. This will cause an abandonment of the charges filed against him.

Attorney Fred A. Kelly of Lakota was appointed to succeed Skulason.

Attorney Skulason quit when the charges of intemperance and conduct unbecoming a public official, made by F. L. Watkins of the State Enforcement league, and other parties of Nelson county, came to a head.

CLOQUET BIRTHS OUTNUMBER DEATHS.

Cloquet, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The vital statistics reported by Dr. James Fleming, health officer, show that births outnumbered the deaths by 117 in Cloquet during the year 1913. There were 111 boys born and 84 girls. The deaths totaled 78, of which 27 were infants.

LITCHFIELD MAN WAS PROBABLY MURDERED.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 16.—The body of the giant found dangling by a rope from a boxcar of a freight Tuesday as it pulled into the Great Northern yards was identified as that of John Okeson, a farmer of Litchfield, Minn. John Nelson of Litchfield made the identification and said he believed that Okeson had been robbed and perhaps killed by men who tied a rope to his neck and the other end to the topmost handrail and threw him off the roof of the boxcar. He had $200 in his pockets when he left Litchfield, Nelson said, and there still is some $1,500 to his credit in a Stillwater bank. He scouted the police theory that Okeson committed suicide. Okeson was a widower 57 years of age and weighed 270 pounds. An unmarried daughter went to Sweden several months ago.

STALLED STREET CAR IS SMASHED

Hit By Train at Fargo After Passengers Had Escaped.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 16.—Twelve passengers of a street car were cut by flying glass and bruised by pieces of wreckage and a train load of passengers on a Great Northern train were badly shaken up last night when the passenger train demolished the street car at a crossing.

Car Stalled on Track.

The trolley of the street car jumped from the wire, leaving the car spanning the railroad track. The rays of the headlight of the approaching train warned the passengers and they leaped from the car just before the crash came. The train was traveling rapidly and plowed its way through the street car but remained on the track.

No one was fatally injured.

LIKE AMENIA SCHOOL.

North Dakotans Proud of Consolidated Affair in That Town.

Amenia, N. D., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—With a consolidated school of the first class, doing two years of high school, all the grades and teach manual training and domestic scienc, Amenia possesses a school that is the pride of its citizens. The consolidated school was established by combining the village school with two rural schools. The enrollment is 93 per cent from the rural district and the work is being conducted in a large and modern building. It is well equipped.

There are four teachers. E. C. Ellery, the principal, is a college graduate and the other three teachers are normal graduates.

Nome, N. D., Consolidated School.

Nome, N. D., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is to be a rural consolidated school southeast of this town. The building will also be used as a community social center. It is in a district too far to consolidate with Nome and the people are tired of the small one-room school buildings. The farmers insist their children are entitled to the same educational privileges as those of residents of villages and towns and they intend to provide them.

YEAR NOT ELAPSED

After North Dakotan Held One Job and Took Another.

Hillsboro, N. D., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The legality of the tenure of the position of assistant attorney general, held by John Carmody of this place, formerly a supreme court justice and a member of the first board of control for the state penal and charitable institutions, is questioned. The appointment was made last summer by Attorney General Miller. The law creating the board of control section says:

"No member of the board of control shall be eligible to any other lucrative office in the state during his term of service or for a year thereafter."

The entire matter seems to resolve itself into whether the position of assistant attorney general is sufficiently remunerative to be regarded as a lucrative office. Mr. Carmody retired as a member of the board of control less than a year ago and a few weeks afterward was appointed by Attorney General Miller to the present position.

SHRINERS MEET AT FARGO, N. D.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fez wearers of North Dakota captured Fargo today and this afternoon and evening there are things doing at the El Zagal Shrine temple here. Several hundred members of the organization are in the city and they are preparing for the initiation of an unusually large class.

MODERN NURSES' HOME.

Will Be Built By Grand Forks Deaconess's Hospital.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Deaconess Hospital corporation at the annual meeting decided to construct a modern nurses' home, and a fund of $20,000 will be created for that purpose.

The hospital reports for the past year showed the institution had a successful year. Anton Ostmo of Grand Forks was elected president; N. H. Berg of Hatton, vice president; A. N. Ostmo of Northwood, secretary. The other directors are J. Bridston, A. K. Hofto of Grand Forks, N. Nilson of Kellys, N. D., and H. Stadstad of Mekinock, N. D.

ISANTI PIONEER GOES TO REWARD

Olaf Eastlund, Who Came to Minnesota in 1856, Is Dead.

Cambridge, Minn., Jan. 16.—Olaf Eastlund, who came to Minnesota in 1856 and to this section in 1860 and was a highly respected citizen, passed away last Tuesday morning at 5:30 o'clock at the ripe old age of 79 years 7 months and 29 days, on the old homestead farm about three miles south of this village.

He is survived by four children, Mrs. Albert Norelius of Isanti, Lillian Eastlund of Isanti, and Edwin and Peter of North Isanti. Deceased also has three brothers living, Peter and Eric Eastlund of Center City and Andrew Eastlund of Dresser Junction, Wis., and one sister, Mrs. P. O. Peterson of Cambridge.

Mr. Eastlund enlisted in the Eighth Minnesota Volunteer Infantry in 1862 and was a soldier for three years. Two years were spent in fighting the Indians, and the last year in the South. He spent many winters working in the woods.

The funeral will take place Sunday morning at 10 o'clock from the home and at 11 o'clock from the North Isanti Baptist church. Rev. G. Sjolander will conduct the services.

CHARGES AGAINST DULUTH ELEVATOR.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Formal complaint against the Atlantic Elevator company of Duluth is to the effect that an unlawful charge for the storage of grain was being exacted at Arndt, Towner county, was made to the state railroad commission yesterday by J. J. McCanna of Cando. The board took the matter under advisement.

Mr. McCanna submitted storage tickets given by the company at Arndt which conform to the state law regulating storage cost, but in addition to the rates provided on the ticket, Mr. McCanna alleges that an additional charge of 2 cents a bushel, without authority of law, is being exacted.

AURORA LIBRARY TO OPEN SATURDAY.

Aurora, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village public library will be opened to the public tomorrow afternoon and will be kept open Saturday and Tuesday afternoons from 3 to 5 and Monday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 for the present, the members of the library board looking after the management.

About 200 volumes are on hand comprising volumes of all classes and more will be added from time to time as the board is able to judge more fully just what the public wants.

LIBRARY BOARD MEETS.

North Dakota State Commission Reviews Work at Bismarck.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 16.—The work of the North Dakota public library commission was reviewed at the annual meeting of the commission held here this week.

The secretary gave a summary of the year's expenditures by months and by departments, and also a statistical summary of the year's work. Ninety-four new traveling library stations have been established in the past twelve months, and 38 new farmers' library stations. The supply of books is entirely inadequate for the old and new stations, and there is usually a file of 25 to 30 applications which cannot be filled without several months' delay.

Reference Work Increases.

The work of the educational reference department shows decided increase, there having been 2,699 borrowers of books who received 3,170 volumes; 43 clubs received a total of 219 volumes; 456 requests for information from the educational reference departments have received a total of 1,401 clippings and pamphlets. The total number of books and clippings sent from these two departments is 5,372. This does not include the 171 traveling libraries sent which contain an average of over 40 books, nor the 60 farmers' libraries sent, containing about 15 books each.

The expenditure of the budget for the coming year was fully discussed as were also the plans necessary in caring for the work of the legislative reference department during the next session.

CAUGHT IN BEMIDJI.

Alleged Thief River Falls Thief Arrested on Leaving Train.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 16.—Fifteen minutes before the southbound Soo passenger train arrived here Wednesday morning, Chief Lane received a wire from Thief River Falls requesting to meet and arrest Emil Hanson of that city, who was accused of taking a $50 watch and a check for $25 from a man in the city last night. Chief Lane met the train and as Hanson alighted, placed him under arrest. The prisoner emphatically denied the charge, although a watch answering to that description was found on his person. He was taken back to Thief River Falls yesterday.

DULUTH WOMAN'S BROTHER CALLED.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—William A. French, for many years proprietor of the Brunswick hotel and a pioneer resident, died Tuesday of cancer of the stomach, aged 66.

He is survived by a wife, two daughters, Mrs. J. F. O'Conner of Roslyn, Wash., and Miss Leah French of this city, and six sisters: Mrs. J. S. Wood, Ishpeming; Mrs. Thomas Craig, Madison Station, Miss.; Mrs. James McLeod, San Jose, Cal.; Mrs. George Gracey, Uklak, Cal.; Mrs. Dougald McCallum, Montreal, Can., and Mrs. A. G. Perry, Duluth, Minn.

FEET AMPUTATED TO SAVE WOODSMAN'S LIFE.

Ashland, Wis., Jan. 16.—As a result of freezing his feet in December while at work in one of the lumber camps out of North York, John Olson had to have both feet amputated at the instep.

Olson froze both of his feet in the latter part of December and was brought to Rinehart's hospital and given the best possible treatment to save his feet, but amputation proved to be absolutely necessary to save the upper part of the legs.

Farm Managers to Meet.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Association of Farm Managers will have an interesting meeting in Fargo Jan. 21, when the fifth annual session will be held at the same time as the big Tri-State Grain and Stock Growers' convention.

Students Plan Electric Show.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the practical events of next week will be the electrical show by the students at the North Dakota agricultural college. It will be put on by the class in electrical engineering and the exhibit will consist largely of electrical devices and appliances than can be utilized on the farm.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Houghton—Mrs. Exilda Frenette died Jan. 14 at her home, 27 Sheldon street, at the age of 60 years. She was one of the oldest and highly respected residents of the community and spent many years of her life in the Copper country. She is survived by a large family of sons and daughters. The funeral will be held Saturday.

Hancock—The Modern Woodmen installed these officers: Venerable counsellor, Joseph Schulte; worthy advisor, David Case; clerk, Alphonse Drouin; banker, Harry Moss; watchman, Frank Coon; sentry, August Henkel; trustee, John Ralph.

Marquette—A thorough survey of the city of Marquette has been started by Secretary Daley of the Marquette Commercial club, as a means of gathering all the data possible concerning all branches of the business of the city.

Negaunee—The body of John Beeby, which has been entombed in the Negaunee mine since Sunday night, was found Jan. 15. The remains were on the ninth level, twenty feet from the pump house. The man and pumps started to work Thursday morning in full force and had all the water pumped out at 12 o'clock Wednesday, so that the men could get into the ninth level and locate the body of Beeby.

Ishpeming—Fifty pairs of telephone cable belonging to the Michigan State Telephone company, were damaged by the fire on East Division street Jan. 15, and the cable man was kept busy making the repairs.

Negaunee—Clifford Monroe of Duluth, is in the city for a few days visiting with Miss Margarette Sheehan and mother, of Case street.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Grand Rapids—The first license under the new eugenic law in Wood county was issued to Peter Hildebrand of Manitowoc, whose bride is to be Katherine Casper of Randolph.

Green Bay—A committee of 100 to conduct a campaign for commission rule here will be named. The new form was defeated here a year ago by 250 votes.

Marshfield—The Central Wisconsin State Fair association elected E. E. Ames, Grand Rapids, president; Frank A. Noll, Marshfield, secretary, and Ray R. Williams was chosen secretary.

Milwaukee—Mrs. Sophie Bogwardt, aged 84, a widow living at 546 Fourth avenue, died Jan. 14 from injuries received when she fell downstairs on June 27.

Madison—The presentation of a plan for state-wide improvement of livestock will be one of the most important features of the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' association to be held here Feb. 5 and 6.

Kenosha—Frank M. Karnes, supervisor of manual training in the schools here, was released from his contract and will become supervisor of the industrial work at Oshkosh normal.

Ashland—The graduating class at the Ashland high school this year will number twenty-one members. The baccalaureate address will be delivered by Rev. H. G. Goodsell at the Presbyterian church on Sunday evening, Jan. 18. The class play will be given on Thursday, Jan. 18, and the class day and commencement will be given on Friday, Jan. 23.

Appleton—E. Eugene Newman of Chicago, a movie man, is to be married to Miss Myra Dietz, daughter of John Dietz, Cameron Dam defender, on Feb. 19.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Manning, N. D.—Dunn county may establish an agricultural high school this year, petitions asking the county commission to submit the question to an election being in circulation, and they have been generally signed.

Mohall, N. D.—The investment of 25 cents by each taxpayer of Renville county in an immigration fund, as proposed by the County Development league, would result in increasing the county's population by at least ninety families a year. This estimate is made by officials of the association on results obtained in previous efforts.

Drake, N. D.—The Soo is up against it for water at the local roundhouse. Two weeks ago the well went dry and since then they have been hauling water from Harvey. There is renewed talk of a pipe line to Brush lake, which would insure an abundance of good, soft water the year around.

Dickinson, N. D.—George V. Bowers, who has been employed as bookkeeper at Soules & Butler for the past few months has left for Bismarck, where he will take a position with the Lahr Motor company.

Minot, N. D.—Herman Brewer, the I. W. W., who was arrested during a free-for-all fight on the street near the postoffice last fall and charged with assault and battery upon an officer, was found guilty by a jury in county court.

Fargo, N. D.—The Northern Trust company re-elected its officers as follows: President, George H. Hollister; vice president, J. G. Thompson; vice president, B. G. Tenneson; secretary, P. W. Clemens; assistant secretary, G. A. Clemens; assistant treasurer, F. L. Whitney. The surplus of the bank has increased $10,000, and the usual dividend was declared.

Minot, N. D.—An A. O. U. W. lodge of about thirty charter members was instituted in Burt township fourteen miles south of Minot, on Saturday, Jan. 10, by Deputy Grand Master I. V. Lefur.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

St. Cloud—That influence was brought to bear and that his father was suffering with an "insane delusion," when he deeded a house and two lots in East St. Cloud to the city of St. Cloud, are the basic declarations of Swan F. Hjelm in a suit which he has instituted against the city to recover the property.

Crookston — President Frank A. Weld of the Moorhead normal school will deliver his illustrated lecture on "Yellowstone National Park," in the Methodist church Saturday evening, Jan. 17.

International Falls — Mr. Brierly of the Duluth Brewing & Malting company was a visitor in the city Wednesday.

Bemidji — Archdeacon Parshall of Cass Lake has announced that Bishop Morrison of Duluth will be here next Sunday. The rite of confirmation will be given to several. The bishop will also preach the Sunday morning sermon.

St. Paul — Suit was begun before Judge Lewis here by the Capital Trust company as administrator for the estate of William M. Ward against the Great Northern Railway company for $35,000. It is alleged that Ward was killed in the yards of the company at Twenty-fifth avenue southeast, Minneapolis in December.

St. Cloud — Mrs. Mary Duffy, aged 71 years, who has been living in this city for two years and a half with her daughter, Mrs. Mary Anderson, died Jan. 14. Deceased is survived by four children, Hugh Duffy of North Dakota, Mrs. Mary Anderson of this city, Mrs. B. F. Duren of St. Paul, and Miss Anna Duffy of Faribault.

Brainerd — The annual meeting of the stockholders of the First National bank of Brainerd, Jan. 13, when George D. La Bar was re-elected president, marked a coincidence of dates, for it was just thirty-one years ago that day that Mr. La Bar came to Brainerd.

Little Falls—The tango has reached Little Falls. The steps of the new dance were taught to a crowd of local dancers Tuesday evening at a "souper dansant" given at the Hotel Buckman. Misses Marie Barry of St. Paul and Bess Lee of Duluth instructed the dancers of the mysteries of the new steps.

Moorhead — Mrs. Anna M. Titus, widow of the late Daniel Titus, died Jan. 14 aged 75 years 3 months and 16 days. She had been a resident of Moorhead for nearly thirty-two years. She is survived by three children, B. L. Titus of Ellenburg, Washington, and Mrs. R. W. Richards and William D. Titus of this city.

Mora — Minneapolis sportsmen have organized the Mille Lacs Gun and Boat club. The club adopted articles of incorporation permitting a membership of fifty. With 300 acres of land located near Vineland, at the point where the Rum river leaves from the lake, already under lease, the club will begin at once the construction of a $2,500 lodge.

Stillwater — Sheriff Jarchow served in the state prison upon John W. Stevens, an Indian, notice of divorce proceedings commenced by his wife, Mary A. Stevens, in Becker county. They have a son aged 15 years. The grounds for divorce are conviction of assault in the second degree and sentence to the state prison on April 17 last.

Old People Need a Bowel Stimulant

The Ideal One Is a Mild Laxative-Tonic That Will Keep the Bowels Gently Active.

Healthy old age is so absolutely dependent upon the condition of the bowels that great care should be taken to see that they act regularly. The fact is that as age advances the stomach muscles become weak and inactive and the liver does not store up the juices that are necessary to prompt digestion.

Some help can be obtained by eating easily digested foods and by plenty of exercise, but this latter is irksome to most elderly people. One thing is certain, that a state of constipation should always be avoided, as it is dangerous to life and health. The best plan is to take a mild laxative as often as is deemed necessary. But with equal certainty it is suggested that cathartics, purgatives, physics, salts and pills be avoided, as they do but temporary good and are so harsh as to be a shock to a delicate system.

A much better plan and one that thousands of elderly people are following, is to take a gentle laxative-tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which acts as nearly like nature as is possible. In fact, the tendency of this remedy is to strengthen the stomach and bowel muscles and so train them to act naturally again, when medicines of all kinds can usually be dispensed with. This is the opinion of many people of different ages, among them Mrs. Mary A. P. Davidson of University Mound Home, San Francisco, Cal. She is 78 and because of her sedentary habits had continual bowel trouble. From the day she began taking Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin she has had no further inconvenience and naturally she is glad to say kind things of this remedy.

MRS. MARY A. P. DAVIDSON.

A bottle can be bought of any druggist at fifty cents or one dollar. People usually buy the fifty-cent size first, and then, having convinced themselves of its merits, they buy the dollar size, which is more economical. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded. Elderly persons of both sexes can follow these suggestions with every assurance of good results.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

NO KICKS ON INCOME TAX

Collector Ira Coburn Says Plan Is Generally Favored.

Many Questions Asked But No Complaints Are Heard.

All of the first supply of individual blanks for those who have to pay an income tax have been exhausted, and Capt. Ira Coburn, deputy internal revenue collector, is waiting for another supply, which he expects will arrive today or tomorrow. The first batch consisted of only about 100, and they went quickly.

Capt. Coburn says that every conceivable question that could be applied to the tax has been asked and asked over and over again. So far his instructions have been meager and more has been told by Attorney J. J. Robinson in the columns of The Herald than through any other local medium since the law was passed.

"Where the pocketbook is touched," said Capt. Coburn, "especially in the matter of tax payments, the human nature of the payer is pretty well revealed. But I have been astonished ever since people began to come to the office to ask questions about the law. I expected fully to hear all kinds of complaint at having to pay; but I was mistaken. I have yet to hear anybody make objection.

"It is generally accepted as a matter of course, and I have been further astonished to hear a good many of those who will be affected say that it is the fairest tax they have ever been called upon to pay. Nobody ever looked for that attitude on the part of those who have to contribute, but scores of people have talked that way to me."

Technical Questions.

Asked as to the nature of most of the questions asked him, the captain declared that they were nearly all of a technical nature, and that with the exception of only three of four instances, the questions did not seem to be prompted by curiosity but rather by a real desire to be posted and make no mistakes in the making of reports.

"The questions," said the captain "have been singularly free from the earmarks of mere curiosity. They have been intelligent as a rule and the questioners were evidently trying to post themselves in an effort to prevent error. There have been a few incidents where people have written in asking two or three questions, and these have been obviously cases where disputes and arguments have risen and the questions were expected to settle them.

"Very few women have applied for blanks and they have not been very prone to ask questions. I find, as a rule, that where women are rich enough to come under the income tax law, and are puzzled as to an interpretation of the law, they seldom ever consult the officials but their lawyers have a lively time.

"As a rule the men who have applied for the blanks have—where questions were asked at all—voiced them briskly, received their answer and with a businesslike 'thank you' have gone on their way. None of them wasted my time or theirs. It was quick and to the point."

No corporation blanks have yet been received, but are expected to arrive along with the others.

Max Oreckovsky, clothier, 103 East Superior street, has bought the stock of men's furnishings that were slightly damaged by water Monday night at the Tupper-Speigel company's wholesale house, and will place goods on sale, together with his regular stock, Saturday morning, Jan. 17, at prices far below the wholesale cost.

Recovers For Loss of Hand.
Ivar Zykoski, 44 years old, has received $820 from his employers, the Cloquet Lumber company, for the loss of his left hand on Oct. 24, while in the company's employ at Cloquet. The claim for damages was settled under the terms of the workingmen's compensation act, the settlement being made on a basis of $6 a week for 150 weeks. The money was paid over in a lump sum. Judge Bert Fesler has approved the settlement.

Highwayman Is Jailed.
Thomas Hicks, who was yesterday bound over to the grand jury in the municipal court at Ely on a charge of highway robbery, was brought to Duluth today and placed in the county jail, where he will await the action of the range court jury. Hicks is accused of having held up one George Walker at the point of a revolver and compelled him to turn over $26.

Club Fees Raised.
The Kitchi Gammi club today, through its president, E. C. Congdon and its secretary, F. W. Paine, filed with the register of deeds an amendment to its articles of incorporation in which a change in the amount of fees and dues to be charged members is noted. In the future, the admission fee to resident members will be $75 and to non-residents, $50. The annual dues for resident members will be $80 and to non-resident members, $30.

Big Annual Picture Sale
Now going on at Engels' Art Store.

Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.
Dr. William Forney Hovis will deliver the second of a series of sermons illustrated from the realm of literature next Sunday morning, at Endion church, Nineteenth avenue east and First street. The sermon on this date will be "A Double Life," and will be based on Robert Louis Stevenson's "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

Given Small Verdict.
After having been out twenty-nine minutes, a jury in Judge Dancer's division of the district court yesterday afternoon brought in a verdict for $84.26 in favor of the James H. Lunz Lumber company of Two Harbors and against John Erickson and Axel Lindrose. The verdict was based on a claim for goods sold.

Gets $733 for Right Eye.
Under the terms of the workingmen's compensation act, Mike Garac of Carson Lake will receive $733.22 for the loss of his right eye in an accident while employed at the South Uno pit of the Oliver Iron Mining company on Oct. 11 last. The settlement between Garac and the company has been approved by District Judge Martin Hughes. The notice of the approval was filed yesterday in district court.

Farewell Meetings.
Special farewell meetings will be conducted at the Salvation Army hall Sunday. Phil Gerringer, captain, who has been in Duluth for several months is leaving the city for Devils Lake, N. D., to conduct special meetings there for a few weeks. He will later go to India. He will speak on Sunday night in the army hall, 23 Fifth avenue west.

Hicken Recovering.
Commissioner W. A. Hicken, head of the safety division, who was seized with an acute attack of indigestion a week ago today, is greatly improved this morning. He was very sick for several days, but has been convalescing rapidly and hopes to be able to be out tomorrow or Monday.

Smallpox Is Checked.
But one new case of smallpox has developed in the city in the last few days. About a dozen cases were discovered over a week ago and prompt steps were taken by the health department to check any spread of the disease. The Emerson school was closely examined and many children vaccinated, while those who were sick were quarantined. All danger of any spread of the disease is believed to be past. The health department authorities advise all who have not been vaccinated to take that precaution, however.

Dispute As To Provocation.
Walter Sprinkle, clerk at the La Salle hotel on Lake avenue, was arrested this morning on a charge of having assaulted Sundra Korvonen employed there as a cook. The woman claims that he struck her a vicious blow on the jaw without having had provocation. Sprinkle said that the woman attacked him with a knife and that he only pushed her away in self-defense. He pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for Monday afternoon.

Killed Deer; Paroled.
Matelon Olds, 17 years old, and his cousin, Roy Cook, 16 years old, both of Cloquet, were brought into police court this morning by Deputy Game Warden Archie Boyd on a charge of killing deer out of season. The two boys live with Cook's parents and said that they had been trapping. Desiring fresh meat they admitted that they had killed a deer. After giving them a severe reprimand and warning them not to repeat the offense, Judge Cutting continued their cases for six months.

Begins Divorce Suit.
Ida Sorsa, 29 years old, started divorce proceedings in district court this morning against John Sorsa, 33, on the grounds of habitual drunkenness. They were married at Ironwood, Mich., on Jan. 27, 1908, and are parents of two children, John, aged 3½ and Mary, aged 1½.

Gets Benefit of Doubt.
The case against Joe Green, charged with having stolen $10 from Tony Ruso in a West Michigan street saloon, was dismissed in police court yesterday afternoon. It appeared that he had given the money to the cook, believing that he was the rightful owner. He claimed to have found it, and as he had not tried to keep it, the court gae him the benefit of the doubt.

Her Second Offense.
Hilda Maki was found guilty of selling liquor without a license after a trial in police court yesterday. She was fined $100, with the alternative of sixty days in the county jail. A stay of fifteen days was granted. She was arrested at 605 West First street on complaint of two men who said that they had purchased liquor there. She has been convicted of the same offense before.

Services at Temple.
Rabbi Maurice Lefkovits of Temple Emanuel, Seventh avenue east and Second street, will preach at the regular service this evening on "Through Love to Light."

SUES FOR OVER HALF MILLION COMMISSION

New Rochelle Broker Makes Claim Against Baldwin President.

New York, Jan. 16.—Trial of the suit brought by George H. Robinson, a broker of New Rochelle, N. Y., for commissions aggregating over $500,000 against Alba R. Johnson, president of the Baldwin Locomotive works, was begun here today in the United States district court.

The action grows out of the sale of the Baldwin Locomotive works to Drexel & Co. of Philadelphia and Whiteweld & Co. of New York for $20,000,000 cash and $10,500,000 of the common stock in the reorganized company.

Robinson alleges that he was engaged by Johnson to dispose of the works on a commission basis, and that while negotiating the sale with Kuhn, Loeb & Co. of this city, the defendant secretly sold the concern to Drexel & Co. and Whiteweld & Co., although Kuhn, Loeb & Co. had offered for the property $1,750,000 more than the price paid.

CHOSEN EDITOR OF COLLEGE PAPER

Word was received here this morning that Frederick L. Cole, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Cole was yesterday elected managing editor of the Harvard Crimson, the newspaper published by the students of Harvard university.

As the office is an elective one, it is considered a high honor by Harvard students. Mr. Cole has taken an active part in the Crimson work since he began his college career.

Mr. and Mrs. Cole are now in Florida.

NEW PHASES KEEP GRAND JURY BUSY

Although the grand jury probe of the police department has dragged along for five days, the end apparently is not yet in sight. It is believed that new phases of the investigation are constantly developing and that this accounts for the calling of additional witnesses from time to time since the grand jury started its investigation.

Among the witnesses known to have been subpoenaed today to appear before the inquisitorial body were Mrs. Charles E. French, wife of Dr. C. E. French, Al Haney, James Dunphy, Michael Fitzgerald and Otto Sturm.

Whitney Wall, a building manager and rental agent, was called into the jury room as a witness at the morning session. Among the other witnesses were Harvey D. Clow of Clow & Nicholson, W. S. Wright, and F. E. Resche, probation officer of the district court.

The witnesses who were called into the grand jury room yesterday afternoon were W. A. Wagner, Dr. C. E. French and Gust Egdahl.

Vancouver, B. C., is to have a new $350,000 opera house.

POSLAM READY TO HEAL YOUR AILING SKIN

It is wonderful to see how greatly a small quantity of Poslam, and few applications, will benefit any diseased, eruptional skin. Often after brief treatment the improvement is startling.

Poslam quickly controls and eradicates Eczema, Acne and stubborn, itching skin troubles. Itching stops. Pimples go. Dandruff, Scalp-Scale, Chafing Feet, Chapped Lips and Hands, Inflamed Complexions, all are benefited at once by its soothing, healing influence.

All druggists sell Poslam. For free sample write to Emergency Laboratories, 32 West 25th Street, New York.

Poslam Soap will improve and beautify your skin and keep it in healthy condition.

USES FRIEND'S NAME ON CHECK

Frank Bobnich of New Duluth Forges Indorsement; Is Arrested.

When Frank Bobnich of New Duluth left the store of the Fifth Avenue Clothing company after cashing a check for $25 early yesterday afternoon, Arthur La Vant, the clerk who waited on him, sensed that all was not right. To make sure, he hurried to the American Exchange bank with the paper and was informed that the check was the property of John Obradovic, who had lost it some time ago. Bobnich had used his countryman's name.

Instinct again came to La Vant's rescue. He hurried to the depot and went through the Fond du Lac train, where he located Bobnich and caused his arrest on a charge of forgery. Bobnich cannot write but he had made his mark and realized on the check.

In police court this morning he asked for an examination and his hearing was set for Tuesday afternoon. The rightful owner of the check left the city some days ago and is now on his way to the old country, according to a report at police headquarters.

FIGHTERS DISMISSED.

But One Is Jailed for Contempt of Court—Drunkenness Charged.

The case against Abraham Levine and Abraham Davis, charged with disorderly conduct, was dismissed in police court yesterday afternoon. The men were fighting in Davis' home and not in a public place. The charge of drunkenness against Levine was continued until this afternoon.

For contempt of court, having failed to appear in court as ordered by the judge, Levine spent four hours in the city jail.

CELEBRATE PROSPERITY

Memphis Business Men Hear Prominent Men at Banquet.

Keeley Talks of Citizenship and Judge Lee of Railroads.

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 16.—Prosperity in the South, as evidenced in bumper cotton and grain crops, large cattle production and general business conditions which were declared to excel those in any other section of the country, was celebrated here last night at a banquet given by the Memphis Business Men's club. More than 400 guests, including prominent men from various parts of the United States, were in attendance.

The railroads' interests in prosperity were discussed by B. F. Bush of St. Louis, president of the Missouri Pacific railroad. A letter from President Wilson expressing regret at being unable to attend was read by the toastmaster, Gen. Luke E. Wright.

Offered Athenian Oath.

Citizens of the present day should take in their hearts the oath sworn by the Athenian youths when they were admitted to the army, asserted James Keeley, general manager of the Chicago Tribune, in his address.

"We will never bring disgrace to this, our city, by any act of dishonesty or cowardice. We will fight for the ideals and the sacred things of the city.' That oath was taken by every soldier of ancient Greece, and why not make it the rallying cry of every man in every city today?" said Mr. Keeley.

Lee Talks of Railroads.

Instead of being watered, railroad stocks today look like a lemon after a circus, asserted Judge Blewett Lee of Chicago, general counsel for the Illinois Central Railroad company, in speaking on "Belated Punishment of Railroads." The speaker declared that watered stock and high-handed methods of railroads were things of the past generation and did not belong to the present day. The idea that railroads are owned by rich peoplpe is erroneous, said Judge Lee. "The great bulk of railroad stocks is held by insurance companies and savings banks for the benefit of small investors who cannot afford the risk of buying securities which pay over 5 per cent."

"The American people want to be well served and are willing to pay for it," declared the speaker. "I have an idea they are not going to put up with the kind of service they get from a lot of railroad companies on the edge of receiverships. They will in due time rebuke the short-sighted and foolish statesmen who have brought low this great industry and inoculated with slow poison the life-blood of business."

KILLED WOLVES IN CITY LIMITS

The hides of four timber wolves all of which were killed within the city limits recently were brought to the county auditor's office this morning by John King of New Duluth. The bag of game is the largest killed within the city limits and brought to the auditor's office.

Mr. King says that there are many wolves still close to the city and that hunting this game has proved profitable this winter. He drew from the state $30 bounty, being $7.50 allowed on each wolf.

HAS PUT DOWN THE SOUTH AFRICA STRIKE

GEN. LOUIS BOTHA,
Premier of the Union of South Africa.

Cape Town, Union of South Africa, Jan. 16.—Dispatches from all parts of the union report that the strikers are returning to work and that victory has been won by the government in the struggle with the federation of trades.

The iron hand of the premier, Gen. Louis Botha, still was in evidence this morning at Johannesburg, where sixty-two members of the typographical union were arrested while meeting. The charge against them was contravention of the provisions of martial law. The men had just passed a resolution to resume work.

At the Salt River railroad workshops, just outside Cape Town, all the men have returned, their leaders having declared the strike ended.

MRS. BLACK IS NOT ACCUSED OF FORGERY

Chicago Woman Says That Somebody Assumed Her Name.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—A dispatch sent from Los Angeles, Dec. 19, stating that a Mrs. M. C. Black, said to be the wife of a "wealthy Chicagoan," had been arrested charged with forgery, proves to have been incorrect, according to Mrs. M. C. Black, of this city.

The story was based upon the arrest of a woman who represented herself to be Mrs. Black. She was booked under that name and her real identity was not disclosed until the story reached Mrs. Black, who at the time was in Chicago.

Mrs. M. C. Black is a prominent society and club woman of Chicago.

Superior

SOCIALISTS REFUSE TO SIGN PETITION.

The Socialists of Superior, who last year played an important part in the circulation of a petition for the recall of Mayor Konkel, and whose petition at that time failed, will have nothing to do with the present petition, according to prominent leaders of the party. They intimate that if the recall is successful they will have a party candidate in the field for the election, and intimate that they expect to be successful in the election of their man in a three-cornered fight.

Banquet to Pennington.

The plans for the complimentary banquet to be tendered President E. Pennington of the Soo railroad, to be held under the auspices of the Rotary club on Wednesday evening are about completed. Judge Charles Smith of the superior court will be toastmaster. Among the speakers will be B. A. Gallehen, president of the Commercial club; J. C. Crowley, C. R. Fridley, P. G. Stratton, Mr. Pennington, W. L. Martin, vice president of the railroad, and G. R. Huntington, general manager. It is expected that about 250 will attend.

Policemen's Ball.

The Superior police will entertain at their annual ball this year on Easter Monday, according to announcement made by the committee in charge last night. The affair will be held in the Sacred Heart auditorium. The committee in charge consists of Chief McKinnon, Lieut. Kelley, Sergeant Osborn and Capt. Olson.

Will Dedicate Church.

The dedication of the First Presbyterian church of Allouez will take place this evening. The principal sermon will be preached by Rev. Harry W. Knowles. Many prominent clergymen of Northern Wisconsin will attend the ceremony.

HAD MUCH PROPERTY IN THIS COUNTY

Petition for Will of T. E. Dorr of Saginaw, Mich., Filed.

Temple E. Door, whose death occurred Nov. 6 last at Saginaw, Mich., left mining property in St. Louis county estimated to be worth $100,000, according to a petition for the admission of his will which was filed today with the clerk of the probate court.

The beneficiaries under the will are: Nancy M. Dorr, widow, Saginaw, Mich.; Edith D. von Borosini, daughter, Chicago; Cora D. Morse, daughter, Vista, Cal.; and Ann D. Penoyer, San Francisco, Cal. The Detroit Trust company is named in the will as trustee for the Minnesota holdings of the estate, George B. Morley and Edwin H. Eddy, the latter of Duluth, are named as executors in the will.

A hearing on the petition will be held in probate court on Feb. 9.

FORTY-ONE HEIRS LOSE $7,000,000

Contest for Estate of Pioneer's Widow Decided Against Them.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 16.—Forty-one New England heirs of Abel Stearns, a pioneer who died in the early seventies, were defeated here today in their contest for the $7,000,000 estate of Mrs. Arcadia De Baker, formerly the widow of Stearns, who at her death was the richest woman in Southern California.

COBB GETS BIG OFFER FROM FEDS

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Ty Cobb was offered a five-year contract at $15,000 a year in a telegram sent to him at Augusta, Ga., today by President Gilmore of the Federal league, after Gilmore had learned Cobb had not yet signed with Detroit for 1914.

Gilmore's telegram offers to pay Cobb his first year's salary in advance and to put the remaining $60,000 in escrow.

ST. PAUL BANKS MAKE RECORD STATEMENT.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Deposits in the four national banks and the Scandinavian-American bank on Jan. 13 were $54,-038,725.85. This is the first time in the history of St. Paul that bank deposits at this season of the year have exceeded $50,000,000. The statement is by far the best made by the St. Paul banks in their entire history.

WANTS BILL FOR U. S. RAILROAD OWNERSHIP

Crosser of Ohio Offers Resolution in the House.

Washington, Jan. 16.—To instruct the house commerce committee to report as early as practicable a bill for the government ownership of the railroads of the country, a resolution was introduced by Representative Crosser, Democrat, of Ohio. It sets forth that the railroads have been conducted in a manner prejudicial to the best interests of the country.

ONE INDICTMENT PUBLIC.

Grand Jury Finishes Investigation of Criminal Cases.

Two true bills, one a secret indictment, were returned to Judge Cant in district court last evening by the January grand jury which made a partial report. It is believed that this will conclude the jury's investigation of criminal cases.

The indictment made public was returned against James Anderson Porter, who is accused of grand larceny in the second degree. Porter is charged with the theft of nineteen fountain pens Tuesday night from the store of Smith & Smith, druggists, 101 West Superior street. The pens are valued at about $30.

BIGGER GAME DRIVEN AWAY

Sage of Aroostook Tells Why Maine Lost Its Caribou.

He Knows the Beast, for He Rode One Bareback.

Bangor, Me., Jan. 16.—W. T. Ashby of Parkhurst, Aroostook county, famed as a backwoods philosopher, expert woodsman and hunter, and also as the only man who ever had a bareback ride on a wild caribou, admits the truth of recent reports that the caribou, long vanished from Maine, may have returned in scattering herds to various localities in the northern part of the state, but declares that so long as deer are numerous the caribou never will return in any considerable numbers, and that these graceful animals are not likely again to be included in the wild game of Maine. Says Ashby:

"I don't doubt that Bert Spencer saw a drove of caribou in the northwestern part of the state. Small herds are frequently seen along the northeastern border of Maine, both in winter and summer. In that tract of country in New Brunswick and Quebec known as the Highlands, great droves of caribou live and thrive. Over there the caribou are abundant and often cross the line and visit the old feeding grounds of their ancestors in Aroostook, for in this county the great American reindeer once roamed in great numbers, fat and happy.

"Why did they leave their old feeding grounds and retire to the Canadian hills? When some of them return, why don't they stay? If I should tell the reason some city hunter who has spent his life behind brick walls and who has possibly been to the Maine woods once or twice on a hunting trip and learned all there is to know would contradict and make fun of me, as they did of Guide Turner when he wrote of the deer starving to death.

Caribou Vanished in a Night.

"Let me say that I was born in the woods of North Aroostook and was fed on caribou meat in my youthful days. I have shot them and tanned their hides, or made snowshoes out of them, and once I had a wild ride on the back of a live caribou. Twenty years ago these woods were swarming with them, but they vanished in a night, as you might say, and were seen no more.

"Some of those wise city hunters have told us that the caribou were hunted down and exterminated like the buffalo on the Western plains, and this story took well with the Maine legislature—so well that, after the caribou had migrated, laws were passed for their protection.

"When the caribou roamed the hills and valleys of the great north woods there were no deer here worth mentioning; when the deer came north in great numbers the caribou fled before them, and, you may believe it or not, caribou will not stay where deer are abundant, and if deer never leave Northern Maine caribou will never again be counted among the big game of the state.

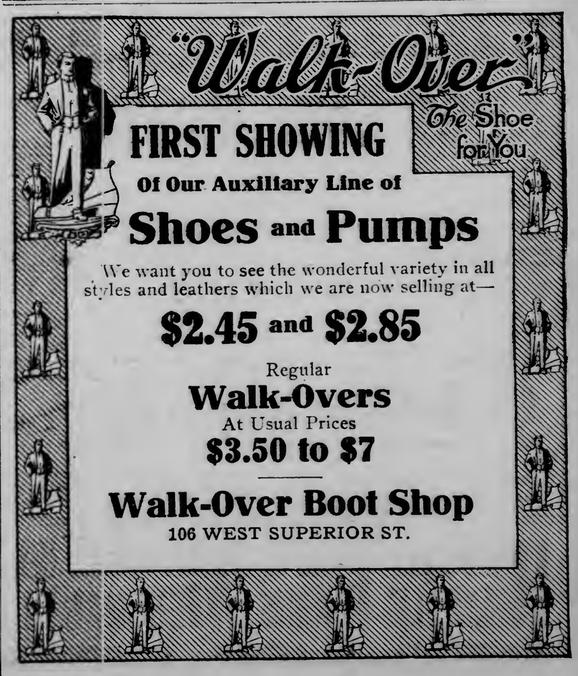

"Do deer ever starve to death in Aroostook county? Certainly they do, and some winters in great numbers. Perhaps these doubters from the cities are not aware that Aroostook leads in most everything. Up here the sky is bluer, the moon is bigger, the kids are fatter, the grass widows are tamer, the potatoes grow bigger, the preachers holler louder, the cold is more intense than in any other county in Maine; Aroostook is the top or cap of the state of Maine, the shining north star of creation.

How the Deer Starve.

"It is no uncommon thing to have snow five or six feet deep up here in the month of March. With a crust on top of this a deer could make one jump out of his yard and that would be all. His sharp hoofs would cut through the crust, and he would sink to his belly and stay there till he starved to death.

"Let me tell you a little about the habits of our Aroostook deer and and what brought them here in such droves. Many years ago there were great cedar swamps here. The trees have been cut for shingles and the logs driven down the river. Soon the little cedars came up as thick as hairs on a dog. Those thickets gave both food and shelter to the deer in winter. In summer the deer roam wherever they please, through fields or woods. When snow comes they roam over the hardwood ridges and browse on the ground hemlock, which is plentiful up this way. When this is covered with snow the deer retire to the cedar thickets, in which generally there is a spring, and there they yard. They have roads the entire length and breadth of the swamp, but up further. They cannot live in deep snow, even if they could move in it, for their food is covered up. The cedar swamp or its like is their only safety."

According to official statistics, the combined import and export trade of Cuba for 1912 reached the total value of $298,880,569, or an increase of $62,-477,193 over 1911. Of the total, $172,-978,328 represented exports and $125,-902,241 imports.

MARKET HAS SLIGHT DROP

Wheat Closes Off With Lower Cables and Quiet General Demand.

Flaxseed Sags With Outside Weakness and Light Crushers' Support.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 16.—The market was steady up to the close. May wheat closed ¼c off and July ⅜c off. May durum closed ¼c lower.

Oats closed ¼c up at 35⅞@36⅜c. Rye closed unchanged at 52½@55½c for the best grades, and barley unchanged at from 45 to 67c.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 88c and calls at 88¼@88⅜c bid.

At Winnipeg January oats closed at 33c bid and May at 36¾c bid.

The wheat market held remarkably steady today in the face of lower Liverpool cables, and bearish estimates of wheat supplies in the United States for export and carry-over to July 1 last of 155,000,000 bu against 129,000,000 bu a year ago.

A strong milling demand was reported at Minneapolis and further business in winter wheat exports was advised at Chicago.

Receipts at primary points continue light, aggregating today 601,000 bu against 970,000 bu a year ago. At Duluth there were just 55 cars inspected compared with 120 last year. At Minneapolis there were 177 cars against 255 last year, while at Winnipeg marketings were only reported at 111 cars compared with 255 a year ago.

The Argentine market was weak on liberal offering. Shipments of the new crop from there are now starting in some volume.

May wheat opened locally ¼c off at 89c and weakened another ⅛c up to the first hour. The July option opened ¼c off at 90⅜c and declined ⅛c more.

May durum opened ¼c off at 88⅛c and declined ⅜c more.

Flax Still Sags.

Trading in flaxseed was quiet, and the market ruled weak from the opening. Argentine cables were substantially lower and with weakness materializing at Winnipeg, crushers showed a disposition to hold off to further price recessions.

Business was again confined to the May option, opened unchanged at $1.54¼ and on steady offerings during the session, the close came at the bottom 1⅛c down at $1.53⅛. The January option was closed up at $1.49⅜ nominally.

At Winnipeg January flax closed at $1.27¼ and May at $1.33½.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Modern Miller says: "Unusually warm weather prevails throughout practically the entire winter wheat belt, particularly in the Southwest where high temperatures ranged. There is no snow covering except traces in Indiana, Ohio and Michigan. General snow falls are needed for a protection. Reports show the plant is in good condition."

The Minneapolis cash market was steady, with demand fair for choice wheat but slow for the ordinary. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at from 1c over May to 1⅛c under May, and velvet chaff at from 1c to 1½c discount. The flour demand was limited. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from 86⅜c to 89¾c and No. 2 northern at from 84¼c to 86¼c.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The steady American cables yesterday were offset here by the heavy shipments from Australia and expectation of liberal world's shipments other than American and opening values were ¼d lower. Following the opening there was some covering and the decline was checked and an advance was noted from the low. Support was induced by the continued firmness in Plata offers with few sellers and light Argentine shipments of new crop. There is an improved demand for cargoes and millers are buying. At 1:30 p. m. prices were ⅛ to ¼d lower.

"Corn opened ⅜ to ½d lower and later February further declined ¼d with the undertone easy. Larger Argentine shipments than expected and very favorable Argentine weather and crop advices stimulated liquidation."

Broomhall's Argentine agent cabled last night: "Weather fine and warm. Argentine wheat shipments 816,000 bu against 288,000 bu last week and 1,360,000 bu last year. Corn, 1,965,000 bu against 3,205,000 bu last week and 2,831,000 bu last year.

Estimates of world's shipments exclusive of North America were: 7,600,000 bu against 6,664,000 bu actual last week. Of this Europe will take about 6,600,000 bu. Total shipments last week were 13,600,000 bu and last year 11,520,000 bu. Arrivals into the United Kingdom were about 4,000,000 bu. Broomhall predicts a fair increase on passage. Australian shipments of wheat were 3,263,000 bu.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Crop Movement Leads to Rush of Wheat Selling.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Selling orders came with a rush today in wheat. There had been unexpectedly heavy shipments from Australia, a return of fine weather was promoting the crop movement in Argentina and bearish estimates were at hand regarding the probable export surplus in the United States. The opening was ⅛@1c to ⅝@¾c lower and a further setback followed.

High temperatures throughout the winter crop belt tended to prevent any decided upturn. The close was easy, ½@⅝c to ⅝c under last night.

Mild weather pulled down the corn market. Moreover, shipments from Argentina were twice as large as expected. Prices started ¼@⅜c to ⅝@¾c off and underwent an additional sag.

Enlarged country offerings kept the market depressed. The close was weak at a decline of ¾@⅞c net.

Oats headed downward influenced by other grain. Shorts, however, were active in the break. In provisions the effect of the bullish statement in regard to warehouse stocks here was more than offset by declining prices for hogs and corn. First sales ranged from last night's level to 7½c lower, with no signs of any important rally.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Is Easier on Low Cables and Selling Pressure.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 16.—Lower cables and a strong selling pressure at the opening caused a still easier wheat market today.

Wheat—May opened 88¼c; high, 88¼c; low, 87⅞@88c; closed, 88⅛c bid. July opened 89⅜c; high, 89⅞c; low, 89⅝c; closed, 89¾@89⅞c. DECLINES IN STOCKS

Prices Irregular During Morning and Tendency Is Downward.

List Finally Crumbles Under Weight of Profit-Taking.

New York, Jan. 16.—Price movements were irregular during the morning, but in spite of occasional rallies, the tendency was downward. Liquidation of holdings of long stocks increased the available supply and quotations gave way to the extent of a point or so in many cases. Professional traders were bearish, believing a reaction was due and the effect of profit-taking was increased by renewed operations on the short side.

In spite of selling for both accounts, however, the market betrayed no pronounced weakness. Heaviness of the London market for American securities had some influence in determining the course of prices and international stocks were weakest. Many of the low-priced specialties developed strength.

Bonds were firm.

Stocks were unloaded in large volume when trading began today. Some of the minor issues made small gains, but eleven of the leaders were lower. Pressure converged on Reading, Union Pacific and New York Central, each of which declined a point.

Reports of high quotations abroad for copper metal and a reduction in supplies created a demand for Amalgamated and it rallied from 73⅝ to 74¾. Missouri Pacific reflected the improved values of its bonds and notes and the market otherwise showed hardening tendencies.

Prices showed more stability in the early afternoon and new features were constantly brought forward in speculation among the inactive stocks. Assets realization dropped 7 points to 20, the lowest figure ever reached.

Improvement in standard shares led to renewed pool operations in minor issues and a generally higher level was reached. Bethlehem Steel preferred rose 3 and Southern Railway preferred 2.

The market closed heavy. The list finally crumbled under the weight of profit-taking and pressure against Reid-Moore shares. Can fell 1½ and other active shares returned to their earlier low figures.

Bank Clearings.

New York, Jan. 16.—Dun's Review will say tomorrow: Bank clearings at the leading cities in the United States again make an indifferent comparison with those of a year ago, the total this week amounting to $3,012,858,071, a loss of $7 per cent as compared with the preceding year. The most favorable exhibits appear to be made by the cities in the East.

THIEVES ROB AND WRECK

Store Burglaries Result in Much Damage and Little Loot.

Two Stores Entered; Small Sum in Silver Taken.

A total of $1.03 in cash and about $10 worth of confectionery and sundries were stolen by thieves who some time during last night broke into two stores in West Duluth. The damage caused by breaking into the stores and demolishing the cash registers and tinkering with a safe was far heavier than the loss of the goods taken.

At about midnight it is believed the first robbery took place at the store of J. W. Coulder, 5528 Grand avenue, the thieves having forced an entrance through a rear door. They opened the cash register and took all the cash, which amounted to fifty-three pennies. Mr. Coulder claims also that among the stuff taken were several boxes of cigars, ten boxes of snuff, ten boxes of crackerjack, forty packages of gum, candies and several pieces of jewelry and four razors.

At this store the burglars had also attempted to open the safe. The knob on the safe had been broken off and dents in the safe showed that an attempt had been made to force it. Mr. Coulder said the men would have secured no money from this anyway as he had deposited his cash in a local bank yesterday afternoon.

A "jimmie" had been used in forcing an entrance through the front door of C. J. Johnson's grocery store at 121 North Central avenue. There the burglars confined their activities to the big cash register. This had been carried out of the store to the alley about 150 feet from the place. The register was practically a wreck when found this morning. The proprietor said that only 50 cents was in it and that this money had been in a little bank in the rear part of the machine. The owner also found 17 cents scattered among papers lying in the snow where the register was picked up this morning.

Nothing else in the place had been molested. In a showcase just back of the cash register was an open box containing about $2 in small change, which the burglars overlooked.

The proprietors notified the police this morning of the robberies and Lieut. Wilcox, with the assistance of Detectives Schulte and Irving, was this morning investigating the burglaries. The officers believe they have a good clew and expect to arrest the perpetrators before night.

WEST DULUTH CURLERS

Frank Wade, Jr., son of the president of the Western Curling club, is the youngest follower of the curling sport in West Duluth. But it is a case of an old curling head being on young shoulders.

Frank has been following the game ever since he gathered strength enough to lift a stane and swing a broom. As third man on his father's rink he is said to have been responsible for as many of the victories as his "dad."

Between times, when not busy curling he attends school. He is a member of the freshman class at the Duluth Industrial high school. Although only 16 years old, he intends organizing before the winter is over, a rink of his own which will be limited to "just kids."

FRANK WADE, JR.

During the present bonspiel young Wade has proven a worthy opponent for many of the skilled players that have gathered here from all points of the Northwest. He has also enjoyed the distinction of being the youngest player entered in the big 'spiel.

* * *

This evening—if the weather permits—the club will have band music at the rink for the skaters. Curling at the rink has been abandoned for the week and will not again be resumed until Monday night when it is proposed to begin playing in the Union Match trophy event.

Take Body to Green Bay.

The body of Ernest Conley, 22 years old, who died Wednesday afternoon at the Grand hotel, will be taken to Green Bay, Wis., the young man's former home for burial. It will be taken over the South Shore railroad this evening. Mr. and Mrs. John Conley of Green Bay, parents of the deceased arrived last night to take charge of the body and will accompany it home this evening.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our relatives and many friends especially at Gately's and Good Templars Lodge for the beautiful floral offerings and sympathy shown us during our late bereavement. Signed,
KARLENBERG FAMILY.

LADIES' NIGHT.

West Duluth Commercial Club Will Have Social Session.

Members of the West Duluth Commercial club will lay aside their cares as well as their schemes for bringing this end of the city to the front, this evening. The night will be devoted by the members to the entertaining of the women. A program of music, recitations, cards and refreshments has been prepared by the committee to that end.

A short program will include a reading by John Allen, violin solos and a duet by the Lavick brothers, an address by Miss Margaret Culkin and a vocal solo by Miss Miller. This will precede the other part of the entertainment. Then will follow cards playing, after which the committee will serve refreshments.

The committee members are Louis Orsck, chairman; Judge Harry W. Lanners, P. H. Martin, Dr. E. W. Boerner and Charles G. Futter.

Oettel Funeral.

The funeral for Karl, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul G. Oettel, 719 North Fifty-eighth avenue west, will be held at 2 o'clock from the residence and at 2:30 o'clock from the German Lutheran church, Sixty-seventh avenue west and Raleigh street. Rev. Walter Seivers will officiate. Interment will be made in Oneota cemetery.

Infant Daughter Dies.

Mary, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Roussy, 6 North Central avenue died this morning. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock from the residence with interment in Oneota cemetery.

West Duluth Briefs.

A joint installation will be held by West Duluth lodge No. 85, Degree of Honor, and West Duluth lodge No. 145, A. O. U. W., at Gilley's hall. State officers will have charge of the ceremonies.

SUMMONS—
State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis.—ss.
In District Court, Eleventh Judicial District.
Marshall H. Alworth, Plaintiff, vs.
W. K. Jewett, Sarah Jewett Robbins, and Helen Jewett Hunt, heirs-at-law of Hugh J. Jewett, deceased; —— Robbins, husband of Sarah Jewett Robbins; James Hunt, the husband of Helen Jewett Hunt; also all other persons unknown having or claiming an interest in the property described in the complaint herein, including Henry J. Jewett and the heirs-at-law of Henry J. Jewett, Defendants,

The State of Minnesota, to the above named defendants:

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the Plaintiff in the above entitled action, which is filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of the Eleventh Judicial District, in and for the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint on the subscribers, at their office, 1200 Alworth Building, in the City of Duluth, in said County, within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you, exclusive of the day of such service; if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid, the Plaintiff in this action will apply to the Court for the relief demanded in the complaint.

GEN. OROZCO IS SAID TO BE DEAD; SALAZAR CAPTURED IN STATES

Gen. Bliss Sends Report From the Mexican Border.

Huerta's Cause Threatened By Federal Officers' Apathy.

Fresh Revolt in Diaz's Favor Told of By Refugees.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Brig.-Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, in a message to the war department today reporting the arrest of Gen. Jose Ynez Salazar at Sanderson, Tex., said Brig.-Gen. Parker, commanding the First cavalry brigade, had received a report of the death of Gen. Orozco. No details as to time or place were given. The last that officials here heard, Gen. Orozco was supposed to be in Quatro Ciengas, Coahuila.

More Trouble for Huerta.

With financial troubles and aggressive rebel armies to cope with, the Huerta government in Mexico is menaced by new danger, according to official reports reaching Washington today from Mexico City. These reports said much alarm has been caused in government circles by suspicious circumstances growing out of the failure of the Federal campaign in the neighborhood of Acapulco.

The Federal garrison at this important port, under the command of Gen. Mariscal, is said to have shown itself strangely apathetic in the presence of a very active and alert enemy in the person of Gen. Blanco, the Constitutionalist leader. Repeated instructions from the war minister in the Mexican capital to Gen. Mariscal to institute an active campaign against the Constitutionalists, who have begun to appear in great numbers inland from Acapulco, have failed to produce an effect, and talk of a warm friendship existing between Mariscal and Blanco has led to an investigation of Gen. Mariscal's loyalty.

Might Block Supplies.

The situation is regarded as of great importance, in view of the fact that,

WESTERN DIVORCES NO GOOD IN NEW YORK

Second Husband Held Corespondent in First Husband's Suit.

New York, Jan. 17.—A divorce granted in California upon grounds not statutory in New York is not binding in this state, according to a decision handed down by Justice Geigerich in the supreme court. The decision applies to thousands of divorces granted to residents of New York in Nevada, North Dakota and elsewhere.

On this ground the court decided that W. J. Kitchener, a composer and violinist, was entitled to a divorce from Alice Wilson Kitchener, who got a divorce from him in California and then married Arthur R. Bastine of this city. Kitchener held his wife's second marriage was illegal and named Bastine as corespondent in his suit. The court decided that the former Mrs. Kitchener must remarry Bastine outside the state before the state of New York can recognize him as her husband.

ELLIS SAYS STORY OF SHOOTING IS ROT

Does Not Believe Confession of His Former Employe.

New York, Jan. 17.—Paul Carl, the youth who yesterday, according to private detectives, confessed in Somerville, N. J., that he shot and dangerously wounded Monroe Ellis, a wealthy lumber merchant at Basking Ridge N. J., was taken to the Ellis home last night, where he was questioned by Mr. Ellis, Frederick A. Pope, county prosecutor, and a deputy sheriff. Carl was returned to the jail at Somerville after the interview, and Mr. Ellis said:

"These statements and confessions are all rot. I am convinced that this boy, whom I knew and once employed in my office, did not shoot me, and did not hear any such yarn as he is said to have been told by a woman."

It became known today that it was not Mr. Ellis who employed the detectives, but a wealthy contractor who lives near Bernardsville. The contractor became deeply interested in the Ellis shooting, and being a student of criminology and an amateur detective, he paid for the investigation.

LORD STRATHCONA IS SERIOUSLY ILL.

London, Jan. 17.—Baron Strathcona and Mount Royal, high commissioner for Canada, is seriously ill from prostration following a sharp attack of catarrh. As he is 94 years of age, his condition gives rise to considerable anxiety.

G. A. R. TO MEET IN DETROIT AUG. 31.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 17.—The Grand Army of the Republic will hold its forty-eighth annual encampment in Detroit the week of Aug. 31. The date was agreed upon at a conference of the G. A. R. executive committee with the citizens and councilmanic committees here last night. The veterans wanted the encampment the week of Sept. 7, but the Michigan state fair will in progress here that week and they were persuaded to accept the earlier date.

BRITISH ARMY TRIALS BEGIN

Graft in Canteens Has Roused Interest of Whole Country.

Public Sympathy Is With the Accused Officers.

London, Jan. 17.—For many years no suit has aroused such widespread interest in the British Isles as the proceedings opened today at Bow street police court against eight officers of the British army and eight civilians on charges of wholesale graft in connection with purchases for the army "canteens."

Thirteen of the accused men appeared when the magistrate called the case today. Two of the officers failed to answer the summonses, while one of the civilians was absent on account of illness.

Six commissioned officers and two non-commissioned officers are involved. All are connected with the quartermaster's department of the war office. All the officers have risen from the ranks.

Lipton's Employes.

The eight civilians are all employes of Lipton, Ltd., of which Sir Thomas Lipton is managing director. They include John Cansfield, general manager and director of the company; James Craig, general manager of the military department of the company; and the former and present managers of the company at the military headquarters in Ireland and at Aldershot and at Salisbury Plain.

According to the opening speech of the prosecuting counsel, "bribery and corruption have been going on for

FOUR SUFFOCATE IN FIRE AT BROCKTON

Bodies Are Found in Beds When the Ruins Are Searched.

Brockton, Mass., Jan. 17.—Four persons lost their lives in an apartment house fire here today and five others were injured by jumping from the upper story. Two of the injured will probably die. The dead are:

MRS. MARY J. MONAHAN and HER SON, BERNARD.

CRAWFORD LININTHAL.

AN UNIDENTIFIED LODGER in the Lininthal home.

The burned building was a three-story brick structure on North Main street. The blaze was discovered about 3 a. m. When the firemen arrived, exit by the stairways had been cut off and life nets were stretched. When the ruins were searched the bodies of the dead were found in their beds. They had died from suffocation.

REPORTS RESCUE OF CREW OF BOAT.

Gloucester, Mass., Jan. 17.—The rescue of the crew of a disabled five-masted schooner by a steamer off the Maine coast, was reported by Capt. Lewis Wharton of the schooner Oriole, which arrived today from Bonne Bay, Nfld. Capt. Wharton was unable to learn the name of either vessel. Two five-masted schooners, the Prescott Palmer and the Fuller Palmer, have not been reported since Monday and considerable anxiety is felt for their safety.

Fuller Palmer Abandoned.

Portland, Me., Jan. 17.—The five-masted schooner Fuller Palmer, which has been missing for several days, was abandoned at sea in a sinking condition. All hands were saved and are on their way to Baltimore in a steamer which picked them up. This information was received today by the managing owners in a message from Capt. L. W. Clarke of the Fuller Palmer.

SEEKING BANK DATA IN WEST

McAdoo and Houston Leave for Chicago and Other Cities.

Will Listen to Bankers' Views on Reserve Centers.

Washington, Jan. 17.—The reserve bank organization committee left here today for a five weeks' trip through the West, during which it will hear arguments by bankers from most of the big cities west of the Allegheny mountains which are in the fight to secure Federal reserve banks.

The first meeting will be held in Chicago Monday, and then the committee will swing west through St. Louis and Denver, north to Portland and Seattle, and south through San Francisco and Los Angeles and then east by way of Houston, Tex., New Orleans and Atlanta.

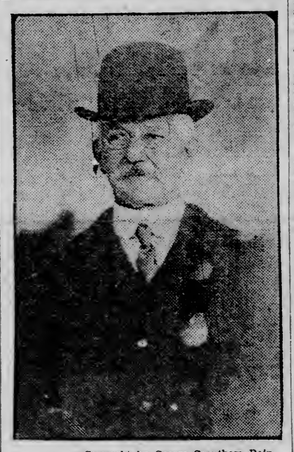

The committee is due to return to Washington Feb. 18.

Williams May Join Them.

Plans originally made contemplated that only two members of the committee, Secretary McAdoo and Secretary Houston, would make the trip. Confirmation by the senate of John Skelton Williams as comptroller of the currency and ex-officio member of the committee would send him along later. The committee will travel in a special car, which is to be used as headquarters.

St. Paul and Minneapolis men will be heard during the sessions of the committee in Chicago.

COL. W. C. GORGAS, Who Made the Canal Zone Habitable for Human Beings.

Washington, Jan. 17.—President Wilson today nominated Col. William C. Gorgas to be surgeon-general of the army with rank of brigadier-general.

EFFORT TO GET MOYER AND OTHERS BACK TO HOUGHTON SUGGESTED

Prosecutor Nichols Thinks Misdemeanor May Be Extraditable.

Twenty-Nine Arrested Under True Bills Are Bound Over.

Another Report By the Grand Jury Is Looked For.

NO CONGRESSIONAL PROBE OF STRIKES.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Democrats of the house rules committee today decided against ordering congressional investigation of strikes in the Michigan copper field and the Colorado coal district. Republicans and Progressives tried for a meeting of the entire committee, but the Democratic majority in private conference voted that no investigation resolution be reported.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—An effort may be made by Houghton county officials to bring back Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, and other indicted union leaders to stand trial for conspiracy.

Special Prosecutor Nichols declared today that he was deliberating whether conspiracy is an extraditable offense. Under the laws conspiracy is a misdemeanor because it is punishable by a sentence in the county jail. The maximum sentence is two years in jail and a maximum fine of $2,000.

On the other hand, the statutes provide ninety days as the maximum jail sentence for a misdemeanor. The special prosecutor is not certain that an offense punishable by a longer sentence than ninety days is not extraditable as is a felony.

Deputy Shot Himself.

Sheriff Cruse of Houghton county announced today that he had dismissed Lawrence Cain, the deputy who claimed to have been shot in the arm from ambush in Calumet on Thursday night. He said that Cain had admitted that he had been drinking and had shot himself accidentally.

Twenty-nine Arrested.

OPPOSE REBUILDING OF DAM THAT BROKE

Cumberland, Md., Jan. 17.—Residents of river towns affected by the flood from the broken dam at Dobbin, W. Va., are preparing to fight any effort to repair or reconstruct the dam. A meeting of protest was held last night at the town hall at Blaine, W. Va. It was decided to petition the West Virginia legislature to refuse the paper company permission to rebuild the dam. All the other river towns will be invited to join the movement.

The plan is to present a petition signed by thousands of persons whose lives were endangered by the breaking of the dam. Residents of Piedmont have promised their co-operation.

NEW ERUPTIONS ARE BEGUN BY VOLCANO SAKURA-JIMA

People Are Driven From Ruins of Destroyed Homes.

Ten Thousand Reported Missing—Northern Famine Terrible.

Kagoshima, Japan, Jan. 17.—Two further violent eruptions of the volcano Sakura-Jima, accompanied by a severe earthquake, occurred late last night, causing the collapse of many more buildings. Numbers of the inhabitants of Kagoshima who had returned fled again in terror from the city. Ashes are falling thickly today.

The sun looked like a ball of blood over Kagoshima today, but it gave no light and the darkness was such that night signals had to be employed on the railroads. The flying dust was so thick that the few pedestrians on the streets making their way to the outskirts of the city had to cover their mouths and noses with towels and handkerchiefs to prevent suffocation.

The waters of the Gulf of Kagoshima seemed to be boiling, and the quantity of floating pumice stone was so great that it prevented navigation.

Found Refugees Starving.

Bluejackets from the Japanese fleet today discovered a native craft containing sixteen refugees from Sakura.

CHICAGO WOMEN FIND FAULT WITH POLLS

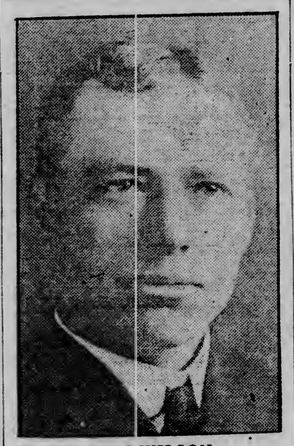

Want Location of Thirty-Three in First Ward Changed.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—In only four out of the thirty-seven precincts in the First ward can women vote unashamed. This is the finding of a committee selected by the Woman's party to investigate voting places in the city's busiest ward. The women demand that polling sites with a cleaner atmosphere be chosen at once.

They ask that the voting booth in the first precinct be changed from a police station to the public library; in the second precinct from a "dirty tailor shop" to the Art institute, and from barber shops, cigar stores and bath houses to schools and hotels. Only four polling places in the ward were approved by the women, and they request that all the others be relocated.

Owing to delays in completing records for an appeal and for other reasons, it is said that a decision on the constitutionality of the Illinois woman's suffrage law cannot be had of the supreme court of the state before the June term. Thus the women will participate in the spring primaries and elections without an ultimate decision as to their legal right to do so.

SHIP AND ALL ABOARD LOST

Bodies of Two Officers of Steamer Acilia Are Found.

Indians Tell of Big Vessel Sinking Near Tierra Del Fuego.

Hamburg, Germany, Jan. 17. — No doubt remains that the German steamer Acilia is lost with its crew of forty-eight and fifty passengers. A message from Punta Arenas, Chile, says that the bodies of two of her officers were picked up today among a mass of wreckage in Moat channel, north of Pictou island, Tierra Del Fuego. Indians in the vicinity declare that a big steamer sank there some time ago.

The Acilia was a vessel of 3,600 tons net, built in 1900, and chartered by the Kosmos line. She left Corral, Chile, Oct. 27, for Hamburg.

A telegram from Valparaiso on Wednesday last reported the finding of two of the Acilia's boats in Aguirre bay, Tierra Del Fuego, with the bodies of her second mate and two seamen.

ALL TRACE LOST OF BRITISH SUBMARINE

Nine Men and Naval Craft Are Lost in Sea.

Plymouth, Eng., Jan. 17.—Not a trace had been found up to late this afternoon of the British submarine "A-7," which was lost in Whitesand bay on the shores of Plymouth Sound yesterday afternoon. She had nine men aboard.

The lifting craft specially fitted for the raising of sunken submarines cannot reach the scene of the disaster before Sunday night, and the authorities say that there is small chance of raising the boat before Monday evening, if she be located.

WOULD SEAT LEE AND BAR ALABAMA MAN

Senate Elections Committee Acts on Two Contested Seats.

Washington, Jan. 17.—The senate elections committee today, 7 to 3, voted to recommend that Blair Lee, Democrat, be seated in the senate to succeed Senator Jackson, Republican, of Maryland; and by a vote of 9 to 1, determined to report adversely on the credentials of Frank P. Glass, appointed to succeed the late Senator Johnston of Alabama. The contests arose under the constitutional amendment for direct election of senators.

APPEALS RESALE PRICE DECISION.

Washington, Jan. 17.—The Waltham Watch company appealed to the supreme court today from the decision of the New York Federal courts, which held that its contract fixing the resale price of watches by retailers violates the Sherman law. The company claims they are within the protection of the patent laws and that its case differs from other resale price cases recently before the court.

CITY ENGINEER QUITS; MALICIOUS CRITICISM GIVEN AS THE REASON

John Wilson Says He Would Save Commissioner Embarrassment.

Murchison Will Refuse to Accept Without Evidence Against Engineer.

Wants Detractors of Department to Make Good Their Charges.

Declaring that he has been subjected to malicious criticism which has been the outgrowth of ulterior motives and stimulated by representatives of special interests who have been unable to accomplish their purpose along the lines of merit and fair criticism, City Engineer John Wilson yesterday tendered his resignation to Commissioner Roderick Murchison, head of the works division.

In his letter of resignation to the commissioner, City Engineer Wilson states that he is taking this step to relieve the department of this criticism, as he feels that to do otherwise would be dishonorable and selfish, regardless of the merits of the case.

Commissioner Murchison has not accepted the resignation of the city engineer and may not do so.

"Believing in the spirit of fair play and earnestly desiring to conserve the best interests of the city, I desire to consider this case wholly on its merits," said Commissioner Murchison.

"To state that I have not heard criticisms of the city engineer and the engineering department would be incorrect. But during all the years I have been associated with the city the same condition has existed. The city engineer, whoever he has been, and the engineering department, have been subjected to attacks from various sources. Whether justly or unjustly

FINDS SON SHE LOST AT AGE OF TWO WEEKS

Child Left in Orphanage Disappears Over Twenty Years.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 17.—Mrs. F. C. Goldshien, who came here from Cleveland, Ohio, last night, ended a search of twenty-three years when she found her son, Nathan Goldshien in this city.

Goldshien, who is 23 years old, had not been seen by his mother since he was two weeks old. In that time his name had been changed to Eddie Gottlieb, and he had been twice adopted. The young man's father is now a wealthy furniture dealer in New York.

Mrs. Goldshien, when a girl wife of 16, was forced by poverty to put her baby in a Catholic home in New York. A year later the mother requested the return of her child. She was told it had been placed in a family. Further information was not forthcoming. Then the mother began a search from one end of the country to the other.

Young Goldhien was taken from New York to Marshall, Mo. When he was 10 years old he left his foster parents and came to Kansas City. Here he was adopted by a woman and reared with a family of eleven children and became a book keeper.

The finding of the son came about through an article in a Jewish publication in New York City, written by a friend of Goldshien here, to whom the young man had expressed a wish that he might find his parents.

MYSTERY IN TWO SUICIDES

San Franciscan Sees Woman and Her Uncle Kill Themselves.

Man Is Said to Have Been Former Tennessee Judge.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 17. — A woman known as Blanche Wood, 24 years old, seized a revolver and shot herself dead early this morning at a hotel here in the presence of her uncle, A. B. Wood, and a friend, Edward Roberts, as Roberts was attempting to dissuade Wood from committing suicide. Wood then took the weapon and killed himself.

Earlier in the evening Wood, who had made several suicidal threats, had left a note to his niece in which he said he would take his life.

Wood had been to a picture show with Roberts. Roberts left him at Wood's hotel and went to his own hotel, where he found Miss Wood in a state of hysteria. She had found the note from her uncle, saying that he had decided to kill himself, as he had lost his money and his friends had deserted him.

"Ghastly Joke."

Roberts and Miss Wood hastened to the hotel and burst in on Wood. Roberts and Miss Wood upbraided him for what the woman termed a "ghastly

OFFICIALS CENSURED

Raise in Salaries and Cuts in Lighting Displease West Enders.

City Attorney Criticized for Opinion on Ownership of "City" Lot.

City officials came in for considerable criticism for the boosting of salaries of city employes and for a recent opinion given by City Attorney Clapp regarding a piece of property on Thirty-ninth avenue, at the meeting of the Oneota and Hazelwood Improvement club held at the Merritt school, Fortieth avenue and Sixth street last night.

Members of the club were outspoken in saying that they believed the city administration was following out a poor method of financing when the commission would start cutting down expenses in a small way by taking lights off streets abutting the poor man's property and then turn around and boost the salaries of the men holding down positions in the city hall. The members averred that there was no call for a boost in the salaries of these employes and that the administration was not following out the wishes of the majority of the people in giving this raise.

Among the speakers on the subject were Louis Larson and Conrad Wicklund. While no action was taken it is planned to take the matter up officially at the next meeting of the club and an invitation will be given to the commissioners to explain why this action was taken.

City Attorney Clapp was criticized by the members for a recent decision said to have been given by him regarding the ownership of a three-cornered lot on Thirty-ninth avenue and the railroad tracks. He is said to have stated that the lot, in his opinion, did not belong to the city. The lot in question, assert the residents of that district was platted in the Hazelwood addition as park property in 1871. It is noted as such in the official plats of the city. The property has a frontage of about 56 feet on Thirty-ninth avenue and runs about 150 feet westward along the railroad right-of-way to a point touching Traverse street. The city attorney, according to statements made last night, had given his opinion that the property did not belong to the city. No taxes have been paid on the property since it was platted, say the members, and it is said to have been accepted as city property by the city officials of the past.

The club members are interested in the ownership of this lot because they wish it used as a site for a fire hall. Better fire protection is need for the district, they say, and the lack of this protection has been the cause of some factories refusing to locate in the district.

NOVEL FEATURE FOR INSTALLATION

Eighteen Women Will Take Part in Maccabee Ceremonies.

St. Louis Bay Hive No. 887, Modern Maccabees, will install its officers Monday evening at the Great Eastern hall, 210 North Central avenue. Dr. Isabelle Holdon of Port Huron, Mich., supreme medical examiner of the order, will be present and have charge of the installation ceremonies.

A feature of the evening will be the appearance of eighteen women, who will take part, in addition to the regular team. The women will accompany the officers-elect. Three will be dressed in blue, three in pink, three in lavendar, three in green, four in yellow and two in applegreen. Miss Mina Edmonds of St. Paul, great mistress-at-arms, will assist the installing officer, and the degree team in charge of Miss Anna Dion, will also take part.

The new officers to be installed are: Mrs. Margaret Murden, past lady commander; Mrs. Anna Dion, lady commander; Mrs. Nellie Drake, lady lieutenant commander; Miss Pearl Ayotte, record keeper; Dr. Stella Wilkinson, finance keeper; Mrs. Hattie Hosner, chaplain; Miss Ida Anderson, sergeant; Mrs. S. Ottley, mistress at arms; Mrs. Cora Forbes, sentinel; Mrs. Augusta Moe, picket.

LODGES UNITE FOR INSTALLATION.

A crowd of members, which packed Gilley's hall, attended the ceremonies of installation for the West Duluth lodge No. 145, A. O. U. W., and West Duluth lodge No. 85, Degree of Honor, which was held last night. Joseph Schumaker, grand master foreman for Minnesota for the Workmen, and Mrs. F. Meister of Minneapolis, grand chief of honor for the Degree of Honor, were the installing officers.

A feature of the program following the installation was the presentation of a handsome gold watch chain to J. E. Crawford, the retiring master workman of the lodge. The presentation was made in behalf of the order by M. J. Filiatrault. The program included musical numbers, short addresses, and refreshments.

WEST DULUTH CURLERS

DR. E. W. BOERNER.

Dr. E. W. Boerner is one of the few men who take the game of curling seriously. As third man on the Judson rink, he has proved one of the big factors in the winning streak of the "horseshoe" rink.

"Doc" has been curling with the Western Curling club for the past four years. Being an ex-college athlete he now follows this game "just to keep himself in trim."

Members of the club tell a good story about his first game. With a brand new broom he was selected to play lead on one of the rinks at the beginning of the season. After having thrown his two rocks down the ice he was instructed to stand by and be ready to sweep the second man's stanes when told to do so.

"Soop 'er up," shouted the skip.

"Doc" got busy and chased the stone and busily swept the top of it as it glided along the ice, and after giving it a few whisks of the broom, he stopped.

"Why didn't you sweep her when I asked?" said the skip.

"I got all the dust off it and didn't see any reason for keeping it up," answered the doctor.

Play in the Union Match company's event will be announced Monday. As yet the members of the club are interested in the outcome of the bonspiel and although nearly all of the rinks have been put out of the game, still most of those who first entered have been spending their evenings watching the other games.

LECTURE SERIES ON HEREDITY

Duluth Doctors Will Speak at Social Center Meetings.

A series of lectures on "Heredity" has been arranged for the social centers during the next few weeks. The principal speakers will be prominent physicians and surgeons of the city.

On Thursday evening Dr. E. Tuohy will speak at the Irving school on "Heredity in Connection With Tuberculosis." Wednesday evening Dr. C. H. Schroeder will speak at the Bryant school on "Heredity of Feeblemindedness."

At the Irving school meeting Thursday Carroll Graff will give a talk on the work of the Duluth Remedial Loan association and a similar talk will be given Wednesday night at the Bryant school by O. S. Andresen.

At the Bryant school on Monday evening the Junior Women's club will discuss "Methods of the United Charities Work." In the Irving school Tuesday evening exhibits of domestic science work will be continued under the direction of Miss Walker and Miss Stryker.

BROTHERS JAILED FOLLOWING FIGHT

Judge Refuses Option of Fine as Disciplinary Measure.

Jacob Elich and his brother, Methes, will spend sixty days in the county jail or on the work farm thinking over the results of a little fracas they took part in last night at Gary. The two brothers are said to have been drinking and when they came home to their boarding house, they quarreled with the proprietor. Knives, axes and other weapons handy are said to have been used but with little effect.

Patrolman Fred Anderson, who has been stationed in the suburb since the murder of Patrolman Mooney, appeared on the scene and arrested the men. In police court this morning they pleaded guilty. In imposing a sentence of sixty days in jail without the option of a fine, Judge Lanners said he intended to use this means to stop the rowdyism in that end of the city.

WIDE SCOPE FOR SOCIAL CENTERS

Miss Culkin Outlines Activities and Difficulties of the Work.

Miss Margaret Culkin, city social center director, gave an outline of social center work before the West Duluth Commercial club during the club's "ladies night" entertainment last evening. Miss Culkin said that it was the intention to turn the work of the social centers over to the school board, after it had been well enough established.

"There are a great many branches of the social work," she said. "There is the social charity, which is that work of looking after the destitute and is confined principally to the charitable associations; the correctional and reformatory work; the recreation work which is to look after playground, supervise games and the much talked and laughed at games instructions, the civic betterment and the social propoganda, which includes all of these."

Statistics of Little Value.

Miss Culkin said that many of the social workers confine their activities to the securing of statistics and percentages. These she said were very often inaccurate and while the work was extensive, it was practically worthless.

"The statistical side of the work disgusted me because it seemed to lead nowhere," said the speaker. "The charity as worked out in the majority of the bureaus pauperizes those helped. While the prime object is to place the families helped on a self-supporting basis, the investigations which have to be made, that not only include a thorough insight into the family's history but also that of securing information regarding the family from its neighbors and relatives, tends to bring that family to its lowest level and the loss of all of the self-respect of its members. These investigations naturally have to be made, otherwise the charitable associations would continually be the victims of designing people. A little experience in this class of work convinced me that I did not want any of it."

Movement is Democratic.

Miss Culkin said that the class of work now being carried out in the schools of this city was on a more democratic plan and that its object was to bring the residents of the communities in closer touch with each other. "The people will meet here on an equal footing, and no snobbery will be tolerated. In some sections of the city there is an inclination toward snobbishness and I have had a hard time in bringing together certain factions.

"I want the co-operation of the better class. We want their attendance at the social center meetings. We want them there to help the moral tone as well as to lend their assistance in elevating the education of those who need it."

The program included violin selections by the Lavick brothers. Progressive pedro was played and prizes were won by Miss Celia Vaughn, J. H. Murray and Mrs. C. G. Futter and Mr. Oniger.

Quarterly Rally.

Christian Endeavor societies of the city held their first quarterly rally last night at the Westminster Presbyterian church. Fifty-eighth avenue west and Ramsey street. Rev. C. N. Thorp was the principal speaker of the evening. Every society in the city was represented. The banner for the best attendance was awarded to the society from the Forbes Memorial church of Proctor, which had 70 per cent of its membership present.

Mooney's Death Is Text.

"The Guilty Party, or Who Killed Patrolman Mooney?" will be the subject of a sermon tomorrow evening given by Rev. W. H. Farrell, pastor of the Asbury Methodist church, Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street.

Entertain for New Members.

The trustees and the Ladies' Aid Society of the Merritt Memorial M. E. church entertained at a reception in the parlors of the church last night for new members. A program of vocal and instrumental music and addresses was given. Following the program refreshments were served.

"J. C. R." MAY BE DAKOTA COWBOY

But Hospital Records Discredit Identification By Former Friends.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—The mysterious "J. C. R.," who cannot remember his past or speak, may be Allen Caldwell, alleged to be from Taylor, N. D., in August, 1907, and has never been heard from. Mrs. Frank Johnson, an aunt of Caldwell, and Mrs. Julia H. Tennes of Taylor questioned "J. C. R." at the Oak Forest infirmary for three hours in an effort to awaken his memory.

"J. C. R." recognized several names spoken by the women, selected the brand of the Cup and Saucer ranch, owned by Caldwell's father, depicted by gesture how a friend of former years shot himself, and injected an eagerness in his pantomime replies which he has not hitherto exhibited.

Details of life on the plains where Jowell was a cowboy and imitation of the howling of coyotes brought smiles to the man's face. Asked if he remembered Taylor and Richardson, towns in North Dakota, "J. C. R." answered:

"Hi hi." It is his only method of indicating assent.

Physical peculiarities in Jay Caldwell were recognized in the patient by the women and they would have been convinced he is the missing cowboy were it not for the fact that records of the Rochester, Minn., infirmary show that "J. C. R." was admitted there two months before Caldwell disappeared.

James Caldwell, the father, will come to Chicago to learn if "J. C. R." is his son.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 17.—Minnesota does not want "J. C. R." again. The man of mystery who was discovered yesterday at the Cook county infirmary at Chicago, was a waif when sent to the Rochester state hospital three years ago and, in fact, is a man without a country or a home.

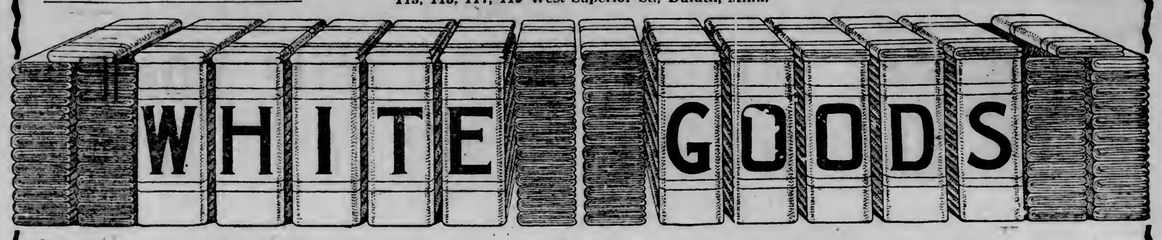

TANGO BANNED BY ROMAN SWELLDOM.

Rome, Jan. 17.—A majority of the women of the Roman aristocracy have decided to conform to instructions issued by Cardinal Pompili, vicar general of Rome, and banish the tango from their saloons and otherwise discourage the dance.

BOYS' DEPARTMENT Y. M. C. A, HOLD MIDWINTER RALLY

Beginning of Active Work Made at First Dinner of Season---Contests Planned.

The first midwinter dinner for members of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A., was held at the boys' building last night. The social committee had prepared for 150 boys and at 6:15 o'clock every seat was taken and those who were unfortunate enough not to get their tickets had to go home for supper. At 7 o'clock when the program opened the building was crowded. It was the largest gathering of members at any one time ever held by the department. Edwin Serfven, president of the cabinet, presided as toastmaster and introduced each speaker in a fitting manner.

The object of the rally was to acquaint every member with the different clubs that are starting and also to tell them of the plans for the next few months. Each chairman outlined in an attractive way what his committee planned to do.

Richard Cullum for the social and entertainment work, told of the plays and minstrel show that will be given, and invited every member to take part in them. Charles Richeaux spoke of the Saturday trips, and the camp Louis Wade, and explained the group clubs that will start as soon as ten boys sign up. They will do electrical, brass and leather work, camera, knoteling and woodwork. Mr. Batchelor outlined the attractions in the gymnasium. He said the work in the "gym" was not to exalt a few leaders but to give every boy a chance for all-round physical development. The awkard squad he said would take care of all boys the first time they came down and as fast as they advanced they would be promoted.

EDWARD SCRIVEN,
Toastmaster Boys' Y. M. C. A. Banquet.

Talk on Membership.

Irving Grover gave a snappy talk on the membership. The way to have a successful club, he said, was for every member to take an active part in all the activities, and boost among his friends. Warren Moore told what the Sunday club was doing. He urged every older boy to take in these Sunday meetings. Carl Honingman invited every member under 15 years to join the Knights of Sir Galahad. This club meets every Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. In addition to this weekly meeting, the club has monthly dinners, initiation, club buttons, outings and spends a week in camp each summer. One of the features of this club will be a "father and son" banquet.

Douglas Walker spoke in behalf of the Bible study department. Sixty high school boys are in the high school clubs and twenty-five intermediates meet in the Friday Night club. Charles Diere gave a talk on extension work of the club. Roland Hawkes invited every member with any musical ability to join one of the musical organizations. They include an orchestra and mandolin club and a mouth organ band.

Competition.

The Hustler clubs will start at once, and every member of the boys' department is invited to get in one of the teams. The object is to develop all-round members. Boys will be divided into teams of ten and will compete for points in the following things:

Attendance at "gym" class, 85 per cent at school, attendance at Bible class, monthly stunt, all-round test, win in game tournament, selling ten tickets, read a book monthly, getting a new member, broad jump, three broad jumps, running high, swim length of pool, long dive, pull-ups, missionary fund (paid up), mount 15 knots, attending Sunday school, attending Bible class, attending church, attending Sunday meeting, getting a referee, attending outing and weekly attendance at club meetings.

The awards to the successful follow: Loving cup presented by J. L. Washburn, to be given the boy who gets the most points; gold medal watch fob with name engraved on it, to boy with second largest number of points; silver medal watch fob with name engraved on it, to boy with third largest number of points. Every boy who gets 350 points will receive a boys' department official emblem, and on the night of the banquet will elect one of their number to go to Camp Miller for one week with all expenses paid. The winning team will be guests of honor at the annual banquet and will sit at a special table; they will also receive a Y. M. C. A. tie clasp.

Monthly awards will be as follows: To the team that is ahead Jan. 21, a pocket billiard ticket; Feb. 28, entertained at dinner; March 31, boys' department, watch fobs; April 30, Y. M. C. A. pins.

Awards will be made at the annual banquet in May.

WILL PUT UP HARD FIGHT

Twin Cities Engage F. B. Kellogg to Conduct Rate Case.

When the application for a rehearing of the lake and rail rate case comes up before the interstate commerce commission, the Twin Cities will be represented by strong counsel. It has been learned that the Minneapolis traffic commission has engaged to represent it Frank B. Kellogg of the famous St. Paul law firm of Davis, Kellogg, Severance & Olds. This move on the part of the Minneapolis commission shows, it is believed, what desperate straits the Twin Cities figure themselves to be in, and that they mean to put up a last bitter fight.

The application for a rehearing in the lake and rail case will come up some time in March, it is believed, and, of course, Duluth will be adequately represented in Washington at that time. It will be remembered that the lake and rail case, now famous, was decided very much in favor of Duluth. Duluth asked for a lower rate from the East and higher rates to the Twin Cities, and the interstate commerce commission granted the reduction and hinted to the roads that it would be a good idea to raise the rates to the Twin Cities. The roads took the hint, and in issuing their new tariffs, which took effect last fall, did raise the rates, with the result that the spread between the Duluth and Twin City rates became 28 cents on freight of the first-class, and proportionately larger on the other classes, a tremendous increase of spread.

Recently the traffic commission in Minneapolis appealed to the interstate commerce commission for a suspension of the new tariffs until the rehearing could be held. The lake and rail lines also asked for a rehearing. The interstate commerce commission granted the request and suspended the rates—that is, the increase to the Twin Cities, not the lowering to Duluth—until May 1, and will consider the application for a rehearing.

The rehearing will take in both the lowering of rates to Duluth and the raise to the cities, but the suspension does not have effect on the former unless the decision of the commission should be changed.

MONTANA WANTS LOWER GRAIN RATES.

Washington, Jan. 17.—The Montana railroad commissioners today filed with the interstate commerce commission a complaint asking for lower rates on corn, rye, oats, wheat, flaxseed and milletseed carloads, from Montana to St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, Seattle, Tacoma and Portland.

The only interest the traffic commission of the Duluth Commercial club has in the news contained in the above dispatch is that any lower rates to Duluth are of benefit; but it is pointed out, that as the cities mentioned are the markets to which Montana has to ship, the change in rates will be of more benefit to the producers in Montana than to anybody else.

WILL SEND DELEGATES

Grand Lodge of Masons Will Meet In St. Paul on Wednesday.

Lakeside Lodge Will Probably Be Given Its Charter.

Duluth Masonic blue lodges will be represented at the annual meeting of the grand lodge, which will convene at St. Paul for a two days' session on Wednesday morning next.

Not only will the three subordinate lodges of the city send their full quota of delegates, but it is also expected that the recently organized blue lodge at Lakeside, now working under a dispensation from the grand master, as well as those interested in the proposed West end lodge, will have representatives at the meeting. The Lakeside lodge expects to receive its charter from the grand lodge at this session.

Palestine lodge, No. 79, Duluth's oldest blue lodge, will be represented at the grand lodge meeting by H. E. Greiser, worshipful master; Phil Hantt, and C. Townsend, junior warden.

Ionic lodge, No. 186, will send as delegates Edward Armstrong, worshipful master; Chauncey C. Colton, senior warden; William J. Works, junior warden, and Parker M. Paine, senior deacon. Mr. Paine is a delegate to the school of instruction for officers, which will be held Monday and Tuesday under the direction of the grand lodge board of custodians of which R. T. Hugo of this city is a member.

Euclid lodge, No. 198, will be represented at the grand lodge meeting by J. O. Winton, worshipful master; J. H. Medland, senior warden, and Harry W. Lanners, junior warden.

The delegation will also include William A. McGonagle and William B. Patton, past grand masters of the state, as well as R. E. Denfeld, deputy grand master, who is next in line for the office of grand master. Mr. Denfeld is a member of Ionic lodge.

CONGRESSMAN HOLDS BEER SAFER THAN GRAPE JUICE.

Secretary Bryan will have to find some drink other than grape juice if he wants to avoid the charge of having alcoholic beverages at his state and diplomatic dinners, according to Representative Barthold of St. Louis. At a luncheon in Washington a few days ago Mr. Barthold was honest enough to admit that he would prefer a glass of beer.

The lady remonstrated, and the doctor interrupted:

"I am in earnest. Grape juice contains between 6 and 7 per cent of alcohol; it demands alcohol to preserve it and to make it fit to drink. Beer, on the other hand, contains only 3 to 4 per cent of alcohol."

There was no further argument on the part of the hostess.—Brewers' Daily Bulletin, Chicago, Ill., Jan. 6, 1914.

RENEWS SUIT FOR FREIGHT CHARGES

Timber Company Demands Difference in Rates From Railroad.

The Duluth Timber Supply company has renewed its suit in district court against the Great Northern Railway company to recover freight charges on certain shipments of forest products from Onega to Virginia since March 16 last.

In the first action, which was brought by the timber company against the railroad company, the court was asked to declare that a rate of 6 cents per hunderd on railroad ties shipped from Onega to Virginia was discriminatory and unreasonable because similar shipments of the same class of freight were being handled by the company between the same points at a 5-cent rate.

The court sustained a demurrer to the action on the grounds that the question of discriminatory rates on intrastate shipments was one for the state railroad and warehouse commission to decide and that the district court lacked jurisdiction. The new suit is based on the same set of facts. The timber company merely demands $245.66, the balance alleged to be due for the difference between the 6-cent and 5-cent rates on certain shipments sent from Onega to Virginia.

PROGRAM FOR THE BURNS BANQUET

A good program has been prepared to follow the Robert Burns anniversary banquet, to be given by Clan Stewart, at the Spalding hotel, on Monday evening, Jan. 26.

Miss Bessie Richardson, who arrived from Scotland on Jan. 1, and who is well known as a singer in her native country, will make her first public appearance in Duluth and sing two of Burns' famous songs.

Another new feature of the program will be the presentation of a dialogue song entitled, "The Schoolmaster," by Alexander F. Melrose and Master Willis Peer. At the special request of a large number of people who have heard Mr. Melrose in his character songs, he will also appear at the close of the program and sing in character. The complete program as prepared by the committee follows:

Scottish airs ..... Clan Stewart Pipe Band.
Invocation ..... Rev. J. A. McGaughey.
Banquet .....
Address ..... Chief A. G. Macaulay.
Piano solo (Scottish selections) ..... Miss Mina MacAskill.

AMBITIOUS FARM CLUBS.

Twenty-Four Formed in St. Louis County and Ask for Courses.

Twenty-four farmers' clubs have been organized in St. Louis county, according to K. D. Van Waganen, county agricultural agent. The latest additions are the clubs at Kelsey and Wallace.

The members of the farmers' clubs are asking the county agent for three-day short courses in agriculture during the winter months. The courses are being planned by Mr. Van Waganen with the assistance of A. B. Hostetter, district agricultural agent.

INSTALLS NEW OFFICERS.

Members of Stadheim Lodge, Daughters of Norway, Enjoy Social.

Stadheim lodge, No. 48, Daughters of Norway, installed its new officers last evening at Foresters' hall. Mrs. Olson of Edda lodge was installing officer and was assisted by the drill team of that lodge. John J. Jenswold, Jr., gave an address which was listened to with interest, and there was a short musical program, after which refreshments were served to about 250 people. Stadheim lodge received first prize from the head lodge for the greatest increase in membership in the state during its first year. President Lena Johnson was remembered with a gift from the lodge members, and the installing officer, Mrs. Olson, was presented with a handsome bouquet. The following officers were installed:

President, Lena Johnson; vice president, Lena Grenner; past president, Helen Solheim; mistress of ceremonies, Aliette Larson; secretary, Julia Ruske; assistant secretary, Dora Lindbloom; financial secretary, Elsie Christiansen; treasurer, Oliva Steen; marshal, Gunhilda Bakken; assistant marshal, Anna Lovald; trustee, Hannah Simonson; inner watch, Tina Hestrom; outer watch, Ida Elstad.

Baraga County, Mich., Couple Wed Week After Meeting.

Baraga, Mich., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—As the sequel to a courtship believed to be the shortest on record in Baraga county, Miss Lucretia Waters is the bride of Charles Price, a prosperous farmer. The couple met for the first time one week prior to their marriage. Miss Waters was a school teacher at Iron River. She visited friends at Baraga, was introduced to Mr. Price at a social gathering and was a wife when she returned to the Menominee iron range town. The board of education of Iron River released her from her contract and in appreciation of her good services in the schoolroom voted her an increase of salary dated back to Sept. 1.

YOUNG HILL'S FARM IS SHIPPING STOCK.

Warren, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Four carloads of cattle from Walter Hill's farm in Kittson county were shipped this week to St. Paul and Chicago markets. Walter Hill is a son of Jim Hill.

During the past year more than $200,000 have been expended in building improvements, ditching and road building on the Hill farm. There are at the present time 128 men employed on the farm. Over 40,000 bushels of grain have been fed cattle on the farm this season.

Two fullblood Ayreshire bulls and three cows have been received from Scotland, the first arrivals of forty-five purchased by Mr. Hill some time ago. The other forty will arrive in a few days.

MINNESOTA WATCHES THE GATES ESTATE.

Beaumont, Tex., Jan. 17.—The will of the late Charles G. Gates was admitted to probate here yesterday and appraisers appointed for the estate. While Lyndon A. Smith, attorney general of Minnesota, and William J. Stephenson, assistant attorney general of that state, were present at the proceedings to look after the interests of Minnesota in connection with the payment of the inheritance tax on the estate, they entered no formal appearance at the proceedings.

Several witnesses testified Mr. Gates had stated he considered Beaumont his home.

Boy Studying Cooking.

Stambaugh, Mich., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Believed to be the only boy in Upper Michigan who is taking a similar course of study, Axel Hill, aged 16, is a regularly enrolled member of the domestic science class of the Stambaugh high school. He is the son of a farmer in the vicinity. The boy is making excellent progress in all departments of the work and his pastry ranks with the best turned out by the girls.

BIG CASS LAKE STORE BURNED

Cass Lake, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire starting about 6 a. m. today destroyed the big store of C. M. Taylor, involving a loss estimated at about $60,000. The fire destroyed the frame part of the store where most of the stock was stored but did little damage to the new concrete portion. Insurance on the stock is between $20,000 and $30,000. When discovered the fire was in the frame portion and had gained too much headway to be extinguished. The origin is not known.

Three Auto Highways.

Jamestown, N. D., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Three automobile highways will radiate out of Jamestown, according to plans approved by the Jamestown Automobile club. One of these will run from Fargo through Jamestown to Mandan and Dickinson; another will run north to Lakota, while the third will take in Edgeley, Ellendale and other points to the south.

THIS WOMAN'S SICKNESS

Quickly Yielded To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Baltimore, Md. — "I am more than glad to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. I suffered dreadful pains and was very irregular. I became alarmed and sent for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it regularly until I was without a cramp or pain and felt like another person, and it has now been six months since I took any medicine at all. I hope my little note will assist you in helping other women. I now feel perfectly well and in the best of health." — Mrs. AUGUST W. KONDNER, 1632 Hollins Street, Baltimore, Md.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

AVOIDED WEIGHING OF COAL FOR DUTY

Former Western Fuel Company Employe Tells of Frauds.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 17.—Imported coal was hauled from the Western Fuel company's hoppers to the bunkers without being weighed for an hour each day during the street car strike in San Francisco in 1907. No customs duties were collected.

This was the testimony given by Samuel Griffin, formerly a motorman in the coal company's employ, who was a witness for the government in the trial of eight officers and employees charged with conspiracy to defraud the government.

Griffin explained that during most of the street car strike the coal shovelers were unable to get to their work at the accustomed hour of 7 a. m. They were instructed to report at 8 a. m. and the customs weighers accordingly did not come down to the bunkers until 8 o'clock. The motormen, however, were instructed to be on hand at 7 o'clock and to fill and dump their trains from the hoppers without having the coal weighed.

Griffin testified further that he had been instructed by Edward Mayer, chief weigher of the Western Fuel company and one of the present defendants, to dump his cars without their being weighed whenever he got a chance.

GORGAS FOR ARMY SURGEON GENERAL.

Washington, Jan. 17.—President Wilson has practically selected Col. William C. Gorgas of the Panama canal commission for surgeon general of the army. The colonel's friends expect his nomination to go to the senate very soon. Col. Gorgas attracted world-wide attention for his sanitation work in Cuba, and later practically made the building of the Panama canal a possibility by sanitating the isthmus.

Senate Amends Rules.

Washington, Jan. 17.—The senate has amended its rules to require the presence of a quorum before unanimous consent can be granted or revoked.

WOULD AMEND TRUST LAW TO KNOCK OUT "RULE OF REASON"

Stanley Offers Bill to Change the Sherman Act.

Lets Others Than Attorney General Start Equity Suits.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Representative Stanley of Kentucky, after a conference with President Wilson, introduced late yesterday an amendment to the Sherman law which would make illegal the monopolization or restraint of trade "in any degree." It is designed to eliminate the "rule of reason" laid down by the supreme court in the Standard Oil case.

The amendment also would invest the circuit courts of the United States with jurisdiction to restrain and prevent violations of the act, irrespective of the attorney general. It was drawn to meet the wish of the president, expressed in his last message to congress, to reduce the debatable area surrounding the Sherman act.

Representative Stanley discussed the measure with the president yesterday, and previously had corresponded with him at length on the subject. The Kentucky congressman, who was chairman of the special committee which investigated the United States Steel corporation, does not offer the measure as an administration amendment, but believes it will be of service to the committee of congress which will draft the anti-trust legislation after the president's special trust message is delivered next week.

Kills "Rule of Reason."

The Stanley bill would amend the second and fourth sections of the Sherman law. In section 2, in which the supreme court injected the "rule of reason," the words "in any degree" are inserted so that the section would read:

"Every person who shall monopolize or attempt to monopolize or combine or conspire with any other person or persons to monopolize in any degree any part of the trade or commerce among the several states, or with foreign nations, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction thereof, shall be punished by fine, not exceeding $5,000, or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by both."

Discussing that portion of Chief Justice White's decision which relates to unreasonable restraint of trade, Representative Stanley said that he had always regarded it as unnecessary to the decision, and therefore not the law.

"Many, however, believe," he continued, "that the effect of this decision is to render illegal only such combinations in restraint of trade as are unreasonable. The insertion of the words 'in any degree,' with the other provision, will save the law as amended from any such interpretation, and will render all restraints of trade illegal."

Remedy Open To All.

Concerning the question of jurisdiction in case of violation of the trust laws, he declared that his amendment would make impossible any inaction because the remedy would be open to all.

"The provision in section four of the present act requiring all actions to be brought by the attorney general," he said, "has done more to render the Sherman anti-trust act inefficient than almost any other thing. The Sherman act has at times been a dead letter because some attorney general happened to regard it with indifference or hostility.

"The merger of the Tennessee Coal & Iron company and the United States Steel corporation, in my opinion would have been impossible had it not been for the fact that President Roosevelt advised the attorney general not to take action in the matter, and no other official could.

"The industries which are affected by combinations in restraint of trade are the first to take notice of the valuation of the Sherman act, and they should have the same right to invoke the court to protect them from the menace of monopoly that they now have to protect themselves from injury at the hands of an individual."

As Amended.

As it is proposed to amend it, this section of the Sherman act would read:

"The several circuit courts of the United States are hereby invested with jurisdiction to prevent and restrain violations of this act; and it shall be the duty of the several district attorneys of the United States, in their respective districts, to institute proceedings in equity to prevent such violations.

"Such proceedings may be by way of petition setting forth the case and praying that such violation shall be enjoined or otherwise prohibited. When the first parties complaining shall have been duly notified of such petition, the court shall proceed as soon as may be possible to the hearing and determination of the case, and pending such petition and before the final decree the court may, at any time, make such temporary restraining order or prohibition as shall be deemed just in the premises.

Any Person May Act.

"Any person who shall be injured in his business or property or shall be threatened with such injury by any other person or corporation by reason of anything forbidden or unlawful, may bring suit in equity in any district court, in the district in which the defendant resides or is found, to prevent and restrain violations of this act, and for other appropriate relief.

"All evidence showing or tending to show that such restraint was partial, or that it was not undue or unreasonable, shall be admissable for the purpose of determining the quantum of dereliction or the character of punishment to be inflicted, and for no other."

The amendment will be taken up by the judiciary committee when it begins the work of drafting anti-trust bills after President Wilson has delivered his message.

indicted by the special grand jury had been arrested this morning. Those on whom warrants had not been served because they were outside the state included Moyer, C. E. Mahoney, vice president of the Western Federation; J. C. Lowney, Yanko Terzich and Guy Miller, members of the executive council; Ben Goggia and Jacob Oliva, organizers.

Those arrested and released on bail were required to appear today before Judge O'Brien, who bound them over to the term of court which begins Jan. 26.

Expect Further Report.

The special grand jury expected to make a further report today of its findings regarding lawlessness in the Copper country. Several cases, including an alleged attack on British non-union workmen, are yet to be reported on.

Demanding that he retract the statement attributed to him "that the constitutional rights of citizens and laws are overthrown in this district," a telegram was forwarded last night to Representative W. J. McDonald at Washington by fourteen members of the Progressive party, including several county committeemen. Senator Ashurst made use of the statement Thursday while explaining his resolution in the senate urging an inquiry into conditions in the Copper country.

James MacNaughton, general manager of the Calumet & Hecla, returned yesterday from Boston, where he attended a meeting of the directors of the company.

Moyer Contradicts Ferris.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 17.—Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, branded as false the statements attributed to Governor Ferris of Michigan and other prominent officers of that state that the rights of the state and Federal Constitutions have not been suspended in the copper strike regions. Mr. Moyer insisted that the governor knew the civil authorities were controlled by the mine operators, and that strikers' rights were curtailed wherever possible.

Moyer referred to the fact that the sheriff of Houghton county had left him in his hotel at Houghton just three minutes before the "mob" came to deport him and Charles Tanner, on the night of Dec. 26 last, and that "he couldn't have been out of the building by the time the mob got there." This, he said, was evidence enough that the constitutional rights had been suspended in the Calumet region.

More Money From Butte.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 17.—The Butte miners' union telegraphed yesterday a donation of $10,000 to the relief of the striking copper miners of the Michigan fields. This makes a total of $83,000 sent to Michigan by the miners' union of Butte alone. Funds sent by other unions swell the total sent from Butte to $108,000.

NEW ERUPTIONS ARE BEGUN BY VOLCANO

who were starving. They reported that, owing to the floating masses of pumice stone and the high seas they had been unable to steer their boat, and spent three days adrift at the mercy of the elements and without a morsel of food. The bluejackets were able to reach them only by using a wedge-shaped raft, with which they pierced a field of pumice stone resembling ice floes.

Lava today was flowing steadily down the sides of the volcano to the sea, increasing the area of the island as it solidified on reaching the water.

It is still impossible to give anything like an approximate estimate of the number of victims from the recent eruptions, earthquakes and tidal wave. Some officials here express the hope that almost all escaped from Sakura. Others are less optimistic.

Likened to Pompeii.

Prof. Omori, the seismologist, pointing today to the village of Yokohama on Sakura, where 400 houses lie buried in lava, said: "Are the people buried there as in Pompeii?" and answered himself: "Only the future can reply."

Many refugees are reported to have been driven insane as a result of the terror and exposure. Over a million letters and eight thousand telegrams are lying in Kagoshima awaiting delivery.

Prof. Omori thinks the entire volcanic range of Kiu-Shiu has entered upon a period of activity that recurs every sixty years and that eruptions may be expected at any time, especially from the volcano Unzen, eight miles from Obima in the prefecture of Nagasaki.

The geologist Okada is of the opinion that Sakura-Jima will continue in eruption for a month.

Ten Thousand Missing.

Tokio, Jan. 17.—An indication that the loss of life on the island of Sakura, which was devastated by the eruption of the volcano Sakura-Jima, may be much larger than had been supposed, is given in a report received here from an official of the interior department who was sent to Kagoshima and its vicinity to investigate. He reports that 9,000 out of Sakura's estimated population of 19,000 had been accounted for up to the evening of the sixteenth.

Other refugees, it is expected, will be found in other directions, but the loss of life evidently was extremely heavy.

Measures for the relief of the sufferers from famine in the north and eruptions in the south are rapidly assuming shape now that the extent of the disaster is more definitely known.

A relief association, national in scope, has been organized here and has issued an appeal for help.

Help From America.

Messages of sympathy with Japan, in connection with the recent disaster in Sakura-Jima, are pouring from all parts of the world and especially from America and England. Both President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan have sent dispatches.

Contributions for relief have been made by the American Red Cross and the Naval society.

Bishop Walter Andrews of the English church in Hok-Kaido, the famine stricken district, writes that the suffering everywhere is intense. The farmers, he says, are hit hardest and their families are eating soups made of chopped straw, leaves and rotten potatoes and meat taken from cats, dogs and fish. The more fortunate have a thin gruel made of rice or wheat.

The net results, he writes, are many deaths from cold and starvation, and an increase of crime and beggars. Many girls, he declares, have been sold into slavery. He tells of many children fainting in schools, sick from lack of food.

Lava Forty Feet High.

The investigator of the department of the interior, who wired the government this morning regarding the number of survivors from the island of Sakura, reports that he saw pumice stones three and five feet in diameter that had been vomited from the bowels of the earth. Lava mounds are forty feet high.

Members of a party rescued from a cave recounted how they saved themselves from being roasted by holding thick boards on their heads, Japanese umbrellas having shrivelled a few minutes after their frightful flight began. They were in the cave for three days and expected death every minute of the time. They had no food, but found some drinking water.

joke." Suddenly she took a reviver from a bureau drawer and shot herself through the heart.

Wood leaped across his niece's body, snatched up the weapon and shot himself through the heart. Both died within a few minutes.

Roberts said that Wood, until two years ago, was on the Tennessee supreme court bench. He came to San Francisco about a year ago.

According to Roberts, Wood had become involved in a political matter that caused him to leave Tennessee. He said he did not know his friend's real name and assumed that he had adopted the name "Wood" after coming to California. He said Wood had a son living in Memphis and a daughter in Dexter, Mo. Wood was 54 years old.

Woman Was Writer.

In San Francisco Wood engaged in the restaurant business, but six months ago he sold his business. His niece, Roberts said, had literary aspirations and wrote short stories and motion picture plays.

END COMES SUDDENLY

Mrs. Ira G. Coburn Feels Faint, Goes to Neighbor's and Dies.

Dined With Friends and Was Apparently in Best of Health.

Feeling faint as she was entering the front door of her home about 8 o'clock last evening, Mrs. Ira C. Coburn, 58 years old, of 1933 Waverly avenue, Hunter's Park, went to the home of her neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. McLeod, 1925 Waverly avenue, where she died a few minutes later. Dr. A. C. Taylor declared late last evening that death was due to apoplexy.

Mr. Coburn, her husband, who is deputy collector of internal revenue, was attending a supper of the Men's club at the Glen Avon Presbyterian church. He was called out of the church, but Mrs. Coburn had already died when he reached the McLeod home.

Mrs. Coburn was one of the best known women in Duluth and had a circle of friends throughout the city. She had been a resident here for the past thirty-two years, having come to Duluth a year following her marriage to Mr. Coburn at Oshkosh, Wis., her former home. Besides her husband, she is survived by two children, a son, Fred G. Coburn, a naval constructor for the United States navy, who resides at Philadelphia, and a daughter, Mrs. Carl T. Anderson of Milwaukee.

Mr. Coburn said this morning that Mrs. Coburn had spent yesterday with Miss Morrow of Lakeside, a sister of Mrs. S. L. Smith. Following dinner there, Mrs. Coburn left for her home, apparently in good health. She had already inserted the key in the front door, as it was found there later by Mr. Coburn, when a feeling of weakness overcame her. Realizing that it would be best to go to the home of a neighbor, Mrs. Coburn hurried to the home of Mr. and Mrs. McLeod. She was unable to speak and died a few minutes later.

According to Mr. Coburn, his wife had apparently been in the best of health.

The funeral arrangements have not been completed as yet but in all probability the service will be held at the residence Monday afternoon, with interment at the Forest Hill cemetery.

CITY ENGINEER QUITS; MALICIOUS CRITICISM GIVEN AS THE REASON

I cannot say, not having been in a position to competently judge of them.

Cannot Please All.

"In the last few months I have come to realize the difficulty of the position which the city engineer is called upon to fill. More than ever before it has come home to me that it is impossible to please everybody, no matter how hard or how sincerely one tries. The best one can do is to exercise his judgment and ability to further the welfare of the city and in so doing strive to win the approval of the majority of the people.

"Had not Mr. Wilson tendered his resignation I should not have asked him to sever his connection with the city. He would have continued as city engineer, although I have heard criticism and several persons have suggested that he should be discharged, as has been the case with engineers of other administrations.

"My position can be briefly stated. Mr. Wilson charges that certain persons or interests have so unfairly and maliciously criticized him that he feels in honor bound to resign. If those persons or interests will produce sufficient evidence to warrant the acceptance of Mr. Wilson's resignation, the resignation will be accepted. Otherwise, let them desist in their attacks, that we may have the fullest harmony and work together for the development of our city and the furtherance of its material and substantial interests.

Nothing to Hide.

"I have nothing to conceal, and I feel sure that Mr. Wilson has nothing to hide. The division of public works desires that the public should be fully acquainted with what it is doing at all times, and is desirous of the hearty co-operation of all citizens, for only in that way can the greatest measure of success be attained. The resignation of Mr. Wilson and the charges he makes are too serious and too vitally affect the municipal government to receive anything but the closest scrutiny. Let the doors be thrown wide open. I should be pleased to have any and all come forth with any facts, unfavorable or favorable, to the city engineer or the city engineering department. If the persons or interests who have been condemning the engineering department are acting in good faith, they will have no hesitancy in stepping forward with their reasons for believing that Mr. Wilson should no longer have charge of the engineering department. Let the whole case be given a thorough airing in the broadest possible manner. I am convinced that it will help us all. I have no other desire than to consider the situation solely on its merits and not otherwise. As many public hearings as necessary can be arranged to give this matter the fullest and most thorough airing. The sooner this can be done the better, for the program for the coming season is being shaped and it will not be long before the work will once more be in full swing."

Letter of Resignation.

The letter of resignation forwarded by Mr. Wilson to Commissioner Murchison is as follows:

"It has been with much regret and hesitation that I have decided to ask you to accept my resignation as city engineer. To me, it is no simple matter to thus lay down a task to which I have devoted my entire energy and into which I have placed my whole heart.

"To be connected with the work of building up and improving a city such as Duluth is to be engaged in a work of most absorbing interest; and thus to relinquish this privilege at a time when the results of one's labors seem about to manifest themselves, can but be associated with a feeling of much disappointment.

Nevertheless, in order to relieve your department of criticism such as has been directed toward it during the past season, this step would seem justified. When one accepts an appointment at the hands of an individual he should expect to unhesitatingly give up his position, if his retention in office becomes an embarassment, regardless of the merits of the case. To do otherwise would be dishonorable and selfish.

"I believe that very little of the criticism of the past season has been made in good faith, and that much of it has been stimulated by special interests, who have been unable to accomplish their purpose along the lines of merit and fair competition.

"When a technical man engages in municipal work he must expect to have his work passed upon by a public for the most part unqualified to do so; but from whom helpful suggestions may be received, as well as many impossible demands. When these suggestions or demands assume a malicious nature, the outgrowth of ulterior motives, and an official is unable to command considerable public support, the situation becomes difficult indeed, not only for himself but also those responsible for his appointment. Due to the fact that I have but recently made my home in Duluth and consequently have few close friends and not a large circle of acquaintances you can readily understand that I am at a disadvantage in combating these attacks.

"In leaving the service of the city I have no apologies to make for the work done under my direction. Insofar as matters have been within my power I have acted on the merits of the questions under consideration, without attempting to incur special favor of any one.

"As to those now in my department whom I shall leave to my successor, I have only words of commendation. They need sympathetic support and encouragement rather than continual criticism."

BRITISH ARMY TRIALS BEGIN

upward of ten years, and it may be necessary to add other names to the list of those accused here. At the same time, several officers are being dealt with by military tribunals."

War Office at Work.

The war office took the initiative in the investigation of reports in circulation as to graft in connection with army supplies. Some weeks ago it was announced that a general court-martial had been convened to try five quartermasters, with a view to testing the accuracy of statements made in various quarters as to the existence of a system of bribery and corruption in the conduct of canteens in the army.

When the court-martial was about to convene the law officers of the crown notified the war office authorities that the jurisdiction of such a court was too limited for the action that might be necessary, and the proceedings of the court-martial were accordingly suspended. The war office committee then decided to apply to the police for summonses against the accused, as the investigation had shown that the corruption was more extensive than at first suspected.

Firm Not Accused.

R. D. Muir, the prosecuting counsel, mentioned incidentally today that the main charge against the civilian defendants was directed at them individually, rather than at the firm of Lipton, Ltd., with which they were connected. Archibald Minto, the civilian defendant who was unable to appear owing to illness, occupied, according to counsel, an anomalous position. He was not a director of the firm in the proper sense of the word, but took a very prominent part in its business. Mr. Muir remarked:

"I hope his cure will be rapid and that he will see the advisability of coming within the jurisdiction of the court, so that it will not be suggested that he is a fugitive from justice."

Sympathy With Officers.

Considerable sympathy has been expressed with the army officers concerned. The position of quartermaster is usually held by men promoted from the ranks, after long service, and they assume the rank and dignity under a heavy handicap. The pay does not allow them to support theirves in the style of other officers of the same rank, even if they are single, but the British soldier who stays with the colors for many years generally marries and has a family.

When he attains his new rank, he becomes anxious to give his children an education corresponding with his station, and not having any private means, as have most of his brother officers, soon finds himself in desperate straits. Hence the temptation to misuse canteen funds.

Several papers have expressed the hope that the case will open the eyes of the authorities to the inequities of the present system, and lead to a reform whereby the quartermasters will be paid according to the importance and responsibilities of their work.

LOCK OF LINCOLN'S HAIR BRINGS $330

Total Sales of Relics So Far Have Totaled $52,439.

New York, Jan. 17.—At the final session of the sale of Part 1 of the late Maj. William H. Lambert's library, comprising the more important of his Lincolniana, the total was $5,280. The grand total thus far is $52,439.

Harry Ragan bid the highest price yesterday—$600—for a presentation copy from Lincoln to W. M. Cougill of "Political Debates Between Hon. Abraham Lincoln and Hon. Stephen A. Douglas in the Celebrated Campaign of 1858 of Illinois, as Carefully Prepared by the Reporters of Each Party." Inserted are the autograph letters of Lincoln to H. C. Whitney and a letter of Douglas to Henry Wise.

A. C. Hines received for $330 a lock of hair cut from Lincoln's head after he was shot. It is in a gold case. George D. Smith paid $505 for the inkstand used by Lincoln for many years in his office at Springfield, Ill.

GEN. OROZCO IS SAID TO BE DEAD

aside from Salina Cruz, Acapulco is now practically the only port on the Pacific with reliable railroad connections with the capital in the possession of the Federals, its loss to them might make it impossible for the rifles and ammunition and other military supplies contracted for in Japan early last year to reach the Federal arsenal when they are most needed.

Must Resort to Wireless.

Berlin, Jan. 17.—A German wireless telegraph company today secured a contract for the erection of a wireless station in Mexico City to enable Provisional President Huerta to maintain communication with the columns of Federal troops operating against the rebels in various parts of the country. Gen. Hueta finds it necessay to use wireless telegraphy, as the ordinary telegraph wires are so frequently cut.

The new station in the Federal capital is to have only half the sending range usually provided for, and this is taken here as an indication that Gen. Huerta is preparing for fighting in the neighborhood of the Federal capital.

Mercado "The Evacuator."

Mexico City, Jan. 17E.—The Federal war office today declared that if Gen. Salvador Mercado, lately commander of the Federal troops at Ojinaga, returns to Mexico, he will be court-martialed by the first Federal force he encounters.

Government officials have nicknamed Gen. Mercado "the evacuator." They express dissatisfaction with the manner in which he abandoned the towns of Parral, Chihuahua and Ojinaga.

Another Revolt.

Douglas, Ariz., Jan. 17.—Refuges who arrived here from Ojinaga predicted that a new revolution directed against both the Constitutionalists and the Huerta government will be proclaimed in Northwestern Mexico as soon as Gen. Francisco Villa's army leaves that territory on its march to Mexico City. The refugees said the state of Durango was the stronghold of the movement, which was backed by former adherents of Porfirio Diaz.

Inflamatory literature being circulated in Durango refers to the Constitutionalists as "Cochinadistas," meaning literally "akin to swine."

Women Penal Convicts.

Vera Cruz, Jan. 17.—A large contingent of political prisoners was shipped yesterday on board the transport Progreso to the penal settlement at Quintana Roo on the Yucatan peninsula. The prisoners included eight women. Several of the women are said to be members of good families, their only apparent offense being that that are related to persons in arms against the government.

Wants Carden Kept.

London, Jan. 17.—The Outlook today contains an editorial bitterly attacking the foreign office on account of the report that Sir Lionel Carden, British minister to Mexico, is to be removed from his present post and transferred to the legation in Brazil.

"The transfer," the Outlook says, "has been semi-officially confirmed at Washington, to which place we must now turn for the earliest news of British diplomatic movements. The report of Sir Lionel Carden's transfer from Mexico wears a sinister look.

"The probability is that the removal of the British representative to Brazil or elsewhere may not take place immediately, but when the mind of the public has been duly prepared for the step, we expect to find that our apprehension of a most notable and wanton surrender to an unprincipled foreign intrigue is fully warranted. We assert that it would be calamitous if our minister to Mexico is withdrawn from his post of duty until the existing situation in the Latin-American republic has been wholly transformed."

British Name "Wemneed."

The article then pleads for the retention of Sir Lionel Carden in Mexico, saying now is a time when he is greatly needed, especially when, because of the action of Americans, millions of dollars of British capital are wasting away, and when danger menaces British name and fame in the eyes of the people with whom they long have stood pre-eminent.

The Outlook expresses the belief that the report of Sir Lionel's transfer did not "leak," and advances the opinion that relations between the United States and Great Britain will not be improved "by a temporary infirmity in our foreign office." In conclusion the article says:

"But Great Britain still retains her rights, though they may remain in abeyance a short time longer while the present mixed company of self-seekers remains in office."

SOAP ON HAIR CAUSES DANDRUFF, SCALP GETS DRY, HAIR FALLS OUT.

Girls! Get a 25 Cent Bottle and Try a "Danderine Hair Cleanse."

After washing your hair with soap always apply a little Danderine to the scalp to invigorate the hair and prevent dryness. Better still, use soap as sparingly as possible and instead have a "Danderine Hair Cleanse." Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one strand at a time. This will remove dust, dirt and excessive oil. In a few moments you will be amazed, your hair will not only be clean, but it will be wavy, fluffy and abundant, and possess an incomparable softness and lustre.

Besides cleansing and beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; stimulates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

Men! Ladies! You can surely have lots of charming hair. Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it.

WILL TEACH THE TANGO

Alice Lloyd Will Give Free Lesson at Lyceum Next Week.

Herald Will Give 100 Theater Tickets to Best "Ad" Writers.

Learned the tango yet?

If not, accept The Herald's invitation to join a free class to be taught by the dancing experts of the Alice Lloyd company, which will open a two days' engagement at the Lyceum theater next Friday afternoon.

The Herald has secured 100 seats for the opening performance to be distributed free among the winners of a contest which opens today. Fifty pairs of seats will be given away to fifty prize winners. Not only will the seats entitle the holder to witness the show but will also admit them to the stage after the performance where the tango dance, the maxixe and other graceful and seemingly difficult steps will be taught to all who attend, Herald prize winners and others.

The conditions of the contest are as follows: The Herald will give away fifty pairs of tickets to the opening performance of the Alice Lloyd show Friday afternoon to the fifty persons submitting fifty best brief advertisements of The Herald's want ad columns.

The essays must conform in a general way to the large advertisement which appears in the upper left hand corner of the last page of The Herald every evening. In length, the "ad" or essay must not exceed 100 words. If it is short -d spicy so much the better.

Address all communications to the Alice Lloyd Contest Editor, Herald. All essays must be submitted before 6 o'clock Wednesday evening. On Thursday the list of prize winners will be published. Each essay or ad must carry the name and address of the writer plainly written.

The Tango Lesson.

After the show Friday afternoon, dainty Alice Lloyd herself will superintend the tango lesson. She will be assisted by several graceful artists of her company and the intricate steps which have so long puzzled some Duluthians will, Miss Lloyd guarantees, be made easy.

The tango, as exemplified by Miss Lloyd and her company of artists, is a graceful and refined dance. It has many variations which tax the strength, the grace, the agility of the dancer.

"Step and point, step and point."

These are the simple instructions and those who will follow Miss Lloyd and her experts will learn. It is not necessary to know anything about the dance before you come to the show.

Remember The Herald's contest for membership in the tango class closes Wednesday afternoon. Send your essays early. The Herald reserves the right to use any of the prize winning essays on its want pages from time to time, without any publicity to the writer, however. That is where The Herald gets its pay in new ideas.

If you can write a 100-word advertisement you get two free tickets to one of the best shows of the year and a lesson in tango dancing as the guest of The Herald.

Cheering Words for Suffering Humanity

Read of the Wonders Electro Medicine Has Accomplished

This is an age of thought. Men of brains are in demand. Ideas are wanted. The people call for leaders to show them the way out of the old ruts—false promises, deception, skepticism, etc., into good health. Old systems are worn out. New ideas must arouse the people, and infuse their hearts with courage to strike. Sickness and disease originate and is caused by germ or bacteria finding lodgment in the tissues, membranes, bones, blood and nerves of the human suffering body. Therefore, to remove all sickness and suffering it is necessary to destroy the germs. This must be done by specific, germicidal medication administered in a rational way.

The Electro Vito treatment offers the most up-to-the-minute method of thus securing health and consequent success and happiness. It dislodges and drives out the disease germs and enables nature, freed of her heavy handicap, to carry on her perfect work unhindered.

The Electro Medical Doctors' method has two distinctive fields of operation, both working in direct effect and in harmony with one another—local and constitutional. Changes, as seen and felt by the suffering after being placed under Electro Medical method, in every variety of chronic and lingering diseases, are attracting the attention of all self-interested and thinking people, and the hundreds of afflicted who are annually restored from the worst forms of disease are unanimous in acknowledging that, as soon as they had taken a few treatments, no more bad feelings, weakness, langour, melancholy, etc., but soon enjoyed that same freshness of mind and buoyant spirits as before they were ill.

Thus it will readily be seen when these Doctors use their combined two-fold treatments, are the most efficient and truly miraculous that the medical world has ever known. Not only is it wonder-working in its power to banish disease already contracted; it is equally successful in warding off disease that might be threatened.

Office hours, 9 to 8. Holidays, 10 to 1.

Let us examine and cure you, then you will bless the day you stepped into the E. M. D. Office.

MINNESOTA UNIVERSITY

Pan-Hellenic Dance Scheduled to Be Held on Feb. 5.

Special Lecturers Engaged for Summer Session of University.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—"When Greek Meets Greek," the biggest and most elaborate social function of the interfraternity world, has been scheduled for Feb. 5. This meeting of the Pan-Hellenic is under the direction of the Adelphian club, a senior interfraternity organization, which intimates that the 1914 "Pan-Hel" will outshine in magnificence and splendor all previous attempts of this nature. Maroon and gold decorations, forming a background for the more brilliant colors of the various fraternities upon the campus, are to gleam upon the walls of the Masonic hall, where the dance is to be given.

The Summer Courses.

P. P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education, will give a special course of public lectures July 13 to 17 in the university chapel in connection with the summer session of the university. The engagement of Dr. Claxton is one of a number of special features for the summer school, made possible by the fact that the convention of the National Educational association in St. Paul the week of July 4 will bring to Minnesota educators of national prominence from many states. Among other special instructors engaged for the summer courses are George F. Reynolds of the University of Montana and Stephen S. Colvin of Brown university. The former specializes in English and the latter in education.

The summer session will open this year June 15 and will continue six weeks.

Entrance Requirements.

Students who are not able to meet the entrance requirements at the university, but who are admitted, do not make good in their studies, according to Prof. Bauer, chairman of the committee on education of the university senate. The committee has had in charge the matter of revising the entrance requirements so that they will be satisfactory to the high school principals and county superintendents. Prof. Bauer said the records of the fifty-three students admitted to the various colleges in 1912 who did not come up to the requirements for entrance were studied. The results show, he said, that if these students did the same grade of work during their course that they did the first year, only two of them would be graduated. All the others would fall below grade.

The Honor System.

"Is the University of Minnesota sufficiently intelligent to govern itself?" The answer to this question, in the opinion of Dean William Vance of the law college in Tuesday's chapel service, is the answer to the query as to whether the honor system will ever succeed at Minnesota. Incidentally, Dean Vance believes that if the university cannot produce a student body of men and women of courage, high purpose and keen intelligence, it is not worthy of the name, and its glory will pass away.

Dental Fraternity Meeting.

Local and alumni members of the Xi Psi Phi dental fraternity are preparing for the biennial meeting of the supreme chapter, which will bring many dentists and dental students to Minneapolis early in February. The members of the fraternity at the university expect to outdo all previous efforts at entertainment. Dr. H. Acton Roan, Minneapolis, at present supreme vice president, will automatically assume the presidency. It is expected that more than 725 members of the fraternity who are now serving on various dental faculties in this country and in Canada, including Dean Eugene H. Smith of Harvard, will be present. The fraternity is the largest of its kind in the world. It was organized in 1884 and has thirty-one active chapters in American universities.

Shovel Society's Dance.

The original Shovel society, the senior engineering honor society, announces that it will give a dance in the armory on Feb. 11, the evening before the holiday on Lincoln's birthday. The whole university is invited to the dance; in fact, the dance is to be known as an all-university dance, and the society expects to make it an annual affair. Coming just before the junior ball, the dance is supposed to take the place of the common people's ball which was given last year at the time of the junior ball.

The Junior Ball.

The officers of the junior ball have placed at rest the agitation over the announcement that the attendance of the ball would be limited to 125 couples, declaring that that number was the minimum by which they could clear expenses. However, the $6 ticket price will stand, as it is claimed that the sentiment of the juniors was never in favor of a cheap ball.

WHAT DOES "SAFE DISTANCE" MEAN?

Fond du Lac Property Owner Does Not Want River Ice Used.

"I note in last evening's paper," said M. M. Gasser, "an interview with Health Director Webster respecting the danger of using ice from the St. Louis river, in which he uses the expression 'a safe distance above.' I wonder what he means by this?

"There is a well known fluctuating tidal effect in the river of from six to eighteen inches at Fond du Lac, due to the backing up of the unclean waters from down stream: is it safe anywhere within the sweep of those tides? Is it safe further up, in view of the fact that all the sewage system of the villages above, such as Thomson, Carlton, Cloquet and the power station, with a total population of about 8,500, are draining into it?"

'THE NEWSPAPER HABIT'

"The newspaper habit" is an American habit. In the old world countries newspaper reading is confined to the educated and prosperous few. If you step into a street car in the average American city you will see a sight that cannot be seen in any other country on the globe—every individual intently devouring the contents of a newspaper. The newspaper is their only source of information on all the interests and activities of life.

In advertising it is the constant pounding that wears away the barriers of doubt and indifference. It is the frequent repetition of names and products that indelibly impresses them upon human memory and finally creates a favorable attitude toward the products advertised. The repetition of selling arguments is the life of advertising. Suppose a manufacturer or merchant has an important announcement to make regarding a commodity. He very carefully and laboriously groups the argument in logical sequence, presenting a compact, complete presentation of his proposition. It is the result of much study and revision. The advertisement is surely a work of art. In order to get in all the selling arguments he finds he will need a half page in the newspaper. He concludes to make "a complete job of it," so he runs it one time on a half page and pays for it what he thinks is a big investment in publicity.

Of course he accomplishes nothing. He has followed the example of the small boy who touched off a wagon load of fireworks all at once. He has made a "flash." As a display of publicity pyrotechnics it is dazzling, but it is not advertising. It is contrary to the most elementary principles of advertising.

If he had understood the art of advertising he would have taken one selling argument at a time and hammered it home from day to day through constant iteration and reiteration. One-time advertising or "spasmodic advertising" is a waste of money no matter how large the space or how compactly it is filled. It is constant repetition that gradually fixes a trade-mark or firm name in the human mind, and it is constant repetition that associates certain qualities and uses with that trade-mark or name.

Now, if advertising is repetition of selling arguments, then the newspaper is an advertising medium par excellence, for it permits of daily repetition in a vehicle that sustains intimate relation to the home. It comes into the family circle every morning or every evening. It knows your friends and your neighbor's friends. It chronicles events and activities that are closely related to their interests. Its columns pulsate with the social and industrial life of the community in which your customers live. It carries the news of the town into the home of the dealer who sells your goods. Enterprise is a contagious thing and if your dealer sees your advertisement in his home paper every day, it awakens in him a spirit of co-operation. He finds himself unconsciously absorbing your selling arguments until he can talk the product as well as you can. The newspaper has chronicled the doings of his family for generations. The files of the paper contain his family history, the weddings, the deaths, the anniversaries. It is his source of information regarding his party, his church, his lodge. It is because of this intimate relation to the home that the newspaper occupies a field of its own as a medium, indispensable to the advertiser who must have a wide distribution for his products in order to secure the volume of business that will yield a profit on his investment.

TRUMAN A. DE WEESE.

UTILITIES BODY IN PHILIPPINES.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Appointment of a new public utilities commission in the Philippines, patterned after the New Jersey commission, is announced to the war department in a dispatch from Governor General Harrison. Judge Marino Cui has been named chairman to serve six years, and the other members are Stephen Bonsal, four years, and Clyde A. Dewitt, two years. Judge Cui has long been prominent in Philippine affairs; Bonsal was Governor Harrison's secretary, and Dewitt, an attorney, has been in the Philippines since 1902.

Other appointments announced were: Samuel Ferguson; special agent in the executive bureau, secretary to the governor general; George R. Harvey, formerly solicitor general, to a judgeship on the court of first instance; Rafael Corpus, formerly a delegate in the Philippine assembly, to be solicitor general; George N. Hurd, formerly judge at large in the court of first instance, to be judge of the District of Mindanao. The latter will be succeeded as judge at large by Bartolome Revilla, formerly a justice of the peace in Manila.

Bill For Chicago Park.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Representative Mann of Illionis has prepared for introduction in the house a bill giving the secretary of war authority to permit the city of Chicago to construct a park or harbor along the lake front. The measure was framed by Mr. Mann, Secretary of War Garrison and the legal officers of the war department.

PIPE KLEN-ZO—

"Pipe Klen-Zo" is a white crystallized powder which when mixed with hot water removes accumulations of grease, dirt, coffee grounds, wood, paper, cloths and rags from drain pipes without injury to the lead, iron, brass or porcelain.

As nine-tenths times in a hundred these obstructions that clog up the pipes the use of "Pipe Klen-Zo" makes unnecessary an expensive bill for work.

One-pound hermetically sealed cans 50c. Special prices in larger quantities.

DEAD AT THROTTLE ON OFFICIAL'S TRAIN

Engineer Is Found in the Cab With Skull Broken.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 17.—With the engineer unconscious from a fractured skull, the New York & St. Louis express on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad sped over the rails for a brief time without a controlling hand on the throttle. President Willard and other high officials of the road were aboard the train.

The plight of the engineer, J. H. Moxley of Baltimore, was discovered by the firemen who was riding on the locomotive and had his attention drawn to Moxley by the latter's failure to blow a crossing signal as the express was running through Brunswick, Md. The train was stopped at the Brunswick station, where a physician's examination disclosed the nature of the man's injuries. It is believed he was struck on the head by a piece of ice or a rock falling from a cliff a short distance east of Brunswick.

Moxley was rushed to the hospital at Frederick in a special train upon Mr. Willard's order. His condition is critical.

CHICAGO BUDGET IS $39,000,000

Goes $900,000 Beyond the City's Estimated Revenue.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—This city's budget for 1914 calls for $29,000,000, an increase of $6,000,000 over last year. The sum is $900,000 in excess of the city's estimated revenue. The largest items are:

Police, $7,308,592; fire department, $3,505,309; health department, $2,401,992; streets, $4,553,653; engineering, $6,126,752, and harbor and subway commission, $3,500,000.

The police department calls for about $500,000 more than for 1913. The health department increases its demand nearly $2,000,000 from $721,751 used last year. The largest increase is in the harbor and subway commission item, which last year was only $6,470.

ANOTHER MILLION SAVED FOR NAVY.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Another $1,000,000 saved to the navy was announced by Secretary Daniels when he placed contracts for $1,917,340 worth of armor-piercing and common projectiles. At last year's prices, the projectiles would have cost $3,025,200. The new awards were.

Fourteen-inch armor-piercing shells —Crucible Steel company, 1,200 at $368,000; Bethlehem Steel company, 2,400 at $768,000, and Midvale Steel company, 600 at $200,400.

Twelve-inch armor piercers—Midvale Steel company, 1,800 at $297,000.

Five-inch common projectiles—Bethlehem Steel company, 18,000 at $156,960; E. W. Bliss company, 6,000 at $51,360.

Four-inch common projectiles — Bethlehem Steel company, 1,200 at $65,620.

Awards were made for more than one concern in some cases, because none of the companies bid for the full number required.

BIG VARIETY AT MILL CITY SHOW

Up-to-Date Changes in Cars Will Be One of Big Features.

Managaing and bringing to a successful issue at just the right moment an automobile show of the magnitude of the annual exhibition of the Minneapolis Automobile Trade association, which is to be held in the Armory and its annex, opening Jan. 21 and closing Feb. 7, requires a vast amount of experience covering many years of hard work. Initiative and executive ability are necessary to successfully promote a show of the magnitude of this event.

Each year the promoters must effect changes as a matter of course, and each year the car maker must also effect changes for the better. The shows of one year are no more like the shows of another year than are the cars like the cars that were seen before. A glance at the bird's-eye views of the Minneapolis shows of past years shows a surprising number of changes which to the initiated is not apparent. Cars change every year, and for 1914 appearances are in many instances so altogether different from 1913 as to be surprising. During the last year the show management has found its opportunity to improve the general show scheme and has done so and the car manufacturers have found time to refine the product and to so alter the appearance of cars by beautifying the lines that the change is very noticeable.

In the cars of 1914 there are a number of very important changes in the leading lines and all cars have taken on in the general scheme of things, features which are well worth studying.

All of the cars will be found to have altered in appearance as the general adoption of stream line effects has accomplished much in the way of beauty for almost every line. The harshness of form of the past has given way to graceful and pretty lines, blending beautifully.

All cars are left hand drive or practically all and the few exceptions are cars which are largely exported. Left hand drive is a feature with American cars. A majority of the well known makes did not adpot the left hand drive until this year.

In the electric car, the motor truck and the cyclecar divisions the exhibits are most interesting and the cyclecar section promises to be quite as much of a sensation at the Minneapolis show as was the case at the New York exhibit, where the cyclecar exhibits could always be located by the jam around the cars at all times from the opening of the show until the close. A majority of the cyclecar makers are only just finishing the first models but another year is going to tell the tale. However, four cyclecars in New York were quite enough of an attraction to cause record-breaking attendance.

BURMAN STRONG FOR AMERICAN CAR

Will Build Two Fliers, Hoping to Beat Foreigner.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 17.—It has been officially announced that Bob Burman, who originally contemplated entering the next 500-mile race on the local motor speedway unattached, had agreed with Horace Thomson, the Battle Creek, Mich., millionaire, to build and drive the Ansel, a machine already nominated by the latter. In addition Burman is to construct a duplicate racer, to be driven by another pilot, not yet announced. Both cars will probably be styled "Burman Centipedes," or something equally odd, because they will have sixteen valves.

Will Manufacture Cars.

It has been a pet theory of Burman's ever since the last 500-mile set-to, captured by Goux, a Frenchman, that a machine could be built right in this country that would do as well or better than anything ever produced abroad. It was with this idea in mind that he set to turning out his present fliers. After the race Burman plans to manufacture cars on a commercial basis.

Indianapolis is displaying a greater acuteness of speedway fever this year than ever before. Both National and Marmon, the veteran firms of the city, are being beseeched on all sides to help quell the foreign invader. If pressure of public opinion and requests of owners can turn the trick, it is a safe bet both will be represented.

The latest local firm to be mentioned in connection with the 500-mile race is the Premier. J. O. Smith, president of the company, has always been opposed to racing, stating the reward did not justify the attendant danger and expense. His dealers and distributers throughout the country, however, think otherwise. At a recent meeting of field agents, therefore, a pool was gotten up to build a couple of cars, provided the consent of Smith could be secured. Pressure is now being brought to bear on that gentleman with this end in view.

Interest in Racing Game.

The Lyons-Atlas company, likewise, is said to be interested in the racing game. If this firm should enter, being a Knight licensee, it is thought a team will accrue, inasmuch as consistency rather than sheer speed is what is sought. To finish in one, two, three order somewhere in the list, even if not at the top, would be satisfactory.

Sale of tickets for the contest will begin Monday. Preparations are being made to handle the greatest crowd in the history of the speedway. Two new stands, one of boxes only, situated on the south turn, and one north on the straightaway, have been erected, with seating capacity for 20,000 additional spectators. The average attendance is 80,000. Practically a solid mile of stands is now available.

NEW LINES DISPLAYED.

Six-Thirty Franklin Shown By Interstate Auto Company.

The new displays in all lines can be seen in the shop windows and have even extended to automobile row. Particularly noticeable among the new automobiles on display is the exhibit in the window of the salesroom of the Interstate Auto company where the first new series six-thirty Franklin to arrive in Duluth is being displayed.

While all previous Franklin models have been distinctive in design this new car presents a still greater Franklin individuality. The car is rather low with clean running boards and the slightly domed panels of the sloping hood have added a still richer effect. The neatness and beauty is carried out even to the smallest detail and the engine is finished up with all parts above the engine deck nickel-plated while the parts below, except those aluminum, are black-enameled.

Particular interest points to the Franklin because it is the only car of its kind in this country, having a direct air-cooled motor. The public is interested in this principle of motor cooling as it applies a method well known to all.

The Franklin direct-cooled motor uses a Sirocco fan flywheel. This Sirocco fan flywheel draws out the warm air—in fact draws in cool fresh air over and around the radiating surfaces of the Franklin motor and the heat is literally wiped away. The Sirocco fan method is recognized by its use in factories, etc., for drawing out the warm air.

The fan has gained the name Sirocco from the Sirocco winds which blow off the African deserts and are very warm stifling winds—a very appropriate name for the greatest air-moving invention of modern times.

The use of the direct-cooled motor, thus eliminating water, a radiator and a water circulating system, has given the Franklin body designers full sway and the distinctive sloping hood is the result. There is no intrusive break in the body lines anywhere in the car.

This new Franklin typifies the present age of specialization. This model is the only one the company now manufactures, having concentrated all effort on this one car. This comes after thirteen years of building several different models each year although the concentration on the six-thirty has come gradually. Three years ago the company discontinued building trucks. A year ago taxicabs were discontinued and six months ago the four-cylinder runabout was dropped. Then this fall the four-cylinder touring car and the six-cylinder 38-horse power model were discontinued and a new six-thirty brought out.

This new touring car is a refinement of the Franklin "Little Six" which in the past two years has proven to be the most popular model ever made by the Franklin company. The six-thirty is built in six different body types, a touring, roadster, coupe, sedan, limousine and Berlin. All bodies are interchangeable on the one chassis which constitutes the entire Franklin line.

ASSIGNS CONTEST DATES

Tentative Arrangements Made for Coming Season's Races.

At a meeting of the contest board of the American Automobile association, held at A. A. A. national headquarters last week, requests for assignment of 1914 dates for motor car contests were considered, and the following tentative dates were assigned contingent upon proper completion of the preliminary conditions prescribed by the contest rules:

Indianapolis motor speedway, 500-mile race, May 30.

Sioux City Auto Club and Speedway association, 300-mile race, July 4.

Tacoma Carnival association, road races, July 3 and 4.

Seattle speedway, July 13 and 14.

Chicago Automobile club, Elgin road races, Aug. 28 and 29.

El Paso Auto club, Phoenix road race, Nov. —.

Inasmuch as automobile manufacturers throughout the country make up their individual schedule of the events in which they expect to have their cars compete during the year and arrange their contest plans accordingly, the attention of affiliated clubs and promoting organizations generally is called to the importance of at once fixing closely as possible the date or dates of any contests which they might have in prospect, in order that the contest board might co-operate with them in arranging a more or less consecutive circuit as to localities and avoid possible conflict in dates.

For the past four years all drivers of motor cars in contests have been required to register annually with the contest board. Registry cards have been issued drivers, which cards may be required to be exhibited to the referee or starter upon demand at any sanctioned event. Under the present rules, in all road races, and in beach, speedway or dirt tracks meets fifty miles or more in length, or in practice therefor, the crew of a car must consist of both driver and mechanician, and for the first time the coming year all mechanicians will be required to be registered with the contest board.

The marked enthusiasm among members of cycle cars and the relation of these small self-propelled vehicles to contests in general was discussed and it was the sense of the meeting that in the modification of the contest rules for 1914 suggestions be invited from the manufacturers of cycle cars with a view to embracing in the A. A. A. contest rules for next year classifications and regulations governing cycle car contests.

DIFFERENCES IN COST.

E. J. Filiatrault Says Buyer Should Discern Real Values.

"When selecting a new car," said E. J. Filiatrault of the Mutual Auto company yesterday, "the prospective purchaser confronts the usual bewildinger maze of polished chassis and finely finished cars. These buyers are truly like young bears, with all their troubles before them. It is not an easy task to make a selection where all cars look alike. One may see a car seating five passengers costing $1,200 and again another seating five passengers selling at $1,800—where is the difference? It is hard to discriminate between the two bodies, the speed of the two cars is practically the same. Where is the difference?

"It is difficult to answer these questions very frequently it cannot be done. But there are differences. In some cases the difference amounts to more than $600 and in others it is but $300 difference in reality, although a $600 difference by list price. It does not pay to purchase on appearance. One must bear in mind that the cost of operating the car consists of two factors, first the initial price he paid for it, and second what it costs him per month for repairs. If the cheap car after running a few months has to have a new differential, the magneto overhauled and other troubles, which amount to $150 or $200 cannot be considered luxury, and the buyer would have been ahead had he purchased the higher price car in the beginning. One should ask himself if this is a responsible company or not. Will it be in existence a year hence? Are there first class materials used in this car? Do not forget that paint covers a multitude of sins and weaknesses, and that a few coats of paint are much cheaper than good material and first class workmanship.

"One must remember that good magnetoes cost money. Good carburetors cost money, and there are differences in the cost of bearings, for the wheels, gear set and the axles, and the differences in cost between the two cars are due to better finish of the cylinders, better fittings of the crank shaft bearings, better materials and better design. Weight is a great limiting factor, and the buyer should give it attention.

"The new 1914 Chalmers meets all the above requirements. The company is rated as one of the very largest in the world, while the workmanship of the factory has stood the test for the past eight years."

MOTORCYCLE NOTES

Arrangements are being made between motorcyclists of Kansas and the bankers' association of that state to establish a motorcycle patrol to catch bank robbers. It is the plan to have a captain appointed for each congressional district and a lieutenant for each town. If a bank is robbed the lieutenant will immediately be notified. He will then call out all of the riders and they will patrol the roads in an effort to find some trace of the robbers.

* * *

The Federation of American Motorcyclists has continued to make rapid advancement during the past year, more than 5,000 new members having been added to the organization during 1913. This makes a total of over 25,000 motorcyclists who have joined the national association since its organization ten years ago.

E. G. Baker of Indianapolis recently broke the world's hour motorcycle record, riding on the Phoenix, Ariz., track. Baker covered 1,660 yards, the former hour record being 1,100 yards.

Miss Minnie Schuerger has the distinction of being the first woman in Washington, D. C., to secure a license to operate a motorcycle.

HUDSON Six-40
$1750
(f. o. b. Detroit)

This New Light Six-40 Came Yesterday

The Most Talked-About Car of the Year

Yesterday came the new HUDSON Six-40 — the car which marks a new era in Sixes. It is the greatest innovation in all HUDSON history. Come at once and see it.

The Six That You've Waited For

Here is a Six, with 123-inch wheel base, which weighs under 3,000 pounds. That's very much lighter than equal-powered Fours.

Here is a Six, with small bore and long stroke, which consumes less fuel than any same-class Four.

And here is a Six of the most distinguished type which sells much below any comparable Four.

Think of that! The Six has long held every other advantage, and now it excels in economy.

The Six is the wanted car. Nobody really doubts that. Practically all high-grade American makers now build Sixes alone, or Sixes for best.

But the price, weight and operative cost have barred the Six to thousands. Now the HUDSON Six-40 takes down those bars.

Here is the lightest car of its size and power. It has the lowest operative cost. The price is below any Four of its class. And that car is a Six.

This is Howard E. Coffin's latest achievement. The same Mr. Coffin who, years ago, brought down the cost of Fours.

Thirty Attractive Features

New streamline body.
Seats from 4 to 7 passengers. Two disappearing tonneau seats.
Hand-buffed leather upholstery.
"One-Man" Pantasote top. Quick adjustable side curtains enveloped in the top.
Gasoline tank in cowl dash. All instruments and gauges within reach of driver.
Extra tires carried ahead of the front door.
Integral windshield, rain-vision, ventilating.
Delco patented system of electric starting and lighting. 11-inch parabolic headlights with special dimming attachment. Electric tail light, dash light and portable inspection light.
Concealed hinges. Concealed speedometer gear. Speedometer sunk in cowl apron.
Wheelbase, 123 inches.
Weight, 2,950 pounds.
Tires, 34x4. Demountable rims with one extra rim.
Left side drive.
Electric horn. License carriers. Tire holders. All tools complete.
Entrance to front seat from either side.

The Handsomest Car of the Year

This new car has the same streamline body as the latest HUDSON Six-54. And all must agree that these two cars are the handsomest cars of the year.

They follow the latest European practice—no angles at the dash. All the accepted world standards are brought out in this car. The finish, the equipment and upholstery accord with the latest ideals. Up to six months ago there was no car at any price which offered so many attractions.

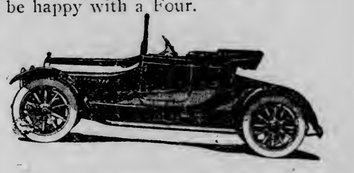

This is the Gabriolet—a new type of roadster—completely enclosed for winter, price $1,950

Yet the price is $1750 f. o. b. Detroit. It will open your eyes to see what a car can be sold at that modest price.

Come, Ride in It

Come and find out what luxury of motion one gets in this ideal Six. Note the smoothness, the flexibility, the quick acceleration, the total lack of vibration. Note how slow you can go, how quickly pick up, and what grades you can climb without changing from high gear. You will never again be happy with a Four.

This is the same Gabriolet with the top and side windows down.

The advance sale on this car has broken every HUDSON record. The first month's output was sold to users before the the first car was completed. The December output will be only 550—hardly more than one car for each HUDSON dealer. So any man who may want this car early should come and see it now.

Made by Hudson Motor Car Co.
Detroit, Michigan

See also the New HUDSON Six-54

The new Six-54 is a seven-passenger car with 135-inch wheel base. The tires are 36x4½.

The design and equipment differ but slightly from the HUDSON Six-40 described above. And the world's best opinion agrees that this body type marks the coming ideal car.

The HUDSON Six-54 last season became the most popular Six in America. It proved that the utmost in a Six could be sold at a modest price.

This season's Six-54, with its stream-line body, gives a new ideal of a distingushed car. Yet the price has been brought down to $2,250, f. o. b. Detroit.

The HUDSON Six-40 is for men who want modest size and power. The Six-54 is for men who want big cars, powerful and roomy.

One offers the lowest price ever made on a high-grade Six. The other offers at a modest price all that costly cars can give.

Please come and compare them. See which you prefer. In all respects, both represent the highest HUDSON standards.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF THE AUTOMOBILE WORLD

A careful tabulation of the types of cars exhibited at the recent New York automobile shows affords some interesting comparisons.

The exhibition of American cars was held at Grand Central Palace and foreign cars at the Hotel Astor.

At the Palace, 75 makers exhibited gasoline cars while twelve foreign makes were exhibited at the Importers' show.

At the Palace, forty-six makers showed six-cylinder cars while fifty-eight makers showed fours.

At the foreign display, the entire twelve exhibitors showed four-cylinder models, while but one of these makers also showed a six-cylinder type.

At the Palace there was a total of 104 six-cylinder cars shown and 132 four-cylinder cars. At the foreign show there were three six-cylinder cars and forty-five four-cylinder cars on the floors.

At the Palace, seventeen makers showed six-cylinder types exclusively, while twenty-nine makers showed fours exclusively.

At the foreign show, eleven of the twelve exhibitors showed four-cylinder cars exclusively, while the other one exhibitor showed both sixes and fours. One foreign maker showed also an eight-cylinder car.

"The farmers, manufacturers and merchants of the United States are annually wasting the price of 12,500 heavy duty motor trucks by sticking to horses," says John N. Willys, president of the Willy-Overland company, Toledo, Ohio. "And this waste is accomplished in only one feature of the maintenance of horse and wagon transportation methods—that of supply harness.

"There are 25,000,000 horses and mules in the United States, and the very low estimate of $5 per animal is the cost of harness alone. This is a total of $120,000,000 a year spent for this part of transportation upkeep. By the use of motor trucks at least half of these horses and mules could be done away with, for it is a poor truck that will not take the place of two horses, under any condition. Thus we could save $67,500,000 in harness costs alone and this amount at $5,000 per vehicle would purchase 12,500 trucks.

"As a matter of fact the saving would be much larger than these figures indicate, for the heavy duty Garford trucks which we sell for $5,000 will replace eight to ten horses each. This has been proved by scores of careful business men in over 200 lines, and as a result, every man who has used a Garford truck is an avowed enemy of the horse."

No one questions that the trend of the auto industry for the last few years has been toward the creation of a light, strong car that would carry in comfort five people and sell at a price that was not prohibitive to the majority of people.

Harry R. Redford, vice president and general manager of the Cartercar company of Pontiac, Mich., recently voiced the reasons his concern saw fit to bring out its new model "seven", five-passenger touring car.

"Naturally we always endeavor to keep close tab on what the majority of the automobile buying public desires, and try to cater to their wants," said Mr. Redford. "An exhaustive study of the situation brought forth the fact that there was a big field for a roomy five-passenger car that would sell at a price not to exceed $1,250.

"It must be a car with plenty of wheel base to permit five adult persons to occupy it without crowding, and it must be powerful enough to tote its capacity any place its driver asks it to. This is quite a considerable problem even for our expert designers, with twelve years of experience behind them."

The Universal truck, being sold on the easy payment plan by the Mutual Auto company, has attracted a great deal of attention in the Northwest. It has beauty, combined with its wonderful strength and flexibility, which has gained this truck many admirers throughout this territory. The Mutual Auto company has placed two trucks and has received a number of inquiries.

E. J. Filiatrault stated yesterday that the Mutual Auto company expects, basing his opinion on orders already received, to sell at least 300 Fords in 1914.

Some of the Oldsmobiles that have been purchased for spring delivery will soon be in the city and their owners are looking forward with a great deal of pleasure in driving these cars.

After covering more than 75,000 miles during the last four years, a Studebaker car is now carrying Clayte Sells and family of Anderson, Ind., from their home in Miami, Fla. This is the second round trip this car has made over this course.

To settle an argument as to how far a Franklin Six-Thirty could run on one gallon of gasoline, William S. Lee of Wilkesbarre, Pa., made two tests recently. After draining the gasoline tank and running the motor until it stopped, one gallon of gasoline was poured into the tank. The car was then driven with two passengers around the city of Wilkesbarre and when it finally stopped the speedometer registered 29.6 miles. Two days later the same car with four passengers went up a six-mile incline on second gear, and on until it had covered 24.4 miles on one gallon of gasoline.

SKIDDING AND ITS PREVENTION.

"Carelessness and fright are the two big factors in most bad skidding accidents," says J. T. Peacha, Jr., of the Interstate Auto company. "When the streets are slippery the best of drivers will have their troubles unless they use caution.

"And the first rule of caution, I would say, is to drive so that the sudden application of brakes will not be necessary at any time. For when the brakes go on hard and suddenly, there is going to be an automobile doing a tango immediately.

"I warn all beginners—and some older drivers, too—to approach all street crossings with the car under control without the brakes being used. Let the engine do the braking to slow up for a crossing. Then put on the brakes easily. If the car shows a tendency to swing around release the brakes immediately.

"And then here is the one big vital thing to do. Turn the front wheels in the direction to which the rear of the machine is skidding. It is instinct to turn the wheels in the opposite direction. The result is that the skid is accentuated.

"When driving along the road and there is trouble on the right side it is instinct to turn the wheels away from it. That is the reason the beginner will invariably make a skid worse."

GIVING THE "ONCE OVER" TO THE CURRENT SPORT TOPICS

A Big New York Sporting Syndicate Will Offer Frank Gotch a Small Fortune to Wrestle Gustav Fristensky.

The Federal League's Offer to Ty Cobb Is a Daring and Audacious Scheme--- Brown After the Good Ones.

BY BRUCE.

GUSTAV FRISTENSKY and Frank Gotch. From J. H. Herman yesterday came the statement that a New York syndicate headed by Harry Pollock is prepared to offer the Humboldt farmer $25,000 to come out and meet the man who looks like the greatest wrestler the Old World has sent to the United States during the past five years. If Gotch accepts the lucrative offer—a small fortune to most men—it will be the first time that Frank A. Gotch has defended his title since the afternoon of Sept. 4, 1911, when the pride of Humboldt met and defeated decisively George Hackenschmidt.

"Fristensky is perhaps the greatest wrestler next to Gotch and Zbyszko," writes Herman from New York, where the endeavor is being made to get Gotch to consent to the meeting with the Bohemian giant. "Gotch has always declared that he had beaten Zbyszko and there was no need for another contest. With Fristensky it is different. We have waited for Europe to send us a great wrestler. Well the great wrestler is here and the money is ready for Gotch, if he will come out and meet this man.

"Americus fell before the remarkable ability of Fristensky. George Lurich, the gigantic Russian, was drawn as an opponent by Fristensky in the international championships of New York. Lurich was also handily beaten by the latest sensation of the wrestling world.

"Mahmout was a sort of official trial horse for Gotch. Frank told any of the foreigners that wanted a contest to go and take on the wonderful Yussiff Mahmout. We will never know, naturally, whether Fristensky could defeat Mahmout. The Bulgarian was a wonderful wrestler. But Fristensky will meet any man in the world Gotch will name, on the condition that Gotch will give the winner of the contest a chance at the title.

"The public doesn't want Gotch to meet lemons any more that Gotch cares to meet them. Fristensky will meet any one named by Gotch, will wrestle any man in the world, and will go through with any fair and reasonable proposition to show the public that he is one of the greatest wrestlers in the world."

Are They Bluffing?

AS to the Federal league. At first it was taken as a joke; now some of the magnates of the two large leagues are losing sleep in planning ways and means of fighting the invader of the more or less sacred precincts of the national game.

The offer to Ty Cobb. If the Feds grab off Tyrus and place the cold and unfeeling $60,000 in escrow, even the most doubting believer in the future of the league, even its most ardent detractor will be forced to admit that some awfully big stuff is being put over.

This is an age of achievement—this isn't going to be a speech. We gasp and grasp and then quickly forget. Our minds are being impressed so often during the week that we learn to forget quickly and easily. Some of us have almost forgotten the signing of Joe Tinker by the Federal league officials.

But Ty Cobb for five more or less glorious years of baseball life and labor, with the effulgent salary of $15,000 per annum—and with $60,000 laid away in some strong and safe place—well, some of the doubting ones would have to admit that there is the possibility that the new league will make a fairly pretentious start.

If the Georgia Peach signs there will be a shout that will be heard around the world. It will be the biggest event since Kelly and Clarkson were sold by the old Chicago White Stockings. It will be worth much money in advertising to the Feds. The scheme to sign Cobb is an audacious one—and the ultimate end will prove of inestimable interest.

We'd Like to Do It.

WE have been appointed a member of the reception committee that will travel from Chicago to New York in a special train to give a royal and presumably vociferous welcome to Charles A. Comiskey and James J. Callahan of the White Sox as they heave in sight upon the day of March 6 upon the S. S. Mauretania.

On March 4 the special will leave Chicago. A special tug will be chartered by the friends of the noblest Roman of them all, and will steam out and meet the incoming liner. On the evening of March 7 a big banquet will be given for the White Sox chief and the members of the world touring teams.

Several Duluthians, staunch friends of one of the finest characters in baseball, have been requested to serve upon the committee and it is very probable that Duluth will be represented when the home comers are royally welcomed back to the old U. S. A.

The Returning Brown.

PAL BROWN may meet Ray Bronson before leaving the antipodes, according to the contents of a letter that has been received by a friend of the little Hibbingite. Pal is due to sail from the Never Never land on Feb. 8, and it is expected that he will reach home around the first of March.

It is said that Wolgast, Rivers and Cross are three of the lightweights that the Minnesota boy wants to meet. Johnny Tillman of Minneapolis has been coming to the front rapidly during the past year, and so anxious is Johnny for a tangle with Brown that it would not be surprising if the wish of the Minneapolitan was gratified.

FRISTENSKY WINS AGAIN

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 17.—Gustav Fristensky, the great Bohemian champion wrestler, last night decisively defeated Raoul De Boulanger of France in two straight falls. The battle was the fastest ever seen in Baltimore. Fristensky won the first fall in 28:10 with a crotch and nelson and the second and deciding fall with a scissors around the head in twenty-four minutes.

In the defeat of the big Frenchman Fristensky showed that he is one of the greatest wrestlers in the world, for he worked his opponent into position by clever feinting and his speed prevented De Boulanger from getting a dangerous hold.

Accompanied by his manager, Fristensky left for Duluth at midnight, where the winner of the international tournament and challenger of Gotch is to meet Paul Martinson, the big Danish heavyweight, on Wednesday evening.

BOXING ARENA

Superior, Tuesday, Jan. 20th. The first big heavyweight contest ever staged in the Northwest. Fred Fulton of Minneapolis vs. Mike Burns, New Orleans; ten rounds, at 215 pounds; and two other good contests. 8:30 p. m. Admission, $1.00, $1.50 and $2.00.

WEST IMPROVES IN ATHLETICS

New York, Jan. 17.—The All-American track teams selected at the end of each athletic season by James E. Sullivan, secretary of the Amateur Athletic union, were announced here last night. The names of 58 athletes appear in the composition of the three teams, there being several duplications in the All-American and All-College teams.

The Eastern clubs, colleges and schools placed 37 athletes to the West's 21, but the margin is less this year than heretofore, bearing out the assertion that the standard of track and field athletics is improving more rapidly in the West than in the East.

Secretary Sullivan stated that in selecting his 1913 American, college and scholastic teams, he had named a different athlete for each event, not because in several cases one man was not capable of winning two events but in order that such a combination might be secured as would permit the entry of at least three men in each event were these All-American teams required to meet similar combinations in national or international competition.

Interstate Billiard Game.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 17.—Charles McCourt of Pittsburg defeated Charles Morin of Chicago in the interstate billiard league game here last night by a score of 50 to 43. The game required 105 innings.

Pennsy Wins at Swimming.

Philadelphia, Jan. 17.—The University of Pennsylvania swimming team defeated Columbia university here last night by 38 points to 18. In the water polo contest, Columbia won by 24 points to 22.

FEDERALS IN SESSION

Arranging for Final Campaign for Signing Big Leaguers.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Owners and managers of the Federal league gathered here today to discuss plans for the coming season and to arrange their final campaign for the signing of major league baseball players. Several players who are said to be considering Federal league offers were expected to confer with the managers of the various clubs of the circuit.

One object of the meeting is to avoid having the different club managers competing for players not yet signed. Major leaguers who are still eligible probably will be apportioned off to the different clubs.

George Perring, who played third base for the Columbus club of the American association last season, and Catcher Owens of the Minneapolis American association team, were in conference with Federal league managers today. Perring is said to be wanted by Otto Knabe, manager of the Baltimore Federal club. Owens was at the league headquarters yesterday, but did not reach an agreement with President James A. Gilmore. It was intimated, however, that the differences were only slight.

SAYS JOE TINKER TO MR. EBBETS:

"Sorry, But I'm a Federal Leaguer" and Refuses to Sign.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Charles H. Ebbets, president of the Brooklyn National league club, came here yesterday and learned direct from Joe Tinker that the former Cincinnati manager would not report to the Brooklyn club next season. Ebbets stopped here on his way back from Kansas City, where Outfielders Wheat, Stengel, Riggert and Pitcher Ragan signed their contracts.

"I'm sorry Mr. Ebbets, but I'm a Federal leaguer now," Tinker said when the Brooklyn president asked him about his contract.

Ebbets said he would take no action until the season began and then would confer with the directors of the club to determine whether steps should be taken in the civil courts to force Tinker to play with the National league club under the reserve clause of his contract, with Cincinnati.

Ebbets said unless Tinker joins the Brooklyns, the Brooklyn club will lose $15,000, the purchase price paid the Cincinnati club for the player's services. The $10,000 which was to be given Tinker as a bonus as soon as he signed with Ebbets' club, is still being held for him and will be turned over to him should he desert the Federal league and return to the National.

Keating a Yankee Again.

New York, Jan. 17.—Ray Keating, the big pitcher of the New York Americans, came to New York from his winter home in Bridgeport, Conn., yesterday and signed a contract for 1914.

GOPHERS LOSE FIRST GAME

Basket Ball Five Falls Before Northwestern; Then Defeats Carleton.

Athletic Board Recognizes Hockey and Votes Financial Aid.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the opening game of the conference basket ball season, played at the university armory last Saturday evening, Northwestern university defeated Minnesota by a score of 21 to 20.

The contest was closely fought throughout, the playing in the first half being clearly in favor of the Gopher team, while during the second half the play was more evenly divided, first one team showing up brilliantly and then the other. The contest was not decided until the last moment of play, when G. Whittel of the Purple five shot a beautiful basket from the field. The scoring was started by Northwestern when H. Whittle dropped a pretty basket after but a few minutes of play. Capt. Stadsvold evened up the score a moment later by making a difficult shot from the center of the floor. This seemed to inspire the Minnesota men, who redoubled their efforts, and ended the first half with a score of 14 to 6 in their favor.

Purple Team Braces Up.

Northwestern took a brace in the second half, and by a quick succession of field goals, aided by five free throws, obtained the coveted lead which Minnesota was unable to recover.

Gophers Defeat Carlton.

On Tuesday afternoon about forty men, comprising the varsity quintet and Minnesota rooters, boarded a special Dan Patch car for Northfield, where the varsity five took the Carleton college into camp by the score of 23 to 15. This evening Minnesota plays Wisconsin at Madison.

* * *

For the first time in history hockey received official notice at Minnesota Wednesday, when the athletic board voted $25 to give the winter sport a start. A student appeared before the meeting with a plea for the recognition of the game, and so strongly did he express himself that the donation was granted. It was understood that if the game meets with sufficient popularity on the campus, further financial aid will be given by the board. The first appropriation will be used to furnish the necessary equipment. There are high-class hockey players at the university, and Wednesday's donation is expected to boom the game at Minnesota as it never has been boomed before. There is no skating rink on the campus, and the board does not feel able to provide one this season. Tryouts for the Gopher team will be held on the ice at Van Cleve park in Southeast Minneapolis. Games will be arranged with Twin City teams and played at the Hippodrome.

Dance Problem Sidestepped.

The question of dancing after basket ball games at the university remains in statu quo. At Wednesday's meeting the question was sidestepped by the board. Alan J. McBean, manager of athletics, said last night that he did not know when the proposition would be threshed out. The Gophers do not play at home again until Feb. 6 and the manager said he thought definite action on the dancing question would be taken prior to that time. The athletic board will meet again next Wednesday but board members said they did not expect a settlement of the terpsichorean argument then.

Arrange Football Schedule.

After much discussion, and several disagreements, a preliminary football schedule has been arranged for the 1914 Gopher eleven. With one exception Minnesota will meet the same teams as in 1913. North Dakota will be dropped and to make up the seven regular conference games, Iowa will be substituted. The arranging of the new schedule has caused no little concern among the conference colleges, and nearly resulted in a breach in the relations between Wisconsin, Minnesota and Chicago. As the games between these three colleges are the most important on the respective schedules it is always desirable to have as much rest as possible between the games. In 1912 Minnesota had but one week in which to prepare for the Chicago game after their struggle with the Badgers, and the same was true of Chicago in 1913. Both of these universities claimed that in 1914 it would be Wisconsin's turn to accept the consecutive dates for her two big games, and although Wisconsin resisted in every possible way, there is no alternative but to accept if she continues her conference schedule. Although no Eastern game has been scheduled, the teams Minnesota will play represent the cream of the conference colleges at least and with Iowa substituted for North Dakota, and reports from Ames an dother conference colleges indicating greater strength than ever before. Minnesota's 1914 schedule is bound to present more interest than the games last fall.

LANKY BOB'S CASE.

New York, Jan. 17.—Bob Fitzsimmons, once the world's champion heavyweight boxer, now 51 years old, grinned derisively yesterday as he listened to counsel for the state athletic commission argue that he was too old to re-enter the prize ring. He has appealed from the prohibition of the commission to the supreme court and Justice Seabury heard the concluding arguments in his case.

Fitzsimmons said the state had no more right to prevent his boxing than it had to keep a preacher of the same age out of the pulpit. Justice Seabury reserved decision.

Will Manage Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 17.—Robert (Brownie) Gessler, former big leaguer and baseball coach, today signed a contract to manage the Pittsburg team of the Federal league, according to announcement made last night by Secretary William McCullough in the absence of President John B. Barbour. The terms of the contract were not made known.

SPORTING EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK AS SEEN BY THE HERALD CARTOONIST

THE M'LEOD RINK WINS FIVE STRAIGHT GAMES

Minneapolis Four Makes Best One-Day Record of Spiel.

Finals of All Events Scheduled to Be Played Before Night.

Starting in the International event in the first draw of the day, the bonny Scotch McLeod rink of Minneapolis yesterday played through the five draws of the day and registered five straight wins, hanging up the most brilliant record of the spiel to date.

Starting in with the International the Minneapolitans took Tom McGillvray gayly down the line to defeat. In the Duluth Curling club event McLeod and his gallant confreres defeated the troublesome Clough Gates of Superior, and in the Minneapolis event Johnny Oldham was given a terrific licking.

Coming back to the Duluth event once more, the ancient and honorable Tam O'shanter Cameron of the rival city of St. Paul, was given a severe pummeling. In the final event of the day for the McLeods, Schiller was set down in the Patrick event and the Scots journeyed joyfully toward their hotel, causing the stret car conductor and the street car passengers to wonder by the enthusiastic singing of "A Wee Doch and Dorie."

It was one grand record and will go down as the greatest one-day accomplishment of the spiel.

The wins of yesterday placed McLeod of Minneapolis in the finals of the Duluth Curling club event, in the eights of the Patrick-Duluth event, and in the fours of the Minneapolis Curling club event.

Play Far Advanced.

Casually sweeping the draws with the eye of inquiry, one finds that J. Gates of Superior, Brewer, Dinham and Oldham are neck and neck at the head of the stretch of the eights in the Western, taking the dust from the heels of that gallant Scot, Sandy McNabb of Grand Rapids, who is in the finals of this event.

Carson, McIvor, Hurdon and J. Gates are in the fours of the St. Paul Jobbers, and in the Patrick we find Reedal and Langtry keeping company in the fours, and McIvor, Hunter, Brewer and Williams fighting it out in the eights.

McNabb and John McLeod are in the finals of the Duluth event, and in the Minneapolis event McLeod and Clough Gates are in the fours and Brother Joel Gates is in the finals.

That at a glance is the standing of the spiel to date.

In the early draw of today there will be further elimination toward the bitter end. John McLeod and Clough Gates are playing in the fours of the Minneapolis, and in the Duluth-Patrick event Brewer and Williams are fighting it out in the eights. In the St. Paul Jobbers' event McIvor and Carson, two of the strong Canadian contenders, are having it out in the fours.

McNabb of Grand Rapids won three games and lost one in the survival play of yesterday. The Brewer-Whytes won two and lost one. Joel Gates of Superior is making a grand stand finish of the spiel, winning three games yesterday and taking Brother Clough into camp in the St. Paul Jobbers' event.

With promise of somewhat better ice for the last day of the spiel, officials are hopeful that the close of the final day will see the last game out of the way.

CALUMET TAKES SECOND FROM SOO

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The final score in the hockey game played here last evening was: Calumet, 6; Soo, 5. This was the second of a series, and it was one of the fastest games seen here in several years.

At the end of the first half the score stood 3 to 1 in favor of the Soo and the second period began with a dash. Calumet in this period started to score almost immediately, and put the puck through the Soo goal three times in rapid succession.

This was soon tied, but just before the period closed Calumet again scored twice, winning the game. The lineup was as follows:

Soo—		Calumet—
Taillon	g	Monett
Thompsett	p	Rompf
Murray	c	R. Traglown
Godin	r	Reynolds
Campbell	lw	J. Treglown
Bailey	lw	St. George

HOCKEY RACE IS VERY CLOSE

Standing of Duluth Amateur Hockey league teams:

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Northern Hardware	2	0	1.000
*Lake Hardware	2	0	1.000
Big Duluths	1	0	1.000
Duluth Univer. Millers	0	1	.000
*Kelley Hardware	0	2	.000
Bagleys	0	2	.000

*Game protested last Wednesday by Kelleys.

The Duluth Amateur Hockey league got away with a good start, only two games being postponed on account of warm weather, both being scheduled for the curling club rink. The teams having postponed games to play are as follows: Big Duluths vs. Duluth Universal Millers and Northerns vs. Kelleys. All games have been very close and it gives promise of being a great season. The biggest surprise of the season has been the great showing of the Kelleys against the Big Duluths.

TY COBB HEARS NEWS OF OFFER

Augusta, Ga., Jan. 17.—Ty Cobb was told today at Royston that the Federal league club in Chicago had offered him $75,000 for five years, with the first year's salary to be paid in advance. Cobb said he did not care to make a statement until he returned to Augusta Tuesday or Wednesday.

"I'll tell you all about it then," said he, but did not intimate what he would do.

TOMMY MURPHY LOSES CHANCE

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 17.—The championship boxing match between Willie Ritchie, the lightweight title holder and Tommy Murphy of New York, scheduled for Jan. 30, is declared off by Ritchie. Dr. John Galaway, a physician of standing, informed Ritchie, after an examination that his left Achilles tendon was badly strained and the sheath of the tendon seriously inflamed.

It might improve temporarily, he said, but exercise would be sure to make it worse.

GUNBOAT SMITH REFUSED A LICENSE.

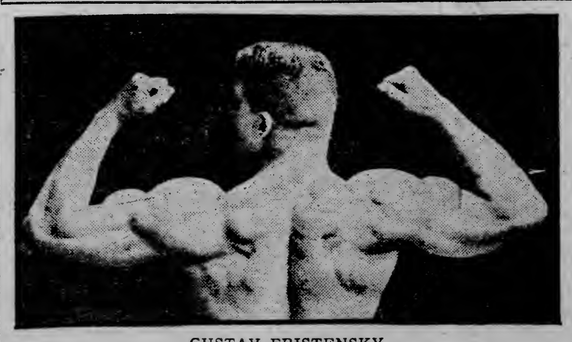

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Edward I. "Gunboat" Smith, the heavyweight pugilist, and Miss Helen Remley were refused a marriage license here yesterday. The clerk informed Smith that he must secure permission of the guardian of Miss Remley, who is 17 years old, and from New York. The pair said they would get this consent, and return today for the license.

The Illinois law requires girls under 18 years old to show the license clerk the written consent of her parents or guardian to the marriage. Miss Remley is an orphan without a guardian.

The Cathedrals Win.

The Cathedral high school basket ball team of Duluth last evening defeated the All-Star Superior high school team by the score of 20 to 6. The Duluthians excelled at every angle of the game.

DULUTH IS DEFEATED

Portage Lake Hockey Team Takes Second Game, 1 to 0.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 17.—The Portage Lake hockey team took the second contest of the Duluth series here last evening, winning out by the score of 1 to 0. One of the unusual details of the game was the infliction of penalties by Referee Wilson, there being but four Portage Lake players on the ice at one period during the first half.

During the first half neither of the teams seemed to show any aggressiveness or speed. The half was slow and uninteresting, the players seeming sluggish. In the second period the style of play changed and some real hockey was played.

At the termination of nineteen minutes of play, with most of the members of the vitising team clustered around their net guarding the goal, Haas brought the puck out from behind the net and effected a pretty combination play to Exley, who shot the only score of the contest.

Portage Lake Strong.

In team play the locals excelled the visitors. Very few combination plays were made by the Duluth seven, for the reason that the excellent defense of the Portage Lakers broke up the majority of combinations before they were fairly started.

Beleck, playing his second game with the Duluth team at goal, proved one of the stars of the contest. His play was exceptional and had it not been for the clever play of the new member of the team the score would have been more one-sided.

The lineup:

Portage Lake—		—Duluth.
Haug	g	Beleck
Trathan	p	Linder
Hogan	cp	Pryor
Sicotte	r	Barkell
Hass	c	Kahler
McCurdy	rg	Olson
Exley	lw	Bogan

Officials—Referee, Shields; judge of play, Wilson; timers, Stoyle, Rogers.

Summary — Penalties: McCurdy, 1 minute; Exley, 7; Haas, 6; Hogan, 2; Bogan, 4; Olson, 4; Pryor, 2; Barkell, 4; Linder, 2.

DULUTH LOSES AT BASKET BALL

Cloquet Quint Beats High School Team 19 to 13.

At the Washington school gymnasium last evening the Cloquet high school basket ball team defeated the Duluth Central quint by the score of 19 to 13. The victory of last evening is the first time in the athletic history of the two schools that Duluth has lost a contest to the Cloquet school.

Patterson, the center of the visiting team, was the star of the contest, and it was largely owing to the individual efforts of this player that the victory went to the Cloquet team. Patterson is one of the best basket shooters seen on the local floor for some time and he seemed able to shoot them from all portions of the floor, easily eluding the guards at frequent intervals.

Kuiti played a strong game for Central, being opposed to one of the fastest men on the visiting team.

As it was the first game of the season for Duluth, it is not to be expected that the team work would be smooth, which it was not by any means. In the finer points of the game the visitors had it on the locals.

Between the halves the Freshmen-Sophomore combination team of Duluth defeated the Proctor team by the score of 34 to 8, the Duluth youngsters putting up a rousing contest.

The line-ups of the two games:

Duluth—		—Cloquet.
Larson, (capt.)	f	(capt.) Boquist
Forziach	f	Campbell
Collatz, Craig	c	Patterson
Lawrenz	g	Stevens
Stevens	g	Kuitu

Preshies and Sophs— —Proctor.

Peterson	f	(capt.) Smith
Karon (capt.)	f	Ruppold
O'Brien	c	Gilliman

Field baskets—Collatz, 3; Larson, 2; Lawrenz, 1; Patterson, 4; Campbell, 3; Karon, 8; O'Brien, 4; Peterson, 3; Farrah. Free throws—Campbell, 5; Collatz, 1; Ruppold, 8; Peterson, 2. Referees, Kitch and Wilkins; timekeeper, Young.

LOOPS LOOP IN AIR INVOLUNTARILY.

New York, Jan. 17.—Sergeant Samuel Katzman, an artillery man stationed at West Point, looped the loop in an aeroplane yesterday and established a record for this feat among military aviators in the United States. Although the exploit was involuntary, Sergeant Katzman said he thought he could do it again without difficulty. The aviator, who is a novice in training at an aviation school, was flying 2,000 feet above Fort Wadsworth on Staten Island when his machine turned over and dropped 500 feet. Katzman stuck to his seat, and in righting the aeroplane made a complete loop. He landed unhurt, but considerably confused by his unexpected maneuver.

Lyceum

George Kleine's latest photo drama success "Antony and Cleopatra" will open a five days' engagement at the Lyceum Sunday.

Historically it is the most important production that has yet been presented in this country, and the story has an equally powerful attraction to all readers and students. In point of spectacular beauty it has never been approached. Made by the Cines company, which made "Quo Vadis," it has all the bigness that characterized that wonderful subject, coupled with the realization of dramatic romanticism afforded by Egypt and the famous love tragedy of Antony and Cleopatra. It is superbly acted, with many of the original "Quo Vadis" players in the cast. Sig. Antony Novelli, who will be remembered as Vinitius in the earlier production, appears as the soldier-lover, Marc Antony. Sig. Ignazio Lupi is cast for Augustus Caesar Octavius; Signora Giovanna Teribili Gonzales is the beautiful Cleopatra, while Signora Elsa Lenard appears as Octavia, wife of Antony, and Signorina Matilde di Marzio as Charmian, the handsome maid who paid her life as a penalty for daring to fall in love with Antony. Many of the original "Quo Vadis" players can be recognized among the minor characters in Cleopatra, particularly in the great senate scene. This is only another proof of the perfection to be found in all the Cines pictures. George Kleine's production will be seen in this city at the Lyceum beginning Sunday night for an engagement of five days.

A dance which out-tangoes the tango and goes a step or two beyond the Maxie will be introduced for the first time here when Alice Lloyd appears at the Lyceum theater next Friday and Saturday, matinee both days. This dance is called the X-Ray Dance, and is spectacularly produced for the purpose of revealing more than mere grace and agility. It is an original production by Tom McNaughton and became a sensation in London as the principal attraction to "Over There," the last of the London revues. This dance cannot be executed in a parlor and probably would not be likely to find its way into the fashionable cafes. It requires for its presentation an intricate electrical equipment operated by six men especially engaged therefore.

The dancers are clad in white silk and diaphonous veilings. Floods of light are aimed from every possible angle and so focused that on the dancers in the center wher the rays meet the effect is as near the actual scientific X-ray as a theatrical producer could or would dare to show for purposes of entertainment.

No one has ever criticified the dance as improper but it has been reviewed as the most daring of an era in which the dance has crept and leaped further and further from the old methods. The coloring and lighting effects change during the progress of the numbers to throw various effects by the penetrating lights of different colors and power. To enhance the spectacle the dancers' costumes are wired with insulated current carriers from batteries, so small that the woman wears them concealed in her hair and the man his pocket. The dancers are especially imported from England for the American revealment which has been copyrighted by William Morris.

Gaby Deselys, the most talked of, the highest priced, and the most richly gowned woman of the stage, comes to the Lyceum theater on Sunday, Jan. 25, for one night only, surrounded by the Winter Garden company, in a modern three-act musical comedy entitled "The Little Parisienne." Her supporting company will include her dancing partner, Harry Pilcer; Forrest Huff, who will be remembered as the original Chocolate Soldier; Fritzi Von Busing, who was seen as Marcia in the same company; Edgar Atchison-Ely, Louise Meyers, Charles Angelo, Hattie Kneitel, Percy Lyndal and a large chorus.

For a woman of her age, Gaby Deslys has arisen to extreme heights of popularity, having won for herself on the stage in this country, as well as in Paris, London, Berlin and Vienna, an envied position. She is recognized, as probably every one knows, as the highest priced foreign artist who has ever visited this country. Her role in "The Little Parisienne" gives her an opportunity to display her talents as an ingenue leading woman, as well as to dance and sing. She will speak and sing entirely in English, with the exception of one song, which she will sing in French. With her dancing partner, Harry Pilcer, she will do four or five specialties, including the "Gaby Glide." Several of these specialties she has performed with startling effect in London, where she has just closed a ten weeks' engagement at the Palace.

There is much interest—a natural condition—in Gaby's gowns which, for her present engagement here, number nearly two hundred. All of them came from Paris, where they were made by the leading dressmakers of the world's chief market of women's attire. Gaby takes great delight and derives much pleasure in her costumes. Realizing that the public expects to see her gowned in the very latest fashion, and not satisfied with wearing one or two costumes at a performance, she changes as often as nine or ten times, and she never wears the same gown twice in the same city.

Also at every performance she will wear something new and striking in the way of jewels. Having such a large collection to select from, Gaby will have little difficulty in selecting a daily assortment. Pearls, however, are her favorite gems, because, she declares, they are correct at any time. Usually she wears a magnificent double string of pearls during the greater part of every performance.

Not satisfied with startling her audience by her stylish gowns and the display of her jewels, Gaby has worked with conscientious care to perfect herself as a dancer who can hold her place with any American. When she first came over she appeared in a brief sketch, but later she was given the leading part in a musical production. This was after she had mastered English, and during her visit here she will both sing and speak in this tongue. As a matter of fact, she rarely uses French even off the stage except (and this should not be held against her) when she speaks harshly to the gentlemen of the customs department.

Bayard Veiller's intensely interesting new American play "Within the Law," which the American Play company is soon to present in this city at the Lyceum, is described by the critics in New York and Chicago, in both of which cities it has scored the theatrical sensation of the year, as the most attractive dramatic novelty the native stage has produced in a decade. The story deals with the struggle of a young woman to rehabilitate herself in society after serving a term in prison for a crime of which she is innocent.

Orpheum

Maud Lambert, known from coast to coast as a musical comedy prima donna, and Ernest Ball, composer of popular songs, will headline the Duluth Orpheum bill next week.

The name of Ernest Ball is familiar to almost every person in America who has sung a popular song. He composed "Love Me and the World Is Mine," and a dozen other songs almost as well known.

Miss Lambert's last engagement in the musical comedy field was with Eddie Foy in "Over the River," but she has been seen in the prima donna roles of a dozen other musical comedy successes. These two people have established themselves firmly in the vaudeville field since they made their first venture. They present some of Mr. Ball's newest songs, and the act is said to be a most entertaining and enjoyable little musical interlude.

"Twenty Minutes' Layover at Alfalfa Junction" is the name of a comedy musical and dancing turn which will be offered by Frank Milton and the De Long sisters. The scene shows a rural station where two vaudeville performers, members of a "sister act," are compelled to wait for a train. Their dialogue with the station agent provides the comedy for the act, and the agent's curiosity about "play actors" gives an opportunity for the sisters to introduce several songs, dances and specialties. The skit is by J. A. Murphy, known for his letters written over the signature of "Adam Sowergrub." He is said to have provided twenty minutes of first-class comedy.

Whether one ordinarily likes aerialists or not, it is claimed that one cannot help but appreciate the work of the Jungmann Family, three comely young women and two men. The girls dance, whirl and skip the rope while balanced on a tight wire eight feet above the ground. Three or four of them are on the wire at a time and perform tricks which require great skill and sureness of eye and muscle. The most difficult feat of all is when one of the men performs an aerial back somersault, alighting on his feet on the wire and recovering his balance. The Jungmanns have been a sensation over the Orpheum circuit this season and they are expected to show Orpheum patrons something new in the line of aerial acrobatics.

Sam Barton nearly rides a bicycle. He might be called a comedy cyclist, but is said to be a comedy pantomimist first and a cyclist afterwards. His act has been a genuine comedy hit on the circuit this season and he is expected to provide many a laugh for Orpheum patrons next week.

Lorna and Toots Pounds are two young Australian girls who have recently come to this country and have created something of a sensation in vaudeville circles with their clever mimicry. They come direct from the Palace theater, London. Their repertoire is said to be large, and is never fully decided upon until the girls are ready to go on the stage.

The accordion is always a popular instrument with vaudeville audiences, and next week the Kellib Duo will offer an act in which this instrument is featured. These two performers are said to be the equals of the Boudini brothers, who have long been favorites with Duluth Orpheum audiences.

Manipulators of Indian clubs must have some unusual feats to attract any attention whatever these days. The Throwing Tabors will be seen on next week's bill with what is said to be an original act of this type.

The Orpheum motion picture film for the week will be the Kalem feature, "Red Hawk's Sacrifice."

The bill will open Sunday afternoon and continue all week with a daily matinee.

Martin Beck has concluded an arrangement with Charles Frohman by which Blanche Bates will appear temporarily in vaudeville under his management. Her vehicle will be Sir James Matthew Barrie's brief play "Half an Hour," in which Grace George was recently seen at the Lyceum theater, New York. It will probably be recalled that this piece was originally intended for Miss Bates' use, but on account of her indisposition at the time set for the presentation, the role was allotted to Miss George.

Miss Bates' initial vaudeville appearance will be made on Jan. 19 at the Majestic theater, Chicago, and will include thereafter a limited tour of the theaters composing the Orpheum circuit.

Henrietta de Serris and her company has just arrived from London to begin a tour of the Orpheum circuit. Mlle. de Serris is originally from the Academy of Sculptures, Paris, and with her score of feminine assistants, reproduces various art masterpieces in bas-reliefs, etchings, and deft paintings.

* * *

It is doubtful if ever before so much interest has been manifested in a film as in the one of Mr. and Mrs. Castle, in their justly famous society dances. Mr. and Mrs. Castle's fame has penetrated to the furthest corner of the world but because of personal business, they are unable to leave New York, therefore the millions interested in these ultra-modern dances are availing themselves of the opportunity afforded by the Castle film.

* * *

Lulu Glaser has recovered from the surgical operation which interrupted her Orpheum circuit tour. After a few weeks' rest at her country home in Mount Vernon, N. Y., Miss Glaser, with the assistance of Thomas D. Richards will start West to present her operetta "First Love," over the remainder of her Orpheum tour which she left uncompleted.

Immediately after concluding her present Orpheum circuit tour, Bessie Clayton and her corps de ballet will sail for Europe, where the danseuse will remain indefinitely. Her last foreign engagements extended over a period of three years, but it is hoped that her coming trip will not take her away from her host of admirers at home for anything like this length of time.

During Roshanara's fortnight stay in New York, she was besieged by newspaper men who made every effort to make her disclose her real identity. Not in many years has a dancer scored as heavily as did Roshanara, therefore any information concerning her was waited with eager interest. Further than that, she is the daughter of an Anglo-Indian officer's daughter and that her professional appearance in America is being made unknown to her father—nothing of her personal career was disclosed.

Empress

Four strong and finished acts of vaudeville will be the attraction at the Empress theater for the four days starting with the matinee Sunday, Jan. 18. All the acts are recognized vaudeville features and have played in the principal cities of the United States with great success.

The headline act will be presented by Julie Ring and company, who will offer a great laughing farce entitled "The Man She Met." The story deals with an attempt to steal a very valuable locket from the heroine of the play and the peculiar story that goes with it makes an interesting comedy drama.

The girl in the hands of Miss Julie Ring is aptly handled. The character is a lovable one and her lines are witty and full of comedy. The part of the man as played by James Norval is admirably portrayed. The scene of the play is first a street in New York and later a private dining room in a New York cafe. The sketch is an adaptation of the French farce by that name.

In the musical line the Ramsey Sisters will entertain with their novel playing of bells and marinophone, an instrument of the xylophone type. The sisters are said to be accomplished musicians and to have the ability to get many wonderful tones out of their instruments. They play a long list of selections that range from the ever popular rags to the more sentimental and classic. In the singing line, Lambert and Van, a team of men, will do the honors. The boys possess excellent voices and have a knack of putting over their stunts that makes them big favorites. The boys are incidentally comedians and mix a great deal of comedy with their repertoire of songs and parodies.

Many people have heard or read of Mlle. Nadje, physically one of the most nearly perfect women in the United States. Mlle. Nadje has a great lecture on physical culture which she delivers for the benefit not only of women but men as well. Her exercises are easy and work wonders if constantly taken. On Tuesday afternoon immediately following the matinee performance, Mlle. Nadje will give a beauty and physical culture talk for women only. All women attending this matinee will be at liberty to remain for this lecture free of charge. To open and close the bill, two splendid reels of pictures have been secured.

Three laughs a minutes throughout the performance are promised amusement seekers at the Empress theater on next Thursday matinee when "The Duke of Durham" will be presented for a limited engagement of three days.

There appears to be a fierce struggle for supremacy going on all the while among musical comedy producers, and the majority of theatergoers keep in a receptive mood for entertainment of that character. A show has plenty of comedy action, intensified by pretty music and handsome girls, brilliant electrical effects and a scenic environment of more than ordinary merit, is what goes to make "The Duke of Durham" one of the leaders in the musical farce comedy tabloid line, and a great treat is said to be in store for the theater patrons who witness this entertainment when it is presented in this city.

Vivian Early, leading the feminine portion of the company presenting "The Duke of Durham," is cast for the role of Marion, the niece of Miss Astorbilt. She is said to be a clever comedienne.

Rex

Commencing Sunday, the Rex will show what is claimed to be one of the strongest features ever exhibited in the theater, a production made by the Eclair company in France and entitled "What the Gods Decree."

This is a thrilling tale of the adventures that take place in the search for a sacred necklace, and it carries the spectator through a series of hairbreadth escapes. The entire four reels are full of action and excitement and there is not a slow moment. Exciting incidents follow each other until the finish when, to the joy of the spectator, all ends serenely. There are some fine reproductions of Poe's masterpieces. The above with two good comedies opens another feature week for the Rex.

Thursday's change of program features the "Militants" a three-part production by the Imp company. Rex patrons are promised something out of the ordinary and an up-to-date story that both children and adults can enjoy. Two comedy stories furnish plenty of good comedy.

Music at the Rex has always been one of the features of the performances, but it is being further improved under the new leadership.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

Joseph P. Bickerton, the managing director of the New Era Producing company, who launched its theatrical business with the production of "Adele," which is one of the biggest musical successes of this season, is a practicing attorney of good standing and prestige in the city of New York.

Mr. Bickerton being asked in what direction the New Era Producing company will be active, said: "I will produce clean musical shows. I shall also put on dramas, but I will not have anything to do with sex problems, or with vulgar plays. I still believe that the average man and woman go to the theater to be amused. They want to forget the worries of their working hours and very often the home trials which they never show to the world. In my opinion, if they care about sociological and other problems they will identify themselves with charity organizations, settlements and other institutions, so that they can do their reform work first hand. I do not believe in exposing the sores of the world as a money-making scheme. The plays which I put on, I hope, will make the world a little pleasanter."

The new Winter Garden show that succeeded "The Pleasure Seekers" during the past week, is called "The Whirl of the World." It is in two acts and ten scenes, with book and lyrics by Harold Atteridge, and music by S. Romberg, a young Viennese composer. Harold Atteridge has done the books and lyrics of most of the previous Winter Garden productions, but this will be Mr. Romberg's first appearance as a composer for the big playhouse at Fiftieth street.

The company of "The Whirl of the World" will contain some of the old Winter Garden favorites and some prominent players who will make their first appearances in this piece. Among the men are Ralph Herz, Bernard Granville, Howard and Howard, W. C. Kelly, Moon and Morris, Lawrence Grant and Ward brothers, and among the women, Lillian Lorraine, Rozsika Dolly, May Boley, Audrey Maple, Juliette Lippe and Trixie Raymond.

The Liebler company has succeeded in extending its contract with Cyril Maude, the celebrated English comedian, whose wonderful work in the successful detective comedy-drama, "Grumpy," has made him the rage of New York. This means that he will be seen on tour in this country next season. Mr. Maude came to America this fall with a contract calling for a fifteen-week tour, with the option of a renewal for five additional weeks. He spent four weeks in Canada, and then opened an engagement at Wallack's theater, New York. So great was his success there, particularly when the popular "Grumpy" was put on, that all subsequent dates were cancelled. Mr. Maude has now agreed to remain in this country until April, and to return next season.

Frank Thompson, the manager of "The Old Homestead," who has been presenting his father's play for a great many years, has now located in New York as the manager of the Palace theater, at Forty-seventh street and Broadway. This is one of the finest theaters in the great metropolis and is devoted to high-class vaudeville. Sarah Bernhardt played a three weeks' engagement there at the close of last season.

* * *

Arthur Hammerstein last week added a new finale to the second act of "High Jinks," his new musical production, which is making a great success. Elizabeth Murray and Tom Lewis are now featured at the head of the company.

* * *

The production of William Hodge in "The Road to Happiness," which has been one of the acknowledged big hits of the year in Chicago, ends its season there at the Princess theater on Jan. 17 and opens at the Garrick theater in Detroit on the following Monday. The place of "The Road to Happiness" at the Princess in Chicago will be taken by the original company of "The Lure," going out West directly from its final weeks in Greater New York and the nearby cities.

* * *

Margaret Romaine, who is a sister of Hazel Dawn, is to be the prima donna for the Shubert production of "The Midnight Girl," which is scheduled for a New York premiere in the near future. Miss Romaine has sung at the Opera Comique in Paris and has also appeared under the management of George Edwards in London.

* * *

"Joseph and His Brethren" began its third big city run at the Forrest theater, Philadelphia, Christmas week, scoring a smashing big hit, as always.

* * *

Viola Dana, who plays the title role in "The Poor Little Rich Girl," like Mary Pickford, graduated from the movies.

* * *

Katherine Grey has been engaged to create a prominent part in Guy Bolton's new farce, "The Rule of Three," which will have its New York premiere the latter part of this month.

* * *

The latest Shakespearean production for the moving pictures is "Antony and Cleopatra," which will be ready for the screen shortly.

* * *

Thomas W. Riley's production of "Queen of the Movies" will have its premier in New York tomorrow at the Globe, following the close of "The Madcap Duchess," which takes to the road.

* * *

It is said that Mendel Beilis will shortly come to America in response to a tempting offer made him by vaudeville managers.

* * *

Morosco is putting a No. 2 company of "Help Wanted" into shape, but it is not yet decided on what date the second edition will start out.

Lillian Russell terminated her contract with John Cort at the close of her fifteen weeks' tour last night.

* * *

"The Broadway Honeymoon" will be started again, this time with three stars, Joseph Howard, Trixie Friganza and Mabel McCane. The show will go to the Pacific coast.

* * *

A. H. Woods is said to be cornering Hebrew comedians for six road shows of "Potash & Perlmutter," that he is contemplating.

* * *

Doc. Cook of North pole fame, received a cold reception in London at the Palladium, where he was engaged recently for a vaudeville appearance.

The Irish Players will open their Chicago engagement at the Fine Arts theater on Feb. 15.

Iris Hawkins, the sixty-pound comedienne of "Hop o' My Thumb," will make her debut in vaudeville shortly with a sketch called "Dad's Girl."

* * *

Negotiations are now on for a world's tour of "The Old Homestead." William Musgrove of Australia, will start the company at Sydney, New South Wales, and it will then travel to all countries where the English language is spoken. Eleven members of "The Old Homestead" company have seen continuous service in this grand old American play to the extent of 195 weeks, and three of them have been with it during its entire existence. Denman Thompson first produced it twenty-eight years ago.

* * *

"General John Regan" moves to the Studebaker, Chicago, because of inability to secure another New York theater for its proposed extended run.

* * *

C. M. S. McClellan has just completed a one-act play for production at the Princess theater, where only one-act plays are produced. It is called "The Fountain" and is now in rehearsal.

* * *

"Damaged Goods," in moving pictures, was shown in New York last week for the first time.

OWNER OF GUN IS GIVEN SENTENCE

Criminal Negligence in Connection With an Accidental Shooting.

Berlin, Jan. 17.—Anyone who handles a gun in Germany is held to more strict accountability than in America, as instanced by a recent court decision. A member of a hunting party in Prussian Saxony asked permission of a comrade to examine his gun. The owner handed it over, and while the man was examining it, the gun was discharged, instantly killing a young woman standing near by. The owner of the gun was sentenced to one year's imprisonment, while the man who was handling the gun has to serve only a six months' term. The court held that the owner was criminally negligent in not withdrawing the cartridge. The man who held the weapon was treated more leniently because he was an inexperienced hunter.

CHARITY FOR AILING WOMEN AND CHILDREN.

Berlin, Jan. 17.—Sir Ernest Cassel, the London financier whose benefactions to his native city of Cologne and to Germany run into millions, has established a new charitable foundation in Cologne for the benefit of ailing women and children. Two hundred bonds of the city of New York, worth at present quotations some $270,000, have been transferred to the Cologne municipality, which is to use the income in caring for weak and sick women, girls and children at health camps, sanatoria, etc. No discrimination of creed is to be made.

CHISHOLM MAY ESTABLISH ZOO

South African Monkey Donated to Village as a Starter.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Park Superintendent Arthur Bischjold is preparing seed lists ordering fertilizers and otherwise getting the new greenhouse in use. He has caused a temporary shed to be placed over the heating plant and the steam has already been turned on and propagation started.

He told the council last summer that if work on the park and greenhouse was started then that the park could be finished and occupied by July 1, and he is now endeavoring to make his promise good. Much rock had to be removed, grades made and roads built, but the late fall weather permitted much of this to be done this fall and before the end of June the place will present a very attractive appearance.

Village Given Monkey.

Not to be behind the large cities a zoo has been suggested and Mr. Bischjold has been presented with a South African monkey, the first animal to be given to the village. As soon as the mayor gives his official sanction to the receipt of the monkey it will become a fixture at the park.

COLERAINE EPWORTH LEAGUE GIVES PLAY

"His College Play" Delights Large Audience at Auditorium.

Coleraine, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local chapter of the Epworth league entertained a large audience last evening at the village auditorium. The program consist- of a college play, "His Uncle John," with a prologue exhibition of "Black Art," and a delightful solo by Mrs. J. P. Caldwell and a humorous "Topsy-Turvey" song between the acts. The following is the cast of characters: Jack Sanderson, of the class of 1915, formerly of Northwestern, Roy Hickox; Nellie Holmes Sanderson, his wife, who would really rather tell his uncle anyway, Lilli Franti; John Van Courtland, his uncle John, who thinks "a young man married is a man that's marred," Walter Vandyke; Bert Allison, his sworn friend, who is nothing if not loyal, Thomas Edwards; Miss Lucy Harrington, his sworn friend's sweetheart, who has "always been wild to visit Drake," Dora Donaldson; "Nubbins" Goodwin, his football friend, Levi Seeley; Mrs. Slatters, his landlady, Mabelle Nordstrum.

AURORA QUINT WINS.

Defeats Ely Five on Home Floor in Fast Game.

Aurora, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Aurora won from Ely last night one of the fastest basket ball games ever played in the local gymnasium, 12 to 11. The teams were pretty evenly matched with Ely a trifle heavier. The play was close and fast throughout and the game was intensely interesting. At the end of the first half Ely was ahead 10 to 8.

In the last half there was no scoring until the last four minutes when Aurora made a basket, tieing the score. A foul called as soon as the ball was put up in play gave Ely one point advantage, but before the time was up Aurora, by fast play, made another basket. The gymnasium was filled with spectators who rooted and cheered for their favorites throughout.

HIBBING MAY HAVE DRILL BY MILITIA

Success of Recent Duluth Contest Suggests the Idea.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The success of the competitive militia drill at Duluth, in which a squad from the local company participated, has suggested the advisability of holding a similar meeting here to which the same companies that took part in the Duluth drill will be invited.

Say Resche Favors Idea.

It is understood that Lieut. Col. Resche is in favor of the plan and will urge the arrangement. Such a drill was held here two years ago and was a success in every way.

The local men who were in the Duluth drill stood up well and believe that they could put up a much better showing at another similar contest.

Mr. Smith was presented with a beautiful platinum Shrine pin inlaid with diamonds as a token of the esteem in which he is held by his friends. Although well along in years Mr. Smith retains the youthful energy and enthusiasm of his younger days.

STORM WINDOW HITS EVELETHIAN.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A storm window on the Poole block, on Grant avenue, dropped from its hangings on a second story window Friday, and in falling, struck Conrad Olson, who was walking past. Fortunately Olson received a glancing blow and was not severely injured. His clothing, however, was torn considerably.

CHISHOLM LIBRARY BOARD WANTS BIDS.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village library board asks for bids to be opened Jan. 30 for floor coverings and furniture. The outside work on the building is nearly completed and inside work is going on as fast as time and labor will permit. The building, together with furnishings, will represent an investment of $40,000 and is a credit to the citizens who advocated a municipally owned library. The date set for dedication has not been set, but an elaborate program will be given when the time arrives for that purpose.

FINE RURAL SCHOOL.

New Building Near Tower Built at Cost of $18,000.

Tower, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new $18,000 school built in unorganized school district No. 40 on the Pike River road, nine miles southeast of Tower, in township 61, range 16, is now being used. It has two large class rooms, modernly equipped, and a connecting suite of living rooms for the two teachers, Misses Gladys Sarff and Lillie Arkkola. School No. 41, three miles from No. 40, is being rebuilt and will be ready for use in a few weeks.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

Calumet, Mich., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fred B. Granger has taken a job with the Missabe Railway company in the Sharon depot as operator. Mr. Granger has been operator here with the same company for the past four years.

Messrs. Carlson, Larson, Trisico, Brackstrom and Eckman left for Kelley Lake the fore part of the week, having completed the work here of putting in the siding for the Great Northern railway extending to section 16.

M. M. Malley, foreman for the American Bridge company of Duluth, returned to his home this week, the company having completed the work on the boiler house for the Arthur Iron Mining company.

F. A. Haney returned to his home in Superior Tuesday.

Mrs. Archie McMillan is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Granger.

Mrs. Ida Oas was a visitor at Bovey Thursday.

Mrs. Phoebe Poppe of Michigan is the guest of her nephew, William Poppe.

Chris and Fred Brier left for their homes in Duluth and Milwaukee the first part of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Mishler, 4949 London road, Duluth, returned to their home the first part of the week. Mr. Mishler has been working on a contract hauling logs here for the past few months.

CHISHOLM BOOSTERS PLANNING BANQUET.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A banquet will soon be given by businessmen and others interested in the general welfare of the community. The date for the affair has not been set but it will be held in Bergeron's rink, which is a convenient place to bring them together. Last year, the first banquet of the association, about 200 people gathered and enjoyed the exchange of views of each other and otherwise generally enjoyed themselves.

BIG SAWMILL PLANS ON ELECTRIC ALARMS

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Virginia & Rainy Lake company will install a new electric fire alarm system at the sawmill and storage yards at a further precaution against fires which will be a valuable addition to the excellent system already carried out there. Representatives of the American District Telegraph company have been in the city during the week looking the ground over.

LEASE MINE LAND NEAR GRAND RAPIDS.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 17.—The Interstate Iron company has filed a lease for two forties on which the Fargo mine is located, securing the property for a term of fifty years from the Vermilion Range Land company. This is one of the properties upon which the Interstate people have had an option and on which exploration work and drilling has been in progress for some time. The land is only a short distance northeast of this place.

LINES HIS POCKET WITH YOUR SKIN

That Is What An Unscrupulous Dealer Does If He Succeeds in Selling You a Substitute for Resinol.

Over eighteen years of constant use by physicians and public have shown that Resinol stops itching instantly, and quickly heals tormenting, unsightly skin eruptions. We have thousands of unsolicited testimonials that prove it.

Most druggists are only too glad to sell Resinol to their customers because they know that it will give satisfaction. But a few unscrupulous dealers offer, in its place, ointments which resemble Resinol closely enough in name or appearance to deceive the unwary.

They claim these are "just the same as Resinol," or "just as good as Resinol." But they are NOT. They are crude imitations, often cheaply made and of little or no healing power. The dishonest dealer wants to sell these imitations instead of Resinol because HE can make a few cents more profit and not because they will do your skin any good.

We publish this to warn our customers, many of whom write that they have been deceived by imitations of Resinol. If anyone tries this trick on you, insist on seeing a jar of genuine Resinol also. Compare the two ointments and decide for yourself if the "substitute" IS "just the same as Resinol." Resinol is never sold in bulk, only in opal jars with the name blown in the bottom. Each jar comes in a blue carton which it is unlawful to imitate. Price 50c and $1. For trial size, free, write to Dept. 42-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

FINNISH SOCIALISTS HAVE NAMED TICKET.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Finnish Socialists have put the following ticket in the field for the coming election: Treasurer, Henry Tamminen; aldermen, Second ward, Abraham Kajanue; Third, H. W. Rilhonen; Fifth, Emil Lindeborg; Sixth, Ole Torgerson. No indorsements were made for aldermen in the First or Fourth wards, nor for mayor.

Tom Lewis to Speak.

Tom J. Lewis of Oregon will speak at the Finnish Socialist opera house next Monday evening on "Socialism Made Plain." On Friday evening, Jan. 30, Mrs. Lockwood of Michigan will deliver an address on socialism from a woman's standpoint.

BUHL PERSONALS.

Buhl, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Emil Peterson of Duluth was in the village Tuesday.

F. G. Gates of Virginia made a business trip here Tuesday.

T. G. Flynn and Charles Norton were in Virginia Friday.

Mrs. Truan was in Virginia Wednesday.

Edwin Carlson went to Virginia Wednesday.

George R. Barrett went to Hibbing Tuesday.

M. A. Nicholas made a business trip to Grand Rapids Friday.

Mr. Minch of Mountain Iron spent Friday here.

Attorney T. S. Bean spent Friday in Hibbing.

Alexander Sharpe, wire chief of the Meska Telephone company, Chisholm, was here Friday.

T. G. Flynn and Charles Norton were in Virginia Monday.

Harry Warren was in Chisholm Monday.

W. Wisdom of Hibbing came to the village Monday.

M. A. Morse spent Thursday in Kinney.

T. S. Bean and John Anderson were in Virginia Friday.

ELY EVENTS.

Ely, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. J. W. Osborne is visiting friends in Superior this week.

Mrs. Charles Trezona is entertaining Mrs. James Trezona of Yakima, Wash.

Mrs. Melvin Odgers, Mrs. Michael Prisk, and daughter, Miss Mabel Prisk, are spending a few days in Duluth.

The funeral of Supt. T. W. Toal, of the water and light department, was held Sunday afternoon from the Methodist church, the Rev. E. F. Stidd and the Rev. J. C. Mapson conducting the service. The Ely fire department and the Masonic lodge attended the funeral in a body.

Attorneys Osborne and Thomas attended court in Virginia this week.

The cast for "The Matrimonial Rupert" staged Friday and Saturday nights at the High School Auditorium, have been practicing every evening this week under the direction of Miss Palmer of New York.

Ely has had an epidemic of grip, among those confined to their bed or to the house for some time being Mrs. Harry Chinn, Miss Wallace, E. C. Jones, A. S. James and John Sieberlich. All are reported better. The unusual winter weather is blamed for much of the prevailing grip and colds.

Lloyd James of Two Harbors is visiting his uncle, A. S. James, and is in charge of Mr. James' store during the latter's illness.

The annual open meeting of the Mothers' club was held at the High School Auditorium Friday evening. The following program was given and was much appreciated by the number in attendance; Selection, by the High school band; reading, Miss Pearl Minkle; piano solo, Mrs. Victor Koivumaki; address, "Reconstructed Homes," Rev. J. C. Mapson; piano solo, Miss Elaine Fenske, and selection by the band.

Mrs. John Anderson is reported to be improving from a severe attack of pneumonia.

Wednesday evening witnessed the opening of the basket ball season in Ely, when the seniors won from the sophomores, 15 to 11, and the juniors beat the freshmen, 31 to 5.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Conan left this week for an extended Southern trip. During the time they are away they will visit New Orleans, Jacksonville, Palm Beach, Miami, Washington, New York, Niagara Falls and other Eastern and Southern points.

Mrs. Grant McMahan began her dancing school at Turf hall on Monday evening of this week. Mrs. McMahan has conducted this school for several years.

Aurora, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The High School Literary society has elected the following officers: President, Joseph Gillach; vice president, Carl Anderson; secretary, Frank Kovach; sergeants, Paul Mattson and Oscar Ojala.

The high school girls are organizing interclass basket ball teams and will arrange for a series of games. They will announce their plans shortly.

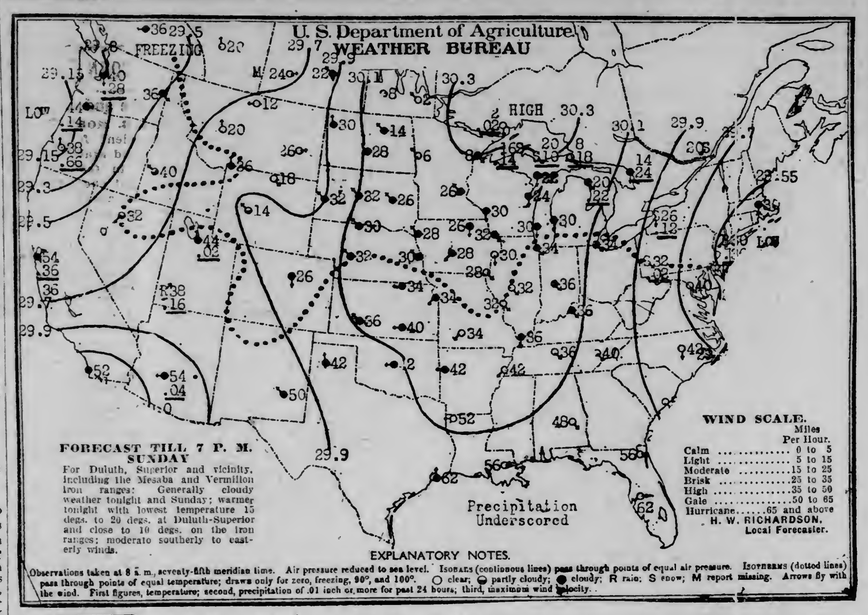

Plan Hibbing Banquet.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the regular meeting of the Brotherhood of American Yeomen at Model hall Thursday evening, plans were begun for a banquet of the local order to be held some time in February. There was a large attendance at the meeting.

Gilbert Declamatory Contest.

Gilbert, Minn., Jan. 17.—The annual declamatory contest will take place at the Gilbert high school auditorium Wednesday evening, Jan. 21. This contest will be under the direction of Miss Magdaline Feyereisen. Three gold medals will be awarded.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

The weather got a little colder last night and some ice was made on the rink, which will help a little for today's play, but the prediction for today is that there will be warmer weather tonight; also that tonight and Sunday will be cloudy and gray like today is.

A year ago today there was rain and a lot of slush underfoot. The sun rose this morning at 7:48 and will set at 4:48 o'clock, giving an even nine hours of sunshine, that being two minutes more than yesterday.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Much colder weather prevails in Ontario and the northern portions of the lake region. Zero temperatures occurred last night in Western Ontario and parts of Manitoba. Snow or rain fell over Pacific and North Atlantic states, the plateau region and Eastern Canada during Friday or last night in connection with barometric depressions centered off the New England and Oregon coasts."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Sunday:

Wisconsin, Iowa and South Dakota—Mostly cloudy tonight and Sunday; not much change in temperature.

Minnesota—Mostly cloudy tonight and Sunday; slightly warmer in north portion tonight.

North Dakota—Mostly cloudy tonight and Sunday; warmer in extreme east portion tonight.

Montana—Mostly cloudy tonight and Sunday, probably rain or snow in west portion.

Lower Michigan—Generally fair tonight and Sunday; slightly warmer Sunday in north and west portions.

Upper Michigan—Generally fair tonight and Sunday; slightly warmer Sunday.

REMARKABLE RECORD MADE

The McComber Mine Will Commence Stock-Piling the Ore.

The ore body being again reached at the McComber mine, this time on the 100-foot level means a change from exploration work hitherto conducted by the Mutual Iron Mining company to active mining operations. It is only a little over nine months since the Mutual company took charge of this property and commenced exploring it and a remarkable record has been made in discovering and blocking out the ore body and bringing things to the present stage of development in such a remarkably short time. As a rule it requires years of labor and hundreds of thousands of dollars to open up a Vermilion range mine, yet the result was accomplished here at a nominal expense and with only a small crew test pitting, shaft sinking and cross-cutting.

The vein was originally located by test pits where it came to the surface of the rock, then a shaft was sunk fifty feet and a crosscut at this level was run for forty-nine feet through ore when this work was discontinued and the shaft put down another fifty feet. From this 100-foot level another tunnel was cut to the north in the direction of where the ore body was expected and the reaching of it again at this depth proves a regular formation and that the deposit is assuredly a large one.

Much credit is due to the superintendent, Capt. Thomas H. Rodgers, for the splendid work accomplished and also to the president of the company, James Cardle, for the able management of affairs which has brought such satisfactory results. It was Rodgers who first discovered some float ore under the root of an old stump close to where the camps were located of a former company who explored the property some years ago and failed to find the ore. This property was also explored later by the famous iron wizard of the north George A. St. Clair, and abandoned by him some time ago. In view of all this the officers of the company were severely criticized at the commencement of operations and doubt expressed that a mine would ever be opened on the "McComber," but they went ahead with the work with the firm belief that the ore was there.

Another thing for which the Mutual company deserves special commendation is that from the very first full and correct news of all their doings has been published weekly for the benefit of their stockholders and never once has any misstatement or misrepresentation been made. In fact a desire was shown to underestimate if anything the success which they were winning. This is remarkable in a mining company where the inclination is usually the other way. Efforts of some companies to over-estimate conditions and stretch the truth have injured the mining business greatly during recent years.

It is understood that some of the larger interests are bidding for this property now to be taken over on a royalty basis but no definite information could be obtained at this time, the officers of the company stating that the whole matter would probably be presented to a stockholders' meeting and a decision reached at that time whether to sub-lease or not.

Another far-sighted move on the part of the officers of the Mutual Iron Mining company was the purchase several months ago and the platting of a townsite on land lying between the McComber property and the line of the Duluth & Iron Range railway. The location could not be better as it is just midway between the two towns of Tower and Ely and with the opening up of mining in this district it should have a rapid growth. The property adjoining the townsite to the east has been leased during the past week and exploration work will be started on it in the early spring.

CARMODY ATTACKS THAW CASE ACTION.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 17.—In a communication to the legislature next week, Attorney General Carmody will declare that United States District Judge Aldrich of New Hampshire is without authority to entertain the sanity proceedings recently instituted by attorneys for Harry K. Thaw. No federal authority, he will maintain, has a right to pass on the mental condition of Thaw.

"If there be warrant in law for these proceedings," Mr. Carmody will say, "it is high time that the attention of the legislative departments of the different states should have their attention called to it with a view to establishing the proper remedy."

Mr. Carmody will insist that Thaw should be turned over to the New York authorities because every constitutional provision in relation to extradition has been complied with by New York. The statement will close with the assurance that there is no intention on the part of the attorney general to criticize the Federal court of New Hampshire.

PIMPLES COVERED FACE COMPLETELY

Also Neck. Would Fester. Almost Size of a Boil. Always Red and Irritating, Itched and Burned. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

22 East Fifth St., Carthage, Ohio.—"I had been troubled for a few years with pimples which completely covered my face and neck. They would fester and this would cause me to pick at them. When ripe they were almost the size of a boil and had something the appearance of one; they were always red and irritating. They itched and burned and made me very uncomfortable. Often they waked me during the night.

"I applied face creams but with no result. Then I saw Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertised. Two boxes of Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured my face." (Signed) Miss Mabel Locke, Oct. 14, 1913.

ECZEMA ON CHILD'S FACE

R. F. D. No. 2, Box 31, Peck, Kansas.—"My little girl had eczema from the time she was born. She had it on her face. When it would first come it would look like heat and then get scabby. It was in great scabs on her cheeks. She used to be cross because I think it itched. It would break out about every three weeks and stay about a week.

"I used one half of a cake of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment and by the time she was a year old it was all gone and she has never been bothered with it since." (Signed) Mrs. E. Simpson, Oct. 16, '13.

Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

☞Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap find it best for skin and scalp.

CROSBY NOTES.

Crosby, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. Mr. Bergquist of Minneapolis held service in the Scandinavian language, at the local Methodist church.

Rev. M. P. Burns, D. D., superintendent of the Duluth district of the Northern Minnesota M. E. conference, will speak at the Crosby Methodist church on Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The first big masquerade ball of the season will be given at the Workers' hall on Saturday evening. There will be three cash prizes.

M. H. Reardon of Odessa, Or., was the guest of T. C. Wellington, on Tuesday and Wednesday.

F. X. Heroux returned to his home at Little Falls Wednesday, after having spent a few days visiting his daughter, Mrs. Joseph Belanger.

Mrs. Walter Gulgren left Thursday for Ironwood, Mich., to visit with old time friends for a week or ten days.

Miss Clair Shim and Mrs. M. E. Smith of Eau Claire, Wis., have leased the storeroom in the Malne hotel, and on March 1 will open with a complete stock of millinery.

The China Mission society of the M. E. church will meet at the residence of Mrs. Henry Blackwood on Friday afternoon, Jan. 23.

Rupert Swinerton of Hibbing was in Crosby this week looking after his iron land interests.

J. F. Sullivan made a flying business trip to Brainerd and Jenkins, Monday.

J. J. Meyer and F. E. Parker of Wadena, directors of the Crosby and Ironton First National banks were in the city Tuesday and Wednesday looking after their business interests.

CUYUNA'S SEWER.

Village Awards Job to Minneapolis Contracting Concern.

Cuyuna, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The insurance adjusters made settlement for the fire loss of Rahja & Karppinen last Saturday, allowing them $600. A larger part of this firm's stock was burned on the morning of Dec. 29.

The contract for Cuyuna's sewer was let to the General Contracting Company of Minneapolis at $19,987. Fifteen thousand dollars of bonds were voted to pay for ith,s but the excess is to be paid out of the general fund. Work of construction will commence as soon as sewer tile can be secured and the work pushed during cold weather, as there will be little surface water to contend with.

J. H. Hugener and John Haney of Superior have set two drilling outfits at work on section 7, township 47, range 28, where a fine grade of hematite ore has been found south and east of the land they propose to drill.

The contract for a bridge across Rabbit lake narrows was let Tuesday night by the city council to the Security Bridge Company of Minneapolis, for $2,197. It will be a pile bridge and by its construction it saves about seven miles of travel to those living north and west if they come to Cuyuna.

The finest kind of pickerel are being speared through holes cut in the ice on Rabbit lake.

IRON RIVER.

WATER IN BUTTER.

$14,000,000 Lost to Dairymen.

By A. A. BORLAND,
State Agri. College, Burlington, Vt.

Fourteen million dollars are annually lost to dairy interests in the United States through the low moisture content of butter. The maximum legal amount is 16 per cent; the average for the United States is only 11.5 per cent. An additional 3.5 per cent might be added, making the water content 15 per cent, without exceeding the legal limit and without deterioration in quality of the product. Now, how can the moisture content of butter be controlled? There are many factors influencing moisture content of butter, but the two most important are the churning temperature and the amount of working.

Churning temperature is of fundamental importance. During fall and winter, when moisture content of butter is low, temperature of churning should be as high as is consistent with securing a product firm enough for handling. Experiments conducted under direction of the writer showed an increase of 2 per cent in water content of butter churned at 70 deg. F. as compared with 50 deg. F. That churned at 50 deg. F. averaged 13.8 per cent moisture; that at 60 deg. F. averaged 14.4 per cent; that at 65 deg. F. averaged 14.9 per cent; that at 70 deg. F. averaged 15.7 per cent. Churnings were done with a barn churn, the kind found on any farm. Churning should stop when butter granules are the size of corn grains. The temperature of wash water should be near that of buttermilk, although if high churning temperatures are employed, wash water a few degrees lower tends to firm the butter. Vice versa, in springtime, when per cent of water in butter exceeds the legal limit, cream should be churned at as low temperature as possible without prolonging the time of churning, thus causing butter to be salvy.

Working the Butter.

The amount of working has considerable influence on per cent of moisture in the finished product. When butter is worked in absence of water, moisture content decreases rapidly as amount of working increases, but if butter is worked in presence of water, moisture content increases with amount of working. Consequently, if high percentage of water is desired, butter should receive minimum amount of working suffcing to distribute salt evenly when no water is present, but maximum amount of working if water is present. Care should be exercised at all times not to overwork butter. Again, if natural moisture content of butter is high, all water should be drained away, butter partially worked, water drained off and the working completed.

LITTLE FAIRIES OF THE SOIL.

They Work Day and Night.

By MEADE FERGUSEN.

That soils are active has long since been an established fact, and from these facts attention has been attracted for several years past to the relation of the minute living organisms of soil to the nutrition of plants.

My own experiments with soil microbes during the last ten years, in which the microbes of nitrification have been grown in every variety of liquid and solid media and in different soils, have given convincing results as to their value in assimilating and storing nitrogen for plant food.

With nitrate of soda at sixty odd dollars per ton and the end of the world's supply within sight of the present generation, this knowledge has not come too soon. Without nitrogen, plants will not grow, and few soils contain enough to produce maximum or even fair crops of cereals. It is the most expensive element of fertilizers, and in an available form for plants the most difficult to obtain, except through the intervention of microbes. Yet nature has not been so lavish in her supply of any other element necessary to plant growth, as something like 36,000 tons of free nitrogen of the air rests on every acre of land. While scientists have been devising means by which atmospheric nitrogen could be combined by electricity into plant food, microbes—the minutest form of plant life—have been quietly at work. They have been "working for nothing, boarding themselves and paying for the privilege." In leaf mold and humus of the woods myriads of them have been gathering nitrogen from air and rendering it available for higher plants, thus feeding the trees of the forest and storing a surplus in the soil for use of future generations. In cultivated fields, where conditions have been favorable for their reproduction, they have been doing the same thing. Where legumes are grown they are particularly active. They have a liking for this family of plants, and with them assimilate and store in the soil large quantities of nitrogen.

When conditions are right, nitrogen fixing bacteria will supply a leguminous crop, like alfalfa, clover of peas, with nitrogen for its own perfect development, and also assimilate and leave in the soil a sufficient amount to produce a large crop of corn the following season.

Nitrogen gathering microbes are in evidence when legumes are found with small knots of nodules on their roots. If agriculturists will grow legumes, keep humus in their soil, rectify acidity with lime and see that microbes are present, either from natural or artificial inoculation, the question of nitrogen for growing crops will be solved.

THE WOODEN HEN.

How She Rears Her Chicks.

By E. K. PARKINSON.

In buying new brooders there should be great care as to selection and a strict osservance of rules regulating temperature. Brooders before being used should be cleaned, scrubbed, disinfected inside and out, lamp flues cleaned, outside painted, then put in the sun to air and dry and also new wicks bought and used for each hatch. Now to find a good location. An indoor brooder should be kept in a warm place where temperature never goes below freezing. An outdoor one should be in a sunny place, for sun is very essential.

The House in Order.

The brooder placed, cover floor and the hover with an inch of dry sand, on top of which (except under hover and for a foot in front of it) spread finely cut clover or hay for about an inch. Light the lamp, or stove, whichever it may be, regulating the temperature according to directions so the heat where the chicks sleep is between 95 and 98 deg. the first week, gradually dropping to 90 deg. by the fourteenth day and to 80 deg. the twenty-first day. Leave the newly hatched chicks in the incubator nursery thirty-six hours, then transfer them in a warm lined basket to the brooder (evening is the best time), providing a small drinking fountain filled with fresh tepid water and a box filled with charcoal. The first three days feed a mixture of one-third stale bread, one-third rolled oats and one-third hard-boiled (twenty minutes) eggs, using shells and all (infertile, thin shelled or misshapen eggs) and mix crumbly, but not sloppy, with sweet milk, adding a little chick-size grit, giving it five times daily. Over this, the second day, sprinkle chick feed.

The first three days keep chicks near the hover, pushing them back under it after each meal until they are used to it. The fourth day stop the nursery food, feeding scratch food, throwing it in the clover, and start green food, though sparingly, and avoid sour or frozen feed or musty grain, for they are certain death. After the sixth day begin feeding meat scraps in small quantities, an ounce fed twice daily in feed hoppers. The following successful method of feeding is excellent: Over the cut clover spread ten pounds of chick feed, covering with two more inches of clover and ten pounds more of feed, and so on, until there are eight inches of litter and sixty pounds of feed. This, with meat scraps and cod liver oil, for about five weeks, and reared in this way chicks will prove sturdy, healthy and possess great vitality.

BEST USE OF CORN FODDER.

How to Prepare and Feed It.

By JAMES B. MORMON.

Corn is an excellent feed for livestock, both grain and stalks being fed to advantage, but in feeding it care must be taken to get the best results. The grain is a concentrated source of nutriment, palatable, easily masticated and readily digested and assimilated, but for dairy cows corn should never make up more than one-half to three-fifths of the concentrate part of the ration. It needs roughage as cornstalks or hay feed with it, for corn is poor in protein, but rich in digestible carbohydrates. So for dairy cows, corn should be ground and fed with bran middlings or ground oats which are richer in protein.

Livestock Thrive on It.

Corn fodder is the name given to the whole plant harvested with the ears on the stalks. The nutritive ratio of corn fodder has been ascertained to be about 1 to 11.5, so that some higher protein feed is necessary to properly balance it to get the good results, and either alfalfa or clover has been found excellent for the purpose. In tests with sheep the Massachusetts station has shown that different varieties of corn fodder, while varying slightly in digestibility, are good for fattening purposes. At the Manitoba experiment farm corn fodder was fed to steers, and it proved to be a more profitable roughage than oat sheaves. Where small numbers of stock are kept, good results may be obtained by feeding cut corn fodder moistened with hot water and allowed to stand for twenty-four hours. The concentrated feeds, such as cottonseed meal, can be mixed with this mass and the cattle will eat it readily and waste little. In fact, it is better and safer to use with cottonseed meal than dried fodder or hay.

Corn fodder may also be fed to horses, but one-third of the bulk of the ration should be made up of some other material, preferably red clover or alfalfa. Avoid feeding soft corn, which is injurious to horses. As a matter of fact, corn stover is to be preferred to corn fodder for horses, with a slight addition of some concentrate feed. Shredding the stover is neither necessary nor desirable.

The name corn stover is applied to the stalk after the ear of corn has been removed. Stover may be fed to dairy cows with good results, particularly if the stover is shredded and mixed with cut alfalfa or bran, oats, barley or peas, thus providing a valuable and cheap feed. Shredding adds value, as it is more easily handled and stored and readily eaten by stock.

FOR BETTER BARLEY.

(National Crop Improvement Service.)

The average yield of barley for 1913 was 23.9 bushels per acre against 29.7 bushels for 1912. This shows a decrease of 5.8 bushels per acre for the current year. The average of the last ten years has been about 25 5-10 bushels so that the season just closed marked a decrease of 1.6 bushels below that average.

On Nov. 1 the average farm price for barley was 54.7 cents per bushel against 53.8 cents per bushel for 1912. The fact that much higher prices have been paid for good malting barley should be generally recognized by farmers everywhere, and when once known, will itself be the proper stimulus for the production of better varieties of barley.

Oderbrucker is recognized as one of the best yielding varieties, as well as a variety especially adapted to malting and pearling purposes. The state of Wisconsin is growing a pedigreed strain of this variety in tremendous quantities. Every barley growing locality would do well to study the Wisconsin system, and use every effort to have barley of the best type exclusively.

FOR CLEAN SEED.

(National Crop Improvement Service.)

When we think of the great number of grain fields practically overrun with mustard, wild oats or some other weed, we cannot place a value upon the benefits and interest to be created by having a fanning mill competition to be held at least once a year in each township of the county club. In addition to the scoring for best results a lot of valuable data may be gathered by the judges, such as the size, shape, mesh, angle of inclination, length and character of strokes, the weight, price and dimensions of machines; the weight of cleaned and uncleaned grain in each test; the actual horse power consumed in the work, and percentage of impurities in every sample of grain. This data applied to the acreage of each crop will thoroughly convince the most skeptical person that no other one operation is so profitable as the fanning, cleaning and grading of seed before planting.

We suggest, therefore, that the county agent and seed committees in each fair bureau get into correspondence with the principal manufacturers of fanning mills and ask them either to give demonstrations or arrange competitions. The matter should be given the fullest publicity in the local press. The expense will not be considerable because, undoubtedly, the manufacturers will be glad to give official demonstrations.

THE GRAIN EXCHANGES.

(National Crop Improvement Service.)

John G. McHugh, secretary of the Minneapolis chamber of commerce, is contributing a series of articles upon the functions of the grain exchanges, especially to papers which have been advocating the formation of farmers' grain exchanges. He makes it very clear that the various grain exchanges are not engaged in any manner in the grain business; that their sole purpose is to operate a market place in the most efficient manner, and the qualification for admission to membership consists merely in a record of honest and reasonable financial stability. He states that farmers' elevator companies can and do belong to the various exchanges, and they thereby get all of the benefit which accrues to the entire membership through the daily market information and the bringing of the whole market into focus at the same time and place.

By the joining of the grain exchanges, the farmers' elevator companies may have all of the advantages of the city commission merchants and may be kept very fully advised regarding the market conditions.

A grain exchange is merely a set of rules which compel fair dealing between two diametrically opposed selfishnesses.

There can be no grain exchange where there are all sellers and no buyers.

The National Grain Grower published by the Equity Society of North Dakota says in this connection: "Many people are considering the question without being in possession of the facts upon which to base correct conclusions. It is easy to form conclusions that are incorrect and easy to hold fast to those conclusions even though they are incorrect. It often is more difficult to be right."

Most of the criticism of the grain exchanges arises from ignorance of the subject. Copies of the rules of all of the exchanges may be had upon application, and students of these rules all agree that the grain business is years in advance of any other business in integrity and economic efficiency.

WHY OATS RUN OUT.

That the oat crop has a decided tendency to run out or "go light" cannot be doubted.

When seed from the bin is planted without thorough fanning, the small kernels may produce very frail plants and probably no grain at all. The medium weight seed is only a little better, but those plants produced by the strong, plump kernels which have sufficient vitality to withstand practically all adverse conditions will produce a crop to be proud of.

It is advisable in most sections to fan practically 60 per cent of the grain out of the original pile of oats saved for seeding, then treat the 40 per cent of plump oats with formaldehyde in order to prevent smut.

BEES AND HONEY.

A division of bee culture has been established at the agricultural department of the University of Minnesota, with Prof. Francis Jager in charge. Lectures will be given at the short course for farmers, commencing Jan. 19.

These lectures on bees and honey will be of a practical character covering briefly the honey-producing and management of bees. Starting in bee-keeping, handling bees, spring management, swarming, production of comb and ex-production, marketing honey, and other topics will be adapted especially for beginners.

Scientific bee-keeping will soon become one of our most profitable industries in this state. At present the opportunities are practically unlimited. One man in Waseca county last year produced over 60,000 pounds of honey. The same results can be obtained in nearly every township in Minnesota. The bee industry has been neglected in the past, but a great deal of consideration is now shown to it at the University of Minnesota.

For further information write to the chief of the division, Prof. Francis Jager, St. Anthony Park, Minn., or address D. L. Mayne, principal, or J. M. Draw, registrar, University Farm, St. Paul, Minn.

STRUGGLE WILL BE CONTINUED

Pressure of Demand for Suffrage Will Be Kept Up By English Woman Along Constitutional Lines.

London, Jan. 17.—Pressure of the demand for suffrage will be kept up by women of England with unrelenting vigor during the year 1914, according to announcement from the National Union of Women's Suffrage societies. This organization which is working only along constitutional lines, will hold its annual council in February to map out its political campaign, which, it has already been decided, will be launched with a great mass meeting in Albert Hall on Feb. 14 "to voice the united and constitutional demand from all classes throughout the country for a government measure for women's suffrage."

In review of the work of the past year it is pointed out that increased pressure has been directed upon the government in constituencies represented by anti-suffragist ministers, and upon strengthening the position of the Labor party, the only party in the house of commons which has made the women's cause an integral part of its policy. The whole work has been coordinated on the demand for a government measure, attempts during the year previous for a bill introduced by private members or an amendment to the government's franchise bill having both failed.

Evidence of Activity.

A recent bye-election in South Lanark is cited as showing the activity of the women, in helping to sweep away a Liberal majority. Another auction of the Liberal strength is also reported in many important constituencies.

The review continues:

"Not long ago Sir Edward Grey admitted that the record of the house of commons on the women's suffrage question had not been good, and if to suffragists it has been profoundly unsatisfactory, the success of the advance in the country is only the more significant. The pilgrimage in July from Edinburgh to London was the greatest demonstration which the National union, or indeed any suffrage society ever produced.

"At a time when resentment against militant methods was at its height, the country villages and the great towns showed their appreciation of law-abiding propaganda, by hundreds of crowded meetings. Isolated acts of hooliganism there were, but they gave way rapidly before the general good-will which was above all demonstrated in the great final mass meeting in Hyde Park on July 26.

Support is General.

"The support for women's suffrage from responsible citizens is represented by favorable resolutions from nearly 200 county, town and rural district councils, and from the branches of nearly all the trades unions of the country.

"Practically all the greater women's frage, including the National Union of Women Workers, which has once more discussed the question this year, and of the fifty suffrage societies existing, the National Union alone has a membership of nearly 50,000, while between 28,000 and 30,000 friends of women's suffrage have been erlolled up to date. About $100,000 has been administered from headquarters during the year and the total number of meetings held is considerably over 2,700.

"One danger during the year has been averted. The passage of the national suffrage bill was rendered impossible in the face of unredeemed pledges. After the speaker's ruling and the postponement of the bill till the end of the session was decided upon, the annual conference of the Labor party by 2 to 1 passed a resolution opposing any further franchise to men without the inclusion of women. In the following September the Trade Union congress adopted a resolution censuring the government for failing to redeem its promises about women's suffrage and demanding a government reform bill which would include women. Finally the year has marked the growing strength of the movement in the church dictated by the sympathetic attitude of the church congress of Southampton and the letter of the bishop of Winchester urging the definite prospect of the introduction of a suffrage bill as a first-class measure.

Liberal Women Organize.

"The strength of feeling among the more progressive Liberal women and their determination to stand for suffrage principles or for what they regard as an essential part of liberal policy, is further seen in the recent formation of the Liberal Women's Suffrage union. Amongst men it has its counterpart in the Liberal Men's Association for Women's Suffrage.

"A review of the suffrage during the past year carries us far beyond the limits of our own country. When addressing the international congress last June, Mrs. Chapman Catt, the president, reminded her audience that the question of woman suffrage had been considered in seventeen national parliaments during the past winter and in thirty-three states and other legislatures. In the Far East, China was about to be admitted to the International Alliance and even Persia now had her progressive movement. Of the enfranchised countries, Australia, California, Norway, Oregon and Washington sent official government representatives to the congress and during the session news was received that Norway had obtained her full equal suffrage rights. The territory of Alaska must also now be added to the list, and in June Illinois obtained enfranchisement on the same terms as men, involving the enfranchisement of her million women in Chicago.

Iceland Favors Women.

"Since the international congress the parliament in Iceland has again passed the amendment to the Constitution granting the vote to women on the same terms as men, and the bill now awaits the sanction of the king of Denmark. This will be granted, if the bill is confirmed by the newly-elected parliament next April. On Oct. 7 and 8 the reform bill in Denmark, including the enfranchisement of women, having passed its third reading in the lower house, was read for the first time in the upper chamber. When parliament opened in Holland, the queen in her speech gave a promise of a bill for amending the Constitution and granting equal suffrage rights to women, and in Poland the president of the diet, when replying to a recent suffrage deputation, stated that his new proposal for reform would include woman suffrage, though not eligibility. The situation in Sweden is very encouraging and there is reason to suppose she will obtain her enfranchisement during 1914, while in Finland the parliamentary election last August resulted in an increase in the number of women members of parliament, of whom there are now twenty-one."

STOLE GOLD SPOONS OF GERMAN EMPEROR.

Berlin, Jan. 17.—Fritz Gaebeler, a watchman at the Karlshorst racetrack near Berlin, has been sentenced to two years in jail for stealing the emperor's gold spoons. Gaebeler, who with his police dog guarded the racetrack against outside thieves, came under suspicion of making away with some table linen and a few bottles of brandy from the restaurant on the grounds, but a search of his residence brought to light more than two wagon loads of stolen goods. Included in the loot were several gold dishes and a number of gold spoons which had been missing since the date of the army steeplechase for officer riders, when the emperor entertained his racing friends in a pavilion erected at the race track.

SOCIAL EVIL AND SEX EDUCATION

No Recognition Given to Sex-Instruction in English Schools.

New York, Jan. 17.—After a year of personal investigation in eleven European countries, Abraham Flexner, commissioned by the bureau of social hygiene, of which John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is chairman, has come to the conclusion that police regulation of the social evil in Europe is a failure and is rapidly dying out. Stringent legislation, on the other hand, has practically stamped out the so-called white slave traffic in young girls, and segregation, he finds, is non-existent anywhere in England or the continent.

These views, upsetting beliefs widely current in this country as to the status of commercialized vice in the Old world, are set forth in a 450-page volume issued today.

The report follows that on a similar investigation of vice conditions in New York city made a year ago under the auspices of Mr. Rockefeller's bureau.

Mr. Flexner spent more than a year in the preparation of his report in addition to the twelve months consumed in gathering material. It is published under the auspices of the bureau hygiene in the hope that ultimately some effectual means will be found to combat the evil in the United States. Mr. Rockefeller himself contributes the foreword.

"Sex education," says Dr. Flexner, "is the subject of as much controversy in Europe as in this country. Despite the prevalent notion to the contrary," he writes, "the subject of sex education is as yet very largely in the realm of theory or controversy. As to this point, a strange misconception obtains. In England, one hears that great progress has been made in this field in Germany; in Germany one is referred with equal positiveness to Scandinavia; in Scandinavia to Finland, whether, however, I did not pursue the will-o'-the-wisp. The facts are these: No recognition is given to sex instruction in English schools at all. The head masters and house masters in some of the great public schools—notably Eaton—endeavor, however, to gain the confidence of the boys individually. In Prussia which is representative of the states of the German empire, sex instruction of any kind is very rarely given at the popular schools.

"In Denmark and Norway, nothing either of a general or a compulsory character exists; Sweden practically repeats Russia, offering no instruction in popular schools, an optional lecture to last year students in the higher secondary schools, particularly those for girls, in the discretion of the head master or head mistress. Systematic or general instruction has developed at yet nowhere in Europe."

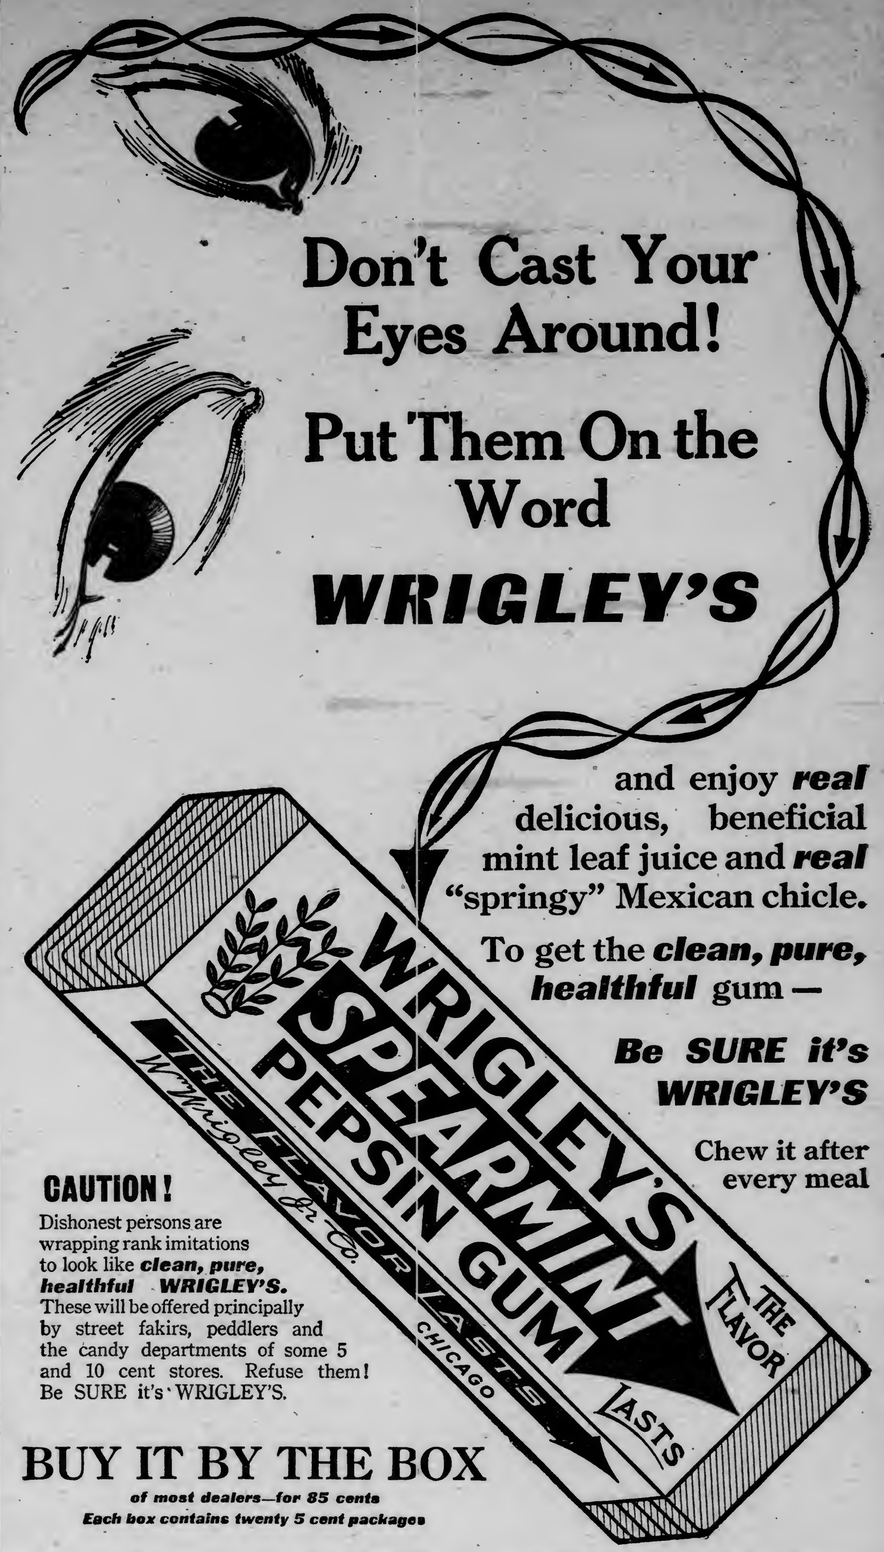

PLANNING TO SPEND NEARLY A MILLION

German National Aviation Committee's Program for This Year.

Berlin, Jan. 17.—The national aviation committee purposes to spend nearly a million dollars in the encouragement of aviation in Germany during 1914, according to plans recently announced. This is more than double the amount expended last year, when a total of $425,000 was appropriated.

The committee has also committed itself to spend $700,000, and further appropriations of about $300,000 are proposed. Large sums are set aside for instruction for aviators, for insurance, for prizes, for awarding the inventors of the best motors for aviation purposes, for promoting aviation in the German colonies, for establishing hydroaeroplane stations along the seacoast, and for aviation schools at Johannisthal and Munich. In view of the advances in aviation, the committee has decided that it will no longer pay premiums for flights of one hour, but will place the low limit for endurance flights at two hours.

Prince Henry of Prussia, who presided at the recent annual meeting of the committee, reviewed the enormous progress that has been effected between the time the Wright brothers made their first flight of twenty-nine seconds just ten years ago and the record of twenty-one hours made recently by Victor Stoeffler.

PARTISANSHIP AND THE UNIVERSITY.

The power of appointing members of the board of regents of the state university is in dangerous hands when it is used to vent a political grudge.

And that is precisely what happened when Governor Eberhart supplanted John Lind as a member of that board. The fact that he put a good man in his place adds no merit to the job, and takes from it no odium. He could not do otherwise.

The reports circulated by the governor through his personal organs that John Lind intends to devote himself to diplomacy, that he will not return to the practice of his profession in his home town, and that he was anxious to be relieved of his duties as regent, are lying and hypocritical.

The Minneapolis Journal puts the case strongly but rightly when it says:

> Governor Eberhart wants to refuse John Lind's reappointment to the board of university regents, because he is neither an Eberhart partisan nor even a Republican. As usual, the governor professes high public reasons for his selfish impulses, and gets newspaper sycophants to spread them before the public.
>
> If the governor wants to get Lind off the board, let him do it, but why not tell the truth about his reason for desiring to do so?
>
> Mr. Lind is far away, and nobody here knows if he wants reappointment. Those nearest to him know that the story that he has been detached from the state service is pure fiction. They know that Governor Eberhart's reason for wanting to push him out is personal, selfish and partisan.
>
> The university is divorced from politics. Regents never have been chosen or dispensed with for partisan, political or other unworthy motive. This is no time to begin the practice. The board should represent the whole state, regardless of party. Members of different parties inevitably included in this representation should represent their party's best.
> The strongest personal reason for desiring Lind's reappointment is that he is qualified above many and a leader among the state's citizens.

There is no better man in Minnesota for this work than John Lind; no man who can bring to it greater interest and higher capacity or who has given it more of his time.

John Lind was not deposed from the board of regents for the good of the university, or because he declined further to serve, or for any of the reasons put forth for this action.

He was removed because he is not only not a Republican, but because there is not a fiber in his being that is in accord with the type of Republicanism and the order of ring-governed officialdom which Eberhart represents and typifies.

This removal of a valuable member of the board of regents, in his absence from the state on a mission of high importance and for false reasons hypocritically put forth, is a stupid offense of ring partisanship against the state and the welfare of the university.

Down in Mexico the Federal league gets even less sympathy than it does this side the Rio Grande.

HAVE YOU PLANNED YOUR GARDEN?

If thou of fortune be bereft,
And in thy store there be but left
Two loaves—sell one, and with the dole
Buy hyacinths, to feed thy soul.
—James Terry White.

Have you planned your garden yet?

True enough, winter has but just begun, and spring seems far away. But though snows be deep and blasts chill, seed catalogues are ripe, a flood of them is pouring through the mails, and if you have not had a few directed your way, you are missing half the fun of life.

Now is the time to plan your garden. Reckoning your failures and mistakes of last year, and your successes; reckoning the area of your back yard estate and the capacity of your pocketbook; reckoning your appetite and that of your family for cabbages and flowers; reckoning all these things, plan your garden now and get your seed orders in while stocks are full. In seed-ordering, as in Christmas buying, it pays to do your shopping early.

Put your garden down on paper. Get the area of your vegetable garden and of your borders of annuals and perennials, and map them out to scale. Plan your planting just as you would plan your house. Put the rows north and south if you can; keep the tall stuff where it will not shade the low-growing kinds; group your flowers to avoid color discords.

And in planning your garden, don't forget the spirit of the quotation above. Have flowers, annuals and perennials both; and flowering shrubs and vines if you can. But in planning your seed orders, keep in mind the capacity of your ground. The catalogues are beautiful and tempting. You will want to buy a little of everything, but don't do it. Buy what you will have room for. It will be better to have plenty of a few things than to have a conglomerate with a little of everything.

And unless you are an experienced grower, get advice on what to grow. Don't try to grow wistaria and magnolias because they look pretty in the catalogue. They won't grow here. Many beautiful things will, and it is wise to limit your purchases to varieties that have been tested here and that you know will prosper.

Have your kitchen garden for fresh and cheap vegetables—and don't forget that pretty nearly everything can be canned and preserved so that you can get the benefit of your garden the year around.

But however limited your space, have some flowers, too. Most of the hardy annuals and perennials do beautifully in Duluth, but if you are beginning ask your neighbor who has a garden what kinds are sure to do well here.

Have a back yard garden of vegetables, fruits and flowers. Have it for economy. Have it because from it you will get better and fresher food than you can buy. Have it because there is pleasure and health and contentment in working in it. And plan it now.

As a suggestion for a bad investment, why not put up a toll gate in the Straits of Magellan after the Panama canal gets into operation?

SHOULD NOT BE ACCEPTED.

The Herald does not believe that there is any reason yet apparent why Commissioner Murchison should accept the resignation of City Engineer Wilson, which has been placed in his hands.

It comes at the close of the first season of paving work under the commission plan, a season which showed marked improvements over work done under the old system, and which gave promise of still greater improvement in the future. It was dictated, we are inclined to believe, by a sensitiveness disproportioned to the occasion for it.

For we have heard little criticism of Mr. Wilson's work of a character or from a source deserving or receiving public respect. There has been criticism, it is true, of an insistent and malicious nature; but we agree with Mr. Wilson that most of this criticism entirely lacked good faith, and certainly it lacked both definiteness and credibility. If Commissioner Murchison takes this occasion to demand that these critics now make good or hereafter hold their peace, that will be going as far as he would be warranted in going at this time.

On the whole, the public judgment of Mr. Wilson's work seems to be favorable, and this despite the fact that he is the poorest kind of a man to "boost his own game." There seems to be little if any question that he is capable, honest, conscientious and even painfully anxious to get good work done and to show good results.

It isn't a good thing to let it be known that a conscientious public servant can be hectored out of office by the carping of not disinterested critics, and it wouldn't be a good thing for Mr. Murchison's department to have that happen in this case.

Twelve thousand dollars stolen from an express company in Pennsylvania was found in a crock of flour, which would seem to justify the time-honored practice of referring to money as "dough."

EVENING.

The curfew tolls the knell of parting day,
The lowing herd wind slowly o'er the lea,
The ploughman homeward plods his weary way,
And leaves the world to darkness and to me.

It is evening in the country.

The sun's vanishing red fades over the hills in the west. The valley has turned from light to gray, from gray to deeper gray, and now to mellow darkness. Lights, warm, winking, beckoning, friendly lights, twinkle out here and there, each marking the warmth and welcome of a farm home, and kindling in the imagination a picture of a fire on the hearth, a bountiful supper table, good cheer within and warm hearts to enjoy it and to share it gladly with the wayfarer. The cheery tinkle of the bells marks the home-coming of the cattle. The weary ploughman hastens his steps as the tempting odors from the kitchen tickle his nostrils. Supper, a brief, quiet evening by the lamp and the fire, downy beds, deep sleep.

It is evening in the city.

The whistles that signal the closing of the day's work have shrilled. The streets have filled with the outpouring of office buildings, factories, stores. The cars are bearing homeward their sardine-box loads of tired humanity. The street lights flash out suddenly. In the street canyons, the sun has been lost to view long since, and gathering dusk is softening the harsh outlines of the skyscrapers. In the home districts lights are twinkling, thicker and thicker. Mansions are ablaze, and from the humbler homes lights beam their welcome to the home-comers from the kitchens, where the housewives are preparing the evening meal for the tired workers who go forth each morning to swarm in the hives of industry and commerce, and come back each evening to renew their spirits in the modest comforts of the home circle.

The evening meal—"dinner" in the mansions, "supper" in the cots—over, the family scatters. The "movey," the dance hall, and the theater are well patronized. The quiet evening circle around the living room light attracts a few—fewer than it did once—and lecture halls and concert rooms a few—but not many. Bed time is a moveable feast—it may be any time from nine to three. Wearied workers, if lucky, get sound sleep. Many with tortured brains and racked nerves, torn by problems that haunt the chamber no less than the office, roll and toss and sleep fitfully. Many welcome the dawn as the beginning of a new day of opportunity; many dread its coming as the beginning of a new battle with hopeless conditions.

The city is alive and lighted and uneasy and hectic long after the country has wrapped itself in sweet peace and in darkness that hides no terrors and no deeds of evil.

With the prosecutor of Beiliss knighted and Beiliss presented with a farm by Rothschild, it begins to look as if that trial was more or less of a good thing for all concerned.

DULUTH'S STRONG POSITION.

The strength of Duluth's position in the financial and commercial world was shown again yesterday by the quarterly statements of its national and state banks. Deposits showed a substantial increase over the corresponding statement day a year ago. Business activity in all lines was reflected by a still more substantial increase in loans, while the strength of the banking situation was proved by a marked increase in the combined resources of the banks.

The solidity of Duluth's business and financial foundation, and the activity of its industrial and commercial enterprises, are equaled by few communities in this country and exceeded by still fewer.

National banks in Duluth have over twenty-three million dollars on deposit in them. How much of that is yours?

TAX LUXURY AND DISPLAY.

Victor Morawetz, a well known New York publicist, made an interesting suggestion the other day in a letter to the New York Times. His proposal is that heavy taxes be laid upon the means of "unproductive consumption of labor and capital." This, he thinks, is a policy sounder than taxing fortunes or incomes simply on account of their size and without regard to their source or use.

Says the Times, commenting on this suggestion:

> It is strange that those who, like Theodore Roosevelt and Thomas R. Marshall, have declaimed against the idle and spendthrift rich and have practically advocated confiscation of their wealth, most of which is invested in productive industry, have not aimed their shafts simply at the ostentation of the rich. Food, shelter and clothing are the prime requisites of existence. Luxurious feasts, costly mansions standing on broad estates, extravagant equipages and long retinues of servants represent the satisfaction, not of necessity, but of luxury. Why not tax them? * * * Whatever the intent might be of a tax on the expenditures of the rich for luxury or display (whether to prohibit or to raise revenue), its results would be far preferable to those achieved by confiscating estates or taxing enterprise, as is currently proposed. Men who are guiding great industries are producers, their work benefits the entire community, supplying its needs and giving work to its toilers. The work that is expended in ministering to the luxuries of the rich, Mr. Morawetz says, is a dead loss to the community, which must pay the cost of the luxuries and of the labor that enters into their production and use.
> If the tax which he suggests seem burdensome, it would not hurt the rich to live more simply and thus legitimately to evade the burden.

This goes deep, and is the fruit of deep thinking.

The social value of the millions wasted on the ostentation of the rich is not only nothing, but much less than nothing.

Extravagance and ostentation the world over, whether of royalty, nobility or the merely rich, costs the world's toilers a tremendous sum every year. And it is a bitterer burden because it not only serves no good purpose, but does evil—by example, by deprivation, and even by actual injury to those allowed to indulge in it.

The capital and labor diverted from useful purposes to serve the purposes of idle display and ostentation have increased enormously, and economists came long ago to recognize in this diversion an evil that was constantly increasing the burdens of society. The more capital and labor required for extravagance and useless ostentation, the less the capital and labor available for the actual necessities of human living. So great has this diversion become that much poverty and misery the world around, and much "hard times" and financial stringency, can be laid at its door.

The wealth of men who are actual producers, as the Times says, because they direct great enterprises, can be and will be taken care of by increasingly heavy inheritance taxes—for though fathers of wealth may be producers, sons and daughters of inherited wealth are not, and are not likely to be. Far better for them and for society if the state takes most of it, and compels them by necessity to become producers in their turn.

In the meantime, the plan of heavily taxing the means of ostentation and display is one from which society at large can derive no harm, and from which society at large and even those who may be forced by it into wholesome simple living would certainly derive great good.

Now that the office men of the city have organized, how long before similar action may be looked for by the office boys?

"A COG IN THE MACHINE."

"What's the good of it all?"

A worker in the ranks, discouraged because of his long stay in the ranks, asked the question.

"Here I am, shelved for life, a mere cog in the machine. I have landed in a place where I appear to be doomed for life, and where I must go round and round, like that little cog in the machine there!"

He should praise God that he has found a place of usefulness.

He should think of the many who have failed to fit in anywhere, who go from job to job, alternating employment with idleness, with the idle time becoming an increasing proportion.

He should remember, too, that though there are big cogs and little cogs, the machine would stop as surely without the one as without the other.

The little cog is as essential to the successful operation of the machine as the big fly-wheel.

He should respect his job, be it never so humble. Humble though it be, he can be sure of this: it is useful, and necessary, or he would not be on the pay roll.

And a man who respects his job, whatever it is so long as it is respectable, and gives it the best there is in him, is an important factor in the community life—as indispensable, if he make himself indispensable, as the big fly-wheel boss whom he envies.

And the man who gives his humble job the best there is in him is the kind of a man the boss is looking for.

Little cogs become big cogs and big fly-wheels in the human mechanism of industry.

Gen. Villa says he is going to give the Huerta forces a through licking and Huerta says he isn't. Seems foolish to fight a big battle over such a mere difference of opinion.

THE COMMISSION PLAN FOR THE STATE.

The Kansas penitentiary burned the other day, and Governor Hodges of that state used the incident to point his advocacy of the commission plan for state governments.

"If the legislature had been in session when the penitentiary burned," he said, "we could have easily arranged for its rehabilitation at that time. We could have arranged for the helping of those who were needy in the drought. The public can keep an eye on a small legislature of a few members. The light of publicity can be turned upon them, so to speak, and light is as salutary in politics as in hygiene."

When you come to think of it, the present system of state government is the height of absurdity. It is accepted only because people know no other kind.

The legislature meets every other year, sits a few months, dawdles the first two-thirds of the sessions, shoots through an ill-digested mass of laws in the remaining third of the session, and then adjourns, leaving the state to run itself according to the rules it has hastily laid down for the governance of public officials.

For two years, then, the state lacks any authority to meet an emergency, unless it resorts to the difficult, expensive and hazardous experiment of an extraordinary session. Penitentiaries may burn, droughts or other calamities may afflict, hades may loose its floodgates of terror upon the state; but there is no legislature to meet even the most trifling emergency.

Minnesota, at a cost of nearly a hundred thousand dollars a year, is maintaining an unwieldly, bunglesome legislature of nearly two hundred members, which puts in three months out of twenty-four shooting through a flood of laws which may or may not be needed, which may or may not be wise or wisely framed, and then is unavailable and useless the remaining twenty months.

Suppose, instead of this ridiculous body, the state had a legislature of say ten members, one from each congressional district to insure each part of the state its representation, but all elected at large to insure from each the fullest responsiveness to the needs of the whole state, in session all the time to meet all emergencies, paid salaries large enough to attract good men (though the bill would still be less than it is now), and passing laws only when they are needed instead of burdening the state with half a hundred more or less silly laws passed because the legislature comes together every two years and supposes that it is expected to pass a lot of laws.

Where would be the harm of such an arrangement? It would be cheaper. It would be simpler. It would fix personal responsibility more definitely and more clearly. It would secure what is lacking now, the consideration of the state's interests as a whole instead of merely the consideration of a multitude of small districts in which the state's interests are often lost. It would lessen the number of new laws, and increase the practicality of the laws that are passed.

Wouldn't it be a marked improvement in every way?

There is but one peril—a small legislative body would be more easily controlled by designing private interests than a large one. But hitch up the recall, the initiative and the referendum to this system, and that peril vanishes.

Why should not Minnesota point the way to better state government by adopting this plan and letting it be known as "the Minnesota idea?"

Riley is to be succeeded in the Massachusetts Democratic organization by O'Leary, while O'Connell is to be secretary and O'Rierden treasurer. What's all this about home rule?

THE PRICE OF A HEAD OF CABBAGE.

In the attack on the problem of the high cost of living, the most obvious line of campaign is to bring about a simpler and cheaper process of getting food from those who raise it to those who eat it.

That involves, first, better roads.

It involves, second, finding a more direct route from grower to consumer.

Here, from the New York Sun, is an illuminating outline of the present devious and expensive journey of food products from the field to the table:

> A cabbage head is grown by a small farmer in Connecticut, who gets a cent and a half for it.
>
> It goes first to the commission merchant, who lives in Riverside drive, pays two thousand dollars a year for his apartment, keeps an automobile, and spends seven thousand dollars a year.
>
> Next the cabbage is sent to the wholesaler, who lives on West End avenue, in an eighteen-hundred-dollar apartment, keeps an automobile and spends six thousand dollars a year.
>
> Thence the cabbage goes to the jobber, who lives in a fifteen-hundred-dollar apartment on upper Broadway, keeps an automobile and spends five thousand dollars a year.
> From him the cabbage goes to the retailer, who lives in a seven-hundred-dollar apartment on a side street, has a corner store for which he pays twenty-five dollars a month rent, keeps two delivery wagons at a cost of a hundred and forty dollars a month and spends twenty-five hundred dollars a year on his living.
> Finally, the cabbage gets to Mr. Ultimate Consumer, who lives in a forty-dollars-a-month tenement, rides in the trolley car or subway, spends all he can make or a little more to live, and pays for that head of cabbage thirteen cents.

Obviously, if that cabbage could go direct from the grower to Mr. Ultimate Consumer, or even to the retailer, the cost of these handsome apartments, automobiles and lavish living expenses could be saved, and divided between the grower and the consumer.

Take a lesson from the experience of Prof. Taft and don't neglect to settle that little matter of your taxes.

New York the Capital of Mexico

World's Work: The largest financial stake in Mexico is not Mexican at all, but foreign. And of this foreign interest, the largest part is American. On this subject statistics are numerous but confusing. Judging from the attempts that several authorities have made to answer the question, "What is the amount of American investments in Mexico," and the conflicting nature of the replies, the question is not readily answerable. The figures range all the way from $500,000,000 to $1,000,000,000. One difficulty is that many of the largest investments cannot be assigned to any one nation—they are rather international in character. This is true of the largest investment of all, the railroads. The casual traveler in Mexico at once puts down the railroads as American investments. With a few exceptions Americans built them all. They are American in engineering and construction. The rolling stock is American; one rides in "cars" and not in "carriages," spends the night in "sleepers," not in "wagon-lits." The presidents and nearly all the executive officers are Americans, and the American negro still maintains his empire as Pullman porter. An American banking house, Speyer & Co., acts as fiscal agent of the national system. Yet, when things are analyzed more in detail, Europeans are the largest holders in Mexican railroad securities.

But, whatever the actual facts of investment may be, the people who are doing the work of "opening up" Mexico everywhere are mainly Americans. Mexican commerce with the United States, likewise, enormously exceeds that with any other foreign nation; the tables of trade statistics, indeed, show that the United States imports and exports more articles than all the rest of the world combined. Industrially and financially considered, the real capital of Mexico is not Mexico City, but New York.

On Curing a Cold

Mark Twain in Bleaches New and Old.

The first time I began to sneeze a friend told me to bathe my feet in hot water and go to bed. I did so. Shortly afterwards another friend advised me to get up and take a cold shower bath. I did that also. Within that hour another friend assured me it was good policy to "feed a cold and starve a fever." So I thought it best to fill myself up for the cold and then keep dark and let the fever starve for a while.

I started down toward the office. Another bosom friend told me that a quart of salt water taken warm would come as near curing a cold as anything in the world. I hardly thought I had room for it but I tried it anyhow. The result was surprising. I believed I had thrown up my immortal soul.

Now, as I am giving my experience only for the benefit of those who are troubled with the distemper I am writing about, I feel that they will see the propriety of my cautioning them against such portions of it as proved inefficient with me, and acting upon this conviction, I warn them against warm salt water. It may be a good enough remedy, but I think it is too severe. If I had another cold in the head, and there were no other course left me but to take a quart of warm salt water or an earthquake, I would take my chances on the earthquake.

After the storm raging in my stomach subsided, no more good samaritans happening along, I went on borrowing handkerchiefs again and blowing them to atoms, until I came across a lady who had just arrived from over the plains where doctors were scarce and had from necessity acquired considerable skill in the treatment of family complaints. I knew she must have had experience for she looked to be 150 years old.

She mixed a decoction composed of molassess, aquafortis, turpentine and various other drugs and instructed me to take a wineglass full of it every fifteen minutes. I never took but one dose; that was enough; it robbed me of all moral principle and awoke every unworthy impulse in my nature. Under its malign influence my brain conceived miracles of meanness, but my hands were too feeble to execute them; at that time, had it not been that my strength had succumbed to a succession of infallible remedies for my cold, I am satisfied that I would have tried to rob the graveyard.

Like most other people I often feel mean and act accordingly, but until I took that medicine I had never reveled in such supernatural depravity and felt proud of it.

At the end of two days I was ready to go to doctoring again. I took a few more unfailing remedies and finally drove my cold from my head to my lungs. I conversed in a thundering bass, two octaves below my natural tone. I could only compass my regular nightly repose by coughing myself down to a state of utter exhaustion, and then the moment I began to talk in my sleep my discordant voice woke me up again.

My case grew more and more serious every day. Plain gin was recommended; I took it. Then gin and molasses; I took that also. Then gin and onions; I added the onions and took all three. I detected no particular result, except that I had acquired a breath like a buzzard.

A sheet bath was recommended. I had never refused a remedy yet, and it seemed poor policy to begin then. Therefore I determined to take a sheet bath, although I had no idea what sort of arrangement it was. It was administered at midnight and the weather was frosty. My breast and back were bared, and a sheet (there appeared to be a thousand yards of it) soaked in ice water, was wound around me until I resembled a swab for a columbiad. It was a cruel expedient. When the chilly rag touches one's warm flesh it makes him start with sudden violence and gasp for breath just as men do in the death agony. It froze the marrow in my heart. I thought my time had come.

When the sheet bath failed a young lady friend recommended the application of a mustard plaster to my breast. I believe that would have cured me effectually if it had not been for young Wilson. When I went to bed I put the mustard plaster—which was a very gorgeous one eighteen inches square—where I could reach it when ready, but young Wilson got hungry in the night and—here is food for imagination.

In San Francisco a lady at the hotel told me to drink a quart of whisky every twenty-four hours and a friend down advised the same course. That made half a gallon. I did it and still live.

Now with the kindest motives in the world I offer for the consideration of consumptive patients the variegated course of treatment I lately went through.

The Williams Appointment.

Indianapolis News: Yesterday the president sent to the senate the nomination of John Skelton Williams to be controller of the currency. Mr. Williams, who is at present assistant secretary of the treasury, will, it is said, be opposed by certain Wall Street influences. The objection to him is, not as controller, but as member of the Federal reserve board, which, as controller, he would be. As far as the public knows, the hostility to Mr. Williams grows entirely out of business differences. There is, we suppose, no question of the man's character, ability or knowledge. He is a banker, and the head of an old banking house in Richmond. But he has not been subservient to the National City bank crowd of New York. Indeed, he managed to put through a great railroad enterprise without its help and over its opposition.

If that is all there is to the fight that is to be made on Williams it will not amount to much. If there is anything more, any real reason why he should not be confirmed, the facts will be brought out, for the banking and currency committee will give the objectors a chance to make their case—if they can. Everyone will agree that the success of the new banking system depends very largely on the character an dability of the men who, as members of the Federal reserve board, are to administer it. That being so, the senate will not be blamed for looking closely into the question of the fitness of the appointees of the president. For the senate, as well as the president, has a duty to perform.

But the country will not consider the enmity of the powerful group of New York bankers as evidence of unfitness. Rather it will be regarded as a recommendation. And then, not because the New York bankers are bad men, but because one of the chief objects sought is the curtailment of their power. The people will not agree that the new system shall be administered by representatives of the very men whose control of the credit and commerce of the country it was found necessary to break. It is believed that the Williams appointment will be confirmed without much delay.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

Investing in Self.

He who wishes an investment that is permanent and profitable should consider the field of his own personality. Banks fail and stocks pass dividends but he who puts his substance into his own spirit will never lose principle or interest. The beauty of the deposit in the bank of character is that it survives any shock of disaster whatsoever.

It is well for us to think of ourselves habitually as immortal beings. Born out of eternity by the fiat of God, the time shall never come through all the rolling ages when we shall not be. One may well treat with consideration that which is to outlast the stars. We should be willing to spend enough at least to make ourselves as attractive as possible for the service of man and for the glory of God.

How much of his income may a youth rightly expend on himself? None of it surely on extravagant personal pleasures. But he should not stint on a real equipment for life and service and happiness. His body should be properly nourished, clad and housed. His health must be conserved, his brain kept active, his education be the best obtainable. He should keep himself at the highest point of efficiency that his earning power be constantly increased. His case, in earlier years at least, is quite analagous to that of the merchant who systematically puts his profits back into the business in order to enlarge and establish it.

The investment in the inner kingdom may well be a generous one. "Empty your purse into your head," advised Ben Franklin. A well furnished mind is an invaluable asset in any pursuit that men follow. I had rather retain through life the ability to be inspired by good books for instance, than to have a vault full of gold pieces. He has a great and unfailing resource who is on friendly terms with great characters of all ages. James Russell Lowell lying on his couch, in his last illness told his friend, Dr. Holmes, that he had forgotten all his bodily pains for he was deep in Rob Roy. A mind like that, sensitive to the appeal of the novelist's fancy and the poet's dream, is a greater possession than the wealth of the Indes.

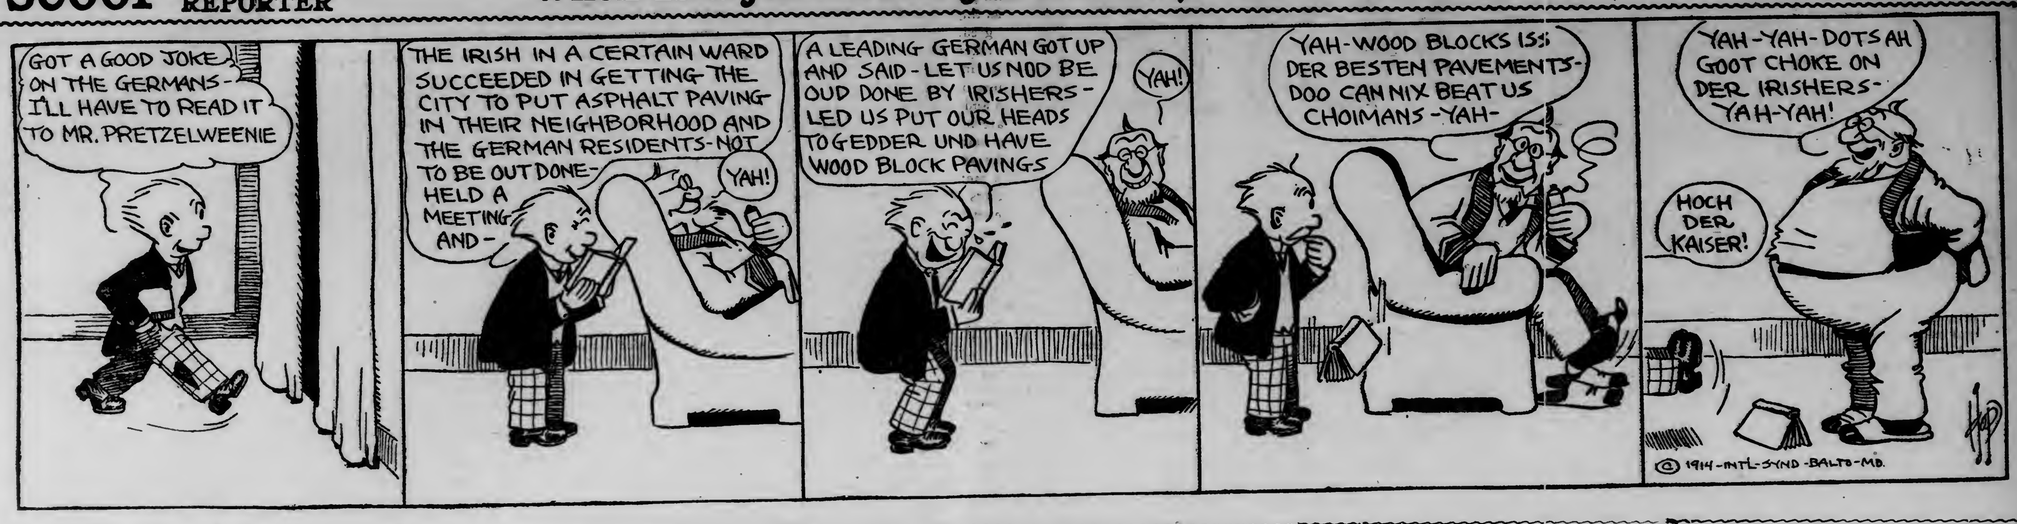

He who has trained his will to be a veritable dynamo driving him to choose the right, to persevere and to conquer, he who has educated that imperial faculty named conscience, till, like a compass with needle pointing due north, it guides him safely across the sea of life, has made an investment of eternal value. In this world and in the world beyond he is going to draw rich interest on such spiritual capital.

Let the man be held always more than his possessions. "The life is more than meat and the body than raiment." Not seldom we scrimp and save to put a few dollars in the bank for our heirs to quarrel over which we had better expend on our own enlargement, to make ourselves more liveable and more loveable. We leave the world as penniless as we came into it, not taking a dollar of our hoard. But no man need leave the world poor in soul.

"Lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven," bids the greatest Teacher. Is not heaven a state of the soul beginning here below? The same Teacher taught that when He said, "The kingdom of heaven is within you." If heaven must be in a man at last, no pains one can take are too great that his spirit may be developed and enriched for its eternal habitation.

ROOSEVELT AND SOUTH AMERICA

By SAVOYARD

Washington, Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The colonel is in South America engaged in his favorite stunt of teaching other folks how to behave. He is an extraordinary personality, a wonderful character. Not only is he a man of powerful intellect, but he has ceaseless industry, boundless ambition, approved courage, civic zeal and physical energy rarely equaled in the story of mankind.

Roosevelt had a purpose in going to South America. The Panama canal will open that country to the adventure of the great commercial nations of the world. It is the most prodigally endowed of all the continents. Powerful and opulent nations will be there ere the twentieth century quits this world. The next third of a century our relations with South America will be a great problem of our politics. They are not going to be "wards" much longer. They hate our construction of what is called the Monroe doctrine. They believe they ought to be free, and are resolved to be free of our guardianship. It is a delicate question. I do believe that Woodrow Wilson has shown us the only way to handle it, and that to apply a little justice as a solvent of the equation.

There is this about Teddy Roosevelt—he is more richly endowed with that quality which for lack of a better name we may call "instinct," than any man since Lincoln, with the exception of Woodrow Wilson. Less intellectual than Wilson, he is a great deal more spectacular. Even as well-poised a man as Grover Cleveland declared that an American who had once been president would forever regret the loss of his power. I wish I had it at hand, for I'd like to quote what Balzac said of a newspaper man out of a job. I've been in that fix, and it is the only subject I can talk about with a little bit of degree of eloquence and entertainment. Well, if that was the way Cleveland thought about it, what must be the agony of mind that waits on Roosevelt about it!

Roosevelt very nearly destroyed himself politically in 1884 when he contemplated mugwumpery in resentment for the nomination of Mr. Blaine for president by his party at Chicago. Certain it is that George William Curtis and Henry Ward Beecher confidently expected him to mugwump. Had he done so he would have never been president. There is a story that it was the advice of the late William C. P. Breckinridge of Kentucky that restrained him from supporting Cleveland. No doubt when he went hunting out West after the nomination of Blaine Roosevelt had resolved to mugwump.

His instinct saved him then and made him president later; but in 1912 Theodore Roosevelt's instinct failed him. He would not have been a candidate against Taft had he not calculated that Champ Clark had the Democratic nomination nailed down. He felt that, if nominated, he could beat Clark. He also knew that he could not beat Wilson, but he never dreamed that Wilson would beat Clark at Baltimore. Here was his fundamental and fatal mistake—he depended on the theretofore inveterate assHood of the Democratic party, that last year was carted over and dumped on the Republican side of the hedge where they have taken to it and accepted it as "duck to dough-tray."

Taft, too, was expecting the nomination of Clark, and that is what made him so anxious for the nomination at Chicago. Indeed, there was not one single Republican between the two oceans who was not pulling for the nomination of Clark—not one. And after it was all over and Wilson was nominated the indignation of the Republican party was fierce and at one time I began to fear that the Republican party would force another session of the Baltimore convention and have it over again.

But Roosevelt knows what he is doing. He is a candidate for president. He knows that a burning question is, "What shall we do to South America?" and that is what he is doing down there.

But then the Democrats have a man of even greater instinct in command and he will show you how to treat all Latin America and the rest of mankind.

ANOTHER POLISH ANNIVERSARY

Poles Commemorate an Anniversary of the January Insurrection.

On Jan. 22, the Poles will commemorate the anniversary of the third insurrection in Poland.

This so-called "January Insurrection" took place in Poland in the year of 1863-64, during the time when margrave Wielopolski was at the head of the civil government. This man, although he possessed great administrative abilities and did a lot of good in Poland, was a very proud and jealous potentate, persecuting all those who were of an opposite opinion. He had continuously insulted the national feelings of the Poles, therefore the people, especially the youths, were slowly clamorng for an uprising.

Wielopolski, seeing that the hostile movement is taking hold of the whole nation, in order to get rid of the instigating element, the young Poles, issued orders for an irregular, compulsory call to the army, the so-called "branka." This order was principally directed against the instigators of the uprising. By doing so, Wielopolski involuntarily became the cause of the insurrection.

The military order had caused many of the young Poles to disappear and hide in the forests and woods, where they began to arm themselves. Following their example, a great number of smaller and larger detachments of insurrectionists have formed and hid in the different forests, armed and ready to give battle. The so-called "national government" in Warsaw, composed principally of the young Poles, directed the uprising. This national government has issued, on the 22nd day of January, 1863, a proclamation to the people at large, calling to arms all able bodied Poles, irrespective to creed or personal standing, to fight for their country.

In a short time the insurrection took hold of the whole territory of Poland in Russia. Suppressed in one place it took rise in another, with greater stamina and vigor. New and more numerous detachments of insurrectionists appeared on the battlefield. Alas, the Poles, although willing and inbued with sacrifice, yet untrained properly in warfare, seldom defeated their enemy.

For over a year the Polish blood poured over the territory of Poland in Russia; almost a thousand of skirmishes and battles are recorded in the annals of warfare; the number of killed and wounded has reached 35,000 men; at least 150,000 were exiled, and nearly all of the leaders were either killed in the battles or executed. The insurrection began to weaken continuously, until in the first half of the year of 1864 it fell entirely. The cruel persecution of Poles by Berg in Warsaw and Murawiew in Vilno finished the rest of it.

Words canot describe the blood thirst and cruelty of these two tyrants, especially Murawiew, whom they have called "the hangster." He, on the least provocation or even suspicion, sentenced his victims to be shot, hanged or exiled. In all the cities of Lithuania he has erected terrible instruments of execution, where daily the best sons of the country were sent to death by his order. Where one member of the family was suspected of political trespass, all were executed; for protecting an insurrectionist he has burned whole villages; armed insurrectionists captured on the battlefields were cruelly tortured; they were eviscerated, their eyes torn out, etc.

If the battles for independence, in spite of the heroic endeavors and numerous victories of the Poles, ultimately have always brought negative results, sciences and fine arts have nevertheless made a wonderful progress in Poland after her partition. The Polish nation has not died, and Poland—although not existing as a politically independent country—lives and gives proofs, daily, of her existence.

One of the proofs is the organizing power of the Poles here in America. Over one hundred thousand of loyal sons and daughters of Poland have organized under the banner of the Polish National Alliance of America, and they are working faithfully for the good of their beloved country. They are earnestly enlightening and educating themselves, they are uplifting themselves morally and spiritually, so that they become worthy of the moment when their country calls to them for help to liberate her from the chains of slavery thrust upon her by her triple-headed and monstrous enemy, Austria, Russia and Germany.

Chief, Press and Information Bureau of the Polish National Alliance of the United States of North America.

REMARKABLE SNAPSHOT OF RUNAWAY INCLINE CAR

This is an enlargement taken from a snapshot of the car, which ran down the incline on May 28, 1901, when the old pavilion on the hilltop was burned. The snapshot as shown here, is believed to have been the only feature taken of the car while it was in motion. The picture is in the possession of Fireman Martin Johnson.

The car had gone up the incline and was waiting on the hilltop when the fire started. During the fire the cable burned through and the car ran at a mad rate of speed down the tracks until it reached the bottom of the hill, where the body of the car was torn from the wheels and shot across Superior street.

No one was on the car during its descent, but many passengers had been on board during its ascending trip. Among the passengers was D. C. Moore, superintendent of the street railway company.

The car was in charge of Conductor Willoughby, who went West after severing his connections with the company a few years ago.

HELP FOR "DOWN AND OUT"

Duluth Has Institutions to Provide for Almost Every Possible Case of Destitution, Illness or Misfortune.

When it comes to extending the helping hand to the unfortunate, relieving the distressed, and assisting the men or women who are "down and out" to get onto their feet, Duluth will undoubtedly rank foremost among cities of its size in the country.

At least judging from the growth during the past few years of the charitable and semi-philanthropic institutions of the city, not only in variety of character, but also in number, it is reasonable to suppose that there are few if any cities which are better equipped for meeting every situation in which the unfortunate may find himself.

While it appears to be quite generally conceded among students of local social conditions that in many instances there are duplications in the work and that a particular field could have been covered as well with fewer institutions, nevertheless the peculiar mission of each particular charity or semi-philanthropic institution is felt in the community.

Women and children, who fall victims to misfortune, and find themselves thrown on charity, are particularly well taken care of. If a young woman is stranded in the city she will always find either the doors of the Y. W. C. A. or the municipal lodging house open to her. If she has been a wronged woman the Bethel Home for Women will take her in. If a young girl and in need of discipline and training, she may become an inmate of the county industrial home school for girls recently established on London road.

Homeless Orphans.

Homeless little waifs, orphans and some children with but one of their parents living, are received at a number of institutions. Chief among these are the Children's Home and St. James' orphanage and the home for county children conducted by Mrs. Margaret Finkle at 16 West Fifth street.

The lumberjack and the harvest hand and other men who often find themselves "broke" at a time when work is scarce, can vouch that the Bethel has done much for them. Many a meal and many a night's lodging has been given these men free. The institution is partly supported by subscription, but is mostly self-supporting.

In this connection it is interesting to note that during the past year at the Bethel, according to the annual report of Supt. Henry Ramseyer, 16,621 persons were cared for. A total of 2,422 free meals was served, and free beds were provided for 884. Employment was secured for 661, and in 48 cases clothing was provided. The police lodging house at the headquarters station is also well patronized by idle men every night.

The Associated Charities aims to act as a sort of a clearing house for the various agencies and to concentrate disconnected efforts along a certain line. This organization, of which Miss Edna G. Meeker is secretary, attempts to prevent duplications in charitable contributions and to otherwise direct the work.

Following is a list of charitable or semi-philanthropic institutions of the city and what they stand for:

Women and Children.

Bethel Home for Women, 430-432 Sixth avenue east; Jessie E. Mauck, superintendent. Primarily a hospital for maternity cases. No woman is turned away because she cannot pay.

Children's home, 504 Fifteenth avenue east; Anna S. McGregor, matron. A non-sectarian boarding home for orphans or dependant children.

The DOCTOR'S HELPS

By DONALD McCASKEY, M. D.
Member of Staff, General Hospital, Lancaster, Pa.; Fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine

FOR A DULL HEADACHE AND URINATING 24 TIMES DAILY

A lady in much distress writes: "Some months ago I was operated upon in the hospital. My womb was straightened and a tumor removed. My bladder troubled me, but for the last six months I have been taking medicine. Of late I've stopped and have been drinking lots of water and taking proper exercise, according to the doctor's directions. There exists a dull backache and a heavy, miserable feeling, making me void my urine at least twenty-four times a day, sometimes a fair quantity, at other times but a few drops. I feel as though I must void my urine all the time. I don't want to take any more medicine and will continue the water and exercise if you think in time I will get all right. What shall I do? I believe in your ideas."

You either have a low grade inflammation of the inside lining of your bladder, ureters or urethra, or else your womb, when its position was changed—"straightened"—as your letter expresses it, presses too firmly up against the rear wall of your bladder from the outside.

The bladder must have sufficient room to expand when there is an accumulation of urine. If this leeway does not exist, the urine naturally finds the outlet of least resistance, which is, of course, through the urethra.

It is impossible to diagnose what your exact trouble is by mail. But from your letter the cause of your annoyance looks to me to be from one of the two above-mentioned possibilities. Why not have your doctor thoroughly examine you? Get at the root of your trouble. Don't guess. Then, once you know wherein the cause for your constant irritation of your bladder lies, you can proceed intelligently. The advice of your physician about water and exercise is excellent. But it looks as though a deeper study is necessary, and if I were examining you I should absolutely want to know by personal digital examination the exact fixed position of that womb in its present relation to your bladder, as the latter lies right in front of the womb.

CONCERNING THE PROMPT TREATMENT OF HERPES.

"What can I do for herpes? What is the cause and my chances for a cure?" (Signed) M. I. B.

Herpes is a series of blisters which pick out the locality among the course of a nerve. There is a defective condition of your nutrition which must be corrected first before you can get straightened out. Do this: Take a hot tub bath just before retiring every other night. Apply a wet dressing over the blister areas and keep the dressing wet. Of course there may be times when this is impossible, but the more constantly the dressing is kept wet the quicker the healing. Live upon a strictly vegetable diet, with the addition of peanuts, almonds, English walnuts, peanut butter and all the fruits you can get. You must bring about a better condition of purity within your system. This will give your clogged, disordered nutrition a better chance. Take every other afternoon two tablespoonfuls of castor oil. Keep this up for two weeks if need be. Don't expect a cure to come in a hurry. You will only be disappointed. Eat at least three lemons a day. Drink two glasses of pure grape juice daily also. Your nerves require more of the acid juices of fruits to hasten the internal cleansing process. If two weeks does not afford you perfect relief, consult your physician. Your case may be of such a stubborn type as to demand the skilled application of the X-ray. Your doctor can advise you as to just whom to have treat you. Do not think that every person who has an X-ray machine knows all about treating a disease with it.

SOMETHING OF THE MAN WHO RUNS THE KANSAS CITY STAR

Emporia, Kan., Gazette: For a third of a century the Kansas City Star has been the leading newspaper of the Missouri valley. It is today one of the ten best newspapers in the world, and perhaps is in the first half of the list. It is known among newspaper men all over the English-speaking world as a brave, clean, wise journal of the best public opinion. In Kansas and in Kansas City the influence of the Star is stronger than it is elsewhere, and literally hundreds of thousands of men and women are inclined to accept an opinion of the Star as final in most matters of politics and public concern. Personally—if one may use the word about a newspaper—the Star is an exceptionally impersonal newspaper for one so intensely personal. For the Star is, after all, a one-man paper; everyone knows that the Star is owned and edited by William R. Nelson; his name is more permanent in Kansas and Missouri than any other name has been in a generation; governors, senators, congressmen, mayors and gangs, clans, dynasties and houses have risen and fallen in these thirty years in the Star's territory; some of these principalities and powers have agreed with Mr. Nelson, others have hated his insides with seething hate. Yet they have come and gone, and he has remained permanent. Their fames and figures and peccadillos and eccentricities have been known of men and forgotten of men; but the man, William R. Nelson, in all these years has remained—but practically unknown. If he should walk into a political convention of any party in Kansas or Missouri, or even in Kansas City itself, not a dozen leaders would know him. His name is known; he is as much a matter of speculation and discussion at certain seasons of the year as the weather, yet the man himself, the real flesh and blood W. R. Nelson, is unknown. More than this, he has directed and edited this paper, a paper of exceptional force and effectiveness all these years, yet he has never written a dozen lines for his paper, so that not only is the man himself unknown in face and figure, but he has no personal style of writing such that people taking up the Star may say: "Ah—here's richness—here's something from Mr. Nelson himself." He is the most anonymous celebrity in the world.

For that reason, at the beginning of an active season when the Star in Kansas and Missouri politics will begin to come into its full glory of praise and blame, a few words about William R. Nelson, the man, may be in place. Imagine first a big man—tall, full-blooded, with a large head set on a pair of broad, square, manly shoulders and a full, deep chest; imagine a ruddy, rugged, kindly face; not of a moon-face genial person, but a sunny-visaged, strong, determined face—one that smiles easily but one also that doesn't always smile, but for all that the merry countenance that a glad heart makes. Imagine straight, frank, unflinching eyes, not bold eyes, but essentially wise and gentle, with enough of twinkle in them at times to encourage candor—which is sometimes a dangerous quality in others! Keeping in mind that you have a big man—a big man whose big mind and expansive nature impresses you as his first emphatic quality—conjure up a strong, deep voice—a good-natured voice that has chuckled itself for sixty years and more into a mellow and on the whole, immensely tolerant voice, but a big voice to fit the great body, and large-featured face and obviously generous nature. Put these things together, wired on a backbone that stands as straight as the vertebral column of a man of thirty-five, and mount the whole effigy on good legs and firm feet and there stands W. R. Nelson—smiling with inquiring beneficence at you, and asking you in all kindness and good nature to be direct, to cut out preliminaries and be intelligently brief. This is the unknown editor of the best-known paper west of the Alleghenies.

Mentally, his dominant characteristic is an open mind. Generally men close their minds in their forties; at 55 they seal them hermetically, and at 60, sic the dogs on those who try the locks. But Mr. Nelson has the wondering, rather bland and often naive curiosity about the mechanism of the universe that motors the questioning mania of a boy in his teens. Nothing pleases him so much as to find a new truth; nothing except to know that he has been wrong, and that he can right himself. His chief virtue is a contempt for that slant of mind that reckons by the sign posts in the rear and flaunts its consistency. Mr. Nelson never asks how far have we come; but where are we going. He takes the same delight in a new view of life—whether of schools, or churches, or politics, or business—that a youth takes in the discovery of a new game. The essential difference in the joys being that a wise, shrewd, critical, practical old head upon the older, broader shoulders, knows whether the new thing is the truth or a fad, and if it is a fad, he will have none of it. But if it is a truth—then he is happy. So we find the Star ever advocating the progressive thing in every department of life, from the fireless cooker to the commission form of government.

Now, when a man has an open mind, and has a great lever which generates a great power, and uses that open mind to keep things going upward, the force of gravity is going to make some resistance. The resistance is found in the large, excellently chosen line of enemies Mr. Nelson has accumulated for himself and the Star. For instance, an Emporia man for years has repeated slanders about the Star for no particular reason that anyone could see. Recently, the man's friends saw why. The man was found to be one of a number of owners of buildings used for houses of prostitution in Kansas City, and he felt in his bones that sooner or later the Star would tread on his toes and cut out his extortionate rents, and clip his income. Not all the Star's enemies are as bad as that. Some of them are taxpayers who have opposed the park system that has made Kansas City the most beautiful city in the Middle West; others have been making money on improper contracts in the town, or have been related by kinship or marriage with crooked politics; still others have held investments in public utilities which the Star has criticized for treating the public unfairly, and a few have been beneficiaries of frauds whose exposure was demanded by the progress of a clean city. These men and their friends and unthinking neighbors are the men who devote their lives to hating the Star and abusing the editor. They are men who never saw him; who never talked to him a moment. The present mayor of Kansas City never has spoken to Mr. Nelson. Once at a banquet Mr. Nelson sat beside an affable young man with whom he chatted all evening, and when he got up from the table Mr. Nelson asked the man's name. He was a former mayor and former congressman, who had been painting Nelson as a red devil with green-striped horns. It is everlastingly to Mr. Nelson's credit that the stories peddled so maliciously about him never are peddled by men who know him, nor repeated by those who have done business with him. No man who ever worked on the Star ever has spoken unkindly of Mr. Nelson. People who know him, who have had business relations with him, who have worked for him, who know the essential, clean-souled honesty of the man, who have seen it tested and tried in a score of little ways and big ways, never turn upon Mr. Nelson in malice or in suspicion. They have disagreed with him; they have had to fight on the other side from him, but no one who ever had any personal relations with the editor of the Kansas City Star ever doubted for a moment his honesty, his sincerity nor his courage.

A big man does things in a large way. Bigness is one of the strong traits of this big man. He has built his paper by hiring the best men to do their best work in the best way they know how to do it. He buys the best presses, and uses paper so good that he could not buy it good enough and so makes it himself. When he was building the new Star building he had the specifications include materials so good that the architects thought him extravagant. When he inaugurates a policy in the Star he does not ask the cost. Money is not a temptation to him. And to those who know Mr. Nelson it sounds grotesque to talk of his taking money for anything that he does not believe in. For it isn't money he is after. That is not his weakness. His weakness is a desire to make the Star the most useful paper in this country. If they will get out some story showing how Mr. Nelson fell under the spell of that vanity and were wrong, his friends will believe it. But as for money stories—they lack verisimilitude. They are funny.

Such is the personality of this man who is able to hide the strongest kind of a personality in the strongest kind of a newspaper. He is of a breed that occurs but one time in a generation. A big, open-minded, public-spirited, great-hearted man, whose chief virtue is a desire to do things in a big way, and whose vice is a ravening greed for usefulness. A man whose very anonymity makes it possible to lie fluently and plausibly about him, and whose aggressive indomitable civic righteousness makes lying the only weapon possible in the hands of those whose private interests make him their natural foe. These above remarks are friendship's garland, laid on his table at this blessed season of good will, by one who for a quarter of a century has known Mr. Nelson intimately, who has worked under his guidance, who has sympathized with his viewpoint, who has fought in the ranks under his leadership, and who, though he may have gone down with the Colonel in the sad victory of righteous defeat, never has won when the people of this great West were not primarily the receivers of the spoils of battle.

TOOTHACHE, NEURALGIA

For toothache, dip a piece of cotton in St. Jacobs Oil and deposit in the hollow of the aching tooth. Also rub it on the gums. Instant relief follows. For Neuralgia rub St. Jacobs Oil right on the "pain spot" whether the face, neck or any part of the body and by the time you county fifty the neuralgia misery and pain disappears.

Get a small trial bottle from any drug store and get instant relief from toothache and neuralgia. Don't suffer! This old-time, penetrating oil is harmless, doesn't burn or discolor the skin and never disappoints.

Several events of special importance have made the past week one of unusual interest socially. Monday the regular meeting of the Matinee Musicale offered its members the opportunity of hearing Miss Senta Erd, soprano, in her second public appearance since her return from study of music abroad and the program proved a treat. Miss Valborg Gunderson, violinist, one of the favorite artists of the clubs also appeared on this program.

Monday there was also a reception for Mrs. E. K. Copper held at the parlors of the First M. E. church which interested a large number of women while Thursday two lectures of interest were given. In the morning Dr. W. F. Hovis of the Endion M. E. church lectured before the women of the Twentieth Century club on "Philosophy of Life" and in the evening the assembly hall of the high school was crowded to the doors at the first lecture in a course planned by the university extension department given by President Vincent, on "The Mind of the Mob."

The rest of the week has been filled with club and church meetings, bridge parties and luncheons, informal teas and today "The Dansant" in the afternoon at the Spalding hotel and this evening the first of the "souper dansants" to be held at the same place are receiving their share of attention.

The first large event of next week will be the annual Civic banquet of the Woman's Council which will be served at 7 o'clock Monday evening at the Spalding hotel. An interesting program of toasts has been prepared and the hostesses for the evening will be Mesdames: C. A. Duncan, T. D. Merrill, Alice Taylor, H. B. Paull, George A. St. Clair, W. P. Heimbach, A. D. Goodman, J. H. McLean, P. S. Anneke, Seth Marshall, F. W. Paine, A. C. Weiss, G. Roy Hall, E. W. Bohannon, H. N. MacHarg, J. H. Sullivan, Julia Barnes, R. A. Webster, W. S. Moore, A. E. Waler, E. Cone, Otto Gafvert and Misses: Mary Paine, Frances Earhart, Frances Swift, Rachael St. Clair, Kathryn Hubbie, Ella Roe, Julia Ensign, Leila Sparks.

The following members of the committee in charge of the banquet will also serve as hostesses: Mesdames G. A. Elder, Townsend W. Hoopes, M. R. Baldwin, S. R. Holden and M. H. Kelley.

The banquet is open to all interested in hearing the plans of the council and talks on questions of the day which will be subjects of the toasts.

The dramatic afternoon of the Twentieth Century club planned for Thursday afternoon of next week will be an interesting event for members of the drama class of that club, who may secure tickets for the afternoon by presentation of their club membership tickets to Miss Helen Harbison, secretary of the class. Mrs. Mary Nelson will read "As a Man Thinketh," at this meeting.

Friday the last artists' recital of the year arranged by the Matinee Musicale will be given by David and Clara Mannes, violinist and pianist, at the First M. E. church at 8 p. m., and Saturday morning these artists will give a free recital and talk on music for the school children of the city at the same church at 11 a. m., under the auspices of the philanthropic department of the club. School teachers and piano teachers will also be admitted to this concert.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB ACTIVITIES FOR COMING WEEK

MRS. MARY NELSON.

THE January dramatic afternoon of the Modern Drama class of the Twentieth Century club will be held next Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. James Dow Morrison, 2131 East Superior street when Mrs. Mary Adeline Nelson will read "As a Man Thinketh" by Augustus Thomas. Mrs. Nelson is a dramatic reader of unusual ability and charm and power and this afternoon is looked forward to as one of the treats of the year. The dramatic afternoons are open only to members of the Modern Drama class and admission will be by presentation of special tickets given out to members only.

The other meetings of classes of the Twentieth Century club to be held next week will be on Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the library clubroom, when the regular meeting of the Evening Shakespeare class will be held. The reading of "The Taming of the Shrew" will be completed and parts assigned for the reading of "Richard III," the next play to be studied.

Tuesday afternoon the Art class will meet at 3:15 o'clock at the library clubroom. Joseph W. Turner will be the artist studied and the members will take up "The Second and Best Period of His Life." Miss Monroe will be leader.

Friday morning the regular meeting of the Modern Drama class will be held at the guild hall of Trinity pro-cathedral at 10 a. m. The readings of Brieux' play, "Damaged Goods" will be completed with Mrs. H. E. Harter as leader and the discussion hour will be given to a clinic in experimental psychology and members will give the effects upon their personality felt from the reading of the play.

Weddings

Announcements have been received here of the marriage of Miss Mabel V. Clements of North Roseburg, Or., to Edward F. Hilliard, formerly of this city, which took place Jan. 4 at Roseburg. The following account from a Roseburg paper will interest his many friends here:

"A pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clements, in North Roseburg, shortly after 6 o'clock Sunday morning, when their daughter, Miss Mabel V., was united in marriage to Edward F. Hilliard.

"The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. W. H. Eaton, pastor of the local Baptist church, and was witnessed by members of the immediate family and a few intimate friends of the bride. The wedding march was rendered by Miss Lucy Bridges. Misses Arrie Black, Lucy Bridges and Allie Black sang 'Oh, Promise Me.'

"Immediately following the ceremony the wedding party enjoyed a delicious breakfast, prepared and served by the bride's mother. Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard took yesterday morning's northbound local train for Duluth, Minn., where they will spend the winter. Next spring they will return to points in California where Mr. Hilliard is employed by the Clark & Henery Construction company."

Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard will be at home at No. 4 Chester Terrace after Feb. 15.

ANNUAL CIVIC BANQUET WILL BE CHIEF EVENT OF INTEREST IN DULUTH CLUB CIRCLES NEXT WEEK

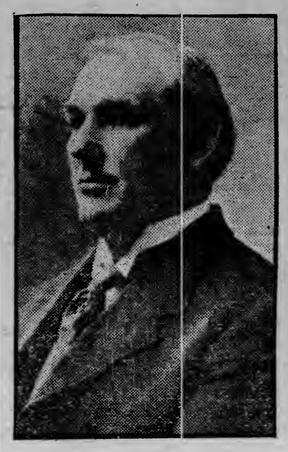

THE big event in club circles of next week will be the annual civic banquet at the Woman's Council which will be held Monday evening at the Spalding hotel at 7 o'clock. The women of the council arrange this banquet each year to give the public an opportunity of coming in touch with their work and plans and for a discussion of topics of interest of the day by capable speakers. The program this year will be of general interest covering a wide range of topics.

Mrs. W. S. Woodbridge, president of the council will preside and the toasts to be responded to are as follows:

"Municipal Welfare Matters,".....
Mayor W. I. Prince.
"The Housewives' League," .....
Mrs. C. E. Spring.
"A Temperance Talk," .....
Judge Martin Hughes of Hibbing.
"The Function of the Public Hospital, ...
Dr. R. O. Beard of the University of Minnesota.

Dr. Beard of the state university hospital will speak on the subject of the city and county hospital as that is a subject which has interested the council this year and the women are working toward the erection of such an institution in Duluth. He is a fluent and interesting speaker and has recently returned from the East where he has been making a study of the hospital work and the work of visiting nurses.

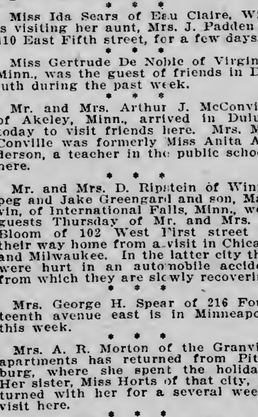

The ability of the other speakers is well known and the program promises to be of more than ordinary interest. The banquet is open to everyone interested.

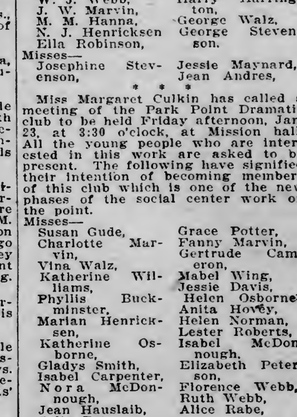

JUDGE MARTIN HUGHES.

MAYOR W. I. PRINCE.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Our Children Usually Reflect Our Imperfections.

Maria Montessori, the great Italian educator of children, has said: "No child is naughty." To this a paragrapher makes sportive reply that "however well this may sound in academic circles, in the confines of home it must be taken with a large pail of salt."

But I am not so sure that Madame Montessori is wrong in this respect. Observation, study and personal experience rather incline me to the belief that no child is naughty until those responsible for him have trained him in naughty ways. This untoward training, though few will admit it, begins usually the moment the child is born, and continues with unflagging regularity until baby ways and baby tricks cease to be amusing.

Indulgence is the common beginning. Indulgence, both of the baby's whims and of the mother's and father's pride and interest in the child, are the means by which disobedience and naughtiness of all kinds are first inculcated. It begins naturally and innocently enough, but the end is oftentimes ruinous, as any number of spoiled American lads and lassies bear blatant testimony.

The ways of mothers, and fathers, too, with their little ones after the baby days are past, are wonderful and fearful to behold. After a child has been fairly cursed by innumerable habits which his parents have practically formed for him, the next step in the modern haphazard fashion of bringing him up is the half-hearted one of attempting to break him of the habits now beginning to interfere with the comforts of his elders.

As a matter of fact, the naughtiness of children is largely a reflection of the parents' imperfections of character. Lacking self-control, parents are unable to control their children, and they in turn become victims of the poor example the parents set.

Sometimes I am half disposed to agree with the daring and revolutionary promulgation, namely, that mothers cannot be trusted to rear their children to the best advantage because of their own immaturity, shallowness and faults of character.

But of course, I am never actually convinced that this latter statement is true. Though parents may train their children by objectionable methods and be full of foolishness and faults, these are the results of their limitations and not of any real intention to deprive the child of the right environment and training. Nevertheless, I am sure that we are, as parents, responsible for much of the naughtiness to be found in our little folk.

Piano Recital.

A NUMBER of Mrs. D. H. Day's piano pupils presented a delightful program last evening at an informal musicale at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Homer Collins, 2526 East First street, at which parents and friends were guests. Every number was given with evidence of careful work and training, and the players showed good tone and understanding of technique. Enthusiastic applause from the audience gave evidence of the pleasure and appreciation felt in the work of the pupils. Those playing were: Master Gomberg, Helen Hudson, Cordelia Collins, Gertrude Logan, Isabel Jacobi, Helen Edwards, Esther Gomberg and Rebecca Freimuth.

Miss Gertrude Logan also sang a group of vocal numbers, which were delightfully given and much enjoyed. She has a sweet, clear, soprano voice, which has been well trained.

FABBRINI RECITAL.

Italian Pianist Was Warmly Praised By Minneapolis Critic.

CARYL B. STORRS, the music critic of Minneapolis has written the following criticism of Giuseppe Fabbrini, pianist, who will be heard in a recital in Duluth at the Pilgrim Congregational church on Friday, Feb. 6:

"One of the most genuinely talented artists among the young living pianists is Giuseppe Fabbrini, who was born in Naples, Italy, in 1886, and has been a resident of the Northwestern metropolis for about two years. Since coming to this country Signor Fabbrini has attained a reputation and position which is remarkable, not only in its high quality but in the rapidity of its achievement as well.

"Signor Fabbrini, who is known in Italy as L'Aristocratico pianista, was graduated from the Royal Conservatory of Naples at the age of 17. Not only was he the youngest student ever to be graduated from that famous institution, but he was graduated with the highest possible honors. He is a pupil, chiefly, of Martucci, the distinguished Italian composer, pianist and conductor. Since coming to Minneapolis he has made several tours, all with great success; has appeared in joint recital with Kubelik, and appeared as soloist with the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra.

"The eloquent nature of Signor Fabbrini's interpretations is due, of course, to his innate artistic intelligence and a technique which is beyond any criticism; but it is enhanced, no doubt, by the power of his own creative genius which has found beautiful expression in many compositions, including a concerstuck for piano and orchestra, a sonata for violin and piano, several solo compositions for piano and a number of songs."

The program follows:

I.

Fantasie, F sharp.....Mendelssohn

END YEAR'S WORK.

Red, White and Blue Society Has Helped Tuberculosis Sufferers.

THE third annual report of the Red, White and Blue society has been made at the close of the third year of its work and shows an excellent record of helpful work done during the year. The little girls who were members of this society under the guidance of Mrs. Josef Lonegren, who was one of the first women in Duluth to take up work against the white plague, have done a great deal to help give back health and strength to sufferers from that trouble and to make their lives brighter and more comfortable.

The society was organized with the chief aim of working for the children at the Nopeming sanitarium which was then about to be built and they have given a handsome library, piano, large flag, moving picture machine, and other gifts which have been most thankfully received. Besides this they have done philanthropic work in other parts of the city.

Mrs. Lonegren says that she feels that with the other societies which are now helping that institution they can do more good in other fields and has not yet decided to what cause she will turn her interest. The financial report for the past year's work of the club follows:

Normal School Notes

During the chapel exercises Monday morning, the students were favored with a piano solo, "Polka de la Reine" (Raff) by Miss Rebecca Freimuth. The Glee club then sang "A Mother's Song." (Gertrdde Knox Willis.)

President Bohannon spoke of a number of improvements and additions to the building which are to be made soon. The contract is to be let at the beginning of next month and it is expected that the work will be begun shortly afterward, in order that it may be completed before the opening of school next year. The proposed improvements, which were of special interest to the students, were the building of a gymnasium and the enlargement of the assembly hall.

Miss Clara I. Taylor, a sister of Miss Genevieve Taylor, supervisor of music at the normal school, has been the guest of Miss Helen Congdon for the past week. Miss Taylor is industrial worker of the north central field of the Young Women's Christian association, and while here, made plans for such work with the local secretary. She left for Minneapolis Friday.

Miss Ina Pfautz, a former student at the school, visited here Wednesday. Thursday, Mrs. E. V. Campbell was a visitor at the school.

* * *

Mrs. T. J. Davis, of the board of education, was the guest of the ball students at a house meeting held Wednesday evening at Torrance hall. Mrs. Davis spoke to the students in a very interesting way upon the Binet system of classifying and developing subnormal children. She dwelt particularly upon its use in the schools of Vineland, New Jersey.

* * *

Members of the third-year class held a class meeting Wednesday in the drawing room. They decided that all social affairs of the class during the remainder of the winter term should be in the nature of out-door parties, in order that more of the students might enjoy the winter sports. The first of these parties was given Friday afternoon, when the third year students entertained the sophomores at a skating party at the rink on Twenty-fifth avenue east and Fourth street.

* * *

Members of the freshman class met last week to hear the reading of a constitution which was drawn up by Gladys Smith, Pearl Goodwin, Ocelia Haaland, and Ingred Styernstrom, with the assistance of the class counselor, Miss Porter. The students decided that the proposed constitution should be posted in Miss Porter's room, so that all members of the class might have an opportunity to know it thoroughly before passing a vote upon it, at the meeting which will be held next week for that purpose.

Thursday evening, Mrs. Milne chaperoned the following girls, who attended Dr. Vincent's lecture at the high school: Josephine Holter, Ruth Monger, Helen Dailey, Esther Englebretson and Ethel Robertson.

* * *

The folk dancing class met with Miss Taylor Friday afternoon in the kindergarten room. The girls reviewed the dances learned last week and then practised the "Strasak" and the "New England Schottische."

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Seniors Win Championship Debate---Agnes Merrill Added to Faculty---Senior Party Before Lent---Juniors Entertain Seniors---Inter-Class Hockey Schedule Arranged---First Basketball Games Played.

The championship debate between the seniors and juniors was held on Tuesday afternoon at the close of the seventh period.

The senior tesm composed of Max Donaeur, Oliver Vivian and Maurice Litman demonstrated its superiority over the junior rivals and were given the unanimous decision of the judges. The debate was on the state league question: "Resolved, That All Judges Should Be Made Subject to Popular Recall, Constitutionally Granted." The junior team, composed of Albert Armstrong, Hyman Silk and Irving Grover, put up an able argument but were no match for the greater skill and experience of their opponents. The juniors had the more popular affirmative side of the question but also the more difficult presentation to make. Mr. Gibson, Mr. O'Brien and Mr. Ging of the faculty served in the capacity of the judges.

A new member has been added to the faculty, Miss Agnes Merrill, who will occupy her time the remainder of the first semester aiding backward students in getting their work of the first semester in good condition and also doing whatever substituting may be necessary.

* * *

The juniors held their January class meeting on Monday afternoon at which President Robert Zuger appointed Warren Moore, Floyd Lawson and Morton McQuade to investigate the cost of holding the junior class party. Harold Coe, junior editor of the Zenith, urged his classmates to get their contributions in shape at once for the 1914 Zenith.

In order to arouse enthusiasm for the senior-junior debate, chief "spell-binder," Oliver Vivian, president of the Stump, gave a neat little address to the students on Monday morning. The result of his effort was noticeable, for a large number of students attended the annual contest. The tag system was again used successfully by the Stump and the sale of the class tags was conducted by the young ladies of the upper classes.

* * *

At a special meeting of the senior class, held Tuesday morning during the chapel period, the 1914 Zenith was dedicated to Miss Wilhelmina Case, class adviser. Miss Case has been intimately connected with the history of the class since its freshman year, and this honor is in accordance with the appreciation of the class for her good work.

* * *

The second sale of Zenith slips will begin on Monday morning and continue throughout the week, Harold Bradley reports a heavy sale at the last canvass and many more students are expected to avail themselves of the opportunity of securing a 1914 Zenith for 50 cents by securing a slip, otherwise the cost of the publication will be 75 cents and only a few copies are available at that price.

* * *

The seniors expect to hold their annual closed party before the Lenten season. It has been decided to have a spread in connection with the evening's entertainment, and Miss Mary McLean and Samuel O'Gorman will canvass the senior session rooms in order to determine how many of the fourth year students are planning to attend.

The junior-senior challenge over the basket ball supremacy was brought to a logical conclusion on Tuesday night at the McKay hotel, where the juniors were hosts to the seniors at a banquet. Old rivalries were forgotten and a general good time was enjoyed. Those present and taking part in the ceremonies were the following: Robert Zugle and Oliver Nivian, class presidents; Walter Lawrenz, Percy Stevens, Ferdinand Collatz, Albert Gonska, William Craig, Charles Whiteside, Franklin Neff, Lachlan Taylor, Edward Scrivins, Stanley Solheim, H. Nelson, Douglas Moore, Mathew Brown, Chauncey Larson, and W. H. Schilling.

The sophomore class meeting for January will occur on Monday afternoon at the close of school, in the Assembly hall.

The captains of the class hockey teams met Wednesday and decided on the following schedule for the inter-class hockey championship series. On next Wednesday the seniors will meet the freshmen and the juniors will meet the sophomores. On Jan. 28, the juniors will play the freshmen and the seniors will play the sophomores. On Feb. 4, the freshmen will meet the sophomores, and the seniors their old rivals, the juniors. After this part of the schedule has been completed, the final games of the championship will be arranged. All games will be played at Twenty-fifth avenue east and Fifth street, just as soon as the contestants can reach the rink.

At a special meeting of the Zenith board, it was decided to have a blue cardboard cover, with "Zenith and "1914" in white.

* * *

The list of games of the regular high school basket ball schedule were played on Friday night, when the first team met the Cloquet high school team and the second team met the Proctor high school team. During the Friday morning chapel period, Studtnt Manager Lawson placed the obligation of the student body very closely and urged all to attend the opening games of the schedule.

* * *

A senior and sonhomore hockey practice was scheduled on Saturday morning at the East end rink. Both teams appeared at 9:30 and a lively work-out was given each team by the class captains. Joe Du Moe for the seniors and Gerard McCormick for the sophomores.

WEST END

HERALD BRANCH:
Herman Olson, Manager, 1823 West Superior Street.

BETHANY CHURCH ANNIVERSARY PROGRAM WILL BEGIN SUNDAY

REV. A F. ELMQUIST.

REV. C. O. SWAN.

The congregation of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, will begin tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock a three-day celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the church. The morning service will be devoted to two sermons given by Rev. C O. Swan of the First Swedish Lutheran church of this city, and Rev. Carl G. Olson, pastor of the Bethany church.

At each of the meetings held in connection with the celebration special music will be given by the choir. Under the direction of Miss Mabel Samuelson, the choir leader, the choir has been practicing for several weeks in perfecting special music for this occasion.

The Bethany Lutheran church was founded in the West end by members of the First Swedish Lutheran church in January, 1889. The late Rev. C. O. Cassel was the first pastor of the church. His widow, Mrs. Ellen Cassel of St. Peter, Minn., and his son, Carl Cassel, a professor in the high school of Detroit, Minn., will be present and give short talks, and Rev. A. F. Elmquist of Minneapolis, who was pastor for nearly ten years preceding the present pastor, will be present.

Tomorrow afternoon a special session of the Sunday school will be held at which the principal address will be given by Prof. Cassel. When a boy Prof. Cassel was a member of the school, and he will tell of his early recollection of the organization of this branch of the church.

Special services for the members of classes confirmed during the past twenty-five years in the church will be held tomorrow evening. Every class will be represented on the program. Dr. John A. Krantz, pastor of the Elim Swedish Lutheran church of West Duluth, who was a member of the first class to be confirmed in the West end church, will give the principal address. Among the other speakers will be Mr. Cassel, as a representative of his late father. Special arrangements have been made to set aside 500 seats for the accommodation of members of these classes.

The Ladies' Aid society will have charge of the celebration on Monday afternoon. The meeting will begin at 2:30 o'clock. The principal speakers will be Mrs. Constantine Cassel, Mrs. Ellen Cassel, Mrs. S. Dahl and Mrs. Maria Nordstrom. Vocal selections will be given by Rev. F. O. Hanson and Mrs. Charles Eliason.

A number of the pastors will be speakers at the Monday evening meeting. Rev. C. O. Swan will present greetings from the "Mother" church, and Rev. F. O. Hanson will speak on behalf of the Trinity English Lutheran church. An address will also be given by Rev. A. F. Elmquist. A sacred concert Tuesday evening will close the affair.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

MANY CASES DISPOSED OF

Polk County District Court Made Good Progress This Week.

Several Accused Persons Plead Guilty; Others Standing Trial.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Good progress has been made on the criminal calendar in district court this week. Two accused persons pleaded guilty—Pat Guinan to grand larceny for stealing a watch, and was sent to the pen; Charles Smith pleading guilty to beating George Norgren into insensibility and stripping him of his clothing, a mile out of the city, the man nearly perishing, and Smith will go to the pen. Moxi Wollman, Smith's companion, who was present during the assault and had Norgren's pants on when arrested, stood trial and was acquitted.

Fertile Man Convicted.

George Drippe of Fertile was convicted of selling liquor to a minor and was fined $150, while Blain Fagon, colored, was convicted of grand larceny and goes to the pen. George Christie, accused of cutting a man in East Grand Forks, was acquitted, as was James Reynolds from the same place, accused of horse stealing. He succeeded in making the jury believe he was enjoying an innocent joy-ride while "tight," with a horse and buggy he found on the street.

At this rate the criminal calendar will be cleared in another week.

NEARLY SCRAP AT STATE FAIR MEET

R. A. Wilkinson and Eli Warner Almost Mix It During Meet.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 17.—The administration forces in the State Agricultural society won yesterday in the election of members of the state fair board. George Atcheson of Mankato and W. W. Sivright of Hutchinson, whose terms were expired, were elected by big majorities. The candidacy of John Timpane of Waterville as an insurgent representative was a disappointment to his his supporters. Against Sivright he mustered 64½ votes. Against Atcheson he registered only 3, while A. P. Ritchie of Bemidji had 50½, against Atcheson's 188.

Atcheson was elected on the first ballot and the second ballot was between Sivright and Timpane for the office held by the former.

Sivright received 178 votes, and, in thanking his supporters, he said he would not be a candidate for re-election at the end of his present term.

Wilkinson Gets Excited.

R. A. Wilkinson, an insurgent, foreseeing defeat, withdrew a motion to have the two vacancies filled on the same ballot.

A climax to the stormiest meeting the society ever has had came early in the afternoon when a personal encounter between Col. R. A. Wilkinson of Lake Elmo and Eli S. Warner of St. Paul was narrowly averted. Mr. Wilkinson advanced on Mr. Warner, shaking his fist after Mr. Warner had disputed statements that the business men of St. Paul and Minneapolis had combined to control the state fair.

Mr. Wilkinson grew bitter in his speech nominating John Timpane for the board of directors as a candidate of the so-called "insurgent" faction. He said the Twin Cities business men and newspapers were in a combine, and he did not spare terms in his talk.

Robert Carmichael in nominating John Timpane of Daterville for the board said it was high time that some practical farmer had a place on the board. T. J. Meighen of Preston, in nominating A. P. Ritchie of Bemidji, made similar statements, declaring that if "silk stocking" farmers were allowed to continue running the fair they would soon wreck the institution. Senator S. D. Works of Mankato renominated Atcheson.

GETS NELSON'S BRIEF.

Filed With Secretary Lane in State Swamp Land Case.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 17.—Insurance Commissioner Preus has received from Senator Knute Nelson at Washington, a copy of the latter's brief filed with Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior, in the matter of the claim of the state of Minnesota for state swamp lands, aggregating 500,000 acres. Patents to these lands are being held up as a result of the protest entered by officials of the Northern Minnesota Development association that the state has not carried out its agreement drawn with the government when the swamp land grant was made, that the money derived from the sale of this land should be used in reclamation work.

The gun missed fire, and on examining it, it discharged in his hands, instantly killing Schnell.

TO CONSIDER ROAD.

Cass County Board to Take Up Important Matter Feb. 3.

Cass Lake, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—On Feb. 3 the county commissioners of Cass county meets with the State Highway Commission No. 46, regarding the construction of a road from Federal Dam to the east border of the Cass county line that will join with a road to Grand Rapids and also will make an important link with the Duluth-St. Vincent road. If the county commissioners accept the bids for construction, work will be commenced in March. The bridges will be of the most modern construction, steel in every way.

The construction of this road has been looked forward to for a number of years, and the fact that it will be possible for travelers to get from Federal Dam to Bena, Bena to Cass Lake and then west to Grand Rapids and from there to Duluth by means of connecting with the Duluth-St. Vincent road means a starting of an open line connecting Duluth and the Red river valley. Prof. F. M. Larson, Frann Howard, Broker and A. Devold were appointed viewers of the road, and their report will be the one the county commissioners will handle Feb. 3.

ACQUITTED OF BIGAMY CHARGE

Cavalier, N. D., Man Establishes Alleged Marriage Was Invalid.

Cavalier, N. D., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles T. Grose was yesterday declared not guilty of bigamy in district court here, the charge being made against him by Mary E. Wright of Carlisle. She maintained that Grose had wedded her while he was the husband of another, but he was successful in showing that the first marriage was to a woman who afterwards found that her first husband, whom she supposed was dead, to be still alive, hence there was no legal marriage.

WOLVES TROUBLESOME.

Hungry Brutes Worrying Farmers Around Crookston.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A slight echo of the boldness of the gray timber wolves on the Canadian boundary is noted here in the occasional appearance of the animals. Jens Aune, a farmer west of this city, lost a sheep by wolves this week, and Former Sheriff Orin Daniels reports the loss of a number of geese on his farm in the same vicinity. Mr. Daniels reported yesterday that a big timber wolf trotted along in the road less than forty rods from the wagon in which he was riding yesterday, within easy range, but he was unarmed. The boldness of the wolves is attributed to the mild weather and lack of snow, which makes it impossible for the wolves to catch rabbits upon which they usually feast. Only one wolf has been killed near here, but an effort will be made at once by some of the hunters to garner a few of the $7.50 bounties offered by the state for dead wolves.

BANK MAY REOPEN.

Receiver of Suspended Medina, N. D. Concern Quite Hopeful.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bank Examiner Severtson of North Dakota, in charge of the Medina State bank, expects to effect a reorganization and reopen the bank early next week. He is working on that basis at the present time and is confident that the object will be attained.

Preliminary investigation into the affairs of the bank indicates that it is comparatively sound, and that it will require only the straightening out of a few tangles to put the institution on its feet.

Suspect Ryder, N. D., Fire.

Ryder, N. D., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Incendiaries are held responsible for fire which destroyed buildings on the William Powelson farm near here, and State Fire Marshal Runge has been asked to make an investigation. Officials are at a loss for a motive, unless the fire was started by grain thieves who set the fire to cover their work.

The loss was about $3,000.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Grand Forks, N. D.—Mrs. J. Gilbertson was robbed of her purse, the thief getting away. He obtained only 38 cents. The police have very slight clews to his identity.

Mott, N. D.—Farmers in this district will raise potatoes on a big scale next year, and they will engage in the industry on a partnership basis. The scheme is being worked out by the Mott Farmers' club, and it provides for the purchase by the union of agricultural implements for the handling of the potato crop.

MARKET HAS WEAK TURN

Wheat Closes Down on Lower Cables and Light Demand.

Flaxseed Declines Sharply With Heavy Shipments From Argentina.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 17.—A weak tendency prevailed in the wheat market and declines were recorded again today. Bearish factors came in lower Liverpool cables attributable to expectations of larger world's shipments next week, and only limited demand from operators.

May wheat opened 1c off at 88¾c and it closed ⅝c more down at 88⅜c. The July option opened 1⅛c off at 90¼c, and the close came ⅜c off at 89⅞c. May durum opened ¼c down at 89⅜c and it weakened ⅜c more to a close of 87⅝c.

Oats strengthened up slightly, closing ⅛c better at 36@36½c. Rye closed unchanged at 62½@65½c for the best grades, and barley sagged fractionally, closing at from 44c to 67c.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 87⅝c asked and calls at 88c bid.

At Winnipeg, January oats closed at 32¾c and May at 36½c.

A bearish influence in today's market came in the lower closing at Buenos Ayres on favorable weather conditions there, and increasing country marketings. Australian advices, however, went to confirm the estimates of reduced yields in that country and Japanese buying. Farmers over there are said to be storing their grain.

Wheat stocks at Duluth increased 282,000 bu in the week, bringing them up to 12,537,000 bu. Stocks of all grains in the elevators here now aggregate 18,841,000 bu. Oats supplies are relatively heavy, mounting up to 3,411,000 bu, of which 2,137,000 bu are bonded stuff.

Break In Flaxseed.

Flaxseed slumped heavily with a weak situation developing in the market as a result of heavy shipments from Argentina. These were reported at 1,110,000 bu, of which 870,000 bu went to Europe and 240,000 bu to the United Kingdom. That on top of the statements that marketings from that country are likely to be large from now on, led to realizing here and at Winnipeg. The market is also said to be overloaded, having too much company on the bull side. Holders have consequently been endeavoring to get from under during the last few days, while crushers have backed away.

Trading was confined to the May option. It opened unchanged at $1.63⅛ and closed 1⅞c down at $1.61½. The July option was closed up at $1.47½ nominally.

At Winnipeg January flax closed at $1.25½ and May at $1.31⅝.

Cash Sales Saturday.

MARKET GOSSIP.

C. M. Owens was a visitor on the Duluth board of trade after an absence of more than a year. He is now in charge of the Atwood & Larson company's Minneapolis office. He avers that a feature in the market down there now is the improving demand for barley, for which up to recently it had been difficult to find any sale. Wheat receipts at that point from over the Northwest are being relatively well maintained as a result of the liberal premiums being paid by the mills.

Eastern inquiry for durum was reported by Stephen H. Jones today. Offers were, however, slightly out of line.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Wheat—The easier American cables yesterday and the decline in Buenos Ayres, together with weakness in corn, prompted realizing and values at the opening were ¼d lower. Following the opening there was a further slight decline, with predictions of liberal shipments to Liverpool this week and large world's shipments with a good American total as indicated by Brazilstreet's. Toward the close there was some disposition to support and the decline was checked. Advices from Australia continue more bullish and the heavy advance in consols stimulated confidence. At the close, the market was ⅛d to ¾d under yesterday.

"Corn—Opened ⅛d lower and later February declined an additional ⅝d with free realizing on highly favorable Argentine crop advices as received here."

A wire received by Baker from Chicago today, said: "Sentiment in the grain trade last night was mixed. Operators attributed the sharp break from Thursday's close as due to the short interest being well in and the crowd long. It demonstrated that outcrowd long. It demonstrated that outside interest is limited. Commission houses, however, were largely bullish on wheat and bearish on corn and oats. It was the gossip of the corn pit that there is one big trader operating on a large scale under cover, and the local element are not aware of his being in the market. It is also said that a local man who was bullish on corn all last winter and spring and had only recently turned to the bear side, has been responsible for a considerable part of heavy buying by several of the large commission houses of late, as he was short more corn than given credit for."

The Minneapolis cash market was rather quiet, the mills getting considerable wheat on sales to arrive. The northern blue-stem sold at from 1c over to 1½c under May, and velvet chaff at from 1c to 1½c under. Flour sales were moderate. Cash one northern wheat sold at from 86⅞c to 88⅞c, and No. 2 northern at from 83⅞c to 85⅜c.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Bears Favored in Wheat Pit Owing to World Shipments.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Prospects of large world shipments gave the wheat market today a leaning to the bear side. Mild temperatures in the winter crop belt counted also against the bulls. As selling pressure was not of an aggressive sort, however, the market showed some disposition to rally. Opening prices were ⅛c to ¾@⅞c lower, but later transactions carried prices slightly above the top figures which ruled at the outset.

Better milling demand helped to steady the market. The close was easy at ⅛@¼c to ⅜c net decline.

Lack of feeding demand weakened corn. There were in addition highly favorable crop advices from Argentina. The market opened ⅛ to ¼c off and receded a little later, but then hardened because of short covering.

Some of the larger shorts bought quite freely. The close was steady, ⅛@¼c to ¼@⅜c above last night's.

Traders in oats guided themselves by the action of other grain. There was a fair volume of business.

In provisions the chief influence appeared to be the return of higher values for hogs. Initial sales which varied from a shade to 2½c up, were followed by a more decided advance.

STOCKS HAVE HEAVY TONE

Profit-Taking Continues But Declines Small and Trading Dull.

Canadian Pacific Only Important Issue to Have an Advance.

New York, Jan. 17.—Heavy selling of the favorite stocks was resumed at the opening today. Reading, Steel and Southern Pacific were unloaded in large blocks. First prices were irregular, but as the market got under way a heavy tone developed. Reading lost a point. Canadian Pacific moved against the market, rising 1¼.

The decline in the market was arrested when support appeared for Reading. Prices recovered fully but activity ceased on the rise.

The market closed easy. Profit taking continued today and there was renewed bear selling but recessions were small and trading was dull. Some stocks recovered their early losses, only to give again later. The aggressive marking up of low-priced shares, which continued yesterday after the advance in the leaders was checked, was not attempted today and the market was flat. Canadian Pacific, which rose 2 points, was the only prominent issue to oppose the downward trend. Announcement that the Minneapolis & St. Louis had arranged an extension of notes due next month caused the 4 per cent bonds to rise 3 points. Bonds were firm.

MINING STOCKS OFF ON PROFIT-TAKING

After a strong opening, the market in mining stocks sold off fractionally at Boston today on the absorption of considerable realizing sales. Final prices were the lowest of the session.

Alaska Gold closed unchanged at $21.62; Butte & Ballaklava a shade off at $3.87; Butte & Superior 25c off at $33.12; East Butte 25c off at $11.75; North Butte a fraction off at $28; Shattuck 25c up at $27.25, and Amalgamated Copper a shade down at $73.87.

Calumet & Corbin was the feature in the Duluth curb list with sales reported in it at 14 and 15c. Alex Scott sold 25c off at $5.75; Calumet & Sonora sold at 69c; Denn-Arizona at $7.12; Keating at 85c, and North American at $1.

A wire from Houghton, Mich., today said: "New Arcadian has run into a vein with very good showing of copper. Location in virgin ground can be best described as one mile north of Arcadian and one mile south of Oneco."

* * *

Calumet & Arizona and Superior & Pittsburg's production for December was reported at 5,230,000 pounds.

Referring to the general market situation Skillings' Mining and Market letter of today says: "The action of Amalgamated in declaring the regular dividend is a bull argument in stocks, coming at this particular time. The general copper share list has shown much strength of late, and most of the issues have advanced. Bearishness is disappearing from all the centers of investment and speculation in securities, and the prospect of a broader and higher market seems to be assured. There is a resumption of activity in the iron and steel business, and confidence seems to be well established in all directions. A revival of good times is believed to be at hand. The attitude of the general public indicates faith in existing conditions, and the financial and business structure has perhaps never enjoyed a more satisfactory foundation."

* * *

Gay & Sturgis received the following wire from Boston today: "There developed today further improvement in the copper market, as evidenced by price advances abroad, owing to better buying for export. The United States Metals Selling company, which lately sent a representative to Berlin to personally conduct business in the German market in competition with the American Smelting & Refining company's office at that center, raised its price to 134 marks, which level was met by the Guggenheim agent. On Thursday the American Smelting price there was 131, while the Amalgamated quotation was 132 marks."

Giroux Consolidated Mines Company.

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the stockholders of Giroux Consolidated Mines Company will be held at the office of the Company, at Room 1400, in the Alworth Building, in Duluth, Minnesota, on Tuesday, the 3rd day of February, A. D. 1914, at twelve o'clock noon thereof, for the election of Directors, considering and acting upon proposed amended By-Laws and the transaction of such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

The stock transfer books will be closed from January 14th, 1914, to February 3rd, 1914, both inclusive.

P. R. KENNEDY,
Secretary.

FIRST CRIMINAL CASES MONDAY.

Stans Sankowsky, jointly indicted with James Carey for burglary in the third degree, will be brought to trial in district court Monday morning when the first of the January term criminal calendar cases will be brought on for trial.

Sankowsky is alleged to have broken into room No. 52 of the Adelphi hotel, 2301 West Superior street, on Jan. 1 and to have stolen a watch belonging to David Doyle. Carey, who was jointly indicted for the same offense, will be given a separate trial.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF TRADE

New York, Jan. 17.—Dun's Review says today: Changes in business conditions have been mainly in the direction of improvement and confidence is further strengthened. The first real cold snap of the winter was decidedly favorable to those branches of retail trade largely dependent upon the weather, while the demand for fuel was also accentuated by the exceedingly low temperatures.

A significant feature is the revival of activity in commercial paper, merchants and manufacturers finding it possible to provide for their requirements at considerably easier terms than heretofore.

Almost without exception, reports form the leading sections of the country indicate that mercantile and industrial enterprises are being undertaken with increased vigor and it is gratifying that signs of improvement are clearly apparent in iron and steel.

Failures this week numbered 493 in the United States against 434 last year and 49 in Canada, compared with 21 a year ago.

CALUMET CORBIN MINING COMPANY

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 17th, 1914.

Awaiting the report made by Forbes Rickard, this issue has remained stationery the past week, but the inquiries for reports and details of this new deal have been numerous and from the very best quarters.

At the very earnest solicitation of Bernard Noon, who is now on the ground and in full charge, the directors of the company, accompanied by a number of St. Paul, Minneapolis and Chicago capitaists, will leave for Denver Monday evening next.

After reviewing a few of what we term the attractive features of Calumet-Corbin by the acquiring of the New Era mines, you will have to agree with us that everything to attain a commercial success is now secured and we are in position to vouch for the management and standing of the treasury.

This property comprises 15 mining claims or 75 acres.

All good mining property and none thrown in to make up acreage.

Property located and worked since 1876.

Located under the laws which permitted the location of lode or vein only, with 75 feet surface ground on each side.

Area contains 21,765 feet apexes with extra lateral rights granted.

All veins have been worked on surface and showed big profit.

Tunnels have only touched two veins beneath the surface or oxidized ores and they but slightly.

All veins of the district carry ores from wall to wall and for their entire length, and all ores can be milled at a good profit under known modern methods.

The district has no waste dumps of any consequence, practically all matter taken out is shipped to mills and smelters.

This group produced since 1910 under very inefficient management and milling with mills that save less than 40 per cent of the values, a net total for the owners of $96,000. New milling machinery being installed will save 85 to 90 per cent.

Extension of the tunnels will give additional back of 1,000 feet.

Estimates of ore in sight after deducting cost of mining and milling amount to $600,000 net.

The veins in this district in nearby properties have been worked to great depth, in one instance to the 2,150-foot level.

This property is not a prospect but a proven mine in a district famous for its mineral wealth and it is estimated that Clear Creek and Gilpin counties, Colorado, have produced a gross total of $300,000,000 to $400,000,000 and has made more millionaires than any other district of same area in the world.

Everything points very conclusively to the fact that Calumet-Corbin is at last off on the right foot and if you want to make some money on a very limited investment, get in step.

The price may be low, but that's your luck, since the goods are there and results from now on will be of a very material character and very persuading.

CLOUGH GATES CAPTURES THE GRAND AGGREGATE

Superior Rink Defeats John McLeod in Minneapolis Event.

Only One Event Likely to Remain Unfinished Until Monday.

Clough Gates of Superior cinched the grand aggregate in the early draw of today by defeating the strong John McLeod rink of Minneapolis in the Minneapolis event, the win of the Superior rink putting it in the finals of that event. It is a peculiar curling coincident that the Gates brothers, Joel and Clough, will fight it out for first place in the Minneapolis. One of the Gates will be ajar.

Young Quinn of West Duluth, one of the youngest skips of the spiel, went into the finals of the Consolation, and the victory of Carson sends him into the finals of the St. Paul event.

Gates Shows Well.

Credit must be given to the consistent and strong playing of both of the Gates rinks, particularly to the Clough Gates four. One of the most commendable features of the play of both of these rinks has been their charming consistency. Both rinks have been steady throughout and have seldom been off their game. The fine showing is a distinct feather in the collective cap of the Superior Curling club.

While Brother Clough was defeating John McLeod, Brother Joel was equally busy in the defeat of the veteran Harry Hurdon.

Reedal of Phillips made further progress in the International by the defeat of Catterson of Duluth.

It is now certain that the Duluth, St. Paul, Western, Consolation and Patrick-Duluth events will be completed before the close of the day. There is also the possibility that the Minneapolis event will be finished today.

There is no chance of the completion of the International. The games in this event will be held over until Monday but there is little likelihood of any of the outside rinks remaining for the completion of play.

Some Final Games.

J. S. Gates is playing Carson of Winnipeg in the final of the St. Paul event this afternoon.

In the Patrick-Duluth event McLeod of Minneapolis is playing Hunter of the same city, the winner of this game to meet Reedal of Phillips late in the evening.

McNabb and John McLeod are playing the final game in the Duluth event and the winner of this contest will have the honor of winning the first completed event of the bonspiel.

Williamston, Mass., Jan. 17.—A game with the Chinese University of Hawaii is an interesting feature of the Williams College baseball schedule, announced today. The nine will have a hard season's work, its opponents including Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Dartmouth and Cornell.

WHITE HOPES NEXT.

Fulton and Burns to Mix for Curley Ulrich.

Fred Fulton, a policeman of Minneapolis, and classed with the white hope brigade, will meet Mike Burns at the Ulrich arena, Superior, next Tuesday. According to the announcement of Ulrich, the winner of the contest will be matched with Al Palzer.

Kid Coffey of Superior and Young Papke of Moose Jaw will come together in the semi-windup, and in the curtain raiser Kid Billings of Superior and Young Harvey of Duluth will engage in hostilities.

The weight of the hopes is announced at around the 215-pound mark.

Basket Ball Games.

At the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium last evening the crack Lake Hardware Company basket ball team defeated the Kelleys by the score of 30 to 13, and the Universal Millers defeated the Big Duluths by the score of 22 to 11.

WON'T STAND FOR KNOCK

Superior Will Protest to Governor Against Teasdale's Charge.

Chairman of Vice Committee Declared to Be Rankly Prejudiced.

As a result of the statement that "vice reigns supreme" in Superior, which Senator Howard Teasdale of the state vice commission is quoted as having made at Sheboygan yesterday, a protest will be made to Governor McGovern by a representative Superior committee.

In a statement made today by City Attorney H. V. Gard, Chairman Teasdale is charged with prejudice and with being in league with the local political element now attempting the recall of Mayor J. S. Konkel.

"Senator Teasdale's attitude during the vice hearing here and his statements since that time indicate that he is a rank fanatic," said Mr. Gard. "A court or a judge who would show the prejudice that he displayed in presiding at the inquiry would be impeached. Mr. Teasdale will be called to account for going out of his way to malign the city of Superior."

SUPERIOR WANTS PUBLICITY FUND.

At the meeting of the Commercial club last night a proposition to raise $50,000 for a publicity fund was advanced. The matter will be referred to a special committee within a short time. The following standing committees were announced:

Printing and advertising—J. M. McCane, F. C. Koehler, W. S. Wingate, C. O. Johnson, A. V. Holohan.

House—L. G. Ross, Dr. H. J. O'Brien, S. A. Buchanan.

Manufacturers—J. A. Little, R. T. Kirkham, F. E. Spring, J. E. Pederson, C. D. Se Cheverell, F. C. Van Buren, Frank Hayes.

Membership—D. J. Arris, A. L. Gilmore, E. M. Conley, A. A. Campbell.

Now Using New Main.

Water was turned this morning into the newly completed mains extending from the East end to Allouez. The final connecting link in the pipes was laid yesterday. The extension has cost about $28,000. While no private connections have been made the water will supply twenty-four hydrants. Many of the homes in Allouez will be connected within the next month according to the requests that have been received by the water company.

CLAIM THEY HAVE LONE TRAIN ROBBER

Atlanta Police Make Arrest Soon After Sensational Holdup.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 17.—The police today believe a man in jail here is the bandit who last night terrorized passengers on a southbound Western & Atlantic passenger train near here and robbed them of several hundred dollars. The prisoner, who was captured near the scene of the holdup, gave his name as John Jones, said he lived in Atlanta and denied knowledge of the robbery. The police, however, say he is James Nolan of Des Moines, Iowa.

He was arrested near Bolton, Ga., where the bandit left the train after a pistol fight with Carl G. Heard, county policeman, who was a passenger and who was slightly wounded during the encounter.

Pullman Conductor Jackson and the negro Pullman porter, Sam Jones, were first covered by the robber. As he swung up the steps, he encountered them in the car vestibule and forced them into the car and down the aisle before him. In like manner he cleared the smoking compartment, then fired several wild shots that created a panic among the remaining passengers.

He relieved passengers of their valuables and secured perhaps a dozen watches, several rings and other pieces of jewelry and a considerable amount of money before Deputy Heard's shots interrupted him. It is not believed that the losses sustained by passengers will total more than $500.

BAPTISTS TO BUILD 'COLPORTAGE CRUISER'

Plan to Carry Church to Puget Sound Islanders.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 17. — Seattle shipbuilding companies today were asked to tender bids for the construction of a "colportage cruiser," or floating church, to be constructed by the American Baptist Publication society for use as a church for 70,000 inhabitants of Puget Sound who live on island communities or small settlements along the shores of the sound and who are now without churches. The craft, which will be christened the Robert G. Seymour, in memory of the late Bible secretary of the society, will be 50 feet long, 11.6 beam and will contain a cabin 16 feet long and 11.6 feet wide, in which religious services will be held in communities where there is no hall available.

Rev. Dr. Guy Lamson of Philadelphia will conduct a keel-laying service when work is begun on the craft Jan. 26.

MISFORTUNE FOLLOWS FITZPATRICK FAMILY.

F. W. Fitzpatrick and family, formerly of Duluth but now of Washington, D. C., have recently passed through a series of misfortunes in the capital city, according to letters received by friends in Duluth. Mrs. Fitzpatrick and her daughter have both undergone serious operations and Mr. Fitzpatrick was injured in a street car accident. All are now recovering.

NEW USE FOR THE LIBRARY

Sets of Travel Pictures Given Out to Holders of Cards.

Folk Dancing and Radio Lanterns Create a Big Demand.

The growing popularity of folk dancing and the use of radio and projection lanterns for school, church, club and fireside entertainments have brought an increasing demand for the sets of lantern slide pictures at the public library, and also the views of foreign countries. There are thirty-six sets of these pictures at the library, each containing forty pictures, and the sets are drawn by the holders of library cards just as books are borrowed.

Travel at Fireside.

According to the head of the reference department, the demand for pictures has increased this winter since folk dancing has become popular. The pictures for lantern slides are of scenes in the United States only, but if the demand for foreign views continues to grow, views from all countries will be purchased as soon as possible.

The pictures most in demand by the folk dancer are those included in several sets of large views showing the most interesting customs in foreign lands. These meet the requirements of the society hostess who wishes to arrange for a masquerade ball, a colonial party or any sort of an entertainment where foreign effects are featured. The pictures are in colors, and are done by noted artists.

But the radio lantern and projection lantern, which are now to be seen in several of the Duluth schools and many Duluth homes, have made fireside travel one of the most enjoyable forms of education and entertainment. For these the thirty-six sets of travel pictures at the library are filling a popular demand. The itinerary of the "Little 'Phostint' Journeys," as the pictures are called, includes scenes of the greatest value for educational purposes.

Itinerary of Travelers.

Among the scenes shown are views of New York city, Washington, D. C., historic Boston and vicinity, quaint New Orleans, the Yellowstone, historic Richmond and the James river, colonial architecture, American art galleries, the Great Lakes from Buffalo to Duluth, picturesque Colorado, the Berkshires, Detroit and its water line, Chicago, the White mountains of New Hampshire, from Portland head to Boston light, the land of the Mohicans, about Lake George, modern Boston, the Adirondacks, Lake Champlain, the lake of the Iroquois, old Charleston, missions of the Southwest, the orange belt, down the Mississippi, scenes of Western life, overland through the Southwest, American Indians, and literary landmarks of New England.

MEN BARRED FROM CITY HALL PARTY

Young Women Hold Banquet at the Noon Hour, and Mere Males Are Excluded.

Gloom, deep, oppressive, depressing, gloomy gloom pervaded the bachelor masculinity at the city hall yesterday afternoon.

The gloom was all the gloomier, contrasted with the bright, shining, sparkling happiness and joy which radiated from the bachelor femininity at the municipal building.

For the young women gave a party and the men weren't invited.

All morning the young women mystified the sterner sex by their unusual actions. It began in the morning when they appeared with various bundles, carefully wrapped and zealously guarded. All curious inquiries as to what they contained were met with baffling smiles.

At noon it all came out. The men discovered that the young woman had had a party and that they hadn't been invited.

The young women utilized the office of City Assessor J. Allyn Scott for their noon-hour festivities. They aver that the banquet board was just heaped with goodies, including candies, ice cream, ices, dainty sandwiches, meat loaves and other toothsome delicacies.

They laughed and sang and told stories and enjoyed themselves so much that they decided to hold other parties at frequent intervals. To further assure future gatherings they proceeded on the spot to organize themselves as the City Hall Social club. Officers will be elected later if the members do not decide to be different from other clubs and have no officers.

The young woman who attended the party yesterday were: Misses Nellie B. Pendergast, Maude Williams, Lucy A. Jaques, Mayme P. Kennedy, Olga Lundberg, Katherine Ellis, Margaret Beresford, Minnie E. Allen, Mildred M. Ross, Berenice Fowler, Dora N. Davis and Sophie C. Solheim.

ENGLAND NOT PARTY TO IT

Has Not Joined in Demand That Nicaragua Pay Debts.

London, Jan. 17.—The British foreign office today says there is no foundation for yesterday's report from Managua, Nicaragua, stating that Great Britain joined with Germany and Italy recently in lodging a precise demand for the payment by Nicaragua of debts amounting to over $1,000,000.

It is admitted here that Nicaragua has been repeatedly urged to settle the claims of British creditors, but no special representations have been made recently. The British minister to Nicaragua is now in Guatemala.

Oppose Burnett Bill.

New York, Jan. 17.—Passage of the Burnett immigration bill now before congress would result in a speedy scarcity of laborers in this country, in the opinion of a number of speakers who addressed a meeting of prominent Italians held here for the purpose of forming an Italian section of the National Liberal Immigration league.

A committee was elected to form a national delegation which in co-operation with bodies from other nationalities is to ask congress not to pass the Burnett bill.

WILL CONTINUE PROBE OF POLICE

Grand Jury Examines Forty-Two Witnesses—More to Be Heard.

During the five days that the January grand jury has been investigating police conditions and certain charges of graft, corruption and malfeasance, which have been made against the department of public safety by the morning paper, forty-two witnesses have been called before the inquisitorial body. The jury is not in session today, having adjourned its session until Monday morning.

The grand jury will probably not finish its investigation before the middle of next week. It is understood that about twenty more witnesses who have been subpoenaed are waiting to be called before the jury. Among others, it is understood that proprietors of some of the leading hotels of the city will be called before the jury to testify as to certain matters bearing upon local conditions.

Among the witnesses called before the grand jury yesterday afternoon were: Mrs. C. E. French, E. M. Bradseth, W. M. Smith, Otto Sturm, C. E. Evans and F. C. Schmaltz. It is believed that the jury will make a detailed report of its findings to the court.

SEEK EVIDENCE FROM UNDERWORLD

It was learned by the police this morning that efforts are being made to secure evidence from former members of the underworld that graft money was paid the police under the old regime.

The investigators have been to Superior in their quest for evidence. Several of the women who formerly lived in the district here, are now either in the Superior disrict, or are working in the latter city.

Mrs. James Bird, a former resort keeper in Duluth, now living in Superior, said over the telephone this morning to The Herald that three people came to her and inquired if she had not given the police money while she operated her resort here. She claims that she replied in the negative and that the trio then questioned her further regarding the matter. She was also asked if she had been subpoenaed, she said.

"I never gave the police any money while I was in Duluth," said Mrs. Bird in answer to the question this morning, "nor did I ever find an occasion to even have to do it. And I never even knew of any of the matrons paying the police at all."

STATE WOULD RECOVER.

South Dakota May Sue Former State Treasurers for Interest.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Jan. 17.—The report of a special legislative investigating committee, recommends to Governor Eyrne that suit be brought against two former state treasurers to recover $125,000 interest on bank deposits, alleged to have been collected by them and appropriated to their own use.

Former Treasurer C. H. Cassill and the estate of Former Treasurer Kirk Phillips are involved. The contention of the committee is that interest on these funds is property of the state, although the law does not specifically so hold.

CHARGE FRAUD.

Claimants in Estate Accuse Mrs. Oelrichs and Mrs. Vanderbilt.

New York, Jan. 17.—Mrs. Theresa A. Oelrichs, widow of Herman Oelrichs, and Mrs. Virginia Fair Vanderbilt must answer charges of fraud and conspiracy made against them by Theodore W. and George Elmer Lefler and Mrs. Mabel C. Towle, according to a decision of the appellate court. The court upholds the right of the Leflers and Mrs. Towle to file an amended complaint containing the fraud and conspiracy charges in their suit to recover an interest estimated at $492,000 in the $10,000,000 estate left by Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Fair, brother and sister-in-law of Mr. Oelrichs and Mrs. Vanderbilt—who were killed in a motor car accident near Paris, France, in 1902.

The Leflers and Mrs. Towle, who are nephews and a niece of Mrs. Fair, allege that the court were deceived as to the residence of the Fairs, which they assert was in New York and not in California, where the probate proceedings under which the property was distributed were held.

MORGAN TO LEND MONEY TO CUBA.

Havana, Jan. 17.—The government has accepted in principle the proposition of J. P. Morgan & Co., for a government loan of $10,000,000 as being more advantageous to Cuba than any of the other five proposals submitted. The proposed issue will be at the rate of 94 per cent for each $100 bond, payable in thirty-five years and guaranteed by 10 per cent of the customs receipts. The Morgan company announced that it was ready to advance $3,000,000 and to extend the loan to $15,000,000 on the same terms should the Cuban congress authorize it.

RADIUM TREATMENT GIVEN MISS QUAYLE.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 17.—Miss Margaret Quayle, daughter of Bishop Quayle of the Methodist-Episcopal church, is receiving the radium treatment for cancer here. The bishop and others, keeping in touch with her case, believe there is hope for her recovery by this treatment, although the physicians at the sanitarium decline to give out any information.

Miss Quayle has been suffering with a cancer for about thirteen years. It is now said to be in an advanced stage.

HILL CITY BOARD SWINDLERS HELD.

Hill City, Minn., Jan. 17.—To jump a board bill and rob fellow boarders is not a paying proposition as H. Johnson and M. Crepps found when arraigned before Judge Fowler on the charge of grand larceny in cheating the Hill City hotel. They pleaded guilty to the charge and were bound over to the grand jury under $500 bonds each. Not being able to furnish the bonds the men were sent to Aitkin to the county jail until the district court meets in May.

THREE UPPER MICHIGAN HOTELS ARE PLANNED.

Channing, Mich., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—At least three hotel buildings are to be erected in Upper Michigan the present year. Trout Lake is to be provided with a three-story brick structure by O. W. Smith. The house will contain fifty-seven rooms and will cost $35,000. At Ewen, John D. McLaughlin will build a two-story building containing twenty-five rooms. At Iron River, a $100,000 structure is to replace the Boyington house. It will be erected by A. T. Wooster. Costing $175,000, the Delta hotel at Escanaba has been opened to the public. It is leased to and operated by the Wisconsin Hotel company.

IRON MINE TO BE OPERATED SIX MILES FROM BRAINERD

Canadian-Cuyuna Company Has Taken Over Longyear Company's Leases.

Armour No. 1 Mine at Crosby Likely to Ship This Year.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Brainerd is to be benefited greatly by the establishment of an iron mine in section 13, 45-30, six miles east of the city, by the Canadian-Cuyuna Ore company, which has taken over the Longyear Exxploration company's lease. The feeholders are principally Brainerd men, including Judge C. A. Allbright, R. K. Whiteley, Dr. Werner Hemstead, Con O'Brien, R. J. Hartley and others. Ray Seeley will have two superintendents in charge of the development work and offices have been established in the Citizens' State bank block. The Longyear company will put down five or six holes to establish a site for the shaft. The overburden is seventy-eight feet. An ore body, 4,000 feet long, 80 feet wide and over 325 feet deep, has been proven up and the ore body is estimated to be from 5,000,000 to 9,000,000 tons in extent. All ore has been sold in advance to Canadian steel men. M. Seeley does not contemplate having any trouble in sinking the shaft. The trend of the ore body is such that for a depth of forty-eight feet there will be a natural drainage towards Hay creek. Two levels will be put in, and within a short time a hundred or more men will be at work. R. H. Paterson, a Michigan mining man, has taken the contract to equip and open the mine and is now on the ground. When mining is well under way the company expects to ship 350,000 tons annually. Other Brainerd interests also contemplate doing much drilling in the vicinity of these developments. The Cuyuna range is distinguished by the number of independent steel companies operating and developing its interest. Having vwied interests, no one set of conditions will ever be able to stop work on the range.

Adams Oreland Mine.

The Adams mine at Oreland is drifting on the 207-foot level and has met with little water. At a point 295 feet from the shaft the ore body was struck and after traversing twenty-five feet of lean ore the real ore body will be encountered. The mine will soon be stockpiling. This mine is one of the best equipped and most modern plants on the Cuyuna iron range. It is the only concrete shaft on the south range. Considerable crosscutting will be done this year.

There is a report that the Shenango furnace people have inspected properties on the range and figure on opening up some of them. The Rowe pit mine of the Pittsburg Steel company has uncovered an immense body of ore and is in readiness to ship as soon as navigation opens. The hydraulic plant operated by electricity has closed down on account of cold weather and the steam shovel, also engaged in stripping, has ceased operating.

There is a rumor to the effect that Roger Hill of the C. M. Hill Lumber company may open up a property west of the Pennington. Two drills of the Helmer Exploration company are exploring the property of the Cuyuna Iron & Manganese Ore company in section 10, 46-29. Mining operations will probably be instituted this season and a pit mine developed.

Shortly after securing the option to drill the county poor farm of Crow Wing county, situated in the south half of the northwest quarter of section 33, 45-30, the Longyear Exploration company had two drills on the land. The company paid $100 bonus and agreed to put down nine holes in a year and if satisfactory it was entitled to call for a fifty-year lease at 30 cents a ton royalty and a minimum tonnage of 10 000 tons the first year, 20,000 tons the second year, 30,000 tons the third year and 40,000 tons annually thereafter.

The drill at the northeast end of Rabbit lake has been removed to Cedar lake.

Cuyuna-Mille Lacs.

The Cuyuna-Mille Lacs mine is accumulating a stockpile and in addition is mailing shipments by rail to Michigan points, said E. J. W. Donahue of the Locker-Donahue company in a statement furnished covering work done on all the properties. The stockpile contains about 6,000 tons. In thirty days the timber shaft was finished and put down to the 126-foot level. A new pump of 2,000 gallons capacity has been added to the equipment and will be able to take care of the water situation. The output of the mine is valuable. Every bit of it has been utilized and shipped, commanding a good price. This one mine on the Cuyuna range has been given great prominence in the East and other furnace centers. Its product will soon be of a value to supersede all foreign importations of manganese ore. Four thousand feet of drifting has been done in the mine. The company is now carrying out a plan of development work which will enable it to shin upwards of 200,000 tons the season of 1914.

The Cuyuna-Duluth mine is stockpiling from mining on the 200-foot level. An additional lense of ore not revealed by drilling has been uncovered and of the eighty feet traversed the ore has averaged 64 per cent. If it continues to any great extent it means a great increase in the tonnage of the mine. The shaft is being sunk to the 300-foot level and within a short time two leveles will be in operation and the company will be in a position to mine and ship 200,000 tons this year.

The Duluth-Brainerd Iron company, whose property is situated in section 32, township 47, range 29, has its three-compartment shaft down 72 feet. Ledge was struck at 57 feet. At 150 feet depth drifting will be commenced.

The Cuyuna-Sultana Iron company is meeting with good success in its development of the property in the section 16, township 46, range 28. A large deposit has been shown up. The Lindstrom farm is being drilled by the Cuyuna Iron Valley Mining company. The Grover Iron Ore Exploration company has given an option to the Cuyuna Central Iron company covering the northeast quarter of the northwest quarter and the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 27, township 47, range 29.

Interests Transferred.

C. H. Warner of Aitkin has sold to John B. Galarneaut of Aitkin for $600 an undivided one-fourth interest in government lot 3 and the east half of the southwest quarter of section 24, township 137, range 26. George Redmond has sold to Louis Rouchleau of Minneapolis, one-half the mineral rights in the southeast quarter of the northwest quarter and lot 5 of section 4, township 137, range 26. Frank Thienes has sold to F. S. Adams the west half of the southeast quarter and the northeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 5, township 43, range 30. C. A. Lindbergh of Crosby has sold to L. A. Seal a 1-264 part of the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of lots 7 and 8 in section 22, township 22, township 43, range 32. John P. Bakken has sold to A. P. Peterson for $1,500 the north half of the northwest quarter of section 11, township 136, range 29. Sylvester Harsh has sold to Edward Bonniwell lots 2 and 3 in section 19, township 13, range 28, the consideration being $1,500. R. C. Jamison has quit claimed to Robert B. Whiteside the east half of the northeast quarter, the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter, the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter, the northeast of the southwest and southeast and the northwest of section 1, 134-28.

Erick Kronberg of Brainerd has put a drill on his land in section 6, township 44, range 30, near the county farm. Other Brainerd men and companies will soon have drills at work on the south range. The Brainerd-Cuyuna Mining company is now down over seventy-five feet in its shaft and getting near ledge which is at ninety-two feet. About 400 gallons a minute is being pumped. The Cuyuna Range Townsite company, which platted an addition east of Brainerd, contemplates putting on a drill in the spring to search for ore.

The Barrows mine is working on its compartment shaft and is also hoisting ore and stock-piling.

The Armour No. 2 is working full shifts. The Kennedy mine at Cuyuna, says Supt. H. J. Kruse, may get out a stock pile of about 100,000 tons. A day shift is employed at present and work is being carried on to get the mine in shape for heavy shipments directly from the shaft when navigation opens.

Crosby Mine to Ship.

The town of Crosby regards with satisfaction the report that the Armour No. 1 of the Rogers-Brown Ore company may ship when navigation opens. The Meacham mine, which has never shipped, may also open up. It has a concrete shaft, and for a time was allowed to fill up with water. Active mining carried on in the district about the Meacham has practically reduced the stage of water in the shaft. The Cuyuna Central Iron company continues to attract attention, two diamond and two churn drills exploring its holdings in section 27, township 47, range 29.

The Helmer Exploration company has four drills at work, two in section 10, township 46, range 29, being employed by the Cuyuna Iron & Manganese Ore company; one working north of Rabbit lake in section 19, township 47, range 28, and one drill working near the village of Deerwood in section 16, township 46, range 28. J. H. Hugener and John Hancy of Superior have put two drills in section 17, township 47, range 28. The Crow Wing Mining company has resumed drilling on its lands north and west of Cuyuna village.

The townsite of Iron Mountain, recently platted and placed on the market by the Steelton Land & Townsite company, has surrounding it properties holding large deposits of manganese and high-grade ore. The Soo line has already built to the town, and the Northern Pacific railway will tap it on the extension built from the Cuyuna-Mille Lacs mine.

PRODUCTION OF METALS IN 1913

Output of Copper in United States Shows Decrease.

The annual statistical number of Engineering and Mining Journal gives the following figures on the production of metals in the United States in 1913, as compared with the previous year:

Metal. Unit.	1912.	1913.
Aluminum, pounds.....	40,000,000	50,000,000
Copper, pounds.....	1,241,762,508	1,228,811,581
Ferromanganese, long tons.	327,725	333,109
Gold, dollars.....	93,451,500	88,391,023
Iron, long tons.....	29,525,412	30,808,200
Lead, short tons	410,006	433,476
Nickel, pounds.....	42,168,769	38,614,745
Quicksilver, flasks.....	25,147	21,000
Silver, troy ounces.....	63,766,800	67,691,111
Zinc, short tons.....	348,638	356,116

*Imports; for 1913, first ten months only; this nickel is refined in the United States for the production of metal, oxide and salts.

American mining companies that publicly announce their dividends paid $76,215,014 in 1913, compared to $68,776,540 in 1912. Canadian and Mexican companies paid $21,501,930 in 1913 and $21,212,929 in 1912.

United States metallurgical and holding companies connected with the mining industry paid $99,529,253 in 1913, as compared with $91,948,280 in 1912.

The unsold stock of spelter in the hands of American smelters at the end of 1913 was about 40,000 short tons, which is the largest on record.

The world's production of copper in 1913 was 1,000,000 metric tons, compared with 1,020,000 tons in 1912.

The world's production of gold in 1913 was $463,312,673, compared to $474,433,268 in 1912.

The production of copper in the United States in 1913 decreased, but the productions of iron, lead and zinc increased.

The world's production of spelter in 1913 was about 1,001,000 metric tons, compared with 978,000 metric tons in 1912.

The world's production of tin in 1913 was 120,356 long tons, compared with 114,196 in 1912.

STEADY GAIT OF BUTTE & SUPERIOR

January's Record Expected to Equal That of December.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 17.—The first ten days in January found Butte & Superior making good progress, both at mine and mill, and before departing for Joplin, Mo., last Sunday morning, Manager James Bruce said he had reason to believe January would at least equal December's good record.

Taken as a whole, the figures of the Butte & Superior for December are the best the company has ever reported. Although the production of zinc in concentrates, 1,433,618 pounds, was a little less than made in the two previous months, the assay of the concentrates was materially higher, which, together with the high degree of extraction, make the most satisfactory combination of mill results yet attained.

December completes a remarkable year. At the beginning of the year Butte & Superior had attained a fair rate of production, but owing to the complex nature of the proposition, the operations had not reached a basis where it could be said that any substantial profit was being made.

As month by month went by it became evident that the new management was fully capable of solving whatever problems remained, and that this expectation was to be realized. The result has been a production during the year of over 100,000,000 pounds of zinc in concentrates, of which over 65,000,000 pounds have been produced in the last six months.

During the closing months of the year the company has attained and maintained a rate of production at the rate of over 13,000,000 pounds of zinc per annum in concentrates. This makes it the largest individual factor in the production of zinc.

EAST BUTTE WILL SOON BE READY TO DOUBLE OUTPUT

Outlook for the Present Month at Tuolumne Much Brighter.

Butte & Superior Likely to Absorb Two Other Properties.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The improvements which have been going on at the East Butte company property will all be completed around the first day of March and then the company will be in a position to largely increase its output—in fact the company will be prepared to nearly double its present production. The enlargement of the mill capacity has been completed. In the concentrator sixteen slime settling tanks and twenty-four slime tables have been installed. The amount of custom ore being offered for treatment has been so extensive within the past year that it is now intended to operate the concentrator on three shifts a day, it being stated that there is enough ore contracted for to keep the plant going at its full capacity. The enlargement of the smelter capacity is going ahead without in the least interfering with the treatment of the regular quantity of ore. If the market conditions are anything like normal during the year, 1914 ought to be far ahead of any previous twelve months in the history of the company. For the past six months the development work in the mine has been steadily carried on, and the ore reserves have been increased both in quantity and quality.

Tuolumne.

While the Tuolumne barely made enough money in December to pay operating expenses, the outlook for the present month is much brighter according to a statement of one of the officials. Some ore of a high grade is being mined on the 800-foot level and by the middle of the month the shipments will be increased to around 150 tons a day. President Hickey says that he is satisfied that the January returns from ore mining will be more than sufficient money to pay operating expenses. He believes that the company within six months will be making good money again.

Stewart.

The Stewart Mining company is reported to have earned net the sum of $226,000 for the quarter ending Dec. 31, the last month in the year showing net earnings of $85,000. The increase in the earnings for the last quarter of the year over the previous quarter ending Sept. 30 was $22,802. The net profits for the year were $856,000 or 70 cents a share. Of this amount $402,000 was disbursed in dividends. Heinze has not yet given up his hope of securing control of the Ontario Mining company ore bodies and there is a report which is believed to be founded that the litigation which went against the Stewart company last year is to be resumed.

Butte & Superior.

There is a movement on foot looking to the Butte & Superior company taking over control of the Butte-Milwaukee and the Butte-New York properties and it would appear that all of the grounds in the way of such an arrangement is as agreement as to the basis for the exchange of stock. During the past year through an agreement made the Butte & Superior company expended $26,000 on development, material and equipment for the Butte-Milwaukee, which is $2,000 more than the amount agreed on. This the Butte & Superior has charged up against the Butte-Milwaukee company and therefore gives the Butte & Superior an additional claim on the property. The Butte & Superior has now control of a majority of the stock of the Butte & New York, and under the conditions as they now exist there ought not to be much trouble in bringing about a consolidation of interests. Manager J. R. Bruce of the Butte & Superior company is now in the East, and while in New York will no doubt discuss the question of consolidation with the big financial interests at the back of the Butte & Superior.

Barnes-King.

The net earnings of the Barnes-King company for the month of December, after deducting the month charges, amounted to $38,000. During the month the company expended $20,000 on mining, milling development work and sinking the new shaft. The ore shipped during December amounted to 3,760 tons as against 5,000 tons in November. The ore for the former month was of a higher grade and gave a yield of $10.10 per ton. With the new work going on, looking to a reduction in the cost of mining and the improvements at the mill, the Barnes-King company will soon be in a prosperous condition and before the close of the year the stockholders may be receiving a small dividend.

Thayer on the Outlook.

President Thayer of the Anaconda Mining company is in the city from New York on his annual inspection of the properties of the company. He will remain about one month. Mr. Thayer, who is a practical miner, goes underground in all the leading mines and inspects for himself the work done and the ore in sight since his last visit. Before leaving for New York he will also visit Anaconda and Great Falls for the purpose of looking over the improvements made and those in course of construction at the smelters in both cities. He will also examine the plans and details for the erection of the slime concentrator at Anaconda. "The end of the depression is not far away," said Mr. Thayer, when asked as to conditions in the East. "The more recent utterances of President Wilson and Attorney General McReynolds and the conservative attitude of the administration toward corporations," continued Mr. Thayer, "has helped in the movement to restore confidence. For months past sentiment has been bearish. There has been no initiative, no inclination of capital to start something new. The Mexican situation has hovered over like a cloud and is even now the most deterrent factor. There has been a slackening up in the business of the corporations, such as the Steel corporation, which has been working to half its capacity or less.

"Copper, like oats and corn, is a commodity governed largely by the laws of supply and demand. There has been a lessened demand for finished products into which copper goes, such as copper wires and plate and brass tubes. The price of the metal varies with consumption and demand. There is no joker in the copper industry. One good feature of the copper situation is the fact that there is no longer the enormous supplies on hand that were known in the old days."

Mr. Thayer remarked that Butte looked as prosperous as ever. He said that the mines of the Anaconda company were being worked to capacity and that the management hoped to continue at normal rate. He said that the 80-ton bleaching plant at Anaconda would not be enlarged at present, but intimated the big new plant would come in time. Mr. Thayer said that everywhere in the East, and in fact, all over the country, the prosperity of Butte was the subject of comment. The mines were all in fine condition and the Washoe smelter plant was treating more ore today than ever before in its history. Mr. Thayer declined to go into details as to the condition of the mines until after he had made a personal inspection.

Pilot-Butte.

There is a prospect of the dispute over ground between the Anaconda Copper Mining company and the Pilot-Butte company being settled without recourse to the courts. When the Anaconda company secured the temporary injunction a date for the application to make it permanent was set for the hearing, but the representatives of the interested parties got together and agreed to a postponement until next March with the understanding that in the meantime engineers of both companies should make a thorough examination of the ground with a view of determining the right of the two companies. This is now being done and the engineers have about completed their work. It is just possible a conference on the questions involved will be had by the two parties during the time President Thayer of the Anaconda company is in the city.

OPERATIONS ARE RESUMED

Millie Mine at Iron Mountain Again on Active List.

Cleveland-Cliffs to Lease Section 12 in Crystal Falls District.

Following the recent sale of the Millie mine at Iron Mountain to Francis H. Clergue of the Canadian Soo, that Menominee range property has resumed operations, The Millie formerly was owned by the Dessau Mining company, in which Mr. Clergue was interested. It had been idle for an extended period. The company is being reorganized and preparations to conduct operations on a considerable scale are in progress. While during the winter a force of only forty men will be employed, it is the intention to increase the number to 200 at the opening of navigation and produce and ship a large tonnage of ore during the season. Much of this will come from open-pit workings. Mr. Clergue, who promoted various important concerns now controlled by the Lake Superior corporation, is interested in a number of large enterprises in Ontario and it is expected there will be a continuous demand for Millie ore. The work during the winter will be mostly devoted to opening new ground beneath the surface and to exploration. It is confidently believed that much better grades of ore than heretofore found will eventually be developed. The property adjoins the United States Steel corporation's Chapin and the Pewabic company's Walpole mine.

Section 12 to be Leased.

So satisfactory have been the results of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company's exploratory work in section 12, 42-33, in the Crystal Falls district of the Menominee range, that it is understood that the lands tested and that heretofore have been held under option are now to be leased. Section 12 is directly north of section 13, in which is the big Mastodon deposit now being opened by the Longyear interests and Pickands, Mather & Co., and is directly south of section 1, in which are the Dunn mine and Dunn Annex of Corrigan, McKinney & Co. The Cleveland-Cliffs company has been drilling in the field for months. Part of the tract is owned by the estate of the late Carlos D. Sheldon of Houghton, Mich. Adjacent to section 12, the Cleveland-Cliffs is searching for ore east of the Dunn mine and in lands in section 1 owned by the Michigan Land & Iron company. Both of these explorations are promising. A property whose worth was proved two years ago is the Erickson, four miles east of Iron River. No development work has yet been done, however. The Menominee range work of the company is in charge of John M. Nash, formerly superintendent of the Ashland mine, a Gogebic range property surrendered by the Cleveland-Cliffs interests last year.

Like the Cleveland-Cliffs company, the Steel corporation has ore in section 12, 42-33. This deposit was cut last year, and apparently it is extensive. Its development is still to be undertaken. Northwest of Amasa and several miles distant from Pickands, Mather Co.'s Hemlock property, the Steel corporation has ore in section 12, 42-33. This deposit was cut last year, and apparently it is extensive. Its development is still to be undertaken. Northwest of Amasa and several miles distant from Pickands, Mather Co.'s Hemlock property, the Steel corporation has been drilling in the Nett River country, Iron county, for nearly a year. It is reported now that ore has been encountered in several holes and the outlook is one of decided promise.

Engaged by the Standard Diamond Drilling company of Chicago to conduct exploratory work in Chile, Miles Doyle, a diamond drill expert of Negaunee Marquette range is on his way to that South American country. He will operate in the Coquimbo district. It is in this region that the Bethlehem Steel company of Charles M. Schwab controls enormous deposits of iron ore and it is surmised that Mr. Doyle will be associated in the further exploration of these deposits.

Machinery Ordered.

Contracts for machinery for two new shafts the company is opening in the Negaunee district have been awarded by the Breitung interests of Marquette. The order calls for the delivery of three hoisting engines, an air compressor and several smaller pieces of equipment. One of the new shafts is that at the Lucky Star mine, the ore in which lies at such depth that the property, although it is now in course of development, will not become a shipper until next year. The other new shaft is the Breitung No. 3. Both mines will be provided with buildings of brick and steel and will otherwise be equipped in the most modern manner. Due to an underground fire the night of Sunday, Jan. 11, and which destroyed a pumphouse and caused the asphyxiation of two men, the Cleveland-Cliffs company's Negaunee and Maas mines at Negaunee were out of commission for several days during the week. The properties are connected. Production at Ferdinand Schlesinger's Newport mine at Ironwood, Gogebic range, has been curtailed latterly, also as the result of an accident.

Corrigan, McKinney & Co. are operating their Colby mine at Bessemer, Gogebic range, on a small scale this season of navigation several times that number were employed. The most recent additions to the United States Steel corporation's pension list in the Lake Superior region are two men who have been retired from duty at the Tilden mine at Bessemer. These men are Joseph Novak and George Minnie, each of whom has attained the age of 70. John A. Rupp of Ironwood has resigned as superintendent of the timber department of the Newport Mining company and has been succeeded by Benjamin Wright. Pickands, Mather & Co., operators of the Brotherton, Sunday Lake and Mikado mines, are contesting the valuations placed on these Gogebic range properties by the Michigan state tax commission. The matter is now pending in the supreme court, having recently been argued before that tribunal. The hearing in circuit court resulted in a victory for Wakefield township, the nominal defendant, and the mining company appealed.

Because of the lack of snow in the woods, which had prevented the hauling of logs, some of the mines on the Michigan ranges have experienced a shortage of timber. In several instances much inconvenience was caused. A slight cut in wages has, it is reported from Menistique, Mich., been made by the Lake Superior Iron & Chemical company, manufacturer of charcoal iron and chemicals. The reduction is ascribed to depressed trade conditions.

SHAFT BEING STRAIGHTENED

Repairs at Tamarack Will Be Finished Within Six Weeks.

Houghton Begins Sinking of Winze on the Superior Lode.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tamarack since about Oct. 1 has been straightening its No. 3 or North Tamarack shaft. This is like all the other shafts of this mine, vertical as the property lies beneath the Calumet & Hecla on the same lode, the famous Calumet conglomerate. The nearest portion to the surface on the dip of the lode is down about 3,000 feet, and the place where No. 3 shaft cuts the lode is about twice as far. On account of the great expense of cutting the long crosscuts and of tramming such long distances, it is now the practice to sink the shaft at an angle of 80 deg. and then curve it to the lode, as at the Allouez and the North Ahmeek. No. 3 cuts the lode at the depth of 4,185 feet, the eighth level. Above to the sixth level and below to the tenth, especially just above the shaft, the weight of the ground has pressed in both laterally, north and south, and from the hanging-wall or west side, so greatly upon the shaft that it has been forced much out of line, necessitating a great reduction in speed when passing through the above named levels. Timbers 10 by 14 inches, perfectly sound otherwise, have been crushed into splinters wherever the stress came. All these timbers have been replaced by new ones, the largest being 12 by 14 inches. The skipways have been enlarged from timber to timber, from seven feet two inches to seven feet seven inches, and the rock has been removed so as to allow a space of two or three feet around the shaft, so that quick adjustments can be made from time to time. The repairs will be finished in about six weeks, and the skip will then be running as fast as ever. Such an extensive overhauling will not be required again for many years.

At the end of the 800-foot crosscut from the shaft to the lode on the bottom level, the eighteenth, 5,253 feet down, there has been sunk to the twenty-third level, where a loading station was being cut at the beginning of the strike, an incline blind shaft. The hoist is being actuated by compressed air. This was done to eliminate further cutting and operating of crosscuts of a constantly increasing length. At this shaft the best ground is to south, where all the levels from the incline shaft have been cut the past season, the twenty-first having been extended 1,400 feet. To the north drifts have been driven on the same levels and one has reached the length of 800 feet, but on them all the copper rock is poor. The lode is fair in grade for 3,300 feet south to No. 5, so that with the good ground being constantly found as far as opened there is a chance for a good sized mine here. Almost all of the rich rock that has been taken from this shaft has come from this tract to the south, which is thought to be the rich No. 5 Calumet shoot that is trending to the north and in a short distance more will cross the shaft.

Houghton.

The Houghton Copper company put ten men to work Monday. The sinking of the winze on the Superior lode is being carried on at once. It was 98 feet below the 820-foot, or eighth level, when the work was stopped by the strike. From the 620, or sixth level, to the eighth, the ground was from good to rich all the way and it continued of that quality for about 40 feet when it began to grow leaner, but there has always been some copper in evidence. A winze is being sunk because it is the cheapest way to examine a lode and also to save the expense of a shaft if the ground should prove poor. The winze will be pushed down 100 feet further when drifts will be started. Four drifts have been driven on this lode, two on the sixth level and two on the eighth. The southern on the sixth level had a length of 800 feet and was of excellent grade, and the northern on the eighth had copper all along its extent of 1,200 feet, but the quality was fair only in a few places. Some commercial copper was found on the other two but their disclosures as a whole were of no value.

Lake.

At the Lake all the employes have been laid off except the superintendent and two watchmen. The Boston management after on unsuccessful attempt about two months ago decided that it would be practically hopeless to try to open here for a long time. The pumps were taken out and the employes gradually let go, the clerk being the last, except those mentioned above, to leave the middle of the month. Supt. Hitchcock has resigned to enter a more active field and Supt. E. W. Walker of the Mass mine has been appointed to take his place. Mr. Walker is a graduate of the Michigan College of Mines. He was for five years with the Calumet & Hecla, seven years as superintendent at the Tombstone Consolidated at Tombstone, Ariz., one year conducting an office as a mining engineer at Detroit and for the last four years in charge of the Mass, which he has put on a paying basis. The appointment is regarded with marked favor by the mining men of the district. While it would appear from the activity of the local body of the Western Federation at Mass City, only two miles and a half away, that the management is right in closing down for a long period, so many men are coming to the district that it may be possible to resume again much earlier than was expected.

Wyandot.

The Wyandot was visited a few days ago by a local mining engineer who has had good opportunities to become familiar with the amygdaloids here. He went through with some care the openings of No. 8 lode which are the 400 feet of drifts on the 700-foot, or seventh level and the 587 on the 815-foot, or eighth level, and the 115-foot winze connecting them. He was somewhat surprised to find a showing in the workings as a whole that so strongly justified an extensive and thorough development of this territory laterally and vertically. Supt. F. L. Van Orden has been endeavoring to effect an exploration of that kind for some time. At present only two drills are working one shift and but little progress can be made.

South Kearsarge.

South Kearsarge's available ground, the management stated four years ago, would be exhausted in about six years, but since that time it has been found that some of the vein matter extended back into the foot wall and that some of the foot wall trap contained copper. A year ago two-thirds of the tonnage was coming from this source. This rock can be mined very cheaply. It is probable that most of the old openings will be worked. It would appear now that the mine has at least four or five years' life ahead. This mine is operating fifteen drills but of a normal of twenty-five. More can be used but the attention of the miners is being turned to teaching the new men. The underground force is within fifteen of the number employed before the strike.

EARLY BUILDING OF AJOS RAILROAD

Calumet & Arizona Manager to Discuss Matter With Tucson People.

Bisbee, Ariz., Jan. 17.—An important development of the week, particularly for Calumet & Arizona stockholders, was strong intimation that early construction is contemplated of the railroad line which will serve the Ajos properties of the Calumet & Arizona and enable these to add their supply of desirable mixing ores to the receipts at Douglas ere long, which means also that there can be larger mining and shipping from Bisbee ore bodies. The intimation was conveyed in a letter made public in Tucson in which Capt. John C. Greenway announced that he was ready now at any time to meet with a Tucson committee to talk over the matter of building the railroad from that point to the Ajos mine.

MINES NOW IN EXCELLENT FORM

Calumet & Arizona's Annual Report Expected to Be Great One.

Bisbee, Ariz., Jan. 17.—General Manager Greenway and Mine Supt. Gohring of the Calumet & Arizona spent most of last week visiting the mines of the company in the district. It is presumed that they are now gathering a good deal of information which will go into the approaching annual report. There are reasons for the belief that the findings being made under the present examination will result in the very best report that it has been the good fortune of Calumet & Arizona stockholders to receive, and when the splendid past of Calumet & Arizona is considered, it will be agreed that such a statement means a great deal. Calumet & Arizona ore bodies are in great form. Development is being attended with further findings justifying the highest confidence in the properties, which are at this time nowhere near in sight of any possible end of their opportunities. Indeed, sizing Calumet & Arizona opportunities up at this time, it may be said with entire conservatism that they are broader and greater in number than at any time in the previous history of the company in this district.

BIG INCREASE IN EXPORT TRADE

German Exports to United States Under New Tariff.

Berlin, Jan. 17.—While German business men are declaring that the export trade to the United States has not been noticeably affected by the new American tariff, statistics from the American consulate general show an increase of more than $1,500,000 during the last two months since the tariff of the Underwood law. The increase in these two months being almost 10 per cent of the total business passing through the consulate in the preceding year.

Eggs are a feature of the increase. These figure for the first time in the reports of the Berlin consulate but the item is already considerable, over $75,000 worth having been shipped during November and the first twelve days of December, or at the rate of more than $2,000,000 worth a year. This money does not go to poultrymen in Germany, however, for the shipments originate in Russia or Austrian Galacia, and are handled here only in transit.

In the purely German trade the principal increases are shown in textiles, particularly cotton goods and velvets, and in toys. The so-called "heavy industry" of iron and steel products has not been conspicuously affected nor do the experts here believe that the German manufacturers will find much of an opening to the American markets under the new tariff.

At the consulate it is thought that the effect is only beginning to be felt. Inquiries are being received daily from buyers in the United States, just awakening to possibilities under the new law.

IMMENSE FUNDS OF SOCIALISTS

Their Resources Important Factor in German Financial Affairs.

Berlin, Jan. 17.—The German capitalist's own artillery has been turned upon him by the Socialists. The money interests have been awakened by the first encounter to the realization that the Socialist resources are a factor in financial affairs. This awakening came recently when, as reported by cable, the "free labor unions" which owe allegiance to the Socialists, decided to withdraw $5,000,000 in deposits from one of the big banking houses because it had discharged a bank clerk for joining in a movement for higher salaries. The sum was redeposited in banks willing to see that their employes' coalition rights were respected.

The total funds of the unions are estimated at between $20,000,000 and $30,000,000. But even this sum is only a minor item in the capital accumulations of the workingmen. Their co-operative stores and buying societies represent a capital of about $40,000,000. Of the $1,200,000,000 accumulated in the reserves of the governmental insurance systems about 45 per cent has been contributed by the workers, whose interest in private insurance funds is estimated at well over $250,000,000. About half of the $4,500,000,000 deposited in savings banks in Germany belongs to the laboring classes. In all, persons of this class own, it is figured, between a seventh and an eighth of the total wealth of the country.

Two illustrations of the capitalistic aspect of the Socoalist unions have lately aroused much comment. These were loans made by Socialist organizations to two municipalities, which were able to place bond issues with the Socialists to much better advantage than with the ordinary banks.

What's A Party Without A Few Bottles Of Fitger's Beer

THERE is "something missing" at the party when a cool, refreshing glass of beer is not served during the evening. No other liquid refreshment can take its place, for none has such genuinely satisfying results.

When a host serves Fitger's Beer he knows he is serving the very highest grade, and his guests know it too.

There's satisfaction in serving the best. Keep a case in your cellar and you will always be ready for emergencies.

ARGUMENTS FOR CITY IN FRANCHISE CASE ARE BEGUN

Traction Company Must Show Right to Privileges Granted in 1881.

Welfare of City Depends Upon Nullification of Franchise.

Outlining with considerable detail the position of the city in attacking the validity of the down-town franchise of the Duluth Street Railway company, Attorney R. E. Olds of counsel for the municipality, is today presenting the first of the closing arguments in behalf of the city in the quo warranto proceedings brought before Judge Cant in district court to test the validity of the legislative franchise act of 1881, under which the company claims to have operated since that time.

Noted Attorneys to Speak.

Mr. Olds probably will conclude his argument this afternoon. On Monday morning he will be followed by Francis W. Sullivan, who will argue on the facts in the case. Frank B. Kellogg of St. Paul, of the counsel for the city, will follow Mr. Sullivan, and it is believed that J. C. Netheway, assistant attorney general, will make the closing argument for the state. Attorneys Olds and Kellogg are expected to argue largely on the questions of law involved in the case. Assistant Attorney General Netheway will argue to the court on the question of whether or not the state, in whose name the proceeding was brought at the instance of the city, is foreclosed by the statute of limitations from bringing the action. This has been claimed by attorneys for the company.

In his address to court this morning Attorney Olds set out that the quo warranto proceeding was instituted by the attorney general to compel the company to show by what right or warrant it claims to exercise the right granted by the legislature of 1881. He stated that it did not involve any question whatever as to the right of the company to use the streets under other franchises, resolutions or ordinances of the city and that it was not an attempt at all to deprive the company of the right to use the streets or to confiscate its property. It may well be, he said, that the company has the right to use the streets now occupied even if the fanchise of 1881 is held invalid.

The franchise of 1881, declared Mr. Olds contains certain provisions which would permit the company to charge a fare of 5 cents for any ride not exceeding three miles in length, and would authorize, if desired, the right to charge 10 cents from Lester Park, Woodland or the ore docks to the business center; 15 cents from outlying portions of West Duluth; 20 cents from the steel plant, and 40 cents from Fond du Lac to Lester Park.

Extraordinary Rights.

The 1881 act, he argued, conferred extraordinary rights and privileges over every street and avenue in the city so that these rates could not be controlled by competition, either by other companies, privately owned, or by a municipal road. The franchise, he said, has been claimed to be perpetual by virtue of the power of reversal. He averred that the state and city feel that it is vital to the future growth of the city that such a monopoly and a franchise with such exorbitant provisions be declared invalid, if it is legal to do so.

The objection of the city, Mr. Olds said, is based upon the claim that the company never acquired the alleged priveleges, because it failed to comply with the provisions of the act of 1881 itself, which stipulated that unless the company should build, equip and place in full operation one mile of track within one year after the passage of the act, all of the rights and privileges granted by virtue of the act should be forfeited, without any act whatsoever on the part of the state or the city.

Nearly 100 witnesses, he pointed out, had been examined as to whether the company had complied with this condition, the company's minutes, the city council proceedings and the files of the daily newspapers of that time were placed in evidence on this point.

No Line Within Year.

Attorney Olds also contended that the company's attorneys in argument had admitted that there was no street car in Duluth within the year, and that no operation of a street car for passengers was made until nearly eight months after the year had expired. The claim of the city is, he said, that there was not even a full mile of track and that track which was laid was put down hurriedly at the last moment and did not amount to "substantial performance" as claimed by the company.

Up to 1883, said Attorney Olds, the council of the village of Duluth had the power to grant other franchises if the company failed, but in 1883 the legislature repealed the power of the village or its successors to grant any rights whatever to any company. The city, he claimed, has never had any such power in its charter until the "home rule charter" of 1900. He also commented upon the fact that the company's first president and attorney was senator from Duluth in the legislature which repealed the city's power.

Must Construe Strictly.

Further arguing, Mr. Olds contended that the state took the position that the rules of law require all grants of special privileges to be construed strictly against the beneficiary and in favor of the public, especially with franchises such as the one granted in 1881, which the city claims was monopolistic in character and destructive of growth through its exorbitant rates of fare.

He also argued that the courts cannot relieve against forfeitures prescribed by statutes, even though they have such power as to forfeiture in private contracts, where compensation in damages may be given. The legislature, he claimed, had power beyond question to impose such a forfeiture as was provided in this franchise, one which the city now claims is automatic and self-executing without any act on the part of the state or village to perform its conditions.

Attorney Oscar Mitchell for the street railway concluded a three days' argument on behalf of the company yesterday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock. He was followed by Attorney Henry F. Greene, of counsel for the company, who entered into a fifteen-minute discussion of that phase of the case pertaining to the physical valuation of the company. He claimed that at no time previous to the inception of the quo warranto proceedings had the validity of the franchise of 1881 been questioned and that investors had placed their money into the business depending fully upon the validity of the franchise.

Franchise Recognized.

Attorney Greene also touched briefly upon the company's position that through all of the years which have elapsed since 1881 the state and city have repeatedly recognized the franchise as being an existing and valid one and pointed out the inconsistency of the state to attack the franchise at this time after thousands of dollars had been collected in taxes from the company. In taxing the company, the earning value of the particular franchise in question had been taxed, he claimed. He also asserted that the supreme cout of the state had held that the particular franchise in question had been taxed.

It is expected that Attorney Thomas S. Wood will make the closing argument for the company in rebuttal after the attorneys for the state and city have submitted their arguments to the court. It is believed that the hearing will occupy the attention of the court and the attorneys concerned for the greater part of next week.

Negaunee Mine Again Working.

Negaunee, Mich., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Negaunee mine of the Cleveland-Cliffs company, which has been closed since the disastrous fire of a week ago tonight that claimed two lives, resumed operations last night. Work will be confined from the ninth level up, as there is still some water in the bottom of the shaft.

BALANCE IN WORKS FUND

Report of Work Done During the Last Year Submitted.

The receipts of the division of public works exceeded the expenditures by $16,302.30, according to the financial statement prepared by Richard S. Abell, clerk of the division.

The total receipts were $173,325.73, and the aggregate expenditures were $157,023.43. The detailed statement of the activities of the works division has not been completed, but the cash statement indicates that a large amount of work was done in 1913. These figures do not include any new construction work.

Street, alley and road repairs occupied much of the attention of the division last season, $33,276.72 being expended in that manner.

The cleaning of streets and alleys was an important item, this branch costing $23,805.93.

Other expenditures included: Repairing sidewalks and crosswalks, $5,771.87; repairing sewers and catch basins, $5,563.05; repairing bridges, docks, etc., $3,510.07; cleaning sewers, culverts, etc., $7,010.94; removing snow and ice, $11,518.29; chain gang, $2,411.95; office salaries, $9,027.70; miscellaneous, $25,677.33; engineering salaries and supplies, $29,262.40, and material on hand, $187.18.

The receipts include: Taxes, $107,426.74; street maintenance and repair fund, $24,700.80; mortgage tax, $2,976.54; 1912 and 1913 tax sales, $202.85; wheelage tax, $14,847.06; work done, material sold, etc., $21,322.88, and taxes, moneys and credits, $1,848.86.

The balance in the fund at the end of the year was $2,805.72, but this is due to the fact that $25,000 of said indebtedness was paid during the year, which consumed the $16,000 balance of 1913 and most of the balance of 1912.

DEAD MAN'S ASHES SENT BY POST

Duluth Printer's Remains Cremated---Ashes Sent By Parcel Post to Relatives in Oakland, Cal.

James L. Crawford, undertaker, today sent the ashes of J. W. Giles, who died here Jan. 7, to a relative of the dead man living in Oakland, Cal. The ashes were carefully packed in a small case and sent off, like any other package would be sent.

Giles, who was a compositor at the News Tribune, died at a local hotel Jan. 7, following a long illness from tuberculosis. He was a member of the Elks' lodge at Alameda, Cal., and that fraternity sent word to Mr. Crawford to have the body cremated and send the ashes to W. H. Foster of Oakland, a relative.

Although no mention is made of ashes of the dead in the parcel post rules, Mr. Crawford is of the opinion that there is nothing objectionable to sending the ashes by mail.

FARMER STILL IS DEFYING OFFICERS

Threatens to Kill Friends Who Approach the House.

Mayville, N. Y., Jan. 17.—The fifth day of the siege of Edward Beardsley in his farmhouse near Summerdale was ushered in by rapid firing from the Beardsley stronghold. Timothy Van Clise and William Walker, friends of Beardsley, who have acted as gobetweens in the parleys between Sheriff Anderson and the beleaguered farmer, approached the house this morning, hands above their heads. As they entered the yard bullets whizzed over their heads and Beardsley shouted:

"Get out of here and stay out. You are trying to trap me. You can't come here any more."

MUTTON FAMINE IS PREDICTED BY POOLE

Chicago Editor Talks at Meeting of Wool Growers.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Jan. 17.—The work of the United States bureau of animal industry was described by Dr. R. A. Ramsay, chief of field inspection of the agricultural department, before the national Wool Growers' association today. The speaker laid emphasis on the value of proper breeding in order that the flock masters might compete successfully in an open market.

J. E. Poole, editor of the Chicago Livestock World, in an address to the delegates, asserted that the reckless marketing of lambs in the West was going to cause a mutton famine.

A revision of the valuation clauses in railroad contracts for the transportation of sheep was urged by Charles A. Butler of Chicago, who declared that nearly all the livestock contracts he had seen were contrary to the Federal laws.

A resolution authorizing the appointment of a committee to attend the cattlemen's convention in Denver next week, and to co-operate with them to obtain national legislation favorable to the livestock interests, was passed by the convention.

LAKE CARRIERS WILL FIGHT SEAMEN'S BILL

Organized Opposition to It Is Begun at Cleveland.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 17.—Organized opposition to the La Follette seamen's bill was begun here today by officers of the Lake Carriers' association. Chambers of commerce in all lake cities will be asked to co-operate. The Lake Carriers claim lake traffic will be threatened if the bill becomes a law. Vessel owners will also protest against installing wireless apparatus on boats.

Austria Launches Dreadnought.

ANOTHER CASE OF TYPHUS IS FOUND

Steerage Passenger on Steamer Belvedere Has the Disease.

New York, Jan. 17.—Another case of the dreaded typhus fever came into port today on the steamer Belvedere from Trieste. A steerage passenger was the victim, and symptoms noted in another passenger indicated that he too was suffering with the disease. Both were removed to Swinburne island, where they will be isolated, and the ship was held for fumigation. It was thought possible that other passengers who had been exposed would be detained.

CLAIMS MARRIAGE WAS NOT LEGAL

J. H. Miller Says That Divorce Proceedings Are Unnecessary.

Declaring that no valid marriage exists between Elizabeth Miller and himself, James H. Miller today filed an answer in district court to the divorce proceedings which she has started against him. He asks that the court dismiss the case.

According to Miller's story, he has since his marriage to the plaintiff, discovered he married her within the one year of the date she had obtained a divorce from one Alfred Bjork.

The plaintiff and Bjork were married in 1904 and divorced in Douglas county, Superior, on May 16 last. Her second marriage is invalid because the laws of Wisconsin make it so, he claims.

SIX CHILDREN DIE IN FIRE IN HOME.

Coroconk, Ont., Jan. 17.—Six children of Mrs. Weatherby were burned to death today when fire destroyed their home. The mother escaped by jumping from the window.

SAYS CANADA USED "PATENT INSIDES"

Newspaper Association Head Tells of Campaign in U. S.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Testimony today that the Canadian government had been paying for the circulation of news articles in "patented insides" of newspapers to induce Americans to go to Canada, led the senate lobby committee off on a new line of investigation. The statement of the action of the Canadian government was made today by Cortland Smith of New York, president of the American Newspaper association.

The committee decided to call George Joslyn, president of the Western Newspaper union of Omaha, Neb.

COMPROMISE REACHED.

Disputes on Shipping Laws May Be Submitted to The Hague.

London, Jan. 17.—A compromise has been reached on the question of the arbitration, which threatened to wreck the international conference on safety at sea. It is now expected that the convention will be signed Jan. 30.

The English delegates have abandoned their demand that all disputes under the convention and all violation of the shipping laws shall be arbitrated. Under the new arrangement, disputes as they arise may be submitted to The Hague by agreement between both parties.

Although this is a victory for the American point of view, a still greater one for the American delegates is the insertion in the convention of a provision guaranteeing a constant patrol of the ice and derelict zones. This proposal was brought over by Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois.

MAKES REPORT ON DRAINAGE PROJECT.

E. K. Coe, county road engineer, today submitted to County Auditor Haiden the engineer's report on County Ditch No. 2, a drainage project which will reclaim about 8,000 acres of land in that portion of the Meadowlands district which lies between the St. Louis and White Face rivers.

County Commissioner Kauppi had seriously considered draining the roads before the petition for draining the entire district was filed with the county board. Some of the roads are soft and in rainy weather are almost impassable.

The cost of the project will be in the neighborhood of $45,000. The county auditor will notify the viewers, Thomas Olafson of West Duluth, Thomas McArthur of Culver and T. A. Troiander of Alborn, who will assess the benefits and damages.

Thirty days after the viewers file their report with the county board the commissioners will conduct a hearing, and if the assessments are approved, will advertise for bids for the work.

ALLEGED STRANGER IS MUCH WANTED.

Jacksonville, Fla., Jan. 17.—Samuel F. Scher, in jail here today accused of strangling Mrs. W. B. Leaker and robbing her of a $1,000 diamond brooch, is said to be wanted in Washington, New York, Rochester, Toronto and Chicago for similar robberies. The police recovered $5,000 worth of property in his rooms.

OVERSTUDY DRIVES YOUTH TO SUICIDE.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 17.—Addison H. McCullough of Pittsburg, 20 years old, a student at the University of Pennsylvania, jumped from a wharf into the Delaware river early today and was drowned. A life preserver was thrown to McCullough, but he rejected it and sank. It is believed he became deranged from overstudy.

WATCHMAN AWAKES TO FIND HOUSE AFIRE.

J. P. Egerbarhl, 46 years old, 719 East Twelfth street, awoke at his home yesterday afternoon to find that the house was on fire. He jumped out of a window and telephoned fire headquarters. The fire was started by a live coal falling out of the stove, causing a damage of about $250. Egerbarhl is a night watchman at the City National bank and was the only one in the house at the time.

DEMOCRATIC CONFERENCE

Holding of State Conference Opposed at St. Paul Meeting.

Finally Decided to Hold General Meeting on Feb. 24.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The plans of Chairman Martin O'Brien of Crookston and National Committeeman F. B. Lynch for a state conference of Democrats next month met bitter opposition in the meeting of the executive committee at the Merchants' hotel at noon today, but it finally was decided to have a meeting of the general committee and a conference of Democrats in connection therewith Feb. 24 at 2 p. m., the place to be named later.

The contentions of rival factions in Minneapolis for the honor of arranging the banquet which it was proposed to hold in connection with the meeting started the debate. Frank A. Day of Fairmont, chairman of the executive committee, and F. A. Pike of St. Paul opposed the idea of having any state conference at all.

Wanted County Organization.

Chairman O'Brien said he thought the state committee ought to be called to make plans for organizing county committees.

C. H. Chalmers said a committee of Democrats had been named in Minneapolis to arrange a banquet and asked that the arrangements be left with this committee.

M. C. Bowler said it was reported that this committee had been organized in the interest of C. M. Andrist's candidacy for governor and to offset any talk that the state committee might be partial to Andrist, he asked that the banquet arrangements be left with the regular committee. W. S. Herber also said it had been reported that the committee headed by Chalmers was an anti-Lawler organization.

No Reason for Meeting.

Frank Day said he saw no occasion for having a meeting at all. The conference, he charged, would be in violation of the letter and spirit of the primary law and he thought Democrats ought to observe that law.

Mr. Day intimated that some members of the Minnesota delegation wanted to switch to some other candidate at the Baltimore convention, but Martin O'Brien denied this. He challenged Day to show anything that looked like boss rule in what he had done and said that he feared no controversy that might arise in the conference.

"There never was a more bitter fight than was made at Duluth in 1904 when the police were called in to quiet the convention, yet that year we elected John A. Johnson governor," he said.

NO COMMITTEE ON WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Democrats of the house rules committee today refused to report a rule to create a standing committe on woman suffrage in the house.

MANITOBA BOYS FROZEN TO DEATH.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 17.—The bodies of Herman and Harold Jamieson, sons of a ranch owner near Swan River, Northern Manitoba, were found today in the woods, where they had frozen to death in the storm that swept that part of the province Thursday.

BAVARIAN PRINCE WILL MARRY AGAIN.

Munich, Bavaria, Jan. 17.—Crown Prince Luppprecht of Bavaria, son of King Ludwig, is about to marry again, according to a persistent report here which says that the future queen of Bavaria is Princess Maria Del Pilar, daughter of Prince Ferdinand of Bavaria and cousin of King Alfonso of Spain. The crown prince's first wife died in 1912.

WANTS EUGENIC LAW.

Virginia Governor Also Asks for Other Reforms.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 17.—A eugenic marriage law, a state working colony for drunkards and habitual drug users, a Bible school, a circulating library and an academic night school in the state penitentiary and additional authority for the governor to use the militia to enforce laws, were among the recommendations of Governor Mann in his message to the legislature.

Juror Exposed to Smallpox.

International Falls, Minn., Jan. 17.—Theodore Hamann, summoned as a petit juror for the session of the court now in progress has been excused for the reason that he has been exposed to smallpox. Mr. Hamann, who lives at Ray, is an immune, but Judge Wright thought it best to not have him sit with the other jurors.

More Reading For the Blind.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Under the direction of Miss Margaret Wilson, who has succeeded her sister, Mrs. Frances B. Sayre, as an officer of the National Library for the Blind, arrangements have been made for an interstate exchange of literature printed for the blind. According to announcements, the library will honor applications for literature from blind people throughout the country.

Burleson Asks $1,800,000.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Postmaster General Burleson has asked congress for deficiency appropriations of $1,800,000 for pay of substitute, auxiliary and temporary city delivery carriers, employed to meet the extraordinary demands of the eight-hour law and the parcel post.

New Mexico Land Opened.

Washington, Jan. 17.—More than 21,000 acres of agricultural lands in Carson National forest, New Mexico, were thrown open for homestead entry on recommendation of Secretary Lane when President Wilson issued a proclamation.

FOREIGNERS IN THEIR OWN LAND.

New York Times: The American Indian is kept a foreigner in his own land. The current Quarterly Journal of the Society of American Indians accounts for the policy of segregation on reservations, which practically says, "Depart and be ye a separate people," to a natural outgrowth of the earlier British policy. At that time it was not conceived possible that the Caucasian race would populate the whole land, and it was assumed that the Indian could live apart and maintain his own civilization without injury to his race. But now the immigrant Finlanders are assimilated, while the native Indians are condemned to be foreigners and to submit themselves to the tyranny of a tribal life which they have outgrown. There is no racial prejudice against the Indians. Their complete emancipation should begin by treating them like American citizens.

COURAGE IS ESSENTIAL

Nerve Demanded of Patrolmen Who Seek Promotion.

Courage is an essential part of the efficiency record of a patrolman seeking advancement on the Duluth police force.

In order to be eligible for promotion a man must have "nerve," not the "brassy" kind but the sort which sticks when a difficult situation arises.

The efficiency record will play an important part in the standings given the seven patrolmen who recently took the examination, Reuben Johnson, secretary of the civil service commission, said that among things which the commission believed should be considered was courage.

Numerous other features were also mentioned, including reliability, truthfulness, freedom from errors, attention to duty, willingness, attendance, civility, neatness, habits and ability to command and manage men and perform the duties of the position.

OFFER TO BUILD CHICAGO SUBWAY.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—A proposition to give Chicago a comprehensive subway system costing from $80,000,000 to $150,000,000, to be paid for out of the earnings of the system, was made to Mayor Harrison and a committee of the city council here yesterday.

The proposition, which was largely tentative, was made by Walter H. Brown, engineer, of New York city and J. Morton Griffiths of Griffiths & Co., London, Eng. It involves a bond and stock issue to be underwritten abroad if American money is not available, the city to pay 5 per cent interest on the bonds and to receive 35 per cent of the earnings from operation for twenty years, which is the legal life of a public utility corporation in Illinois.

Petitions are being circulated to have the public express its desires in the subway matter at the spring election.

NAVY APPRENTICES DECLARED SUICIDES.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Earl S. Bostwick and E. A. Buchanan, apprenticed seamen at the Lake Bluff training station, committed suicide after agreeing to die together, according to the verdict of the coroner's jury, which held an inquest into their deaths. They were found dead with bullet holes in their temples. Notes giving the addresses of relatives to be notified in case of death were considered by the jury to be evidence of suicide agreement.

WANT PROBE OF GRAIN EXCHANGES.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Resolutions asking that a congressional committee be appointed to investigate conditions and operations of grain exchanges in the country before any laws regulating the exchanges are passed, were adopted by the Council of Grain Exchanges of America in annual session here. The council also declared its members desired to place their affairs on a footing acceptable to congress and the country. James C. Murray of the Chicago board of trade was elected president.

TAKES LORD'S NAME IN VAIN; IS JAILED.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 17.—For taking the name of the Lord in vain during a proceeding in police court, David Michael, a merchant arrested for automobile speeding, was sent to jail for ten days by Police Judge Williams. Michael had been fined $10. With an oath he announced his preparedness to pay it.

"No, you won't pay it," retorted the judge. "You will spend ten days in jail for taking the name of the Lord in vain."

In five minutes Michael was in jail serving the sentence.

THREE SMALL SKATERS DROWN.

Wilmington, Del., Jan. 17.—The bodies of three small boys who went skating last night on Brandywine creek, were found today floating in the water at the dam a short distance below the frozen surface on which they had ventured.

WOULD RESTRICT GERMAN ARMY.

Berlin, Jan. 17.—The Radical Liberal and Clerical members of the Imperial parliament have determined to take the initiative toward the introduction of a measure governing the use of weapons and the exercise of police powers by the military of Germany. Their move is prompted by the recent trouble between the army and civil authorities at Zabern, Alsace. Their intention is to place on the basis of a law enacted by parliament the prevention of similar occurrences, instead of leaving it in the hands of the monarch.

DANCE HALLS WORST THING IN SHEBOYGAN

Teasdale Tells of Hunt for Vice in That City.

Sheboygan, Wis., Jan. 17.—"The dance halls are the worst thing we find to contend with in Sheboygan," said Senator Howard Teasdale, chairman of the Wisconsin legislative vice commission, today, "and the fact that Sheboygan is largely a German community makes the local conditions different from other cities.

"More than twenty young women chosen by their associates in the largest factories and stores testified before the committee last night in executive session, and without exception all said the conditions in regard to their moral surroundings, that the treatment and accommodations accorded them by their employers and the wages paid them, were entirely satisfactory, and we learned that many of them are paying an income tax.

"On account of public criticisms we did not question them about morality."

WOLVES INVADE TOWN.

Come Into Michigamme, Mich., and Kill Collie Dog.

Republic, Mich., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Advices from Michigamme report wolves in that part of Marquette county so numerous that a few nights ago a pack of the animals invaded the town and killed a collie dog at the residence of Olaf Kotoloa. The dog had retreated to a position underneath the veranda. The wolves followed, dispatched the animal after a short fight and dragged the carcass into the yard. The pack fled upon the appearance of men attracted by the sounds of the unequal combat.

M. & ST. L. WILL BUY DES MOINES ROAD.

New York, Jan. 17.—Negotiations are in progress for the purchase of the Des Moines & Fort Didge railroad by the Minneapolis & St. Louis railroad. The latter has a fifty-year lease of the Des Moines & Fort Dodge, beginning in 1905, but according to President Newman Erb of the Minneapolis & St. Louis, the stock control of the Des Moines & Fort Dodge has been acquired as a preliminary to its physical acquisition.

SISTER LODGE FOR AERIAL CAMP W. O. W.

Aerial camp, No. 134, of the Modern Woodmen of the World, will have a sister lodge by the instituting of a grove of the Woodmen circle as an auxiliary to its camp.

The new grove will be instituted in Columbia hall Saturday evening Jan. 24, under the direction of Thomas C. Fernald, district organizer.

Mrs. Mary E. La Rocca, chairman of the board of supreme managers, will confer the ritualistic work upon the new officers and candidates and a social evening will follow. Miss Alyda F. Flaaten of the Flaaten Conservatory of Music has charge of the music.

This grove will start with a membership of about twenty-five.

Sun Yat Sen a Grandpa.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 17.—Dr. Sun Yat Sen, one of the leaders who overthrew the Manchu dynasty of China and now is a rebel and exile, is a grandfather. Gee Ping is the baby's name. His mother, Mrs. Fo Sun, is a graduate of Berkely, Cal., seminary. His father, a son of Dr. Sen, is a student in the University of California, registered in the college of commerce.

Attacks Child Labor Law.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 17.—A petition for the repeal of the child labor law passed at the last session of the legislature has been filed in the senate by Senator Andrew Doyle. A committee which investigated the subject during the legislative recess recently recommended that the law be given at least one more year's trial.

Northwestern Wins Debate.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Northwestern university debating team last night won its debate with the University of Chicago. The subject of the debate was: "Resolved, that the state should established schedules of minimum wages for unskilled labor, constitutionality conceded."

Farmers' Short Course.

Park River, N. D., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Park River short course in agriculture, conducted for the benefit of farmers of Western Walsh county, will begin here Feb. 9. It will be conducted under the direction of the Walsh county agricultural school, and a special bid will be made for enrollment among the farmers of foreign nationalities, of which there are many.

R. L. Jackson of Grafton, James Greenwood of Bismarck and other prominent speakers will participate.

REAL ESTATE NEWS

GOOD BUILDING RECORD FOR DULL SEASON OF YEAR

Seventeen Permits, Mostly for Houses, Issued During the Week.

Mild Weather Enables Contractors to Make Good Progress.

Building permits for the present week made a creditable showing for the midwinter season, being seventeen in number, with the cost of improvements involved placed at $32,910. With five exceptions, they authorized the erection of dwellings, mainly in the western sections of the city. The largest permit in the list, $8,000, was issued to S. Spotvald to cover the building of four frame houses on Twelfth avenue east between Eighth and Ninth streets.

The Hunter's Park Land company took out a permit for a frame dwelling to go up in Kenilworth Park, to cost $5,950.

M. Hurtig is building a frame dwelling on Second street between Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth avenues west, to cost $3,500, and P. George Hanson & Sons are erecting a $3,500 frame dwelling on Second street between Twenty-first and Twenty-second avenues west.

A permit authorizing the erection of a frame shed was issued to the Diamond Calk Horse Shoe company. It will be utilized for the storage of surplus stock, the capacity of the company's factory having already grown inadequate to meet the requirements of its increasing business, though the size of its building was doubled only last year.

The proposed Munger school, to be built on Eighth street east, was the largest job to go out for figures during the week. According to the plans prepared by Holstead & Sullivan, architects, the six-room school originally proposed has been enlarged to twelve rooms, and it will entail an estimated expenditure of $55,000. Bids are due to be in by Jan. 24, when it is intimated, the contract will be let and the work proceeded with at once.

Another proposition on which Duluth contractors are figuring, is a new school for the town of Barrows on the Cuyuna range. The plans and specifications covering it went out this week from the office of the architects, Vernon J. Price & Co. Bids are due to be in by Jan. 30.

Rapid progress is being made on the Duluth Rug company's new factory building at West Duluth. The contractor, the D. H. Clough company, is now pouring the cement for the third floor, leaving only the roof remaining to be poured. It is expected that the building will be ready for occupancy by Feb. 15.

The Lounsberry-McLeod company is still employing a large force in pushing work on its contract for the building of homes in the Minnesota Steel company's model town at Spirit Lake. The majority of the fifty-four houses that were inclosed two weeks ago, are now reaching the finishing stage.

* * *

J. J. Wangenstein is preparing the specifications for the heating and plumbing and electric wiring for the new theaters on Superior street west, being built by M. S. Cook and W. M. Abrahamson. He expects to let the contracts within the next few days. In the meantime Fawcett & Bergstrom, the general contractors for both structures, are pressing ahead with work on their foundations. With the exception of last Monday, they have not been hampered so far by cold weather conditions.

REAL ESTATE OPERATORS HOPEFUL FOR COMING YEAR

Negotiations Reported for Three Tracts as Sites for Factories.

Dealers Are Encouraged By Strong Invasion of Outside Buyers.

Though, as the records show, the number of sales actually closed during the present week was limited, operators are without exception feeling hopeful regarding the outlook for the year. Inquiries being received by the various offices are said to be gratifying, both in number and character. They are taken to forecast the putting through of considerable business between now and the early spring.

Negotiations are reported to be on for three vacant tracts to be utilized for factory sites, with every indication that they will be brought to a focus within the next two or three weeks.

A gratifying feature in the situation at present is the easier condition of money available to loan on real estate security. This is in direct contrast to a year ago. This development will, it is thought, lead to the winding up of considerable business in which negotiations were started some time back.

"The most encouraging aspect in the real estate field in Duluth at present is the fact that new blood is coming in," said E. W. Markell today. "Buying by outsiders has been in appreciable volume during the last few months, and that continued for a time longer, will afford many of our people, who have been tied up, some of them for years, opportunities to make turns. We could not go on trading between ourselves forever."

The A. A. Fiedr company reported a busy week, resulting in the closing of some substantial business. Sales included two lots to the board of education to round up the site for the proposed new Munger school at Eighth street and Twelfth avenue east. The consideration was $935. A lot on Tenth street, between Eleventh and Twelfth avenues east, was sold for J. Carlson to Thomas Austin, and a house and two lots on Tenth street, between Eleventh and Twelfth avenues east, were sold for Thomas Austin to Nels Anderson. The company besides disposed of 160 acres on Eagle Lake in section 26-52-14 to Simon Clark.

* * *

E. W. Markell sold four lots on Pitt street, between Forty-ninth and Fiftieth avenues east to a local investor. He also reported the receipt of earnest money on a large sale of East Superior street residence property.

* * *

W. M. Prindle & Co. commented on the strong inquiry being met with for outlying properties, something unusual so early in the season. Sales of building lots were effected this week in both Kenilworth and Crescent View parks.

* * *

The Alliance Real Estate company sold a lot in Ironton, Fourth division, and two building lots on Twelfth street near Twenty-second avenue east.

* * *

The N. J. Upham company is arranging for an active building program in its Dickerman addition on the West end hillside, early in the spring. Two lots were sold yesterday to parties who plan to erect homes within the next few weeks.

* * *

The L. A. Larsen company sold two lots on the Central hillside near the incline railway, and advised negotiations on covering a number of residence properties.

The Ebert, Walker & McKnight company sold to Joseph Coxfield, an Iowa investor, 640 acres north of Lakewood, which he proposes to divide into forty and eighty-acre tracts for colonization purposes. This makes the fourth section Mr. Coxfield has bought in the same vicinity with that object in view.

* * *

Stryker, Manley & Buck are looking forward to an acre season in all classes of Duluth realties. They are already in receipt of promising inquiry for tracts at Ingleside park.

* * *

The Gary Land company has closed a successful season in its Gary First division lots. The company placed these lots on the market in May, 1913. By Jan. 1 last there were but a few lots left in the First division, which necessitated the opening of the Gary Central division. J. E. Gervenack, manager of the townsite office, reports that the number of lots sold during the first fifteen days of this month in the Central division, is setting a good mark for the coming months, notwithstanding the touch of cold weather experienced. Many lots have been sold to parties who were waiting for the Central division to be placed on the market. Building operations in the new division will begin within the next thirty days, according to some of the new owners. Other purchasers propose to build in the near future.

KODAK TRUST NOW WANTS TO BE GOOD

Government May Agree to Dissolution and Settlement.

Washington, Jan. 17.—The "Kodak trust" is the latest of the great corporations sued under the Sherman anti-trust act to seek a peaceful settlement of its troubles with the department of justice. Negotiations between representatives of the so-called trust and the department have progressed so far that an agreement probably will be reached within a short time.

Suit was begun against the Eastern Kodak Company of New Jersey, and the Eastern Kodak Company of New York at Buffalo last June; answer was made by the defendants, and the taking of the testimony by the government is near completion. Settlement of the suit may be reached either by an agreement out of court similar to that with the American Telephone & Telegraph company, or in the form of a "consent decree," registered in a Federal court. The success of the agreement plan so far has inclined officials to favor it in this case.

NEW HOTEL FOR IRONTON, MINN.

SPINA HOTEL, WHICH WILL OPEN EARLY NEXT MONTH.

The Spina hotel at Ironton, Minn., is expected to be ready to open early next month. In appointments and conveniences the building will rank as one of the most modern of its kind in the Northwest. It is a two-story brick structure with basement, 100 by 75 feet in size and contains twenty-seven guest rooms.

The premises will involve an outlay of about $40,000. George Rowley of Brainerd, Minn., was the general contractor. The plumbing and heating was installed by George Blackwood, and the electrical work by the Burgess Electric company of this city. The plans were prepared by Holstead & Sullivan, architects.

TAXATION IS DISCUSSED

Nearly 200 Residents of Suburbs Hear City Assessor's Talk.

"No Flat Increase in Valuations But a Fair Readjustment."

Nearly 200 men from Glen Avon, Hunter's Park and Woodland attended the meeting of the "Glen-Hunt-Wood commission" last night at Glen Avon Presbyterian church and heard City Assessor Scott explain the system of taxation under the new law passed by the last session of the state legislature. No action in the nature of resolutions was taken, but several speakers declared that while they believed the new law is not what it should be, they considered it of value as a basis from which to start for revising the state tax laws so as to make them more equitable.

Mr. Scott illustrated his talk by a large map showing the Glen Avon, Hunter's Park and Woodland districts, with the valuation placed on each lot marked on the map in red. The map furnished a center of interest for the men at the close of the meeting, and the assessor was besieged with questions as to the cause for certain distinctions in valuation. He assured all inquirers that they would be heard gladly if they would call at his office with their questions.

No Flat Increase.

"One thing that I would like to have distinctly understood," said Mr. Scott in the course of his remarks, "is that there is to be no '25 per cent flat increase in valuations' in this city this year, as has been reported. What we are doing instead is to revise the entire list of valuations and try to get them somewhere right, instead of taking the old figures as a basis for the new ones. Of course, there are several elements that enter into this work, such as depreciation of buildings, etc. But what we are trying to do is to get things on a sound and just basis, and then if it is found necessary to make any flat increases or decreases, we will have something definite and reliable to work from. As a matter of fact some valuations have been raised 100 per cent and some others have been raised only 25 per cent or less."

A. G. McKnight of Lakeside was one of the speakers at the meeting. He talked of what might be done under the present taxation laws of the state. Prefacing his remarks, he said he wished to call the attention of the assessor to statements that had been made to him by some score of persons during the evening, that "any one lot in Woodland was worth at least five times the same area in Lakeside."

Other speakers during the evening were H. B. Freyberger, J. L. Washburn, C. E. Adams and H. C. Fulton. "Mayor" W. A. Pryor of the Glen-Hunt-Wood commission presided. The next meeting of the commission will be held on the third Friday in February

LONGER TERM FOR PROBATE JUDGE

According to S. W. Gilpin, judge of probate, who returned yesterday from St. Paul, where he attended the annual state convention of probate judges held Wednesday and Thursday, the proposed constitutional amendment increasing the terms of probate judges from two to four years in Minnesota, is strongly advocated by the state organization. At the St. Paul meeting this week the officers were directed to give publicity to the amendment.

At its last session the legislature changed the terms of all of the other county officers and would have included the probate court if it had not been for a constitutional amendment which precluded such action. The proposed amendment will be voted on at the general election in November. The officers of the State Association of Probate Judges are: A. N. Mayland, Freeborn county, president; A. E. Lewis, Todd county, vice president; and C. E. Green, Anoka county, secretary and treasurer.

MANY DULUTH BOYS WILL BE FARMERS

Instructor Gibson Lauds Agriculture at Meeting of Schoolmasters.

That more than one-half of the boys taking the agricultural course at the Duluth Central high school have decided to go to the state agricultural college and make scientific farming their life work was stated last night by Instructor E. P. Gibson at a meeting of the Schoolmasters' club at the Y. M. C. A.

The agricultural work at the high school is elective and is open to senior and junior boys only. The course as conducted during the first semester deals with dairying, poultry raising, practical gardening and truck farming. The American Guernsey Cattle club has loaned its set of slides to the students and the state farm college also has loaned a set of slides to be used to illustrate lectures on stock breeding.

The great demand and wide field open for men on the farm, if properly trained to carry on scientific agriculture were emphasized by Mr. Gibson. This line of work he said offered excellent remuneration and good experience.

T. W. Blair spoke on physiography and W. A. Benson on chemistry. Mr. Blair said that there was a wide field for the study of physiography in and around Duluth.

Mr. Benson said: "We are trying to give the student a good fundamental idea of the subject of chemistry and at the same time make it interesting for the student. During the year the class will visit a number of industrial plants and each student will work out some special line."

WILL ABANDON TUG.

Duluth Wrecker Returns After Finding Vessel Badly Damaged.

Hope for the recovery of the tug Mayflower, which sank two weeks ago off Beaver bay with a cargo of sixteen tons of fish, has been given up. The vessel was wrecked during a storm but the crew escaped.

Capt. H. H. Thompson, Duluth, and Capt. Noble of the wrecked craft, returned to this city yesterday after an unsuccessful attempt to salvage the tug. Capt. Thompson decided, after examining the vessel, that it had pounded on the rocks until damage made recovery impracticable. The Mayflower was 64 feet in length and has been one of the fishing fleet for many years.

Denies Marquette Report.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 17.—Walter W. Pettit, field secretary of the National Playgrounds and Recreation association, who is spending some days in Marquette, denied published reports that he had found minors in saloons, and that the conditions he found in the pool rooms were bad.

Fall Is Fatal.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 17.—Ralph Osborne of North Bay, Ont., aged 46 years, was fatally injured at Little Lake Thursday when he fell from the smokestack at the mill of the Little Lake Lumber company. He died three-quarters of an hour later at the Gwinn hospital.

WHERE CAN I GET IT?

You want something—perhaps a staple article, but just a certain style, or it may be something out of the ordinary—where can you get it?

Well—nearly everything you want is advertised in this paper one time or another. If you read the advertisements daily, when a certain need arises, you will know the best place to go to purchase, and about what the cost should be.

The knowledge gained from advertisements will save needless steps and money. Don't neglect them.

FIRST OF THE 4,600 MEXICAN REFUGEES REACH FORT BLISS

Food and Shelter for All Will Cost $1,500 a Day.

Child Is Born During Weary Tramp of Sixty-Seven Miles.

One Thousand Soldiers' Wives Will Cook for Camp.

Marfa, Tex., Jan. 19.—The Federal soldiers and refugees who fled to the United States from Ojinaga, Mex., began to arrive from the border today to entrain for Fort Bliss, where they are to be interned indefinitely. All the 3,300 soldiers and 1,300 or more women and children were not expected before night, and it may be tomorrow before they are loaded on the ten trains which are to carry them to El Paso.

When the vanguard of the column, with Gen. Salvador Mercado and five other Mexican generals, arrived here, the marchers still were scattered southward in a continuous line for twelve miles. Maj. McNamee, with a troop of cavalry men, formed the escort, while behind the crowd of women, children, horses, burros and dogs more cavalry brought up the rear.

Abounded in Incidents.

The arrival here of the refugees, who are on the footing of prisoners of war, will end a four days' march of sixty-seven miles over a mountain road from Presidio, Tex., on the border, to which point the soldiers and

OPTIMISTIC LETTERS REACHING PRESIDENT

Opinions and Estimates on Business Situation Are Received.

Washington, Jan. 19.—President Wilson has been receiving opinions and estimates on the business situation throughout the country, which lead him to believe that a general confidence in the future exists.

The president told callers today that while he had no scientific analysis of the situation and that his letters were of various colors, in the main conditions were optimistic. The president is said to believe that in some industries, especially those dependent on the railroads, conditions have not been so satisfactory, but he made it clear incidentally today that he had not expressed any opinion, as had been reported, on the propriety of increasing freight rates. The president let it be known, however, that while he held distinct views on the question, he did not feel that he could express them while the subject was being determined by a semi-judicial body.

With reference to the tariff, the president's letters lead him to believe that business actually has been stimulated by it, and that the average small merchant is in better condition now than formerly.

THIRD TYPHUS SHIP HELD AT QUARANTINE

Greek Port of Patras Supposed to Be Place of Infection.

New York, Jan. 19.—Another typhus ship, the third within two weeks, was detained at Quarantine today by Dr. Joseph J. O'Connell, health officer of the port. The vessel is the Kaiser Franz Joseph I of the Austro-American line, a sister ship of the Belvedere, from which a case of typhus fever was removed on Saturday. The Kaiser Franz Joseph I came from Adriatic ports.

The patient on the vessel was removed to Swinburne island, where the case was diagnosed this morning as typhus. One hundred and forty-nine steerage passengers who had been exposed to infection were detained at Hoffman island for observation.

The source of the typhus now affecting Mediterranean immigration is, in the opinion of Dr. O'Connell, the Greek port of Patras. The Belvedere took two passengers on at Patras, and the Kaiser Franz Joseph I touched there. The patient on board is a former Montenegrin soldier. He boarded the vessel at Trieste.

WRONG RIVERS HELD FOR DESERTING ARMY

Case of Mistaken Identity Is Solved at Court-martial.

Leavenworth, Kan., Jan. 19.—A peculiar case of mistaken identity was settled at Fort Leavenworth today when Ike Rivers of Sedalia, Mo., after trial by court-martial, was acquitted of the charge of escaping from the guardhouse at Fort Robinson, Neb., in 1903, while a member of Troop C, Tenth United States cavalry.

The defendant testified he never had served in the army. Four men who were privates in Troop C in 1903 testified the man on trial was not the Ike Rivers with whom they had served eleven years ago.

The Ike Rivers who escaped was enlisted from Sedalia. The Ike Rivers on trial was arrested when he applied for enlistment at Sedalia last September.

RESTORATION IS UNDER WAY

Japanese People Are Hurrying to Restore Kagoshima.

Wisconsin Man Gives Account of Volcano's Eruption.

MORE ERUPTIONS.

Kagoshima, Japan, Jan. 19.—Fresh eruptions of the volcano Sakura-Jima which recently caused such widespread devastation occurred today. They were accompanied by earthquakes and violent subterranean noises. The governor of Hokkaido today estimates that about 300,000 people on the island of Kiushiu will need relief and that about $3,500,000 will be required.

Kagoshima, Japan, Jan. 19.—This city is rapidly recovering from the complete prostration which followed the eruption of Sakura-Jima. Train service has been restored, and in the business district many of the stores have been partially reopened. The postal and telegraph services are carried on in tents. Soldiers are bivouacked in the streets, and parties of blue jackets from the Japanese cruisers are searching the ruins.

The villages of Shigetoki and Kajiki, ten miles inland, suffered very severely in the catastrophe.

No estimate can yet be made of the casualties.

Seen By Wisconsin Man.

Tokio, Jan. 19.—A narrative of the eruption and earthquakes which devastated the island of Sakura and the town of Kagoshima, destroying hundreds of lives, on Jan. 14, is given today by Theodore R. Hoyer of Wisconsin, who was an eye witness. He says:

"The volcano of Sakura-Jima, at the beginning of the eruption, resembled

OHIO LEGISLATURE IN SPECIAL SESSION

Schooi Reforms and Flood Prevention Among Subjects Raised.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 19.—A special session of the Ohio legislature convened today to consider, among other subjects, school reforms, flood prevention and protection measures, and an amendment to the election laws to give direct election of United States senators.

Varsity Debate On Suffrage.

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 19.—Woman suffrage will be the subject of the next triangular debate between Harvard, Yale and Princeton. The date selected is March 27.

GOES SMILING TO THE ELECTRIC CHAIR

Second Man Dies for Murder Committed Two Years Ago.

Ossining, N. Y., Jan. 19.—Frank Muehlfeld, alias "The Kid," went smilingly to his death in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison today, the second man to die in the chair for the murder of Patrick Burns in New York City two years ago. "Big Bill" Lingley, Muehlfeld's pal, was executed on May 5. Both Lingley and Muehlfeld left statements absolving Ralph Furcolo of any connection with the crime. Furcolo is serving a twenty-year sentence.

Burns was robbed and shot down in his saloon on Feb. 11, 1912.

NEW YORK MEN ARRIVE TO BREAK THE STRIKE IN THE COPPER MINES

Nearly 200 Defendants Await Trial in the Courts.

Citizens' Relief Fund May Be Returned to Donors.

Mild Weather Is Helping Labor Leaders in Their Fight.

WILL RETURN FUND.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Houghton county relief committee, which raised a fnud of $30,000 for Italian hall disaster suffering, met today and decided to return all contributions. The union's officials refused to permit its members to accept outside aid.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 19.—The arrival of forty-one strike-breakers from New York furnished the only development this morning in the copper miners' strike. Soon after they reached here the men, mostly Germans, went to work at the Quincy mine.

Anthony Lucas, prosecuting attorney of Houghton county, announced that 109 cases were docketed for trial at the January term of the circuit court which begins next Monday. In these cases there will be 180 defendants and the charges against them range from raising a disturbance to murder.

Owing to the length of the docket several weeks may elapse before the case of the thirty-eight union leaders and strikers indicted recently for conspiracy is reached.

MINISTERS OPPOSE EUGENIC LITERATURE

Minneapolis Methodists Say Thing Is Being Overdone.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Addresses of protest were made against alleged undue airing of eugenic literature, at a meeting of Methodist ministers here today. The discussion was participated in by nearly all of the ministers present, which included practically the entire membership of the local association.

"We have had about enough of the placing of eugenic literature before immature minds in a desultory way," said Rev. Andrew Gillies, president of the association. "A strong reaction is setting in against this sort of thing. Recent attempts to put before the minds of the young eugenic problems in various forms have resulted in general protest. It comes from ministers, physicians, members of the Young Men's Christian association and people in all walks of life."

MISSIONARY SHOT IN ARM

Dr. Liliegaard Wounded By Bandits at Kwang Chow.

Chinese Troops Help Marauders Escape After Raid.

Hankow, China, Jan. 19.—Dr. Liliegaard, a missionary of the American Lutheran mission, was wounded in one arm on Jan. 18, in the course of fighting at Kwang Chow, in the province of Honan. An army of bandits under the "White Wolf," who has been devastating the district, on that date captured and looted Kwang Chow.

While the fighting was proceeding, Mrs. Mason and Mrs. Smith, escorted by Mr. Mason, another missionary, abandoned the mission house and took refuge in the country farm house belonging to native Chinese Christians.

The brigands are now ravaging the southeastern portion of Honan province in the same way as they have done the southwestern district for some time.

The regular troops do not appear to offer any serious resistance to the bandits. In fact, the troops sent out to pursue them and to recapture Kwang Chow sent messengers in advance to warn the bandits, deliberately permitting them to escape.

St. Paul Man at Hankow.

Winona, Minn., Jan. 19.—The American mission referred to in the Hankow dispatch has been maintaining missionaries in Hankow for some years, and there are now workers there representing the Swedes, Norwegians and Finns.

Last June, at a meeting of the German Lutheran synodical conference of North America, held at New Ulm, Minn., Rev. G. Albrecht of New Ulm being president, it was decided to put a missionary in this field, and Prof. J. Arndt of St. Paul was commissioned and went with his wife and two children.

MAKE IT EASIER FOR TRUSTS TO DISSOLVE

That Is Purpose of Program of the Administration.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The administration intends chiefly, through its trust program, to "facilitate the processes of accommodation" as contrasted with " the processes of suit."

President Wilson told callers today that the recent agreements between the department of justice and business concerns were not settlements which abated the law in the least degree, but merely understandings as to the method and time within which corporations were to conform to the law, while being allowed reasonable periods for adjustment.

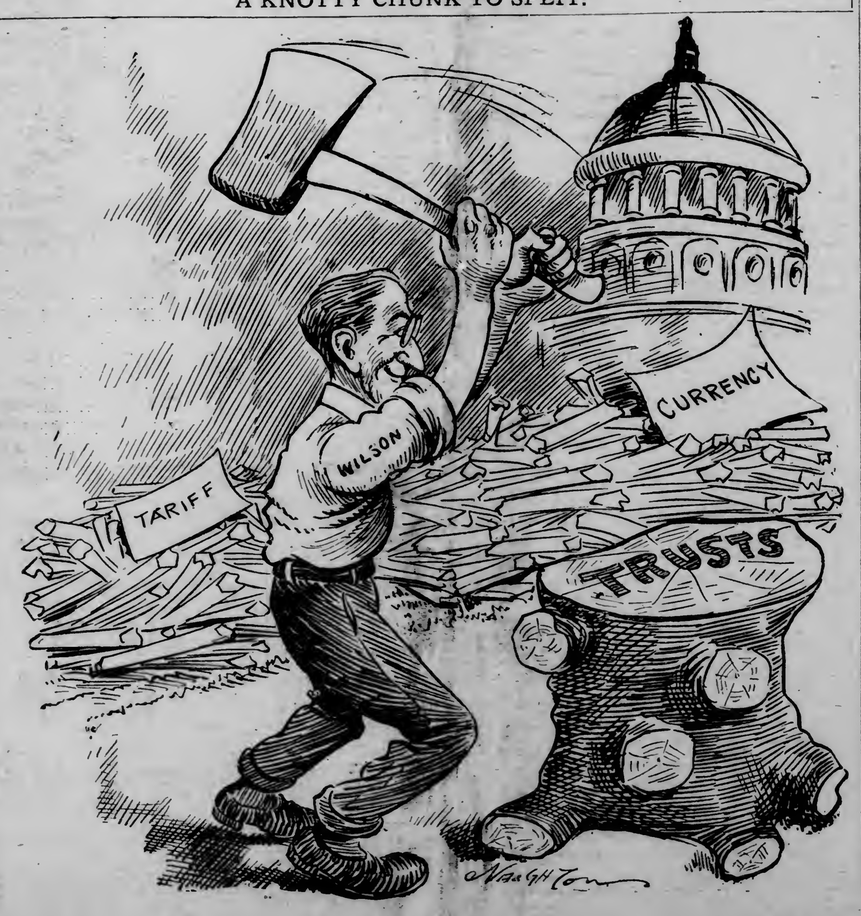

In that sense the word "accommodation" is used, meaning accommodating the processes of law to the interests of business, though not abating the law. In that connection the president believes better machinery for conducting processes of accommodations to the law ought to be set up.

Interstate Trade Commission.

An interstate trade commission is the body the president has in mind to fill that need, though it was apparent today that he had not gone further than outlining its general functions, and intends that the details of limiting the powers of the commission shall be left to those drafting the new laws in the congressional committees.

The president's message went to the printer today, and will be delivered to congress tomorrow.

A KNOTTY CHUNK TO SPLIT.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at noon.

Debate resumed on Alaska railroad bill.

Senator Penrose introduced a resolution for a commission of seven to draw a bill for a reorganization of Indian affairs.

Senator Norris introduced a bill to establish a bureau of farm loans in department of agriculture.

Senator Overmann introduced a resolution to require the president to consider treaties with European powers for the neutralization of the Philippine islands.

HOUSE.

Met at noon.

Passed a resolution for a session with the senate tomorrow at 12:30 p. m. to hear President Wilson read his trust message.

Dr. Howard Kelly and other scientists testified at a mines committee hearing on the pending radium bill.

Passed a bill to empower the public health service to supervise sanitary arrangements on railroad trains and passenger stations.

THIRD REFUSAL FROM THE COMMISSION TO REOPEN RATE CASE

WAS PROMINENT IN FAMOUS DREYFUS CASE

GEN. MARIE-GEORGES PICQUART,
Who Is Dead at Amiens at the Age of 60 Years.

WAS FRIEND TO DREYFUS

Capt. Picquart, Who Proved Convicted Man's Innocence, Is Dead.

Fight for Justice Cost Him His Position in Army.

Amiens, France, Jan 19.—Gen. Marie-Georges Picquart, commander of the Second French army corps, who was one of the most prominent figures in the Dreyfus case, died here today aged 60 years.

Gen. Picquart rose to high rank at a very early age. He was an Alsatian by birth. While serving on the general staff, Picquart discovered the forgeries which had brought about the condemnation of Dreyfus to the horrors of Devil's Island.

Picquart thereupon became one of the most enthusiastic appellants for a revision of the judgment on Dreyfus. His zeal in this respect led to his arrest and imprisonment on various charges which were dismissed for want of evidence. In spite of the court's decision in his favor, he was retired from the service through the influence of anti-Dreyfus officials.

Worked for Condemned Man.

During his retirement Picquart, aided by Emile Zola and others, continued his work in behalf of the man who had been unjustly condemned. He finally succeeded in having the case brought before another court-martial at Rennes. Dreyfus was again convicted by this court, but later secured a full pardon from President Loubey.

This pardon did not satisfy Picquart and the other supporters of Dreyfus, who labored to have him officially declared innocent. They finally secured this verdict from the French supreme court, and both Dreyfus and Picquart were restored to the active list of the French army.

Gen. Picquart afterward became minister of war and commander of the Second army corps.

WISCONSIN REALTY DEALERS WILL MEET.

Racine, Wis., Jan. 19.—Delegates to the number of 300 are expected to arrive in the city today to attend the preliminary meeting of the annual convention of the Association of Wisconsin Real Estate Dealers. The first regular business session of the convention will be called tomorrow morning and the convention will continue until Wednesday night. Theater parties and automobile tours about the city have been arranged for the entertainment of the guests. Governor Francis E. McGovern will address the assembly on Tuesday.

Decision in "Duluth's Magna Charta" Stands as Handed Down.

Size of Twin City Increases Only Subject Under Dispute.

Big Principles Established By Case Will Not Be Reconsidered.

The decision of the interstate commerce commission in the Duluth lake and rail case stands.

For the third and doubtless the last time, the interstate commerce commission has refused to reopen the case, and the principles laid down in it will become a part of the rate structure of the Northwest.

Notice of the third refusal was received Saturday by members of the Duluth traffic commission from the secretary of the interstate commerce commission. The Twin Cities made one attempt to reopen the case, and their application was refused. Then the lake and rail lines made two successive attempts, and were refused. The only matter now before the commission in this connection is whether or not the increased rates to the Twin Cities are just. The big principles laid down in the decision stand—that is considered the important point by the members of the traffic commission.

Two Big Principles.

The decision in the lake and rail case laid down two important principles. One was that the lake and rail rates to Duluth from the East should be on the Chicago basis. This resulted in a reduction in the Duluth rates, and this reduction was ordered specifically by the commission.

The second principle was that the lake and rail rates from the East to the Twin Cities and other points, must base on Duluth, and must be readjusted to remove existing discriminations. The commission did not specify the amount of these new rates, as it did in the reduction in the Duluth rates, but left it up to the railroads to suggest a plan for removing the discrimination, which they promptly did by raising the Twin City rates.

First the Twin Cities asked for a reopening of the whole case, but this was denied. Then the lake and rail lines asked for a reopening, and this was denied. The lines again made the

FROM DAY LABORER TO PRIVY COUNCIL

Rt. Hon. Jesse Collings Will Leave British Public Life.

London, Jan. 19.—Rt. Hon. Jesse Collings, who from a laborer's cottage in Devonshire rose to be a member of the king's privy council, has decided to follow into retirement his leader, Joseph Chamberlain, who a few days ago announced that he was about to give up political life.

Mr. Collings, who is 83 years old, said today that he would not, at the next election, renew his candidacy for the Bordesley division of Birmingham, which he has represented since 1886.

The aged statesman has always been greatly interested in popular education. His study of the school system of the United States led him in 1868 to publish a remarkable pamphlet which did much toward the introduction of compulsory free education in England in 1870.

"Three Acres and a Cow."

Mr. Collings' political career has been principally occupied with the welfare of the agricultural laborer. His act for the provision of small allotments of land for farm workers was passed by parliament after repeated defeats, and has been of great benefit to the British rural workmen. Mr. Collings' scheme in this enactment was popularly summed up in the slogan:

"Three acres and a cow."

Always a strong Radical in politics, Mr. Collings followed Joseph Chamberlain into the Unionist ranks on the introduction of the first home rule bill by William E. Gladstone. At one time Mr. Collings was under secretary of state for the home department.

LORD STRATHCONA IS SLOWLY SINKING

Famous Peer Formerly an Associate of James J. Hill.

London, Jan. 19.—Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, high commissioner for Canada, was slowly sinking at 6 o'clock this evening, according to a report by his physicians.

Friend of J. J. Hill.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 19.—Lord Strathcona, who is 94 years of age, was one of the pioneers of the Red river valley, an old business associate of James J. Hill, whom he met in Winnipeg for the last time three years ago.

It was a great occasion, the meeting of these two men, each of whom had built and financed great transcontinental railways and helped so much to develop the Northwest. He is worth $25,000,000, and the title will descend to his daughter, the Hon. Mrs. Howard, but not to her husband.

Lord Strathcona met his wife forty-four years ago in the wilds of Labrador, where there were no priests or ministers. No marriage was contracted until eleven years ago, when they were married in Montreal, just before accepting the peerage from Queen Victoria, who insisted on a church ceremony.

LOGGERS ON ANXIOUS SEAT

Fear Warm Weather May Ruin Roads in the Woods.

Mullery-McDonald Mill Opens With Force of 300 Men.

The warm weather of the last few days has put the big Duluth logging operators on the anxious seat, and only a quick change in the temperature will prevent a serious setback in the camps.

This opinion was expressed today by one of the biggest operators in Duluth. Things are said to be going along at a good clip just at present, however. Just how much the slight rain and spring-like atmosphere are affecting operations in camp is not known in Duluth today, but operators fear that their roads will be softened and perhaps ruined. These men, however, are getting considerable consolation out of the prediction made by the United States weather forecasters in Washington, D. C., that a cold wave will hit the Northwest later in the week.

Labor conditions in Duluth were improved today by the opening of the big Mullery-McDonald sawmill at Twenty-fourth avenue west, which will continue operations from now until next fall. About 300 men are required to operate the mill and handle the logs. Owing to the fact that the supply of logs at the Head of the Lakes is very meager, the Mullery-McDonald mill at Thirty-ninth avenue west was not opened, as had been planned. With weather conditions being favorable for getting out and shipping logs, the mill will open in the near future.

Despite the fact that few orders from logging camps are being received by Duluth employment agents, there are few idle men in the city, and the Mullery-McDonald company found it none too easy to get hands for operating the sawmill. There were few idlers on Michigan street today, and employment agents say any good workman can get work if he wants it.

NATIONS AGREE ON WORLD FAIR LIMIT

Will Patronize Only One in Every Three Years.

New York, Jan. 19.—A semi-contractural agreement among sixteen European nations not to participate officially in international expositions except at three-year intervals, beginning October, 1912, was reached by representatives of these governments at a meeting in Berlin, Oct. 8-14, 1912, according to information made public here which has reached the American committee to celebrate the hundredth anniversary of peace among English-speaking nations. The American government was represented only unofficially at this meeting, and did not become one of the signatory nations.

A copy of the document of agreement—the original is in possession of the French government—has been placed in the hands of the state department by John A. Stewart, chairman of the executive committee of the American peace committee.

The understanding, known in Europe as the Berlin agreement, is the sole basis for the recently reputed anti-American contract apparently manifesting itself in a refusal to give official recognition to the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco, according to the opinion of the American peace committee. The copy of the document forwarded by Mr. Stewart is said here to be the first one that has reached the state department.

Seeks Her Sister.

Mrs. Anna Bell Olson of Portland, Or., has asked Chief Troyer to assist her in finding her sister, Mrs. Dell Dassaw, who formerly lived at 29 Orange street. The former has not heard from her sister for several months and is very anxious to learn her whereabouts.

Will Clean Street.

Commissioner Roderick Murchison, head of the works division, gave orders this morning to have the mud and slush removed from the downtown section of Superior street. Most of the mud which has mixed with the slush to make the thoroughfare dirty and unsightly is due to the excavations for the two theaters. The city has a cash guarantee from the contractors, and they will be obliged to stand their share of the expense.

Fined For Assault.

For assaulting J. M. Welhaven following an argument on Superior street yesterday afternoon, Ole Johnson, 26 years old, was this morning fined $25 and costs or thirty days in the county jail. He paid his fine.

More Farm Laborers.

Five prisoners were this morning sentenced to serve terms at the new work farm by Judge Cutting. Of these Mike Mullen and Johnson were sent up for thirty days on charges of vagrancy, while James J. Doyle, William Fox and Joseph Dolan, arrested Saturday for being drunk, were each sent up for sixty days.

Alien Has Tuberculosis.

August Rinta, 17 years old, who was brought to Duluth Saturday from Chisholm, where he had contracted tuberculosis, may be deported to Finland by the immigration authorities. Rinta came to America last April. He is being treated at the tuberculosis hospital for the present.

Charged With Swiping "Juice."

Bert McCall, 37 years old, who operates the Myer's hotel at Thirty-eighth avenue west, was arrested Saturday afternoon on a charge of using electric current without the owner's consent. He was taken into custody on a complaint preferred against him by the Duluth-Edison Electric company. McCall pleaded not guilty in police court this morning and his trial was set for 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Prisoner Is Released.

Verner Alexander, 26 years old, who was arrested by Patrolman Olson Saturday evening on a charge of petit larceny, was released for lack of evidence.

Their Sentences Suspended.

Lena Olson, 28, and Robert Haynes, 36, were arrested late Saturday evening at the Belvidere hotel. They pleaded guilty in police court this morning and sentence in the case of the Olson woman was continued until 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, and that of Haynes until this afternoon.

Would Be Commissioner.

FEAR SUBMARINE SANK IN QUICKSAND

"A-7 Must Be Found" Is Order of British Naval Office.

Plymouth, Jan. 19.—"The submarine 'A-7' must be found," was the order issued today at the office of the naval commander-in-chief, who is determined that the search for the ill-fated vessel, which has been missing since Friday when she disappeared with her crew during maneuvers here, shall not be given up.

From early morning twelve destroyers working in pairs have steamed slowly up and down, sweeping with cables the sandy bottom of Whitesand bay, but thus far without result.

The impression is growing that the "A-7" may already have been swallowed up by the quicksands which prevail in the vicinity. The commander-in-chief's office, in reply to critics, declared that the submarine must have been so deep in the water that no apparatus could have lifted her within twenty-four hours, and the crew could not have lived such a length of time.

SENSATION CAUSED BY GIRL'S CONFESSION

Fifteen-Year-Old Says Plot Led to Murder of Woman.

Galesburg, Ill., Jan. 19.—Robert Higgins was arrested at the village of Rio, near here, today, intensifying the sensation caused yesterday when Higgins' stepdaughter, Julia Flake, 15 years old, told the state's attorney of Knox and Mercer counties a startling story of the death of her mother, Mrs. Robert Flake Higgins, Jan. 5 last.

A coroner's jury held that Mrs. Higgins came to her death by a gunshot wound inflicted by the accidental discharge of a shotgun which Higgins was cleaning.

The statement of the girl, who also is in custody, was made to the state's attorneys of Knox and Mercer counties who say that the girl's story implicates herself and a male relative in a conspiracy to kill Mrs. Higgins.

PROPOSES PLAN FOR PHILIPPINE POLICY

Senator Overman Offers It in Joint Resolution.

Washington, Jan. 19.—By a joint resolution introduced today by Senator Overman, the president would be required to consider the expediency of effecting a treaty with the European powers for the neutralization of the Philippines and to protect an independent government there, when established.

It is set out that the purpose of the United States is to cease exercising sovereignty over the islands as soon as may be with honor, and to establish an independent government there. The treaty would provide that independent government, when established, should be recognized and preserved by the European powers, and that meanwhile the islands should be regarded as neutral territory.

OPPOSES GOVERNMENT STEAMSHIP BUSINESS

Jones Says Railroad Is Enough in Alaska at Present.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Speaking on the Alaska railroad bill today, Senator Jones contended that government steamship lines should not also be provided at present. He held that rates of steamship companies, which would have to come to a common port, could be regulated with reasonable satisfaction.

Under such conditions, he thought, there would be such sharp competition that reasonable rates would be insured. If monopoly should develop, however, he said, he would favor an extension of the government railroad to the ownership and operation of steamship lines. He doubted, however, the wisdom or necessity of taking such action now.

Discussing the best method of developing and operating mines to which the proposed railroad would give access, he said he thought a fair leasing system that would prevent monopoly could be devised, but that he would not shrink from government operation of the mines if that course seemed best.

SCHOOLS COST $2,465,425

County Superintendent Presents Annual Report, Showing Year's Expenses.

The Rural Districts Receive $200,705.63; Others Get $2,264,719.47.

St. Louis county's school system, including the high and graded schools of the cities and the rural schools in the country districts, cost $2,465,425.10 during the year 1913, according to the annual report which has been compiled by N. A. Young, county superintendent of schools.

The report covers expenditures for teachers' salaries, new school buildings and sites, repairs and maintenance. It shows among other things that out of the total amount expended during the year $2,264,719.47 was paid out for the maintenance of the system of high, graded and consolidated schools, and $200,705.63 was spent for the upkeep of the rural schools system.

The total expenditure for the Duluth schools was $459,896.53. The enrollment in the city schools is 13,714. The unorganized schools of the county, which are under the direct control and supervision of the county superintendent, expended $50,979.64. The enrollment was 778.

A detailed report of the expenditures during the year 1913 in all of the county schools follows:

STRIKE TIES UP COAL ROAD

Delaware & Hudson Crippled By Walkout of 5,000 Men.

Mail Service Is Paralyzed and Coal Famine Threatens.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 19.—A dispute over the discharge of two employes by the Delaware & Hudson railway led to a strike today which has tied up the entire operating end of the system. About 5,000 men, it is estimated, are out. Only shop workers and office employes remain on duty. Reinstatement of the discharged employes with full back pay is the only union demand.

Meanwhile G. W. W. Hanger of the Federal board of mediation and conciliation started from New York, and Commissioner James M. Lynch of the state labor department left Syracuse for here, to offer their services in an effort to effect a settlement. They planned to meet representatives of the five striking unions here thi safternoon.

Martin C. Carey, vice president of the Order of Railway Conductors and the officer of the grand lodge in Albany, retired shortly before noon today after being without sleep for more than two days. He said he would be glad to confer with both Mr. Lynch and Mr. Hanger. Carey refused last night to hold the strike order in abeyance when requested to do so by Mr. Lynch.

No violence was reported from any point.

Mails Paralyzed.

Mails are paralyzed in many sections.

A conference this morning between union leaders and Superintendent J. A. McGrew resulted in no agreement. At a late hour this morning the railroad company had made no plans for the further running of trains. The last train to arrive in Albany with a union crew reached here at 10 o'clock. Cities north of Glens Falls and Rouse's Point are the greatest sufferers from the strike. There are several hospitals and a state prison on this branch. There is some apprehension as to a possible coal famine as a result of the tieup.

The discharge of two men a year ago is the sole cause of the strike. Their reinstatement and full payment of loss in wages is asked by the unions.

Important Coal Road.

New York, Jan. 19.—The Delaware & Hudson railroad, including owned and leased lines and trackage rights, comprises in all about 877 miles. The lines extend from Wilkesbarre, Pa., and Binghamton, N. Y., to Rutland, Vt., on the east and to Rouse's Point, N. Y., on the Canadian line. At that point the road connects with lines of the Quebec, Montreal & Southern Railway company, which it controls.

The Delaware & Hudson company was incorporated in 1823 in New York. It is one of the largest miners and carriers of authracite coal in the country. Its coal lands have been estimated to contain 642,000,000 tons of mineable coal. L. F. Loree is president of the company.

TWO JUDGMENTS ENTERED.

Duluth Log Company and Abe Smith Lose on Two Claims.

Two judgments were ordered entered in district court this morning against the Duluth Log company and Ab Smith, codefendants, in favor of Mrs. D. Meeley for $286.33 and Kenny & Anker for $291.86. The judgments will be a lien against logs bearing the company's mark.

In both causes, which were tried before Judge Fesler, the plaintiffs claimed that they had not been paid for services and equipment furnished during the winter of 1910-1911. Kenny & Anker sued on a claim which had been assigned to them for $291.86.

START NEW DEPARTMENT

Building Trades of State Seek to Form Federation Auxiliary.

Meet at St. Paul, Organize Temporarily—Another Meeting March 8.

A movement to organize the building trades of the state was launched in St. Paul yesterday when labor men formed a state building trades department to be incorporated with the Minnesota State Federation of Labor. The purpose of the organization is to bring the trade councils of the state into a close union and bring union labor men of the small towns into the state federation.

W. E. McEwen, editor and publisher of the Labor World, Duluth, who attended the meeting in the capital city, returned today, and spoke very highly of the plans and purposes of the new organization.

"Only a temporary organization was effected," said Mr. McEwen today, "but a call was issued for another meeting which will be held March 8. A permanent organization will be formed at the next meeting and regular officers elected.

"Charles Joyner of the St. Paul carpenters' union was elected temporary president, and John T. Turner of the Minneapolis iron workers was elected secretary-treasurer. These will serve until new officer sare chosen.

"It was proposed that a tax of one cent a month be levied on each member of the building trades unions of the state and that the money be turned into the treasury of the state federation of labor as a fund for the various departments. It is proposed to have a state metal trades council, a state allied printing trades council and a state railway shop trades council. An additional tax of one cent a month per member will be levied on these."

The new organization formed in St. Paul will hold its annual convention with the state federation of labor in Duluth next July. The Blue Label league and the State Typographical unions will meet here at the same time.

Valley City Man Accused.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Flora, a business man of Valley City, charged with contributing to the delinquency of a 13-year-old halfwitted girl, has secured a change of venue and will have his trial here. Oliver Nackey, formerly an alderman and also a business man of the same town, was convicted on a similar charge in relation to the same girl.

Duluth Wolf Trapper Gets $80 There and $30 in Duluth.

County Clerk Leadear of Douglas county was called upon Saturday to pay $120 in bounties to wolf trappers. Three men received the money for six wolves trapped near the city.

John King, who Saturday morning appeared before County Auditor Haldeen of St. Louis county with four pelts of wolves which he trapped near New Duluth and for which he received $30 as state bounty, more than doubled his money by taking four pelts to Superior Saturday afternoon to the Douglas county courthouse. He received a check for $40 from the county and a voucher for $40 more from the state of Wisconsin.

The other amounts were divided between H. H. Lowe of Gordon and August Johnson of the town of Superior. Each had one wolf pelt and received a $10 check from the county and a similar amount from the state.

CHINESE AT WAR.

One Threatens Lives of Two to Prevent Restaurant Competition.

There is war in the Superior Chinese colony. Loee Ho, a proprietor of a chop suey house, was arrested late Saturday on a warrant sworn out by Harry Lee, another Chinaman, who alleges that Ho had threatened his life if he started a restaurant in competition with him. The threat is also said to have been made against Lum Sing, who is Lee's partner. The trouble is said to have started when Ho found out that Lee and Sing intended opening a restaurant, at which time Ho is alleged to have said that it would mean war between the two parties.

Charged With Assault.

Emil Maki, a laborer, was arraigned in police court this morning on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon. It is alleged that Maki had assaulted James Wilson early Sunday morning with a knife. Wilson received a bad cut on the scalp by a knife, and Maki was arrested as the wielder of the weapon. He pleaded not guilty and will be given a hearing Wednesday.

Gamblers Forfeit Bail.

The Superior police raided a gambling room in a rooming house at 1712 North Third street early yesterday morning. Four men were playing a game of poker and the stakes are said to have been rather high. They each put up $10 bail, which they forfeited in police court this morning.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system.

They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or disagreeable effects of any kind.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint with the attendant bad breath.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil, you will know them by their olive color.

Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet company, Columbus, Ohio. All druggists.

BOUQUETS FOR WILSON

Taxpayers Congratulate the Commissioners for Retaining City Engineer.

Murchison Wants Detractors to Make Good or Be Quiet.

Commissioner Roderick Murchison, head of the works division, received many telephone messages and a number of personal calls congratulating him upon the position he has taken relative to the acceptance of the resignation tendered him by City Engineer John Wilson.

The city engineer submitted his resignation las week, stating that because of malicious criticism which was the outgrowth of ulterior motives, he felt in honor bound to relieve the commissioner of the consequent embarassment.

Commissioner Murchison announced that if the persons responsible for the adverse comment would produce sufficient evidence to warrant the acceptance of the resignation, it would be accepted. He said that he would be glad to have as many public hearings as necessary to thoroughly investigate the situation. He took the stand that if those opposing the engineer are acting in good faith they will have no hesitancy in publicly stating their reasons.

The commissioner has not yet accepted the engineer's resignation and will not do so unless he is convinced that the best interests of the city will be served by so doing. He said that if there appears any necessity for it, he will call one or more public meetings, as soon as such necessity manifests itself.

Since the publication of the engineer's action many expressions indorsing him have been heard about the city. It was reported this morning that a long list of Woodland residents have signed a petition, which will be forwarded to Commissioner Murchison, expressing confidence in the ability and integrity of Mr. Wilson as city engineer.

HAS "ROLL" BUT EATS SARDINES

Prisoner With $197 Also Refuses to Pay $10 Fine.

Joe Collander, 34 years old, who was arrested Saturday afternoon on a charge of disorderly conduct, refuses to buy himself a meal or pay the fine of $10 imposed upon him this morning, although he had $197.45 when taken into custody.

"Nothing doing," Joe declared Saturday, when asked if a quarter could be taken out of his money to buy him a meal. The police asked him, he said, and they were going to feed him. So Joe was fed sardines and bread Saturday, yesterday and this morning.

And when Judge Cutting fined him $10 this morning, Joe declared he would rather go to jail than pay the fine. He will be taken to jail this afternoon, unless he takes $10 from that roll of $197.45 and pays the court.

WANTS $7,500 FOR HUSBAND'S DEATH

Widow of Henry Gronlund Sues Packing Company and Contractor.

Bertha Gronlund, widow of Henry O. Gronlund, who died on Dec. 4, 1912, as a result of injuries sustained a few days before in a collision between two delivery rigs on Michigan street under the Lake avenue viaduct, is today asking a district court jury to award her $7,500 from the Cudahy Packing company and George H. Lounsberry on a claim for damages for alleged wrongful death.

Gronlund was driving along Michigan street on Nov. 29, 1912. Under the Lake avenue viaduct, it is claimed that a large pile of old plaster, broken brick and debris had been dumped into the street by the defendant, Lounsberry, a local contractor, making the street considerably narrower for team traffic. It is also claimed that a rig being driven by Arthur Mosberg for the packing company at a high rate of speed collided with Gronlund's rig with the result that he was thrown out and fatally injured.

The packing company is held liable on the grounds that its delivery wagon was being driven at an unlawful rate of speed and that ordinary care was not exercised and the contractor is joined as a defendant in the action in the theory that he blocked the street with the debris without having obtained any authority from the city to do so.

The case is being tried before Judge Dancer, a jury having been drawn this morning.

SLATED FOR THE DISCARD

Two More Saloon Licenses Will Probably Be Withdrawn.

New Water Rates Will Again Come Before the Commission.

The applications of John Kerns for a renewal of his saloon license at 531 West Michigan street and of Erckl Mackl for a saloon license at 150 South First avenue east (St. Croix avenue) will come before the city council for consideration this afternoon.

Whether or not definite action is taken upon them will probably depend upon whether or not Commissioner W. A. Hicken is present. The safety commissioner has been confined to his home for over a week with an attack of indigestion. It was stated at the city hall this morning that he is much improved and expects to attend the meeting today.

The police will recommend that Macki be refused a license, on the ground that he is an unfit person to conduct a saloon. The place is said to have been the scene of many brawls and fights, capped with the shooting affair of Saturday night. It is claimed that Macki makes no attempt to maintain order in the bar and pays no attention to the requests of the police for assistance. There is little doubt but what that saloon will be put out of business.

Doubt also exists as to the renewal of Kerns' license. The police state that the saloon is on the ground floor of the Sixth Avenue hotel, of which he is the proprietor. Many robberies have been reported in the Sixth Avenue hotel and the police state that Kerns haas hindered rather than helped them in apprehending the thieves.

New Water Rates.

The approval of the new water rates announced by the water and light department is due to come up, having been postponed for one week when the resolution indorsing them was submitted at the meeting last Monday. Mayor Prince and Finance Commissioner Voss took the stand that the public should be given an opportunity to be heard and that the council should have more information relative to them before voting on the resolution. It was stated this morning that consideration of this question would likely be continued until a later meeting. Mayor Prince today received a letter from the Silberstein & Bondy Co., protesting against the new rates as unbusinesslike.

Commissioner Murchison will introduce two appropriation ordinances, one for $600 for the purchase of oil sprinkling attachments and the other for $800 for the purchase of two 10,000-gallon tanks for oil storage. This equipment will be used for oil sprinkling the coming season. The sprinkling attachments will be used on two of the old steel water tanks owned by the department. By utilizing these tanks the works division will be able to get two oil sprinklers for what it would cost to buy one new outfit.

CHILD TRAMPLED BY HORSE'S FEET

Mary Levine Has Narrow Escape When Coasting Down Hill.

Mary Levine, the 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Levine, 119 Third avenue east, narrowly escaped being trampled to death by a horse shortly before noon today, when she slid underneath a wood hauler's team while coasting down Third avenue east.

The horse became frightened when the sled went under it and began to jump. The hind feet struck the child, but she was snatched away in time. The little girl received slight injuries and she was taken to St. Mary's hospital in the police ambulance. She is reported very much improved and will be taken home within a day or two.

Another little girl, who was sliding with Mary, slipped off the sled just as it reached the horses and she escaped unhurt.

SAVE NORTH DAKOTAN FROM INFURIATED BULL.

Enderlin, N. D., Jan. 19.—Attacked and gored by a bull which tossed him fifteen feet, afterwards charging him time and again as he lay prostrate on the ground, Ernest Anderson, aged 20, was saved from death by his father and two brothers, who beat the infuriated beast off with pitchforks. Young Anderson suffered several fractured ribs, while one leg was broken in four places. He will live.

Intimidator Sentenced.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 19.—Mike Gymotti, who was tried at Baraga on change of venue from Houghton county, was found guilty on the charge of intimidation. The charge against Gymotti had been assault with intent to murder. Judge O'Brien sentenced Gymotti to six months in the Houghton county jail.

Laporte Votes Bonds.

Laporte, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—A proposition to issue the bonds of Consolidated School District No. 43 to the state of Minnesota in the sum of $10,000 for the purpose of building an addition to the present school building and equiping it for high school purposes, was voted on here Saturday and carried by a vote of 66 to 29. The plans have already been approved by the school board, and work will commence as soon as the present school year closes.

Bury Electrocuted Man.

Bessemer, Mich., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Bottista Brozzlo was held Saturday from Ramsay and interment was made in the Bessemer cemetery. Brozzlo was an employe of the Asterold mine at Ramsay, and while screwing a forty-volt lamp in the socket, was electrocuted. He leaves a wife and four children. He was a member of the Owls and an Italian lodge, under whose auspices the funeral was held.

Many Marshall County Exhibitors.

Warren, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—More exhibitors showed samples of grain at the grain growing contest held by the Marshall County Pure Seed Growers' association here Saturday than has been ever shown at any county fair held here. Wheat and other small grain exhibits were numerous and the corn exhibits were the best that has ever been rained here. On hundred and sixty samples were shown by sixty-six exhibitors.

Minot Club Did Well.

Minot, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Minot's monster Commercial club campaign closed Saturday night, when a membership of slightly over 1,000 was attained, exceeding the mark that had been aimed at.

PROTECTION FROM TYPHOID

City Is Dumping Ground for Cases From Nearby Towns.

Number of Deaths From Tuberculosis Showing a Steady Decrease.

Dr. H. E. Webster, health director, believes that the city should take steps to protect itself from the dangers incident to the many cases of typhoid fever which come here from the outside.

During 1913, 130 cases of typhoid fever were reported to the city health department. Of these 110 came here from other towns and cities. The other twenty-nine were local, but there is nothing to show that their sickness may not have been due to the disease being spread by those who came from the outside. During the year typhoid caused twenty-one deaths, mostly non-residents.

The number of deaths from tuberculosis has shown a steady decrease for several years, which is highly gratifying to the health department officials. The conclusion reached is that the department's tuberculosis work in charge of the visiting nurses is showing excellent results. During 1911 the number of deaths from the white plague was 140; in 1912 the total was 124, and last year it went down to 115.

Measles was the most prevalent disease in Duluth last year, 657 cases being reported. Five deaths were due to measles. The number of diphtheria cases reported was 171, with six deaths; of scarlet fever, 155, with six deaths, and of smallpox, fifty-two, with no deaths.

Thanked For City Boosting.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Booster club adopted resolutions praising the members of the city council for the public spirited and progressive stand they have taken on questions affecting the welfare of the city and also thanked the city officers who have worked in harmony with them. The club favored the purchase by the city of the entire quarter block at the northeast corner of Fifth and Laurel streets for a city hall site.

$10,000,000 A Year Wasted On Trusses

How 60 Days' Trial Protects You Against Throwing Money Away

Away With Worthless Makeshifts

Ninety-nine out of every hundred dollars spent for elastic and spring trusses might about as well be thrown away.

Close to ten million dollars a year—in this country alone—is practically wasted on such contraptions.

And all simply because nine sufferers out of ten trust to a mere try-on or hasty examination instead of first making a thorough test.

A Mere Try-on Is a Snare

You can't possibly tell anything about a truss or anything else for rupture merely by trying it on.

A truss or so-called "appliance" may seem alright at first and afterward prove utterly worthless.

The only way in the world you can make sure of exactly what you're getting is by making a thorough sixty-day test without having to risk any money.

The Only Thing Good Enough to Stand a 60-Day Test

There is only one thing of any kind for rupture that you can get on sixty days' trial—

Only one thing good enough to stand such a long and thorough test—

That is our guaranteed rupture holder.

We'll make one especially for your case—make it to your measure—and let you try it sixty days—

We'll practically lend it to you that long—without asking you to risk a penny.

If it doesn't keep your rupture from coming out or bothering you in any way, no matter how hard you work or strain—if it doesn't prove every claim we make—then you can send it back and it won't cost you a single cent.

Made on New Principle

This guaranteed rupture holder—the famous Cluthe Automatic Massaging Truss—is so utterly different from everything else for rupture that it has received eighteen separate patents. It is far more than just a truss. Made on an absolutely new principle.

Unlike everything else, it is self-regulating, self-adjusting—instantly and automatically protects you against every strain so your rupture can't possibly be forced out.

And in addition to this constant holding, it provides the only way ever discovered for overcoming the weakness which is the real cause of rupture.

Just how it does that—entirely automatically—is all explained in the free book which the coupon below will bring you.

No Belt—No Leg-Straps—No Springs

Does away entirely with the curse of belts, leg-straps, and springs. People who have tried it say it is as comfortable as their clothing. Is waterproof—will hold in the bath. Also perspiration-proof and easily kept clean.

Will Save You from Operation

This guaranteed rupture holder has so thoroughly proved its merits in nearly 200,000 cases that surgeons in the U. S. Army and Navy and physicians in all parts of the world now recommend it instead of advising operation.

It has completely cured hundreds and hundreds of people whose cases seemed almost hopeless.

The Things We Tell in Our Book

There are so many mistaken ideas about rupture that we have taken the time to sum up in a book all we have learned during forty years of experience.

This remarkable book—cloth-bound, 96 pages, 20 chapters, and 23 photographic illustrations—is full of facts never before put in print.

It deals with rupture in all its forms and stages.

It shows the dangers of operation.

It exposes the humbug "appliances," "methods," "plasters," etc.

It shows why wearing elastic or spring trusses is almost sure to shorten your life.

And it tells about the famous Cluthe Automatic Massaging Truss—how simple it is—how it ends constant expense—how you can try it sixty days without having to risk a penny, and how little it costs if you keep it.

Also gives over 5,000 voluntary endorsements from benefited and cured people.

Send for this book today—don't put it off—the minute it takes to write for it may free you from trouble for the rest of your life. Simply use the coupon or just say in a letter "Send me your book."

GETS DIVORCE DECREE.

Mrs. Elder Released on Grounds That Husband Served Time.

Esther Elder, 30, is no longer bound to Walter Elder, 55, under the marriage tie. She has been granted a divorce in district court on the grounds that her husband is an ex-convict.

Judge Cant signed the decree Saturday afternoon.

Elder was sentenced to six years' imprisonment in the state penitentiary at Stillwater in the district court of Itasca county on Dec. 14, 1904, after he had been convicted of the crime of robbery in the first degree.

They were married at Grand Rapids, Minn., on March 28, 1897, and are parents of two children, Cerise, 14, and Corn, 10, who will remain in the custody of the mother.

FEDERALS LOSE OUT.

Three Detroit Players Sign With Old Team Despite Offers.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 19.—The signed contracts of Pitcher George Dauss and Paddy Bauman, second baseman, have been received by the Detroit American league baseball club, according to official announcement today. It was also stated the clubs had been informed that Shortstop Owen Bush had mailed his signed contract from Indianapolis, but it has not been received here.

Federal league offers had been made to the three players.

Heine Signs.

Chicago, Jan. 19—Henry Zimmerman, the Chicago National's third baseman, today signed a contract to play with the Cubs during the season of 1915-16 and 1917. His present contract continues over the 1914 season. No announcement was made as to terms.

Kling Given Release.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 19.—August Herrmann, president of the Cincinnati baseball club, announced today that John Kling, the catcher, who was with the local team last season, had been given his unconditional release.

Kling had an agreement with the Cincinnati club that he was to be released outright if he did not want to play in 1914.

WILLS ESTATE TO CLOSE FRIENDS

Homesteader Did Not Provide for Relatives—Latter Not Needy.

In view of the fact that his relatives are well provided for, four friends of Rudolph Hantzch, bachelor homesteader, are named as beneficiaries in his will. Hantzch, aged 52, died at Brookston, Minn., on Jan. 14 last.

The will states that he is unmarried and that he has no relatives in this country. It also sets forth that in view of the fact that his relatives elsewhere are well provided for, all of his property shall go to certain of his friends.

The estate consists of personal property to the value of $400 and a homestead worth $1,500, which is located in section 4, 50-18. The homestead, however, is now involved in litigation. The friends named in the will were Rowe McCasmus, Edmund Stokes and Anton Chrstianson of Brookston, and Nicholas J. Tompkins of Poupore's Siding.

McCasmus today petitioned the probate court for the admission of the will and for the appointment as executor.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

Man Charged With Postoffice Robbery to Be Tried Next Week.

Frank Kelly, who was indicted by the Federal grand jury a year ago on a charge of breaking into the postoffice at Cook, Minn., on May 22, 1912, was arraigned before Judge Page Morris late Saturday afternoon.

Kelly pleaded not guilty and his trial will be set for some time next week. Thomas McKeon will appear for the defendant and Assistant United States Attorney Egbert Oakley will conduct the case for the government.

ARGUMENTS UNFINISHED

Attorney Olds Still Presenting City's Case Against Street Railway.

Denies There Was "Substantial Compliance" With Terms of Franchise.

When the noon adjournment was taken today in Judge Cant's division of the district court, where final arguments are being presented in the quo-warranto proceedings brought to test the validity of the street railway company's legislative franchise of 1881, R. E. Olds of counsel for the city had not concluded his argument. The city's attorneys began their arguments Saturday morning. Mr. Olds has been the only one so far to address the court.

It is expected that Mr. Olds will conclude his argument this afternoon and that he will be followed by Frank B. Kellogg of St. Paul. After Mr. Kellogg has presented his views on certain points of the case it is probable that he will be followed by J. C. Netheway, assistant attorney general. Francis W. Sullivan will probably close the arguments for the city with a review of the testimony and evidence bearing upon the facts developed in the case.

Substantial Compliance.

During the course of his argument this morning, Attorney Olds declared that the contention of the street railway company that there was substantial compliance of the provisions of the franchise the first year of its existence had no basis in fact. He contended that it had been admitted that the company did not have in Duluth a street car, a mule or hitching strap, by way of equipment within the year specified by section 2 and that there is no claim of any operation for service to the public for nearly eight months after the year had expired. Aside from the question of the length of the line, he said, these other failures to comply with the franchise, which required them to build, equip and have in operation a mile of street railway within one year, were enough to bring about the forfeiture provided for in the act. "When the legislature," he said, "included the words 'without any act on the part of the state or the village' in case of failure to perform, it made the forfeiture automatic and self-executing, without any notice or need of decision by the court."

Just Got Under the Wire.

The franchise, he argued, was granted at a special session of the legislature a few days after the people ratified an amendment to the Constitution that no such special grant should ever again be made, but before the canvass of the votes was made and announced. Thereafter, he said, under the Constitution the state itself had no power to waive compliance with the forfeiture conditions and could not be estopped, as this would amount in effect to a new grant which the state had not power then to do. The state could not do indirectly, he said that which it was forbidden to do directly.

As to the village of Duluth, he stated, it has never had the power to grant an exclusive franchise such as this. In March, 1883, the legislature even repealed the power of the village or its successors to grant any rights whatever to any other company which means that the Duluth Street railway has an exclusive franchise.

HEARING HELD ON STEEL CAR BILL

Pullman Man Claims the Change Will Take Many Years.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Legislation to enforce the use of steel passenger cars was taken up today by the house commerce committee. Representative Esch's bill to replace all wooden cars by steel ones within four years was opposed by George A. Post, president of the Railway Business Association. He recommended that the interstate commerce commission be empowered to determine the time and the character of new cars.

Mr. Post declared that the cost of replacing the wooden cars now in operation with steel cars would aggregate $300,000,000.

Thomas Dunbar, manager of the mechanical department of the Pullman company, testified that car building plants in the country at present capacity would be unable to replace the wooden cars within twenty-five or thirty years.

PRESBYTERIANS TO UNITE FOR WORK

Northern Minnesota Pastors Meet Here to Form Association.

Representatives of the Presbyterian churches of Duluth, the range and nearby towns are in session at the parlors of the First Presbyterian church in this city this afternoon for the purpose of forming a church association for closer co-operation in carrying on the work of the denomination in Northern Minnesota.

Plans for the organization have not been completed, but ministers from various churches will offer suggestions for the consideration of the meeting.

Among those who arrived this morning for the conference are Rev. Sears Thompson of Hibbing, Rev. George Turner of Gilbert, Rev. W. J. Bell and Rev. Guiseppe Lizzi of Virginia, Rev. Mr. Feathers of Coleraine and Rev. Mr. Sherwin of Two Harbors.

PROPOSES FEDERAL MOTHERS' PENSIONS.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Mother's pensions were proposed today in a bill introduced by Representative Gorman of Illinois. All widowed mothers having one or more children under 18 years and made dependent by death or disability, would be placed upon the roll for $10 to $15 a month.

Mayor Bading Is Candidate.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 19.—Mayor G. A. Bading has formally announced his candidacy for re-election to the office of mayor of Milwaukee. The announcement came in reply to a petition signed by prominent citizens who urged the mayor to come out for re-election.

A new lighthouse double the size of the present one will be built at the Morro castle of Santiago de Cuba. The new tower will be forty feet higher and the lamp on top will serve as a beacon to vessels fifty miles away. The improvement is due to the coming opening of the Panama canal.

FAVOR "TWIN CITY" BANK

But Chicago Financiers Refuse to Choose Which City.

Range Towns Represented in Federal Reserve System.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Regardless of other considerations, Chicago financiers were a unit today in declaring to Secretaries McAdoo and Houston that one of the Federal reserve banks should be located in the Twin Cities. Which city should be favored was not stated by any of the bankers who gave their views to the Federal secretaries examining into the fitness of various cities for regional bank sites.

George M. Reynolds and James B. Forgan, presidents of the two largest banks in Chicago, and Harry A. Wheeler, president of the National Chamber of Commerce, discussed the regional bank locations.

"Don't ask me to say whether a reserve bank should be placed in Minneapolis or St. Paul," said Mr. Forgan, who had just declared that location of one of the banks in the "Twin Cities" was a foregone conclusion in the minds of the Chicago bankers. "That's a delicate point. I'd rather they'd settle that themselves."

Favored in Montana.

"Or St. Paul," Mr. Reynolds added hastily after naming Minneapolis in his suggested list of regional points. Following Mr. Forgan's example he explained that decision on that point must rest with the two cities.

Assuming that the "Twin Cities" would have a bank, Mr. Reynolds outlined the Chicago territory as "Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Wisconsin and Southern Michigan." He read a telegram from the Clearing House Association of Helena, Mont., urging the location of a regional reserve bank at the "Twin Cities."

"Eighty per cent of banks in the state in a vote decided for the 'Twin Cities,'" the dispatch read. "Chicago is the choice of 20 per cent and is the second choice of all."

NO EVIDENCE OF GRAFT YET

Not Believed Grand Jury Probe Has Revealed Any Corruption.

That the inquiry into the affairs of the police department conducted by the January grand jury under the guidance of Warren E. Greene, county attorney, has thus far failed to reveal any evidence of graft or corruption which has been charged against the present administration, has been intimated. If anything at all is "shown up" it is doubtful if it can be construed to reflect on the present organization, it is said.

The investigation of the department has been in progress already for one week and may not be concluded before Thursday of this week. Several more witnesses will be examined, according to the county attorney, who stated at the outset that the probe would be a thorough one and that nothing would be overlooked.

John H. Norton, former county attorney, was a witness before the grand jury this morning. Besides Mr. Norton, the only other witnesses called into the inquisitorial chamber this morning were Dan Horgan and Frank Horgan.

WANTS BUREAU TO LEND TO FARMERS

Senator Norris Introduces Bill for Federal Action.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Senator Norris introduced a bill today for a bureau in the department of agriculture to lend money on farm land at 4 per cent for a period of five years, to be repaid at the rate of one-fifth each year. Money would be loaned for the purchase of land, to pay debts or for farm buildings. The bureau would get its funds by issuing 3½ per cent bonds of the United States.

MEXICAN INDIANS ON THE WARPATH.

Mexico City, Jan. 19.—The Serrano Indians in the state of Pueblo, who boast that they never have been conquered by any ruler of Mexico, are again on the war path. The revolt is said to be under the direction of adherents of Carranza.

EPIDEMIC OF GO-TO-CHURCH

Rapid Spread of the Idea Throughout the Country.

Other New Methods of the Church Aided By Publicity.

New York, Jan. 19.—Nothing better illustrates the modernity of today than the rapid spread of new ideas in church work. The present epidemic of go-to-church Sundays over the land raises this interesting point. Whenever a good idea works anywhere, modern publicity gives it straightway to everywhere. The old-fashioned preachments about the influence of example are thus illustrated in a new sense. For today an example is as catching as measles.

When Philadelphia started a year ago on the famous campaign of display advertising of the churches, nobody dreamed that the first appeal, "Why Not Go to Church?" would set the ministers of Albany to carrying out its arguments in a concerted movement for an "Everybody at Church Sunday," as an adjunct to the advertising campaign. Now literally hundreds of American communities have already had, or are planning to have, "Go to Church Sundays."

Romance of Publicity.

The story is like a wonder tale. It goes back two years to the men and religious congress, when Fred B. Smith, the leader of that movement, which swept the country, appointed a commission on Christian publicity, made up of practical newspaper men. This commission conducted an exhaustive inquiry into the whole subject, gathering the views of hundreds of editors, preachers and laymen. These were summarized in a book, "The Church and the Press."

Quite incidentally to the commission's work, a campaign of display advertising was carried on for six weeks in New York city. The sporting pages of all the daily newspapers were used for display advertisements of the churches. There was no way of tracing direct returns, and only indirect results were sought. A little group of New York business men put up the $10,000 spent in this advertising.

And never was $10,000 better spent. The results have been really revolutionary. A hundred salaried secretaries, and a regiment of typewriters, could scarcely accomplish what was wrought by this example in New York. Philadelphia was the first city to apply the principle of display advertising to a local situation. Today the united churches of more than twenty cities have adopted this new form of inviting the world to the church. A continuous stream of inquiries pours in upon the Philadelphia committee, not only from many parts of the United States and Canada, but also from foreign lands. Evidently, display newspaper advertising, which at first sight seems very expensive, although in reality costing far less than parish visitors, seems to have become a permanent method of reaching the non-churchgoing public on the part of the church.

Billboard Innovation.

Nor was this the only return on that investment of $10,000. Part of the sum spent in New York was appropriated for billboard advertising, and tens of thousands of New Yorkers recall seeing on the great white way illuminated gospel invitations. A number of billboards were used in strategic positions.

Not much that is new gets past the advertising men. This movement in religious advertising was firmly lodged in the conscientiousness of the Billposters association. When it met a few months ago, it gave dramatic expression to the religious sentiment which now pervades advertising circles. The proposal, unanimously adopted, was to post a great picture of the Nativity on the billboards of every city in the United States and Canada. This was the billposters' Christmas present to the public.

The conception was imperial. No trumpets blazoned this good deed. The leaders in the churches knew nothing about the project until they woke one morning, two weeks before Christmas, and saw a beautiful picture of the manger scene, twenty feet by nine in dimension, with no label on it except, "Ask your Sunday school teacher to tell you the story." The great picture has been received with unbounded enthusiasm in Sunday school and church circles. It was a lesson in how to create religious impressions upon the public mind. We may now expect to see the billboards of the land frequently adorned with gospel messages.

An equally unexpected consequence of this men and religion publicity congress was the advertising campaign in Atlanta, which closed all the houses of prostitution in that city more than a year ago and has kept them closed since. This same campaign of advertising fairly began a new moral era in the life of Georgia, securing the enactment of several reform laws.

How the Fire Breaks Out.

No fact is clearer in present religious life than that whatever succeeds anywhere will soon be tried everywhere. The church mood today is one of alertness and teachableness. One minister evolves a plan for the scientific administration of his church, and in a jiffy ministers in a dozen states have adopted it. A Louisville pastor worked out a new plan of co-operation with his laity, and as soon as the story became public other pastors followed his example. A Cleveland Y. M. C. A. secretary proposed that fathers and sons get together in closer friendship, and the idea echoes over the land. Social service ideals and investigations of rural conditions and county temperance campaigns, were scarcely launched in one section before they became the common possession of all churches. Two years ago the United Presbyterian denomination made an every member canvass. This year all the Protestant denominations are united in a concerted campaign for a similar canvass next March.

Of all the new movements that have claimed the attention of church people in the last few years, none has found prompter favor than this go-to-church idea. The trend of the times has been away from church. This new idea stresses the fundamental place of the local church organizations. No new society or salaried officer is promoting the go-to-church plan. It grows by the contagion of example. Thoughtful leaders are perceiving that many an abortive religious organization in a city has cost more than a year's publicity campaign, that, first of all and continuously, serves the local church, which is one essential factor in the religious organization of our time.

ARDENT LOVER IS GIVEN A CHANCE

Christofferson Won't Be Deported If He Behaves Himself.

If Eskild Christofferson, 21 years old, who was arrested by the police three weeks ago for threatening to kill himself and a young girl, with whom he was madly in love, behaves himself for the next three months, the immigration authorities will not order his deportation from the United States.

Young Christofferson was taken into custody following a threat he made one Sunday afternoon that unless the girl consented to become his wife, he would blow her and himself into atoms. The girl became frightened and told her father, who had the ardent lover arrested.

Following the arrest the local immigration authorities became interested in the case and took the matter up with the department at Washington. The report received from the authorities states that Christofferson will be given another chance. He will be released from the county jail today and placed on probation for three months. Should he forget, and again bother the young woman, Christofferson will be deported without any further delay.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

SHOT DOWN BY STRANGER

Thomas Lahjamaki Will Be Crippled as Result of Odd Assault.

Sustains Five Wounds in Knees—Never Saw Assailant Before.

Shot by a man whom he had never seen before in his life, Thomas Lahjamaki, 22 years old, is lying at St. Luke's hospital with five bullet wounds in his knees. According to Police Surgeon Murphy, the wounded man will recover, but will undoubtedly be crippled for life.

The shooting took place early Saturday evening at the White Front saloon, 150 South First avenue east. Lahjamaki said at the hospital that he had never seen his assailant before in his life, and that the latter fired at him just as he was leaving the saloon. According to the wounded man, several men were carousing at the time, and it is his opinion that the shooting was the result of this drunken brawl.

The man who did the shooting escaped and has not yet been found by the police. His name is unknown to either Erick Maki, proprietor of the saloon, or Lahjamaki, the wounded man.

Two Descriptions.

An odd feature of the shooting is that two different descriptions of the assailant are given by Lahjamaki and Maki, the saloon proprietor. The former is of the belief that the man who shot him is about 22 years old, weighs 135 pounds, is 5 feet 6 inches in height, and that he is light complexioned and smooth faced. Maki told the police after the shooting that the assailant is about 40 years old, weighs about 150 pounds, is 5 feet 9 inches in height, stoop-shouldered and has dark brown hair. One of the onlookers in the saloon declared yesterday that the assailant's name is Hans Johnson, but this is doubted by the police.

The police are now conducting a careful investigation of the affair. The wounded man came to Duluth Saturday morning from Cloquet and had $35 in cash with him when he arrived. This money he left with a friend on South First avenue east for safe keeping, he says.

KAPLAN WANTS TO MEET COLLINS

Will Keep Any Date Set for Discussion of Socialism.

J. H. Nelson of Hibbing has written The Herald asking the date of the proposed debate on Socialism between Morris Kaplan, formerly of Duluth, and Peter Collins of Boston, the anti-Socialist lecturer. The proposed time set by Mr. Collins when he lectured here some weeks ago was between Jan. 25 and Feb. 9, but nothing more definite has yet been settled. Mr. Kaplan has written The Herald offering to come at any time. His letter follows:

"My attention has been called to a rumor that is being circulated in your city to the effect that I have left Duluth because I "did not dare meet Peter Collins in debate." Everyone who knows me is aware how foolish such a statement is. I left Duluth because of a business call—as bread and butter cannot be obtained by mere prayers in these days. However, I am ready and more than willing to go to Duluth at any time within a week's notice to meet Mr. Collins in debate—and if necessary, will pay my own expense to get the opportunity. The time set by Mr. Collins was between Jan. 25 and Feb. 9. There is still time for that debate to be held. The Socialist committee called up Mr. Kenny at his office twice to try to clinch the matter before I left town. Mr. Kenny cannot deny this, nor can he deny that he said he was not empowered to make any arrangements but would bring the matter to the attention of the proper parties, etc. It is therefore up to Peter W. Collins to make his boast that he was 'tickled to death' to debate with me on the question, 'Resolved that Socialism is against God, and Religion, and opposed to labor unionism.' Thanking you for the space privilege and with well wishes to all Duluthians.

North Dakotan Found Dead.

Warwick, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Cohoen, residing near here, was accidentally killed while driving home from this city. His body was found lying beneath his buggy, about a mile distant from his home, with an injury in his head, evidently caused by a kick from a horse.

HOW TO SAVE YOUR EYES

Try This Free Prescription.

Do your eyes give you trouble? Do you already wear eyeglasses or spectacles? Thousands of people wear these "windows" who might easily dispense with them. You may be one of these and it is your duty to save your eyes before it is too late. The eyes are neglected more than any other organ of the entire body. After you finish your day's work you sit down and rest your muscles, but how about your eyes? Do you rest them? You know you do not. You read or do something else that keeps your eyes busy; you work your eyes until you go to bed. That is why so many have strained eyes and finally other eye troubles that threaten partial or total blindness. Eyeglasses are merely crutches; they never cure. This free prescription which has benefited the eyes of so many may work equal wonders for you. Use it a short time. Would you like your eye trouble to disappear as if by magic? Try this prescription. Go to the nearest wide-awake drug store and get a bottle of Optona tablets; fill a two-ounce bottle with water, drop in one tablet and allow to thoroughly dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. Just note how quickly your eyes clear up and how soon the inflammation will disappear. Don't be afraid to use it; it is absolutely harmless. Many who are now blind might have saved their eyes had they started to care for them in time. This is a simple treatment, but marvelously effective in multitudes of cases. Now that you have been warned don't delay a day, but do what you can to save your eyes, and you will thank us as long as you live for publishing this prescription.

PITTSBURG OF THE WEST

Magazine Writer Tells of Steel Industry Moving to Duluth.

Importance of Return Cargoes on Lakes—Manganese Discoveries.

Under the caption of "A New Pittsburg at the Head of the Lakes," Frances N. Stacey, a writer in the World's Work, has contributed an interesting article on Duluth. Mr. Stacey deals on the subject of Duluth as a coming steel center. The article follows, in part:

"Pittsburg has begun to move westward. The steel industry, that spectacular city-builder that made Pittsburg and created Birmingham, has found a new location that suits its needs. On a 1,700-acre site ten miles west of Duluth, where the mouth of the St. Louis river becomes the head of navigation on the Great Lakes and where, in 1680, the original Du Lhut traded with the Chippewas, the Minnesota Steel company is erecting forty-eight buildings with equipment for the production of every kind of iron and steel from pig iron to steel rails. Along a two-mile water-front are the docks at which the iron and steel will find shipment to lake ports, and at which the eastern coal for the Steel company's blast furnaces and coke ovens will be landed.

"It seems a long way to bring coal from Cleveland and other Eastern points to Duluth-Superior, but, curious as it may seem, it was cheap coal that was the deciding economic argument for building this great steel plant in the old Northwest. It is an interesting example of the economic laws that promote efficiency in modern business.

Return Cargoes.

"There are 800 freight carriers, the greatest merchant fleet that floats the American flag, transporting iron ore, wheat, flour, and lumber from the head of Lake Superior to lower lake ports. This steel-clad fleet came down from the upper lake through the Soo canal last year with an east bound cargo of 55,000,000 tons—more than double both the east and west bound annual tonnage of the Suez canal, which measures the volume of commerce between the nations of Europe and Asia. The problem of the 800 freighters was the return cargo. What did the Northwest need that these vessels could bring back from the East, besides the 15,000,000 tons of coal and 2,000,000 tons of general merchandise which they carried last year? From one-half to two-thirds of the 800 boats had to return with water-ballast. Even to get that much west bound freight the lake carriers made a coal rate of 30 cents a ton on a haul of 800 to 1,000 miles from Lake Erie to Duluth-Superior, in contrast with the east bound rate of 45 cents a ton on iron ore, 83 cents a ton on grain, and $2 a ton on flour.

"Now the modern doctrine of scientific business—the creed of maximum efficiency and economy as applied to transportation—requires a cargo both ways. The United States Steel corporation, through its transportation subsidiary, the Pittsburg Steamship company, owns and operates 114 of the largest ore carriers on the lakes. Like the others, they are going west with water ballast. That is why they can afford to carry coal so cheaply to the Steel corporation's new subsidiary, the Minnesota Steel company. Building the new plant at the head of Lake Superior instead of in the Pittsburg district means less eastbound ore and more westbound coal to equalize the lake traffic and make paying freight both ways.

Rates Measure Distance.

"Distances in industry are not measured by miles, but by freight rates, and by this measurement Duluth-Superior is very close to the coal fields and to the Eastern steel and iron markets, for the water-borne traffic of the Great Lakes goes more cheaply than any other traffic of its bulk in this country. Around Duluth-Superior lie the greatest iron ranges of the world.

"A steel bridge a mile long stretches across the bay, giving the new furnaces and steel works full access to ore brought in from the Mesaba and Cuyuna ranges by five ore-carrying railroads. This bridge also supplies complete shipping facilities to and from all docks and railroad yards on both the Duluth and the Superior sides of the harbor.

"At the Head of the Lakes the Steel company is lighting its fires and starting its rolls to turn out steel rails, bars, billets, structural shapes and plates for the use of men at the farthest ends of the earth, and back in the wooded hills 100-ton steam shovels are loading ore trains for the furnaces on the lakes.

Manganese Ore.

"Out on the ranges another very significant thing has happened. The discovery of the new Cuyuna range means more to the American steel industry than just more iron ore. It is indispensable to the manganese ore, indispensable to the success of modern steel manufacture, and hitherto almost a stranger to this country's native resources. High-grade ore of this character is valued at two to four times as much as other ore, because of the effect of the manganese in freeing the molten metal in the blast furnace from slag impurities and thereby making a highly ductile and tenacious 'mirror steel.' A certain percentage of manganese is necessary in steel manufacture to overcome the tendency of the metal to crumble under the rolls. High-grade manganese steel is used for rails on railroad curves, for plowshares, cogwheels, dredger teeth, car axles, steel forks, grinding and crushing machinery and burglar-proof safes. Virginia, Arkansas and Colorado produce small quantities of manganese ore; but most of the American supply is imported from Brazil, India, Cuba, Spain and Germany. The first season's shipment of manganese ore from the Cuyuna-Mille Lacs mine alone exceeds the previous total annual production of the United States.

"The addition of manganese ore to this country's list of raw materials gives the United States leadership in every branch of the iron and steel industry. Developments on the Cuyuna range are so substantial that both the Northern Pacific and the Soo Pacific have built extensions from the Head of the Lakes 100 miles west to the new mines, besides erecting ore docks at Duluth-Superior for lake shipments. This means that there are two new railroads in the ore-carrying business. Six of the largest independent iron and steel companies of Ohio and Pennsylvania are among the operators of properties on the Cuyuna. A dozen new mining towns have appeared on the map, with the 3-year-old city of Crosby as the 'metropolis of the Cuyuna range.'

Extent of Reserves.

"The extent and duration of the iron ore reserve of the Lake Superior region is a fruitful source of speculation. A dozen years ago 1,000,000,000 tons was considered a safe estimate. Since then nearly 500,000,000 tons has been removed, and now the estimates of the remainder are far more than 3,000,000,000 tons. In 1906 Minnesota township assessors listed for taxation properties on the Vermilion and Mesaba ranges on the basis of 600,000,000 tons of iron ore reserve. In 1912 the Minnesota tax commission listed the properties of these two ranges as taxable on a reserve of 1,401,800,000 tons, based on drill records of merchantable ore in developed tracts; and the state has collected 22 per cent of its total real estate taxes from that source this year. To this must be added several hundred million tons of Cuyuna ore, the extent of which will not be determined for a number of years. Then there are three older ranges of Wisconsin and Michigan, on which both exploration and production are proceeding on a scale surpassing that of any former period in their history.

New Era of Development.

"It is freely predicted that the advent of the new furnace and steel mill industry at the Head of the Lakes means a new era of general manufacturing development for the entire Mississippi valley. A practical index of such industrial movement is the action of the leading coal companies of the Pittsburg district in proceeding to erect in harbors on Lake Superior the greatest coal-handling plants on the globe. The completion of these gigantic commercial coaling stations will increase the coal capacity of the Duluth-Superior harbor from its former 10,000,000 tons a year to 20,000,000 tons in 1915. The consumption of this vastly increased coal tonnage in the upper lake and Mississippi region calls for a great expansion of manufacturing activities."

MANY EAGER TO LEARN THE TANGO

Alice Lloyd, Contest Editor, Receives Ten Entries By First Mail.

That the interest in the tango is at a high pitch is shown by the hearty response met by the Alice Lloyd Contest editor of The Herald, who announced Saturday that The Herald would give away fifty pairs of tickets for the opening performances of the show at the Lyceum Friday afternoon of this week. Ten communications from contestants were received by the first mail today.

The dainty English actress appears to have a strong hold on the Duluth public, and the fact that she will conduct a class in the tango, maxixe, and other new dances on the stage of the theater after the performance, has naturally aroused a great deal of interest.

The terms of the contest are as follows: Fifty pairs of tickets will be given to the fifty persons submitting the fifty best brief advertisements of The Herald's want ad columns. The ad must not exceed 100 words. The contest closes Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock.

The contest not only offers an opportunity to see one of the best theatrical attfactions of the season, but also secure the finest instruction obtainable in the tango and other dances.

EXTOLS LIBERAL VIEWS OF CHURCH

Different Factions in Religion Will Unite, Says Dr. Gebauer.

That the religious thought of the present day is undergoing a rapid forward movement, and that different factions are approaching common ground in thought and action, was the keynote of the sermon preached yesterday morning by Rev. George Gebauer, pastor of the First Unitarian church, on "Yesterday's Heterodoxy; Today's Orthodoxy." Rev. Mr. Gebauer said in part:

"There doubtlessy are two tendencies of religious thought in our day. The one is trying to turn back to the past and its doctrines and is best represented in the high church movement. And then there is another stream, which more or less consciously tends toward progress in religious thought. It seems as if some time the religious world will be divided into two opposing bodies, which finally, in the far off future, may come together again on a level of spiritual thought which can reconcile this past and present. Today liberal thought is to some extent leavening all churches, and the time may come when the liberal elements in all denominations will come together regardless of their distinctive name and history. Yet this unification in spirit is still a good way off.

"Humanity, which has lived for so many centuries in the shackles of creed and dogma, is loath to throw them aside, and seemingly enjoys wearing the handcuffs as bracelets. But wherever the spirit of freedom has entered, there the church will move.

"It is moving by the divine power of spiritual gravity and reason. The church which admits the most light of reason, the warmest atmosphere of love will move the fastest. Unitarianism, on the top of religious life, moves faster than what is beneath it. And it is for this reason, too, that our abandoned theological positions under another name are often filled by the leaders of orthodoxy.

"We can best observe this onward march in religion when we compare the theological position of such a well-known Unitarian prophet as Channing with the views of present day orthodoxy. Channing preached and worked in the early part of the last century and died branded as a dangerous heretic about seventy years ago. But where is Channing's position today? Channing's works today are above all cherished by liberally inclined orthodox preachers ,who claim him as their own in thought. And there are not a few who are beginning to consider the great liberal of the last century rather old-fashioned and behind the times. The truth of this we may best appreciate if we compare Channing's position with the real leaders of progressive orthodoxy, if we compare, let us say, Channing's theology with that of Dean Farrar, as expressed in his book, 'The Eible, Its Meaning and Supremacy.' Here we may see that indeed the heterodoxy of yesterday has become the orthodoxy of today."

ADVENTISTS PLAN BIG CONVENTION

Northern Union Conference Will Send Noted Men to Mill City.

Probably the largest convention that the Seventh-day Adventists have ever held in the North, will convene in Minneapolis on Jan. 27, and continue until Feb. 8. It will be the biennial meeting of the Northern Union conference, which includes the state conferences in North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa, and Minnesota. The sessions will be held in the Unitarian church on Eighth street between Nicollet and Hennepin avenue. The headquarters for both the Northern Union conference and the Minnesota conference who will attend are: President G. G. Wells, Minneapolis; A. W. Kuehl, St. Paul; Andrew Mead, Brainerd; Hans Steen, St. Paul; G. L. Budd, Alexandria; Carl Svenson, Duluth; C. K. Reiswig, Hutchinson, C. L. Emmerson, Philbrook; J. F. Anderson, St. Paul; O. O. Bernstein, Minneapolis; H. J. Sheldon, Alexandria; Stemple White, Wells; B. C. Haak, Jackson; C. A. Ruskjer, Sauk Center; U. R. Nelson, Minneapolis; Ole Grundset, Minneapolis; Robert Hare, Maple Plains; F. E. Stratton, Minneapolis; J. O. Peet, Philbrook, and R. W. Brown, Maple Plain. Practically all of the more than seventy Adventist churches in Minnesota will be represented either directly or indirectly at the meeting.

HOT TEA BREAKS A COLD—TRY THIS

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

13 RESCUED AT SEA AFTER LOSING HOPE.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 19.—Rescued from their ice-coated sinking ship after they had given up all hope, the thirteen members of the crew of the five-masted schooner Fuller Palmer arrived here aboard the steamer Marina. The rescue was made early Thursday morning about 154 miles southeast of Cape Cod.

The men rescued were Capt. O. W. Clarke, Boston; First Mate James Rabe, Norway; Second Mate Albert Gould, Nova Scotia; Engineer William Buchanan, Cape Breton, and the negro crew.

request for a reopening, setting up the fact that they desired to introduce testimony showing that different conditions affected the Chicago rates than those applying at Duluth; that if the decision stands it will ultimately affect east-bound rates also, with "grave and disastrous results" to the carriers, which can only be prevented by restoring the old rates to Duluth on a basis 6 cents higher than Chicago; that in such case they would still further increase the Twin City rates to keep the spread 28 cents above Duluth, and showing the loss in revenue the decision would bring about. This was the lever which they desired to use to have the entire matter opened for a rehearing. The Duluth traffic commission, in arguing the case before the commission, repeatedly asked that the lake lines bring their books and records to show their earnings and the result the decision would have, and even after the case was closed made a final appeal for these records. The lines refused to produce them at that time, and now the commission has refused to consider this evidence of sufficient importance to warrant a reopening of the entire case. The commission has informed the lines that if they desire to introduce this evidence they may do so when the appeal of the Twin Cities from the raise in rates is heard, but have refused to permit the introduction of the other evidence offered, which would have had the effect of a rehearing of the case.

Increase Suspended.

The Twin Cities have asked for and secured a suspension of the increase in their rates, pending a hearing. This came after they failed to secure a reopening of the whole case. This hearing will merely involve the question of whether or not the increased rates to the Twin Cities put into effect by the railroads as a result of the decision are just, and whether they are in accordance with that decision. The decision itself is not attacked under this proceeding, and its principles stand. This hearing is of minor importance to Duluth when compared with the decision itself. The decision, among other things, said the rates to the Twin Cities were unreasonably low, and whether the final increase is 7 cents first class, or 6 cents or 8 cents, while important, is relatively dwarfed beside the principle itself.

The increased rates to the Twin Cities were suspended until May 1, and some time between now and that date the hearing will be held. It will probably be late in February. Meanwhile the lower rates to Duluth are in effect and are secure. When the higher rates to the Twin Cities take effect, and what they will be, depends on the action of the commission. The Twin Cities are fighting hard to preserve some semblance of their "Rock of Gibraltar," and will be represented at the hearing by Frank B. Kellogg. Duluth will be represented by the officers of its traffic commission who have fought the freight rate battle from its inception.

FIRST OF THE 4,600 MEXICAN REFUGEES REACH FORT BLISS

women fled after the rebels attacked Ojinaga.

The picturesque march afoot through American territory of so many foreign soldiers and women with their baggage abounded with incidents. The birth of a child, the death of several wounded soldiers, the search for water in the desert, the constant straggling away from the line of march, and the rounding up again of scores of the refugees, were some of the difficulties with which the United States cavalry men, commanded by Maj. McNamee, had to contend.

The Mexicans, guarded virtually as prisoners, outnumbered the escorting American soldiers 10 to 1. Since they were routed from Ojinaga by Gen. Villa's rebel forces and compelled to cross the border into the United States at Presidio, Tex., eight days ago, the Mexican soldiers have had only scant supplies.

Fed at Supply Camps.

Their march of sixty-seven miles to the nearest railway station after they had been disarmed and held prisoners by the American troops was made possible by the establishment of the three camps provided en route. But these camps were supplied with limited rations, because all foodstuffs and water had to be carried by wagon from Marfa.

Many of the foreigners were poorly clad and without blankets, so that their suffering at night was intense. Hence the hopeful look that appeared in the faces of the dirt-begrimmed men and women when they were told that the march was almost over.

The marching column was stretched over a great distance to prevent confusion, and to reduce as much as possible the suffering from the dust that rose in great clouds from the well-traveled road. All semblance of the uniform ranks of an army was gone.

A little group of women by the roadside, formed by the permission of those in charge, attested the birth of a child. The old women who attended announced that a little girl had joined the procession, and the news traveled down the entire line, arousing a fire of conversation.

Rations Are Ordered.

El Paso, Texas, Jan. 19.—Rations for the Mexican soldiers and refugees who are to be interned here have been ordered by Brig. Gen. Bliss. The soldiers, generals and other officers of the defeated Huerta army are to be sheltered in 1,200 tents spread out on the reservation of Fort Bliss on a spur of a railroad.

The monthly food supplies required for the self-invited guests will be 32,000 pounds of beef, 20,000 pounds of beans, 135,000 loaves of bread and 5,000 pounds of coffee.

The 1,000 wives of soldiers are to do the cooking.

An accounting of the cost of the feeding, sheltering and clothing of the refugees will be submitted regularly to the war department with the intention that the amount, estimated at $1,500 a day, shall be made a claim against the Mexican government.

RESTORATION IS UNDER WAY

a Niagara of fire from which masses of molten stone were hurled long distances.

"During the night of Jan. 14 a loud explosion was heard, followed by a flash of flame and a cloud of ashes rising many thousands of feet into the air.

"Beneath the cloud of smoke and ash broad streams of lava could be plainly seen flowing down the slopes to the sea. The forest on the mountain sides quickly caught fire and the flames spread to the houses of the numerous little villages near by.

Coast Line Seemed Ablaze.

"The entire western coast line of Sakura seemed to be ablaze and a strong wind carried smoke, gas and hot ashes straight to the mainland.

"From Kagoshima three miles across the bay, people fled in panic-stricken crowds, many of them ascending the steep sides of Shiroyama mountain and looking back from there in terror on the scene.

"A heavy rain fell the next night and served to settle somewhat the flying dust and ashes. Many of the people returned to their crumbling houses.

"Sakura-Jima was still actively belching out flames and cinders, but the earthquake shocks were becoming less violent and soon subsided altogether for a time. The town of Kagoshima was filled with malodorous gases, however.

Pumice Stone Blocked Boat.

"I made a visit the following morning within a short distance of Sakura, but it was impossible to reach the shore in the small native boat, owing to the great floating fields of pumice stone. The occupants of the boat could, however, observe that the villages along the shore, with their rice fields and gardens, had been levelled by the molten lava, while the surrounding forests had been destroyed.

"The principal crater of Sakura-Jima was evident as a gap, a mile wide, in the side of the mountain. Below this were numerous smaller craters, emitting smoke and flames. Beneath each opening there were great plateaus of cooling lava. The two old craters of the volcano had been forced into one by the destruction of the dividing ridge."

FARMERS' INSTITUTE IS HELD AT CLOQUET.

Cloquet, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Friday evening and all day Saturday a farmers' institute was conducted in the city hall, each session being well attended. The speakers were Forest Henry of Dover, John N. Christgau of Dexter, J. P. Andrews of Faribault and C. N. Harner, agriculturalist of the local schools.

Subjects relating to almost every phase of farm life were discussed, special attention being paid to dairying, as this section of the state is well adapted for this industry.

POLICY LOANS ARE MENACE

Report on Mortgaging Life Insurance Is Made.

Big Loss to Beneficiaries Results From the Practice.

New York, Jan. 19.—In an endeavor to ascertain the causes of the rapid increase in mortgages on life insurance policies in recent years, the Association of Life Insurance Presidents has segregated by state lines $456,000,000 loans outstanding to policyholders at the end of 1911. This investigation, which has just been finished, shows that the policyholders of certain recognized groups of states are much larger borrowers on their life insurance than are the people of other sections. Those credited with being the smallest borrowers are the people of the Central Northern states, the loans in that section amounting to 13.49 per cent of the reserves maintained to pay the policies of that section upon their maturity. It is stated that the largest borrowers are the people of the Pacific coast section, the policy loans there being 20.09 per cent of the reserves. The average for the United States for the same year, 1911, was 15.98 per cent. The reserves from which this sum of $456,000,000 was borrowed amounted to $2,853,000,000. These figures and percentages are based on the United States business of American companies holding 93 per cent of the total assets of the life insurance companies of this country in 1911.

Big Loss to Beneficiaries.

Much more than half a billion dollars of life insurance protection will be lost to widows, orphans and other beneficiaries as a result of the policy loans now outstanding, according to the association's report giving the results of the investigation. It is declared that experience shows that a large proportion of the insurance protection withdrawn by policy loans is never replaced, the money being invested elsewhere or wasted.

In making the report public, General Counsel Robert Lynn Cox of the association said the conclusions are stated in it. "The figures, which speak for themselves as to the extent and distribution of the policy loan practice, are presented to the American public," he said, "in the hope of stimulating a study of the underlying reasons for the recent large expansion in such loans and the presentation of remedies therefor."

Increase in Loans.

It was pointed out at the recent seventh annual convention of the association that these mortgages on life insurance policies had increased from 11-6 per cent of the reserves in 1888 to 16.03 per cent in 1912 and probably would reach 18 per cent at the end of 1913. The total reserves in 1912 amounted to about three and one-half billion dollars.

"The figures dealing with the collective annual increase of policy loans show at a glance the magnitude of the problem in hand," states the report. "Not only the immense total of loans shown but also the ever-increasing ratio of such loans to reserves contribute to this effect." The report then presents figures to show that the loans granted on policies by American companies, including their comparatively small foreign business, have jumped from about $19,000,000 in 1888 to more than $587,000,000 in 1912.

ALLEGED MURDERER OF BANKER IS CAUGHT

Krafchenko Is Recaptured and Three Supposed Helpers Arrested.

Winnipeg, Jan. 19.—John Krafchenko, the bandit who escaped on Jan. 10 from the Winnipeg jail, where he was being held for the murder of H. Arnold, manager of the Plum Coulee, Man., branch of the Bank of Montreal, was recaptured late last night in a warehouse in this city.

The police learned Krafchenko was hiding in the old warehouse and a detachment of officers surrounded the place. The bandit was taken by surprise and made no resistance.

Krafchenko, the police charge, held up the Plum Coulee bank on Dec. 3, obtained $5,200 in currency, and when Manager Arnold attempted to follow him as he left the building, the bandit shot him dead. The outlaw fled in an automobile, and although closely pursued for twenty-four hours, he finally escaped. On Dec. 10 detectives arrested Krafchenko in a Winnipeg rooming house, and charged him with Arnold's murder.

Revolver Smuggled In.

Early Saturday morning, Jan. 10, Krafchenko, covering his two guards with a revolver which evidently had been smuggled to him, escaped from jail. Since then the Manitoba government and the city of Winnipeg have offered rewards aggregating $11,000 for his recapture.

Harry Buxton, a former secretary of the Builders' exchange, and Constable Reid, were arrested Sunday on charges growing out of the escape of Krafchenko. Reid was one of the two policemen guarding the outlaw at the time of his escape. The definite charge against Buxton has not been announced.

Percy Hagel, counsel for Krafchenko, was arrested last night, charged with conspiracy to liberate a criminal. Constable Flowers, who with Reid guarded Krafchenko, is to be examined.

Half Dozen Lawbreakers Sentenced at Eau Claire.

Eau Claire, Wis., Jan. 19.—Judge Wickham in circuit court sentenced six law breakers who pleaded guilty.

George K. Farr, charged with embezzling $900 from the Soo road while agent at Tony, Wis., was sentenced to two years at Waupun.

L. A. Sickles of Rowley, Iowa, was given a jail sentence for obtaining money under false pretenses, having paid a bill with a bogus check.

Edward J. Kemp, aged 22, was given three years at the Green Bay reformatory for burglarizing a residence at Ladysmith.

Amund Nelson, aged 21, who broke into a store at Flambeau, was sentenced to one year at Green Bay, but was placed on probation.

Stanilaus Finnhauser, aged 21, who shot at Matthew Webb with a rifle during a fight at Ladysmith, received two years at Green Bay.

Ferdinand Schimmelpennie was given three years at Waupun for breaking into a box car.

NEW YORK MEN ARRIVE TO BREAK THE STRIKE IN THE COPPER MINES

the six other indicted leaders who are outside the state.

Sheriff Cruse declared today that peaceful conditions prevail throughout Houghton county. The special grand jury investigating disorders growing out of the strike resumed its deliberations. No witnesses were examined, and it was said that the jury was considering the deportation of Moyer and Charles Tanner on the night of Dec. 26.

Relief Fund Spurned.

Because of the refusal of members of the Western Federation of Miners to accept the $30,000 collected from the citizens of the Copper country for the relief of families who suffered by the Italian hall disaster on Christmas eve, the money may be returned to the donors.

The relief committee will try to distribute the money this week, although union men declare they are able to take care of the sufferers without assistance. President Moyer refused to accept the money on behalf of the strikers on the ground that much of it had been subscribed by those who have supported the strike of the copper miners and have derided the strikers.

Strikers manifested interest in possible action regarding the copper strike at the meeting today in Washington of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor.

Weather Favors Strike.

The continued mild weather has confirmed labor leaders in the belief they will be able to hold the striking forces intact throughout the winter. They assert the Western Federation of Miners is prepared to support the local organization through a long contest, if necessary.

The mine owners maintain the backbone of the strike has been broken, and that if the strikers do not return to work without further delay all their places will be filled.

"The fight has just begun," was the declaration made by James R. Roach. Together with James A. Short, Mr. Roach is here representing the American Federation of Labor. He said that as many men were quitting as were returning to work, and the outsiders who were brought in to fill the strikers' places would desert at the first sign of warm weather.

Roach Is Confident.

"The mine operators will be brought to realize that they must recognize organized labor," continued Mr. Roach. "Conditions in the mines are better than they were when the strike began, but if the men went back to work now they would be worse. The strikers are content to play a waiting game."

HEARING BEGUN ON RADIUM LAND BILL

Effort to Withdraw Land From Settlement Is Made.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The house mines committee today began hearings regarding radium and the economic questions involved in proposed legislation for withdrawing from settlement public lands containing radium-producing ores. Advocates and opponents of the Foster bill, prepared with the approval of the interior department, were ready to give their views, and Chairman Foster of the committee expects that legislation along the lines of his bill will be expedited through congress.

Dr. Howard A. Kelly of Baltimore testified as to the necessity of immediate action from the standpoint of the medical profession.

Those Opposing Bill.

Opposition to the bill in its present form is from the Colorado delegation in congress, who have conferred with Secretary Lane in an effort to bring about a satisfactory compromise, and from those interested in the mining of the radium-producing ores and their exportation. J. M. Flannery of Pittsburg, interested in the Colorado mines, heads a deputation in opposition.

The Colorado delegation agrees with the advocates of legislation that it is necessary to prevent a monopoly of radium-producing territory, and that a ban on exportation might be wise. Plans for the hearing attracted considerable attention, particularly because of the expectation of discussion by medical authorities regarding the possibilities of radium as a cure for cancer.

Dr. Kelley told the committee of several recent cases in his own experience where radium had made possible complete cures of cancer. He declared that radium-bearing ores were exported from the United States in considerable amounts.

BEGIN BANK SYSTEM HEARING IN CHICAGO

Reserve Organization Committee in Session in Windy City.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, and David F. Houston, secretary of agriculture, the committee for the organization of the new Federal reserve bank system, began a hearing here today to determine where the reserve banks for this section shall be located.

Bankers from Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska and Illinois were present to present claims for their districts. The hearing here will conclude tomorrow night and will be resumed Wednesday at St. Louis.

"There will be no decision," said Secretary McAdoo, "until the final results are given out in Washington after all the hearings have been held."

It was assumed as a necessity that Minneapolis or St. Paul would have one of the reserve banks in addresses made today by George M. Reynolds and James B. Forgan, presidents of the two largest banks in this city. The speakers, in touching on this point, referred only to the Twin Cities, not naming either one. Harry A. Wheeler, president of the national chamber of commerce, was another expert heard. He, like Reynolds and Forgan, was asked by Secretary McAdoo to prepare a map showing his idea of how the banks, with eight as a minimum number, should be distributed about the country.

Banks Are Joining.

Washington, Jan. 19.—More than half the national banks in the United States now have made legal applications for membership in the new Federal reserve system, according to the treasury department.

CRANE'S TALK OF INTEREST

Chief Engineer of Power Company Tells of Development Plans.

Makes Address at Masonic Free Concert—Fine Musical Program.

The free concert at the Masonic temple yesterday afternoon was featured by the talk of J. B. Crane, chief engineer of the Great Northern Power company, on "Harnessing the St. Louis River," and an excellent musical program.

The organ numbers, as usual, showed excellent judgment in selection, ranging from the old time classic "Anacreon" overture by Cherubini, to a rollicking collection of Irish airs entitled "Donnybrook Fair." An interesting number was a collection of favorite intermezzi by various composers and the "Scherzo" from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" was very effective.

The vocalist, Miss M. Carlotta Stockdill of St. Paul completely captured the audience. She has a fine contralto voice, with mezzo-soprano range, and sings with artistic finish. She was heard in Bohm's "Calm as the Night," D'Hardelot's "Because," and Forster's "Rose in the Bud." She was heartily applauded on each song, and gave as encores "Loch Lomond," "Lift Up Thine Eyes," and "Absent." Miss Stockdill's rendering of the latter beautiful ballad was especially affecting.

The speaker, J. B. Crane, commercial engineer of the Great Northern Power company, gave a most interesting and instructive talk on the "Harnessing of the St. Louis River." After speaking of the river itself and its geographical features, Mr. Crane described the tremendous power generated by the fall of the water, and told how the Great Northern Power company was availing itself of these natural advantages. He told of the money already spent, and of plans for future enlargement and development of the plant. An idea of the extent of what will be done in the future may be gained from his statement that the present reservoir capacity equal to fifty square miles of water one foot deep will be increased according as necessity, to 1,000 square mile feet and that the present reservoir investment of $3,500,000 will eventually be $15,000,000. He said that a reservoir of 200 square mile feet capacity is now being constructed on the Cloquet river and that when more power becomes necessary a big plant will be built at Fond du Lac.

In order to illustrate the meaning of the technical expression "horsepower," the speaker said that if he fell down from the piano stool to the floor he would develop about one-half a horsepower.

He also touched upon the probable formation of Minnesota Point from sand washed down by the St. Louis river, remarking that every river empting into the Great Lakes formed a bar at its mouth except one river in Michigan, known as "Temperance river," because it has no bar. Mr. Crane ended his remarks with a cordial invitation to any who would care to visit the power plant.

The speaker next Sunday will be Miss Heikkila, the Scottish Rite nurse, who will give a short talk on "Infant Welfare."

EMPHATIC AGAINST POSTOFFICE "RIDER"

Wilson Reiterates Opposition to Civil Service Elimination.

Washington, Jan. 19.—President Wilson today reiterated to callers his opposition to the "rider" in the postoffice appropriation bill which would exempt more than 2,000 assistant postmasters from civil service. The president did not indicate any plan for having the provision eliminated, but was emphatic in his opposition to it.

CONGRESSMEN PROBE JUDGE SPEER'S ACTS

Investigation of Alleged Misconduct Begins in Georgia.

Macon, Ga., Jan. 19.—Congressional investigation of charges of official misconduct against Judge Emery Speer of the United States district court was begun here today by a sub-committee of the house committee on judiciary. The entire committee later will decide what action, if any, shall be taken.

Curtis Nottingham, former city recorder of Macon, was the first witness.

BEARDSLEY AGREES TO GIVE HIMSELF UP

Stipulates That His Family Must Be Provided For.

Mayville, N. Y., Jan. 19.—The week-old siege of Edward Beardsley, the Summerdale farmer, today resolved itself into a waiting game. He has agreed to give himself up Wednesday, but only on his own terms. He stipulated that the nine children who have been his safeguard since the siege began be taken to the home of his brother, Charles, in Titusville, and that he be permitted to go to jail in Mayville in the custody of his lawyer.

Fear of injuring the children has prevented an attack by Sheriff Anderson, who with a posse is keeping guard at their camp.

SCHMIDT'S FAMILY TOO ILL TO TRAVEL

Will Not Be Able to Testify at His Second Trial.

New York, Jan. 19.—Hans Schmidt's mother, father and sister are ill and probably will be unable to leave their home in Germany to testify at his second trial for the murder of Anna Aumuller.

Schmidt's counsel made this announcement today and the prosecution agreed that the testimony of the father and sister received at the former trial might be read if they could not appear. At the first trial the jury disagreed.

Schmidt presented the same unkempt appearance today and the same lack of interest as during his former days in court.

HIGH PRAISE GIVEN MINNESOTA MILITIA

Company C of Duluth Is Classed "Very Good" in Federal Report.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—A flattering report on the condition of the Minnesota National Guard has been made to Secretary of War Daniels by Gen. A. K. Mills, chief of the militia division of the war department. Nine companies of the guard are marked "very good," and twenty-eight "good." Only five were registered as "fair" in armory instruction. The hospital corps received a mark of "good."

In the Second infantry, scattered throughout the state, Company I of Owatonna and Company K of St. Peter were reported "very good" and all the others "good" except Company D of Northfield, which was "fair."

In the Third, Company G of Duluth and Company K of Stillwater received "very good." All other companies of the regiment were "good" except Company G of Princeton, which received "fair."

The report shows that the attendance of the guardsmen was commendable.

CRITICIZED COUPLE COMMIT SUICIDE

Sycamore, Ill., Jan. 19.—John Aldis and his 18-year-old niece, whom he married a month ago, committed suicide today. It is believed they had been made despondents by the criticism of friends. Before her marriage, Mrs. Aldis was Miss Violet Easterbrook. Steps had been taken to have the marriage annulled as a violation of state law.

WIFE DESERTER CAUGHT AT LAST

Robert Woods' Sentence Suspended That He May Support Family.

Saturday afternoon Robert Woods, 23 years old, who left his wife and two children on May 23, 1912, returned to Duluth last week and was soon placed under arrest on a charge of non-support. He pleaded guilty in police court this morning and was given a straight sentence of three months in the county jail. Upon furnishing a $250 bond, the court has agreed to suspend sentence, in order that he may go to work and support his family.

From the time Woods left his family he was not seen by any Duluth acquaintances until Saturday afternoon. Shortly after he left, his wife gave birth to a third child. Later she swore out a warrant for his arrest.

Ever since Woods left Duluth, his wife and children have been cared for by her parents and the humane society. She has been living at Proctor.

Humane Agent McKercher arrested Woods, after learning from his latter's wife that he was in Duluth and was supposed to be rooming at the Fifth Avenue hotel. At one time Woods was a brakeman.

CITY TAKES OVER WORK

Will Complete Laying of the Park Point Sewer System.

Contractor Hugh Steele Will Be Charged With the Cost.

City Engineer John Wilson notified Contractor Hugh Steele this morning that the city will not longer allow him to continue with his contract for the construction of the Park Point sewer.

The city will take over the job and finish it, charging the expense against Contractor Steele.

Continuous and unnecessary delays are given as the reason for the city's action.

The whole contract involves approximately $23,000. All the pipe, extending from the canal to Thirty-eighth street, has been laid, but the booster pumps remain to be installed. The pumps are necessary because of the slight fall. Instead of one line the sewer is laid in sections and the sewage is pumped from one to another by electric pumps which operate automatically.

Because of unusual difficulties in the construction work the works division allowed the contractor much leeway as to time. The job is many months behind the date specified for its completion. In the last few weeks almost no progress has been made with the installation of the pumps and the officials deemed it necessary to take over Steele's contract, feeling that the residents across the canal are entitled to the sewer service without further unnecessary delay.

Last August a somewhat similar situation arose, when Contractor McDonnell relinquished his contract. The contracts were completed by the National Surety company. Otherwise the city would probably have been obliged to take over and complete the work.

Contractor Steele was in the limelight several seasons ago when he caused an investigation to be made of the local contracting situation by alleging that the city was unjustly withholding contracts from him and showing favoritism.

RAILWAY MAIL CLERKS NEEDED

Examination Will Be Held All Over U. S. on Feb. 21.

Because of the increased demand expected for the railway mail service, a general open competitive examination for clerks will be held by the United States civil service throughout the county on Feb. 21. Announcement of this examination was received this morning by E. M. Barker, superintendent of the registry department at the postoffice, who is secretary of the Duluth examining board.

Applicants must be over 18 years of age and under 35, to be eligible for the examination. The position pays $900 a year at the start. Information and particulars may be obtained from Mr. Parker or from the commission at Washington.

Announcement has been received also of an examination for elevator conductor to be held in all the Northwestern states on Feb. 14. Applicants must be 20 years of age and not over 50. The positions pay $600 a year.

CASS LAKE NOW HAS FINE HALL

Fire Hall, Council Room and Jail Up-to-Date Building.

Cass Lake, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new fire hall, council and jail building, just completed for the village by Boerner Bros. of Buffalo, Minn., is one of the most complete buildings of the kind in any village in Northern Minnesota. The jail has all the modern improvements for the prevention of jail-breaking. The council room is arranged in a very neat and attractive manner, with lavatory and fine fixtures. It is due to the untiring effort of Mayor Johnson and the village council that it has been made possible for the village to have an entirely paid for structure as this.

LOYAL TO BICKFORD.

Fellowtownsmen of Convicted North Dakotan Working for Him.

Bowbells, N. D., Jan. 19.—The citizens of Bowbells are putting forth every effort to aid Former State Treasurer Bickford against the charges of embezzling state funds. The fire department and Commercial club have voted funds for a retrial and others are working for parole or pardon in case he does not get a rehearing.

WANT TAX TO AID BETTER FARM WORK.

Carrington, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The demand for participation in the better farming movement in this state became so strong that petitions are being circulated asking the county commissioners to levy a tax under the new law to create a fund to pay the expert. By making a levy of half a mill about $1,800 can be raised. The rest will be subscribed by bankers and business men.

PARK RAPIDS CUTTING.

Son-in-Law of Banker Smythe Stabbed During Fight.

Park Rapids, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. C. Snow, son-in-law of W. R. B. Smythe, president of the State bank, received a serious knife wound in the muscle of one arm Friday afternoon during an altercation in a local livery with Henry Smith when the two quarreled over money Smith claimed Snow owed him. Snow was also stabbed in the side, but his heavy clothing prevented a serious wound. Smith has been held to the grand jury.

DEVELOPING COPPER MINE NEAR HURLEY.

Hurley, Wis., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is possible that a copper mine may be developed a short distance west of here. J. C. Flannagan and Thomas Jackson are conducting explorations on section 17, township 46, range 2, east. They have already sunk to the depth of twenty feet and assays have shown a good proportion of copper. They are working under a lease from the owners of the mineral rights, a Michigan concern, and feel confident that a paying mine will be the result.

SAINTS WATCH DULUTH.

Interest in This City's Growth Shown in Capital City.

E. W. Randall, president of the St. Paul Commercial club and former secretary of the Minnesota state fair, was in Duluth yesterday on a visit to his son, Frank Randall of Duluth. Mr. Randall said to The Herald that the progress of Duluth is being keenly watched by the business men of St. Paul. He also declared that many of the business men of both of the cities down below are of the belief that Duluth is facing a substantial growth.

In regard to St. Paul, Mr. Randall said that the Saintly City is at the present time enjoying the most substantial growth in its history and that much of the business section of of the city is being wonderfully improved by the changes taking place.

Four Burned to Death.

Malta, Mont., Jan. 19.—Two children of J. C. Curd living about one mile from Zortman, Mont., and two others whose names are not known, burned to death when fire destroyed the Curd home during the night. Mrs. Curd was badly burned and may die.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Men Wield More Influence Than Women.

"As the husband is the wife is," contrary to all that has been said about woman's power over man. Of course there are a few exceptions to the rule. Few, when you consider the men and women who have lived and died and been influenced by either one or the other.

History, everyone knows, is replete with marvelous stories of the influence women have wielded over great men, of men who have sold their souls for a kiss or less, and then gladly laid their heads upon a block. The newspapers today chronicle similar happenings. Men high in finance, public service, and in fact, all walks of life, yield to temptation and barter honor and position for a woman.

A woman in every such case is unworthy and holds sway over what is unworthy in man. A good woman never leads a man to a sacrifice of this sort. It is doubtful if it is as much womanly influence as manly inclination that leads a man to this so-called sacrifice of all he should revere and hold sacred. I believe there is scarcely a man, who for the love of a woman alone, has thrown everything to the winds in order to be all in all or to win favor in her eyes. True love in man or woman does not necessitate anything of the kind.

To prove the very slight influence that women hold over men, look about among your women friends, those who are married. Compare their mannerisms, conduct and views upon every subject under the sun with those that they had before marriage. You will find that almost every single one of them are made over into duplicate editions of their lords and masters.

"My husband says so and so," is the way married women have of showing who it is that exerts the most influence. Of course there are many women who will deeply resent an intimation that their husbands are strong factors in determining just how they shall think and act. Some wives believe they have their own way, but in questions that count it is usually the husband who decides how matters shall be settled.

Men of many qualities and strength of character are rarely influenced against their better judgment or against their will by women. Women, on the other hand, at least many of them, will sacrifice every principle they possess to please the man they love if the man is selfish enough to ask the tribute. If women could wield any great influence over men the world would be better for it. Most women's influence would be for good.

A BRUTAL POINT OF VIEW.

Two comments by the Wall Street Journal, both prompted by the Henry Ford plan of permitting the workers who help create his wealth to share in it, are interesting. The first is about the distribution itself:

> One of the WORST developments of last week was the PREPOSTEROUS distribution of ten million dollars among the Ford automobile employes, regardless of the ruling wage, the length of service or the quality of the work. As a piece of advertising, the move may have been a shrewd one. It was INDEFENSIBLY BAD in every other way, and Mr. Ford's explanation does not explain.

The capitals are ours. The other comment is more general, though it follows the above and goes far to explain its temper:

> Labor is a commodity, like transportation. It is dangerous when its price is inflated, and safest when it is left to the operation of the unhampered law of supply and demand.

This is the spirit of the Old Regime of France whose excesses bred the horrors of the Revolution.

Fortunately, it is a spirit not widely shared in this country, and one that is being shared less widely every day.

It is brutal; and it is a brutality on which the spirit of mischief feeds and waxes strong.

Treating labor as a commodity, like coal or transportation or potatoes, and forgetting that it has a heart to bleed and a mind to fester in hate and ears to hear the insidious poison of the demagogue, is to liberate the devil of anarchy and invite him to have his will.

If the viewpoint of the Wall Street Journal were the prevailing spirit in this country, which, thank God it is not, the country's soil would be drenched with blood in a decade.

It must be terrible to have cold weather in the winter.

THEY CAN QUALIFY.

There was one editor among our exchanges who read with extraordinary interest this set of rules from a publication called "Physical Culture," which states that a man ought to live to be a hundred if he will do these things:

1. Sleep eight hours every night.
2. Sleep on your right side.
3. Avoid intoxicants.
4. Allow no pet animals in your bedroom.
5. Don't change your occupation suddenly.
6. Limit your ambition.
7. Keep your temper.
8. Don't eat butter, eggs or sugar.
9. Don't take a cold plunge bath before breakfast.
10. Eat but little meat.

The editor who read this set of rules with particular interest was one of the editors of the Mirror, a very interesting publication printed in the Stillwater penitentiary, and he reflects happily, after recalling the prison regimen: "We can all qualify."

As to the rules themselves, Rules 8 and 9 are good or bad, depending on the individual. Rule 2 may or may not be good. The rest of them, speaking purely from a physical viewpoint, are unassailable.

And sure enough, if the guaranty of longevity that goes with them holds good, a life sentence ought to insure every prisoner's attainment of the century mark.

A Japanese scientist who made a wrong forecast killed himself for shame. What kind of a weather bureau have they in Japan?

OUR FINNISH CONTEMPORARIES.

The Herald has pleasure in welcoming to our midst two new contemporaries—the daily Paivalehti and the semi-weekly Uutiset. We can't read 'em, because they are printed in Finnish, but we are glad to give them welcome not only because their coming is another tribute to Duluth's advantage as the center of a great and rich region, but because they are powerful influences in the Americanizing of our Finnish neighbors, of whom there are many, and who are proving to be of extraordinary value in the agricultural development of this region.

We understand that the semi-weekly Uutiset is to be consolidated with the Siirtolainen, a Finnish weekly already being published here, and that the resulting weekly, while devoted to general news, will lay particular emphasis on agriculture, the Finns being uncommonly cunning at getting good results from the soil of the cut-over country.

The papers are to be independent in politics,—though from their excellent parentage we suspect that they may have a decided Bull Moose leaning,—and it is sufficient warrant of the good citizenship and levelheaded progressiveness they will inculcate that John Saari, a former member of the legislature from St. Louis county, a well known lawyer, and a sanely progressive good citizen, will be in charge of them.

The Herald wishes its new contemporaries abundant success. They have a high and unique opportunity, and under the management proposed we shall expect to see them meet that opportunity to the highest possible extent.

Milwaukee, in the midst of a debate about the location of the Wisconsin state fair, says the thing is no good anyway. Naturally the same part of the country could hardly produce two such articles as the Minnesota fair.

THE SEAMEN'S BILL.

We guess those back of the bill pending in congress, intended to protect the lives of sailors and passengers at sea, mean very well indeed. We are becoming considerably more certain than guesswork that they don't know much about the water.

It has already been pointed out that the requirement of boats enough to seat every passenger and two qualified seamen for every boat would bring about on some lake passenger steamers very absurd conditions.

And now comes a good authority to point out that the requirement of qualified seamen to handle lifeboats is by no means an assurance that the boats will be safely handled in case of accident.

Capt. H. C. McClellan of the revenue cutter service, now superintending the construction of lifeboats and apparatus for the life-saving service, points out the widest flaw in the bill yet called to public attention.

As quoted by the New York Evening Post, he shows that in recognizing only able seamen as boatmen, the bill overlooks the very important fact that these men may never have had occasion to go into a boat, and may be utterly incompetent as oarsmen. In excluding stewards and hands below decks from the boats, it disregards the fact that they are frequently the best of oarsmen, who have proved their superiority in actual competition.

The idea of cumbering a vessel with a young army of seamen with nothing to do but sit around and wait for an accident was absurd enough, but it becomes still more ridiculous when it is realized that there is no more assurance that a seaman will be able to handle a lifeboat than there is that a steward or coal-passer will be an expert.

Boats and rafts enough for all there should be, very likely even on lake boats that travel beyond easy reach of shore; but every needful purpose will be served if the vessel-owners train their whole crews in boat-handling, or in picking their employes give the preference to those who can handle small boats.

A convict in the state prison at Waupun has been promised a parole if he can first get a job, so he has turned to the want ads. A man with so much intelligence ought to be freed on general principles.

GREED AND WAR.

"Cherchez la femme"—look for the woman—was the French cynic's penetrating observation; meaning that wherever there was trouble, a woman would be found at the bottom of it.

And recent revelations have given point to a new suggestion in connection with wars and South American revolutions—"look for the property interests."

For unless the signs of the times all read wrong, the inspiration for a great deal of trouble that costs much financial loss and causes much human misery and forfeits many valuable human lives, is in sordid property interests. And how far around the world that goes, and how far into history, it would be hard to set a limit. Look for the property interest in most wars, and it will be found somewhere.

It seems particularly manifest in Mexico, and it is always to be found loosing the devil in some black-and-tan republic to the south of us.

The Madero revolt seems to have been helped by the Waters-Pierce Oil company.

Diaz, whom Madero supplanted, was a faithful friend of the Pearson oil syndicate.

Huerta, who now sits a rocking tyrant's throne, seems also to have the ardent friendship of the Pearsons. Says the New York World:

> It is not many years since enlightened nations ceased discussing the horrors of the slave trade; yet at its worst that traffic was hardly more of a scourge to mankind than the wars that have been fomented and waged in the name of commerce. On this hemisphere it is not the aggression of nations and dynasties that is to be feared. The enemies of peace, liberty and stability are the syndicates without conscience and without compassion which promote strife for gain.
> We have seen what asphalt did for Venezuela; there is no question as to what oil and mining have done for Mexico, and exploitation has been in progress in many other countries. To all of these marauders, American as well as European, President Wilson gave solemn warning in his Mobile speech. The concession idea is at an end. Nations are no longer to be drenched in blood, devastated and loaded with debt to enrich syndicates and monopolies, no matter how rich or powerful they may be.

If that is so, and we believe most heartily that it is, then war is ended. For there have been few wars in all history, however glorious their tinseled surface, in which greed has not played its part.

The war for the freeing of the slaves, even, would never have been necessary had it not been for the property interest in slaves.

Anyway, this system of the president's telling congress what he thinks of various public questions is far ahead of the other one of having the president tell the correspondents what he thinks of congress.

Dayton's Adventure in Democracy.

San Francisco Bulletin: Dayton, Ohio, has recently discarded the institution of an elected mayor, repaired and remodeled the commission plan of government, and emerged with a hired business manager, an expert in the business of running a city, who has executive charge of its affairs. The short non-partisan ballot, and the absolute centralization of responsibility, are the political features of the new plan which should make Dayton a real democracy.

With encouraging devotion to this ideal the people of Dayton have organized a Greater Dayton association, in which mill workers and big business men sit and debate side by side. It looks as if something of value to the whole nation should come of this experiment. The best of luck to the people of Dayton!

Human Brotherhood.

Forward through the ages
In unbroken line,
Move the faithful spirits
At the call divine;
Gifts in different measure,
Hearts of one accord,
Manifold the service,
One the sure reward.

Wider grows the kingdom,
Reign of love and light;
For it must labor
Till our faith is sight;
Prophets have proclaimed it,
Martyrs testified,
Poets sung its glory,
Heroes for it died.

Not alone we conquer,
Not alone we fall;
In each loss or triumph
Lose or triumph all.
Bound by God's far purpose
In one living whole,
Move on together
To the shining goal!

—Frederick L. Hosmer.

AT LAST

When on my day of life the night is falling,
And, in the winds from unsunned spaces blown
I hear far voices out of darkness calling
My feet to paths unknown,

Thou who has made my home of life so pleasant,
Leave not its tenant when its walls decay;
O Love Divine, O Helper ever present,
Be Thou my strength and stay!

Be near me when all else is from me drifting;
Earth, sky, home's picture, days of shade and shine,
And kindly faces to my own uplifting
The love which answers mine.

I have but Thee, my Father! let thy spirit
Be with me then to comfort and uphold;
No gate of pearl, no branch of palm I merit,
Nor street of shining gold.

Suffice it if—my good and ill unreckoned,
And both forgiven through Thy abounding grace—
I find myself by hands familiar beckoned
Unto my fitting place.

Some humble door among Thy many mansions,
Some sheltering shade where sin and striving cease,
And flows forever through heaven's green expansions
The river of Thy peace.

There, from music round about me stealing,
I fain would learn the new and holy song,
And find at last, beneath Thy trees of healing,
The life for which I long.

—John Greenleaf Whittier.

White on White

William Allen White in Emporia Gazette.

A number of Progressives at Lakin, more kind than considerate, yesterday resoluted in favor of this man White of Emporia for governor. They wanted him to run as a Progressive candidate.

To which the Gazette says: "No—a thousand times, no." For we are on to that man White, and without wishing to speak disrespectfully of a fellow townsman, who, so far as we know, may be at least outwardly decent in the simpler relations of life—perhaps he pays his debts when it is convenient; and he may be kind to his family, though that's not to his credit, for who wouldn't be?—and he may have kept out of jail, one way or another, for some time—without, as we say, desiring to speak disrespectfully of this man we know that he is not the man either to run for governor or, if such a grotesque thing could be imagined, to serve as governor.

He can't make a speech. He has a lot of radical convictions, which he sometimes comes into the Gazette office and exploits, which are dangerous. He has been jawing politicians for twenty years until he is a common scold, and he has set up his so-called ideals so high that the Angel Gabriel himself couldn't give the performance that this man White would have to advertise on the bills.

So, in the words of the poet, "Nix on Willyum Allen." The Gazette's nose is hard and cold on the proposition to make him governor. He is a four-flusher, a ring-tailed, rip-snorting hell-raiser and a grandstander. He makes a big noise. He yips and kloodles around a great deal, but he is everlastingly and pre-eminently N. G. as gubernatorial timber—full of knots, warts, woodpecker holes and rotten spots.

He would have the enmity of more men who have walked the plank politically than any other man in Kansas, and his candidacy would issue an irrevocable charter in Kansas for the Progressive party to be the official minority representative, world without end.

Men and women would be trampled to death at 7 o'clock election morning trying to get to the polls to cast the first vote against him, and at night perfectly good citizens, kind fathers and indulgent husbands, would risk a jail sentence to get in at least ten votes against him as repeaters. It may be that the Progressive party needs a goat, but the demand doesn't require a billygoat.

Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the party.

But this man White is a shoulder galled, sore backed, hamstrung, wind-broken, string-halted, stump sucking old stager, who, in addition to being no good for draft and general purposes has the political bots, blind staggers, heaves, pinkeye and epizootic. Moreover, he is loocoed and has other defects. People in the state may be fooled by the doped gait and fancy steps of this man White. But we know him.

And if he is a candidate for governor or for any other office we propose to tell the truth about him—how he robbed the county with a padded printing bill, how he offered to trade his support to a congressman for a government job, how he has blackmailed good citizens and has run a bulldozing, disreputable newspaper in this town for twenty years and has grafted off business men and sold fake mining stock and advocated anarchy and assassination.

These are but a few preliminary things that occur to us as the moment passes. But if his fool friends insist on playing up this self-advertising game for him any longer we propose to abandon twenty years of guarded innuendo and prattling subterfuge and come out with the real facts. We shall speak plainly hereafter.

A word to the wise should gather no moss.

The Farm Home

Wallace's Farmer: The big thing to the farmer who tills his own farm is not the farm nor its improvement nor the livestock, but the family; and the farm is worth while only in so far as it enables the farmer to maintain a home on it. The farm gives material for a healthy living; but the life that is lived on the farm, if it is a life worth while, is spiritual. We have done ourselves damage by limiting the use of that word spiritual. We confine it to worship, or worship that has in it the element of sacrifice. Now everything not material is really spiritual. The love of husband for wife, of wife for children, of children for their parents and for each other, this is not material, although it may have had originally a basis or support in matter. It is really a divine thing, whether generally so recognized or not; and without it the farm is not a home, nor worth the cost of either purchase or rent. Of what value is a house, though it cost a fortune, and is furnished with everything that can minister to comfort, if it is approached with fear of an angry look or a cold stare; where neither husband nor wife nor children feel at home?

The material things, whither farms or houses or stocks or bonds, or anything else which men may prize and for which they toil, are not the big things of life, but very vanity unless there go with it the things not material, but spiritual, for which alone life is worth living, and worth living because it is a reflection of the Divine.

Must Know.

Cleveland Leader: The talk was about a member of congress who has taken an active part in furthering currency legislation. "Has he any special knowledge of the currency?" asked the Western man. The Boston man looked at him with the indignation with which perhaps his ancestor of the same name received the information that the British parliament had passed the stamp act. "Has he any special knowledge of it?" he repeated with a rising inflection that made the questioner wish he were back in Kansas City minding his own business. "Why, sir, he is a Harvard man!"

Easily Explained.

New York Times: Mr. Barnes entered his garage one morning and found his chauffeur taking his ease instead of doing some work he had been asked to do.

"Joe, how is it," asked Mr. Barnes severely, "that I never find you at work when I come out here?"

"Well, sir," replied Joe seriously, "I guess it's on account of those rubber heels you're wearing now."

That's Where It Might Be.

Boston Americand: "Dear me! Where on earth is the footman? There's nobody here with the car."

"I believe, ma'am," he's went to the mezzo-tint floot to look for our chef-fonyer."

Mandible at Least.

Puck: Among those things that go without saying may be included the language of deaf-mutes.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.—This is a story with a moral.

But owing to the general deep-seated prejudice against stories with morals, we shall give the moral first, and have the worst over with at once.

Thus everything will be perfectly fair and aboveboard and those who are dissatisfied can quietly withdraw before the performance begins.

The great moral principle involved is simply this; that about the only purpose of formality is to clutter up and aggravate a situation.

Washington is, of course, a hotbed of formality, and those who are most formal have the least fun. You remember the line in the copybooks that convention is the mother of necessity.

But all this is mere idle chitchat. Let us fly at our tale.

A few weeks ago there came to our shores a new minister from the Netherlands, by name Chevalier W. L. F. C. van Rappard. He is an excellent and capable gentleman, but has been trained in the diplomatic service where formality is rife, and naturally he does things in a formal way.

* * *

One of the old established formal customs is that within a certain time after his arrival here a new minister must formally present himself to the vice president. A minister is escorted to meet the secretary of state and the president by the third assistant secretary of state, but when he meets the vice president there is no adequate provision for any dignitary to present him, and he must brace up and go through it alone.

It was arranged that Vice President Marshall should be at his office in the capitol promptly at 3 o'clock one afternoon to receive the new minister.

Well, 3 o'clock came and went, but the diplomatic caller failed to appear. Marshall didn't care particularly as he had no other important engagement to keep, and he is not a formal person, but he couldn't help wondering what could have happened to the man. At 3:30 the visitor was still missing.

The somebody brought word that a mysterious stranger was wandering about the corridors of the capitol from one wing to another and looking greatly worried. It turned out that he was the missing minister. He had got lost in the building, which was not surprising, and had tramped about in a vain search for the vice president's room simply because he thought it would be undignified and informal to walk up to somebody and inquire his way.

Having found the place at last, the new minister suffered even more agony of spirit—entirely due to formality. He was mortified half to death because he was late. Being tardy for a diplomatic appointment was to him a great incontrovertible sin sufficient to bench him for life. He felt as if he had a diplomatic batting average of 000. And all his embarrassment and self-abasement were needless, for Marshall did not hold it against him at all. If he had not been brought up on formality all might have been well.

Once again he thought he had done something informal and therefore something terrible. Marshall tried to assure him that he himself often tripped over the rug and that it was perfectly all right to do so, but the diplomatic caller was almost inconsolable.

And then, by way of placing the final straw on the climax, the man returned in a few moments, more embarrassed than ever, to confess that he had forgot his hat. To have lived through all his mishaps and finally got away alive, only to return for so commonplace a thing as a hat, seemed to him the heights of informality—and horror.

The point is, you see, that except for the supposed necessity of maintaining formality and dignity, the whole thing might have been treated as a great joke. Back in Indiana, where Marshall comes from, men often come late and trip over rugs and forget hats—all without impairing their standings in the community. So such things did not seriously vex Marshall. But the unfortunate young diplomat did not know that.

As an example of the way a trivial thing will get lodged in a man's mind and stick there, one may cite this from Joseph W. Folk, solicitor of the state department.

"I'll never forget the day I started to school," remarked Folk one evening. "The teacher sat at her desk and ate an egg. It wasn't the luncheon hour, but she picked up a hard-boiled egg and ate it. She had a perfect right to, of course, but the thing struck me as funny. Since then I have seen and forgot a lot of important things, but I'll never forget about that teacher eating the egg."

"Uncle Ike" Stephenson of Wisconsin, richest member of the senate, has blossomed out extravagantly this season in a large, honking automobile. Heretofore he has always ridden back and forth to the capitol in an old squeaky surrey. Many amusing stories are being told about the remarks made by the wealthy Wisconsin man when he got his first garage bill after his entrance into the automobilious class.

The Lure of the South

Lincoln State Journal: The railroad advertiser, picking our weakest moment, prints now his pictures of waving palms and cotton clad fishermen and comfortable surf bathers far to the south. The land man now glows as alluringly of balmy Texas and Florida as six months ago he dilated on the crisp coolness of Canada. It takes nerve and energy to get out of bed on a cold winter morning. Would we were rich and could revel in the tropics these lusty January days.

John Greenleaf Whittier had less than his share of protecting flesh on his bones. No wonder, contending with a New England winter that he, too, felt the lure of the banana belt. Said he:

> At times I long for gentler skies,
> And bathe in dreams of softer air,
> But homesick tears would fill the eyes
> That saw the Cross without the Bear.
> The pine must whisper to the palm,
> And with the dreamy languor of the Line,
> The north's keen virtue blend, and strength to beauty join.

Is it a siren call which young ears at least would better be sealed against? On second thought, as we have seen, Whittier thought so. Since we have to brave the winter blast anyway we would better think so, too.

> Better to stem with heart and hand
> The roaring tide of life, than lie,
> Unfaithful, on its flowery strand,
> Of God's occasions drifting by!
> Better with naked nerve to bear
> The needles of this goading air,
> Than, in the lap of sensual ease, forego
> The god-like power to do, the god-like air to know.

Winter bred men, we might note, are the rulers of the world.

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

And the Most Abused.

Brainerd Dispatch: During the past year two Duluth policemen have been shot while performing their duty. Another was killed in Minneapolis. The newspapers give accounts nearly every day of how either a city or county offical is shot down while arresting some criminal. Every time an officer goes on duty it may be at the cost of his life. Yet these same officers who are willing to sacrifice their lives for the public safety are among the poorest paid employes in most of our cities.

This Is More Than a Joke.

Fairmont Sentinel: One of the first things that the next legislature should consider is the removal from Minneapolis of the agricultural department of the state university. Good farmer boys cannot be grown in a city where vice and immorality have the upper hand.

His Report Was Expected.

Appleton Press: Congressman Miller has not disappointed those who sent him to the Philippines, for he has found plenty to find fault about. It is a rare compliment to the Democrats that the Republicans feel constrained to send envoys to the far ends of the earth to dig up something to criticize.

They Might Think It Over.

Ada Herald: William E. Lee wants the Republican opponents to Eberhart to unite on one man as the opposing candidate for governor. Why not desert the old ship and join hands with the Democrats in giving the state a new deal. The G. O. P. craft is fast becoming junk and is headed for the scrap pile.

There Should Be No Doubts.

Anoka Union: Remember it is the state senators and representatives who appropriate money to run the state, and the voters should scan carefully the legislative candidates and know they favor economy in administering public affairs.

All But Irish Are "Furriners" Everywhere.

Grand Rapids Herald-Review: Over in Ireland they are proposing to fire the mayor of the city of Cork because he is an American. There would be special elections in quite a number of American cities if we were to discharge all the mayors that are Irish.

Could There Be But a Qualification Law!

Bemidji Sentinel: With nothing personal intended for Sam Iverson, we arise to remark that some of the candidates are likely to find it almost as difficult to be elected governor of Minnesota as it is to get a marriage license in the state of Wisconsin.

It's Nobody's Commission.

Elk River Star-News: Governor Eberhart's efficiency commission, which, by the way, has no standing in law, is liable to line up on some recommendations that will embarrass him with the interests he is represented as being lined up with. The commission seems disposed to make recommendations regardless of where the chips may fall or who is hit, and if it does so will be stronger with the people than has been expected.

Field Flowers

The Hill-Woman in Houston Chronicle: How we pass by the dear familiar things of life in our quest of the unattainable!

The meadows are full of buttercups and daisies, but it is the edelweiss, growing high on some mountain crag and just out of reach, for which we yearn and strive.

The spring grass is sprinkled with the joyous gold of dandelions, but we take little notice of their shining until some day their places are taken by an army of little gray ghosts, who nod sadly at us as we pass. And we wonder, half wistfully, why we never loved their brightness till we lost it.

And thus it is that in the heart of every one of us there is enshrined some once-familiar figure, gentle, quiet and humbly loving, who seemed to dwell always in the far-off silver radiance; that we feel in some half-conscious way that figure was dear to us, and yet, attracted and distracted by outside persons and things that seemed to hold out the lure of a more absorbing interest, we seldom lingered long near the familiar figure and paid small heed to its gentle plaints or its tender counsel.

Then a day came when it was no longer here. And suddenly, in its absence, that one began to mean more to us than all the world besides. In a new, unspeakable longing "for the touch of a vanished hand, for the sound of a voice that is still," we understood at last what we had so carelessly passed by.

As little children we cry for a far-off silver radiance that some one has hung in the sky beyond our feeble reach, and a comfortable, homely rattle as a substitute is accepted by us only under protest and with infantile scorn. Gazing at life through the rose-colored spectacles of youth, we are prone to overlook entirely some warm, human love close at hand, in an eager dream of impossible romance.

Ever the lure of "more beyond" is upon us! "Man never is but always to be blest." The familiar scene palls. The well known faces seldom hold our attention or interest long. The minds and hearts of the everyday folk who come and go about us are not regarded as worthy of exploration.

Yet how surely does there come a time when for the familiar smile of a little field flower we would exchange the rarest orchid in the world!

The Disinherited.

From street and square, from hill and glen,
Of this vast world beyond my door,
I hear the tread of marching men,
The patient armies of the poor.

Not ermine-clad or clothed in state,
Their title-deeds not yet made plain,
But waking early, toiling late,
The heirs of all the earth remain.

The peasant brain shall yet be wise,
The untamed pulse grow calm and still;
The blind shall see, the lowly rise,
And work in peace Time's wondrous will.

Some day, without a trumpet's call
This news will o'er the world be blown:
"The heritage comes back to all!
The myriad monarchs take their own."

—Thomas Wentworth Higginson.

Brotherhood.

When thy heart, with joy o'er-flowing,
Sings a thankful pray'r,
In thy joy, O let thy brother
With thee share.

When the harvest sheaves in gathered,
Fill thy barns with store,
To thy God and to thy brother
Give the more.

If thy soul, with pow'r uplifted,
Yearn for glorious deed,
Give thy strength to serve thy brother
In his need.

Share with him thy bread of blessing,
Sorrow's burder share;
When thy heart enfolds a brother,
God is there.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney troubles in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease. Agent, Wirth's Red Cross drug store, 13 West Superior street.

MUST KEEP GASOLINE AWAY FROM WIRELESS

Government Warns Vessel Owners of Danger From Electricity.

Washington, Jan. 19.—That wireless equipment provided as a means of safety aboard ship may on occasion be a source of grave danger, is called to the attention of the shipping world by the commerce department's bureau of navigation.

Experts of the bureau say extreme care should be used aboard vessels carrying gasoline or similar substances which generate an explosive gas or any other explosive which might be ignited by electric sparks. A. J. Tyrer, acting commissioner of navigation has directed all radio inspectors to be rigid in their examination of wireless on tank vessels and others carrying material which might be set afire by sparks.

"You will pay particular attention," said the order, "to the insulation of the antennae, to metallic rigging or equipment of the vessel in which currents may be induced by the action of the radio apparatus, and to the wiring and electrical equipment of the vessel in which currents may be induced so as to cause sparks to jump between wires or between small gaps."

WANT ROOSEVELT FOR "U" PRESIDENT.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 19—At a meeting of the graduates of the University of Washington, including four former presidents of the student body, a plan was set in motion for the election of Theodore Roosevelt as president of the university. The new board of regents is seeking a president and will hold its first meeting next Friday.

SAMARITAN AND BRIGHTS DISEASE

James Craig is a prosperous merchant of Sliverton, Oregon. He has time to think of the health and happiness of those about him.

A young lady school teacher, the daughter of a friend, was succumbing to Bright's Disease. Craig wrote to the late N. W. Spalding, then United States sub-treasurer of San Francisco, to ask if there was any truth in the report that Bright's Disease was being cured in California. Spalding replied that after he had spent $10,000 with physicians his own daughter had recovered, and that too after the dropsy had developed and the case was supposed to be hopeless, and to tell the father to put the patient on Fulton's Renal Compound.

Craig advised the father and the Renal Compound was taken to the patient. She recovered and was teaching school at last advices. Craig was delighted and told others. He has sent us the names of nearly a dozen whom he has helped to new leases of life.

If you have Bright's Disease do you not owe it to yourself and family to try Fulton's Renal Compound before giving up. Druggists supplied by Leithhead Drug Co.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

THE TWO METHODS OF INSTRUCTING THE DEAF.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Helen Keller will be here on Jan. 29. It has been said of her that she is as much a national institution as Niagara falls, the Bunker Hill monument, or the memory of George Washington. Miss Keller became deaf and dumb and blind at the age of 19 months. Her mind was practically a blank until she was nearly 7 years old. She was then taken in charge by Miss Sullivan, now Mrs. Macey, who has been her constant companion for twenty-six years and has made her the marvel of the age in an educational sense. Joseph B. Gilder has said of her: "What I have found out is merely that Helen Keller is that rarity of rarities, a genius."

Helen Keller's education was carried on and made possible by the, at present, much maligned manual method of instructing the deaf. She was actually educated by this method. After having acquired an education she learned to speak. Having lost her hearing at so early an age and naturally having little conception of sound, it is to be expected that in spite of her great talents, especially her ability to memorize, the constant drilling she has received has not removed the mechanical feature of her speech, and like all deaf children who have been born deaf or have lost their hearing at an early age, her voice is not natural. During her present tour of the country she was in Columbus, Ohio, and the Ohio State Journal comments upon her voice as follows: "The strangeness of her tone made it extremely difficult for many to understand. It was as if a voice had come from the tomb, something sepulchral, something utterly uncanny and unreal was in it." Helen Keller has, all of these years, been a protege of Dr. Alexander Graham Bell of telephone fame. Dr. Bell's mother was deaf, in his early life he was a teacher of the deaf, and he married a deaf woman. It is not unnatural that he has a deep interest in the deaf, but like many a rich person he has a fad, and his particular fad is teaching the deaf to speak. He has spent hundreds of thousands and is spending money all of the time to foster his fad upon the nation. If he were content to allow the deaf to acquire an education first and then learn to express their thoughts orally, as in the case of Helen Keller, he would be hailed by the deaf as well as by others as a true benefactor. However, he has taken a step further and proposes to take a child born deaf and without the least conception of vocal utterance or the idea of sound and to educate it by speech and lip reading. The results have been disastrous to hundreds of deaf children who have grown up to curse the "oral method" and those who have fostered it upon the deaf. From the printing offices he supports, Dr. Bell floods the "deaf world" with literature skilfully prepared and advocating this method. Helen Keller's present tour is in a way to influence the general public favorably with reference to this method. Parents of deaf children are led to suppose that by the oral method their little ones may be taught as Helen Keller has been taught. They demand that state schools use the oral method and have forced it upon many of the great state institutions much to the harm of the deaf children who go there to be educated and not turned into parrots. Parents go frantic with delight when their wee tots who have never spoken come home from school and can say "mamma" and "papa," and they do not stop to think that even birds can say more. Any ordinary teacher of the deaf can teach a child to mechanically utter these and other words in a very brief space of time so that they can "go through their paces." But this does not educate them. The mere ability to say a few words in an imperfect voice does not fit one for the joys and sorrows of life or constitute a good foundation for citizenship. In so far as Helen Keller is advocating the oral method, undoubtedly subservient to the wishes of Dr. Bell, she is doing her fellow deaf people an unquestionable harm. Those who advocate the oral method are dishonest in this, that they take children who have become deaf at the age of 7 or over, sometimes even 12 and 13, and who never have lost the power of speech, and parade them as results in speech attained by their method. There are parents in this city who have been heart-broken because their children, born deaf, could not learn to speak as well as children who lost their hearing later in life. There must be a distinction made between the deaf-mute and the semi-mute. To teach the deaf-mute orally is folly. To teach the semi-mute orally is often, though not always, desirable. If people would only catch themselves up for a moment and consider the fact that it is acknowledged that every normal child cannot be taught music to advantage and consider further how much harder it must be to teach a child born deaf and dumb the intricacies of vocal utterance, they would stamp the "pure oralists" as people lacking common sense or faddists, which they are, so carried away with their fad that they cannot use the judgment and common sense the good God endowed them with, when they maintain that all deaf children can be taught to speak.

Bear in mind that Helen Keller is a world figure, a genius, that she has had a genius of a teacher and all that gold could procure toward her marvelous development. Remember that she has devoted her entire life, and is now a middle-aged woman, to the cultivation of her mind and the accomplishments she possesses. Go and see her and listen to her and then ask yourselves if a child, one of several hundred, in a large state school who has on an average of ten years to acquire an education, learn a trade and prepare himself to become a self-supporting citizen of the state, should devote those ten years to learning to talk as Helen Keller talks, or should he get right down to brass tacks and learn something worth while?

SOCIALISM AND THE DIVIDING UP SYSTEM.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Socialists are those who by the study of history, ancient and modern, have seen the evolution of mankind, feudalism, slavery, white and black, capitalism, and now have begun to see the dividing up, as in Mr. Ford's case.

Socialists have for a number of years been accused of agitating a system to compel all to divide up. May the one who thought Socialists believed in dividing up live to see the day when all capitalists will adopt Mr. Ford's system and be very well satisfied to do so, in order to delay the tide of Socialism which will overthrow the dividing up system and give to the workers the full return of their labor, just as slavery overthrew feudalism and in turn capitalism overthrew slavery. We believers in Socialism fully realize that the dividing up system will come, to a certain extent. We also realize this is not Socialism; neither is Mr. Ford a Socialist, but a man who wants to keep up with the times and receive better investments from his capital, also putting the workers of his factory in a position where they won't come to work with a stomach that is filled on a $3 per week allowance for a family of five, contributed by charity. Mr. Ford does not believe in paying starvation wages, inviting strikes and having gunmen to shoot his employes into submission, and union labor in the back. If I ever buy a car or have an opportunity to boost his cars I sure will. Thanking you for your space,

LUCIFER GRENFALL BARRE.

IN DEFENSE OF "THE QUACKS."

To the Editor of The Herald:

In regard to the "Help Down the Quacks" article, printed in Monday's paper, I would like to ask "Who are the quacks?" Am I to understand that all unlicensed practitioners are quacks? I hope not. Take my case, for instance. I had not been well for twelve years, although treated almost constantly by licensed practitioners Then last spring I was urged to try a different kind, one of the unlicensed practitioners, who used no drugs of any kind. And the result is I am healthier and stronger than I have ever been. Now, are they the ones meant, the ones we are to help eliminate? A very interested reader,

MRS. W. BLANCHARD.

MISSES HIS LIGHT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Last week I saw a crew of men taking down the street light at Forty-first avenue west and Magellan street.

I thought they were repairing it or were going to replace it with a new one, but nothing has been done. The other day I met a political boss of my neighborhood. He said he had not missed that little light. I suppose he hadn't missed it on account of the installment of a new large one at his own corner, which is only a block away. As a taxpayer I am waiting to see if removing the light will lower my taxes on my property and raise my dog's tax. Yours for fair play,

A. CITIZEN.

WOULD FINISH MIDDLEMEN

Borah Presents Bill for an "Agricultural Capital."

Washington, Jan. 19.—A popular government institution for the scientific marketing of farm products, to be known as the agricultural capital, to be separate from any existing branch of the government, is proposed in a bill by Senator Borah.

Designed primarily to eliminate middlemen and reduce the cost of living, to arrange transportation facilities and otherwise improve conditions of the farmers and consumers, the bill aroused considerable interest among senators by its radical suggestions, and was referred to the agricultural committee.

The institution would be controlled by a board of fifteen directors. It would be made up of county organizations, requiring at least fifty farmers in each county to form a branch association; each to conduct the marketing of all the crops of its members, under rules and regulations to be drawn by the general board, which would be elected by the individual members every five years.

Earnings in excess of expenses, when it should become self-sustaining, and 3 per cent would be returned pro rata to the members. Each branch organization would be controlled by a board of trustees and a general director, and would serve not only as a clearing house for marketing and standardizing the farmers' products, but would also be authorized to loan capital to its members and to assist in the production of crops.

NOT COMMITTED TO PAYING THE MILITIA.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Secretary Garrison issued a statement last night discussing proposed militia legislation which was considered by militia organizations and officers here throughout last week, making it plain the war department is not committed to the principle of paying the militia. He reiterated his statement to militia officers that if the details of a bill could be agreed on, he would take the question up with President Wilson and announce a conclusion, but emphasized that he had as yet reached no conclusion.

WIRELESS SITE NEAR SAN DIEGO.

Washington, Jan. 19.—A special board of naval officers has selected as a site for high power radio station on the California coast a location on La Chollas' heights, about four miles east of San Diego and some eleven miles from the seacoast. The board's choice has been approved by the navy department, the general board and the superintendent of radio service, and it is expected a tract of land comprising seventy-two acres with an elevation of 450 feet above sea level will be acquired by the government for about $15,000.

The new station will be one of a chain connecting the Pacific coast with Hawaii, the Panama canal, the Atlantic coast.

BIG SUM FOR MAN'S DEATH

Widow of Adam Sulkoski Gets $5,000 From Missabe Road.

Sulkoski Was Knocked Through Chute to Boat Hold.

Hattie Sulkoski, 341½ Restormel street, widow of Adam Sulkoski, has accepted $5,000 from the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railway company in settlement of a wrongful death claim growing out of an accident which cost the life of her husband on Sept. 30 last.

Sulkoski, employed on the ore docks, was struck by an ore train and tossed into an open chute from which he dropped about forty feet into the hold of a boat. Death was almost instantaneous.

The accident occurred about 10:30 o'clock in the evening just one hour and a half before the workingmen's compensation act went into effect. Had Sulkoski met with the accident after midnight his widow would have received only $2,250 under the provisions of the act.

The $5,000 settlement was approved Saturday by District Judge Fesler, who directed that after all expenses had been paid that the money be apportioned among the widow and children.

MANY ATTENDING BETHANY'S REUNION

Twenty-Fifth Anniversary of Founding of Church Being Celebrated.

Crowds which packed Bethany Swedish Lutheran church to its doors attended the three meetings held yesterday in celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the church. The largest audience was at the evening service when the reunion of the twenty-four classes confirmed in the church was held.

This program was contributed to by representatives from each of the classes. The principal address was given by Prof. Carl Cassel of Detroit, Minn., son of the first pastor of the church. Dr. J. A. Krantz, pastor of the Elim Swedish Lutheran church, who was a member of the first class, was unable to attend as he had planned.

At the opening service held at 10 o'clock yesterday morning Rev. C. O. Swan, pastor of the First Swedish Lutheran church of this city, conducted communion services. A sermon was delivered by Rev. Carl G. Olson, pastor of Bethany church.

At the Sunday school reunion held at 3 o'clock almost the full attendance of the children, numbering nearly 500, and about the same number of adults attended. Prof. Cassel was the principal speaker and talked of the early work in connection with the organizing of the school.

This afternoon at 2:30 o'clock the reception and celebration conducted under the auspices of the ladies' aid society began. Addresses will be given during the afternoon by Mrs. Ellen Cassel of St. Peter, Minn., widow of the first pastor of the church; Mrs. Constance Cassel, who will talk on "Importence of the Work of Women in the Church," and a number of other women will also speak.

Rev. A. F. Elmquist, former pastor of the church, now of Minneapolis, Rev. C. O. Swan, Rev. F. O. Hanson and others will speak at the meeting this evening. Tomorrow evening the celebration will close with a sacred concert given by the choir. The choir will present the cantata "Bethlehem."

ITS FIRST ANNIVERSARY.

Ladies' Aid of Trinity Lutheran Church Will Celebrate.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Trinity English Lutheran church will celebrate its first anniversary as an organization at Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Thursday evening. The celebration will be in the form of a reception for Rev. and Mrs. F. O. Hanson, who have recently arrived to take charge of the congregation.

At a meeting of the committee in charge to be held this afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. C. Eckman, 2227 West Fourth street, the final plans will be made. The members of the committee are: Mrs. Albert Swensen, Mrs. J. W. Ekblad, Mrs. J. C. Eckman, Mrs. Leonard Peterson, Mrs. Jack Anderson, Mrs. E. G. Pash and Mrs. S. H. Eckman.

Mrs. T. Westman of 2216 West Second street entertained a number of friends Friday afternoon.

BIG FLEET TO GO THROUGH CANAL.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Five of the nations invited to take part in the great naval procession which will start at Hampton Roads and cruise by way of the Panama canal to the Golden Gate next year, have formally notified the state department of their acceptance. They are the Argentine Republic, France, Germany, Great Britain and Portugal. Japan also has decided to participate, according to the press reports, and it is not doubted that when the time comes all of the maritime nations of the world will be represented in the line.

Some of the countries have indicated a purpose to send naval officers to participate in the celebration of the opening of the canal, though they are not able to send ships, among them being Guatamala, Haiti, Honduras, Nicaragua, Salvador and Switzerland.

The plans of the navy department call for the upparance in line of about 100 warships, sixty-eight of them under foreign flags.

The exact date for the assembling of this international fleet has not yet been fixed.

HE IS CANDIDATE FOR NOMINATION FOR SENATE

ROGER C. SULLIVAN
Of Illinois.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Roger C. Sullivan of Chicago has formally announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for United States. The announcement from the Chicago Democratic leader and former national committeeman for Illinois was expected by politicians here.

In his statement Mr. Sullivan declared that he was in full accord with the Wilson policies.

"President Wilson is applying to the problems of the time the fundamentals of broad Democracy," the statement reads. "The rights of the individual must be preserved in this country, even if the supposed rights of the combines are curbed. In President Wilson we have a man with a national program clearer, closer to the ground and containing less hair-splitting than any plan conceived in fifty years. If my campaign is successful, it will be a privilege to participate in the working out of that program."

Mr. Sullivan promised an active compaign and said he would render a public account of all his expenditures.

PRIEST PUTS OUT FIRE IN BELFRY.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 19.—While his congregation stood on the sidewalk, nearly 100 feet below, cheering him, Rev. J. J. Godfrey climbed through the belfry, up a steep roof, and extinguished a fire which threatened to destroy the Ferguson Catholic church near here Sunday morning. Half an hour later he was in the pulpit, calmly conducting mass. Though his hands were burned, his flock did not know of it until the services were over.

VENEZUELA MUST DELAY ELECTIONS.

Caracas, Venezuela, Jan. 19.—The presidents of the Venezuela states have notified the central government that it will be impossible because of the state of war, to hold elections for congressmen and state officials whose terms expire in February. The minister of the interior has advised the state presidents themselves to decide how to remedy the situation, and when to hold new elections.

IOWA "BLUE SKY" LAW HELD VALID.

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 19.—The validity of the so-called "blue sky law" of the state of Iowa is sustained in a decree filed in Federal court by Judge Smith McPherson. The law seeks to control the sale of investment securities in the state.

CHILDREN SCUFFLE; ONE SHOT IN HEAD.

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 19.—Harry Ellers, aged 4 years, was shot through the right temple at his home Sunday by Leroy Erxleben, aged 12, while the two were fighting for the possession of an old revolver. The bullet plowed through the Ellers boy's brain and he is reported dying in a local hospital.

ROBBERS MURDER KANSAS CITY MAN.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 19.—Joseph Schmitz, a grocer, was shot Saturday night by two motor-car robbers and died early Sunday. Schmitz was alone in his store when the men entered. He sprang for a revolver near his cash register. One of the robbers fired, the bullet striking the grocer in the shoulder. Both men escaped.

PEERESS LOOPS THE LOOP IN THE AIR.

London, Jan. 19.—Lady Victoria Mary Pery, daughter of the Earl of Limerick, looped the loop Sunday at the Hendon aerodrome in an aeroplane driven by Gustav Hamel.

Fort MacArthur.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The military reservation at Point Fermin, Cal., has been named Fort MacArthur for the late Lieut. Gen. Arthur MacArthur.

Donahoe Appeals.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Judgment of the $2,000 fine imposed on Attorney Daniel Donahoe on conviction of conspiracy to defame Clarence S. Funk was entered in the criminal court Saturday and appeal was taken to the appellate court.

QUICK RESULTS ASTONISH DULUTH

There is astonishment in Duluth at the QUICK results received from simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-i-ka, the remedy which became famous by curing appendicitis. This simple mixture drains such great amounts of foul matter from the body that A SINGLE DOSE relieves constipation, sour stomach and gas on the stomach almost IMMEDIATELY. The speedy action of Adler-i-ka is surprising.

GLAD-HANDING BY THE CANDIDATES

Many on Hand at State Agricultural Meeting at St. Paul and Those in State Capitol Keep Open House—Preus Now Regarded as Candidate for State Auditorship—W. E. Lee Has Not Filed Yet.

During the last week the chief thing in state politics was the gathering of most of the Republican candidates for state offices at St. Paul, attracted by the annual meeting of the state agricultural society. The row in the society is now history and while it may in time have some bearing on the state politic l situation, nothing significant other than some renewed bitterness between individuals has developed. However, candidates who are now in the state capitol kept open house and were busy with the glad hand to everybody. This, it is said, was especially true of S. G. Iverson and J. A. O. Preus, state insurance commissioner. The latter's activity among the gathered politicians is taken as meaning that he has made up his mind to file for the office of state auditor as opposed to Henry Rines of Mora. This in itself is an important development, for the reason that it makes the state auditorship a battle center.

Nobody has yet offered to participate in the elimination conference proposed by W. E. Lee of Long Prairie, except J. F. Jacobson of Madison, who is not a candidate. He has merely indorsed the proposition and offers to do anything he can to bring the conference about. But the anti-Eberhart candidates for the governorship are mum as so many oysters. Mr. Lee said when he made the suggestion that he would not file for "a reasonable time." He has not filed yet so he probably thinks that the reasonable time has not expired. But that he will file there is probably no doubt, for nobody expects Iverson, Peterson, Elwell and others to enter such a conference. So the announcement of his candidacy may be expected at any time.

With the multiplicity of candidates for the governorship practically assuring a renomination of the "present incumbrance," as a county paper puts it, the center of the fight may be for state auditorship. Henry Rines of Mora has already announced himself, it is believed to be practically assured that Jacob A. O. Preus will file soon, and another man has announced himself, namely, A. W. Thompson of Preston, who was deputy auditor for a time under State Auditor Iverson. Mr. Thompson has not announced his platform as yet nor is it given out how he hopes to succeed. It may be, however, that he figures that with the undoubtedly hard fight between Henry Rines and Jacob Preus, he will have a chance to get away with the bacon. The Rines movement received encouragement in St. Paul during the week when J. F. Jacobson of Madison, declared himself for the Mora man. Jacobson has retired from the realm of office seekers, but it is admitted that his influence in politics is far from dead.

It is claimed that despite Congressman Hammond's declaration that he does not think he should become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, he will be urged strenuously between now and Feb. 22, at which time the Democrats are to have their get-together dinner, to become a candidate. Other interests insist that he shall be returned to congress as he is more valuable there.

Owatonna Journal-Chronicle: Republican politicians are expressing dismay because, if only one candidate for governor files on the Democratic, Public Ownership, Prohibition and Progressive party tickets, then their names will be certified to the general ballot without being submitted at the primary election, and all the voters belonging to those parties will be free to vote in the Republican primaries. Furthermore they are disturbed by the conviction that even where there are two candidates, or more, for nomination on such tickets, a large percentage of the party voters will have little interest in voting their own ticket in the primaries because there will be no local contests, all legislative and county offices being now nonpartisan, so that a big percentage will mix into the only real fun offered—the contests on the Republican ticket. This, however, is a proposition to worry the professional politicians solely. There is no good reason to believe that a Democrat, voting on a Republican contest, will not vote for the man he believes to be the best candidate, and Democrats, Socialists, Prohibitionists or Progressives could surely show no worse judgment than the average Republican voter has shown in the past. We should worry.

That's the best feature about the law. It gives a voter a chance, as a citizen, not as a partisan, to have a say in the matter of choosing the nominees of any party. The trend of the age is to get away from party lines, and the new non-partisan law of Minnesota is a wonderfully effective step in accomplishing this very thing. This is the generally expressed opinion except among the partisan press and professional politicians.

Albert Lea Standard: The Progressive Republicans of the state are overwhelmingly in the majority of their party, they are patriotic and desire good government and as such are against the machine that is now in power, but they are foolishly divided by the senseless ambitions of several candidates and thus have small prospects of success.

Thus they will be wise, when the machine has concocted its inevitable ticket, if they join the Progressive Democrats and unite upon a ticket that will insure to the state another administration like that of John Lind and of John A. Johnson.

Those who have been watching the developments during the past few months are observing a growing feeling just that way. Of course, at present, it is being voiced chiefly by the Democratic press, but the Progressive Republican press is not receiving it unkindly.

Buffalo Journal: James A. Peterson of Minneapolis has announced his candidacy for nomination for governor, and William E. Lee of Long Prairie has said he will file for governor soon. With Iverson this will make a divided field of three against Eberhart, which looks good to him. He has the machine support, which will insure him a plurality of the votes and the nomination, same as in 1912.

Peterson virtually admits that Eberhart will get the nomination, and his defense is this: "We cannot afford to sacrifice any principle for the mere victory at the polls. The big question involved is the undoing of the political machine backed by certain predatory interests which have ruled the state for years."

That listens good, but it is up to Mr. Peterson to explain how the standing up for principle, and by so doing keeping the political machine in power, is to accomplish any reform. His candidacy is admitted as but a protest against the machine, and without hope of success. So long as the opposition to the machine comes into the primary campaign with a large number of candidates, it cannot hope for results. It appears that the machine does not even have to pull any wires to get a bunch in the race against Eberhart.

Of all the inconsistent candidacies in what seems to be an inconsistent era in Minnesota politics, it is generally conceded that that of Mr. Peterson is the most glaring. The state press is not overlooking the opportunity to make fun of it; but it is far too serious to be taken as a joke. His candidacy is simply stimulating what he says he seeks to kill.

Bemidji Pioneer: The papers of the state are strong for Jake Preus, and are urging that his name be filed as a candidate for state auditor. Should Jake decide to file he will make it exceedingly interesting for Henry Rines. Preus is yet a young man but has already made himself prominent in politics.

It looks as though Mr. Preus will file; and if he does there will be an interesting fight without a doubt. Mr. Preus' candidacy is finding favor, though it must be admitted that Henry Rines has the inside of the track at present.

Brown's Valley Tribune: William E. Lee has come forward with an elimination scheme in the governorship matter. We remember very distinctly when Mr. Lee did not look very friendly on such a proposition, made to himself and E. T. Young by another candidate for the governorship. But the longer we live the more we should learn, and Mr. Lee is showing signs of improvement.

Mr. Gordon, the editor of the Brown's Valley Tribune, was a candidate mentioned; so it will be seen by his last sentence that he is really magnanimous.

Hinckley Enterprise: The Cambridge North Star says: "Mr. Manahan's friends are explaining that the stress of the storm of 1912 was so great that it turned the coat on his political back." The North Star might also have stated the exigencies of 1913 turned him from the Fifth district to a summer cottage in the new Tenth in order that he could be a candidate for congress. But the North Star sizes the siutation up right when it concludes with "present indications are that the 1914 cyclone will turn his face to the wall."

Well, while it is none of our business, such things have happened that men in much the same position as Mr. Manahan have been returned to congress. However, that is no sign that it will happen in this case.

Wahkon Enterprise: It is altogether likely that the state auditorship will continue to be a Preus-less position.

The pun—while puns are almost inexcusable—is fair; but it is rather rash to make the guess you do. Whoever goes against "Jake" Preus will have no business loafing in his campaign. It will be a real fight, with the odds favoring Henry Rines.

Brainerd Tribune: Friends of Senator Clapp claim that he stands a good chance for the Progressive presidential nomination in 1916, and that in any event he is very likely to be given the second place on the ticket. And the Republicans of Minnesota will be only too glad to unload him on the Bull Moosers, or any other old party. He certainly is not a Republican, whatever he may be—or may have been.

If he is offered either of the nominations mentioned you can lay a bet on it you will not need to guess about his affiliations any more.

Sauk Center Herald: The Sixth district of Minnesota is a Republican district; it does not believe in nor stand for the recent Democratic tariff or financial legislation. Yet it is not now, nor has it been for the last four years, represented by a Republican in congress. In the coming congressional election it is the duty of the Republicans to get together and agree on a candidate who is in sympathy with the sentiment of the district, and then all get behind him and see that he is nominated, and, we presume, elected.

Another whack at Lindbergh. Well the Progressive love-feast that is slated for about Feb. 12 may settle the Lindbergh candidacy for the Sixth. But it is almost as certain as death and taxes that if Lindbergh is not chosen as the bull moose candidate for governor he will be after his old job.

Fairmont Sentinel: The Democratic party of Minnesota better go down in a hundred defeats than surrender even once to the elements that defeated James Gray for governor.

Mr. Day is still smarting under that defeat and refuses to be reconciled. And there are many others whose memories are long enough to cost Dan Lawler numerous votes. It will be a case of chickens coming home to roost.

WILL HELP ALL THE SUFFRAGE OPPONENTS.

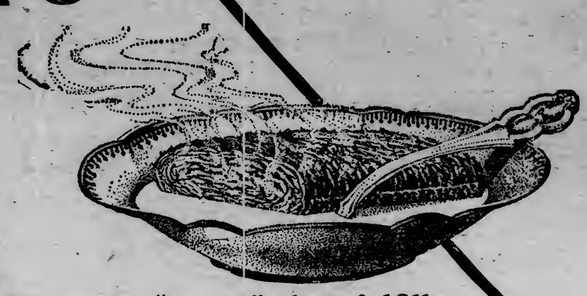

Washington, Jan. 19—Active support for members of congress who may be opposed by women suffragists in their campaigns for re-election on account of their attitude toward the movement for a suffrage amendment to the Federal Constitution, is promised at the headquarters of the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

Leaders in the Suffrage Congressional union announced that every congressman who voted against the proposed amendment would have organized opposition from the women.

Movies in the Schools.

New York, Jan. 19.—Moving pictures with 3 cents as the price of admission, are to be given in the East side public schools, it is announced by Dr. William H. Maxwell, city superintendent of schools. The "blood and thunder" views will be omitted, and pictures of an instructive character will be interspersed with innocent and diverting photo-plays.

"Eat More Bread"

Of course you should "eat more bread"—and less meat—but be sure your "bread" contains all the body-building material in the whole wheat, prepared in digestible form. The only "bread" that fulfills all these requirements is

Shredded Wheat

It is made of whole wheat, steam-cooked, shredded and baked. It is a natural, elemental food and is not treated or compounded with anything. Its purity, cleanliness and food value stand unchallenged, being endorsed by the highest health and dietetic authorities in the United States and Canada. Every grocer sells it.

Always heat the Biscuit in oven to restore crispness. Two Shredded Wheat Biscuits with hot milk or cream will supply all the energy needed for a half day's work. Deliciously nourishing when eaten in combination with baked apples, stewed prunes, sliced bananas or canned or preserved fruits. Try toasted Triscuit, the Shredded Wheat wafer, for luncheon with butter, cheese or marmalade.

Made only by The Shredded Wheat Company, Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Heating of Street Cars

It is doubtful if many of the persons who complain of the way street cars are heated have given more than a passing thought to the difficulties of the problem.

There is nothing quite so hard to heat as a street car. This is particularly true when low temperature is accompanied by a high wind. Thus far no means has been invented for keeping the air just inside the constantly opening door or close to the walls, which are practically all glass, from sixty to ninety degrees warmer than the air immediately outside, as sometimes seems to be expected.

Our cars are heated by means of hot water which is the most satisfactory method known for this climate. Most passengers keep on their heavy outdoor clothing while riding in street cars in cold weather and a temperature as high as that maintained in our homes and offices would be very uncomfortable to them. We instruct our employes to keep the temperture in the cars as near 60 degs. as possible at all times, but this is not possible when the outside temperature is below zero with a strong wind blowing.

We wish to remind those who are familiar with the operation of hot water heating systems in their homes that the rapid circulation which they are able to secure by placing the heater at a considerably lower level than the radiating surfaces cannot be obtained in a car. In a car the radiating surfaces must necessarily be placed below the level of the heater and this is a serious handicap in obtaining good circulation.

While hot water heaters are, all things considered, by far the most efficient for heating cars in this climate things sometimes go wrong with them, as would be the case with any other system. The causes of trouble are sometimes such as cannot be foreseen by the management nor controlled by the employes and sometimes due to an attempt to force the circulation too rapidly by the motorman, but the usual result in either case is a poor circulation and a cold car with a hot fire in the heater.

If under such circumstances the employes increase the fire in the heater in response to the requests they always get from passengers to "fire up" it results in mixing steam with the water, shutting off the circulation entirely and sometimes in blowing all of the water in the heater out through the safety valve on the roof of the car. When the circulation has been stopped by such forcing the only way to make the car warm again is to allow the fire to go down and then to rebuild it slowly, re-establishing the circulation of water very slowly without getting steam mixed with it by attempting to force it. To do this the car is pulled into the car house but often while it is completing a long trip, or before it can be exchanged for a warm car, many pasengers are likely to ride upon it and suffer more or less from the cold. We are using every effort to make such cases as rare as possible and we believe that our employes generally observe our instructions to notify the office promptly when they have a car which it is necessary to take off the line to get the heating system working properly again. It is possible that employes may sometimes neglect to do this and for that reason we are always glad to have passsengers promptly notify our office when they find cars unusually cold. We always make it a point to have cars looked after at the very first opportunity.

STEEL TRADE IMPROVING

Mills That Were Closed Being Reopened—Orders Are Increasing.

Further extensions in steel plant operations are reported at the leading centers and as a result of improved inquiry, quotations in some lines are beginning to stiffen.

Official announcement has been made that additional open-hearth furnaces will be placed in operation at the Farrell works of the Carnegie Steel company during the present week. The resumption of these works will mean the putting to work of a large number of extra men.

The Illinois Steel company is reemploying men at South Chicago, where activity at its No. 1 mill which is among the largest in the world and at its bessemer converting mill, will restore employment to about 3,000 men. Only one small rail mill was in operation during December. The superintendent of the plant intimates that practically all the men laid off last month will be working again within a few days, and he thinks that by February practically every department will be running.

At the present rate of orders, it is expected that the United States Steel corporation will show an increase in unfilled tonnage in January for the first time since December, 1912. The company reports an increase in the placing of orders since Jan. 1 due to the depleted stocks all over the country. Several of the trunk line railroads are said to be actively negotiating for their year's requirements, which, if all placed, will mean about 300,000 tons of rails.

Steel prices are reported firm at present at from $1 to $1.50 per ton above the low price of the last three months.

The Pittsburg Steel company, after operating at 60 per cent capacity for the past three months, resumed full operation today, giving employment to 5,000 men.

NEED SAWMILL ON WORK FARM

Supt. Ward Will Begin Logging Operations in Short Time.

A portable sawmill is needed for the new joint county and city work farm, according to Fred Ward, superintendent.

"We want to start operations as soon as we can," said Mr. Ward, "and I am trying hard to find a saw mill now. We are looking for a lath and shingle mill as well so that there will be no waste in the timber which is being cut. The timber on the work farm is excellent and will make good lumber.

"As soon as enough snow falls, the logs will be hauled into camp where we hope to establish the mill. A long runway is now being provided."

Supt. Ward now has a crew of twelve prisoners at work on the farm and he declares that they are willing workers.

THIS WEEK'S WEATHER

Washington, Jan. 19.—Unsettled weather will prevail during the first part of the week over much of the country, but the latter part will be generally fair, the weather bureau announced in its weekly weather forecast.

"In the plains states and the Northwest," the official bulletin says, "snows or rains with continued high temperatures are probable by Tuesday or Wednesday, followed by fair and colder weather during the second half of the week.

"East of the Missouri river, the weather will be unsettled with snows or rains during much of the week, except that it will be generally fair during Monday or Tuesday in the North Central valleys and on Tuesday and Wednesday in the lake region and the Atlantic states.

"It will be warmer Monday over the central portion of the country, and on Tuesday in the east and south. No unusually cold weather is indicated at present for any portion of the country."

MAKE RETURNS ON INCOMES OF $2,500.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Individuals whose net income from March 1, 1913, to Dec. 31, 1913, was $2,500 or more must make returns of their annual net income for the year, according to a regulation just issued by the treasury department. The tax for 1913 is assessed only for the ten months mentioned. Hereafter only persons having incomes of $3,000 or more must make returns.

Aeronaut Drowns.

Tampa, Fla., Jan. 19.—Arthur E. Perry, an aeronaut, said to have formerly been a member of the army aviation corps, was drowned here Sunday when his parachute landed in the Hillsborough river. He jumped from a baloon when at a height of about 1,000 feet.

LIVE SPORTING GOSSIP

By BRUCE

IS the Duluth Ski club going to hold a tournament here during the present year? Those who can answer are requested to hold aloft the right hand. Maybe the weather has had something to do with the general apathy of the members of the organization, for so far as can be ascertained there has been nothing done as yet along the thorny path of preparation for a meet the present season.

And in the meantime Askel Holter, the secretary of the National association, is deluging the mail with the pamphlets of the association, and adding by way of coy contrast that while the association was never in so healthy and prosperous a condition as now—still Duluth is missed and sorely missed, and that the time is ripe for making this city the permanent headquarters of the national tournament.

Personally we have rather admired the stand taken by the officials and members of the Duluth Ski association. But it is the truth, pathetic as it may be, that since the withdrawal of the local association from the National Ski association, the great tournaments of the past have not been repeated.

Situated as it is, Duluth is the geographical center of the sport world of this northern tier of three states. In the ski sport this town has since the memory of man been pre-eminent in the ski world. Our great winter ski tournaments were talked of in New Orleans and San Diego. Without undue dissertation, it might be stated that some of us would like to see the kind of tournaments of the past held here in the future.

The idea suggested by the past secretary of the Northwestern Curling association, Fred W. Hargreaves, and which given considerable prominence in the sporting columns of The Herald, anent the holding of a great winter sport week in Duluth, fits in well with the plan of making Duluth the permanent home of the National Ski tournament.

Fristensky Is Coming.

LIKE a meteor Gustav Fristensky has burst upon the heavens of the wrestling world, the brilliancy of his preformance causing a streak of light to follow in the wake of the gigantic foreign invader.

And why Gustav Fristensky? One of the reasons why—they have been wrestling the Paris tournament in the catch-as-catch-can style. For two years, according to the information that has come to light, the wonderfully constructed athlete who looks like the greatest wrestler of recent years, has been quietly learning the tricks and science of the American style of wrestling.

Americus was the first American selected to try the mettle of the big Bohemian. The greatest American grappler outside of Gotch, as is claimed by some, was chosen to try the mettle of the man who came over here with the reputation of being a marvel.

Promoters figured that if Fristensky was merely a lemon, it would be well to ascertain this fact early in the game.

"Americus will trick the Bohemian into a fall," cried the followers of the game.

Such was not the case—distinctly not. The Bohemian surprised the skeptic followers of the game, by exhibiting a knowledge of the catch-as-catch-can style nearly equal to the vast knowledge of Americus, and Americus and Beell and Farmer Burns, leaving Gotch out of the argument, are the three most scientific mat men in the world.

Raoul De Rouen, the gigantic Frenchman, is another of the foreign wrestlers who has become an adept at the American style of wrestling. Yussif Mahmout was awkward and clumsy when he first came to this country. Later he developed into one of the marvels of the mat. Zbyszko is now versed in all of the tricks of the catch-as-catch-can game, but in his contest with Gotch the marvelous American tricked the Pole into opening after opening.

But now comes the latest and some say the greatest foreigner the Old World has sent us, and lo and behold he is singularly versed in the tricks and science of the game that the Americans have held a monopoly on.

All of this simply means that with the greatest wrestlers of Europe learning our own game the supremacy of the United States is destined to be short lived unless there is some new and wonderful American heavyweight in the making.

Mike and Packey.

WILL this be a great fight? That's hard to say. It ought to be one of the greatest, yes, no? Yes; but then you remember that the enthusiasm that was raised over the meeting between Gibbons and McGoorty and again when the match was made between McFarland and Britton. These bouts failed to live up to the prospectus.

Michael, the St. Paul Turk, and Patrick McFarland, the Turk of the Chicago end, are two of the greatest of the modern day boxers. Some come and shout in your ear that Jimmy Clabby is a replica of Kid McCoy and is greater than either Gibbons or McFarland—but let that go.

If McFarland and Gibbons open up, the garden quarrel should be one of the classics of the ring. Both men are marvels when it comes to the exercise of all the angles that go to make boxing a beautiful thing to look upon—when the boxers are real boxers.

Some say Gibbons is the faster with his feet and McFarland the faster with his hands. Others hold that Gibbons can wallop harder. These are some of the arguments that have been fought out along lines of liquid research.

A slugger as a rule knows little craftiness and is therefore literally forced to go out and bombard. With the really clever boxer the case is quite different. Caution is generally part and parcel of the clever mittman, and for that logical reason bouts between some of the cleverest men of the ring have not been filled with enough action to suit the followers of the game.

To do justice to Gibbons it should be really stated that he was an ill man the evening he fought Eddie McGoorty at the garden. Marty Forkins, then the manager of McGoorty, told us with enthusiasm beaming in his eyes, that Gibbons was one of the greatest fighters of all times—"And don't let anyone tell you different," he admonished.

Let us hope that Mike and Packey open up and give us an answer to the question that has been agitating some of the fans since the evening that Mike gave Willie Lewis his second beating.

NEW YACHT WILL DEFY TRADITION

Lipton's Cup Challenger Will Ignore Precedent and Will Be of Most Radical Type—Will Reach American Waters in June—Race Begins Sept. 10.

New York, Jan. 19.—Although much secrecy surrounds the plans and building of Shamrock IV., American yachtsmen with English connections are securing various items of information, which, taken in the aggregate, indicate that Sir Thomas Lipton's cup challenger will be the last word in European yacht building. Designer Charles Nicholson, appears to have broken the shackles of English tradition and conservatism with the result that there is building at Gosport a 75-foot racing craft embodying so many radical departures from the conventional type that the average English gentleman skipper is aghast.

While neither Sir Thomas nor Nicholson will affirm or deny the reports relative to the structural details, it is generally accepted both here and abroad that Shamrock IV will prove a most formidable challenger when tuned up and ready for the first race of the international regatta on Sept. 10. The belief is borne out by recent optimistic statements attributed to both the owner and designer.

That this policy is being carried out to the letter, is apparent from the occasional fragments of information that emanate from Gosport despite the rigid rule of secrecy that prevails concerning the building of the cup challenger. When pieced together, they would appear to indicate that Shamrock IV will be the abnormal type with a lead keel of approximately sixty tons, extraordinary overhang, centerboard and tremendous spread of canvas. The mast, which may or may not be of "Marconi's type," will be the largest ever stepped in a cup challenger, length of waterline considered, and capable of carrying many thousand square feet of sail area.

The yacht will be launched early in April, according to the present schedule and will be in reacing trim by May. With W. P. Burton in charge and Capt. Gould as skipper, a series of preliminary trials will be sailed. Under favorable conditions the challenger should be reported in American waters late in June with two months at the disposal of the challenging yacht, owner and skipper for the final preparations of the blue ribbon sea classic of 1914.

BOXING ARENA

Superior, Tuesday, Jan. 20th. The first big heavyweight contest ever staged in the Northwest. Fred Fulton of Minneapolis vs. Mike Burns, New Orleans; ten rounds, at 215 pounds; and two other good contests. 8:30 p. m. Admission, $1.00, $1.50 and $2.00.

RIFLE MATCH RESULTS.

Several Ties in Intercollegiate and Interclub Shoots.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Results for the second week's match of the National Rifle association's collegiate championship of the United States finds the Massachusetts aggies, West Virginia, California and Michigan agricultural tied for first place with clean scores in class A. In the second class, Cornell, the naval academy, and Washington State are tied for first place. In class C., Illinois and Pennsylvania lead.

In class A, the Massachusetts Agricultural shot 957 to Minnesota's 945, and in class B, Columbia defaulted to Wisconsin, which shot 986.

The District of Columbia and Warren, Pa., are tied for first place in class A of the interclub rifle matches, each having four wins and no defeats. In class B three teams are tied for first place, Stillwater, Minn.; Kings Mills, Ohio, and Bedford, Ohio, each with four wins and no defeats. District of Columbia made the highest score this week, making 994 out of a possible 1,000.

ADAMS MEN ARE LEADERS

Duluth Pin Spillers Still at Head of League Teams.

The Adams Bowling team of this city remains in the lead of the Twin Ports Bowling league. The Adams pin spillers went into the lead from the jump-off and have never been dislodged.

In the individual standing the first eight leaders of the league are Duluth bowlers. The Adams also lead in high pin average.

STILL SIGNING BIG LEAGUERS

Federals Continue Raid—Financial Backers Declare They Are Satisfied.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—The Federal league continued its raid on the preserves of organized baseball yesterday, it was announced by President Gilmore, but in accordance with a statement issued after the meeting of Saturday, the names of men signed were not announced.

The forces of organized baseball, who held a secret meeting here Saturday, declined to give out anything that took place. President Johnson of the American league officially denied that the St. Louis Americans had been offered to Weeghman as an inducement to him to refrain from attacking the major leagues.

The fate of the new Federal league, so far as the support of two of its principal backers, Charles Weeghman and W. M. Walker of Chicago, is concerned, hung in the balance at its meeting here Saturday. At an executive session, reports from the club owners were presented to satisfy the demands of Weeghman and Walker: "Teams to enter the campaign next spring must contain lineups of major league caliber." Weeghman declared after a long session, that three clubs, including his own in Chicago, had been shown satisfactory. If three more show the same "class," he said he would be more than satisfied.

Weeghman said three teams were shown strong enough. President Gilmore said five had been considered of major league caliber. Weeghman said he was surprised at the strength of the three teams. He had considered that the Chicago nine was the strongest on paper, in the league, but the lineup shown made Baltimore appear the best.

"I am with the league to the end," said Weeghman, "but at least six teams must show the first-class lineup that was agreed upon when I went into the organization."

Sixteen of the promoters of the new league took lunch together, at which time the major league magnate to the contrary notwithstanding, President Gilmore asserted that an eight-club circuit, including Chicago, was a certainty.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 19.—The contract for the grandstand in the local Federal league baseball park has been let to a local contractor. The cost of the stand was estimated at $75,000. The stand will be single deck and will be constructed of steel and concrete.

ADVANCING TOO FAST.

Blake, Boxing Sensation, Being Pushed Too Rapidly for Own Good.

New York, Jan. 19.—A number of the English boxing experts are frank in the expression of their opinion that Bandsman Blake, the latest English pugilistic sensation, is being advanced too rapidly for his own good. Blake sprang into ring prominence as a result of his decisive victory over Dixie Kid the first of the year.

On the strength of this showing he has been matched to meet both Bombardier Wells and Georges Carpentier.

Sam Langford has been matched to box P. O. Curran, twenty rounds, at Luna Park, Paris, on next Saturday night.

FEDERALS WON'T GET TYRUS COBB.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 19.—Ty Cobb will not become a Federal leaguer. This assurance came from Royston, Ga., in a personal telegram from the champion batsman to the sporting editor of a local newspaper, thus setting at rest any speculation as to whether Cobb might desert the Detroit club.

"I will play in Detroit," the telegram reads. "Am satisfied. Navin and I agreed on terms last fall. Federal leaguers offered me terms but my Detroit contract suits me. I would gain nothing by change."

NATIONAL WANTS DULUTH SKI CLUB BACK IN RANKS

To the Sporting Editor of The Herald:

I have mailed you a copy of the Ski-sport, hoping you have found time to glance through it, and hoping, also, that this book has verified my statement to you some time ago that the National association is stronger financially than at any time in our history.

However, we miss Duluth, and we wish to get Duluth back with us again. With Duluth back, the time appears ripe when the national championship tournaments might be placed permanently in Duluth, making Duluth the headquarters for the ski sport of the United States for years to come, and this would work in very nicely with the week of sports to be inaugurated by Duluth next year and ever afterwards.

Owing to the scarcity of snow in this region, some of our scheduled tournaments have had to be postponed. Chicago's for the 18th, postponed indefinitely, likely will be held March 1. Mount Horeb, postponed till Feb. 3, from the original date of Jan. 20. Milwaukee still holds on to Jan. 25, with Stoughton following on Jan. 31. Iola, Wis., Feb. 1, Mount Horeb Feb. 3, Blair, Wis., Feb. 5, Chippewa Falls and Hudson Feb. 18, Glenwood Feb. 10, Fergus Falls Feb. 13, Virginia national Feb. 14 and 15, Cameron Feb. 18, Ishpeming Feb. 21, Ironwood and Beloit Feb. 22, Chicago likely March 1 are the dates granted so far, but some may yet be changed, if snow fails to fall before the dates set.

With the new hill, pronounced one of the very finest in the circuit, at Virginia, the expert riders, including Ragnar Omtvedt and Alf. Knudtson, just over from Norway, should come close to the 169-foot mark established at Ironwood by Omtvedt last season. The Nor club of Chicago will go to Virginia in a body and will spend some time in Duluth on the way up, as well as when they return. There will be 150 delegates and skiers in attendance, most of whom will pass through Duluth on the morning of Feb. 14, taking the 10 a. m. Canadian Northern to Virginia, but a good many will be leaving for the Missaba town on the 7:30 evening train Feb. 13. The amateur run will be held on Feb. 14 and also the cross country run, while the main event, the professional contests, will be held on Sunday, Feb. 15, when the big attendance will be in line. The convention will be held on Saturday evening, Feb. 14. There will be a big delegation from Ironwood and Ashland to the tournament and the Northwest will be generously represented.

WHITE HOPES WILL MEET

Fred Fulton, the Minneapolis policeman who has joined the lists of the white hopes, and Mike Burns, whom Curley Ulrich claims is from New Orleans, will meet tomorrow evening in a ten-round bout before the Ulrich club.

Fulton weighs 190 pounds, according to the statement from Minneapolis, and has met Ben Tremblo and several other of the fighters of the Twin Cities. The large officer is said to pack a wallop.

Little is known of Burns here. According to the announcement of the promoter, Ulrich, the winner will be pitted against Al Palzer.

Kid Coffey and Young Papke will meet in the semi-windup and Young Billings and Young Harvey will meet in the curtain raiser.

WHEELER SIGNS TWO STARS FOR FLICKERS.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 19.—Playing Manager Wheeler of the Grand Forks baseball club has signed Lawrence Davis, a Notre Dame pitching phenom, and Leo Kerin, a catcher, for the local Northern league club, announcement being made to that effect. Davis is highly recommended by Wheeler, who has seen him in action on several occasions. Grand Forks will have some trouble signing Hal Chase, "Dutch" Altman and Carter Wilson, members of last year's squad, to whom contracts carrying the same salaries as were given last year were presented. They declare they are out for more money and have so far refused to come in.

New Running Record.

Juarez, Mex., Jan. 19—Bonne Chance, Maj. Jefferson Livingston's great racing mare, established a new world's record for a circular track when she ran one mile on the Juarez Jockey club course here yesterday afternoon in 1:37.

FANS COMING FOR MAT BOUTS

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Both Martinson and Costello are trained to the minute for their bouts with Fristensky and Ivan Mamutoff at Duluth on Wednesday. The men will leave for Duluth with their managers and trainers this evening. Fully twenty wrestling fans from this city will accompany the party to the Zenith City to witness the elimination contest that will decide the opponents of the grand finals of the international tournament to be completed in New York on the evening of March 2.

The Garden Athletic club has offered a large purse for the winners of the Fristensky-Martinson and Ivan Mamutoff-Costello contests.

GOLF STROKE ANALYSIS.

George Duncan Leads the World's Professional Players.

New York, Jan. 19.—In a stroke analysis of the leading foreign and American professional golfers for the season of 1913, George Duncan leads with an average of 75.4. Seven prominent tournaments were selected as the basis for the summary, including the American, English, French and Belgian championships.

Duncan played in five tournaments for a total of ten rounds and 754 strokes. Edward Ray was second with three tournaments for a total of 761 strokes in ten rounds for an average of 76.1.

MILITIA MEN SCALE WALL IN 41 SECONDS.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 19.—Members of Company K, Fifth regiment, Maryland National guard, completed the wall-scaling novelty event in the unusual time of 41 seconds in an athletic carnival here Saturday. The event was contested under the usual regulations, with the exception of timing, two instead of three watches being held. This fact prevents the local company's claiming a record. The present mark is 47 seconds, held by a squad in Seattle, Wash.

Governing Boards Meet.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 19.—Representatives of the governing boards of the different colleges and universities in the Missouri valley conference met here today to discuss problems which have arisen during the past year. Discussion and action on the rule prohibiting football games on any field other than that of one of the contesting colleges, was expected.

Greyhound Futurity List.

Red Oak, Iowa, Jan. 19.—The entry list of the national greyhound futurity closes with a total of 257 entries. The greyhound futurity is a stake for puppies running their first season and is the annual event of the National Futurity Coursing club. The meeting will be held in October, but the place has not yet been named.

DULUTH RINKS WIN TWO OF THE TROPHY EVENTS

Dinham Wins Western and Brewer-Whytes Capture Patrick-Duluth.

McLeod, Quinn and Carson Are Winners; Brother Against Brother.

With the final game in the Minneapolis event to be played this evening between the two Gates brothers, Joel and Clough, the twenty-first annual spiel of the Northwestern Curling association came to an end on Saturday with the windup of the Duluth, Patrick, Western, St. Paul, International and consolation events.

The finals of the Ordway event will be played out on the range.

John McLeod of Minneapolis wins the Duluth event, the hard-fighting curlers of the Mill city beating out McNabb of Grand Rapids in the final of this event.

The crack Carson rink of Winnipeg gets the first prize in the St. Paul Jobbers' event, winning from Joel Gates in the final game.

Linham of Duluth and McNabb of Grand Rapids came into the finals of the Western Curling club event, Dinham winning the final game through the forfeiture of the genial Scot of the furniture town, McNabb having left before the time set for the playing of the final.

West Duluth Wins.

Young Tom Quinn of West Duluth brought joy to the followers of the game in West Duluth by winning the first prize in the consolation. The playing of Quinn, one of the youngest skips in the spiel, featured this event all the way through.

The Brewer-Whites took first place in the Patrick-Duluth event. In this regard this combination was extremely fortunate. A forfeit was drawn from Williams in the eights, Langtry in the fours and McLeod of Minneapolis in the finals.

Good ice and keen competition marked the closing day of the spiel. The contest between McNabb and McLeod for the finals of the Duluth event was a corker, the Minneapolis rink winning out by one point. Likewise the contest between McIvor and Carson in the semi-finals of the St. Paul Jobbers' event was some exhibition.

Gates Show Form.

Some tribute is coming to the Gates brothers of Superior Clough won the grand aggregate, winning from McLeod by the score of 7 to 6 in the game that decided the event.

Joel Gates is tied in the final of the Minneapolis event with big Brud Clough, and like the winner of the grand aggregate, Joel has been some shucks all the way through the week.

Krauth of Phillips won the international late Saturday night.

PRIZE WINNERS

In all events the four rinks that reach the semi-finals are considered "in the jewelry class." The second prize goes to the rink that is defeated in the final round. The third prize goes to the rink that is put out in the semi-finals by the ultimate winner of the event and the fourth prize to the rink put out by the runner up.

CLEARING HOUSE FOR ALL AMERICAN TRADE

Copley of Illinois Proposes Scheme for the Canal Zone.

Washington, Jan. 19.—A project for making part of the Panama canal zone a free trade territory with a view to establishing there a sort of clearing house of North, Central and South American commerce, is being worked out by Representative Copley of Illinois, who will shortly present it to congress in the form of a bill. The plan is along the general lines of a free zone arrangement tried out in Hamburgh, Hongkong and Singapore.

Mr. Copley, who recently returned from a trip to Panama, has discussed the scheme with various officials and members of congress. He said he believed after the canal has been in operation for five years, all nations will be ready to agree that there shall be joint action to protect the canal, and that the United States have exclusive right to it as one belligerent in the case of any war with any other power. By that time, he added, there will be no reason why warehouses should not be built in the zone by manufacturers in the United States.

"A few manufacturers," Mr. Copley said, "could get together and send a full cargo of goods, put them into a warehouse, and from there ship to all parts of the world. Young men trained by business houses and taught the Spanish language could be sent to the various cities of South and Central America to induce merchants to go to Panama to inspect the wares from the United States. This project would open up a great commercial field and a splendid opportunity for great and small business."

Girl Gets Marriage License Under Wrong Name and Age.

Because 17-year-old Florence Nordstrom represented herself to be 18 years old and gave her name as Flora Nord when she applied for a license to marry Arthur Manke of St. Paul on Dec. 16 last, she was obliged Saturday to bring her parents to the courthouse to make affidavits as to the age of their daughter and to straighten out the tangle.

A new license was issued to the young woman and she will be remarried to her husband. The girl's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Victor Nordstrom.

FINAL TOUCHES ARE PUT ON WILSON'S TRUST MESSAGE

President Will Read His Views to Congress Tuesday.

Wants Free Discussion By All Interests Affected.

Washington, Jan. 19.—President Wilson has put the finishing touches on the message dealing with anti-trust reform which he will read to a joint session of congress Tuesday.

The message will be the opening utterance by the administration on the scope of legislation which it believes should be enacted promptly, not only to correct those evils in modern business generally depreciated by public opinion, but to construct a system of government assistance that would stimulate business enterprise and development.

Free criticism and expression of opinion on the trust program by all interests concerned is desired by Mr. Wilson, and he thinks the hearings, instead of delaying, will facilitate the passage of the bills.

Points Covered.

Summed up, the administration program on trust reform for the present session of congress, covers the following points:

First—Supplemental legislation to the Sherman anti-trust law. President Wilson, members of his cabinet and many of the leaders in congress are agreed that the Sherman law itself should not be altered a single syllable. Without amending the Sherman law, certain additions are intended in no way contravening the force of the act, yet clarifying it by enumerating in separate laws those practices which have come to be known as wrong.

Second—The prohibition of interlocking directorates. It is intended not only to prevent the multiple control of corporations, but the exercise through "dummy" directors of an identity of interest by a corporation or corporations in concerns doing a cognate business.

Trade Commission.

Third—The creation of an interstate trade commission linked with a bureau of corporations, to furnish information to the business world, and at the same time act as a board of conciliation in helping corporations to adjust themselves to the mandates of the law. It would assist the courts in carrying out decrees of dissolution, and would exercise no quasi-judicial functions. It would, however, have a court's power of inquisition.

Fourth—The prohibition of holding companies. Corporations or individuals would not be able, under proposed legislation, to be interested through the holding of shares, or otherwise, in the business of actual or potential competitors or concerns doing a cognate business, and the grouping of non-competitive corporations would be permitted only after the interstate trade commission, through its powers of inquisition, would have determined that no restraint of trade or monopoly could ensue.

Supervision of Issues.

Fifth—The supervision by the interstate commerce commission of the issuance by railroads of stocks and bonds and the uses to which funds so obtained are put. Legislation granting additional powers along this line to the interstate commerce commission is being drafted by Representative Adamson, chairman of the house committee on commerce, with the assistance, it is understood, of Commissioner Prouty. This subject is expected to develop considerable debate, for while the supervision of railroad stock issues is already practiced by state commissions, there are varying opinions among some of the administration advisers as to the success of the method.

Sixth—Individuals to benefit by government suits. At present a person or corporation injured through an alleged unlawful combination is required to prove the illegality of the combination. Legislation is intended permitting the parties aggrieved to use as a basis for their damage suits whatever adjudications the government may have secured in civil or criminal proceedings.

Punish Individuals.

Seventh—Provision for the punishment of individual offenders. In all the legislation planned by the administration, it is proposed to include penalties not only for the persons at the head of corporations practicing unlawful acts, but for those individuals responsible for the direction of unlawful restraints on trade.

BIG HUMANITARIAN PROBLEM INVOLVED

Government's Plan to Withdraw the Radium-Bearing Lands.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The reported opposition of the people of Colorado to the government's plan to withdraw from further appropriation the radium-bearing lands upon the public domain within that state is hardly credited by Representative Foster, chairman of the house committee on mines and mining. It is the purpose of the government to have the carnotite ores in these lands mined and the radium extracted for the treatment of cancer and other malignant diseases in the hospitals of the country. The fear is expressed that if this step is not taken, these deposits will become the basis of private speculation and that the radium, when obtained, will be sold at almost prohibitive prices. This, it is claimed, has been the manner of exploitation so far, and the result is that the United States, although having almost a world monopoly of the radium-bearing ores, has less radium for the treatment of its hundreds of thousands of sufferers from cancer, than any prominent country of Europe.

In a statment issued today, Mr. Foster, said: "In view of the tremendous humanitarian problem involved, I cannot believe that the good people of Colorado will oppose a plan which seeks to stop the terrible ravages of a disease that is levying a toll of 75,000 human beings every year in the United States. I find it impossible to believe that any considerable number of the citizens of Colorado can be back of any such movement, unless they have been woefully misled by a few.

"I am told that an additional half gram of radium will mean the saving of a human life every day in the year. Isn't that worth striving for?

"Some of those who are against the withdrawal of these lands are saying that it is another plan of the conservationists; it means the locking up of the lands; the killing of a great industry. The only conservation involved is the conservation of 75,000 human lives in a year's time; the conservation of the 600 lives yearly in the state of Colorado. Instead of the locking up of the land and the killing of a great industry, the plan means the immediate development of the land and the fostering of an industry, not a great industry, for the mining of carnotite will never amount to that.

"No, I cannot believe that any serious opposition to the withdrawal of a few acres of carnotite lands will come from the people of Colorado. Instead, I expect that they will soon realize, if they do not now, that they have the greatest humanitarian opportunity that has ever been given to a state."

CITY REVENUE FROM LIQUOR

Saloon Licenses Paid the City $182,000 During the Year 1913.

Total Revenue From All Licenses Was Nearly $200,000.

The city revenue from liquor licenses during 1913 was $182,000, according to the annual report of City Clerk Charles S. Palmer.

The receipts from miscellaneous licenses were $15,278.50, bringing the total revenue from license sources up to $197,278.50.

The fees collected by the clerk for the issuance of these licenses were $1,816.45, which was turned into the general fund together with the license fees. The aggregate revenue derived from both licenses and fees was therefore $199,094.95.

Comparing the record of 1913 with the other years, the dog license receipts show the greatest increase. Last year 1909 licenses were issued for male dogs and 81 for females, returning a revenue of $2,213, which is swelled to $2,810.25 including the fees of 25 cents each. Other years the revenue, roughly speaking, ran about one-fourth that amount. The increase was due to the passage of the new dog ordinance and the hiring of a dog catcher. The dog license total for 1913 stands next to the liquor license receipts.

SUICIDE PROVES TO BE ARKANSAS MAN

Woman Who Posed as His Niece May Be Wife of Farmer.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 19.—Local authorities announce that the identity of the man who, with a woman companion, committed suicide by shooting here Friday night, is established. They also feel certain of the woman's identity.

The man, they say, is A. H. Hammett, wanted as absconding treasurer of Cross county, Arkansas. The woman is believed to have been Miss Sallie Blanche Wood Shoemaker. Both lived at Winne, Ark., county seat of Cross county. Both were known here by the name of Wood, and they were supposed to be uncle and niece. It was reported that the man was once an associate justice of the Tennessee supreme court.

The dead man's cuff links were marked "A. H. H." Edward Roberts, a friend, who was present when the double suicide occurred, told the police that all mail for Wood was forwarded here from Los Angeles by Edward A. Jordan of that town, who changed the name from whatever it was to Wood.

Woman Was Farmer's Wife.

Wynne, Ark., Jan. 19. — Relatives here of A. H. Hammett, formerly treasurer of Cross county, were informed that the body of the man known as A. H. Woods, who killed himself in San Francisco Friday, had been identified as that of Hammett, who disappeared from Wynne a year and a half ago, and against whom indictments subsequently were returned charging embezzlement of county funds.

Hammett left Wynne two days before his term as treasurer expired. It is alleged that a shortage of $32,000 was found after his disappearance.

The woman who killed herself at the time Hammett committed suicide is believed to have been the wife of a farmer of this county who left her home shortly after Hammett disappeared.

Eight Bishops Bar Tango.

Paris, Jan. 19.—The edict of Cardinal Amette, archbishop of Paris, forbidding the dancing of the tango as a sin that must be confessed and for which penance must be done, is causing a storm of protest against the tango and immodest dress throughout the French provinces. The bishops of eight dioceses have put the ban on the tango within a few days.

FORM WELFARE LEAGUE IN PRISON.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 19.—Prominent prison workers witnessed the installation here Sunday of a prison Mutual Welfare league of forty-nine convicts, elected by the 1,400 men inmates of the Auburn penitentiary. It is the first time in prison history here that the convicts have formed an association to aid in their own regeneration.

By the organization of the Mutual Welfare league, it is expected the inmates will be permitted to earn privileges, to utilize leisure time in self-betterment, to share in a measure in the maintenance of discipline and make suggestions to aid in their reformation.

The inmates of the women's prison have asked to be allowed to form a similar league, and Matron Daly has consented.

GAMBLING "LID" FOR DEER RIVER

Village to Stop Youth Taking Chances in Candy Stores.

Deer River, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—On complaint of school board members the village authorities are making an effort to stop the various forms of gambling among young men and boys going on in the candy stores.

Since midnight Wednesday the village has been in darkness owing to the electric plant having shut down for repairs. It is expected the plant will be in shape to run again by the fore part of this week.

The First National bank stockholders held their annual meeting and re-elected the following directors: F. P. Sheldon, A. G. Wedge, Jr., W. R. Wallace and J. Mohr. S. J. Moran remains as cashier and Miss Mattie Tellin as assistant.

Ed Nelson of Deer Lake returned last week from Decorah, Iowa, where he was called to attend the funeral of his mother, who died suddenly of heart disease.

A number of ladies of the local chapter Eastern Star attended installation meeting at Grand Rapids Wednesday evening. Some were accompanied by their husbands.

Log hauling over the Minneapolis & Rainy River was begun Tuesday, but owing to lack of money full hauling schedule has not yet been inaugurated.

To Start Veneer Factory.

A number of stockholders of the Northern Veneering company of Spring Valley, Wis., now erecting a factory here, were here last week making arrangements for operations for spring when the plant will be ready to start up.

The Modern Woodmen lodge will give its annual ball on Feb. 26. Roecker's orchestra of four pieces of Grand Rapids has been engaged for the occasion.

J. M. Jones, an old Deer River resident who recently entered the hotel business at Chisholm, was here Wednesday looking after business matters.

A son was born Jan. 10 to Mr. and Mrs. Chris Johnson and to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Payne of Ballclub.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Kenfield and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kenfield of Bemidji were guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. F. Scofield.

Stringing wires for seven miles of the new North Ballclub telephone line will begin this week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Kirke of Harvey, N. D., are new arrivals who will make their home on land they purchased four miles north of town a year ago. They will build at once and stock up on the farm. Mr. and Mrs. Burke have for several years been conducting the Soo restaurant at Harvey.

SALOON MAN MUST ANSWER CHARGES

Evelethian Alleged to Have Given Liquor to Boy Aged 17.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The case against Louis Baudex, saloon keeper at 116 Grand avenue, who was arrested on Saturday afternoon charged with having sold liquor to a minor is attracting much attention.

Tony Kovcich, a young Austrian, 17, was found in the Baudex saloon sitting at a table drinking beer when Sergeant Will Emery and Officer Pincus entered the place. Rev. Philip A. Schwarz had been informed that the boy was there and made complaint to the officers. He thereupon swore out a warrant for the arrest of Louis Baudex, who in municipal court pleaded not guilty and was released by Judge Moylan after putting up a personal bond.

The trial is set for Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The warrant was issued under the city ordinance and is the first case of the kind since the new city administration came into power.

MAYOR MURPHY WILL GET INTO CAMPAIGN.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mayor Murphy, who underwent a slight operation in a Chicago hospital recently, returned from the Windy City last night. He will recuperate at his home a few days, then, it is expected, he will get into the municipal campaign and speak for Candidate McGhee of the Progressive faction when their campaign opens up next week.

Thirty candidates have filed for the February election. There are a number of charter amendments to be voted on also. The candidates follow:

Mayor—Michael Boylan, R. J. McGhee, Edward C. A. Johnson.

Treasurer—F. J. Verville, F. C. Whiting, P. S. Engman, Henry Tamminen, Henry Kauppi, F. W. Terrell, John Byrne, A. G. Osborn, G. J. Williams.

Aldermen—First ward, E. F. Murray, D. C. Reed, C. O. Larson; Second ward, Edward Ala, H. H. Lien, Abram Kajanus; Third ward, C. L. Eaton, Fred J. Mollan, Jacob Lackrey, H. W. Rilkonen; Fourth ward, C. M. Dorway, John Dahlin; Fifth ward, J. Arthur Walsh, E. C. Strauss, Emil Lindgren; Sixth ward, Nels Anderson, William Eddy, Thomas A. Moe, Ole Torgerson.

CLAIMS HUSBAND THREATENED HER

Wife of Farmer Living Near Gheen Secures Warrant.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Murder came near being committed in a farmer's home near Gheen, north of here, Saturday night, according to Mrs. John Sundquist, who secured a warrant here today from Judge Cary for the arrest of her husband, John Sundquist, for third degree assault. Mrs. Sundquist claims her spouse came home Saturday night in a beastly state of intoxication, beat her and threatened to kill her, and might have carried out the latter menace if she had not fled. A deputy sheriff left here today to arrest the accused. The woman bore evidences of having been roughly handled.

JURISDICTION OF COURT ATTACKED

City Attorney Asks Nelson Certiorari Writ Be Quashed.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The hearing on the writ of certiorari or review secured by attorneys for S. A. Nelson, who was removed by the city council as police and fire commissioner, came before Judge Hughes in district court this afternoon.

City Attorney Morgan filed a motion to quash the writ on the ground the court lacked jurisdiction as it was a matter in the power of the legislative branch of the city. Nelson's counsel opposed the motion and the counsel argued to some length.

DEER RIVER PAIR HAVE CLOSE CALL

Set Gun Kills Deer in Path Ahead of Them.

Deer River, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—A set gun nearly caused the death of two Deer River men while traveling in the woods about fifty miles south of here. They heard a shot ahead of them and soon came upon a dead deer in the "blind" trail they were traveling. To one side was the gun, a shot gun, and examination of the dead deer showed it had been loaded with buckshot. The men broke the gun into pieces and are trying to find out who set it.

GILBERT PRIEST BUSY.

Six Weddings Are Performed By Him in One Day.

Gilbert, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—This is certainly Father Pirnat's busy day as he has six weddings to perform at St. Joseph's church as follows:

Marcus Katalinich and Mary Bjondich.

Anton Cimmerman and Ludmila Zallar.

John Plaughutnik and Rosie Babich.

Nick Pershe and Annie Gregorich.

John Koncilja and Mary Vrtachnik.

Frank Kastolie and Caroline Koshir.

CAPTURES PRIZES.

Virginia Chicken Fancier Wins in Mill City Show.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. F. Kendall, a local chicken fancier, is back from the Minneapolis bird show, where he captured some prizes. He took first and second prizes for Orpington cocks and first and second for Orpington hens against 1,200 other birds.

MANUAL TRAINING TEACHERS MEET.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Following an address of welcome by J. P. Vaughn, local school superintendent, the bimonthly meeting of the Range Manual Arts association at the Lincoln high school Saturday afternoon, discussed various subjects.

W. F. Anderson of Mountain Iron ably handled the subject, "Wood Finishing." "Forging and Its Place in the Schools" was the subject of J. F. Knowlton of Hibbing. He was followed by A. Y. Peterson, now superintendent of the Chisholm district of the Oliver Mines company but who was formerly president of the board of education here. His subject was "What Is Expected of the Boy Who Comes to the Shop to Work." Earl Garinger of Coleraine presented the subject, "How Much Work Shall Be Done in Our Cabinet-Making Classes." Following the program the high school orchestra furnished music while the members were served by the domestic science classes to a sumptuous lunch.

Eczema Gone! ACNE, Tetter, Rash, Pimples, Carbuncles, Boils—Banished!

It is certainly remarkable how quickly the action of S. S. S. the famous blood purifier, shows itself in the skin.

There is one ingredient in S. S. S. which peculiarly stimulates cellular or glandular activity to select from the blood, or from the fine network of blood vessels in the skin, those elements which it requires for regeneration.

Thus pimples, acne, eczema, lupus, or any other blood condition that attacks the skin or seeks an outlet through the skin is met with the antidotal effect of S. S. S.

This is why skin troubles vanish so readily and why they do not return. Under the influence of S. S. S. this fine network of blood vessels in the skin is constantly selecting from the blood the nutrition required for healthy tissue, and the cause of disease is just as constantly being removed, scattered and rendered harmless.

It is a great mistake to rely upon cathartics to cure pimples or other facial eruptions. Not only do cathartics cause chronic constipation, but they thin the blood of its valuable and essential preservatives.

You will be surprised and delighted at the quick change if you will use S. S. S. the famous blood purifier. Its action in the skin is quite sensational. These facts are most fully explained in a book on skin troubles sent by The Swift Specific Co., 305 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. You will find S. S. S. on sale at all drug stores. Get a bottle to-day and banish all skin afflictions.

When you ask for S. S. S. look out for the common trick of trying to sell you something else. Don't be misled.

OLD BALL PLAYER IS IN HARD LINES.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Stoney" McGlynn, once famous as a baseball pitcher with Capt. Anson's nine in Chicago, asked and secured lodgings at the local jail Saturday night. Sergeant Leighty recognized the one-time ball favorite and helped him. Mr. McGlynn had funds to pay his way to Duluth and left for there today.

To Buy Hibbing Scales.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—An important matter to come before the village council at the regular meeting tomorrow night will be the purchase of village scales for which tenders will be opened. The council will also consider an ordinance governing the regulation of the scales and will designate a weighmaster.

Prosperous Gilbert Church.

Gilbert, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—According to a report by St. Joseph's Catholic church issued last Sunday, a twenty-eight-page booklet, that during the year the debt of the church was reduced by $2,520.67. This is outside of the running expenses of the church and indicates that the people of Gilbert are loyal to the church. This church was built and occupied during the past year and is a great addition to the buildings of Gilbert.

INDIAN'S ARREST LEADS TO OTHERS

Two Nett Lake People Charged With Giving Redskins Drink.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The arrest and pleading guilty of John Day, a Nett Lake Indian, in municipal court here today on a charge of selling moose meat out of season, resulted in the arrest of two men on a charge of giving liquor to Indians.

Frank Noak and Joe La Vieu, the latter a clerk in a Nett Lake hotel, were arrested on a tip given by Day and haled before Judge Brady charged with giving the redskins drink. Both pleaded not guilty and it is expected they will be held to the grand jury as Indian Agent Reagan of the Boise Fort reservation and the other authorities are making war on this giving liquor to Indians.

Mrs. Lindquist, charged with buying the moose meat from the Indian, was also arraigned. She pleaded guilty.

NEARLY LOSES ARM.

Shop Employe at Two Harbors Injured By Saw.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Store Magnuson, a carpenter's helper in the Iron Range car shop, met with a very painful accident in the shop Saturday afternoon when he very nearly had his arm sawed off by a circular saw.

Magnuson, who was running the saw had stopped the machine to pull out a block which had slid in on the opposite side of the saw and which was causing some annoyance, and while he had his arm under the saw, in the act of pulling the block out, he accidentally stepped on the lever which starts the saw in motion, and before he could get the machine stopped his arm was cut part way into the bone.

The safety first squad of the car shops immediately stopped the rush of blood and rushed the man to the Budd hospital, where it was found that the arm could be saved. The saw, where the accident happened, was well equipped with safety appliances.

PLAY TIE GAME.

Duluth and Two Harbors Hockey Players Have Poor Ice.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—On very poor ice the local city hockey team played the Irving Tiger team of Duluth to a 0 to 0 score here yesterday afternoon before one of the largest crowds that has ever turned out to a hockey game in this city, fully 700 people attending.

The rink had been flooded the night before and on account of the mild weather did not freeze, and with the water and cut-up ice neither team was able to show much speed and consequently the contest was more like an old-time game of shinney than a hockey game.

Yesterday's game marks the opening of the hockey season in this city, and if the ice had been in good condition local fans expected a victory.

When time was up the last half it was decided to play ten minutes longer, neither team had been able to score.

The following was the line-up for the locals: Belland, center; Sullivan, rover; Griffin right wing; Westin, left wing; Balstrom and Hagen, coverpoint; Anderson, point; Anderson, goal. Referee, Le Clair.

MOTHERS' CLUB PLAY.

Ely Organization Gives Two Performances in High School.

Ely, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Friday and Saturday evening at the high school auditorium, the Mothers' club presented "The Matrimonial Bureau," under the direction of Miss Hazel Palmer with the following cast: Theodore Skinnem, proprietor of the bureau, Wilson Carlson; Maj. Bottles, book agent, Henry Chinn; Jack Rabbit, office boy, Ernest Jackson; Dezire Dezay, who wants a wife from Philadelphia, Peter Cardew; Robert Rose, ex-cowboy and millionaire, Oscar Friedsberg; Richard Softy, alias Mr. Easymark, Albert Hanson; Isabel Softy, alias Miss Addlepate, Edith Ellefson; Mrs. Whiner, looking for a husband, Mrs. G. T. Ayres; Rosalie Gusher, secretary, Mrs. R. H. Pearce; Anette Blew, who has charge of the bureau, Ruth Prout; Magnolia Flirtations, a suffragette, Orma Stevenson; Estelline Sweet, editor of Love's Herald, Hazel Whitney; Felicity Simplicity, an old maid from Philadelphia, Mrs. Leino; Boogie Boo, Bertha Bjorkman; Hold Up, Herbert Rosenbloom and John Ballas; Apple Blossom, Margaret Brown; Shadows, Bessie Probst; Uncle Joe, John Spedding; Good Night, Guy Coffey; Cutest Girl, Bessie Probst; Auto, Guy Coffey and Miss Wilkie; Cabaret, Albert McMahan; Specialty, Guy Coffey; pianists, Flora Olson and Ada Patterson.

Those in the chorus were: Misses Wilkie, Olson, Stevenson, Smith, Niecomen, Whitney, Rudow, McLeod, Risatte, Western, Prout, Ellefson, Probst, Thomas, Corey, Schweiger, and Messrs. Guy Coffey, J. Spedding, J. Prouty, B. Carlson, A. McMahan, O. Friedsberg, W. St. Marie, W. Carlson, R. Cardew. The Normandy was composed of Margaret Brown, solist; Willmette Petherick, Corrine Kurvinen, Eva Rosenbloom, Gundborg Berglund, LaVerne Quigley, Lottie Coomb, Katerine Gianotti.

BIWABIK FIVE LOSE.

Two Harbors Quint Proves Too Strong for Visitors.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—In a very interesting basket ball game the local city team defeated the Biwabik city team here Saturday evening, 55 to 22. The local team proved too fast for the visitors and piled up the score with ease.

Although the visitors were very good on combination work they were very weak on basket shooting. Kerman, forward for the local team proved himself a very effective basket shooter and when the game ended had fourteen baskets to his credit; Woodward was next, getting five baskets and three fouls out of a possible four. The forwards for the locals played an excellent game while the guards were inclined to be a little careless about sticking to their man which resulted in scores for the visitors.

A fast game is expected to be played here next Saturday evening when the Y. M. C. A. team of Superior will be taken on.

The following was the line-up Saturday evening:

Two Harbors—		—Biwabik.
Kerman	f	Morarity
Freeman-Dwan	f	Chellew
Woodward	c	Olson
Filiatrault	g	Irwin
Johnson-Sullivan	g	Solomaon

Referee—Conliff.

LAKE COUNTY BOARD WILL UTILIZE LOGS.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The board of county commissioners held a special meeting Saturday, and a trip to the county poor farm for the purpose of inspection. It was decided by the commissioners to cut up the logs which is on the poor farm and use them for improvements such as building a barn and other small buildings which is needed on the farm. They estimate that there is considerably over 1,000 feet of logs which has been cut on the farm.

Arrested for Threats.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sam Lyons, camp cook at Ballclub, has been arrested and brought here on the charge of making threats against Alice and Bessie Dolan of Minneapolis, who have been visiting their sister, Lyon's wife. It is said they told his wife he married a squaw about a year ago and urged her to leave him and that this so infuriated him he threatened them with a rifle. He denies marrying the squaw.

Accused of Paternity.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Olson, employed in the mill of the Rainy Lake company here, was arrested today on a paternity charge preferred by Anna Aho and released on $500 bonds.

IF CHILD IS CROSS, FEVERISH AND SICK

Look, Mother! If Tongue Is Coated Give "California Syrup of Figs."

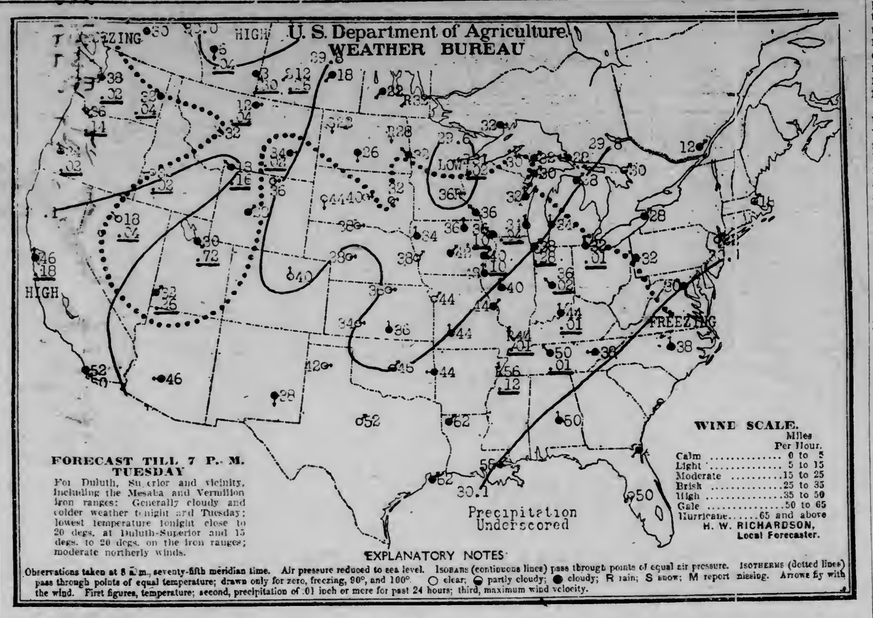

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sours, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

COLDER

About as disagreeable a weather condition exists today as can be imagined. Not only is the walking on the hillside dangerous and slushy, but the fog of the morning added to the misery.

A year ago today was clear. The sun rose this morning at 7:47 and will set at 4:51 o'clock, giving nine hours and four minutes of sunshine, four minutes more than on Sunday.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"During the last twenty-four hours light snow or rain fell over Minnesota, North Dakota, the lower Ohio and upper Mississippi valleys, Montana, the plateau region and Pacific coast states. Moderate to mild temperatures are the rule but the weather is turning colder in the extreme Northwest. The outlook favors lower temperature in St. Louis and Douglas counties during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday:

Wisconsin—Unsettled weather tonight and Tuesday, probably light rain or snow; somewhat colder Tuesday and in West portion tonight.

Minnesota—Unsettled weather tonight and Tuesday, probably snow flurries; somewhat colder.

Iowa—Mostly cloudy and unsettled weather tonight and Tuesday; somewhat colder Tuesday and in west and central portions tonight.

North and South Dakota—Cloudy tonight and Tuesday; colder tonight.

Montana—Mostly cloudy and unsettled weather tonight and Tuesday; colder in southeast portion tonight.

Lower Michigan—Snow or rain tonight and probably Tuesday; warmer tonight in east and south portions, slightly colder Tuesday in west portion.

Upper Michigan—Local snows or rain tonight and Tuesday; slightly colder Tuesday in west portion.

Amusements

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Photoplay.
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

AT THE LYCEUM.

Alice Lloyd and Gaby Deslys Are Among the Coming Attractions.

The sensation of the hour in amusement circles is George Kleine's production of the Cines photodrama spectacle, "Antony and Cleopatra." Nothing like it has been seen, and the prices paid for exclusive rights by the different European impresarios have been astounding. The subjects afforded the Cines company greater scope dramatically and pictorially than their production of "Quo Vadis," and it has taken ample advantage of it. The photodrama is arranged in eight parts and three acts, each one of which is a dramatic revelation. Signor Antoni Novelli is the Marc Antony and Signora Giovanna Teribili Gonzales is the Cleopatra. They are ably supported by Signor Ignazio Lupi as Octavius, Signorina Matilde di Marzio as Charmian, Signora Elsa Lenard as Octavia, and a host of brilliant actors in the minor characters, some of whom played important parts in "Quo Vadis." The engagement in this city began at the Lyceum yesterday and continues until Thursday night.

Alice Lloyd, England's daintiest comedienne, heading her own company of seventy well-known entertainers, under the direction of William Morris, will be the attraction at the Lyceum Friday and Saturday. Miss Lloyd, who is known throughout the theatrical world as England's daintiest comedienne, will be seen in a new style of entertainment, with a song repertoire including "Parisian Crinoline," "Mother, Mother," "My Night Out," "When Mother Was Twenty-One," "Lady Policeman," "Ship Ahoy," "Splash Me," "Who Are You Getting At," "Stockings on the Line," "Nothing Doing," "The Girls I Left Behind Me" and others.

A promising feature of the big entertainment will be a dance review of all nations, entitled "Dance Mad," offering a realistic glimpse of the famous Jardin de Danse atop of the New York theater, New York, together with a vivid interpretation of the cabaret life in New York and Paris.

Engaged to support the twinkling little star of two continents are Frank Fogarty, "The Dublin Minstrel;" Sidney Wood and the Dorsing Sisters; Ed Latell, Mel Craig, are Tschkowski Trio, Pauly and Young, De Lisle and Vernon, Eduardo and Elisa Cansio, the Cowboy Minstrels and "The Act Beautiful."

Gaby Deslys, the famous French artiste, will be presented here next week by the Winter Garden company in "The Little Parisienne," a modern three-act musical comedy with music by Felix Albini, and book and lyrics by Joseph W. Herbert and Harold Atteridge. She will appear at the Lyceum theater.

Gaby is an industrious worker, and her role in "The Little Parisienne" makes unusual demand upon her talent. Naturally much interest centers about her marvelous gowns and kingly collection of jewels, and she has assured her managers that she will not wear the same gown twice during her engagement in Duluth and will make twelve complete changes of costume at every performance.

GABY DESLYS.

Her supporting company includes Harry Pilcer, Forrest Huff, Fritzi von Busing, Charles Angelo, Edgar Atchison-Ely, Louise Meyers, Hattie Knoitel, Percy Lyndal and a large chorus of Gaby girls.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

Good Comedy Acts, Prima Donna and Composer Feature New Bill.

Vaudeville actors who "take what they want where they find it" are not popular with their fellow actors, but audiences as a rule do not stop to consider who originated the material if it is good material.

At the Orpheum this week are two performers who are either takers or takees, and they are the comedy hits of the new bill. The audience is not concerned with the proper ownership of their material, but is content to enjoy it. Whether Joe Jackson or Sam Barton originated the comedy tramp pantomime cyclist is less important to the audience than the fact that Mr. Barton, who is on this week's bill, is one of the funniest pantomime comedians who ever appeared in the local theater. He doesn't speak a word during his act, and does but a few bicycle tricks, but he had the Sunday night audience in gales of laughter. He is a very clever comedian.

Also whether Frank Milton or Chick Sale, who was at the Orpheum a few weeks ago, originated the idea of addressing the members of the audience with such phrases as "Now Emory," and "You boys must be quiet," is less important than the fact that Mr. Milton succeeds in being funny in a very broad way, and gets a good measure of rough and tumble comedy out of his act, in which he is assisted by two very nattily dressed young women, the De Long Sisters. They call their turn, "Twenty Minutes' Layover at Alfalfa Junction," and Milton plays the usual stage version of a "rube" part. The act has been seen here before, but it has been quite materially changed. Judging from the laughter it evoked, the changes were for the better.

The headliners this week are Miss Maud Lambert, the comic opera prima donna, and Ernest Ball, the song composer who has such songs as "When the Sands of the Desert Grow Cold" and "Love Me and the World Is Mine" to his credit. Miss Lambert sings two or three numbers, and Mr. Ball accompanies her on the piano. He also has two catchy numbers of his own composition, a new ballad and a song of the popular type. Both performers know how to get a popular song "across" and their act was one of the genuine hits of the new bill. Mr. Ball interjects some quiet comedy at the piano which is clever and amusing.

Two young girls, Lorna and Toots Pounds, offer a pleasing little interlude with some imitations of stage celebrities. Their imitation of Gaby Deslys and their idea of the Gaby Glide made a hit with the Sunday night audience.

The Jungmann Family, consisting of three young women and two men, have a wire act that is out of the ordinary. They introduce a generous measure of comedy, and their tricks differ from the usual routine of wire performers. They closed the show in a very adequate manner.

Accordion players have become almost as numerous in vaudeville as comedy acrobats, but the Kelli Duo this week get a most generous measure of applause. They have a most pleasing personality, are masters of their difficult instruments, and their closing number, "Home Sweet Home," as it would be played in various countries, is a clever novelty.

The opening act is a club juggling turn by the Tabors, and it serves nicely to start the show.

The motion picture this week is a very interesting and thrilling little drama called "Red Hawk's Sacrifice." The bill will continue all week with a daily matinee.

AT THE EMPRESS.

Comedy Sketch and "Perfect Woman" Feature the New Bill.

Sharing the headline honors in a well-balanced vaudeville bill, which opened at the Empress theater yesterday afternoon are Julie Ring and her company in the sketch, "The Man She Met," and Mlle. Nadje, the physical culture girl, who is known as one of the most perfect women in the world.

Miss Ring presents one of the best sketches seen at the local playhouse in some time. It is from the pen of Herbert Hall Winslow, who adapted it from a French farce of the same name. The sketch is full of good humor and well worthy of headline honors. Miss Ring is assisted by James Norval, who plays the man and Carln Varey, the waiter.

The sketch deals with a flirtation conducted on a public street by Miss Ring and Mr. Norval, who are known as the Girl and the Man. Of course, they go to dinner, where the Girl shows her game by declaring that the Man is the one who stole her purse the previous day. It develops, however, that he found the purse and when introductions are made, the man was a college chum of the girl's brother several years previous.

Mlle. Nadje is claimed to be one of the few perfectly formed women on the stage, and she dresses for the part. She scored quite a hit at the opening performances yesterday with her tumbling feats and her walk up and down a flight of stairs on her hands. It was announced yesterday that Mlle. Nadje will give a free lecture following the matinee performance tomorrow.

The Ramsey Sisters, with a good patter of jokes and some very pleasing music, open the bill. Lambert and Van, both of whom possess rather good voices, present an all-round number, consisting of dances and songs.

"Single-Handed Jim" and "The Wedding Write-Up," the latter an interesting film on the newspaper game, complete the well-balanced bill, which will continue until Wednesday evening, with the regular matinees.

FREE LECTURE ON REDUCING.

When Mlle. Nadje appeared this season in vaudeville (and also in tights), her audience expressed its amazement, particularly the feminine portion. Where was the embonpoint that clinging gowns has suggested? The answer may be found in "When Woman Will She Will." Mlle. Nadje today weighs 126 pounds. Mlle Nadje of yesterday weighed 156 pounds, and she tells how the delightful change was accomplished.

"Exercise." She sums up in that one word, and then she emphasized by describing the five exercises which reduced her weight thirty pounds without the usual attendant sagging cheeks and disfiguring wrinkles.

"Any woman inclined to plumpness can readily regain her figure," declares Mlle Nadje, "if she will faithfully follow these exercises for a reasonable length of time."

Mlle. Nadje is appearing at the Empress theater this week and feminine enthusiasts will have the opportunity of seeing for themselves, as she gives a free beauty and physical culture lecture for women only, and tell what the five exercises are directly following the matinee Tuesday afternoon. Only those attending the matinee will be privileged to hear this lecture.

A TONIC FOR DYSPEPTICS

When food lies undigested in the stomach it ferments and gas forms. This gas distends the stomach and presses on the heart, causing a pain that sometimes arouses fear of heart trouble. The condition in which gas forms is caused by a low tone of the digestive organs and a lack of rich red blood resulting in deficient nerve force. It is a condition that calls for a tonic.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a tonic for the blood and nerves, have been used with great success in the treatment of this form of stomach trouble. Cold baths in the morning followed by brisk friction with a rough towel will help as they stimulate the circulation but a tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills by building up the blood, restoring the nerve force and making the stomach able to do its work gives the most lasting benefit. With their use the appetite increases, digestion becomes normal and improvement in the general health follows with certainty.

You are trying no experiment when you take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They cannot harm the most delicate system.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at the nearest drug store. A copy of the diet book "What to Eat and How to Eat" will be sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

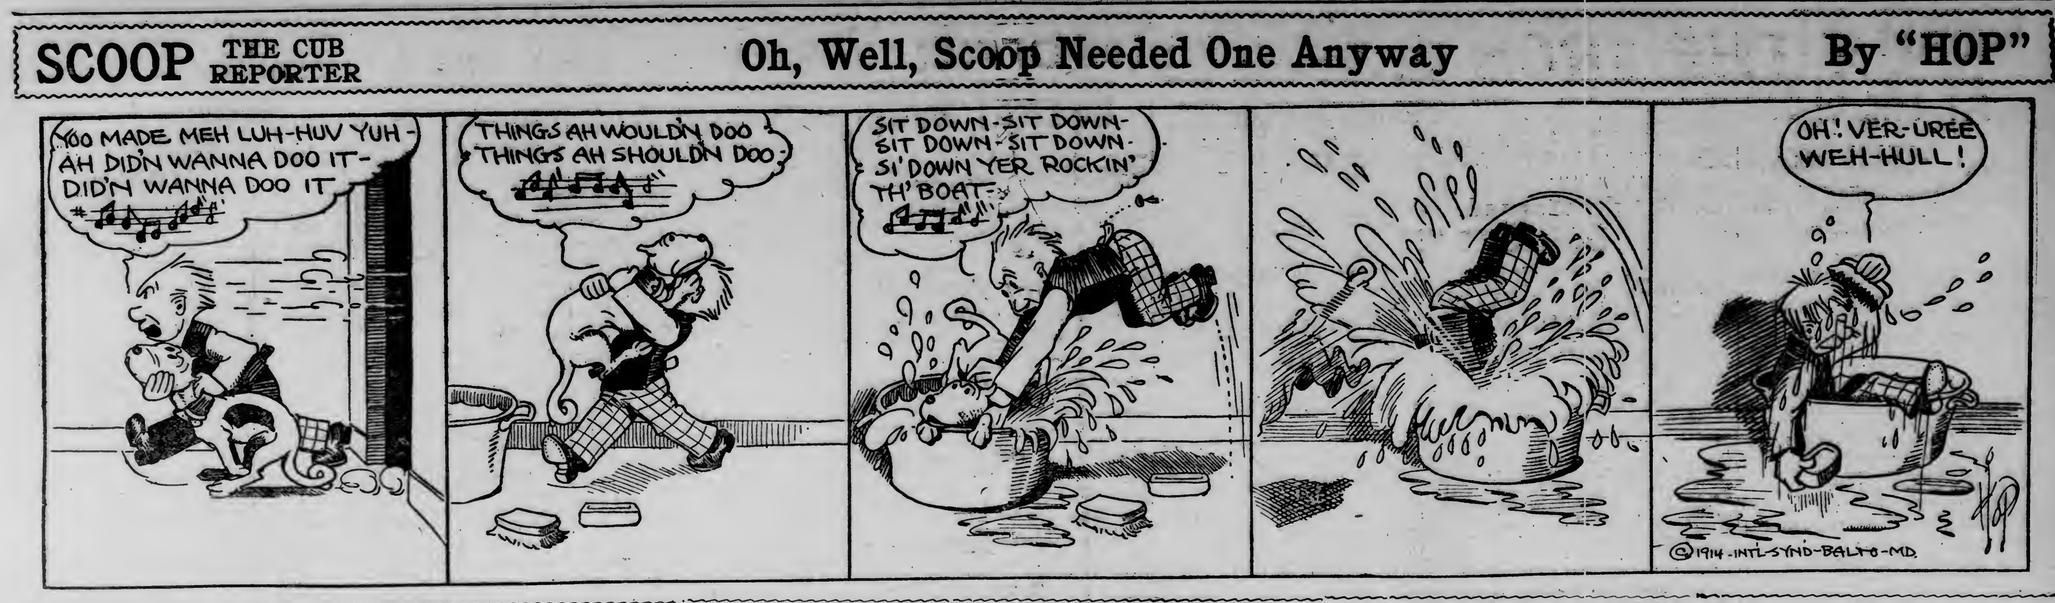

Rheumatism

EVERY RHEUMATIC, no matter how chronic his case, should buy a 25-cent bottle of MUNYON'S RHEUMATISM REMEDY. A few doses usually bring relief and a bottle almost invariably effects a cure. It contains no salicylic acid, no morphine, no cocaine, no dope nor other harmful drugs.

I want every person who is suffering with stiff or swollen joints, muscles, tendons or ligaments to try a bottle of my RHEUMATISM REMEDY.

If constipated use Munyon's Paw Paw Laxative Pills. MUNYON.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

LAND VALUES ON INCREASE

Real Estate Dealers Are Reporting More Activity Than Ever.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Land values in North Dakota are experiencing a constant advance, as is indicated by sales made during the present winter.

In Grand Forks county numerous sales have been made of land at prices ranging from $70 to $80 an acre, $77.50 being a favorite price in several localities. One sale in which the land sold at $85 an acre also has been recorded.

Less than five years ago this same land was being sold at from $40 to $50 an acre, while occasionally a piece was as high as $60, which was then considered exceptional.

In Traill county similar conditions are prevailing. Only recently an entire section of land near Mayville sold for $85 an acre, while prices below $60 an acre are a rarity.

Bring $70 an Acre.

In the recent sale of school lands, when the entire remaining public lands were disposed of, prices were exceptionally high, several tracts of unimproved property being sold at $70 an acre. Walsh county is about in the same condition, with sales in the eastern end of the county showing a higher level than those in the western district.

The high water mark in Pembina county prices also has been attained within the last few weeks, being $70 an acre for a tract near Cavalier.

Real estate dealers report greater activity in the sale of land this winter than for several years past. The open winter has made it possible for investors to look over the land during the entire time, the use of automobiles being possible in the transporting of probable buyers. This condition has also had its effect in maintaining land prices at a high point.

INSANE WOMAN BOTHERS SHERIFF.

Jamestown, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sheriff Dana Wright of Stutsman county found Mrs. Jeane Widemeyer, an insane patient deported from Brandon, Man., more than his physical equal, when she escaped from him while he was removing her from the depot here to the jail. They were in an unfrequented spot, and it was with some difficulty that Wright finally obtained help to quell the woman.

WILL OPPOSE NORTON IN 3RD NORTH DAKOTA.

Dickinson, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator L. A. Simpson of Dickinson will soon announce himself as a candidate for the Republican nomination for congress from the Third district, opposing Congressman P. D. Norton.

Simpson was two years ago defeated by Mr. Norton for the Republican nomination, being defeated through the second choice votes. High on the first choice votes, Simpson ran far behind on the second choice ballots, enabling Norton to pass him under the wire.

The announcement that Simpson is to enter the campaign is not expected to deter J. M. Hanley of Mandan from taking the same step. Mr. Hanley has been looked upon for some time past as a probable candidate for the nomination.

LIGHT HAIL LOSS.

North Dakota Farmers Got Off Luckily Last Year.

Jamestown, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. M. Smith of Grand Forks was elected president of the Alliance Hail association at the annual meeting held here. Reports showed that losses by hail in 1913 were the lightest in several years.

Other officers elected were: Vice president, H. M. Clark, New Rockford; secretary and treasurer, W. E. Boise, Jamestown; directors, K. P. Shippley, Ramsey county; Paul Johnson, Pembina county; J. J. Wedge, McHenry county; M. Tschida, Benson county; E. L. McBeen, Barnes county.

FARGO IS FACING FOUR BUSY DAYS

Annual Meeting of Tri-State Grain Growers Starts Tuesday.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fargo is facing four busy days. Tomorrow marks the opening of the Tri-State Grain & Stock Growers' convention with the dozen or more organizations that have been developed from the big movement will be in session.

There will be three daily sessions of the four days' meeting of the Tri-State.

Next to the Tri-State meeting in interest is that of the women of the state, the wives and daughters of the farmers. Mrs. C. F. Amidon, wife of the Federal judge, a woman who was raised on a farm in this county and still interested in its operation, is the president.

Conservation Meeting.

Another organization that will be an important factor during the week is the conservation congress of which Governor Hanna is the president and Dean Woods of the Minnesota A. C., the secretary.

The North Dakota Livestock association, the North Dakota Horticultural society, the North Dakota Corn Growers' association, the Pure Seed association, the Farm Managers' association, the Farmers Elevator association, the Equity society, the North Dakota Kennel association, the North Dakota Poultry association, and other organizations of that nature will hold state meetings, elect officers and have banquets.

In addition there will be exhibits by the kennel and poultry associations, the big corn show, the pure food exhibit and the show by the department of electric engineering at the N. D. A. C.

LARGE DEPOSITS BEING DEVELOPED

New Iron Belt Recently Opened Up on the Cuyuna.

Crosby, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Extensive deposits of iron ore are being developed in the new belt recently opened up in sections 5 and 6, 46-29, and there is every indication that the field will yield a large tonnage.

The Little Rabbit Iron company, which also owns a large acreage at Riverton, four miles west of Crosby, is drilling the west half of the northeast quarter of section 5, and the first hole put down showed an ore body 207 feet deep, with only 48 feet of overburden. Samples taken from this hole were low in phosphorus and sufficiently high in iron to indicate that a large percentage of the ore will be merchantable. Another vein produced samples which ran 22 per cent in manganese.

This company has three diamond drills at work along the strike of the ore body. They are about 350 feet apart, all working in good ore averaging between 200 and 300 feet in depth.

The Crow Wing company has been operating a churn drill on the southeast quarter of section 6, and a section of six holes, all of which found ore, has proven that the new ore belt has a width of over 500 feet. A diamond drill, which was recently added to this company's equipment, has cut ore to a depth of 200 feet.

The extension of the Northern Pacific Railway company's lines to the Duluth-Brainerd shaft will pass within a quarter of a mile of this new ore field, and the Soo line's extension from Manganese to Riverton will cross it. This will assure the early development of mines on the lands of these companies.

SCHEERS PRESIDENT.

Akeley Editor Heads Northern Minnesota Editorial Association.

Little Falls, Minn., Jan. 19.—At the session of the Northern Minnesota Editorial association held here, Spooner and Baudette were awarded the summer meeting of the association, Thief River Falls next winter's meeting, and the following officers were elected: President, Charles F. Scheers, Akeley; vice president, Fred Schilplin, St. Cloud; secretary-treasurer, A. G. Rutledge, Minneapolis; executive committee, Asa M. Wallace of Sauk Center, C. C. Cutter of Thief River Falls, and George Ericson of Spooner.

Plan Summer Fair.

Harvey, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the annual meeting of the Wells County Fair association it was decided to hold a big fair July 1 to 4. Financial affairs of the association, as reported by the officers, are satisfactory. These new officers were chosen: President, J. J. Reimer; vice president, George Crossen; secretary, M. H. Aved; treasurer, C. A. Revell; directors, Harry Bulk, L. E. Miller, C. W. Blanding and H. Montgomery.

BOY FATALLY BURNED.

Stands Near Bonfire Wearing Kerosene-Soaked Clothes.

Noonan, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Robert Loucks, aged 6 years, died from burns received while playing about a bonfire. The lad had saturated his trousers with kerosene only a short time before he approached the bonfire, and his clothing took fire.

Jules Van de Walle was seriously burned when a gasoline tank exploded. He was attempting to start a gasoline engine when it backfired through the carburetor into the tank.

MINNESOTAN IS AMONG SPEAKERS.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 19.—Superintendents of the National Children's Home society will hold their annual convention here. Speakers will be: Washington Gardner, president of the national society; S. W. Dickinson, Minnesota; A. T. Burnell, Iowa; W. S. Reynolds, Illinois; A. D. Stuckeman, South Dakota; Joseph A. Barnes, Montana; F. D. Shirk, Kansas; C. C. Stehman, Missouri; C. V. Williams, Ohio, and E. P. Quivy, Nebraska.

Gets Second Hero Medal.

Ryder, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Daniel Cassley of this place recently received his second medal for heroism. The last is from the Carnegie hero fund for saving the life of Albert Brose on the reservation here. The other was received some years ago for conduct in fire fighting in South Dakota.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Appleton — Miss Minnie Bergman, aged 14, of Little Chute, won a scholarship in the young people's corn-growing contest conducted by the college of agriculture of the state university. Miss Bergman will have all expenses paid while attending a short course in agriculture on Jan. 27 to 31.

Racine—For the first time in Racine, and no doubt in the state, two women appeared Jan. 17 in circuit court as witnesses for a man making application for citizenship papers. It was ordered that since women could vote on questions pertaining to public schools they could sign as witnesses in this case.

Oshkosh—The recall movement instituted again Mayor Mulva several days ago, has progressed so slowly that friends of the mayor are more than satisfied that it will fail. Under the provisions of the law, the petition must bear 1,443 signatures, and it claimed that no where near that number will ever be obtained.

La Crosse—The railroad commission has ordered a second hearing for Jan. 23 on the extension of car line service to the new Hillview addition. Tracks are laid but the company refuses to run cars.

Hudson—Arthur Mathews, aged 32, died in St. Croix county jail here after taking carbolic acid. Mathews was arrested on a charge of threatening the life of Emma Krumm of Cylon, a former sweetheart.

Fond du Lac—Leo and Marguerite Kunze, children of J. J. Kunze, have not been absent or tardy during the eleven years and four months of their school life. A third child, Marvin, has a perfect record for nine years.

Beaver Dam—The postoffice was broken into early Saturday morning, but nothing was stolen. Several desks were rifled and also some packages.

Merrill—William Aschbrenner, aged 10, is dead as the result of a branch of a tree striking him in the head while working in the woods with his father.

Oconomowoc—The Hotel Lalumiere property on Oconomowoc lake was sold by the receiver Saturday afternoon to Edward Haymaker of Chicago. Only one bid, $40,050 was received.

Milwaukee—Walter Bantam, who conducts a shoe repairing shop at 140 Mason street, was struck by a street car at West Water and Wells streets Friday and sustained injuries that may cost him his life.

Madison—The state industrial commission ordered the Burrell Engineering & Construction company of Milwaukee to pay the guardian of the six minor children of Joseph Patyk, 884 Grant street, Milwaukee, the sum of $2,468.70 as compensation for the death of Mr. Patyk, who was killed on Oct. 14, 1913, by being crushed between two material hoists while at work.

Green Bay—Plans for holding a special election to determine the people's feeling toward the commission form of government have been formally inaugurated here. The committee which two years ago had charge of a similar campaign will take charge of the present step to call a special election.

Oshkosh—Miss Jennie Pierce of this city committed suicide Friday by jumping from a two-story window of the Lakeside sanitarium. She was 37 years old.

Madison—For the next 120 weeks Herbert Rasch, 19 years old, who on Oct. 25, 1913, was injured by the premature explosion of percussion caps, will receive $9.37 as compensation from the Standard Brick company, by an order from the state industrial commission. Rasch sustained the loss of part of his right hand and an injury to his right ear.

Ashland—Mrs. George H. Hopper, who ran the Chequamegon hotel in the early days, died recently in Columbus, Ohio.

Sanborn—Theodore Werder, who is at Madison taking a special course in agriculture, will return soon, and about the first of April will open a creamery at Sanborn in connection with his large dairy farm.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Crystal Falls—The city has a force of workmen at work digging the ditch for the sewer in the city hall. The ditch is being dug from Third street and up the alley near the city hall.

Sault Ste. Marie—William McMichaels, formely of Birch, who was charged with violating the Mann white slave law, was found guilty here and sentenced to seven years of hard labor by Judge Sessions of the United States district court.

Ishpeming—Capt. William Benallack, who for many years has been surface boss at the Lake Angeline mine, left Thursday evening for Milwaukee, where he will consult a surgeon.

Negaunee—The Finnish Young Folks Society of the Finnish Lutheran church elected the following officers: President, H. J. Gustafson; vice president, Amos Marun; treasurer, George J. Smedman; secretary, Iyyne Mattila, assistant secretary, Ida Schtonen.

Marquette—A general meeting of the Marquette Commercial club, the first since its reorganization in October, will be held Friday, Jan. 29.

Hancock — The work on the Front street lighting is completed and the lights were turned on Friday for the first time.

L'Anse—Charles Picard, an old Indian pioneer farmer living about two miles from L'Anse, died last week after an illness of several months, at the age of 72. Mr. Pickard had spent most of his life in the county and was one of the few remaining old Indians of the county. He leaves a wife and several children.

Houghton — Hopes are still entertained that the steamer L. C. Waldo, which went aground on Gull Rock in the severe storm of Nov. 8, will be floated and brought to a point of safety before spring. Capt. Alex. Cutting of the wrecking tug Favorite, who is directing the operations, is confident that the steamer may be released next week.

Marquette — Capt. Daniel W. Smith has been appointed adjutant-general of the Michigan National Guard; Maj. James Meade, chief surgeon; John C. Evans, commissary and Capt. Henry M. Lamb, quartermaster, according to an announcement by Col. John P. Kirk, of Ypsilanti, scheduled to succeed Gen. Abbey as brigadier general and chief of staff of the Michigan National Guard on Jan. 16. All are of Detroit.

Holdahl and the president and vice president constitute the board of directors.

St. Cloud—A ton and a half of mail in addition to the regular supply left the St. Cloud postoffice Jan. 16 for various points in the Northwest. The extra mail was sent out by the International Harvester company. There were 3,227 pounds of it and the cost of mailing was $290.40, by a special permit issued by the postal department.

Ada—B. M. Lippman is moving his department store from Ada to Hibbing.

Crookston—A. D. Stephens holds the record for attending banquets and bank meetings. After attending five annual bank meetings in Montana, he returned to Crookston Sunday and Tuesday morning started out for another set of bank meetings, attending five, and three banquets in twenty-four hours.

Moorhead—The First National bank of Moorhead will establish a savings department in connection with the bank, and that they will receive deposits in the new department on Feb. 4.

Red Lake Falls—The Bray Fire Insurance company elected the following officers: President, N. K. Anderson; secretary, John O. Swanson; treasurer, N. A. Nelson; directors, Ed Aubol. An assessment of two mills was levied to cover the loss of the barn and granary on the P. E. Soderberg farm, and several minor claims. The annual statement of the insurance company shows a healthy growth during the past year. There are now about 900 policy holders.

Warroad—Abner Waldron died early Jan. 15, after a sickness of several weeks with pneumonia. He was 29 years old and was born in Otter Tail county. He leaves a wife and five children, all below 10 years of age. He has lived here nine years and proved up on homestead in the southern part of America.

Bagley—Miss Esther Guldbrandson, high school principal, received the news of the death of her father, Jan. 16 and left on the afternoon train for her home at Blair, Wis., to be present at the funeral.

Bemidji — Admitting his guilt, Charles Hanan, was arrested by George Lane, chief of police, and Patrolman Brown for having sold intoxicating liquor to a person of Indian blood. The red man in the case is Henry Bungo, an Indian from the Leech Lake Indian reservation.

Crookston—The tax lists of Beltrami county show that Crookston Lumber company has the largest assessment ($18,159.91) and is the largest taxpayer in this county.

Perham—The village council at its meeting Tuesday night decided to postpone the opening of the bids pending negotiations for the sale of the plant to an applicant for terms from Faribault.

Home Baking Reduces Cost of Living

THE U. S. Dept. of Agriculture in Experiment Station Bulletin No. 142 says that ten cents worth of wheat supplies almost three times as much protein and ten times as much energy as round steak, and with some other cuts of meat the difference is even greater.

If then, one really desires to reduce her weekly meat and grocery bills, she need only make more use of her oven.

Who ever heard man, woman or child complain that good home-made biscuits, muffins, cake and cookies appeared on the table too often? Instead the tendency is "to make a meal of them" and the variety is so great that something you bake yourself could well be the chief feature of every meal.

Home Baking is Simplified by the Use of K C Baking Powder

With K C, you can make things moist and rich yet have them light and feathery, wholesome and digestible. Biscuits may be mixed the night before and baked fresh for breakfast. Muffins need not be dry and heavy. You can make a cake so light that you can hardly get it out of the pan whole, yet it will not fall.

K C is not like the old fashioned baking powders. It is double acting and continues to give off leavening gas until the dough is cooked through. K C is sold at a fair price—a large can for 25 cents. This would be no object if strength and purity were sacrificed, but every can is fully guaranteed under State and National Pure Food laws and to please. We take all the chances. Your money back if you do not get better results with K C than any baking powder you ever used.

Include a can in your next grocery order, try some of the new recipes that appear in this paper from time to time. Then you will have gone far toward solving this vexing "Cost of Living" problem.

NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA, GAS OR INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapepsin" Settles Sour, Upset Stomachs in Five Minutes.

Time it! Pape's Diapepsin will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach surely within five minutes.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large fifty-cent cases contain enough "Pape's Diapepsin" to keep the entire family free from stomach disorders and indigestion for many months. It belongs in your home.

MARKET OFF AT THE CLOSE

Wheat Finishes Slightly Easier After Ruling Strong During Session.

Flax Turns Strong With High Argentine Cables and Good Buying.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 19.—The market turned easy at the close. May wheat closed ¼c off and July ¼c off. May durum closed ⅛c off.

Oats closed unchanged at 36@36½c. Rye closed unchanged at 52½@55½c for the best grades, and barley closed unchanged at from 44@66c.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 87⅜c and calls at 87¾c.

At Winnipeg, January oats closed at 32¾c and May at 36½c.

A decrease of 1,391,000 bu in the American visible supply was responsible for a firm market in wheat today. Wheat was also well held at Chicago, and fair demand was reported in the East, with some sales put through during the day. Export business in durum was reported by a Duluth operator. Under these bullish influences the weak closing at Liverpool was without effect except to hold quotations down at the opening. The market over there was influenced by the larger world's shipments and lower Argentine quotations.

The local market was practically unchanged up to the final hour. May wheat opened on the same basis as on Saturday at 88⅜c and it held around that level. July opened unchanged at 89⅞c and weakened ⅛c. May durum was steady at 87⅝c.

Wheat receipts at Duluth were light last week, aggregating only 654,000 bu of all grains, as compared with 1,189,000 bu last year. Shipments came to 121,000 bu, as against 1,025,000 bu a year ago, the bulk of it being loaded out on steamers for storage.

Stocks in elevators here, as on last Saturday, aggregated nearly 19,000,000 bu, and there was afloat 1,726,000 bu. This compares with 14,000,000 bu in storage and 3,851,000 bu afloat here a year ago, a total of 17,851,000 bu.

Inspections here today were only 39 cars against 88 cars a year ago, and arrivals of all grains on the tracks for the two days were just 133 cars. At Winnipeg receipts of wheat were 116 cars, compared with 335 last year, and at Minneapolis they were 446 cars as against 526 a year ago.

Flaxseed Sells Higher.

After a weak opening and selling off ½c, the market in flaxseed turned strong under the spur of good buying brought about by higher Argentina cables and a stiffening up at Winnipeg. Crushers came into the market freely at the low point, and there was some closing out of Winnipeg hedges on this market. Trading was again confined to the May option. It opened unchanged at $1.51½, sold off ½c and then advanced to a close of $1.52¾c or 1¼c above Saturday's figure.

The January option was closed up at $1.48¾ nominally. At Winnipeg, January flax closed at $1.26½ bid and May at $1.33 bid.

It is now intimated that the proposal to remove the duty on wheat and flour is unlikely to come up for discussion at Ottawa for some weeks yet. It is said that while Western Canada appears to be unanimously in favor of free wheat, the opposition of the milling, banking and railroad interests over there is so strong as to make it difficult to say whether or not the change will be made at the present session of the dominion parliament.

Final estimates of the Balkan wheat crops show that Bulgaria and Rumelia harvested 40,000,000 bushels last summer, against 44,000,000 in 1912 and 68,000,000 in 1911. In Servia, the yield was 11,000,000 bushels as against 14,400,000 in 1912. A correspondent of the Paris Temps says of Bulgaria that "financial recovery has been stimulated by an exceptionally good harvest though the only labor available to cut and carry it was that of the old men and the women."

Port Arthur and Fort William stocks of flax, 2,421,000 bu against 2,356,599 bu last week, and 2,094,375 bu last year. In vessels not included in the above, 461,017 bu.

Duluth car inspection: Wheat—No. 1 northern, 8; No. 2 northern, 11; rejected, 1; durum, 7; western red, 2; winter, 2; mixed, 8; total wheat, 39, last year, 88; flax, 6, last year, 19; corn, 8, last year, none; oats, 4, last year, 7; barley, 4, last year, 8; total of all grains, 61, last year, 123; on track, 137.

Clearances reported: Wheat, 204,000 bu; flour, 19,000 bbl; together they equal 290,000 bu; corn, none; oats, none.

Primary markets report the following receipts and shipments today:

Wheat—Receipts, 1,100,000 bu; last year, 570,000 bu; shipments, 400,000 bu; last year, 439,000 bu.

Corn—Receipts, 1,556,000 bu; last year, 2,031,000 bu; shipments, 670,000 bu; last year, 960,000 bu.

Foreign closing cables: Liverpool—Wheat, ¼d lower; corn, ¼ @ ½d lower. Paris—Wheat, unchanged to ¼c higher; flour, ¾c higher. Berlin—Wheat, ½c lower. Budapest—Wheat, ½c lower. Antwerp—Wheat, ½c lower.

The American visible supply of wheat decreased 1,391,000 bu last week. Corn increased 1,066,000 bu, and oats decreased 1,007,000 bu.

The Minneapolis cash demand was rather slow, with the mills getting most of their supplies on sales. Market was steady. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at from ⅛c over May to 1½c under, and velvet chaff at 1@1½c discount There were very moderate flour sales. Cash No. 1 northern sold there at 86¼@88¾c, and No. 2 northern sold there at from 83¾@85¾c.

Baker received the following wire from Chicago today: "Wheat opened unchanged. Commission houses sold it, and there was buying by commission houses on resting orders. The undertone was firm. Corn opened fractionally lower with commission houses moderate sellers on the opening, but they encountered good buying orders and offerings were quickly absorbed."

On passage—Wheat, 33,480,000 bu, against 29,072,000 bu last week, and 29,296,000 bu last year. Corn, 14,366,000 bu, against 15,216,000 bu last week, and 25,407,000 bu last year.

Wheat increased 4,408,000 bu and corn decreased 850,000 bu.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Wheat—The market opened with speculative support, notwithstanding the large world's shipments, weakness in Buenos Ayres on Saturday and lower American cables, and values were unchanged. Advices from Australia are of continued firmness among holders, with Japan taking liberally of all offers, and light Argentine offers. During the morning there was a decline of ⅛@¼d on the liberal world's shipments to the United Kingdom and easier spot markets. At 1:30 p. m. the undertone was easy, ⅛@¼d lower.

"Corn opened unchanged, and later February gained ¼d with the strength in Rosario and steadiness in American. Later the advance was lost, with some realizing on small spot trade and liberal Danubian offers. Buenos Ayres wheat on Saturday closed weak with continued favorable weather for the movement and lowered foreign bids."

World's shipments were: Wheat, 14,624,000 bu, against 13,600,000 bu last week and 11,520,000 bu last year.

Corn, 3,528,000 bu, against 4,758,000 bu last week and 5,441,000 bu last year.

Total wheat taken by continental countries in the past week was 6,752,000 bu, against 6,712,000 bu last week and 5,680,000 bu last year.

A wire received by Parker Paine from Winnipeg today said: "Flax sentiment is almost unanimously bullish. Numerous small and weak holders have been shaken out on the decline and flax is fairly well taken. There is still considerable speculative long interest. The best people do not look for much change just now, but ultimately for much higher prices."

World's shipments of wheat: America, 6,232,000 bu; Russia, 1,968,000 bu; Danube, 2,916,000 bu; Argentina, 816,000 bu; Australia, 3,246,000 bu; Chili and North Africa, 16,000 bu; total, 14,624,000 bu. Corn shipments were 3,528,000 bu.

Wheat stocks in Duluth and Minneapolis elevators on last Saturday aggregate 33,441,000 bu, as compared with 33,236,000 bu last year. Of that Duluth stores were 13,814,000 bu, compared with 12,981,000 bu a year ago, and at Minneapolis they were 19,630,000 bu, as against 20,255,000 bu last year.

Receipts of all grains at Duluth elevators for the present crop years from Aug. 1 up to last Saturday night aggregated 76,349,253 bu, as against 99,523,276 bu last year. Of that wheat arrivals came to 53,462,522 bu against 70,295,795 bu; corn, 261,605 bu against nothing last year; oats, 4,449,614 bu against 3,853,247 bu; barley, 9,399,474 bu against 10,371,241 bu; rye, 960,285 bu against 1,857,128 bu, and flax, 7,795,763 bu against 13,145,861 bu a year ago.

Barley, 47c to 64c. Rye, 55c to 55½c. Bran, $21.75.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Pit Turns Bearish on Weather Predictions.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Announcement that no unusually cold weather is indicated at present for any portion of the United States had a bearish influence today on wheat. The fact that Argentine wheat can now be imported into this country duty free counted also against the bulls. Selling pressure, however, was not heavy. The market opened unchanged to ⅛c lower and later sagged all around.

A big increase of the visible supply tended to prevent any important rally. The close was weak, ⅞@1c under last night.

Prospect of decreased feeding carried the corn market down a grade. There were reports, too, that a sharp break had taken place in prices for Argentine corn, February shipment to New York. Prices here started ⅛@¼c lower to a rise of 1c and there was a subsequent additional gain.

Wheat—No. 2 red, 95½@96¾c; No. 3 red, 92½@93½c; No. 2 hard, 90@90¼c; No. 3 hard, 88½@89½c; No. 2 northern, 90@90¾c; No. 3 northern, 88½@89c; No. 2 spring, 89@90c; No. 3 spring, 88@89c.

Steel in Good Demand at Opening and Advances Made.

New York, Jan. 19.—Traders opposed the early advancing tendency and succeeded in checking the movement definitely. Business contracted sharply after the first hour. Sensitiveness of Reading to pressure discouraged further bullish operations, although there was no relapse of consequence in prices.

Special buying proceeded in individual stocks, but traders asserted that bidding up of these issues was designed to facilitate distribution elsewhere. The copper shares were affected by reports of improving conditions in the metal markets here and abroad, and made a good showing.

Bonds were firm.

A higher level was established in the early trading today. There was a good demand for all of the leading stocks, particularly Steel, which was taken in large blocks. The opening advance was confined to fractions, except in the cases of Northern Pacific, Smelting & Texas company, which gained a point.

Traders took small profits when pressure converged on Reading. That stock reacted from 170 to below 169. Recessions otherwise were slight.

The restriction imposed on buying by the heaviness of Reading was eliminated after mid-day when prices rose in a spirited fashion. Some of the Southern Granger shares were particularly strong. Sustained buying of the steel and copper issues was a potent factor in lifting the market.

Dullness set in after an extensive array of 1 to 2 point advance had been made. News that no important decision would be made by the United States supreme court removed the barrier to active professional operation.

The market closed easy. Profit-taking sales were numerous in the last hour and prices went off in all directions. Renewed selling of Reading commenced after it had worked back to its high figures, and there was also a liberal supply of Union Pacific.

BECOMES THEIR LEGAL DAUGHTER

Miss Hortense Carr Formally Adopted By Her Foster Parents.

Although she was acutally adopted twenty-one years ago while her foster mother was a visitor at the Chicago world's fair, Miss Hortense Carr was not legally adopted until Saturday, when Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Carr, 2907 Grand avenue, appeared in Judge Fesler's division of district court. The court approved the adoption, which was necessary in order to make Miss Carr the legal heir to their property under the law.

When Mrs. Alice M. Carr, matron at the Soo depot, was a world's fair visitor on March 1, 1893, she overheard a guard telling someone that a baby girl had been born on the exposition grounds and that the mother wanted someone to adopt the child. Mrs. Carr investigated, and having no children of her own, decided to bring the little girl back as a souvenir. Miss Carr was not told her life story until she reached the age of 16.

Harry M. Carr is superintendent of the Boston coal dock.

RECORD-BREAKER FOR DESCRIPTIONS

Assessment for Polk Street Sewer Involves Almost All West Duluth.

City Assessor J. Allyn Scott is busy spreading the final assesment for the Polk street sewer at West Duluth.

Though not the largest as to the sum of money involved, the assessment is a record breaker in the amount of property affected, approximately 8,000 different descriptions being involved.

These descriptions include most of West Duluth, embracing the territory between Fiftieth and Sixty-ninth avenues west and the water front and the D. M. & N. tracks along the upper hillside. No other sewer assessment has ever before been spread over such an extensive territory.

The total cost of the sewer as shown by figures furnished the assessor by the engineering department was $44,153.85. Of that amount $13,486.74 has been paid, leaving a balance of $25,667.11 to be collected. The average assessment per lot is $3.42.

WEST DULUTH CURLERS

Probably no other man in West Duluth has worked so consistently for good curling in West Duluth as Frank H. Wade, president of the Western Curling club.

Mr. Wade is the originator of "kid" rinks. He has probably broken more youngsters into the game than any other man connected with the club. Every year finds one or two new boys playing lead or second on his rink and in spite of their newness to the game they have consistently won games from other organizations.

During the recent bonspiel, Mr. Wade and his aggregation of kids gave many of the strongest players battles which they will long remember. Out of a total of seventeen games scheduled during the contests the Wade rink won eight games, lost six and received by forfiets three. The total scores made by his rink were 134 against his opponents' 118.

FRANK H. WADE.

His rink includes K. C. McDougall, lead, Chester Baker, second and his son, Frank Jr., third.

* * *

Three games are scheduled for this evening at the Western Curling club. The ice is said to be in a fairly good condition in spite of the warm weather. The games tonight will be played in the Union Match company event.

The contests will be between Quinn and Olson, Wade and Mallory, and Zauft and Evered.

Talks on Missionary.

Rev. Charles N. Thorp, pastor of the Pilgrim Congregational church, delivered a sermon last evening at the Westminster Presbyterian church, Fifty-eighth avenue west and Ramsey street. Rev. Mr. Thorp spoke on the life of John G. Peyton, the "Apostle to the New Hebrides Islands." The pastor told of the missionary's work among the cannibals and how he had won their confidence and said that today this group of islands was almost entirely Christianized.

First Meeting in Two Years.

West Duluth Council, No. 4, Modern Samaritans, will hold the first meeting of the society held in two years, this evening at the West Duluth Commercial club rooms. An initiation of a class of candidates will take place following which officers will be elected.

Will Install Officers.

Three lodges of Maccabees will hold their annual installation of officers this evening.

At Dormedy hall, West Duluth Tent, No. 2, K. O. T. M., and Hive No. 73, L. O. T. M., will hold a joint installation tonight. Head officers of the lodge will conduct the ceremonies.

St. Louis Bay Hive, No. 887, Modern Maccabees, will install officers thia evening at the Great Eastern hall, 210 North Central. A special ceremonial is planned in connection with the work. Among the head officials who will be present to conduct the ceremony will be Dr. Isabelle Holden of Port Huron, Mich.

Series of Dances.

Plans have been completed by a committee of the Pocahontas Lodge, No. 319, Royal league, to give a series of dancing parties this winter and spring. The dates were arranged at a meeting held Saturday evening.

All of the parties will be given at the Dormedy hall, Central avenue and Ramsey street. The first will be a Washington's Birthday party on Monday evening, Feb. 23; the next will be on St. Patrick's day, the third of the series will be on Easter Monday, April 13, and the final of the series will be a "May Day" party on Monday evening, May 4.

The committee decided to limit the invitations to about 300. Each member of the society will be allowed to present the names of ten friends to whom invitations will be sent.

Married in Superior.

Mrs. Anna Brown Dellbern and Charles Anderson, both of West Duluth, were married last Tuesday night at the St. Louis parish house in Superior, according to announcement made this morning by Rev. A. Gagnon, the pastor who officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson will live at 5115 Wadena street. It had been planned to keep the wedding a secret but relatives learned of it last night.

Will Install Jointly.

The joint installation of officers for the three Modern Brotherhood of America lodges of the city will be held tomorrow evening at Dormedy's hall, Central avenue and Ramsey street. Following the ceremonies a social session is planned.

Case Is Dropped.

Nick Petsas, a foreman of a section gang on the Northern Pacific railroad, who was arrested early last week on complaint of operating an employment bureau without a license, was discharged when brought before Judge Lanners Saturday. Witnesses for the state failed to make their appearance to press the charges.

Child's Funeral Held.

The funeral of Margaret, the 4-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sabron of Gary, who died Friday evening, was held this morning from Richter's undertaking rooms. Interment was in Oneota cemetery.

West Duluth Briefs.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Blechl, 634 North Central avenue, and daughter, Miss Marie Blechl, returned yesterday from a three weeks' visit with relatives in Chicago and Oshkosh, Wis.

M. L. Hellan of North Fifty-seventh avenue west, has been called away to Glenwood, Minn., on account of the illness of his mother.

Edward Pankenen of Stillwater was a business visitor in West Duluth this morning.

Mrs. Victor Method, 325 North Fifty-ninth avenue west, is reported seriously ill at her home.

Mrs. John Stewart, 427 North Fifty-seventh avenue west will entertain the Ladies' Aid Society of the Merritt Memorial M. E. church at her home Wednesday afternoon. Plans will be made for an oyster supper to be given on Jan. 30.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Gates of Williston, N. D., are guests this week at the home of Mr. Gates' sisters, Mrs. A. L. Murray, 620 North Fifty-seventh avenue west and Mrs. M. C. Murray, 419 North Fifty-fourth avenue west.

The Ladies' Guild of the Holy Apostles' Episcopal church will be entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. H. Mathews, 623 North Fifty-eighth avenue west.

Watch repairing. Hurst, W. Duluth. Adv.

The Hope Young People's Society of Our Savior's Norwegian Lutheran church, Fifty-seventh avenue west and Wadena street, will entertain tomorrow evening in the church parlors. A program of music and readings followed by refreshments will be given.

Miss Annie Anderson, 6411 Worden street, left today for Sockston, Wis., where she will make her home with relatives. Miss Anderson has resided in West Duluth for twenty-five years and was one of the first members and founders of the Immanuel Norwegian Lutheran church.

IN DISTRICT COURT

Jury cases have been set for trial this week as follows:

Monday, 140, 119.
Tuesday, 4, 114, 118.
Wednesday, 12, 39.
Thursday, 182.
Friday, 59, 80, 91, 94.

Rate Cases Not Decided.

Washington, Jan. 19.—None of the important railroad rate cases was decided today by the supreme court.

Landraint Not Removed.

Washburn, Wis., Jan. 19.—Efforts of the Bayfield county board, in the hearing conducted here Saturday before the tax commission, to have Income Assessor William Landraint relieved of his office failed. The commission stated that the hearing was a vindication for Mr. Landraint in that it proved that he had enforced the law.

LEGAL NOTICES.

CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION —OF— PROCTOR LAND COMPANY.

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS, That we, the undersigned, do hereby associate ourselves together for the purpose of forming a corporation pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 58, Revised Laws of Minnesota for the year 1905, and Acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, and do hereby adopt and sign the following certificate of incorporation.

ARTICLE I.

The name of this corporation shall be "PROCTOR LAND COMPANY."

The general nature of the business to be conducted shall be: To buy, own, hold, mortgage, sell and generally deal in lands, tenements, and hereditaments, and all other kinds of property, real, personal and mixed, both for itself and as agent for others; to build, construct, furnish, lease, sell, maintain and manage office buildings, apartment houses, blocks, shops, dwelling houses and structures of all kinds and to collect the rents therefrom; to make and obtain loans upon real estate, improved or unimproved; to carry on the general business of insurance of persons and property, including thereunder the transaction of a general life, fire, marine, casualty, plate-glass, burglary, and guaranty insurance business; and to do all things necessary, incidental and convenient to the conduct of a general real estate, insurance, rental and brokerage business.

The principal place of business of this corporation shall be at the City of Duluth, Minnesota.

ARTICLE II.

The time of the commencement of this corporation shall be the 23rd day of January, 1914, and the period of duration thereof shall be thirty (30) years.

ARTICLE III.

The names and places of residence of the incorporators of this corporation are: A. J. Roth, Elmer F. Blu and Ethel A. Bishop, all residing at Duluth, Minnesota.

ARTICLE IV.

The government of this corporation and the management of its affairs shall be vested in a board of three (3) directors, each of whom shall be stockholders, who shall be elected annually at the annual meeting of said corporation, and who shall at the first meeting of said board held after said annual meeting elect the following officers, namely: a President, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer. Any two of said offices may be held by the same person, with the exception of the offices of President and Vice President.

The annual meeting of said corporation shall be held on the second Monday in January of each year.

ANTAGONISM BETWEEN BUSINESS AND GOVERNMENT NOW OVER, SAYS PRESIDENT WILSON TO CONGRESS

FEDERAL OWNERSHIP OF COPPER MINES IS URGED ON CONGRESS

Resolutions From All Parts of the Country Pour In.

Secretary Wilson Is in Favor of Congressional Inquiry.

Democrats Will Caucus Thursday—Unions Support MacDonald.

Washington, Jan. 20.—"That the government take immediate steps to acquire possession of the copper mines and operate them under union conditions" was the demand of resolutions by trade unions throughout the country which poured today into congress.

The resolutions came from many organizations, industrial and other quarters, and declared that conditions showed the utter incapacity of the present mine owners to operate the mines in justice to labor, in safety to the community or in harmony with the welfare of the people of the nation."

Talked With President.

After today's cabinet meeting, Secretary Wilson of the department of labor announced that he favored a congressional inquiry into both the Colorado and Michigan strike situation. The secretary said he had discussed the situation at length with President Wilson, but declined to say what his attitude was.

House Democrats will caucus next Thursday night to pass upon congressional investigation of the Colorado and Michigan mining strike. Representative Keating of Colorado obtained seventy signatures on a petition for that purpose, ten more than are necessary.

DELAWARE & HUDSON STRIKE IS SETTLED

Company Accedes to Demands of the Employes.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 20.—Operations on the Delaware & Hudson railway had reached practically normal proportions today, and the system presented a striking contrast to its paralyzed condition during the sixteen-hour strike yesterday. The strike came to an end last night when officials of the company, at the suggestion of G. W. W. Hanger of the Federal board of mediation and conciliation, acceded to the demands of the employes. By the terms of agreement, two employes who had been discharged for alleged violation of the company rules were restored to their former positions. It was believed that all the delayed freight and mail would be moved within twenty-four hours.

None of the strikers will suffer as a result of the walkout. The union employes returned to their work on exactly the same footing that they left.

Relatives Shed Light on Girl's Motive in Mother's Murder.

Julia Flake of Illinois and Her Foster Parent Arrested.

Galesburg, Ill., Jan. 20.—Light on the part alleged to have been played by 15-year-old Julia Flake in the killing of her mother was thrown on the case today by relatives of the girl, who charged Robert Higgins, her stepfather, with a grave offense against the girl.

According to these relatives, the girl was driven frantic by the lapse of time which brought no solution to her crushing problem and pointed inevitably to the day when her plight would be known.

Higgins likewise was desperate, for his wife, too, was approaching accouchment. In the confessions attributed to them, Julia and Higgins admitted the intimacy of their relations since last May.

London, Jan. 20.—Great interest was aroused today by the suit to recover $20,000 brought by Dr. Ernest Villiers Appleby, formerly lecturer at the University of Minnesota, against Baroness May de Pallandt, an American woman whose relatives live in Chicago and who twelve years ago was the wife of Baron de Pallandt. The case was tried in the king's bench division of the high court.

The dispute was a sequel to a chance meeting of the plaintiff and defendant in 1903, on a train running between Chicago and New York. This led to the infatuation of the plaintiff and subsequent close relations.

TESTIFY FOR THE STEEL CORPORATION

Witnesses Are Examined at Government Hearing in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 20.—The hearing in the government's suit to dissolve the United States Steel corporation under the anti-trust laws was resumed here this morning and probably will be terminated this evening. The testimony yesterday and today was by witnesses for the defense only.

Competition between the smaller steel manufacturers was unusually active in 1913, according to the testimony of Arch McGregor of Springfield, Mo., who was the first witness at the hearings here.

Prices charged by the National company, a subsidiary of the United States corporation, generally were higher than prices charged by competing firms, according to Alexander B. Pierce, vice president of a manufacturing company.

Horatio H. Davis, a bed manufacturer, testified that he bought steel from all steel companies doing business in this section of the country, and that competition was keen.

HUERTA'S AGENT HAS TALK WITH JOHN LIND; "NO SIGNIFICANCE"

Jesus Magon Meets Wilson's Representative at Vera Cruz.

France Protests Against Suspension of Interest Payments.

Vera Cruz, Jan. 20.—Jesus Flores Magon, minister of the interior and candidate for the vice presidency of the republic at the last elections, who arrived from Mexico City yesterday, supposedly as the representative of President Huerta, conferred at length with John Lind, President Wilson's personal representative.

After the conference Mr. Lind said he had greatly enjoyed the visit of such a distinguished Mexican, but added that the conference lacked any political significance. He said he would meet Senor Magon again today.

Asked if it were true that Senor Magon represented President Huerta, Mr. Lind said the ex-minister had given him no intimation that such was the case.

France Protests.

Paris, Jan. 20.—The French foreign office today instructed the French minister to Mexico to protest to Provisional President Huerta against the suspension of the payment of interest on the Mexican public debt.

The French note differentiates between the loans of 1910 and 1913. The first of these, secured by 62 per cent of the Mexican customs dues, received the formal approval of the French government, which authorized the listing of the bonds on the Paris bourse. The foreign office therefore protests

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Still another candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States senator announced himself today in the person of James C. McShane, a lawyer of this city. Mr. McShane was born at Litchfield, Ill., in 1862, and was reared at Mattoon, Ill. He declares he is in hearty accord with the present administration.

Six candidates thus far have announced their intention of going on the Democratic primary ballot for senator and other announcements are merely deferred.

PRESIDENT WOODROW WILSON.

TWIN CITIES' CLAIMS TOLD

Reserve Bank Committee Continues Its Hearing in Chicago.

St. Paul Sends Seven Men to Plead Her Cause.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Rival claims of Minneapolis and St. Paul to be the location of the regional bank expected to be established in the Twin Cities were urgently presented to Secretaries McAdoo and Houston at the Federal reserve bank hearing here today.

The arguments of the Minneapolis bankers were based chiefly on claims of the dominance of that city in the grain industry of the Northwest and its large banking figures. St. Paul pointed to the location there of the Federal offices and of its position as fostering the livestock and diversified farming interests of its territory.

John J. Flanagan, president of the National Stock Yards of South St. Paul, caused laughter when he declared after giving livestock statistics: "And St. Paul has always been a great Democratic city, if that has any bearing."

"It has not," asserted Mr. McAdoo as soon as the laughter had subsided. "That is the last fact that would have any bearing. This is an economic question, not a political one."

"It is so far from having any bearing that the statement was an improper one and should never have been made in this hearing," said Mr. Houston.

Differ on Territory.

F. A. Chamberlain, speaking for Minneapolis, gave Minnesota, the Dakotas, Montana and Washington as the logical Northwest regional territory. John R. Mitchell of St. Paul left off Washington, but included Northern Wisconsin.

The attitude of the secretaries was stated by Mr. McAdoo when he said to Mr. Chamberlain:

"You are making an argument as to the relative merits of St. Paul and Minneapolis. We want to know where a bank should be located best to serve this district, not where it would be of best local service. We want to know simply what is best for the elongated district you mention. It seems to us that a bank located in either city would serve as well."

Washington, Jan. 20.—President Wilson personally laid before a joint session of congress today the fundamental principles of the Democratic administration's program for dealing with trusts and "big business." The president presented the case, he said, "as it lies in the thought of the country," reiterating "that private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable," and declaring that conscientious business men throughout the nation would not be satisfied until practices now deprecated by public opinion as restraints of trade and commerce were corrected.

> " We are now about to write the additional articles of our constitution of peace," said the president, "the peace that is honor and freedom and prosperity."

Besides suggesting the scope of legislation, the president made a personal appeal for an atmosphere of friendliness and co-operation in congress, while handling the problem.

"The antagonism," he said, "between business and government is now over. We are about to give expression to the best judgment of America, to what we know to be the business conscience and honor of the land. The government and business men are ready to meet each other half way in a common effort to square business methods with both public opinion and the law."

The chief points which the president singled out as a basis for legislation were:

1—Effectual prohibition of the interlocking of directorates of great corporations—banks, rail-

WILLIAMS CONFIRMED FOR COMPTROLLER

Senator Bristow Is Only One to Vote Against Him.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The nomination of John Skelton Williams, now assistant secretary of the treasury to be comptroller of the currency, and as such ex-officio member of the Federal reserve bank board, was confirmed by the senate in executive session late yesterday.

The only opposition to the confirmation of Mr. Williams was voiced by Senators Bristow of Kansas and William Alden Smith of Michigan. Senator Bristow, a member of the banking and currency committee which conducted hearings on the nomination, addressed the senate at length. He reviewed the action of Mr. Williams in depositing funds with the Munsey Trust company when it took over the United States Trust company in this city to avert a panic.

Senators Reed of Missouri, Martin of Virginia, Mr. Williams' home state, and Chilton of West Virginia, praised the fitness of the president's nominee for the important post and urged his confirmation.

There was no roll call on the confirmation, and the only voice heard against it was that of Senator Bristow when the viva voce vote was taken.

The confirmation of Mr. Williams made him at once a member of the organization committee holding hearings in the West to determine upon locations for the Federal reserve banks.

POLICEMEN ARE LEARNING TANGO

Preparing for Annual Ball to Be Held Feb. 2 at the Armory.

Everybody's doing it now.

Doing what?

Why, they're just getting ready for the policemen's annual ball, that's all.

Ragtime music and tango dancing are the big issues at police headquarters these days. Every member of the Duluth police force may be heard humming some syncopated air to himself. Up in the assembly hall, the officers gather during lunch hours and try their best to learn the tango, hesitation and argentine steps.

The twenty-first annual ball to be given by the Duluth Police Relief association will be held at the Armory on Feb. 2. The money obtained by this dance will be turned over to the relief fund.

SUBMITS HIS ARGUMENTS

Frank B. Kellogg Completes His Address in the Franchise Case.

J. C. Netheway and Francis W. Sullivan Yet to Be Heard.

Frank B. Kellogg, senior member of the firm of Davis, Kellogg, Severance & Olds, St. Paul attorneys, engaged by the city of Duluth to appear as special counsel in the quo warranto proceedings instituted to test the validity of the legislative franchise granted the Duluth Street Railway company in 1881, concluded his arguments in district court before Judge Cant shortly before the noon adjournment. Mr. Kellogg began his argument yesterday afternoon.

The city will submit its case to the court after J. C. Netheway, assistant attorney general, representing the state and Francis W. Sullivan, of counsel for the city, have addressed the court. The quo warranto proceedings necessarily were brought in the name of the state and the assistant attorney general will, it is understood, briefly discuss the state's interest in the litigation although it is undisputed that the city is the moving spirit behind the attempt to invalidate the franchise grant of 1881. Mr. Sullivan will argue to the court on the facts developed at the trial.

Mr. Kellogg in his opening remarks yesterday afternoon declared that the case at bar was not only one of surpassing interest to the public of today, but also to the public of tomorrow.

It is a principle as old as the law itself, he said, that grants of special privileges should be construed strictly in favor of the public. Franchises, he declared, are usually prepared by attorneys for the grantee, and the public seldom has the benefit of special counsel at the inception of the grant.

Equity requires, argued Mr. Kellogg, that whenever one undertakes to maintain rights in public streets, he must show clearly a right in derogation of the common right. Authorities were cited to bear out his contention that this is particularly true where the forfeiture is imposed by express public law.

"There is every reason," said Mr. Kellogg, "why this franchise should not meet the favor of a chancellor. It is evident why a legislative grant was sought and not one from the city, because the city could not have granted a perpetual or exclusive franchise, nor one imposing rates which if enforced today would prevent all growth in this city.

"It was granted at a time when the people of Minnesota had declared by a constitutional amendment that there should be no more such claims as these which was passed to end speculation in such franchises, which had become such an evil in the state as to take up a great part of the time of the legislature.

No Street Free.

"If this franchise is valid, there is no street in Duluth that is free from their control, residential or otherwise. The city cannot build a line itself, nor can it grant to anyone else the right to build a competing line—a right which is usually the greatest regulating power in the people's hands. It is true that if the company fails to build on any street on demand, or refuses to operate any existing line, a new road may be built, but only on that street, which would not be sufficient to induce any other company to build."

Section 8 of the franchise act, he declared, contains a monopolistic clause which forever prevents the city from reducing rates of fare below 5 cents for any three-mile ride anywhere in the city. Such clauses, he argued, require a court, if possible at any time, to defeat such a provision for a permanent, perpetual rate of fare, regardless of conditions, whenever opportunity presents itself.

Referring to early grants to railroads in Minnesota, which provided that by paying a certain rate they should be exempt forever from all further taxation, Mr. Kellogg declares that they were all in the junk heap of discarded legislation. "At the first opportunity which presented itself after the railroads had been built, and millions in money had been invested," he said, "the courts applied the principles contended for by the city and state in this action and declared them invalid. There are few such grants today in the United States which have stood the test of equity in the light of modern public policy.

Public Rights.

"There is no principle in equity more cherished than the public rights of all of the people. Rules for construing private contracts do not reach the plane required for the protection of the public. If this company claims in Duluth's streets a monopoly, the court must require the clearest proof that it has it."

The conditions of the grant itself, averred Mr. Kellogg, show that the construction of the mile of line was a condition precedent, while others such as building the Rice's Point line were conditions subsequent.

"It is immaterial what it be called," argued the attorney, "it ceased upon failure of performance. This provision as to the first mile of road was a self-executing forfeiture. Even the language was taken almost verbatim from the early land grant cases, which have been construed by the supreme court of Minnesota as early as 1871 as being self-executing forfeitures in cases where the forfeitures took place upon the default itself. These decisions have never been changed and they are the law today."

"Substantian Compliance."

In resuming his arguments this morning, Attorney Kellogg touched upon the proposition of "substantial compliance." In answering the claim which had been made by attorneys for the company that the evidence had developed that the company had substantially complied with the requirements of the grant, he declared that there was no substantial compliance.

"It is admitted," he said, "that they had no equipment, not a car, horse or mule to operate it, and it was never operated until the following year. The track was hastily laid, and was not fit for operation. This is not what the franchise required. The Minnesota supreme court and other courts, have held that such 'substantial compliance' is not sufficient."

Referring to the several acts of waiver and estoppal, claimed by the company against the state and city, Mr. Kellogg stated that it was sufficient to say that the state cannot be estopped in any case, except by some act of the legislature, either directly, or by the act of some officer duly authorized by it to make the waiver. The executive officers of the state, he said, have no such authority and the state in its sovereign capacity acts only through its legislature.

"There is no claim," averred Mr. Kellogg, "that any law was ever passed waiving the failure of the company to comply with its franchise." "In fact," he said, "almost immediately after the passage of this franchise, there went into effect a constitutional amendment which prevented the legislature itself from ever making such a grant again and what it could not do directly, it was prohibited from doing indirectly, by waiver or silence.

"Neither had the city or any of its officers any such power, even if it wished to exercise it. The city never had power to grant a franchise such as this, containing perpetual, exclusive rights, and estopping itself from regulating fares forever. And what it could not do by grant, it was powerless to confer by waiver.

"Besides a section of the franchise itself expressly prohibited the city from taking any action contrary to the rights granted in the franchise of the company. This section expressly prohibited the city from waiving the forfeiture which the state had expressly imposed in the franchise itself. The city cannot be estopped so as to make effective what it had no power to give."

Rights on Streets.

Further arguing Mr. Kellogg declared that the company claimed that if it lost the suit, it would lose all rights on the streets and could be ousted and its property destroyed. "Perhaps the court would be justified in taking them at their words," he said, 'but it may well be that the city had power to estop itself so far as it had the power to grant it or contract at the time under the provisions of its existing charter. Even after 1900, subject only to a referendum, if demanded, the city had power to grant rights in the streets.

"This point interests the company more than it does the state or city," continued Mr. Kellogg. "If the company wishes to take the position that it has no rights in the street except under the void act of 1881, let it do so. Neither the state nor the city is here asking that the company be thrown off the streets. They are claiming merely that it has no right to assert these exclusive, perpetual and monopolistic features which mortgage the future of the people of Duluth and which are contrary to the present Constitution of the state and the spirit of the age.

"It may well be that in this case the court might find what the rights of the company are in the city streets, or might enter a decree protecting any rights which it might have, similar to a decree in a Des Moines case recently."

This was a self executing forfeiture, claimed Mr. Kellogg. There is not a case in the Minnesota courts, he averred, of a waiver of a state statute by an executive officer, unless under authority from the legislature itself.

"It would be intolerable," he said in closing, "if the innumerable corporations of this state must be watched constantly by the attorney general or the governor to see that they did not, in some way, exceed their power, and that any failure of these officers to discover the unlawful acts, and to stop them, would amount to granting immunity in the exercise of unlawful acts for all times thereafter, and that the state and public thereafter are precluded from questioning the illegality."

STEENERSON IS AGGRIEVED

Says He Has Been Misunderstood Regarding Postoffice Bill.

Declares He Wants Assistants Kept in Classified Service.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Representative Steenerson of Minnesota is aggrieved that his position on the proposition to take assistant postmasters out of the classified service has not been understood by his constituents. He is particularly aggrieved over a headline printed in the Duluth Herald, and because of these two things, Mr. Steenerson today gave out the following statement:

"The Associated Press dispatches for Jan. 16 contained a synopsis of Judge Moon's speech in favor of his rider on the postoffice appropriation bill to take assistant postmasters out of the classified civil service, and at the end of the dispatch it said: 'Representative Steenerson of Minnesota also spoke attacking the assistant postmaster section.'

Flooded With Letters.

Evidently this has been misunderstood, for Mr. Steenerson is now flooded with letters expressing surprise at his position. Some of these letters from the Northwest state that they (the writers) are greatly disappointed. The Duluth Herald and some Democratic papers put on big headlines as follows: 'Moon and Steenerson want assistant postmasters out of civil service.'

"One Democratic editor in Indiana expressed great gratitude to Mr. Steenerson, for the reason that there are so many Republican assistant postmasters in Indiana whose places are wanted by Democrats.

Will Uphold President.

"If the rules committee finally brings in a rule to put the rider taking assistant postmasters out of the civil service before the house, Mr. Steenerson expects to speak against it and to strongly uphold the president and the postmaster general in their attitude in favor of civil service."

WEST DULUTH CURLERS

Thomas E. Quinn, now called the "man who put the con in consolation," achieved the record of being the skip of the only West Duluth rink to "bring home the bacon" from the recent Northwestern bonspiel. Mr. Quinn and his gallant stone hurlers gathered into camp the consolation prize and incidentally that was the only silver won by any of the representatives of the Western Curling club at the big 'spiel.

Tom is one of the youngsters in the game, being still under age and still attending school. His feat of taking the head prize in this contest has caused considerable flurry among the "seasoned" players.

Quinn takes his honors lightly. His address last night at the club on "How I Won the Trophy" was most interesting. The members of his rink were George Mallory, Jr., Joe McDonald and Simpson third. During the consolation event he played with three men, Mallory being unable to play.

Conditions at the Western Curling rink last night were more suitable to boating than to curling. The three games scheduled for last night will be played this evening and an additional game between Wieland and Ilits will also be played.

Members gathered in the clubroom and held an hour's "post mortem" on the recent bonspiel. Prominent among the speakers were Frank H. Wade, Sr., Emil J. Zaun, W. M. Evered, Charles Ilits and H. C. Brown, who discoursed on "The Luck of the Other Fellow, or How I Came to Lose."

This evening the club has also planned to entertain at skating. Band music will be furnished between 8 and 10 o'clock for this purpose.

MRS. METHOD DIES.

Well Known West Duluth Woman Succumbs to Typhoid Fever.

Mrs. Bridget A. Method, 39 years old, wife of Victor Method, 325 North Fifty-ninth avenue west, died at 6:30 o'clock this morning after an illness of seven weeks from typhoid fever. Mrs. Method had been a resident of West Duluth for twenty-two years and leaves besides her husband seven children.

The children are Mrs. Henry J. Sullivan, Gordon, Harold, Russel, Victor, Leo and Marie Method. She also leaves her mother, Mrs. Johanna Dushmaw, two sisters, Mrs. O. F. Richter and Miss Ellen Martin, and one brother, Joseph Dushmaw, all of whom reside at Saginaw, Mich.

Mrs. Method was an active member of the ladies' auxiliary of the A. O. H. and also of the Ladies' society of the St. James Catholic church. The funeral arrangements will be made this evening.

RECEPTION FOR CHURCH MEMBERS.

The official board of the Asbury Methodist church, Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street, will entertain tomorrow evening at a reception for members of the congregation. A program of vocal and instrumental music and addresses has been arranged following which an informal social evening will be enjoyed.

Among the principal speakers will be Rev. W. H. Farrell, pastor of the church; Rev. George E. Silloway, pastor of the Grace M. E. church; Rev. W. Grant Pritz, pastor of the Merritt Memorial M. E. church; and Dr. M. P. Burns, superintendent of the Duluth district for the Methodist church.

The program will also include:

Song, "The Little Dustman," by the Asbury quartet, accompanied by Miss Maude E. Gilbert.
Reading, Robert Clark.
Vocal solo, Miss Eva McLyman.
Piano solo, Miss Maude E. Gilbert.
Reading, Mr. Mohaupt.
Song, "The Shoogy-Shoo," by the Asburg quartet.

SNOW MAKES THEM JUBILANT

Railroad Men, Lumbermen and Coal Dealers Are Rejoicing.

Railroad men, lumber dealers and the coal dealers are thinking seriously of forming a mutual jubilation society, all because of the downfall of snow.

Small lumber operators will be enabled to operate their camps more profitably, and the local employment agents are predicting an increase in the demand for labor.

Railroad men say that the coming of the snow will mean increased business for them, it is believed that there will be a demand for more coal, and lumber shipments are expected to materially increase during the next month.

So far the lumber operations have been far below the normal this season. The weather conditions have seriously handicapped the work. The same is true in regard to the movement of coal. The weather has been so warm that far less than the usual tonnage has moved.

"GET ME MY PISTOL!" YELLS CONGRESSMAN

Johnson of Kentucky Has Threatened to Kill Washington Lawyer.

Washington, Jan. 20.—A first fight between Representative Johnson of Kentucky and John R. Shields, a Washington attorney, broke up a meeting today of the house committee on District of Columbia. After the two men had clashed and several blows were struck, Representative Johnson broke away, shouting:

"Get me my pistol! I'll kill him!"

Mr. Shields was knocked down before clerks of the committee, with several spectators, could quiet the two combatants. Two clerks tried to hold the Kentuckian, but he broke away and dashed off for his private room, shouting for his revolver.

Nobody Stayed Around.

A dozen were in the room when Johnson started away, but his demand for firearms soon emptied the office. When he returned, only the clerks remained. The Kentuckian berated them for interfering, and the incident closed.

The clash between the two men followed a hearing on a bill to increase the salaries of crossing policemen, whom Shields represented.

Representative Johnson declared he heard that Mr. Shields had "collected a large lobbyist's fee" during the last congress, and to vote the proposed increase might be "voting somebody a $4,000 or $5,000 lobby fee."

Shields demanded an opportunity "to reply to false statements," and at that Johnson struck the lawyer a blow straight from the shoulder that caught the attorney under the eye and sent him to the floor.

DENIED HALL; WILL SUE BEMIDJI, MINN.

An Anti-Catholic Lecturer Wants Damages for Being Barred.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Unable to get a hall, Theodore Sims, an anti-Catholic lecturer from Bay City, Mich., spoke to a street crowd of 150 persons from the steps of the city hall here last night and said that suit would be brought against the city of Bemidji by I. B. Ibertson, coroner of Beltrami county, who brought Sims to Bemidji.

Several days ago Ibertson leased the hall but when the purpose of the lecturer became known, its use was denied and when Sims and Ibertson followed by a crowd of men and boys went to the hall last night, they found it locked.

Aged Couple Celebrate.

Milnor, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Wedded sixty years ago in Norway, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Peterson of this city celebrated their anniversary. Mr. Peterson, aged 94 years, is still spry and active, although his wife, fifteen years his junior, is an invalid. All of the surviving children and grandchildren of the aged couple participated in the anniversary celebration.

Heat that defeats blizzards!

When the blustering blizzards of old winter force the mercury below the zero line and attack the windward sides of your home, if you have placed your trust in old-fashioned ways of heating you sadly discover how non-dependable they are! Even while rough winter buffets your house with bleak blasts—you can stop the affliction (in a very short time and without disturbance) by putting in a blizzard-defying outfit of

The test time of good heating!

AMERICAN RADIATORS & IDEAL BOILERS

IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators are carried in our warehouses in all the large shipping centers of the United States. An outfit can be quickly installed without interfering with old heater, which remains in service until the IDEAL Boiler is fired up and making your home delightful all over. Act now, before the zero days and high winds!

The operation of an IDEAL-AMERICAN outfit is not affected by outside weather conditions; for, be there calm or storm, there is a constant circulation of heat within the piping and radiators, which is positive—as sure to carry steady heat to the windward side of the home as to protected rooms; all rooms, halls, bath-rooms, bays and corners are uniformly comfortable.

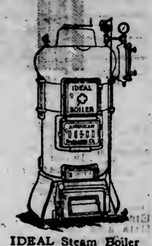

A No. 4121 IDEAL Boiler and 420 sq. ft. of 38-in. AMERICAN Radiators, costing the owner $210, were used to heat this cottage. At this price the goods can be bought of any reputable, competent Fitter. This did not include costs of labor, pipe, valves, freight, etc., which are extra and vary according to climatic and other conditions.

In IDEAL Boilers the rich coal-gases are burned and turned into heat for the rooms, rather than being liberated in the building, or escaping up the chimney (which means fuel-waste.) No dust and dirt thrown into the rooms; much cleaning labor is saved to the women. AMERICAN Radiators have the smoothest finish for painting to match the walls, are free from leaks and noises and a century of use will not wear them out.

The blizzard-defying, reliable character of IDEAL-AMERICAN heating, its fuel-economies and long-wearing qualities, make the purchase a solid investment; for it insures higher rentals, contented tenants, and "money-back" if building is sold. These are the reasons why so many real-estate dealers mention our heating outfits when advertising for tenants or buyers.

Drop us a line today and tell us the needs of any building in which you are interested—home, church, school, store, etc. Booklets and special information are free—you incur no obligations by asking us questions.

IDEAL Steam Boiler showing Sylphon Check- and Draft-Damper Regulator—all metal; no diaphragms or parts to wear out; gives sure heat control and saves running up and down stairs.

ATTACKS THE ALASKA PLAN

Senator McCumber Flays Whole Theory of Government Ownership.

Jones Questions Fairness of Tests of Bering Coal.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The bill proposing the building of a government railway in Alaska encountered its first vigorous opposition in the senate when Senator McCumber attacked it yesterday as the first step toward the "realm of paternalistic and socialistc government."

Amendments adopted by the committee on territories would provide taking over by the government of any existing lines necessary by purchase or condemnation. An amendment providing for a government steamship line from the coast terminal of the road to ports on the Pacific coast was regarded unfavorably by the committee, on the ground that it would complicate consideration of the bill.

Attacked the Principle.

Senator McCumber attacked the whole theory of government ownership. He said experience had shown that it cost the government twice as much as a private corporation to operate any enterprise.

Arguments presented during the debate for agricultural development in Alaska, he declared, were without merit.

"Why should the government develop gold producing regions?" McCumber asked. "It cannot be eaten; it is not good for clothing; it merely adds to the bulk of the coinage. The man who digs it from the ground benefits."

During the discussion of Alaska's coal resources, Senator Clark of Wyoming declared that while chemical tests had shown Bering district coal to be better than the West Virginia products, actual naval tests aboard ship proved that the "Bering field actually falls down" in supplying coal the navy could use.

Questions Coal Tests.

Senator Jones replied that he had a letter from a former member of congress saying that the coal used in the naval tests aboard the cruiser Maryland was not properly gathered, and did not furnish a fair sample of the product of the field.

OWES $1,210,275 AND HAS BUT $1,080.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 20.—H. H. Hanna, who was a member of the monetary commission appointed by President McKinley and former head of the Atlas Engine works here, has filed an involuntary petition in bankruptcy in the Federal courts. He listed his liabilities at $1,210,275, practically all of which was borrowed on his personal notes for the Atlas company, and gave his assets at $1,080.

After several years of financial troubles, the Atlas Engine works was sold about a year ago by a receiver appointed by the Federal court, the petition recites.

The largest creditor is A. G. Becker & Co. of Chicago, listed as having loaned Mr. Hanna $400,000 on his note. Other creditors are banks in Indianapolis, Chicago, New York, Pittsburg, Cleveland and Cincinnati. Mr. Hanna for many years has been prominent in financial circles here.

PRINTER, SUPPOSED DEAD, IS LOCATED.

Decatur, Ill., Jan. 20.—Mont Shultz, a printer, who disappeared from the banks of the Sangamon river near Decatur, Oct. 6, 1906, when he was supposed to have drowned, and who was last fall declared legally dead, is said to have admitted his identity in Sharon, Pa. Shultz carried $7,000 in insurance in three fraternal companies, and his so-called widow had entered suit for that amount.

Harry English, a Decatur acquaintance, confronted Edward A. Boyer in Sharon yesterday, and is said to have secured from him a confession that Boyer was an assumed name. It is stated that Boyer is engaged to marry a Sharon girl. Shultz left, besides a wife, a son and a daughter in Decatur.

AMERICAN BOY IN TROUBLE IN PARIS.

Paris, Jan. 20.—A 16-year-old boy, Edward Edwards, said to be of a prominent New York family, and two school companions, recently sent "Black Hand" letters to Mme. Alphonse Sichel and Joseph del Valle, wealthy Parisians, demanding $6,000 in gold on pain of having their children killed.

The police were notified and set a trap and captured the three boys, who sheepishly told the judges of correctional court that it was all a joke. The judges, however, thought otherwise, and imposed a sentence of one year imprisonment on Edwards and six months' imprisonment on the others. The sentences eventually were suspended.

SILVER WEDDING.

McIntosh Couple Celebrate Their Twenty-Fifth Anniversary.

McIntosh, Minn., Jan. 20—(Special to The Herald.)—Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Roese celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary yesterday by entertaining a number of their relatives and friends and taking an automobile ride of thirty miles. They were married at Maiden Rock, Wis., Jan. 19, 1899, where they resided until 1897, when they moved to Osceola, where Mr. Roese established the Sun at that place. Later they removed to Hudson, Wis., and from there to the West. About a year ago he purchased the Globe at Worthington, Minn., and about three months ago removed to this city where they now reside. Mr. Roese is publisher of the Times.

SUPERVISORS REMOVED.

Judge Rules Wisconsin Officials Were Not Properly Appointed.

Hurley, Wis., Jan. 20—The town of Mercer was deprived of practically all of its officials by the ruling just made by Judge Risjord, who held they had been illegally named. The court order removes P. F. Ryan, H. La Porte and John Smith, members of the board of supervisors; Edward Evenson, treasurer, and M. E. Brandt.

The action was started by popular petition. The court appointed the following to fill the vacancies until the spring election: D. J. Shea, chairman; A. J. Krouse, Calvin Eroit, supervisors; William Hoffman, clerk, and William Hobbs, treasurer.

LUMBERMEN TO MEET AT FARGO.

PROGRESSIVES TO DISCUSS CAMPAIGN.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The initial gun of the 1914 political campaign in North Dakota will be fired here Thursday when a meeting of the Progressive Republicans will be held. There are many matters in connection with the 1912 campaign to be closed, including the settlement of some bills, printing especially. After the disposal of this business, the meeting will naturally gravitate into a discussion of possible candidates on the ticket for the next campaign.

CONFERENCE OF EXPERTS

Interesting Program for Agricultural Meeting Here in February.

Many Addresses of Value to Northern Minnesota Settlers.

The complete program for the agricultural conference to be held in the Commercial clubrooms on Feb. 4 and 5, which was announced in The Herald several weeks ago, has just been issued by A. B. Hostetter, district supervisor for Northeastern Minnesota.

In his invitation to those interested to attend Mr. Hostetter says that the purpose of the conference is to recognize the importance of the several agents in agricultural development and to bring them into helpful relationship, thereby increasing their efficiency in conserving the agricultural resources of this part of the country, in promoting the business of farming, bettering farmhouses and to aid, in general, the uplifting of this section of the state.

This conference will be composed of representatives of the division heads of farm management, field studies and demonstrations of the Federal department of agriculture, Washington, D. C.; the state leader and district supervisors of the agricultural extension work and the home economics department of the state university of Minnesota; the state superintendents of schools and high school inspectors; the county agricultural agents; county superintendents of schools; teachers of agricultural in high schools and consolidated rural schools; superintendents of the experiment station at Grand Rapids and the demonstration farm school at Duluth; the United States supervisor of boys' and girls' clubs in Minnesota; delegates from boards of county commissioners in counties which have county agents and those who may contemplate having county agents in the future; officers of the Northern Minnesota Development association; officers and members of commercial clubs representing business organizations.

The program is as follows:

Wednesday.

10:30 a. m.—Assemble at rooms of Duluth Commercial club, to become acquainted and listen to an address by Mayor W. J. Prince of Duluth.

1:30 p. m.—Address: "The Relation of the Federal Department of Agriculture to the County Agent Work," J. C. McDowell, United States department of agriculture.

2:15 p. m.—Address: "Land Clearing," Harry Thompson, United States department of agriculture.

3 p. m.—Address: "County Organization," A. D. Wilson, director of agricultural extension, University of Minnesota.

3:15 p. m.—Address: "The Farmers' Wife as a Factor in Agricultural Development," Miss Josephine Berry, profesor of home economics, University of Minnesota; address, "The Commercial Interests in Their Relation to Agricultural Development," C. P. Craig, chairman agricultural committee, Duluth Commercial club; address, "The Part of the County Superintendent of Schools in Agricultural Development," Miss Annie E. Shelland, superintendent of schools, Koochiching county.

Thursday.

9:30 a. m.—Five to seven minute talks by each of the county agents on the work they have done; address, "The County Agent," R. E. Palmer, district supervisor, Western Minnesota; five to seven minute talks from the agricultural instructors in the schools, on their work; address, George B. Alton, high school inspector.

1:30 p. m.—Address, "Boys' and Girls' Clubs," T. A. Erickson, state supervisor of boys' and girls' clubs.

1:15 p. m.—Address, "The Work of the Experiment Station," A. J. McGuire, superintendent station at Grand Rapids; address, "The Work of the Demonstration Farm," Mark Thompson, superintendent Northeast Demonstration farm and station.

3 p. m.—Address, (five to seven minutes) on "The Purpose of the Conference."

STEAMER WALDO MAY BE SAVED

Vessel Fast on Gull Island May Be Towed to Marquette.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Provided favorable weather is experienced it is expected that within a week Marquette harbor will be the refuge of the steamer L. C. Waldo, wrecked on Gull rock, Manitou island, during the great storm the early part of November. The big tug Favorite, captained by Alex Cunning of Port Huron and carrying a crew of twenty-four men, is engaged on the task of releasing the boat. The Waldo is unprotected from the force of the waves and it is believed it would not survive the winter if left in its exposed position. The steamer is a mass of ice to the top of the funnels.

Removing Ore Cargo.

The work for several weeks has been directed to the removal of the cargo of iron ore. Slow progress has been made. Stormy weather has permitted of operations only five days out of every fifteen. About one-half of the cargo of 7,000 tons has been taken out and placed on scows and the wreckers are now employed in patching the holes in the steamer's bottom.

COURTHOUSE BURNS.

Incendiaries Believed to Have Fired Dunn County, N. D., Building.

Manning, N. D., Jan. 20.—Incendiaries are believed to have fired the Dunn county courthouse here early yesterday.

The treasurer's vaults are intact, but the officers are not so sure about the auditor's and register's vaults.

Kirkbride and Barke of the Twin Cities Accounting company had been working on the records for a month.

Make Hairs Disappear Almost Like Magic

(Toilet Tips)

Advocates of the electric needle for removing stubborn hairy growths now concede that a simple paste made with powdered delatone and water is fully as efficacious and is devoid of pain, while the cost is trifling. The delatone paste is left on the hairy surface about two minutes and when it is rubbed off all traces of hair vanish. Washing leaves the skin soft, smooth and spotless. Be careful to see that it is delatone you get or you may be disappointed with the result. Advertisement.

BREAK THROUGH ICE.

North Dakotans Driving Across Lake Have Close Call.

Norma, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—While driving across the lake on the ice with a team, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Streech and Miss Rosie Schultz were precipitated into the water when the ice broke, letting the team and vehicle through into water eight feet deep. The women were finally transferred to solid ice and after a desperate struggle Mr. Streech managed to save the team, leaving the vehicle and robes in the lake.

FAMILY AWAY; HOME BURNED.

Ryder, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—During the absence of the family the farmhouse and barn of William Poulison, six miles from here, were burned. The flames were seen both in the house and barn by neighbors, who were unable to save anything. The insurance was small and the family lost everything except what they wore. It is believed that the fire was of incendiary origin, but there is no clew to the firebug.

QUITS BENCH TO RUN FOR CONGRESS.

Aberdeen, S. D., Jan. 20.—Judge Frank McNulty of the Fifth circuit has sent his resignation as circuit judge to Governor Bryne, effective on Feb. 1, in order to devote his time to his canvass for the Republican nomination for congress from the Second district.

MILL CITY EXPRESS OFFICE LOSES $2,700.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 20.—A shortage of $2,700 in the collection accounts of the Great Northern Express company's Minneapolis office has been made public through the arrest in Vicksburg, Miss., of a man giving the name of A. W. Brown, who, a message to Chief of Police Oscar Martinson said, confessed to the embezzlement of that amount.

LIFE SAVERS ARE LEARNING WIRELESS.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Capt. McCormick and other members of the lifesaving crew at the Portage Lake canal are learning wireless telegraphy this winter. It is feared the study will be taken up following a visit of the superintendent to the district last fall. It is understood that all the more important lifesaving stations on the Great Lakes are to be equipped with the wireless system this year.

YARDMASTERS TO HAVE BANQUET

Railroad Officials and Big Shippers Will Be Their Guests.

The first annual banquet of the yardmasters of all of the roads at the Head of the Lakes, members of the United Yardmasters' association, will take place at the Commercial club tomorrow night. Their guests will be representatives of the larger industries at the Head of the Lakes and the higher officials of the railroads entering here. Every road entering the two cities at this end of the lakes will be represented.

The United Yardmasters' association was formed here about eighteen months ago, the yardmasters of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific roads forming it originally and within two months taking in the yardmasters of all the roads here. The movement spread and has now become international, having many members in Canada, the American Northwest and in the Western and Middle states.

It has been found to be a very useful organization, for through it the yardmasters can keep in closer touch with the road officials and with shippers. It is expected that there will be fully 100 guests at the dinner.

AMERICAN LOSES MEXICAN CLAIM.

Mexico City, Jan. 20.—The supreme court has rendered a decision against Thomas Coleman, an American, who had entered claim to oil properties of which he was dispossessed in the island of Potreros, near Tuxpam. The decision is in favor of the Oil Fields company of Mexico, a concern connected with the interests of Lord Cowdray.

Last November the American charge d'affaires, Nelson O'Shaughnessy, made representations to the Mexican foreign office, asking for the early adjudication of the claim.

Veteran Minnesota Banker Retires.

St. Peter, Minn., Jan. 20.—Influenced by his advanced years, F. A. Donahower, 84 years old, Minnesota's oldest banker, has retired from active business. More than three decades ago, five years before this state's admission to the Union, Mr. Donahower embarked in the banking business in St. Paul.

Fatal Country Dance.

Rochester, Minn., Jan. 20.—As the result of a fight at a dance at Oronoco, a few miles from this city, Saturday night, Allen Peiffer, a laborer, died Monday, and John Baker, aged 60, vice president of the Oronoco State bank, is under arrest. County Attorney Allen and Coroner Crew will hold an inquest.

For Grey Hair

I Will Tell You Free How to Restore to Your Hair the Natural Color of Youth.

No Dyes or Other Harmful Method. Results in Four Days.

Let me send you free full information about a harmless liquid that will restore the natural color of your hair, no matter what your age nor the cause of your greyness. It is not dye nor a stain. Its effects commence after 4 days use. I am a woman who became prematurely grey and old looking at 27, but a scientific friend told me of a simple method he had perfected after years of study. I followed his advice and in a short time my hair actually was the natural color of my girlish days. This method is entirely different from anything else I have ever seen or heard of. Its effect is lasting and it will not wash or rub off or stain the scalp. It is neither sticky or greasy its use cannot be detected; it will restore the original natural shade to any grey, bleached or faded hair, no matter how many things have failed. It succeeds equally with both sexes, and all ages.

Write me today giving your name and address plainly, stating whether lady or gentleman (Mr., Mrs. or Miss) and enclose 2 ct. stamp for return postage and I will send you full particulars that will enable you to restore the original color of youth to your hair, making it soft, fluffy and natural. Write today. Address, Mrs. Mary K. Chapman, Apt. 441-F, Exchange St., Providence, R. I.

MINE WORKERS MEET.

First Biennial Session Opens at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 20.—The twenty-fourth convention of the United Mine Workers of America convened here this morning in their first biennial meeting. The ruling for holding the conventions every two years was adopted at the session here in 1912.

The only business on the program for this morning was the appointment of a committee on organization that will be named by President John P. White. The Central Labor union of Indianapolis then will assume charge of the session.

CLOQUET MAN WANTS DEBATE ON SCHOOLS.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 20.—To uphold the public schools denounced by J. J. Hill in a recent speech, Peter Oleson, superintendent of the schools of Cloquet, has proposed a debate between a picked team from the Cloquet high school and a team representing Hamline university, to argue the question: "That the public school system of the United States is a failure."

WILL TAKE AN APPEAL

East Fourth Street Owners Object to Paving Assessment.

Hold Meeting and Employ Attorney to Conduct Case.

Appeals from the assessment for the paving of East Fourth street between Fourteenth and Twenty-third avenues will be taken by taxpayers whose property is affected.

This was determined upon at a meeting held last evening at the home of W. D. Underhill, and which was attended by about twelve property owners. The paving was done by P. McDonnell, and has been the subject of much discussion and condemnation since its completion.

Those present at the meeting retained Judge C. L. Lewis to take charge of the case. The appeal has to be made before Feb. 1, as on that date the assessments otherwise would have to be paid. Those affected and who were not at the meeting may join in the movement by signing the subscription list started last evening and paying $10. The idea is not to mulct property owners for the money, but each one must signify his or her desire to appeal and must bear a share of the expense attendant thereto in order to be included in the suit. The appeal is taken not on the affected property as a whole, but on each separate lot, so those who do not appeal from the assessment against their lots must settle with the city by Feb. 1 without regard to the fact that others have appealed. The list may be signed at the office of Cooley & Underhill.

The property owners are objecting to the assessment on the ground that the work is entirely unsatisfactory. The question of the street railway's share will also be involved.

LAUDS NEW MONEY LAW

E. H. Doyle of Detroit Talks to Bank Supervisors.

New York Bankers Hear Foreign Systems Described.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—The new currency bill is a preventive for panics and business depression, in the opinion of Edward H. Doyle of Detroit, who spoke at the convention yesterday of the National Association of Bank Supervisors, of which he is president. Supervisors from twenty states are here discussing ways and means of carrying out the provisions of the law.

Hear Foreign Methods.

New York, Jan. 20.—Banking methods of three countries were the subject which three prominent foreign bankers presented last night at a banquet given by bankers' Group VIII of the New York State Bankers' association. Dr. Jacob Reisser of Berlin dealt with banking in Germany and the position of the Reichsbank; James S. Simpson of Liverpool described the English monetary system and its relation to the Bank of England, and Robert Mason spoke on the currency and credit system of France.

James S. Alexander, president of the National Bank of Commerce of New York, the toastmaster of the evening, in his introductory remarks said the Federal reserve act contained many desirable features, and that bankers would lend their assistance to make the law a success. He believed, however, that there was room for improvement in the measure through the medium of amendment.

Told of Reichsbank.

Dr. Riesser sketched the status and character of the German Reichsbank, which he said was a semi-public institution under the management of the empire and capitalized at $45,000,000, privately subscribed. Its statutory reserves, he said, stood at present at $17,500,000.

After explaining the method of administration of the bank and its many branches throughout the empire, Dr. Reisser said that from the German point of view, a banking law subject to politics was doomed to failure. "Politics," he said, "may sometimes spoil the character; but always spoils business."

The speaker concluded with the statement that all institutions, sooner or later, will perish unless they remember at all times "that there is something higher than the exclusive pursuit of one-sided and egotistic pension and private interests."

Letter From Wilson.

A letter from President Wilson regretting his inability to be present was read. The president gave the pressure of engagements as his reason for declining, and added:

"It is literally out of the question for me to add any more without simply shutting myself out from all opportunity to work upon important subjects out of office hours. It would be very unconscientious for me to give myself any further liberty from my desk, for the evenings are the only time I have to myself."

DIES IN IDAHO

Edward C. Helm Passes Away in the West.

Advices have just been received here of the death of Edward C. Helm at Boise, Idaho, from the effects of a stroke of apoplexy.

Up to the time of his leaving here for the West eight years ago, he had lived all his life in Duluth, and he will be remembered by a wide circle of acquaintances. Joseph Helm, bookkeeper with the French & Bassett company was an uncle.

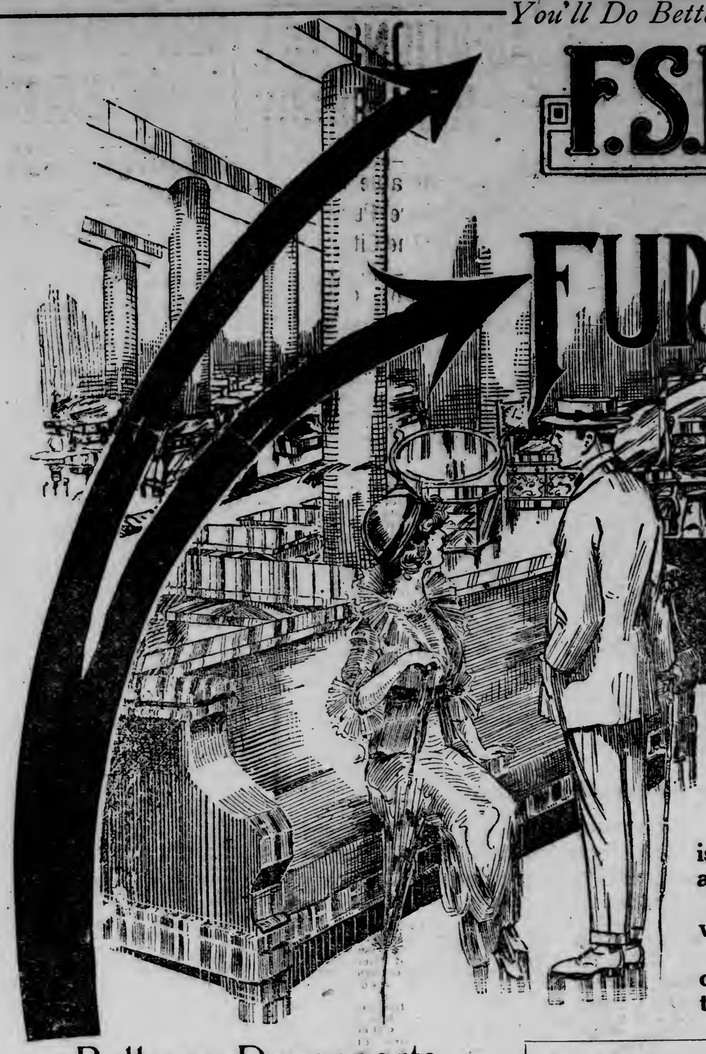

Mr. Helm was for a time connected with the fire department and later he was for several years city salesman with the Stone-Ordean-Wells company, running the cash wagon. He was 39 years of age at the time of his death.

Four Smugglers End Terms.

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 20.—Rickardo Magon, Liberado Rivero, Enrique Flores Magon and Anselmo Figueroa were released yesterday from the McNeil island penitentiary after serving twenty-three months for having plotted to smuggle arms across the Mexican border. The quartet announced they would return to Los Angeles, but had no plans for the future.

NEW INCOME TAX REGULATIONS

Attorney Advises Not Making Returns Before Middle of February—Enforcement Will Be Strict.

(By J. J. Robinson.)

As new income tax regulations are still being issued by the treasury department which change former regulations and give new interpretations of the law, it is advisable not to make any return to the government until the middle of February, when it is hoped the treasury department will have ceased to alter former regulations.

The latest ruling is to the effect that individuals whose net income from March 1, 1913, to Dec. 31, 1913, was $2,500 or over must make returns and claim their exemptions. Under a former ruling an individual was not required to make a return if his net income fell below $3,000 during the above period.

According to instructions issued by the treasury department on Jan. 13, 1914, to income tax agents and inspectors, the government intends to be very rigid in the enforcement of the income tax law. The instructions are as follows:

"The duties of officers of this class are to ascertain and report the names of persons who in their opinion are liable to the income tax and who have failed to make return as required by law; to inquire into income-tax returns where there is any suspicion that the return made is erroneous; to examine the books and accounts of persons who have made returns, for the purpose of ascertaining and reporting as to whether the law has been complied with, when so ordered by the agent in charge of the division to which they are assigned; to inquire into the manner in which income-tax employes are discharging their official duties and to report those who have failed in this respect. For the purpose of securing such information as they may desire they may visit the office of any state, county, or municipal officer, and for the general purpose of their employment may confer with any collector or deputy collector of internal revenue within the territory in which they are authorized to operate."

CONTRACTORS TELL OF SLOW PAYMENTS

Johnson and Mott of Utica Testify in John Doe Hearings.

New York, Jan. 20.—R. W. Sherman, former Democratic mayor of Utica, and brother of the late Vice President James S. Sherman, threatened James W. Johnson, a state highway contractor of Utica, that if he did not contribute to the Democratic party he "would get no accommodations at Albany," according to Johnson's testimony yesterday at District Attorney Whitman's John Doe investigation into state highway graft.

Johnson said he declined to contribute, and that the final payment of $3,275 on a state road contract he had completed was held up by the state highway department for nine months. Former Mayor Sherman approached him in regard to contributing just before the election of 1911, Johnson said.

"I never found out the reason for holding up of my contract, but I felt that my refusal to contribute had something to do with it," Johnson testified.

Another Similar Story.

Daniel L. Mott, another Utica contractor, testified that, solicited in 1912 by somebody who said he represented Everett P. Fowler, the so-called Tammany 'bagman,' he, too, declined to contribute, and that pay on his contract was held up from November, 1912, to June, 1913.

Mott testified also that in 1911, after he had declined to go to Syracuse to see Fowler, he was unable for two months to get the state highway department to sign a contract for road work on which he was the lowest bidder. Meantime, he said, he was solicited by the McGuire company of Syracuse and by Charles A. Murphy, Jr., nephew of Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, for the bonding of his contract. They wrote letters first, he said, and then sent telegrams, but he declined to give them the business.

"Murphy said in his last telegram," the witness testified, "that if I would say the word, he'd see that I got my contract signed that day."

BANKERS SAY MONEY WILL BE TIGHTER

Improvement in Business Increases Call for Funds at Leading Banks.

Bankers throughout the country are now counting upon a stiffening up in the money situation from now on, as a result of the improved call for funds noted in all branches of business.

A Chicago banker in discussing the subject yesterday said: "Last year we had a break in rates about the middle of January, and this year we have had another like it. From the present general conditions, I look to see a strong money market a little later on.

"Everything is, however, different now from a year ago. During 1913 there was continued dread of something going to happen from the year's start to its finish. There was uncertainty regarding the tariff and uncertainty over the currency bill. With both out of the way, we should now be able to work ahead."

A large increase in the cash resources of Chicago banks is shown in their statements of conditions at the close of business Jan. 13, made at the call of the comptroller of the currency. Cash resources increased $21,043,149, or 11.37 per cent. Loans decreased 8.96 per cent. Deposits amounted to $465,697,887, a decrease of $6,817,562, or 1.46 per cent. Cash resources to deposit liabilities showed a ratio of 44.25 per cent compared with 40.37 per cent last October and 41.13 per cent in October, 1913.

Why Should I Smoke TUXEDO?

TUXEDO is the logical smoke for millionaires because it is impossible to buy a better tobacco.

Tuxedo is the logical smoke for the economical man because there are 40 pipefuls in a ten-cent tin—making the average cost per pipeful only one-fourth of a cent!

To buy cheaper tobacco means to get less pleasure out of smoking, because it is impossible to make a tobacco as good as Tuxedo at less than the Tuxedo price!

GIRLS! BEAUTIFUL, CHARMING HAIR, NO DANDRUFF---25 CENT DANDERINE

Try This! Doubles Beauty of Your Hair and Stops It Falling Out.

You hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any druggist or toilet counter, and just try it.

MONTANA SHERIFF AND WOMAN ARE SHOT

Former Friends Fight Duel; Officer Killed; Woman Wounded.

Miles City, Mont., Jan. 20.—Sheriff M. Moses of Rosebud county, was shot and killed yesterday at Rosebud; Mrs. John H. Burgess received a rifle bullet in her left shoulder, and John H. Burgess, formerly a close friend of the sheriff is in jail, charged with killing the officer.

Sheriff Moses was shot when attempting to serve a warrant on Burgess, charging him with disturbing the peace. Burgess was standing on the porch near his wife when the sheriff approached, and then the shooting began. When the firing stopped, the sheriff was dead and Mrs. Burgess had collapsed. Burgess announced he would await the arrival of officers and surrender.

Domestic trouble in the sheriff's family had caused an estrangement between him and Burgess.

PATENTS TO OREGON LAND FORFEITED

Hewitt Company Loses Its Fight With the Government.

Portland, Or., Jan. 20.—Twenty-six patents to timber lands north of Sumpter, Dakota county, belonging to the Hewitt Land company, holding corporation for Henry Hewitt, Jr., a Tacoma millionaire, were ordered forfeited to the government yesterday by United States Judge Bean on the ground that fraudulent methods were used in securing them.

The claims are covered with yellow pine timber and are valued at more than $3,000 each. Professional entrymen were employed by agents of Hewitt to locate on these lands for small fees, the government alleged in its suit instituted two years ago.

LET SHIPBUILDERS BUILD FOR NAVY.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Secretary Daniels announced that he favored the opening to shipbuilders of the bidding for American warship contracts, in order to force greater competition among private plants in the United States. Only through keen competition, the secretary holds, can the government expect to get reasonably low prices.

The army appropriation bill, now ready for report to the house, will contain a provision to require the government to manufacture, instead of purchase, the bulk of its munitions of war. A similar provision will be in the fortifications appropriation bill. Rear Admiral Strauss, chief of ordnance, told the house naval committee that the government at the Indian Head, Md., proving grounds had produced powder at 40½ cents a pound, while the only private bidder, the Du Pont company, quoted 53 cents.

$746,250 FOR ROAD WORK IN MINNESOTA

Supplemental Report Filed on Bill for Federal Aid.

Washington, Jan. 20.—A supplemental report on the bill to appropriate $25,000,000 for Federal aid to road construction in the various states has been filed in the house by Representative Shackleford, chairman of the house roads committee. A special rule making this bill in order as an amendment to the postoffice appropriation bill, now before the house, probably will be acted upon by the rules committee.

The bill proposes to divide the appropriation among the states in proportion to the rural delivery routes and postroads in each state. Tables setting forth the mileage of these roads in each state were included in the report.

Another table gave the maximum amount of Federal aid each state might receive under the provision of the bills. This table includes the following figures:

Illinois, $501,250; Indiana, $1,106,250; Iowa, $936,000; Kansas, $773,750; Michigan, $923,750; Minnesota, $746,250; Montana, $128,750; North Dakota, $282,500; South Dakota, $298,750; Wisconsin, $752,500.

RAISE $1,770 FOR LUSITANIA MEN.

Fish Guard, Jan. 20.—The saloon passengers of the steamship Lusitania, which arrived last night, subscribed $1,770 to be divided among the crew of the Canadian brigantine Mayflower and the Lusitania's first officer, Alexander, and the volunteer crew which at great peril rescued the shipwrecked sailors on Jan. 16. An illuminated address will also be presented to Capt. Dow of the Lusitania, and a gold watch to First Officer Alexander in recognition of their bravery.

Aluminum Plant Burns.

Wellsville, N. Y., Jan. 20.—The National Aluminum works, occupying an entire block, was destroyed by fire last night. The loss is estimated at $250,000.

FEEL HEADACHY, DIZZY, BILIOUS? CLEAN YOUR LIVER! A DIME A BOX

Sick headaches! Always trace them to lazy liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or a sick stomach. Poisonous, constipated matter, gases and bile generated in the bowels, instead of being carried out of the system, is reabsorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, sickening headache. Cascarets will remove the cause by stimulating the liver, making the bile and constipation poison move on and out of the bowels. One taken to-night straightens you out by morning—a 10-cent box will keep your head clear, stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular, and make you feel bright and cheerful for months. Children need Cascarets, too.

ADDITIONS TO THE LIBRARY

Best Obtainable Books on Architecture Purchased By the City.

Large Amount of Fiction and Juvenile and Scandinavian Literature.

Owing to the great demand for works concerning architecture and building by patrons of the public library during the last year Miss Frances Earhart, the librarian, has just purchased one of the finest sets of books on those subjects obtainable. The work, entitled "Materiaux et Documents," consists of ten volumes by A. Reguenet written in French. The books are beautifully designed, illustrated and bound.

The books have been purchased especially for the architects of Duluth, who in common with members of their profession throughout the country are deeply interested in the current movement in the United States to beautify the architecture of the country. Miss Earhart, before deciding upon the purchase of the present set of books, made a thorough search of the works in the architectural and building field, and then made her selection, believing it to be the best obtainable.

It would require pages to enumerate the features of the new volumes. There is matter on ornamental design of every description; treatises on drawing, wood carving, iron work, embroidery and stencil design, plaster work and all kinds of decoration.

The books, while prepared essentially for architects and builders, contain many features that are of interest to the layman. Women of fashion might be a little surprised in scanning the books to find illustrations of many beautiful Grecian draperies that are now being duplicated by the Paris fashion designers and many of the latest "hints from Paris" are found to have been in vogue more than 2,000 years ago.

In order that the new books may be of the greatest possible use to the architects of the city, Miss Earhart will forward a notice of their delivery to the Duluth Architectural association so that it may be read at the next meeting.

In addition to this set of books a large fiction order has been sent in, and the books are expected in about three weeks. Other orders include juvenile books and a fine assortment of Swedish and Norwegian works.

CARY IS INQUISITIVE ABOUT THE SCHOOLS

Sends List of Questions to Inspectors in Wisconsin.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 20.—"A good school should show good housekeeping. Are the janitor, the principal and the teacher good housekeepers? If not, who is at fault?

"Do not mistake football enthusiasm or undue expenditure of energy and time in social affairs for good spirit.

"What is the nature of the habits pupils are forming in this school? Are they such as will be of great service in life, or are they going to be detrimental? Are they forming habits and ideals of doing well whatever they undertake? Are they forming the habit of self-control, of courtesy, of system, of attending to their own business all the while?"

To learn just how far Wisconsin school authorities are inculating efficiency methods in the curricula, State Superintendent C. P. Cary is sending a circular letter, written to state inspectors of schools, to principals and teachers, to indicate the principal lines of investigation that inspectors will follow in their visits. The foregoing are some of the suggestions offered by the state superintendent.

"The most important thing about a school is its spirit," comments the state superintendent. "This is felt rather than seen. A good spirit in a school means harmony, good will, team work, good order without any creaking of the machinery. A good spirit in a school means a good, wholesome atmosphere for growing all sorts of virtues and social ideals."

Problems of Teachers.

The questionnaire embraces problems of the teacher as well as pupils. The inspectors are asked to find out whether teachers are of the routine, perfunctory sort, whether they are too "light weight" for the task, what they have done to improve conditions, etc.; whether the principal is timid or incompetent, a good organizer or manager.

"To get a school to function properly," concludes the state superintendent, "to keep it in good health, is the end to be sought by all concerned."

CONTRACTS "BUCK AGUE:" TAKEN TO COUNTY FARM.

Joe Vercellini, who contracted an ailment known as "buck ague" while employed as a section hand for the Missouri Pacific railroad, was yesterday taken to the county hospital for treatment. Vercellini recently returned to Duluth from St. Louis, where he had been employed for several months. The ailment from which he is suffering is rare in this part of the country but not uncommon in the so-called "malaria belt" of the South.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS' WORK

Bethany Swedish Lutheran Congregation Is Free of Debt.

Figures Show Great Accomplishments in Quarter of Century.

Interesting figures showing what Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, had accomplished since it was organized, twenty-five years ago, were given last night. Yesterday was the second day of the celebration of the church's silver anniversary. Rev. C. G. Olson, the pastor said that the congregation during the past year has wiped out the final debt of $1,250 against the church and that it now is free from financial incumbrance.

The church has a membership of 738 communicants and a total congregation including the members of the Sunday school of 1,033. The reports showed that each year since the organization the membership had steadily grown, that its receipts have increased each year and that the church has, each year, consistently raised its subscriptions to foreign and home missions.

Early reminiscenses were given by Rev. J. D. Nelsenius of Two Harbors, Rev. John A. Krantz of the Elim Swedish Lutheran church of West Duluth. Greetings were extended to the church on behalf of the mother church by Rev. C. O. Swan, pastor of the First Swedish Lutheran church and the daughter church by Rev. F. O. Hanson of Trinity English Lutheran church and Rev. Theodore Ekblad of Superior. Rev. Mr. Hanson presented Bethany congregation with a handsome metal stand for the altar as a token from Trinity congregation.

The three women's societies of the church, the Ladies' Aid and the Westra and Dorcas circles, entertained yesterday afternoon for the women of the congregation and their friends. Addresses were given by Mrs. Constance Cassel, who talked on "Importance of Work of Women in the Congregation," and reminiscences of the early days of the church were given by Mrs. Ellen Cassel of St. Peter, Mrs. Anna Johnson, Mrs. Lizzie Nordstrom, Mrs. J. Erlandson and M. H. Johnson. Mrs. Charles Eliason gave a vocal selection.

The celebration will come to a close this evening with a cantata "Bethlehem," which will be given by the choir under the direction of Miss Mabel Samuelson.

LECTURES AT BRYANT.

Dr. Schroeder Will Talk on Heredity on Wednesday Night.

The first of a series of lectures on "Heredity" to be delivered at the social centers of the city will be given tomorrow evening at the Bryant school. Dr. C. H. Schroeder will speak tomorrow night on "Heredity in Relation to the Feeble Minded."

O. S. Anderson, secretary of the Duluth Remedial Loan association, will also give a short talk on the work of this organization showing what it has done to put the loan sharks out of business.

Music and motion pictures will also be given. The organization of young girls known as the "Camp Fire Girls" will serve refreshments at the close of the program.

NEW OFFICERS INSTALLED.

Beta Council, Modern Samaritan, Holds Its Ceremonies.

Beta council, No. 2, Modern Samaritans, held its annual installation of officers last night at Columbia hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. A. E. McManus, imperial counsellor of the order, assisted by H. J. Accoenoach, imperial scribe, officiated as installing officer.

The new officers are: Mrs. M. E. Gardner, lady good samaritan; John Erickson, past good samaritan; Mrs. Gertrude Schultz, vice good samaritan; Mrs. A. Farrington, lady high priest; Mrs. Margaret Davis, lady centurian; Mrs. Hattie Burns, chief messenger; Mrs. Clara Milligan, scribe; Miss Gerda Erickson, pianist; J. N. Miller, financial scribe, and Charles E. Dice, trustee.

ORPHEUS SOCIETY'S BANQUET.

Noted Singers Will Have Fourteenth Annual Dinner and Program.

The members of the Orpheus Singing society have completed plans for their fourteenth annual banquet, which will be held at Woodmen hall, corner of Twenty-first avenue west and First street, on the evening of Jan. 30. The banquet will be open to the general public and a good program has been arranged. O. J. Olson, president of the society, will preside and W. A. Anderson will be toastmaster. Addresses will be made by Rev. J. A. Krantz, Clarence R. Magney and Dr. O. S. Olson. Vocal selections will be given by Mrs. A. Lofgren and Rev. C. W. Wermine.

First Dance in Series.

The West End Tennis club will entertain tomorrow evening at its first of a series of dances to be given in the West end this winter. The dance will be held in the Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street. It is planned to give the dancing parties every two weeks until spring. The committee in charge of the arrangements consists of Dr. R. E. Wheeler, C. H. Wester and R. R. Asplund.

Trinity Church Activities.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Trinity English Lutheran church will hold its first annual meeting tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jacob Jacobson, 2809 West Third street. Reports of the work for the last year will be received and the election of officers held.

Tomorrow evening the Trinity English congregation will hold its annual meeting in the parlors of the Bethanay Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street. Officers will be elected and plans made to complete as quickly as possibly the church now under construction at Twenty-seventh avenue west and Third street.

On Thursday evening the Ladies' Aid society will hold a celebration in honor of the first anniversary of the organization of the church. The affair will be held in the Bethany church. It will also be in the nature of a reception to the pastor, Rev. F. O. Hanson and Mrs. Hanson.

West End Briefs.

"The Broken Box" will be the subject of a discourse given by Rev. Milton Fish, pastor of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, during the revival services held in the church tonight.

David M. Schwartz of Ely, Minn., former resident of the West end, is spending a few days in this end of the city renewing acquaintances.

Miss Chrissy Hanson, a teacher in the Adams school, is reported ill at St. Mary's hospital.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Second Presbyterian church will meet in the church parlors tomorrow afternoon. A short program will be given.

Progress lodge, Degree of Honor, will hold its regular meeting Friday evening at the Columbia hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street.

HOUSE PASSES BILL TO AID AGRICULTURE

Plan Would Develop Into Annual $4,000,000 Appropriation.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The agricultural extension bill, providing for Federal aid in the dissemination of scientific farm information by practical experiments and through publications, was passed by the house by a vote of 177 to 9. Under this measure the various state agricultural colleges would receive Federal funds to finance plans for acquainting the farmers with facts established by the department of agriculture.

As it passed the house the bill provides for an immediate appropriation of $180,000, of which $10,000 will go to each state complying with the requirements of the law. This appropriation will be increased by $300,000 each year for nine years, and after a ten-year period become a permanent annual appropriation of $4,000,000.

The bill is scheduled for consideration in the senate Thursday.

THOUSANDS HAVE KIDNEY TROUBLE AND DON'T KNOW IT

Weak and unhealthy kidneys cause so much sickness and suffering and when through neglect or other causes, kidney trouble is permitted to continue, serious results may be expected.

Your other organs may need attention—but your kidneys should have attention first because their work is most important.

If you feel that your kidneys are the cause of your sickness or run down condition commence taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because if it proves to be the remedy you need and your kidneys begin to improve they will help all the other organs to health.

Prevalency of Kidney Disease.

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalency of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are among the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patients, who usually content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease constantly undermines the system.

A Trial Will Convince Anyone.

Thousands of people have testified that the mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, is soon realized and that it stands the highest for its remarkable results in the most distressing cases.

Symptoms of Kidney Trouble.

Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you suffer from annoying bladder troubles, frequently passing water at night and day, smarting or irritation in passing, brick-dust or sediment, headache, backache, lame back, dizziness, poor digestion, sleeplessness, nervousness, heart disturbance due to bad kidney trouble, skin eruptions from bad blood, neuralgia, rheumatism, lumbago, bloating, irritability, wornout feeling, lack of ambition, may be loss of flesh or sallow complexion, kidney trouble in its worst form may be stealing upon you.

Swamp-Root Is Pleasant to Take.

If you are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need, you can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles at all drug stores.

Sample Size Bottle.

SPECIAL NOTE—You may obtain a sample size bottle of Swamp-Root by enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. This gives you the opportunity to prove the remarkable merit of this medicine. They will also send you a book of valuable information, containing many of the thousands of grateful letters received from men and women who say they found Swamp-Root to be just the remedy needed in kidney, liver and bladder troubles. The value and success of Swamp-Root are so well known that our readers are advised to send for a sample size bottle. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Be sure to say you read this offer in the Duluth Daily Herald.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S ADDRESS ON TRUSTS AND MONOPOLIES

Government and Business Men Ready to Meet Half Way in a Common Effort to Square Business Methods With Both Public Opinion and the Law.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Following is the text of President Wilson's address to congress today on anti-trust reform:

"Gentlemen of the congress: In my report 'on the state of the Union,' which I had the privilege of reading to you on the second of December, last, I ventured to reserve for discussion at a later date the subject of additional legislation regarding the very difficult and intricate matter of trusts and monopolies. The time now seems opportune to turn to that great question; not only because the currency legislation, which absorbed your attention and the attention of the country in December, is now disposed of, but also because opinion seems to be clearing about us with singular rapidity in this other great field of action. In the matter of the currency it cleared suddenly and very happily after the much-debated act was passed; in respect of the monopolies which have multiplied about us and in regard to the various means by which they have been organized and maintained, it seems to be coming to a clear and all but universal agreement in anticipation of our action, as if by way of preparation, making the way easier to see and easier to set out upon with confidence and without confusion of counsel.

"Legislation has its atmosphere like everything else, and the atmosphere of accommodation and mutual understanding which we now breathe with so much refreshment is matter of sincere congratulation.

"It ought to make our task very much less difficult and embarrassing than it would have been had we been obliged to continue to act amidst the atmosphere of suspicion and antagonism which has so long made it impossible to approach such questions with dispassionate fairness. Constructive legislation, when successful, is always the embodiment of convincing experience and of the mature public opinion which finally springs out of that experience. Legislation is a business of interpretation, not of orgination, and it is now plain what the opinion is to which we must give effect in this matter. It is not recent or hasty opinion. It springs out of the experience of a whole generation. It has clarified itself by long contest and those who for a long time battled with it and sought to change it are now frankly and honorably yielding to it and seeking to conform their actions to it.

"The great business men who organized and financed monopoly and those who administered it in actual every day transactions, have year after year, until now, either denied its existence or justified it as necessary for the effective maintenance and development of the vast business processes of the country in the modern circumstance of trade and manufacture and finance, but all the while opinion has made head against them. The average business man is convinced that the ways of liberty are also the ways of peace and the ways of success as well, and at last the masters of business on the great scale have begun to yield their preference and purpose, perhaps their judgment also, in honorable surrender.

"What we are purposing to do, therefore, is, happily not hamper or interfere with business as enlightened business men prefer to do it, or in any sense to put it under the ban. The antagonism between business and government is over.

"We are now about to give expression to the best business judgment of America, to what we know to be the business conscience and honor of the land. The government and business men are ready to meet each other half way in a common effort to square business methods with both public opinion and the law. The best informed men of the business world condemn the methods and processes and consequences of monopoly as we condemn them; and the instinctive judgment of the vast majority of business men everywhere goes with them. We shall now be their spokesman. That is the strength of our position and the sure prophecy of what will ensue when our reasonable work is done.

"When serious contest ends, when men unite in opinion and purpose, those who are to change their ways of business joining with those who ask for the change, it is possible to effect it in the way in which prudent and thoughtful and patriotic men would wish to see it brought about, with as few, as slight, as easy and simple business readjustments as possible in the circumstances, nothing essential disturbed, nothing torn up by the roots, no parts rent asunder, which can be left in wholesome combination. Fortunately, no measures of sweeping or novel change are necessary. It will be understood that our object is NOT to unsettle business or anywhere seriously to break its established courses athwart. On the contrary, we desire the laws we are now about to pass to be the bulwarks and safeguards of industry against the forces that have disturbed it. What we have to do can be done in a new spirit, in thoughtful moderation, without revolution of any untoward kind.

"We are all agreed that 'private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable,' and our program is founded upon that conviction. It will be a comprehensive but not a radical or unacceptable program and these are its items, the changes which opinion deliberately sanctions and for which business waits:

"It waits with acquiescense, in the first place, for laws which will effectually prohibit and prevent such interlocking of the personnel of the directorates of great corporations—banks and railroads, in industrial commercial and public service bodies—as in effect will result in making those who borrow and those who lend practically one and the same, those who sell and those who buy, but the same persons trading with one another under different names and in different combinations, and those who expect to compete, in fact partners and masters of some whole field of business. Sufficient time should be allowed, of course, in which to effect these changes of organization, without inconvenience or confusion.

"Such a prohibition will work much more than a mere negative good by correcting the serious evils which have arisen because, for example, the men who have been the directing spirits of the great investment banks have usurped the place which belongs to independent industrial management working in its own behoof.

"It will bring new men, new energies, a new spirit of initiative, new blood, into the management of our great business enterprises. We will open the field of industrial development and origination to scores of men who have been obliged to serve when their abilities entitled them to direct. It will immensely hearten the young men coming on and will greatly enrich the business activities of the whole country.

"In the second place, business men as well as those who direct public affairs now recognize, and recognize with painful clearness, the great harm and injustice which has been done to many, if not all, of the great railroad systems of the country by the way in which they have been financed and their own distinctive interests subordinated to the interests of the men who financed them and of other business enterprises which those men wished to promote. The country is ready, therefore, to accept, and accept with relief as well as approval, a law which will confer upon the interstate commerce commission the power to superintend and regulate the financial operations by which the railroads are henceforth to be supplied with the money they need for their proper development to meet the rapidly growing requirements of the country for increased and improved facilities of transportation. We cannot postpone action in this matter without leaving the railroads exposed to many serious handicaps and hazards; and the prosperity of the railroads and the prosperity of the country are inseparably connected. Upon this question those who are chiefly responsible for the actual management and operation of the railroads have spoken very plainly and very earnestly, with a purpose we ought to be quick to accept. It will be one step, and a very important one, toward the necessary separation of the business of production from the business of transportation.

"The business of the country awaits also, has long awaited and has suffered because it could not obtain, further and more explicit legislative definition of the policy and meaning of the existing anti-trust law. Nothing hampers business like uncertainty. Nothing daunts or discourages it like the necessity to take chances, to run the risk of failing under the condemnation of the law before it can make sure just what the law is. Surely we are sufficiently familiar with the actual processes and methods of monopoly and of the many hurtful restraints of trade to make definition possible, at any rate up to the limits of what experience has disclosed. These practices, being now abundantly disclosed, can be explicitly and item by item forbidden by statute in such terms as will practically eliminate uncertainty, the law itself and the penalty being made equally plain.

"And the business man of the country desires something more than the menace of legal process in these matters be made explicit and intelligible. They desire the advice, the definite guidance and information which can be supplied by an administrative body, an interstate trade commission.

"The opinion of the country would instantly approve of such a commission. It would not wish to see it empowered to make terms with monopoly or in any sort to assume control of business, as if the government made itself responsible. It demands such a commission only as an indispensable instrument of information and publicity, as a clearing house for the facts from which both the public mind and the managers of great business undertakings should be guided, and as an instrumentality for doing justice to business where the processes of the courts or the natural forces of correction outside the courts are inadequate to adjust the remedy to the wrong in a way that will meet all the equities and circumstances of the case.

"Producing industries, for example, which have passed the point up to which combination may be consistent with the public interest and the freedom of trade, cannot always be dissected into their component units as readily as railroad companies or similar organizations can be. Their dissolution by ordinary legal process may oftentimes involve financial consequences likely to overwhelm the security market and bring upon it break down and confusion. There ought to be an administrative commission capable of directing and shaping such corrective processes, not only in aid of the courts but also by independent suggestion, if necessary.

"Inasmuch as our object and the spirit of our action in these matters is to meet business half way in its processes of self-correction and disturb its legitimate course as little as possible, we ought to see to it, and the judgment of practical and sagacious men of affairs everywhere would applaud us if we did see to it, that penalties and punishments should fall, not upon business itself, to its confusion and interruption, but upon the individuals who use the instrumentalities of business to do things which public policy and sound business practice condemn.

"Every act of business is done at the command or upon the initiative of some ascertainable person or group of persons. These should be held individually responsible and the punishment should fall upon them, not upon the business organization of which they make illegal use.

"It should be one of the main objects of our legislation to divest such persons of their corporate cloak and deal with them as with those who do not represent their corporations, but merely by deliberate intention break the law. Business men the country through would, I am sure, applaud us if we were to take effectual steps to see that the officers and directors of great business bodies were prevented from bringing them and the business of the country into disrepute and danger.

"Other questions remain which will need every thoughtful and practical treatment. Enterprises, in these modern days of great individual fortunes, are oftentimes interlocked, not by being under the control of the same directors, but by the fact that the greater part of their corporate stocks is owned by a single person or group of persons who are in some way intimately related in interest. We are agreed, I take it, that holding companies should be prohibited, but what of the controlling private ownership of individuals or actually co-operative groups of individuals? Shall the private owners of capital stock be suffered to be themselves in effect holding companies? We do not wish, I suppose, to forbid the purchase of stocks by any person who pleases to buy them in such quantities as he can afford, or in any way arbitrarily to limit the sale of stocks to bonafide purchasers.

"Shall we require the owners of stock, when their voting power in several companies which ought to be independent of one another would constitute actual control, to make election in which of them they will exercise their right to vote? This question I venture for your consideration.

"There is another matter in which imperative consideration of justice and fair play suggest thoughtful remedial action. Not only do many of the combinations effected or sought to be effected in the industrial world work an injustice upon the public in general; they also directly and seriously injure the individuals who are put out of business in one unfair way or another by the many dislodging and exterminating forces of combination. I hope that we shall agree in giving private individuals who claim to have been injured by these processes the right to found their suits for redress upon the facts and judgments proved and entered in suits by the government where the government has upon its own initiative sued the combinations complained of and won its suit, and that the statute of limitations shall be suffered to run against such litigants only from the date of the conclusion of the government's action. It is not fair that the private litigant should be obliged to set up and establish again the fact which the government has proved. He cannot afford, he has not the power, to make use of such processes of inquiry as the government has command of. Thus shall individual justice be done while the processes of business are rectified and squared with the general conscience.

"I have laid the case before you, no doubt as it lies in your own mind, as it lies in the thought of the country. What must every candid man say of the suggestions I have laid before you, of the plain obligations of which I have reminded you? That these are new things for which the country is not prepared? No; but that they are old things, now familiar, and must of course, be undertaken if we are to square our laws with the thought and desire of the country. Until these things are done, conscientious business men the country over will be unsatisfied. They are in these things our mentors and colleagues. We are now able to write the additional articles of our constitution of peace, the peace that is honor and freedom and prosperity."

LIND MAY STAY IN MEXICO UNTIL APRIL.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 20.—John Lind of Minneapolis, personal Mexican representative of President Wilson, expects to remain in Mexico at least until April. This information was contained in a letter dated at Vera Cruz, Jan. 7, to President George E. Vincent of the University of Minnesota, and made public last night. It was in explanation of Mr. Lind's resignation as a member of the board of regents of the University of Minnesota, on which he had served for many years. Governor Eberhart received Mr. Lind's resignation yesterday.

MUNSEY
FOR FEBRUARY
Some Magazine

For October, 1900, we got out a particularly good number of The Munsey. I said so on the cover—a plain, matter-of-fact, signed statement that it was the best number we had ever issued.

Such an innovation, such a shocking disregard of conventionality, was intolerable in the eyes of the newspaper paragraphers. I bore up tolerably well under the criticism, however, and the magazine itself struggled along with its increased sale of over a hundred thousand copies on that number alone.

Now we have in the February Munsey another "best number we have ever issued." But this best number makes the other one look small and indifferent. That number had 160 pages; this one has 234 pages. That number cost to go to press $5000; this one cost $20,000. That number contained short instalments of two serial stories; this one contains, in the place of these serials, a full-length $1.50 book novel, published complete in one issue. That number had some good articles; this one has a whaling lot of them. Here they are:

THE CZAR AND HIS FAMILY . . . . . Winthrop Biddle
THE POSTER CAMPAIGN AGAINST ALCOHOL . . Michael Callahan
THE SHOP . . . . . Frank A. Munsey
A FERVID VISION OF AMERICA . . . . . Francis Grierson
CHILDREN IN PAINTINGS . . . . . Clayton Hamilton
WHERE THE THEATRE FALLS SHORT . . . . . Brander Matthews
THE SENSES AND MODERN LIFE . . . . . Sir Gilbert Parker
OUR FIFTEEN YEARS' WORK IN THE PHILIPPINES, Dean C. Worcester
THE COLOSSAL GROWTH OF THE SAVINGS-BANK, Isaac F. Marcosson
DRY-CLEANING THE DRAMA . . . . . Burns Mantle
IMPERISHABLE FICTION . . . . . Richard LeGallienne

6 Short Stories : 17 Poems : 100 Illustrations

And a rattling good novel by FRANK L. PACKARD, entitled

The Miracle Man

In book form this novel will cost you $1.50; in the February Munsey it will cost you 15 cents. And it is published in The Munsey first. The publication of a complete book-length $1.50 novel in each issue of The Munsey is its great new distinguishing feature. No other standard, illustrated magazine does this; no other has ever attempted it.

On All News-stands, 15 Cents Or by the Year (Direct from the Publishers) $1.50

Woman's Realm

What the city hospital should and should not be was outlined by Dr. Richard Oldring Beard of the hospital of the University of Minnesota, in a concise and interesting manner last evening in his toast, "The Functions of the City Hospital," which was the principal speech of the evening made at the annual civic banquet of the Woman's Council which was held at the Sapiding hotel. About 200 covers were laid and Mrs. W. S. Woodbridge, president of the council, presided.

"If for no other purpose than to aid in diminishing the death rate of babies, the establishment of the city hospital would be worth while," said Dr. Beard. "Save the babies—that should be the slogan of the city and statistics show that 37 out of every 100 babies born die within the first three years of their lives. The talk of race suicide is not raised so much as a result of a diminishing birthrate as by the need for a diminishing death rate. This is the subject that needs most arduous study and a city hospital would be a strong factor for help if built for no other purpose than the conservation of child life.

"In Duluth there are 280 beds provided for sickness in the city of 80,000 population and practically no free beds for the deserving poor. Maternity cases especially do not receive the care they should have and children are coming into the world without a fair chance for life and health. Many maternity cases are sent to the poor farm.

Out of Politics.

"A city hospital should be carefully established and should, above all, not be under political supervision where its efficiency could be choked by political graft. It should not be a charitable organization but should be based upon the principal of social service, where all men are brothers and it is the duty of every one to see that his brothers are cared for.

"Hospitals are classed in four groups, strictly private, semi-private, of which Duluth has two, usually under denominational supervision; the city hospital for the needy poor and the type of hospital which originated at the University of Minnesota, a state institution which has taken its part as an economic factor in the state where care is given the needy and care is taught the students at the same time.

"Philanthropic work in any city usually is started under the point of greatest pressure and often as a means of self protection and as a result is disconnected and inefficient. There must be one head and only one if work of this kind is to be effectively carried on."

Dr. Beard outlined conditions in Duluth and classed them as entirely inadequate and ineffectual, but urged careful planning before establishing a city hospital. "Such an institution," he said, "should provide for ample care of children's cases, maternity cases, a tuberculosis clinic and pavillion, and free dispensary, a contagious hospital and a detention hospital for those temporarily mentally unsound, that they might be saved the unnecessary stigma of being sent to an insane asylum.

"Such a hospital should have adequate service buildings as the first important step in the work and the base of supplies should be carefully planned and the actual character of the work in its start would necessiarily be influenced by local needs."

Mrs. Woodbridge in introducing the speakers outlined briefly the aims of the council which is an organization composed of representatives of all the women's clubs and circles of the city. "All reform is preceded by a period of discontent," she said, "and the council tries to aid in the solving of the problems which come up on all sides." She spoke of the co-operation of other organizations and clubs of the city and of a few of the things which have been accomplished after the council took them up.

Mayor First Speaker.

Mayor Prince was the first speaker of the evening, and he outlined work which the welfare department of the city has been pushing during the year and the progress made in social service. He gave statistical reports on work done by the free legal aid bureau, which has taken care of 607 cases since last February; the probation officer with his efforts for reform; the municipal lodging house and the city and county work farm. At the municipal lodging house, Mayor Prince reported that 345 people have been admitted since its establishment in November, 1912, and urged that its work be made more effective by co-operation of the women. "Immediate care is given there upon application and eligibility is looked into in the meantime," he said. "This home is open to all women and children desiring shelter and citizens may send applicants there at any time and be sure that they will be received for the time at least."

Housewives' League.

"Organization is the keynote of all success," said Mrs. C. E. Spring, chairman of the Housewives league, in her response to the toast on that organization. "Housewives are just awakening to the fact that they must co-operate with each other to successfully carry on their work in the homes. It is unnecessary to say that women are the spenders of the family and in order to spend judiciously it takes as much study and thought as it does to carry on any other business. Women must make it their special business to know the laws which govern food production and sale, to know the pure food laws and insist upon having goods that comply with them. They should insist upon sanitary handling of food supplies and refuse to trade where the merchant disregards sanitary precautions. We must have co-operation and numbers that we may become an ecomomic factor in the city and what we need and are working for particularly at present is combined effort to lower the cost of living. The home has been largely an individual unit but women must be willing to do team work if they are to expect results."

Temperance.

"National prohibition," said Judge Martin Hughes, the last speaker on the program, whose toast was "Temperance," "is the only solution to the problem of the liquor situation. Seventy-five per cent of all crime is due to the use of liquor and disregarding the misery and sorrow caused by crime the fact remains that crime is one of the greatest sources of financial loss to the country. There is no real gain in the liquor traffic in any way and the sacrifice of human souls should be stopped at any rate. I think it is an auspicious omen that we have at the head of our nation a man who will banish from the executive mansion and from his tables all liquors. The secretary of state, too, has set a most estimable example in defying custom and serving nothing stronger than the unfermented juice of the grape."

TANGO SKATERS FACE ZERO TEMPERATURES

SKATING IN NEW YORK.

The first skating which New York has seen this winter came on Monday of last week, when the red ball was run up at Van Cortlandt park. There are so few days of good skating in a season in the big city that, despite almost zero temperature, a big crowd turned out to skate. This couple doing the popular tango on skates was conspicuous in the crowd.

CLASS MEMBERS ONLY.

Dramatic Afternoon for Drama Class.

The January dramatic afternoon of the Modern Drama class of the Twentieth Century club which will be held on Thursday afternoon of this week at the home of Mrs. J. D. Morrison, 2131 East Superior street, when Mrs. Mary A. Nelson will read, "As a Man Thinketh" will be open only to members of that department of the club. Special tickets have been prepared and given out to the class members for admission to this afternoon's entertainment and class members who have not already received their tickets may secure them Thursday afternoon at the door by presenting their club membership cards to Miss Helen Harbison, secretary of the class, at that time. The drama class has become such a large department of the club that it is impossible to accommodate more than just the class members at these afternoon affairs and those who have not joined the class will not be admitted. Mrs. O. J. Larson, soprano, and Mrs. Louis Dworshak, pianist, will give a short musical program preceding the reading.

Amusements

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Motion pictures.
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

George Kleine's production of the Cines photo drama, "Quo Vadis," was awe-inspiring and a revelation; his Ambrosio spectacle of "The Last Days of Pompeii" a thing of exquisite beauty; but his latest production, the Cines version of "Antony and Cleopatra," is incomparable. It unites all the glorious spectacle of "Quo Vadis," all the beauty of "Pompeii," with a story of tremendous human interest and power.

It is being shown at the Lyceum this week, the last presentation being on Thursday night.

Alice Lloyd, the English comedy song bird, under the direction of William Morris, will head the newest of the reviews, coming to the Lyceum Friday and Saturday with two matinees. Miss Lloyd, known internationally as England's daintiest comedienne, will be seen in a new style of entertainment, with a song repertoire including "Parisian Crinoline," "Mother, Mother," "My Night Out," "When Mother Was Twenty-One," "Lady Policeman," "Ship Ahoy," "Splash Me," "Who Are You Getting At?" "Never Introduce Your Bloke," "Stockings on the Line," "Tourist and the Maid," "Nothing Doing," "Mary Told the Soldier," "The Girls I Left Behind Me," and many others.

A striking event in the show of stars will be the dance review of all nations, called "Dance Mad," offering a realistic glimpse of the fashionable Jardin de Danse atop of the New York theater, New York, together with a vivid interpretation of the cabaret life in New York and Paris.

Frank Fogarty, "The Dublin Minstrel," will be an added feature, Fogarty is a standard entertainer. There will be twenty-two other unusual revealments.

"Gabrielle-of-the-Lilies," the best known of all foreign stars, will meteor-like flash upon Duluth for one night only at the Lyceum theater on Sunday, Jan. 25. She is making her first, and what is announced as her only American tour, under the direction of the Winter Garden management, and in sending her on the road for the first time they are presenting her in a modern three-act musical comedy entitled "The Little Parisienne," with music by the famous European composer, Felix Albini, and with book and lyrics by Joseph W. Herbert and Harold Atteridge.

Although realizing that the audiences will come to see Gaby, her managers have surrounded her with an unusually excellent company as these names will attest: Harry Pilcer, Mlle. Gaby Deslys' dancing partner; Forrest Huff, Fritzi Von Busing, Edgar, Atchison-Ely, Charles Angelo, Louis Meyers, Hattie Kneitel, Percy Lyndal and a large beauty chorus.

Frank Milton, the Orpheum comedian, has an undivided half interest in the most traveled baby in the world. Mrs. Milton, who is one of the De Long sisters in the Milton act this week, holds the remaining shares in little Lou, who, at 7 years of age, has toured the globe with her parents and rolled up a grand mileage total of 175,000 miles.

THE DE LONG SISTERS

This is the first season that the little girl has not journeyed with the act. She started to school in Denver at the beginning of the present term. But before that she had been touring continuously since she was 30 days old. She thinks a trunk is something that people live in all the time.

Traveling is not without its attendant dangers, and Lou has been in plain sight of the hereafter on three separate occasions. The first time was in London, when a taxicab ran over her without injuring her materially. The second time was on the ship leaving South Africa, when she lost her balance on the rail and was just disappearing when grabbed by a steward.

The third time was in Boston. She wandered away from the dressing room and down into the basement and had found her way into the engine room. She was just reaching out her hands to caress the pretty dynamo, with a current of a few hundred thousand volts, when mother appeared and yanked her hence.

Mlle. Nadje, the physical culture girl, gave a free lecture at the Empress theater this afternoon immediately following the matinee for the women attending the performance. Mlle. Nadje at this lecture gave a talk on what kind of corsets to wear and other hints of general interest to women.

Here are some of the hints she gave:

"Do you want to be strong? Walk."

"Do you want to keep well? Walk."

"When you first start out breathe deeply. Take in the breath slowly while making six steps, hold during four steps, then exhale in six steps. That opens every corner of your lungs and stimulates your heart action.

"Anyone who likes may train, but I do my walking and my vaudeville turn and I am fit.

"Think how women sit in the house drinking tea and playing bridge. They never get their lungs filled with good, fresh air. If they had more outdoor air and did more walking they could easily keep in superb physical condition.

"If you enjoy rising in the morning for your exercises and your cold bath, all well and good. But remember you can't grind through those exercises morning after morning and not go stale. The more of a grind it is the sooner it happens, then, without obvious reason, you find your muscles don't respond."

Mlle. Nadje will answer any questions between the hours of 11 and 12 at the corset department of the Glass Block store on Wednesday morning.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Real Friendship Rare Between Women.

Firm, lasting friendships between women are about as hard to find as the proverbial needle in the haystack.

Solid, unstinted and unquestioned friendship such as frequently exists between two men and between the man and woman who unselfishly love each other, is a rare quality between woman and woman. I presume such friendships may exist, but they are so thoroughly buried under mock friendships that the genuine seldom if ever make themselves manifest.

It does not mean to me that the changeableness of woman's nature is at the bottom of her varied friendships for women. The two distinct moral codes, one for man and the other for woman, have, from my viewpoint, an influence upon the friendships of the two sexes. Then again, the differences in the nature of man and woman play an equally prominent part.

A man may not approve of some single act of one whom he respects and admires, but his outlook is so broad that he can overlook the one fault for the sake of the many virtues. This is impossible from a woman's standpoint. She may not condone a real fault in a woman without danger to her own reputation.

The confiding creature woman, (with few exceptions) is never so happy as when she is receiving the confidence of another, either man or woman. Her keenest joy is bounded by the confidences she makes, and perhaps the retelling of confidences reposed in her gives her almost the same pleasure.

Another womanly characteristic that deters stanch friendship is the suspicion with which women look upon the whole world. When a man finds that a man friend of his is paying attention to the woman to whom he himself is devoted he places most blame upon the woman. She is the guilty one. Quite likely, too, the men with this subject in common get together and moralize upon the perfidy of women.

And woman with all her knowledge of both sexes blames the woman, too, though she may rightly feel that one is as blameworthy as the other. Because she realizes man's infidelities and woman's weakness she is generally suspicious, and so through this channel many an intimate friendship with another woman comes to grief. She has not the generosity to give censure where it is justly due oftentimes, or the courage always, nor even the good sense, to stand by her sex as men do.

KILLS MAN WHO TRIED TO ENTER HER HOUSE

Young Kenosha Woman Is Released on Telling Her Story.

Kenosha, Wis., Jan. 20.—In defense of her honor, Mrs. Constantia Benrowicz, 26 years old, this morning fatally wounded John Hinze, a farmer, who had attempted to break into the house. The bullet struck Hinze in the neck and he ran for nearly a half mile, leaving a trail of blood. His body was found just after 1 o'clock this morning and the officers followed the bloody trail to the home of the woman.

Before the body was found Mrs. Benrowicz had reported to the police that she had shot the man. She said that he had opened a window of her home and had attempted to embrace her and pull her through the window. Then she caught up a revolver and fired two shots. She was not told of the death of the man until this morning.

Judge Randall hurried from his home to the municipal court where she told her story. He ordered her immediate release.

Confer On Trust Laws.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Democratic members of the senate interstate committee commission and the house judiciary subcommittee held a joint conference yesterday to discuss proposed anti-trust legislation. The conference, it was announced later, was arranged in the interest of co-operation between the committees, which are to have charge of the trust legislative program to be framed following President Wilson's message on the subject.

AMERICA'S GREATEST PERIL "FROM WITHIN"

Dr. Crowther Says Real Church Is That of Community.

Boston, Jan. 20.—"Not until the church is a church of the whole community will it serve its real purpose."

This was the declaration of Rev. Dr. J. E. Crowther of New York in an address today before an "efficiency conference" of ministers and laymen of the Methodist Episcopal church of the Eastern states.

"The greatest peril to America," Dr. Crowther continued, "will not come from murder by a foreign foe, but from suicide within. The church has been fighting a retreating battle in the cities. We need also, above all things, men who say 'I can' and 'I will,' not mere social reformers nor industrial quacks, but great, God-fearing men. The nation must have them of perish."

More than 90 per cent of the refining and smelting of drosses and scrap metals in the United States is carried on in the territory east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio river.

A PROGRAM OF PROGRESS WITH PEACE AND PROSPERITY.

Having been neglectful enough to permit a fabric of private monopoly to grow up in its midst, this nation has faced for ten years the certain need and duty of removing it. These ten years have been years of dread and conflict. Conditions could not be stable, prosperity could be nothing else but hectic and fitful, in such circumstances.

All that seemed certain was that the operation had to be performed, that the patient would fight to the last gasp against it, and therefore that the operation would be critical and dangerous, perhaps fatal.

Now happily, almost as by a miracle, the patient is on the operating table, having ceased to struggle against the inevitable and having submitted to it with good grace and confidence. Indeed, now that a skilled economic surgeon has come upon the scene—a surgeon whose knife is sure and kind and whose hand is firm and certain—the patient seems as anxious as the public to have it over with and to get about again, cured, as soon as possible.

Nothing more splendid in the history of the country has come about than this. A tense and terrible struggle which if continued would have prostrated business and rocked the Republic to its foundations, has given place to a harmonious spirit of agreement that will solve the problem of monopoly without a struggle or, necessarily, a ripple of confusion or disturbance.

In fact, it is noteworthy indeed that the spirit of Big Business, which has come even in eagerness to submit itself to the operation because it has confidence in the skill and mercy of the surgeon, is much more in harmony today with public opinion than that of the partisans in public life and public prints who supported the old order which is now, at last, giving way.

The president's message on the trust problem is a vivid illustration of this condition, and of this era of good feelings in which the prophets of gloom who predicted that the problem of monopoly would plunge the nation into anarchy, confusion and disaster are being proved poor prophets indeed.

Both the message and the program it suggests for the guidance of congress are clear, definite, comprehensive and vigorous. It is a program that will achieve relief from the burdens of monopoly without ruthless annihilation or reckless business upheavals that would in their destruction do far more harm than good. It is a program firmly foundationed on the universal agreement that "private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable."

"What we are purposing to do," says the president, "is, happily, not to hamper or interfere with business as enlightened business men prefer to do it, or in any sense to put it under the ban. The antagonism between business and government is now over. We are about to give expression to the best judgment of America, to what we know to be the business conscience and honor of the land. The government and business men are now ready to meet each other half way in a common effort to square business methods with both public opinion and the law."

Virtually all the items in the president's program have been made public heretofore, so the message carries no surprises. Effective, far-reaching, sane and business-like though the program is, the finest thing about it is the tone of the message, with its complete assurance to the public that redress is at hand, and to business that the operation shall be performed with delicacy and full consideration for the patient's health. There is to be, in this case, no operation such as those we hear of where the operations were declared complete successes—though the patients died.

The program is as follows:

1. The prohibition of interlocking directorates.
2. Giving the interstate commerce commission power to regulate the issuance of railroad securities.
3. The enactment of laws supplementary to, but not amendatory of, the Sherman anti-trust law, that will explicitly define acts that are unlawfully in restraint of trade, so that the pathway of legitimate business will not be haunted by the specter of possible prosecutions.
4. The creation of an interstate trade commission to help the courts and to act as a clearing house of information to help business in conforming to law.
5. Provision that punishment for violations of anti-trust laws shall fall upon the guilty individuals, and not—uselessly and mischievously—upon the corporations themselves.
6. The prohibition of holding companies, and possibly a limitation upon the voting power of individuals owning holdings so large in numerous corporations that they would in themselves practically constitute, in effect, holding corporations.
7. Giving aggrieved individuals the right to avail themselves without further proof of facts proved in criminal prosecutions under the anti-trust laws.

The president wisely urges that proper time be allowed in each instance to effect the changes required with the least possible inconvenience and confusion.

This is a program that squares with the public opinion of the nation, that will achieve results without needless destruction, and that business interests would be foolhardy to resist.

It will be, when crystallized into law, the third great dividend on the American people's investment of votes in Woodrow Wilson.

Maybe John D. wouldn't object to the income tax if all the proceeds were to go to Chicago university.

IT'S SAFE TO BET ON WILSON.

The house Democrats who planned that raid on the civil service to add the jobs of twenty-four hundred assistant postmasters to the spoils list show symptoms of a disposition to defy the president's opposition.

We don't think much will come of that defiance, not even with the help of the proposed log-rolling scheme of including in it a raid on the treasury for road money.

The president and the postmaster general, both of whom have announced their determined opposition to this scheme, without doubt have public opinion with them; and public opinion and Woodrow Wilson form a combination which no aspiring statesman can beat.

The Democrats in congress are doing big things, and they have more big things to do.

They should not stoop to little, dirty things like this proposed spoilsman's rape of the civil service.

Some more eruptions are reported from that Japanese volcano. Why don't they rechristen it "Mexico?"

COMMISSION-GOVERNED CITIES.

When Duluth adopted the commission plan of city government a little more than a year ago, the number of cities operating under it in one form or another was about two hundred.

According to the latest bulletin of the Short Ballot organization, the number of cities governed by the commission plan is 298, and they have a combined population of 7,455,276—a pretty respectable segment of the urban population of the country.

Besides, twelve cities are working under the city manager plan, an interesting and promising offshoot from the commission plan, and these have a population of 227,992. The largest is Dayton, Ohio, with 116,577.

A system of government that spreads so far and so rapidly is rather solidly established. Also, that growth is a pretty strong indictment of the old system by which a majority of American cities still handicap efficiency.

Indications are that the Midway district between the Twin Cities is likelier to get a regional reserve bank than either Minneapolis or St. Paul.

A COMMON SENSE JUDGMENT.

Though not for a moment do we wish to be understood as even hinting that common sense in judicial dicta is a thing rarely found, we do wish to commend the common sense shown in the ruling of the United States circuit court of appeals in the case of Edward F. Mylius, whom the overnice immigration board at Ellis Island was disposed to reject, when he came over from England, on the ground that in having been convicted of libeling the king of England he had been proved guilty of "moral turpitude," which the law gives as a reason for shutting out applicants for admission to this land.

The court held that no more "moral turpitude" is involved in publishing a libel against a king on his throne than against a field laborer in Devon or a street sweeper in London.

So Mylius is held to be a fit subject to be suffered to enter, no other charge than this having been raised against him.

That's a righteous judgment, distinguished, as we have said, by its common sense.

Judging from the case of Mylius, the case of a business man who was detained because he had taken part in a bloodless duel, the cases of Castro and Zelaya and other cases, the authorities at Ellis Island have great need of a powerful injection of such common sense as this.

Interlocking Directorates

Editorial in the St. Louis Republic.

Why abolish interlocking directorates? For one thing, they put the business man at the mercy of his competitor. And the safeguarding of the rights of the individual is the chief end of law.

Here is an independent iron manufacturer who has an opportunity to make certain extensions of his business, if only he can obtain necessary funds. He applies to one of the great banking houses affiliated with the Steel trust. At the table around which the bank directors gather are found certain of the directors of the trust. Is this situation one that makes for freedom of commercial development and expansion? Human nature being as it is, is it possible for those bank directors who are also iron manufacturers to pass on the loan requested by this iron manufacturer merely as a banker would pass on it? Will not the question irresistibly come up in their minds: "Why should we let this man have our money in order to fight us?"

Take another illustration, perhaps a little more complex:

A number of Western business men project a railroad. Having made preliminary surveys and secured a certain amount of capital, they go East to place the bonds. On the directorates of the great Eastern banking houses sit many railroad directors. Is to the interest of the West that the question whether a railroad enterprise shall be provided with necessary capital be settled by the vote of directors of the great railway systems in whose territory the projected line is to be built? To ask that question is to answer it:

But this is not all. Interlocking directorates are bad for the "interlocked" corporations as well.

The only efficient director is the director who directs in the interest of his stockholders. Now suppose that as a certain application comes before the director of a large financial house, he then and there ceases to be a bank director, becomes, for the instant, a railroad director, and decides as such. What is the effect upon the interests of the bank?

No bank would dream, in the moment of an important decision, of calling in an officer of another corporation, with other interests to serve, to help make it. How does it better the matter to have that director a "member of the family" and thus to have alien interests considered in many a decision, as a matter of course?

The best kind of banking is that which is done with no other object in view than banking. The best kind of railroading is the kind that is done with no other object in view than railroading. Interlocking directorates wrong the individual. It is wholly a natural and healthy demand that requires that they should go.

Mr. Taft's Trousers

Lincoln State Journal: Having lost eighty pounds in weight and six inches in girth ex-President Taft finds his trousers too large. A New Haven tailor has been given the contract to reduce Mr. Taft's trousers to Mr. Taft's present 48-inch waist line. An amazed world is informed that the operation involves thirty-five pairs.

This means that Mr. Taft has at last thirty-six pairs of trousers, for of course he has not gone to bed or into a barrel while the thirty-five are at the tailor's. Thirty-six pairs of trousers! What business has any man with thirty-six pairs of trousers?

Mr. Taft never succeeded in getting en rapport with the American people. Now we know why. He was a good, solid president whom people respected but were never enthusiastic about. Your democratic American has two pairs of trousers, one for weekdays and one for Sundays. What instinct told him that Mr. Taft had this skeleton, thirty-five pairs of trousers, in his closet? We are not supernaturalist enough to know the explanation. The fact remains, nobody can have thirty-six pairs of trousers and the masses not subtly suspect that he is not of them.

Mr. Taft may refuse to see the political disadvantage of having thirty-six pairs of trousers. He will yet have to admit its economic disadvantage. Suppose, after these trousers are revised downward, Mr. Taft grow's tired of dieting and is himself revised upward. You can cut trousers down. You cannot cut them "up." Even a man on Prof. Taft's $5,000 salary must feel the loss of thirty-six pairs of trousers grown too small. View it any way you will, that thirty-six pairs of trousers is a mistake.

The Party "Devil."

Kansas City Star: Kansas City with the party system on its hands is in much the same position as the innkeeper is one of Robert Louis Stevenson's fables:

Once upon a time the devil stayed at an inn, where no one knew him, for they were people whose education had been neglected. He was bent on mischief, and for a time he kept everybody by the ears. But at last the innkeeper set a watch upon the devil and took him in the act.

The innkeeper got a rope's end.

"Now I am going to thrash you," said the innkeeper.

"You have no right to be angry with me," said the devil. "I am only the devil and it is my nature to do wrong."

"Is that so?" asked the innkeeper.

"Fact, I assure you," said the devil.

"You really cannot help doing ill?" asked the innkeeper.

"Not in the smallest," said the devil; "it would be useless cruelty to thrash a thing like me."

"It would indeed," said the innkeeper.

And he made a noose and hanged the devil.

"There," said the innkeeper.

Joshing the Artist.

New York Globe: As a certain young artist of New York sat upon his stool one day in the Adirondacks, doing a bit of "mountain stuff," there approached him from the rear a native, evidently with ideas of his own touching art.

"Did you ever try photography?" asked the newcomer.

"No," was the curt response of the young artist, who continued his work.

"It's a good deal quicker," suggested the native.

"I suppose it is," sulkily assented the painter, with another dab of the brush

"And," the native added, with a dash of malice, "a good deal more like the place."

Interest in Art.

Current Liteurature: Mabel had gone to the art exhibit. Not that she cared for pictures, but everyone went.

A friend saw her and told another friend. Friend No. 2 met her a few days later.

"Why, hello, Mabel! I'm awfully glad to see you. I hear you are interested in art."

"Me? Art who?"

Edison's Views of World Progress

Thomas A. Edison in the New York Independent.

Thomas A. Edison is one of the world's most difficult men to interview. He is always "too busy." The New York Independent found him at leisure by submitting a list of questions which Mr. Edison answered at his leisure. The questions and answers follow:

"What is the trend of invention?" Application of electricity to all moving things.

"The most significant invention of 1913?" Manufacture of ammonia from nitrogen and hydrogen.

"What work of your own during the last year is most important?" Perfection of the recording of music by the new disk phonograph.

"What of the flying machine?" Don't know.

"What of setting off explosives by wireless?" It has been of no value, except for military murder.

"Is radium to be harnessed?" It's driving a clock in Paris. Radium, so far, has only a scientific value. No one can predict. There are enormous possibilities.

"What of new sources of power?" Sun engines of considerable power, twenty to thirty-horse power, are working in Africa and Arizona. There are many inventors working on the problem. Burning coal at the mouth of the mine, converting the power into electricity, and transmitting the power over long distances, has already been put into effect in Nova Scotia and in England. Forming producer gas by setting the vein of coal on fire and using the gas in gas engines has not to my knowledge been applied. It is in my opinion possible, especially when coal advances in price. The smaller and deeper veins, from which it is impossible to extract the coal without great expense, could be worked in this way. The unavailable coal in these veins is enormous. Tapping internal heat of the earth is out of the question until coal gets more expensive.

"How soon will ships be driven by new power?" Until we find a practical method of converting combustible matter directly into electricity, steamboats will continue to be driven by steam and internal combustion motors.

"Is communication with possible inhabitants of other worlds in sight?" Have no opinion.

"Are not social machines displacing individual machines; e. g., the public laundry against the domestic washing machine?" The individual washing machine will hold its own for awhile. Electric driven washing machinery suitable for the small house is rapidly coming into use, and the labor is reduced almost to nothing.

"Does not invention follow social opportunity and need; cannot society now ordain its inventions?" Society is never prepared to receive any invention. Every new thing is resisted, and it takes years for the inventor to get people to listen to him and years more before it can be introduced, and when it is introduced our beautiful laws and court procedure are used by predatory commercialism to ruin the inventor. They don't leave him even enough to start a new invention.

"Might not a staff of government inventors profitably work on safeguarding machinery? * * *" It doesn't need a government staff of inventors to invent devices to prevent people getting killed by machinery; it wants plain, unmistakable laws on the subject and a commission to see the laws carried out.

"Do you agree with Roger W. Babson that capital and labor are irreconcilable foes? * * *" There should be no irreconcilability between capital and labor. It's between capital dishonestly acquired and labor. Labor is not well informed and hence it classes all capital alike. The fruits of one generation of labor become the capital of the next generation.

"Has not invention put it in the power of labor, or any small group of those discontented with present conditions, to checkmate, if not wreck, our civilization? * * *" We shall always have this trouble until our school system discards traditionary methods of teaching the child and turns out young men thoroughly familiar with their natural environment and with a capacity for sound thinking.

The President as Leader

From "Constitutional Government in the United States," by Woodrow Wilson: He (the president) cannot escape being the leader of his party except by incapacity and lack of personal force, because he is at once the choice of the party and of the nation. He is the party nominee, and the only party nominee for whom the whole nation votes. * * * There is no national party choice except that of president. No one else represents the people as a whole, exercising a national choice. * * * He can dominate his party by being spokesman for the real sentiment and purpose of the country, by giving direction to opinion, by giving the country at once information and the statements of policy which will enable it to form its judgments alike of parties and of men.

For he is also the political leader of the nation, or has it in his choice to be. * * * Let him once win the admiration and confidence of the country, and no other single force can withstand him, no combination of forces will easily overpower him. * * * If he rightly interpret the national thought and boldly insist upon it, he is irresistible; and the country never feels the zest of action so much as when its president is of such insight and caliber. Its instinct is for unified action, and it craves a single leader. It is for this reason that it will often prefer to choose a man rather than a party. A president whom it trusts cannot only lead it but form it to his own views.

* * * If he lead the nation, his party can hardly resist him. His office is anything he has the sagacity and force to make it.

Some Popular Lies.

Life: "I'm crazy about you."

"I'll drop in and pay you back next week."

"I shall never love another."

"Wasn't it too bad you weren't home?"

"I never in my life did so badly."

"How sweet you look."

"I told her just what I thought of her."

"I shall pay my income tax without a murmur."

"Yes, sir; an operation is necessary."

"I never would dream that it wasn't your hair."

"I love to hold babies."

"Only a stirring sense of public duty compels me to run for this high office."

"Not at home, ma'am."

"No, darling, I never kissed another."

"My wife and I never have a cross word."

"I came quite unprepared."

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana is a studious, preoccupied, drooping-mustached man who has for years been regarded among the home folks as a sort of human glacier.

He is likely to pass his best friend on the street without so much as a nod or a wink—simply because he is in the habit of becoming engrossed in his thoughts and doesn't see anybody. Walsh's friends know that he means no harm, for in reality he is charitably inclined, generous and considerate, but his personality is not the kind that gathers about him torchlight processions of enthusiastic and shouting followers.

So, when he was fixing to run for United States senator, some of Walsh's friends gave him a word of advice.

"What you want to do," suggested one friend, "is cultivate the habit of calling people by their first names. Learn how to be a good fellow. When you make a speech run in a few funny stories. Slap somebody on the back occasionally."

"I would give anything if I had the knack," said Walsh. Even as he said so he saw a big chap come along and ask a group of friends to have a drink.

"Now I'd give anything to be able to walk up to people like that fellow does," added Walsh.

"You could if you'd practice," urged the friend.

Walsh shook his head dubiously, but said he would try.

* * *

In a few moments another friend came up.

"Hello Bill," was Walsh's greeting.

And the friend nearly dropped in his tracks, for it was the first time Walsh had ever addressed him with such familiarity.

"What's the matter with Walsh?" he asked with anxiety, after Walsh had gone.

"He's trying to learn to be a good fellow," explained the friend solemnly, "and it's no laughing matter. It's going to be the most serious struggle of his life, poor fellow, and we must all try to help him."

From that day on Walsh has been making fair progress toward becoming a good fellow. Since he came to Washington his associates have found him reasonably human. And he intends to keep right on practicing.

Austin Cunningham, a young newspaper correspondent of Washington, who is now running for congressman-at-large from Texas, once worked on a paper in Mexico City. It was extremely hot down there and Cunningham began to pine for a place where he could sleep under blankets. One day he said:

"I've got a good notion to go to Alaska and see if I can't get cooled off a bit."

His friends thought he was just joking, but he was not. He was so disgusted with hot weather that Alaska was exactly what he wanted and lie up and went there. He remained in Fairbanks one whole winter, working on a newspaper, and there was not a night that he didn't sleep under blankets.

Postmaster General Burleson lives in constant fear of doing something wasteful. He thinks a well-balanced man should take a good middle course between being a tightwad and a spendthrift. His prejudice against waste amounts almost to a superstition. He has an idea that the man who spends a nickel needlessly may need that nickel before he gets through with this little curtain raiser to the hereafter.

For instance, Burleson would not for anything own more clothes than he needs. He buys clothes of the best material he can get and is a neat dresser, but if he had more than two business suits at a time, it would worry him so keenly that he would get thin and then none of his suits would fit him. One suit on and one suit off is enough for any man, he says. The same applies to shoes. He keeps two pairs of low shoes and two pairs of high shoes. And they are of extra good quality. But nothing could induce him to own another pair.

A little while ago, Burleson was about to place his order for office stationery. A cabinet officer can have pretty much anything he wants in the way of nifty letter paper, and Burleson's office associates told him he ought to have some handsomely embossed stationery that would be in keeping with the high position he holds.

"No, indeed," he declared; "I can remember when I did all my correspondence on yellow foolscrap and a dime's worth would last me nearly a year."

Finally he relented, however, and agreed to put in an order for a small amount of embossed stationery, to be used only for special occasions.

One day he was signing his name to a letter done on a sheet with blue embossing at the top.

"Boys," he said suddenly, bringing his fist down with a thud, "I wouldn't doubt if this paper costs better than a cent a sheet!"

Congressman Edward W. Townsend of New Jersey, author of "Chimmie Fadden," has little time for literary endeavor any more, now that he is a statesman, and contents himself with dashing off an occasional scenario for moving pictures.

"Indiana has produced more first-class second-grade men than any state in the Union," remarked Vice President Marshall recently, "and I'm one of them."

A Newspaper at $75 a Year.

Boston Transcript: A newspaper at $75 a year! Such is the record for the high cost of reading to be established by a publishing house in Berlin. The new journal will take some title which will indicate at once its aristocratic supremacy. Paris suggests that its German owners call it simply the Daily Newspaper, somewhat after the Roman fashion of calling Rome just plain "Urbs."

The supreme newspaper will be a daily journal of economics and politics, say the founders, begging pardon for using any form of the word "economical" to describe a newspaper at $75 per annum. The founders further say that their object will be to defend Germany's political and commercial interests in foreign countries.

Jake's Bad Luck.

Pall Mall Gazette: "Here," said the proprietor of the place, "if a little gift for you and Jake. Each bottle is finest old Kentucky rye. You drop in at Jake's on your way and give him his, will you?"

"Sure," replied the grateful one.

On his way he fell and broke one bottle.

"Poor Jake," he murmured, picking himself up.

Duluth and The Herald

Bouquets and Brickbats from the State Press.

Convince Your Dealers of That.

Mankato Free Press: The Duluth Herald asks: "What business has anybody with a revolver?" No business. Cut out the revolver carrying nonsense and crime will be reduced to a minimum.

A Nice Way of Putting It.

St. Cloud Times: The Duluth Herald, than which there is no more excellent daily nor more progressive paper in Minnesota, has sent out a statement of circulation for the year 1913. Its average daily circulation was 28,231, and its average Saturday circulation 29,384. The increase from Jan. 1 to Dec. 1 was 3,502.

You Have Political Astigmatism.

Warren Register: The Duluth Herald says the country needs a "respectable" minority party. Is that a slam at the minority party now in power at Washington?

It's a Pleasure to The Herald.

Cass Lake Times: Pensacola, Fla., Dec. 27, 1913—We were surprised and greatly pleased this morning when the postman threw upon our hall table a copy of the best and most readable newspaper in Minnesota, The Duluth Evening Herald. With it came a letter from the editor that it would appear daily upon our table as long as we remained in the South.

This favor will give us an opportunity to keep in touch with the political situation at home as well as to give us a general outline of what is transpiring throughout the North. Our sincere thanks due for the courtesy.

And Even They Are.

Aurora News: St. Louis county and Duluth have abandoned the ancient practice of sending those who cannot pay their fine to jail where they cannot earn it and now send them to the work farm where they are given plenty of outdoor work and are kept until they can get their feet under them again. All but the lazy are benefited by such a practice.

All Thinking Ones Are Supporting.

Grand Rapids Herald-Review: The Duluth Herald has again taken up its fight for a new state Constitution. In this attitude it should receive the support of every thinking person in the state. A cast iron constitution in this day of rapid progress and lightning changes is something that few people can see the value of anyway. If a document of this kind is at all necessary for our convenience and guidance it should be made elastic and pliable enough to meet conditions as they are liable to arise in the future and not lay particular stress upon the continuance of conditions as they are today. A Constitution is only something for the supreme court to fall back on anyway and we are not at all certain that we would not get along quite as well without one entirely.

A Man Who Is Disliked

New York World: Of the ability of John Skelton Williams, whose appointment as comptroller of the currency is announced, there can be no question. He has been at the head of extensive financial, railroad and industrial enterprises. He has engaged in bitter and costly struggles with rivals. Like all strong characters, he has devoted friends and implacable enemies.

There was objection to his appointment some months ago as assistant secretary of the treasury. No doubt there will be even more vehement opposition to his confirmation by the senate for the more important office now in mind. Under the new banking law the comptroller of the currency becomes ex-officio a member of the Federal reserve board.

It was as a banker and railroad promoter and president in Richmond, Va., that Mr. Williams came into conflict with Thomas F. Ryan and the Morgan interests. As a result of this disfavor he lost control of the Seaboard Air Line and became involved in financial difficulties. Growing out of his association with Secretary McAdoo, he has been regarded as a foe of the National City bank, and so, of course, of Standard Oil.

In view of what happened at the Democratic national convention in 1912, no man should be debarred from public service by Ryan, by Morgan or by Rockefeller. If there is nothing else against Mr. Williams, his confirmation should be insisted upon, and the fullest opportunity should be given to every adherent of the interests in the senate to put himself on record.

The presumption must be that the president has investigated these matters with his usual thoroughness and that he is willing to meet the issue. Otherwise the fight would hardly be worth the trouble.

The Last of the Landlords.

New York World: Simeon Ford's speech to the hotel men was no laughing matter. It is a said, sad truth that "every new hotel is built to cater to the wealthy, and they live by stealing each other's boarders." It is business sagacity, and no joke, to advise a younger man to "go off on a side street and put up at a plain hotel with 2,000 hygienic cells at $1 a day." New York needs such hotels, and it does not need more palaces. Plenty of Americans would appreciate something between a Bowery lodging house and the Ritz-Carlton.

A melancholy spectacle is Simeon Ford, the last of the landlords. His successors are all captains of industry. To have kept a real hotel and "never charged the public for bread and butter or for hanging up their hats and coats" is a useful and honorable career. When one or two more such old-fashioned hotels are closed—the Cosmopolitan was the last to let go—the plain man, as Mr. Ford remarks, will have no place to lay his head.

The "early Victorian, pitcher-and-bowl, don't-blow-out-the-gas, no-hot-flatirons-in-the-bedrooms" hotel can be improved upon in some respects by modern invention. But it had its virtues; a man could stay overnight without mortgaging him farm, get plain food passably cooked, know the landlord personally and not be subject to organized robbery at every step. People who are neither hoboes nor millionaires will wish that modern hosts mighty study the secrets of its success.

Frugality.

Judge: The daughter of a Southern congressman had recently been a bridesmaid at the marriage of a college chum. On her return home she was telling the family, including the old colored mammy, of the ceremony.

"And just think, Aunt Comfort," she finished, "the bride wore the lace veil that had belonged to her great grandmother!"

"Law, Miss Sidney, chile," exclaimed mammy, in tones of horror, "that sholy am one saving family!"

Twenty Years Ago

From the Herald of this date, 1894.

Lillian Russell and Signor Perugini will be married tomorrow afternoon at Miss Russell's home in New York. This is her third marriage, her previous husbands being Harry Braham and Teddy Solomon.

Jesse Hopkins of Iowa is visiting at the home of P. J. Cowan at West Duluth.

For the first time in the four years they have been playing together the Henrietta Polo club of St. Paul suffered a defeat last night in the game at the Glen Avon club, the Duluth boys winning by a score of 2 to 1. The Duluth team consisted of J. P. Berg, F. E. Thompson, D. R. McLennan, G. E. Vincent, H. Meining, P. Paine and W. Carey, captain.

Frank X. Falcon is in St. Paul organizing a syndicate to begin work on a coal mine which he has discovered on the Canadian boundary near Lake of the Woods. J. R. Robert Bayard McFerran, the son of Robert McFerran, who has been suffering from an attack of typhoid fever, is reported out of danger.

Senator Wolcott of Colorado and his brother have sold the Mercur gold mine in Utah to a New York company for $1,000,000. The ore runs $8 to $16 a ton.

A dispatch from New York says that the rearrangement of the terms upon which the Merritt and Rockefeller iron mining interests were consolidated has been perfected favorably to the stockholders of the Lake Superior Consolidated Iron Mines. The result of the arrangement is that the Consolidated company regains possession of 652 of its bonds and Mr. Rockefeller takes back the West Superior steel plant. The Consolidated also receives 2,200 bonds for its stock at par and also obtains possession of bonds and stocks in other companies of great value and arranges for the funding of the debt upon the Missabe railroad and for the extension and further equipment of the road.

Director Grouch Resigns.

Detroit News: "In response," said the Grouch, "to an apparent change in public sentiment, I wish to announce my withdrawal from the following directorates:

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

UNPROTECTED LAKE PORTS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have been interested lately in reading matter emanating from Duluth and other lake cities, breathing heavily of loyalty to the flag and defiance to all enemies, incidentally twisting the lion's tail, though, to be sure, not deeming him an enemy, but just to keep from forgetting how to twist. And the twisting is done especially in connection with the clash twixt our interests and British interests in poor old Mexico.

I wonder if Duluthians and other lake citizens ever stop to think of their chances and possibilities in case of real trouble with the possessor of the aforesaid tail. Let us look at the matter, not as a possibility even, but merely as a military, tactical and essentially academic problem.

Do you remember our old battle cry of "Deep Water From Duluth to the Sea!"? It seems to have been forgotten in the shuffle. True, they're spending millions on a puny ditch to New York for scows and such, but that's not deep water. Canada has quietly gone ahead and soon there'll be a shipway from Duluth to the sea, but through Canadian territory. Parenthetically, commerce is not overpatriotic, so that we'll soon be seeing our Duluth and other Western freights going across sea in unbroken bulk, but via that Canadian canal, so goodbye to the tolls, the old-time levy on our commerce picked off by New York and Buffalo—that were so afraid of losing that picking that they very successfully killed the movement we had started in the West for a ship canal to the sea. A good deal like killing the goose for the golden eggs.

But we are not talking about commerce just now.

The agreement between the United States and Canada—virtually Great Britain—that only a couple of revenue cutters patrol the lakes for police duty has worked to a charm. Neither country has even looked cross-eyed at the other, a splendid example we have set to all the great powers and a magnificent illustration of how effective a complete disarmament on the seas would be. Well and good, but supposing we and Great Britain should get really hot under our collars and fuss in earnest over Mexican oil and things, to the point where tail-twisting and eagle screeching became the order of the day, (which good heaven forbid!), what is there to prevent British ships, warships, coming up Canada's canal and paying their compliments to Duluth, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, et al, what, oh what, would those pretty bergs do? And how they would squirm and repent and regret not having a means, an American canal, via which it could bring up sufficient defense from its ocean fleet!

Just a dream, but a wee academic nut for the lake cities' tacticians and war experts to crack.

F. W. FITZPATRICK.

WHO ARE "QUACKS?"

To the Editor of The Herald:

Possibly my experience may be interesting to some who read our health officer's article in The Herald of a few nights ago.

After being treated for four or five years by "regulars" I had reached the point about a year ago where I had little hope left. Acting on a suggestion, I went to see a doctor whose practice this proposed ordinance is intended to suppress, along with that of others. I was skeptical, but within a week I was relieved of insomnia. In two months my stomach trouble was decidedly better. I have continued to improve. Today I have better health than for years. I credit my present excellent physical condition to this so-called "quack's" treatments and his advice on proper foods to eat.

Two years ago a gentleman told me that his "regular" family doctor had told him he had only a short time to live. That being the case, he did not see how he could make matters worse, so began taking treatment of a so-called quack. The gentleman was in to see me today. He is looking better than ever.

When I was taking treatment I met in the so-called "quack's" office a lady who had just had her last treatment and was pronounced cured. She told me that her case had been diagnosed by two regulars. Her trouble was pronounced a very serious one. She was was advised to have an operation at once. After about two months of treatment she was O. K.—without an operation.

In my own case and that of all the others I know of, the "quack" was taken on after it was evident that no relief was to be had elsewhere. It seems, therefore, that we are fortunate in having so-called "quacks" to fall back on.

There are many excellent "regular" doctors in Duluth for whom I have the greatest respect, but they are depending on their knowledge and skill rather than ordinances for patronage.

As a taxpayer I protest against this proposed ordinance which is nothing more than an ordinance put forward by a few with the sole idea of benefiting themselves.

WOMEN AID THE TELEGRAPHERS' TRADE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Would you kindly publish in your Open Court column if to go to a telegraph school and learn or if to stand by an experienced operator and watch them is the better way? Are they discarding women telegraphers nowadays and if it is going out altogether for men and women? Thanking you in advance, I remain, yours very truly,

MRS. E. T.

Duluth, Jan. 18.

The above letter was handed to the Associated Press telegrapher for The Herald, who has had an experience extending over a space of twenty years, during which time he has worked for various railroads, commercial companies, private lines and brokerage wires. Here is his advice:

"First of all, it will require about one year's hard study to make you competent to work a wire and draw pay. If you are young, and if you have a natural ear for music, and if you are a fast writer, or, better still, an expert typist, you may at the expiration of one year's time, be able to take slowly sent messages. Long before that time you will be able to "send." But receiving from the wire is the hardest part of the business, and only time and experience makes one proficient.

"Few telegraph schools, so-called, are any good. They may have, but usually do not have, first-class instructors, and they advertise "railroad wires" as part of their equipment. Railroad Morse is entirely different from the class of Morse used on commercial lines, and, as the tendency nowadays is to exclude women from railroad offices, while the commercial companies want all the women operators they can get, you will not want to become steeped with the "swing" of railroad Morse.

If you are a young woman, and really want to learn the business, you could do nothing wiser, in my opinion, than to seek employment as a minor clerk in one of the telegraph offices of the Western Union or North American companies here, and that will throw you into sister operators, all of whom, no doubt, will gladly give you any information you need, and you will be thrown into contact with actually working commercial wires. The business transmitted by commercial companies is carried over better wires, mostly copper, and the Morse used by the boys, as a rule, is clear-cut, and is sent properly.

"You cannot hope to become proficient inside of one year's practice. Some people do it in six months, but they are 'born operators.' Your salary as a beginner in the telegraph room probably will be $30 a month. You will handle only slowly sent matter, and you will gradually gain confidence and speed. The highest salary you can expect, and the salary few women operators receive, is said to be about $82.50 a month. The work is pleasant, and if a woman is of a pleasant and amiable disposition, and if she has any real ability, she need never be out of employment, as telegraph companies seem to prefer women to men in the operating room.

"If you contemplate learning the business, by all means strive to get into an office where you will get real experience. No school 'ham' makes good until he or she wears off in actual experience her or his first teaching in the school.

"There is nothing at present to indicate that the telegraph business will not outlast your life or my own, and if I had a sister dependent upon her own efforts, I most certainly would teach her how to telegraph. It is a clean business, and a woman's work, mostly, especially in message work.

"You could learn little by watching an experienced operator. Learn first to write on a typewriter, and that will help a lot when you come to the place where you are intrusted with a wire. The old days of hand writing in telegraph rooms are about over. The companies demand typewritten copy, and get it.

"If you are not in a position to obtain the alphabet of the Morse characters, I gladly will send them to you."

Reflections on War

(By Sargyard.)

Washington, Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The world will not be civilized till man shall exercise as much endeavor to avoid injury to his fellow-man as he now takes to prevent his brother of the earth from harming him. That is Christianity, and the nations will remain paganheathen till they practice that sublimest of all the philosophies. Speak no evil of your neighbor, do no despite to your brother—that is the gospel of the Man of Sorrows and acquainted with grief.

But none of us have arrived to that perfection and hence the stupendous sums we expend for armies and navies. Nations used to hate nations "for the love of God." Happily that sort of thing is nearly passed. But some of us, poor wretches, pharisees, hate our fellows for what we imagine the love of God. Then there is that precious miscreant, the political pharisee, who will swear by all the gods of Olympus that he is holler than you are—this chap brought on the late inglorious war with Spain, and he is itching to bring on an incalculably disastrous war with Mexico. Of course, he would keep his precious carcass out of it, and, of course, we would lick Mexico all right; but it would mean more than a double decade of guerilla battle and it would cost our people their most precious blood.

I never saw a man executed; but there are folks in these here United States I would willingly see hanged. It would promote the good of mankind.

The cost of armament is simply stupendous, and 50 per cent of it is due to the act of Germany in taking from France in 1871 Alsace-Lorraine. I am satisfied that as a personality on the stage of action Prince Bismarck was the greatest since Napoleon Bonaparte. And while none can deny that this tremendous man created the present German empire, it is very doubtful if he had annexed Alsace-Lorraine had he been emperor—Von Moltke did it—the blunt, brutal soldier that he was.

The man who was best acquainted with the politics of Europe for a quarter of a century after the Franco-Prussian war was Blowitz—I am not sure about the spelling—the Paris correspondent of the London Times. Recently his memoirs have been printed and the narrative is startling.

Here is a story that were incredible had it not come from this great journalist whose pen could not fashion a fiction. One evening in Paris soon after France to the astonishment of the world had paid the ruinous indemnity exacted by Germany Mr. Blowitz met the prime minister of France, who was very much depressed, and who, after inquiry, told him that he had been informed that Germany intended to declare another war, make instant invasion, overrun the country, occupy Paris, and levy such stupendous indemnity that even France could not pay it for many generations.

Blowitz was in a most responsible position, second only in the world's journalism to Delane, the editor of the London Times. He dare not print the story till it was verified, for if a fake he was forever ruined and the Times discredited as the first newspaper in the world. But for that sort of work Blowitz was the greatest detective in the world, and he set about and found the story true. He printed it.

When the czar of Russia heard it he notified the parties concerned that as soon as Germany declared war against France, Russia would make war on Germany. England was also aroused, and Berlin made disavowal.

Now here is the curious part about it. Bismarck was opposed to the move that Von Moltke and old Emperor William concocted. Unable to persuade them, he took the French ambassador into his confidence and revealed the scheme to him. The ambassador imparted it to his government and a newspaper man defeated the whole project.

Blowitz speculates as to Bismarck's motive, and he concludes that "the man of blood and iron" reasoned that it would drive France to the desperation of the revolutionary period of '89 and if she arrived at that state she would be invincible. He knew that all the other nations of Europe would interpose, and he took the one method possible to stop it and at the same time save himself the chancellorship of the then infant empire his great genius for statecraft had created.

And what a pity 'tis that Germany humiliated France by taking from her two little old provinces, but peopled by Teutons more loyal to France than Picardy or Provence, Languedoc or Gascony! After reading what Blowitz says of the episode I mention, I do believe that the rape of those two insignificant provinces was against the advice and over the protest of the greatest German history has taken account of. It has cost the world billions—for war and defense against war. Had Germany not dismembered France, it is likely that the war budgets of the world would be less than half what they are.

Gen. Phil Sheridan used to tell this story: As soon as the action of Sedan was concluded and the victory won, he and Bismarck and Herbert Bismarck, the great man's son, mounted their horses and set out for Bismarck's tent. When they got there Bismarck called for a drink. Only a single bottle of French brandy, containing more than a quart, was at hand. Bismarck, a man of six feet four, and weighing above 300 pounds, seized it, put it to his lips, and drank and drank and drank till not a drop of the fiery stuff was left in the bottle. He knew he had made the German empire that day.

And his son, Herbert, blushing for his dad's ill-manners, sent out and bought some other liquor with which to regale Sheridan, who himself loved a dram now and then.

The DOCTOR'S HELPS

By DONALD McCASKEY, M.D.
Member of Staff, General Hospital, Lancaster, Pa.; Fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine

DISEASE CANNOT BE TREATED BY MAIL—I DON'T ATTEMPT IT.

A lady has written me a six page letter about her brother, regarding whom she wrote me about six weeks previously. I, of course, answered her first inquiry, giving her as explicit lines of counsel as her letter enabled me to do. Among other things, I advised her to "STARVE HER BROTHER FOR TEN DAYS."

She didn't take the advice, but wrote again for counsel. The spirit of the ethical conduct upon which this Doctor's Helps column is based is expressed as follows in a second note to her:

Dear Mrs. H: Your second detailed letter has arrived at my office. Some years ago I lost my only sister from heart trouble of a valvular character, and had I known then what I have learned from experience since those days of my medical college—I was a third year student in medical college when she was where she could have been wonderfully helped—I would have put her upon the identical treatment I have placed these severe cases upon, and the general principles of which I have already outlined to you for your brother about whom you asked.

I did not think your physician would favor the regimen advised, but you wrote me for my counsel and you must be governed by your best judgment as to what course of procedure you will follow. No two physicians have identical medical opinions upon every subject in medicine. Your physician may be as positive in his conviction that his form of treatment is best. Every doctor does his utmost for the folks who employ him, or, at least, is supposed to do so.

Under no circumstances could I nor would I be so discourteous as to answer the questions of your letter critically commenting upon the various phases of treatment your physician has inaugurated. He is your physician. If you would wish my efforts of study in your brother's case, I, of course, am perfectly free to consult with your regular doctor just as I do here in my own section of the state.

MORE ABOUT DANDRUFF; ALSO SCALP ITCHING.

I am constantly in receipt of letters asking for dandruff cures and scalp remedies. A reader of 19 writes: "I have more gray hairs than my mother. I have much dandruff and my scalp is very itchy. Once a week I give the scalp a good shampoo, but the dandruff seems just as bad the next day. Will olive oil do any good? What do you recommend?"

Write your editor. Procure the previous Doctor's Helps article "HOW TO CURE DANDRUFF." It goes into complete details. Olive oil used alone on the scalp becomes rancid. It is not harmful, however. The above article will serve to get you straightened out promptly. APPLY ITS TEACHINGS.

Editor's Note: The editor again wishes to courteously state that if readers desire a personal reply by mail from Dr. McCaskey through this office they must inclose self-addressed and stamped envelopes, otherwise inquiries must await their turn in having the answers to their questions printed. Again we urge our readers to clip and paste these valuable articles in a book. Oftentimes back numbers of newspapers asked for are missing from our files when requests are made for issues of certain previous dates.

LAMAR BEHIND TRUST PROBE

Impersonator of Congressmen Attacking the Steel Corporation.

Senate Will Receive New Resolution on Rebate Inquiry.

Washington, Jan. 20.—David Lamar, who furnished sensational testimony before the senate lobby investigation committee last summer, and who is under indictment in New York for impersonating congressmen in telephone conversations with big financiers, has been revealed as interested in the effort to initiate official investigation into alleged rebate-giving by railroads to the United States Steel corporation.

The disclosure came in a meeting of the senate interstate commerce committee considering a resolution submitted by Senator Lane of Oregon directing an inquiry by the interstate commerce commission to ascertain whether the Steel corporation had received unlawful rebates which would justify legal proceedings. William H. Green of Creighton, Neb., was mentioned in the Lane resolution as the man to whom the commission should look for information on the subject.

Senator Lane Made Statement.

Last week the interstate commerce committee heard Senator Lane on his resolution and directed him to get further information and report. The senator reappeared before the committee yesterday. After he had made a statement Chairman Newlands asked if he could locate Mr. Green and have him appear before the committee.

"Mr. Green is here," said Senator Lane. "He is in the room now."

Mr. Green was called upon to make a statement and to give details of his information as to rebates to the Steel corporation. He made a general statement, asserting he had a mass of information, but that he did not wish to disclose it except to the interstate commerce commission. Pressed by members of the committee for details, the Nebraska man asserted he would not do so until he had consulted "my board of strategy."

"Board of Strategy."

"Who is your board of strategy?" asked Senator Townsend of Michigan, abruptly. "Do you have any relations with David Lamar?"

"Yes," Mr. Green answered. "I know Mr. Lamar, and would like to consult with him and with Herman Schulteiss of the Anti-Trust league."

Mr. Green also said he had conferred with Mr. Lamar before coming to the committee room, and that the latter had told him to go before the committee, but not to disclose his information as to rebates there.

It was learned by the committee later that Green had been mentioned during the lobby hearings as one of the members of the Anti-Trust league which, in co-operation with David Lamar, urged the Steel corporation investigation which eventually was undertaken by the Stanley committee.

Substitute Resolution.

The interstate commerce committee, after hearing Senator Lane and Mr. Green, adopted a resolution as a substitute for the Lane resolution, which will be submitted to the senate by Chairman Newlands. It directs that the charges of rebates suggested in the original resolution be referred to the attorney general and interstate commerce commission for investigation and for such action as they deem advisable.

WANTS TO HEAR OF CANADIAN "ADS."

Washington, Jan. 20.—Chairman Overman of the senate lobby committee declared yesterday that if George Joslyn of Omaha, Neb., president of the Western Newspaper union, did not come to Washington voluntarily, he would be subpoenaed to testify on the charge that his concern had been paid by the Canadian government to furnish to American newspapers "patent insides" containing favorable representations of agriculture in Canada. His announcement followed a brief senate debate in which various opinions of the tide of American emigration across the border were expressed.

NARROWS DISPUTE AS TO COURT RIGHTS

Supreme Court Decides Several Cases as to Jurisdiction.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The field of dispute between the state and Federal courts which has given rise to many bitter controversies over jurisdiction was materially narrowed in a series of decisions announced yesterday by the supreme court. With one exception every decision announced by the court touched upon some phase of the controversy.

In a Vermont case the court upheld the right of railroads to initiate proceedings to test state rates in the Federal courts rather than in the supreme court of Vermont. The state legislature probably will be called in special session to remedy the situation.

In a Kentucky case, the court announced that state courts must accept as true all alleged facts set forth in petitions for removing cases from state to Federal courts. Under this ruling attacks upon the truthfulness of the petition must be postponed until the case gets into Federal court.

Passing upon a Mississippi case, the court upheld the right of Federal courts to dismiss a proceeding because the suit was not begun with sufficient service in the state court.

Feel Out of Sorts?

It's a good idea to look for the cause!

One common but often unsuspected cause is coffee-drinking. Yet some persons seem able to get along with coffee—at least for a time. But when headachy, bilious days come; breakfast or some other meal doesn't taste good; and the day's work goes wrong. (Ever feel that way?)—then it's time to find out for sure if coffee is causing the trouble in your case.

There's a subtle, poisonous drug, "caffeine," in which coffee that interferes with the normal functions of body, brain and nerves, and has a lot to do with one's comfort and progress.

Suppose for a test you try the simple expedient of quitting coffee and using well-made —a pure food-drink made of choice wheat. It has a delightful, Java-like flavour but is absolutely free from caffeine or any other drug.

POSTUM

After ten days or two weeks you will be able to decide whether to go back to coffee troubles, or stick to Postum and peace and comfort.

Postum comes in two forms.

Regular Postum—must be well boiled.

Instant Postum—doesn't require boiling, but is prepared instantly by stirring a level teaspoonful in an ordinary cup of hot water and adding cream and sugar to taste.

Grocers everywhere sell both kinds.

CLOGGED NOSTRILS OPEN AT ONCE, HEAD COLDS AND CATARRH VANISH

In One Minute Your Stuffy Nose and Head Clears, Sneezing and Nose Running Cease, Dull Headache Goes.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning! the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake to-night struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

Have A Case Sent Home

IT'S a mighty fine thing to have a case of beer in your cellar. It provides for an ever-ready beverage for meals, lunches, etc. or for mere refreshment of the most healthful kind.

Fitger's Beer

is particularly well adapted for the home on account of its purity and extra healthfulness. If you could spare the time to be shown through the brewery and bottling house you would understand why it is so good. Physicians recommend it as a tonic and builder of good, rich blood. For convalescents and nursing mothers it is the ideal liquid food.

SAYS COMMUNISM IS PASSING AWAY

Dr. Raymond Phelan Discusses Theme in Extension Course Lecture.

"Communism, for the most part, is a thing of the past," declared Dr. Raymond Phelan in an university extension course lecture at the Y. M. C. A. last evening. "It did not fit in with social evolution and its moderate success in the past is all that could have been expected of it."

The speaker declared that the United States with its free institutions and cheap land had been the stamping ground of the world for community experiments. "It was in this country," said he, "that Robert Owen tried his community plan. The followers of Fourier experimented with Communists devoted to the principle of the association of all work and of making labor attractive.

"Cabot, the French Communist, tested his scheme for social regeneration in this country. From Ann Lee's Shaker settlement in 1776 to the existing Amona community in Iowa and others, American history shows hundreds of Communist experiments. When successful, either the dominating personality of one man or woman, or a common, and often peculiar, religious belief has been essential to such success."

LOADED TUBS WHEN COAL WAS WEIGHED.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 20.—When a tub of coal hoisted from the Western Fuel company's barges was to be weighed, Phillip Gamasi, a shoveler for the company on board the barges, had instructions to heap the tubs as high as he could with close-packed fine coal. When the tub was not to be weighed, he was instructed to use coarse coal, and as little as he thought would pass without complaint. Sometimes such a bucket would contain only two or three big lumps.

Counsel for the eight officers, directors and employes of the company charged with criminal conspiracy to defraud the government of customs duties by juggling weights, endeavored to shake Gamasi's testimony, but he declared he was positive what his orders had been, and that he had executed them.

AMMONIA CAUSES ALARM.

Fire Call From Duluth Marine Supply Company at Early Hour.

Friction in the ice manufacturing plant at the Duluth Marine Supply company's building, foot of Fifth avenue west, caused a large quantity of ammonia to escape about 1:30 o'clock this morning and this caused the turning in of an alarm.

The department found the cause of the trouble after a few minutes and in half an hour had succeeded in getting the fumes out of the building. Simon Clark, manager of the company, said this morning that there was no damage to speak of, except several broken windows on the side and rear of the building.

JOHNSON ESTATE IS CUT BY DEBTS.

New York, Jan. 20.—Tom L. Johnson, former mayor of Cleveland, who died April 10, 1911, left property in New York state worth $212,136, according to the state appraiser's report. Debts against the estate and expenses of administration brought its value to $90,-881.

FREIGHT MEN OPTIMISTIC

Present Business Conditions Good--Prospects Better for Next Year.

Recent Legislation and Agricultural Devolopment Aid to Duluth.

Satisfaction is generally expressed by the freight departments of the railroads operating from Duluth over the general outlook for traffic during the present year. While the movement of coal, forest products and grain is light, the volume of general merchandise being handled is reported to be making a favorable comparison with a year ago.

Prospects Bright.

"We are looking forward to a heavy traffic next spring from the Head of the Lakes," said John I. Thomas, general agent of the Northern Pacific railroad this morning. "Everyone I have asked has expressed himself hopefully regarding the prospects for 1914 and with such big issues as the tariff and the currency bill, that went to impart an element of uncertainty to the situation a year ago, settled, business men now know where they are and are able to figure ahead. With favorable weather for seeding, the prospects look good for a big acreage going under crop in the Northwest next spring as a result of the splendid chance given farmers for getting their land plowed up last fall."

Mr. Thomas averred that coal traffic has been running heavier with his road for this month and the indications are that with another turn of cold weather a big volume of forest products will begin to move. Northern Pacific officials are counting upon handling at least 500,000 tons of iron ore from the Cuyuna range next season as a result of the development work being pushed through at the mines tapped by its two extensions in that territory.

Duluth Traffic Heavy.

C. W. Kieswetter, agent of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad, averred that more general freight is being shipped from Duluth to the towns served by it than ever before in its history for the season. That is attributed to the agricultural development that has taken place in the district of late and to the fact that after two active seasons in mining operation on the range, merchants are now in a fair financial position and are able to buy more freely. "We are now shipping up considerable stuff into the farming sections," said Mr. Kieswetter. "It is counting up heavily in the aggregate and is gratifying for the season that it is all new business, someson that has developed as the fruit of concerted efforts to bring settlers in."

Pulpwood and other forest products, he said, are now beginning to move freely from camps put in by the smaller operators on the road's Coleraine and Biwabik branches, and at Forbes.

Truck Farm Products.

With its daily refrigerator service the Missabe road is developing a large traffic in the handling of vegetables, fruits and other perishables to and from Duluth. It is pointed out that the local road is setting the lead in adopting a policy of placing corrugated steel ends in all its box cars. That step was recently decided upon by the company and it is proposed to carry the work through at its Proctor shops, till every car has been rebuilt. The cars are thus made more serviceable and increased loading capacity is afforded.

BLOCK OF DITCH BONDS TAKEN UP

Local Firm Acquires $10,000 Worth of County's Latest Issue.

W. M. Prindle & Co. yesterday took over another $10,000 block of the $35,000 purchase of county ditch bonds contracted for at a recent meeting of the county board. A short time ago, $15,000 worth of the bonds was delivered to the company. Only $10,000 worth is now left. It will be taken up later. The exact amount paid over to the county yesterday was $10,018.75, which includes a premium and accrued interest from Jan. 1.

The county will eventually float the entire amount of a $100,000 issue of the bonds to finance the construction of Judicial Ditch No. 3, a large drainage project in which St. Louis and Aitkin counties are interested.

WATER RATES UNDER FIRE

Commissioner Voss Questions Practicability of 8-Cent Minimum.

Public Hearing on Subject Called—Three Saloon Licenses Withheld.

The practicability, from a financial standpoint, of enforcing the water rates as announced by the water and light department through Commissioner of Public Utilities Leonidas Merritt, was seriously questioned by Finance Commissioner Fred J. Voss at the city council meeting yesterday afternoon.

The finance commissioner was seeking information. He said that he was not in a position to pass judgment upon the rates but explained that he had been looking over the department's annual report for 1912 and had conferred with several persons. As a result the query has arisen in his mind if the department would not be in danger of losing a substantial part of its revenue by fixing 8 cents per 100 cubic feet as the minimum rate. He pointed out that the fixed charges will remain about the same while the income might be materially decreased. He referred to the Proctor company, the largest single customer, stating that, according to his information, the company takes water which would otherwise have to be thrown away in order to keep fresh the supply in the West Duluth reservoir. Commissioner Voss expressed the opinion that if the 8-cent minimum is enforced the Proctor consumption will be very materially reduced while the operating charges would be reduced but very little. He also asked if the same would not apply to elevators using hydraulic power and added that he had been informed that most of them would rather change to electricity than pay the water bills which would result from the 8-cent minimum.

Cheapest Possible Rate.

Commissioner Merritt declared that the statistics, which have been prepared at the water and light office, show that water cannot be sold for less than 8 cents per 100 cubic feet unless the department sells it at a loss. He stated that it is not good business to furnish water for less than it costs the department. Mayor Prince asked him if it would not be well to wait until the valuation of the plant has been completed before putting new rates into effect but Commissioner Merritt expressed confidence in the figures which have been gathered and did not think that it would be necessary.

The outcome of the discussion was that the council passed a resolution calling a public hearing on water rates for 2 o'clock next Monday afternoon. All interested are invited to attend, and a special request will be forwarded to T. T. Hudson, former president of the old water and light board, to express his views on water rate schedules. The commissioners agreed also to hold an informal meeting this morning to go over the situation.

Licenses Held Up.

The applications of John Kerns for a saloon license at 531 West Michigan street, Ercki Macki at 159 South First avenue east, and Joseph Talkovich at 627 West Superior street were laid over for one week. Commissioner Hicken, who is having investigations made of these places, was not present at the meeting, but was downtown for a short while and left a request that such action be taken. He felt too weak to attend the meeting and did not visit his office.

Submits Paving Estimates.

Commissioner Murchison, head of the works division, submitted estimates of the cost of improving West First street between Twentieth and Thirtieth avenues. The figures of the several pavements were: Creosote block, $73,153.14; class A asphalt, $60,202.02; class B brick, $66,260.10; plain concrete, $46,083.90, and sandstone, $78,902.18.

He asked that a resolution be passed ordering the work to be done under that section of the charter authorizing that action without petition. It was submitted too late for the clerk to prepare a resolution, but it is likely that it will be passed at the next meeting.

Commissioner Merritt forwarded a request from the Humane society that a drinking fountain for horses be maintained at Fifty-seventh avenue west and Grand avenue. Some of the commissioners expressed the belief that Grand and Central avenues would be the more logical location for that convenience, and action was postponed for one week pending an investigation by the utility commissioner.

New Residence District.

A petition was received asking that the territory between Twentieth and Twenty-first avenues east and Fourth and Sixth streets be declared a residence district. Commissioner Voss raised an issue as to whether or not there is not danger of the council restricting too much of the city, thereby interfering with the logical development of the municipality.

Commissioner Murchison introduced ordinances appropriating $600 for the purchase of two oil spraying machines and $800 for the purchase of two 10,000-gallon storage tanks for oil. The ordinance appropriating $2,500 for the purchase of a motor truck for the works division was passed. The machine will be used chiefly by the sewer maintenance department.

M. M. Gasser's communication protesting against allowing icehouses to be located in East Fond du Lac was read and filed. A petition asking that East Fond du Lac be declared a residence district was presented to the council a short time ago, and if it is passed it will shut out the icehouses.

The resolution of Commissioner Murchison allowing a small farmer a reduction of 50 per cent on his assessment for the Woodland sewer was referred to the city attorney for an opinion as to its legality.

WILL APPEAL TO HALT HYDE TRIAL.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 20.—A motion asking a rehearing of the taxpayers' suit to keep the county court from paying the expenses of another trial of Dr. B. Clarke Hyde, charged with the murder of Col. Thomas H. Swope, was overruled by Judge Allen C. Southern in the circuit court late yesterday. The two taxpayers who brought the suit say they intend to appeal to the supreme court. Judge Porterfield in the criminal court reset the Hyde trial for next Monday.

$350,000 FOR YALE DIVINITY SCHOOL.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 20.—Announcement was made at a meeting of the Yale corporation that gifts and pledges of $350,000 had been secured to help carry out the plans for the development of the Yale divinity school into a university school of religions. These gifts will increase the endowment of the school to over $1,200,000, the largest endowment of any theological school in an American university.

A famous scientist condemns the light bottle

We reprint herewith an extract from an opinion rendered by a famous scientist showing that beer in light bottles can not remain pure.

"Beer bottles should be manufactured from reddish-brown glass, inasmuch as same will to a much higher degree than any other kind of glass, minimize the influence of the rays of light on the quality of beer, and will protect the latter against acquiring the disagreeable taste (Sonnengeschmack) due to the chemical action of light. . . . . .

"In white and green glass bottles the beer is most affected by the action of the light. Such bottles are, therefore, absolutely inappropriate and should never be employed by brewers."

CAREFUL OF THEIR MONEY

Bond Buyers Do Not Purchase Without Careful Investigation.

City Clerk Compiles Enough Information to Fill a Book.

The issuance of a big bond issue by the city involves much more procedure and red tape than merely advertising and accepting bids, and then having the bonds printed, turned over to the purchaser, and collecting the money upon their delivery.

That might suit the municipality, but the people buying the city's securities do not let loose of their cash so easily. They want to know what they are getting, and no opinion but that of the best recognized bond attorneys in the country will be accepted.

It is to satisfy the bond attorneys that much of the labor is necessary, and a big share of it falls upon the shoulders of the city clerk.

In preparing the information which must be submitted to the lawyers who will pass upon the city's issue of $400,000 of refunding bonds, City Clerk Charles S. Palmer must compile a volume of data equivalent to a fair-sized book. All of it must be accurately obtained from the city records and be in approved form.

To aid him in this work the city clerk has prepared a tentative outline which gives an idea of the magnitude of the task. The items to be remembered include:

Charter of the city.

Certificate showing aldermen present at the council meetings involved.

Communication from the mayor transmitting charter to the council.

Receipt of the charter by the council and the call for the special election on its adoption.

Receipt of returns of judges and clerks of the special election by the council, the canvass of the vote and the declaration of the result.

Call of city election.

Canvass of returns of city election showing election of mayor and city commissioners.

Approval of bonds of mayor and commissioners.

Qualification of mayor and commissioners and election of city clerk.

Approval of bonds of city clerk and city auditor.

Adoption of standing rules.

First reading of bond ordinance.

Second reading of bond ordinance.

Third reading and passage of and text of bond ordinance.

Affidavit of publication of bond ordinance.

Certificate showing no referendum asked on ordinance.

Affidavit of publication of notice of sale.

Qualification of bidders and receipt of bids.

Bid of N. J. Upham company.

Acceptance of bid of N. J. Upham company.

Mother's Friend in Every Home

Comfort and Safety Assured Before the Arrival of the Stork.

In thousands of American homes there is a bottle of Mother's Friend that has aided many a woman through the trying ordeal, saved her from suffering and pain, kept her in health in advance of baby's coming, and had a wonderful influence in developing a lovely disposition in the child.

There is no other remedy so truly a help to nature. It relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes pliant those fibres and muscles which nature is expanding and soothes the inflammation of breast glands.

Mother's Friend is an external remedy, and not only banishes all distress in advance, but assures a speedy recovery for the mother. Thus she becomes a healthy woman with all her strength preserved to thoroughly enjoy the rearing of her child. Mother's Friend can be had at any drug store at $1.00 a bottle. LETS HIGH COURT ORDER CASE REVIEW.

Washington, Jan. 20.—A bill to authorize the supreme court to order up for review any case involving the constitutionality of a Federal statute was favorably reported by the senate judiciary committee. At present it is only possible for the supreme court to review such cases when the constitutionality of a statute has been disapproved by a lower court.

4 Reasons for H-O the only steam-cooked Oatmeal

1. The Steam-Cooked Flavor

The first thing your family will notice about H-O Oatmeal is its particularly fine flavor. Steam-cooking is the reason. By cooking H-O before it is rolled into flakes and doing it in sealed cookers no flavor is lost.

2. Its Quick Preparation

The steam-cooking of H-O lasts over two hours at a temperature away above boiling. This leaves little cooking for you to do—only 20 minutes. If you serve any other oatmeal you must cook it over two hours or else serve it underdone.

3. Its Easy Digestibility

Starch cooked through is splendid food. Starch partially cooked is indigestible. Oats are largely starch and need hours of cooking. H-O with 20 minutes on your stove is always fully digestible, due to the two hours of steam-cooking. Other oatmeals are usually served but partly cooked.

4. Its Low Cost

To cook H-O requires 1-7 the fuel that other oatmeal requires. H-O—much drier than others—packed in moisture-proof packages—sterilized at 400°—bulks up larger when cooked and costs less than one-half cent per dish.

WOULD REORGANIZE ALL INDIAN AFFAIRS.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Senator Penrose has introduced a resolution for the appointment by the president of a commission of seven to report on conditions among the Indians, as suggested by the recent report from the Rodman Wanamaker expedition. The commission would be empowered to report a bill on the entire reorganization of Indian affairs.

COLD WAVE IS COMING

Drop to Below-Zero Temperature Promised in Few Hours.

Storm Extends All Over the Northwest—Trains on Time Yet.

A cold wave is coming.

A storm bringing snow, below-zero temperature and northwesterly winds now prevails over Saskatchewan, Alberta and parts of the Dakotas, and the first effects are already being felt in Duluth.

About three inches of snow has fallen in this city since last night, and the mercury is falling gradually. The temperature was 21 degs. above zero at 7 o'clock this morning, but fell to 17 above early in the forenoon. A temperature of 5 degs. below or lower is expected tonight.

H. W. Richardson, forecaster of the Duluth weather bureau, said this morning that storms prevail all over the Northwest, a good share of Canada, the lake region and in the Rocky mountains. Temperatures in the Rocky mountain districts have fallen more than 30 degs. in the last twenty-four hours. Considerable snow is falling in the Northwest and rain in the lake region. The storm center is in Michigan.

Owing to the fact that the wind has not been violent, although high at times last night, and that the fall of snow has been very gradual, the railways, telephone and telegraph companies have experienced no trouble in Duluth.

SEVEN SLAIN; PRISON QUIET AFTER FIGHT

ty, serving forty-year sentence for manslaughter.

Three in Hospital.

In the prison hospital suffering from bullet wounds were Miss Mary Foster, telephone operator at the prison; John Martin, turnkey, and C. L. Wood, guard.

The bodies of Drover, Oates and Godfrey were held for word from relatives as to their disposition, which was expected to come today.

Pistols, smuggled into the prison and reaching the hands of Charles Koontz, China Reed and Tom Lane, the convicts who gave up their lives in their dash for liberty, were the cause of the tragedy. Today Warden W. R. Dick continued a searching investigation to discover the means by which the weapons came within the walls.

Ward came from Oklahoma City that a special commission might be appointed to make a thorough investigation of the tragedy.

Shot the Turnkey.

Armed with their pistols, Reed, Lane and Koontz, when labor ended for the day in the tailor shop where they were employed, made their way through a basement storeroom and up a dark stairway to the entry room of the main building. There stood John Martin, the turnkey, but before he realized what the presence of the men meant, a shot passed through his cheek, knocking him down.

Quickly the men took his keys. With a shout to the other prisoners to join them, the three then rushed forward. Oates, the assistant warden, was in their path. Reed shot him through the heart.

Near the door of the warden's office sat Judge Thomas, who was waiting to see Warden Dick on business.

Shot Down Visitor.

"Boys, I'm an innocent bystander, just here on private business," the judge called as he sprang to his feet and put up his hands.

In reply came a shot from the convicts and he fell dead. Another shot wounded Wood, a guard.

Miss Foster, the telephone operator, then came in for attention from the three. With an oath they overturned the switchboard, hoping to disconnect wires.

By this time the greatest excitement was sweeping through the prison. Convicts were shouting cheering words to the escaping three, and guards were shooting as they ran about to quell the outbreak.

Half cringing as the rifles of the guards cracked from various quarters, the three convicts hesitated, but only for an instant.

Held Girl as Shield.

Lured by the hope of freedom, the three went forward toward the gate, dragging Miss Foster with them. As they neared the doorway they lifted the telephone operator, and carrying her as a shield, the three huddled behind her as they rushed from the building. Godfrey, one of the guards, attempted to halt them. He was shot promptly to death. A bullet that went wild passed through the office door of Drover, the Bertillon expert, and killed that official.

Out of the building, Reed, Koontz and Lane made their way on a trot to the gate. None of the guards dared shoot because of the human shield, the telephone operator, carried by the desperate men. A shot finally was fired and it hit Miss Foster in the leg.

Reaching the gate, the three men dropped their burden, after unlocking the last barrier to freedom, and sprang into a buggy. Lashing the horses the convicts sped down the road.

Killed in Running Fight.

The dash for liberty was short, however. Guards on horses quickly came within shooting distance and a running fight began. The convicts made a desperate fight as the buggy lurched along, but it was soon over. Bullet after bullet from the guns of the guards found its mark, and when the horses at last fell from a shot and the guards came up, the three men lay dead in the buggy.

Within the prison guards worked heroically, driving the convicts to their cells and holding at bay those who threatened to overpower them. Order was soon restored, and none of the other prisoners went beyond the walls.

Former Illinois Congressman.

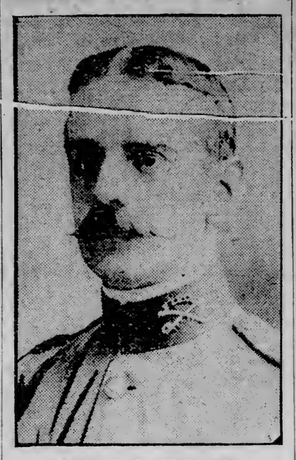

Muskogee, Okla., Jan. 20.—John B. Thomas, who was shot and killed at McAlester by convicts in a dash for liberty, served five years as representative in congress from the Fourth Illinois district from 1879 to 1889. Shortly after retiring from congress he moved to what then was the Indian Territory, and in 1897 was appointed United States district judge by President McKinley. When his term expired in 1901 he engaged in the practice of law here.

Mr. Thomas had served as grand master of the Masonic grand lodge in Illinois. He was born in Mount Vernon, Ill., and was 66 years old. His son, John R. Thomas, Jr., is a captain in the First regiment, United States infantry, stationed at Honolulu.

ILLINOISAN BUYS MINNESOTA FARM.

McIntosh, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—A deal was closed here last week by which Webster brothers sold their farm just outside of the city limits to a man from Illinois. During the past week there have been more than fifty land seekers in town mostly from Southern Minnesota and Illinois.

MAY HEAD NEW YORK POLICE DEPARNMENT

MAJ. J. C. GROOME.

New York, Jan. 20.—It is reported that Mayor Mitchel has under consideration for police commissioner of New York, Maj. J. C. Groome, now at the head of the Pennsylvania constabulary. Maj. Groome was once at the head of the city troop of Philadelphia. He organized the constabulary on military lines, and the corps is noted all over the United States for its efficiency and its spirit. Maj. Groome's management of the New York police would be conceived in the military spirit much like that of Gen. Bingham. Maj. Groome has denied that he has received an offer of the appointment.

Reforms in New York police department, as suggested by a special committee of the board of aldermen which investigated the department after the murder of Herman Rosenthal in July, 1912, are to be adopted by Mayor Mitchel. Announcement to this effect was made by the mayor yesterday afternoon. Under the new regulations inspectorships will be abolished; a secret service squad will be created to watch for corruption within the department and there will be special vice squads.

All who have investigated the soil conditions around McIntosh pronounce it to be as productive as the higher priced lands and easier to handle.

BETRAYED BY STEPFATHER

mother which appears in two letters said to have been written by the girl.

In a letter written to Miss Maria Ernst, a cousin, Julia made her first proposal to bargain for the murder of her mother. This letter follows:

"Dear Honey: I wonder if your father would entertain any notion of killing mother. If he does, I wish that he would hurry up and do it, as I am getting awful tired. I wish he would try to come over here to Windsor a couple of days next week. Of course, he would have to do it when father and I are away. He could go to the house when father is shucking corn and I am in school. Tell him to come and see me at recess."

Wrote to Uncle.

The letter she wrote to C. W. Ernst, her uncle, was in substance:

"I wish you would try to come over here. I am awful mad. If you will do what I want you to, I will pay you well, but not until I am 18. You can come to see me at the schoolhouse at recess. Why didn't Maria answer my other letter?"

Mr. Ernst told the state's attorney he did not inform Mrs. Higgins of the letters because he was not on speaking terms with her, but that he did go to the schoolhouse and ask Julia not to write any more such letters. He said he saw Julia and asked her if she was crazy. He told her to go home and behave herself, and after the supposedly accidental killing of Mrs. Higgins he gave the letters to the county authorities.

Higgins slept soundly last night, and awoke with an appetite for breakfast. He is in jail at Aledo, and his stepdaughter, while in the same city, is under surveillance at the home of her uncle, Gust Flake. She was taken there from this city last night and at times was hysterical.

May Not Punish Girl.

Prosecution of Julia Flake for participation in the conspiracy which, it is charged, resulted in the murder of her mother by Robert Higgins, her stepfather, will not be pushed too harshly because of her youth, State's Attorney John M. Wilson of Mercer county, said today.

"As for Higgins, well, that's different," he added.

The alleged conspiracy, terminating in the murder of Mrs. Higgins Jan. 5, the arrests of Higgins and his stepdaughter, and their confessions disclosing the infatuation of the two, form almost the only topic of conversation in Mercer and neighboring counties, where Higgins and his family were well known.

ANTAGONISM BETWEEN BUSINESS AND THE GOVERNMENT OVER, SAYS PRESIDENT

roads, industrial, commercial and public service bodies.

2—A law to confer upon the interstate commerce commission the power to superintend and regulate the financial operations by which railroads are henceforth to be supplied with the money they need for their proper development and improved transportation facilities. The president made it clear that "the prosperity of the railroads and the prosperity of the country are inseparably connected," in this regard.

3—Definition of "the many hurtful restraints of trade," by explicit legislation supplementary to the Sherman law.

4—The creation of a commission to aid the courts and to act as a clearing house of information in helping business to conform with the law.

5—Provision of penalties and punishments to fall upon individuals responsible for unlawful business practices.

6—Prohibition of holding companies and a suggestion that the voting power of individuals holding shares in numerous corporations might be restricted.

7—Giving to private individuals the right to found suits for redress on facts and judgments proven in government suits, and providing that the statute of limitations should run only from the date of conclusion of the government's action.

House Galleries Packed.

President Wilson left the White House at 12:10 o'clock to deliver his message on trust legislation to a joint session of congress. Both the house and senate met at noon and recessed, while the senators filed over to the hall of the house for the president's address about 12:30 o'clock.

The house galleries were packed. Mrs. Wilson and others of the president's family occupied places, while the diplomatic corps was well represented and the floor was crowded with various government officials. A joint committee met the president in Speaker Clark's office to conduct him into the rostrum.

The president arrived at the capitol at 12:25 o'clock. Both houses were assembled and waiting for his appearance.

Greeted With Cheers.

The president was ushered into the crowded chamber at 12:29 o'clock while the audience rose and gave him prolonged applause and cheers. The president took his place at the clerk's desk and began reading promptly at 12:30 o'clock. His auditors gave rapt attention.

The scene was a colorful one and no less dramatic than on any of the previous occasions when the president, setting aside precedent that had prevailed since George Washington's time, came to the halls of congress to address the national legislative body in person. The high-banked galleries presented a wave of color. On the floor the legislators, in sombre conventional garb, packed the hall to its utmost corners. Secretaries Garrison, Daniels and Wilson, and Postmaster General Burleson had seats on the floor, and other officials were clustered about the speaker's dais. Hundreds of people, straining for a glimpse of the president and unable to secure admission, packed the halls of the capitol.

The round of applause that began when the president entered was only stilled by Mr. Wilson's evident desire to proceed with his reading.

Hailed by Applause.

As the president read his message of "Business Peace and Industrial Freedom," as administration supporters called it, he frequently was interrupted with long applause, and at times demonstrations approaching cheering. His reference to interlocking directorates was received without demonstration, but when he referred to the proposal to authorize the interstate commerce commission to regulate the financial operations of the railroads, a burst of applause halted the reading and the president had to wait for it to subside.

His declarations that the laws should "tear nothing up by the roots" and that "no sweeping or novel change is necessary," were received with attentive silence. Republican Leader James R. Mann led the applause that greeted the declaration for giving the interstate commerce commission power to regulate railroad finances.

Another round of applause followed the president's statement as to railroad control, with its declaration that the "business of production must be separated from the business of transportation."

The declaration for an interstate trade commission was received in silence, and applause greeted the statement that "penalties and punishment should fall not upon business itself, but upon the individuals who use the instrumentalities of business to do things which public policy and sound business practice condemn."

Loud applause greeted the conclusion of the president's address at 12:51 o'clock.

As he left the chamber Majority Leader Underwood greeted him with a handclasp, and on his way out the president was delayed by many who sought to shake his hand.

MINNESOTAN SUES BARONESS FOR PRICE OF GIFT PEARLS

gave to a Parisian jeweler for a string of pearls. The baroness denies this statement, and says if there was any such agreement it was founded on "an immoral consideration." She counter-claims the sum of $29,000 alleged to be due to her by Dr. Appleby.

According to the testimony, Dr. Appleby was anxious to marry the baroness, but she refused. The Parisian jeweler sued Dr. Appleby on the notes, which the baroness had refused to meet, and the present suit followed.

Has Valuable Collection.

The baroness was in the limelight about two years ago over an insurance case. Since divorcing her titled husband twelve years ago she has spent most of her time in London, and has accumulated a fine collection of jewels, which she insured for about $75,000. At the Shakespeare ball held during the coronation of King George she lost a pearl brooch which she valued at $15,000. The insurance company, which had received more than $1,000 from her in premiums, refused to pay her claim, and its lawyers threatened that if the case came to trial they would ask some embarrassing questions about the baroness' history. She refused to be alarmed at this, and the insurance company finally settled the claim out of court.

WOMAN WOULD NOT GIVE UP

Though Sick and Suffering; At Last Found Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Richmond, Pa. — "When I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was in a dreadfully rundown state of health, had internal troubles, and was so extremely nervous and prostrated that if I had given in to my feelings I would have been in bed. As it was I had hardly strength at times to be on my feet and what I did do was by a great effort. I could not sleep at night and of course felt very bad in the morning, and had a steady headache.

"After taking the second bottle I noticed that the headache was not so bad, I rested better, and my nerves were stronger. I continued its use until it made a new woman of me, and now I can hardly realize that I am able to do so much as I do. Whenever I know any woman in need of a good medicine I highly praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound." — Mrs. FRANK CLARK, 3146 N. Tulip St., Richmond, Pa.

FEDERAL OWNERSHIP OF COPPER MINES IS URGED ON CONGRESS

conference with President Wilson and the house leaders, and is confident that, at least so far as the Colorado strike is concerned, his project for an investigation will command strength at the gathering of the party forces. Meantime the full membership of the house committee on rules, which was expected to meet today, will defer action to await the expression of party sentiment. The Democrats of the committee already have voted adversely to an investigation.

Along with this caucus plan, the advocates of woman suffrage began agitation in favor of bringing up before the caucus the question of creating a standing committee on suffrage, which the rules committee Democrats also have voted against. Representative Raker of California and others said they proposed to have a test of the question. There was also some talk of possibly bringing up the pending bill to appropriate not to exceed $25,000,000 for roads, conditioned on equal co-operation among the states.

Hill Wants Inquiry.

Representative Hill of Illinois introduced a resolution directing the house committee on labor to investigate conditions in the copper fields of Houghton, Keweenaw and Ontonagon counties in Michigan. The inquiry would be extended to efforts of labor organizations to unionize the copper mines.

Socialists Offer Aid.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Two thousand children in the mine strike districts of Calumet, Mich., and Colorado will be clothed and shod by the strike children's relief fund of the Socialist organization, it was announced from Socialist headquarters here. Telegrams were sent to Calumet and Colorado last night, it was said, asking for instructions as to what clothing was needed. The supplies will be purchased here.

"Children of school age are those needing clothes and shoes," said Mrs. W. B. Dranstetter, custodian of the fund, which was started several weeks ago. "We are informed that the miners' families are not in want of food. We have several thousand dollars on hand, contributed from various sources including churches and organizations outside of the labor movement. It is understood that this fund is solely for the relief of children and no other purpose."

Approve MacDonald's Stand.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Resolutions praising his stand in favor of a Federal investigation of the copper miners' strike in Northern Michigan were adopted yesterday and sent to Representative W. J. MacDonald by three locals of the Western Federation of Miners. Copies of the resolutions also were sent to the house rules committee.

Besides expressing confidence in the congressman from this district, the resolutions condemned members of Mr. MacDonald's party who recently sent a telegram to him disapproving his stand, and demanding that he retract his statement that constitutional government no longer existed in the Copper country.

No disorders were reported from any portion of the strike district today.

Dynamite Caps On Train.

Search for three Finns who left a parcel of dynamite fuses and caps behind them on a Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic train on their arrival here last night from Negaunee, was begun today by Sheriff Cruse and his men all over Houghton county.

The conductor of the train remembered distinctly that one of the men carried a carpetbag and that the other two had ordinary valises. The dynamite parcel was found in a seat soon after they had left the car. Trace of the trio was lost after they had reached Hancock.

No suspect had been arrested this morning.

The package contained 250 dynamite caps and Sheriff Cruse suspected a dynamite plot directed at one or more of the copper mines in this district.

There were no other over-night developments in the strike situation. The strikers maintained their peaceful attitude toward the non-union men at work in the mine and no trouble of any kind was reported.

TWIN CITIES' CLAIM TOLD

hearing bankers believed that the limitations of the Chicago territory depended to a great extent upon a decision concerning the claims of St. Paul and Minneapolis as a site for a regional bank.

The two members of President Wilson's cabinet will complete the hearing in this city today and will go to St. Louis tonight.

Twin City Men on Hand.

On the list of those to be heard today were three representatives from Minneapolis, seven from St. Paul and others from Davenport, Iowa, St. Joseph, Mo., and Springfield, Ill.

Those from Minneapolis were: F. A. Chamberlain, J. E. Bassett and J. E. Phalen.

From St. Paul: John R. Mitchell George H. Prince, John J. Flannigan, J. W. Wheeler, J. H. Beek, William Magivy and D. A. Wallace.

Chicago bankers, at the request of the secretaries, gave their opinions yesterday as to the territory to be served by the Chicago reserve bank. Iowa and Detroit, Mich., bankers requested that their territory be included in the Chicago division, and Minneapolis bankers presented the claims of that city to the Northwestern regional bank.

J. G. Rounds of Des Moines, Frank Epperson of Eddieville, Q. M. Davis of Iowa City and John McHugh of Sioux City urged that not only all Iowa, but Nebraska and that part of South Dakota served by Sioux City banks should be included in the Chicago territory. It was inconceivable, they declared, that Iowa should be annexed to any financial center other than Chicago.

Detroit Men Heard.

Similar arguments were put forward by George H. Russell and William J. Gray of Detroit.

"We do the bulk of our business with Chicago," said Mr. Russell. "It would be a great error to attach us to some Eastern territory. Later, when more banks are established than the original eight contemplated, Detroit will wish to have a regional bank of her own."

The argument for Minneapolis was opened by Douglass A. Fisk, speaking for the Civic and Commerce association of that city.

"Isn't there anybody here to speak for St. Paul," said Mr. McAdoo, "or is this by design?"

"It isn't by our design," answered Mr. Fisk as he took the witness chair.

Previous witnesses had carefully referred to Minneapolis and St. Paul as the "Twin Cities" or on mentioning Minneapolis, hastily had added "St. Paul," every mention of the financial rivalry of the two northern cities bringing laughter.

Chapman a Witness.

Mr. Fisk submitted a printed brief and charts on behalf of Minneapolis, and introduced Joseph Chapman, vice president of the Northwestern National bank of Minneapolis, who began the explanation of the charts.

"We contend that in the purchase of grain, the local buyer must be near a Federal reserve bank," Mr. Chapman said.

"I seems to me that, with a branch bank at Minneapolis, you would be able to get all the currency you want for that purpose," said Secretary McAdoo. "Isn't it true that yours is a borrowing district and that you would rely on other Federal reserve districts because of that?"

"It is not. The lumber trade compensates the grain trade, and the result has been that, in the last few years, our territory has not been a crop country."

"The point in our minds," the secretary said, "is whether a branch or a main reserve bank should be located in Minneapolis."

Mr. Chapman said he believed the New York bank should be as large as possible.

For Big New York Bank.

"The New York bank should stand as a bulwark between Europe and the United States, he said. "Europe will be more impressed with the scheme the larger you make the New York bank. I believe personally there should be a bank at New York, Chicago, Boston, San Francisco, Minneapolis, Kansas City or St. Louis, Philadelphia or Baltimore, and New Orleans or Atlanta."

on its own account against the default of interest on that loan.

Support of United States.

The second protest is made on behalf of and at the request of French bankers in regard to the loan of 1913, which was secured by 38 per cent of the Mexican customs dues, but which did not receive the recognition of the French government.

It is understood that the note to Provisional President Huerta mentions in careful terms that the French government will not now exercise its privilege of forced collection of the Mexican customs duties, and the document is framed in such a way as to imply tacit support of the Mexican policy of the United States.

Federals Cut Off.

San Blas, Sinaloa, Mexico, Jan. 20.—All the Federal forces in Northern Mexico are now cut off from communication with Mexico City, according to information received here by Gen. Carranza. His staff believes that he is in telegraphic communication with every insurgent commander in the north.

Gen. Pedro Gonzales reported that Gen. Guiterrez, Constitutionalist commander in the state of Nuemo Leon, notified him all railroad connection between the national capital and Saltillo and Monterey had been cut. Guiterrez said he had captured seven Federal trains loaded with ammunition and provisions.

Refugees at El Paso.

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 20.—The 3,300 Mexican Federal soldiers, six Mexican generals and 1,369 women and children who sought asylum in the United States after they were driven out of Ojinaga, Mex., by Gen. Francisco Villa's rebel forces arrived in El Paso today and were formally interned at the Fort Bliss military reservation. They are to be held by this government indefinitely on the footing of prisoners of war.

Arriving in ten trains from Marfa, Tex., the refugees were taken at once to Fort Bliss, where they were put in a camp inclosed by a barbed wire fence and guarded by United States troops.

The bringing of the refugees here resulted from the evacuation of Chihuahua several weeks ago by Gen. Salvador Mercado's Federal army, its flight across the desert to Ojinaga on the border, the besieging of Ojinaga by the rebels, the retreat of the Federals into United States territory at Presidio, Tex., and the picturesque march afoot of the Federals over the sixty-seven miles of mountain trail to the nearest station at Marfa.

As soon as they could be secured, the 4,669 refugees to be fed, sheltered and clothed by the war department were assigned to permanent quarters, and soon a series of campfires told that a Mexican village, suddenly implanted on American soil, was preparing for breakfast.

PEACE UNION MAKES APPEAL TO MEXICANS

Asks Huerta and Carranza to Leave All to Mediation.

Brussels, Belgium, Jan. 20.—The International Peace Union, whose headquarters are here, is arranging to ask all the peace societies of the world to send telegrams on the same day to Provisional President Huerta and to Venustiano Carranza, the Constitutionalist leader in Mexico, requesting them to agree to an armistice, "pending which their rival claims and the real interests of Mexico shall be submitted to arbitrators."

How Good That MUSTEROLE Feels!

A-a-h! That's delicious relief for those sore muscles, those stiff joints, that lame back.

MUSTEROLE is a clean, white ointment, made with the oil of mustard and other home simples.

It does the work of the old-fashioned mustard plaster, minus the plaster and minus the blister!

You simply rub MUSTEROLE on the spot where the pain is—rub it on briskly—and the pain is gone.

No muss, no bother. Just comforting, soothing relief—first a gentle glow, then a delightful sense of coolness. And best of all, no blisters like the old-fashioned mustard plaster used to make.

There is nothing like MUSTEROLE for Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Tonsilitis, Croup, Stiff Neck, Asthma, Neuralgia, Headache, Congestion, Pleurisy, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Pains and Aches of the Back or Joints, Sprains, Sore Muscles, Bruises, Chilblains, Frosted Feet and Colds of the Chest (it prevents Pneumonia).

Doctors and nurses frankly recommend MUSTEROLE. It is used in large hospitals.

MUSTEROLE WILL NOT BLISTER

At your druggist's, in 25c and 50c jars, and a special large hospital size for $2.50.

Accept no substitute. If your druggist cannot supply you, send 25c or 50c, to the MUSTEROLE Company, Cleveland, Ohio, and we will send you a jar, postage prepaid. (66)

CHARLES H. KELLEY, Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have great faith in Musterole; indeed, I have prescribed it for several of my patients this week; it is a very valuable remedy."

LIVE SPORTING GOSSIP

By BRUCE

ONE of the funniest spectacles we know of is the mental picture of Bob Fitzsimmons meandering into court and becoming entangled in a legal argument as to whether he is fit to fight. He claims he can lick some of the white hopes of today. Even if he could, the accomplishment would be no reason for permitting the grand old veteran to return to the ring.

Poor old Fitz. He knew how to fight. In the ring the little brains in that odd shaped little head, made to appear smaller by the massive shoulders, were concentrated upon fighting. He thought, lived and dreamed of fighting. His was the cunning of the fox. But now that these glorious, knock 'em dead days of the house of Fitz are a thing of the past, the poor old man is nothing but a very foolish individual with a very foolish idea in his nut, and that about lets him out.

Mose Was With Us.

YESTERDAY brought sleet and Mose Strathern. This chap, of the general architecture of a block house, was the center for the University of Minnesota when it played Michigan. There was some real football in those days and the man who is now making Gilbert his home was one of the realest centers you ever saw. We have not the authority of Jawn Ritchie for saying this, but it is what we believe.

Friend Strathern played against Gregory of Michigan in that never to be forgotten 6 to 6 game of 1903, and the brand of ball Mose delivered will live long in the mellow memories of those who witnessed the contest.

He Couldn't Be Found.

IT IS said that Jimmy Clabby, about the neatest boxer of the age, along with Gibbons and McFarland, wanted to annex a manager and was thinking of Billy McCarney, who steered the pugilistic course of the late Luther McCarty.

Clabby couldn't find McCarney. Now we read of the offer McCarney has made to the present manager of Clabby for Clabby's contract. McCarney is willing to dig for $25,000. He must think a lot of the prospects of James.

Can't Forget Hudson.

SOME of the writers of the Twin Cities can't forget the bungle made at the opening show at Hudson, Wis., when legalized boxing was ushered into being.

The crowd arrived to find the armory closed. Finally it was opened and there was a wild rush. About 400 of those holding tickets were unable to get in. Several fights occurred, according to one write-up, windows were smashed, and the bouts were postponed because the fighters had difficulty in getting from their rooms to the ring. Outside of a few details of this sort the opening boxing show was a success, it is said.

Worse Than Achilles.

BACK in the days of dawning history Achilles was considered one of the champion battlers of his time. Member, the only place he could be hurt was on the heel. He didn't even have an ulna bone.

We will say for Willie, however, in reference to the weakness of the head, that when it comes to money he shows not the least sign of any weakness whatever.

FEDERALS SIGN THIRTY-THREE

But Johnson and Murphy Say Outlaws Will Not Last Long.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Developments yesterday in the newest baseball war, left both sides—the aggressive outlaws of the Federal league and "organized ball"—confident of success. Predictions that the new league would give up the ghost in a short time were made by President Johnson of the American league and President Murphy of the Chicago Nationals.

At the headquarters of the Federal league, there was a busy scene all day. According to Joe Tinker, manager of the Chicago Federals, there are forty ball players in town. Among the visitors were Russell Ford and Ed Sweeney, the New York American's battery, both of whom were closeted with Tinker, and President Weeghman of the local club for some time. Whether either or both of them had signed contracts with the Federals was not announced. Howard Cammitz, the former Pittsburg pitcher traded to the Philadelphia Nationals, had a private discussion with "Doc" Gessler, the Pittsburg manager.

Weeghman repeated that he is with the new league to stay.

Despite reports that Killifer and Kirkpatrick of Brooklyn had not signed with the Federals, President Gilmore exhibited contracts signed by these men. A total of thirty-three major league players have signed with the league, he said.

Infielder McCarthy of Pittsburg was a caller at the office early last evening, and conferred with Tinker. Felix Chouinard, formerly of the Chicago Americans, and later with Des Moines, also consulted with the Federal leaguers and intimated he would sign with them.

William Brennan yesterday received a telegram that a new contract from the Federal league had arrived at his home.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—The American association is not suffering seriously from Federal league raids, according to information which reached President Chivington here yesterday. A telegram to him said that the Louisville club had lined up every one of its players for the ensuing season, signed contracts having been received from all but two, one of whom has agreed to terms, while the other has mailed his contract. The Louisville club is the second in the association to announce a complete roster, Kansas City having signed all its men. Other clubs were late in sending out contracts.

New York, Jan. 20.—Joe Lake, a pitcher of the Detroit American league club, passed yesterday with the Baltimore manager of the Federal league, according to a report published here today. Lake is a resident of Brooklyn.

Germans and British to Be Shown How to Raise Olympic Funds.

New York, Jan. 20.—The initial move in the campaign to collect funds for the American Olympic team of 1916 was made today when Secretary James E. Sullivan of the Amateur Athletic union issued a mail vote on the proposition to give $2,000 of the union's funds to the American Olympic committee.

President Lill has prepared a strong statement advocating the plan and it is thought that the various associations and officers of the association will vote unanimously for the donation. In addition the individual clubs of the union will be requested to subscribe directly to the Olympic fund team pledging a given sum to the Olympic treasurer, Julian Curtis, to be paid in full or in installments, as may be convenient.

This early activity followed directly upon the refusal of the German imperial authorities to donate $50,000 to the German committee and the failure of the British Olympic fund, is taken as an indication that the United States officials are determined to finance the Berlin team is a most thorough manner. It is estimated that more than $150,000 would be necessary to transport and quarter the United States team of 100 or more athletes who will represent this country in 1916.

Outdoor Races Postponed.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Outdoor ice skating races for the American championships, which were to have been held at Detroit yesterday and today, have been cancelled. It is announced by Allen I. DULUTH BEATS CANADIAN SOO IN HOCKEY CONTEST

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Jan. 20.—The Duluth hockey team last evening defeated the Canadian Soo seven by the score of 9 to 2, the visitors excelling the locals in every department of the game.

At the conclusion of the first half the score was 5 to 1 in favor of the Duluthians. During this half the visitors played rings around the Canadians, excelling in team work and presenting an impregnable defense.

Kahler was one of the stars for the visitors, though it was through the medium of team work and speedy and effective combination play, in which the team as a whole figured, that the Zenith City aggregation was enabled to swell the score to so one-sided a figure.

Despite the fact that it was one-sided, the contest was one of the best seen here for a long time. The playing of the Duluth team impressed the spectators and delighted the true lovers of the game. Here the opinion was expressed that the Duluth seven is one of the fastest and best in the Northwest.

Had it not been for the strenuous play of Hasson at goal, the score would have mounted even higher. The Canadian net defender made some remarkable stops, for the puck was shot at him innumerable times and he was the busiest man on the ice.

BIG GAME FOR CLUB TEAM

Catholic Basket Ball Players Will Meet the Ascensions.

Strong Superior Quint Will Also Be Taken on By Local Team.

The C. A. C. basket ball team will go to Minneapolis to play the crack Ascension team of that city on Friday evening. As the two teams are believed to play about the same grade of ball, the game is expected to prove very fast and interesting.

On a tour of Montana and the Dakotas the Ascension quint lost but one game, which indicates the class of the Mill City team.

While the C. A. C. five will be up against one of the strongest teams in the Northwest, the followers of the local team, after viewing it in action against the high school alumni bunch, are confident that the game will be very even, with the Duluth boys standing a very good show for a victory.

To Play Superior.

Tomorrow evening the C. A. C. aggregation will meet the Y. M. E. A. team of Superior. This will be the second game of the season and it is believed that the Duluth team has a very excellent chance of winning.

During the present season the C. A. C. candidates have been practicing under the direction of Schilling, the high school coach, and the progress of the team has shown the value of a regular instructor.

Currie, the right forward, is a former high school player and is one of the real stars. He was one of the crack players of Central and is considered one of the best players in the city.

Phil Dougherty, a new member of the team, learned the game at Portland, Me., and he is one of the real stars. Paul, at left forward, is another strong and consistent player. Scanlon is playing right guard and is steady, and any one playing opposite him has to go some to keep away. Tourville and Dougherty are crack guards and also accurate basket shooters.

Strong Team Built.

This is the first season the Catholic Athletic club officials have gone in so strongly for basket ball and the result has been one of the best teams that Duluth has ever had. Interest in the game is very great among the members of the club and large crowds have witnessed all of the games played in the C. A. C. gymnasium.

It is desired to get a game with the Central quint later in the season for the city championship.

The lineup for the C. A. C. game with the Y. M. E. A.:

C. A. C.—		Y. M. E. A.—
Paul	lf	Cook
Currie	rf	D. Bradley

M'COY TO FIGHT G. CARPENTIER

Former Champion Middleweight Exhumes Himself to Go Against French Champion—Latter Beats Irishman in Two Rounds—Other Fight News.

Nice, Jan. 30.—Georges Carpentier, the French heavyweight champion, knocked out Pat O'Keefe of Ireland last night in the second round.

After the fight Carpentier was challenged by "Kid" McCoy, the former American middleweight, and by George Gunther of Australia. He said he would take on McCoy.

Los Angeles, Jan. 20.—Jimmy Clabby and "Sailor" Ed Petroskey, whose illness last week caused a postponement of their boxing bout, planned for last Saturday, were rematched yesterday to meet Feb. 12, at the Vernon arena.

New York, Jan. 20.—Jack Britton of Chicago outpointed Mike Glover of Boston in a ten-round bout here last night.

ZIMMERMAN SIGNS UP FOR THREE MORE YEARS.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Henry Zimmerman has signed a three-year contract at an annual salary of $7,000 to play third base for the Chicago Nationals. The new contract is for the seasons of 1915-16-17, his present contract with the Cubs holding over the coming season. The terms were not announced, but were given out by a friend of Zimmerman.

New York, Jan. 20.—Frank Ruddy, a local semi-professional player has signed with the New York Americans.

Minnesota Is Beaten.

Iowa City, Jan. 20.—Basket ball last night: Iowa 16, Minnesota 14.

CURLING TO BE RUSHED

Only Three Games Remain in the Manley Event.

Play Will Begin Immediately in the Duluth Universal.

Now that the bonspiel that was laboriously crowded into the six days set aside for that purpose is past, the games of the club events will be played off as rapidly as possible.

In the Manley event the competition is narrowed down and only three games will be necessary to decide the rinks that will meet West Duluth. These games will be played immediately.

The draw has been made for the Duluth Universal and play will be resumed in The Herald and Bagley events. With good ice promised it is expected that the local games will be going in full swing by the middle of the week.

Should Return Favor.

Members of the curling committee have suggested through The Herald that it would be the part of courtesy to send some Duluth rinks to the spiels at Port Arthur and Winnipeg. Inasmuch as both of these clubs sent strong delegations to the Duluth spiel and contributed largely to its success, the members of the committee believe it is incumbent upon some of the local curlers to attend the two Canadian spiels.

Following is the draw for the Duluth Universal trophy event:

Charles West, Tom MacGilvray.	James Myron, Ron MacLeod.
Harry Ketchum, Dr. Catterson (a).	Burt Dunlop, Dr. Catterson (b).
John Tresise, W. Harris (b).	J. M. Oldham (b), E. B. Gridley.
Bob Dunlop, P. Heimick.	Unknown, John Bierhalter.
J. M. Oldham (a), G. P. Stillman.	C. B. Woodruff, E. A. Forsyth (b).
M. Buchanan, A. G. Messer.	Frank Pierce, H. S. MacGregor.
Harry Hurdon, E. A. Forsyth (a).	Ed Deetz, W. H. Nichols.
G. T. Magie, A. E. MacManus.	S. L. Reichert, M. F. Jamar.
S. W. Richardson, Wm. Spalding.	Guy Warren, Bert Gravatt.
J. E. MacGregor, Elmer Whyte (b).	E. M. Tredway, Ed. Harris.
Frank Frageau, Sam Cleveland.	J. A. Todd, Ed Furul.
Ralph Bradley, Ron Smith.	A. J. Butchart, P. Harbison.
Alex Graham, D. B. MacDonald.	W. Harris (a), R. Schiller.
Alex Macrae, S. H. Jones.	C. Naughton, J. Jacobi.

Dave Duncan, Artie Michaud.	C. A. Duncan, F. P. Hallock.

PORT ARTHUR TEAM COMING

Crack Canadian Seven Will Meet Curling Club Team.

The Port Arthur hockey team will be here on Friday and Saturday evenings for two games with the Duluth Curling club team.

It was the Port Arthur team that took a game from the local seven last winter, the members of the team showing some of the fastest skating ever witnessed here. According to the reports from the Canadian Head of the Lakes the Port Arthur team is very strong the present season.

It is stated that the Duluth team will be in the best shape of the present season for the games with the Canadian team. The members of the local seven are confident of winning both games, though there is a healthy respect for the Canadian team.

With a new goal tender and the team going better than ever, as the result of the hard games with the crack Portage Lake team, the games of the present week are expected to prove very close and interesting.

NOTRE DAME TO PLAY YALE TEAM.

Notre Dame, Ind., Jan. 20.—Notre Dame university's football team will play the Yale eleven at New Haven on Oct. 17. The Notre Dame officials announce that the agreement for the game had been signed by both institutions.

WHITE HOPES READY.

Fulton and Burns Will Clash Before Ulrich's Club.

Fred Fulton, the Minneapolis policeman, and Mike Burns are ready for their bout of tonight before Curley Ulrich's club. Fulton weighs in the neighborhood of 190 pounds and Burns is equally as large. Fulton has a draw with Ben Tremble to his credit. In the windup Kid Coffey and young Papke will clash and the curtain raiser will bring together Kid Billings and Young Harvey.

The show is being run by Curley Ulrich and he promises the fans a lively entertainment. The promoter declared that there would be no substitutions.

Rule Still Stands.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 20.—The rule of the Missouri Valley conference of universities and colleges against the playing of football games on other than home grounds will continue to be the law of that body. At an all-day meeting yesterday of the governing boards of the conference, comprising the chancellors, presidents and regents of the institutions, the schools concerned, affirmed the rule by amost unanimous vote.

FRISTENSKY BROUGHT TO AMERICA FOR ONE PURPOSE OF BEATING GOTCH

Enemies of Humboldt Man Searched Old World for Best Wrestler They Could Find and Then Trained Him in Catch-as-Catch-Can Style.

(BY BRUCE.)

Gustav Fristensky is the means to be used in a carefully planned movement to dethrone Frank A. Gotch.

On the evening of April 3, 1908, at the Dexter Park pavilion, Chicago, Frank Alvin Gotch won the championship of the world from George Hackenschmidt. The achievement was a sensation—an undreamed of reality.

Two great wrestling camps came into existence with the defeat of Hackenschmidt. The new world's champion and Emil Klank became the dictators; those opposed to them longed to see the overthrow of the champion.

Seek Gotch's Defeat.

George Kennedy of Montreal, one of the richest sporting men in the world, has for years striven to bring about the defeat of the Humboldt farmer.

Rancor and personal animosity have been the impelling motives of Kennedy.

Agents of Kennedy have searched the obscure corners of the world in the endeavor to discover a wrestler who could defeat the present holder of the championship.

Yussif Mahmout came and was conquered. The Bulgarian was an athletic marvel—and Gotch slew him.

Stanislaus Zybysko came and was tricked into defeat by the brawn and cunning brain of the Yankee.

Then who was there? The persistance and diligence of Kennedy and others has been remarkable. The search was continued.

The men who hate Gotch say the wrestler has at last been unearthed who is capable of defeating the wrestling marvel who has defied the best the old world could send over here.

Fristensky Is a Marvel.

For three years these men have been training Fristensky in the tricks of the catch-as-catch-can science. They have made him rehearse every trick, every stratagem of the game. When the time was ready he was sprung. The best of the American wrestlers, according to Gotch, was sent against Fristensky in his first big contest.

Fristensky defeated Americus. He crushed the American bleeding to the mat and then he turned and defeated George Lurich in decisive fashion.

The Bohemian is one of the most nearly perfect physical specimens in the world. He is said to be stronger than George Hackenschmidt. He resembles the statue of Hercules in the Louvre of Paris.

Fristensky has beaten all of his opponents like some huge beast of prey. He beat Americus. Will Gotch come out and take one more whirl at the game?

Kennedy and others would gloat over the downfall of Gotch. They don't like the champion. Gotch has been king of the wrestling world. He has dictated as his fancy pleased. Literally, thousands of dollars have been expended in the quest of a wrestler good enough to beat Gotch. Gustav Fristensky is the result. The conspirators have ceased their search, satisfied apparently that the right man has been discovered.

How They Compare.

Last year at Kansas City Gotch beat George Lurich. Last Wednesday in the Madison Square Garden of New York Fristensky crushed Lurich with equal ease.

At Chicago Fristensky beat three husky opponents inside the time limit of half an hour. Still the followers of the game refused to believe that the latest new comer could defeat a wrestler of the oft demonstrated class of Americus.

Americus fell before Fristensky, and it was Gotch, after one of the hardest bouts of his career, who pronounced this same Americus one of the greatest wrestlers of all the Americans. The all absorbing question is whether Gotch will come out from the retirement of Humboldt and try conclusions with the man who looks the best that has been sent from the other side of the brine in years.

The Duluth Show.

Here in Duluth the two big foreign stars will show in finish contests. Fristensky will be opposed by Paul Martinson, the big Danish heavyweight, and as Martinson is one of the promising wrestlers of the country, the contest should be filled with action and interest.

Ivan Mamutoff, the largest wrestler in the world, a giant of massive proportions, will be opposed by George Costello, an American who is almost as big as the Titanic Russian. Both of the contests will be to a finish.

There will be a curtain raiser of first-class order to cap the climax of what promises to be the biggest mat show yet staged under the auspices of the Greater Duluth Athletic club.

AMATEUR IS AFTER BRYANT

Raymond Kelly Sends Challenge to Duluth Speed Boy.

Raymond Kelly, claimant of the Northwestern amateur roller skating title for the past seven years, and also claiming to be the only skater in the world who has defeated the world's champion amateur skater, Leon King of Chicago, wants to race Frank Bryant of this city.

Raymond says he has reached the stage where he can't find a skater he cannot lap in a one mile race.

Kelly wants to skate Bryant three races at a fourth, half and mile, and generously offers in the case he defeats Bryant to give the Duluthian the opportunity to secure three return races at the distance best suited to Bryant.

In his defy Kelly suggests that the contests be held at the Auditorium rink here, the Selby rink of St. Paul and the Casino rink of Minneapolis.

WILL PLAY JUNE 1.

Women's Eastern Golf Championship Dates Fixed—Links Not Selected.

New York, Jan. 20.—The date for the annual championship tournament at the Women's Eastern Golf association has been set for June 1. The links over which the championship will be decided have not been definitely chosen, but the choice seems to be between Apawamis and Greenwich.

As usual, three days will be given over to the championship and three following days to the tri-city matches for the Griscom cup.

DOG SHOW AT FARGO.

Fifth Annual Exhibit of North Dakota Kennel Association Is On.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Dakota Kennel association is holding its fifth annual show here. There are nearly 300 dogs entered from Chicago to Winnipeg, the latter city having sent about fifty. Dr. Ward Akester of Marshall, Minn., and F. B. Hungerford and Dr. Clayton of Chicago, are the judges.

COMMISSIONER ATTACKS FORMER WATER BOARD HEAD

Merritt Says T. T. Hudson Made Costly Deal With Land Company.

"Shouldn't Say Too Much to Me About Water Rates."

Hudson Refused to Take Any Part in New Duluth Contract.

Residents of Suburb Are Treated Just Like Any Other Consumers.

Commissioner Leonidas Merritt, head of the utilities division, declared at the city council meeting yesterday afternoon that while T. T. Hudson, prominent Duluth attorney, was a member of the former water and light board he put through a deal for the New Duluth company, of which he is president, which is costing the city $1,700 a year.

Mr. Hudson was president of the water and light board when it went out of existence with the inauguration of the present city commission. He was appointed a member of the board in 1906 and served continuously until last spring.

The New Duluth company deals in lands and real estate at New Duluth.

Although he did not so specify, the "deal" to which Commissioner Merritt had reference, was undoubtedly the construction of the water system and the sinking of artisan wells at New Duluth, now supplying that suburb with its water supply.

Commissioner Merritt's statement was made while the new schedule of water rates announced by the water and light department was being discussed at the regular weekly meeting of the city commissioners.

"Mr. Hudson doesn't want to say too much about water rates—to me," said Commissioner Merritt during the discussion. "While he was a member of the water board he put through a deal for his land company which is costing the city $1,700 a year."

None of the other council members made any reference to the sensational assertion of the utility commissioner. It was stated that while a member of the board Mr. Hudson had made a special study of rates and upon motion of Finance Commissioner Fred J. Voss a resolution was passed asking Mr. Hudson to attend the public hearing to be held at 2 o'clock next Monday afternoon to consider the water rate schedule.

When Mr. Hudson was shown Commissioner Merritt's assertions, he smiled grimly.

"I don't care for controversey," said he, "but the records themselves show Mr. Merritt's remarks to be false. The other commissioners who participated in the New Duluth matter, will tell you that I refused to participate."

Mr. Hudson then gave the following formal statement covering the matter at issue:

"In 1911-1912, I think it was—during the winter—the residents of New Duluth and vicinity agitated the necessity of securing a water supply for that section of the city. Meetings were held and large delegations from that part of the city appeared before the board of water and light commissioners and claimed that by reason of their population, they were entitled to have city water. These people were informed by the board that they could get city water on the same basis that it was granted to other citizens of Duluth, namely, that they make a guarantee of 8 per cent of the cost of installing a system to supply the water. I, being a member of the board, refused to participate in the discussions or proceedings of the board relating to that particular matter because I was president of the New Duluth company. I have no doubt that this can be verified by the other members of the board. The board directed the manager to estimate the cost of the system and to inform the residents of the amount of the guaranty which they would be required to make on a basis of 8 per cent of the cost. The manager did this and required that a guaranty of $1,500 per annum be made in addition to the hydrants which the city council would install for fire protection which would furnish the department $50 per year each. So far as I know this guaranty has been paid.

"While the cost of installing the wells at New Duluth was more than was estimated I have no doubt that the guaranty and the income from the hydrant rentals more than compensates the water department in interest for the installation of that plant. Therefore Mr. Merritt's statement—if he made it—that the installation of the New Duluth plant 'is costing the city $1,700 per year' cannot be true; and his statement that I put the 'deal,' as he calls it, through can easily be shown to be false. I take it that it will not be claimed that because I happened to be president of the New Duluth company and also a member of the board of water and light commissioners was sufficient reason to deny the people of New Duluth a city water supply upon the same conditions of guaranty granted to other citizens."

COUNTY AUDITORS AT MINNEAPOLIS

Legislative Committee Is Needed, N. A. Nelson Tells Them.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual meeting of the Association of County Auditors of Minnesota began today in Minneapolis and will continue through tomorrow. More than seventy county auditors are in attendance.

Governor Eberhart and Mayor Nye of Minneapolis addressed the meeting this morning. This afternoon N. A. Nelson of Washington county discussed the necessity of the county auditors' maintaining a legislative committee.

Samuel Lord of the tax commission discussed recent tax legislation and J. G. Armson, chairman of the commission, talked on the 1914 assessment.

The topic of principal interest at this year's meeting is the new classification law passed last winter, which divides property into four classes. Under this law iron ore, whether mined or unmined, constitutes class 1, and must be assessed at 50 per cent of its full value.

POLICE AMBULANCE IN A COLLISION.

The new police ambulance figured in a collision shortly after noon today, when it ran into the automobile belonging to Ward Ames, Jr., at the corner of Seventh avenue east and Second street. No one was injured.

The police ambulance had just taken several prisoners to the county jail and was coming down Seventh avenue at the rate of about seven miles an hour, according to Patrolman Clendenning. The Ames car, driven by J. R. Osman, was going west on Second street at a fair speed. The ambulance struck the car in the rear, slightly damaging the wheel and axle, while the police car sustained two broken lights and slight damage to the front of the machine.

According to Officer Clendenning, Emil Anderson, driver of a grocery wagon for the Neff Grocery company, was coming east on Second street and was directly opposite to the Ames car. For this reason Osman was unable to turn his machine in time to avoid the police ambulance.

GIRL SEES FRIEND KILL HER FATHER

Corroborates His Story That It Was in Self Defense.

Mobile, Ala., Jan. 20.—C. King Morse, an automobile supply dealer of this city, is under arrest here today charged with the murder of Charles Freadhoff, father of Miss Eleonora Freadhoff, in whose company Morse was when the killing occurred last night on a street near the girl's home.

"I have killed her father," said Morse, as he walked into police headquarters in company with Miss Freadhoff.

The girl corroborated Morse's assertion that he had shot in self-defense when Freadhoff confronted him and the girl with a revolver in his hand. Miss Freadhoff was not held.

CHICAGO ADOPTS $77,000,000 BUDGET.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—After an all-night session of the city council, the city budget for 1914, calling for the expenditure of $77,311,000, was adopted today.

CUTS WIFE AND KILLS HIMSELF.

Janesville, Wis., Jan. 20.—Fred Burt, aged 70, a miller at Albany, Green county, committed suicide today after he attempted to kill his wife with a razor. The woman may die from her injuries. Burt, it was said, was insane as the result of a fall last July.

ELECTRICAL CONTRACTORS OF STATE HOLD CONVENTION HERE

DELEGATES TO STATE ELECTRICAL CONTRACTORS' CONVENTION.

The Members Are Shown Without Coats, as They Desire to Prove That Duluth Boasts a Mild Winter Climate.

The Minnesota Electrical Contractors' association held its semi-annual convention at the Duluth Commercial club yesterday. The forenoon was occupied with routine business and a noon luncheon was served at the Elks' club. Local members of the association gave a banquet at the Commercial club at 6:30, after which a theater party was given. A. W. Zahn of Minneapolis, president of the association, presided at the meetings.

During the afternoon an address was given by A. W. Lindgren of Duluth on "The Electrical Development Association." The speaker urged his co-workers to become members of the development association.

The secretary was authorized to purchase a set of books on subjects of interest to be sent to each member for study for a period of two weeks. As the work of the association is largely educational, this was considered an excellent feature of the educational campaign.

St. Paul was selected as the next meeting place for the semi-annual convention.

NEEDS OF THE FOREIGN BORN

Problems of Immigrant Will Be Discussed By Y. M. C. A. Worker.

Plans for meeting the needs of the foreigners settling in Duluth, and especially those at the steel plant, educationally, commercially and religiously, will be launched next week, when Dr. Peter Roberts of New York city, said to be one of the greatest authorities on immigration problems in the country, will spend three days in Duluth lecturing and studying the conditions of foreigners and their needs. Dr. Roberts will work under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. On Tuesday evening, after conducting his study here, he will speak at the Commercial club, informing merchants and business men of the problems confronting them in their dealing with the foreign classes.

Dr. Roberts has had charge of the immigration work for the Y. M. C. A. for several years, and was selected by the association because of his wide knowledge of foreign languages and peoples. He will lay special stress upon facts dealing with the immigrant from Southeastern Europe.

Secretary Wade of the Duluth Y. M. C. A. said today that the local association was endeavoring to prepare to meet the demands of European immigrants who are being brought here in large numbers in the hope of employment at the steel plant. Many of these, he said, were from Southeastern Europe. An effort will be made to teach them the English language and give them religious instruction.

Dr. Roberts will demonstrate the best methods for reaching and teaching foreigners. Four lectures will be given beginning Sunday.

CHIEF IS THE ONLY WITNESS

Grand Jury Spends Morning Examining Head of Police Department.

Investigation May Not Be Completed Before Next Week.

C. H. Troyer, chief of police, was the only witness who appeared before the grand jury this morning to testify to certain matters now under consideration by that body in connection with its probe of the affairs of the police department.

Yesterday afternoon, as had been expected, several hotel men and liquor dealers were called into the inquisitorial chamber to testify as to conditions, past and present, with regard to the alleged illegal sale of liquor after closing hours at some of the hotels and restaurants of the city.

Edwin H. Lee, managing director of the Spalding Hotel company; Saul and Isadore Goldberg, president and manager respectively of the Holland Hotel company, and J. Wesley Irwin and Tilton E. Lewis, president and manager of the St. Louis Hotel company, were among the hotel men called.

Other witnesses examined yesterday afternoon were George Blackwood, saloonkeeper; Y. H. Squire, News Tribune reporter, and Robert H. Halre, tinner for the Kelly-How-Thomson company.

A number of witnesses are yet to be examined, it is stated by Warren E. Greene, county attorney, and it is not unlikely that the grand jury will not finish its work this week. In spite of this it is believed to be extremely doubtful that the witnesses yet to be questioned will produce evidence sufficiently strong to warrant the returning of true bills.

The grand jury was interrupted for a short period this morning to consider another matter. Before its final report is submitted to the court the jury may return true bills in two or three new criminal cases which have been presented to it since the investigation has been in progress.

J. T. GUNNIS DEAD IN ANACONDA, MONT.

Former Duluth Brick Manufacturer Succumbs to Stroke After a Week.

Word has been received here that J. T. Gunnis of Anaconda, Mont., formerly of Duluth, died at the former place last Saturday of paralysis after an illness of about a week. Besides his wife he is survived by four sons, two of whom were associated with their father in the brick business in Anaconda and Great Falls, one is in Pasadena, Cal., and the fourth is in business in New York city.

Mr. Gunnis operated a brick yard just out of New Duluth for a number of years and is well known throughout this city. He left here a number of years ago and settled in Montana.

Mrs. Gunnis is a sister of Miss Kittie Welsh, the Duluth school teacher who was killed a year ago last fall in an automobile accident while visiting at Anaconda.

JURORS VISIT THE SCENE OF ACCIDENT

A jury in Judge Dancer's division of the district court which has been engaged since yesterday morning at the trial of a suit for $7,500 damages brought by Bertha Gronlund, widow of Henry O. Gronlund, against the Cudahy Packing company and George H. Lounsberry, today visited the premises where Gronlund is alleged to have met with a fatal accident on Nov. 29, 1912.

The suit is based on a claim for wrongful death. Gronlund was killed in a collision between a wagon in which he was driving and one belonging to the packing company. The accident occurred on Michigan street under the Lake avenue viaduct. At that time it is claimed the street was narrowed by reason of the fact that the defendant Lounsberry, a contractor, had dumped a pile of old plaster and broken brick into the street. The driver of the packing company's rig, it is claimed, was driving at a reckless rate of speed. Both defendants are charged with negligence and indirectly with responsibility for Gronlund's death.

Chemise Drawers Are Among the Most Novel New Ideas in French Undermuslins

We have pretty effects in both lace and embroidery trimmed. Very dainty combinations indeed. They are made in America—copied from French ideas.

Our price $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50.

If they were imported the price would necessarily be considerable more for no better quality.

Marcella Combinations Are Most Favored by American Women

The demand in the East is remarkably strong just as it is in Duluth.

Last year the makers were unable to supply the demand and this year we increased our order very much. The present sales indicate the wisdom of early buying.

These Marcella garments are in many very pretty styles—they are dainty as well as practical, while combining three garments in one—a short skirt, an open drawer and a closed drawer.

They avoid bulkiness at the waist. Because of their novel constructions are extremely practical.

Prices range $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, $2.00 and $2.50.

See the Other Combinations at 59c to $3.00

Other new and serviceable combinations at 59c, 89c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, $2.00 and $3.00.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

TRI-STATE MEET IS ON

Grain and Stock Growers From Three States Are at Fargo.

Welcome to City—Delegates Begin Four-Day Session.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—President J. H. Worst of the North Dakota Agricultural college called to order the Tri-State Grain and Stockgrowers' convention in fifteenth annual session in the new armory-auditorum this morning with many representatives from Minnesota, North and South Dakota present. The session will continue daily ending Friday.

Secretary Hardy of the Commercial club welcomed the visitors.

The regular program began with an address by Charles Hammond of the Minot Normal on "Teaching Agriculture in the Secondary Schools." John Christiansen of New Salem spoke on "Dairying in Connection with Grain Growing." Miss Mae Hooper of Valley City on "Home Economics in the Secondary Schools." J. G. Haney of Grand Forks on "Alfalfa."

This afternoon's program was in charge of the State Horticultural society and the speakers were A. Brackett of Excelsior, Minn.; C. A. Chinberg of Hankinson, and E. C. Hillborn of Valley City.

The evening program provides for addresses by C. A. Ocock of Madison, Wis., J. E. Eastgate, Larimore, J. G. Haney of Grand Forks, Rev. Dr. Walters of Fargo and Oliver Wilson of Peoria, Ill., master of the national grange.

Wednesday Conservation Day.

Wednesday will be conservation day. Governor Hanna is president and Dean Woods of the Minnesota Agricultural college, the secretary. The latter speaks first on "Organization of Agricultural Education." L. M. Davis of Minot on the "Manufacture of Lignite Coal Briquettes." State Senator Lautz of Hebron on "Manufacture of Pressed Brick," Dean Babcock of the North Dakota university on "North Dakota Clays and Coals."

In the afternoon, J. D. Pierce of Larimore will talk on "Use of Flax Straw for Paper," Mrs. J. Stevens of Grand Forks on the "Prevention of Tuberculosis," Governor Hanna and George W. Cooley, the Minnesota road expert, will deliver addresses.

The evening program will be of special interest. After a musical number, President Vincent of the Minnesota university, will speak on "Team Work," and President Worst of the tri-state will deliver his annual address.

Student in St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 20.—Rev. G. O. Lillegard, the American Lutheran missionary, reported wounded in fighting at Kwang-Chow, province of Honan, China, was sent into that district by the Norwegian Evangelicaal Lutheran church of America. His home is in Bode, Iowa, and he received his theological education at Luther seminary, St. Paul, graduating in the spring of 1912.

EAST GRAND FORKS MAN'S FOURTH TERM

JAMES O'GORMAN.

East Grand Forks, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—James O'Gorman, who has just entered upon his fourth term as city auditor, feels the distinction of holding the position for the greatest length of time that it has been held by anybody since the organization of the city.

Mr. O'Gorman is prominently known throughout the northwestern part of Minnesota, and has long been active in the affairs of the Democratic party.

BURY LINCOLN'S FRIEND.

Last Rites in Mill City for Veteran Printer-Lawyer.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 20.—Funeral services were held this afternoon from the home for William Welch, aged 92, who died Sunday. Mr. Welch was a resident of this city for thirty-two years and once prominent in Wisconsin politics, a pioneer printer and lawyer, and a friend of Abraham Lincoln.

A native of Jefferson county, N. Y., he learned the printing trade, and in 1844 he came West to St. Louis, Mo., where he worked on a newspaper. While there he set in type the story of the death of Andrew Jackson. In the spring of 1845 he moved to Springfield, Ill., where he worked as a printer, practiced law and was active in politics. There he became acquainted with Abraham Lincoln, whom he greatly admired.

After a year in Springfield he moved to Madison, Wis., where he ran a hotel, practiced law and did some printing. He was married there in 1850 to Jane W. Petherick, who came to this country from London, Eng., in 1849.

They had four children, three boys and a girl—Victor J. Welch, who died in Minneapolis in 1912; William P. Welch of Madison, Wis.; Earl S. Welch of Eau Claire, Wis., and Miss Rosina L. Welch, who lives at 186 Seventeenth street north. Besides his three surviving children he leaves his widow and grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Welch came to Minneapolis in 1882. He practiced law here for thirteen years. For the last five years he was nearly blind.

While in Madison Mr. Welch was prominent in politics. In 1845 he was chairman of the Wisconsin state Whig committee, and afterwards was a justice of the peace, chairman of the board of education, chairman of the state fish and game commission and an alderman. He argued the opposite side of the case against Senator Robert La Follette when the latter appeared in his first court trial.

MONTANA DUEL IS FATAL FOR BOTH

Ranchmen Settle Grievance With Pistols, Both Being Killed.

Billings, Mont., Jan. 20.—After a dispute over a contract for the delivery of some fence posts, E. E. Gately, a wealthy stockman, and Edward Wilhelm, a rancher, stepped from the village store at Pompey's Pillar Sunday night, drew pistols and fought a duel to death.

Each Shot Effective.

Only four shots were fired by the men, but each was effective, Wilhelm, known as an expert shot, dying instantly and Gately a few moments later. Witnesses said that the bullet which caused Gately's death was the first one fired by Wilhelm, who shot from the hip with his back turned toward his opponent. Gately fired after falling to the ground, his aim being true.

NORTH DAKOTA BOY PRIZE PIG RAISER

Charles H. Russell Tells How He Turned Trick.

Bottineau, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles H. Russell, the North Dakota boy living on his father's farm three miles from here, who won the prize in the North Dakota pork-raising contest, the first contest of the kind ever held in the United States, is coming in for praise from every source. He is barely 17.

Young Russell attended a rural school near the farm of his father, and is now a student at the state school of forestry here. He is a manly boy, and not a particle inflated by his success. He is popular with the students and his older acquaintances.

"When I heard that Director Cooper of the North Dakota Better Farming association intended to inaugurate a pork-production contest," said young Russell, "I immediately decided I would enter the contest.

"The litter with which I won the prize was just 203 days old at the time the contest closed. The pigs weighed 2,903 pounds. I was rather liberal in my estimates of the cost of feed, and it averaged 2.863 cents per pound of gain, which was higher than some of the other contestants, but my totals were so large that my profit per day was larger than the others.

"The idea of the contest was to raise the largest number of pounds of pork from one litter within the shortest time at the lowest cost per pound.

"In feeding the pigs, I used a mixture of screenings, barley, oats, bran and shorts. I never fed any one kind of grain separate and never fed the pigs more than they could clean up in an hour or an hour and a half. My idea was always to have them so they would be hungry at the next meal. I kept coal slack, salt and copperas mixed in a trough to which the pigs had access at all times, and they ate a lot of it, which seemed to keep them healthy.

"There was considerable care and work to the contest, but it was well worth the effort, and I intend to continue raising livestock," concluded the youthful champion of all the pig raisers.

ASHLAND HARDWARE STORE DESTROYED

Exploding Cartridges Nearly Cause Panic in Nearby Dance.

Ashland, Wis., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The three-story brick and store building of the Garnich Hardware company, burned to the ground early this morning. The building, worth $50,000, and the hardware stock, $80,000, are a total loss and covered by insurance. Two explosions occurred and thousands of cartridges exploding broke window glasses across the street.

The fire started in the basement while a dance was going on in the third story of the adjoining building, and it took careful work to get the dancers out of the building without a panic.

Mr. Garnich, the owner, is in Japan, expecting to return in March, and his sons will not decide on rebuilding until he returns.

MISSOURI MAY CHANGE COURSE

Government, Great Northern Road and Williston Seek to Prevent.

Williston, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—This city, the Great Northern railroad and the Federal government will unite to prevent a change in the course of the Missouri river that would send the stream three miles from the city, cripple the Federal irrigation projects's water supply, and cause endless trouble to the railroad.

Capt. R. S. Thomas and Fred Konans of the war department base been in Williston several days inspecting the river's condition, and they have found need of immediate work, particularly at a point several miles from Williston, where a threatened break in the river bank exists. Should this give way, the water would be diverted into the old channel and sent by way of the foothills channel, south and east of Williston. The old channel was once the main channel of the stream.

Cleared Money on Stock.

New Salem, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fourteen members of the New Salem Holstein Breeders' circuit cleared $44,430.44 in profits during the past year, as is indicated by their statements, filed with the secretary of the circuit. They all maintain accurate records of their dairy herds.

CUYUNA INJUNCTION.

R. W. Wedgewood Would Hold Up Village Improvements.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—An order to show cause returnable Jan. 26, was issued by Judge W. S. McClenahan in district court in the matter of R. W. Wedgewood vs. the village of Cuyuna, an action brought to restrain the village officers from carrying out the contract for constructing sewers. Wedgewood alleges irregularities in the proceedings leading up to the issuance of $16,000 bonds and the letting of the contract.

PLANT DYNAMITED.

Derricks at Red Granite, Wis., Is Blown Up.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 20.—A reward of $1,000 has been offered for the men who dynamited the two largest derricks of the chain of seven surrounding the quarry of the Wisconsin Granite company at Red Granite, Waushara county, late Saturday night. The shock of the two successive explosions caused damage of $4,000 on the property and destroyed hundreds of panes of glass in buildings of the town.

A strike has been in effect at the quarry since May 1, the Wisconsin Granite company being one of those that has persisted in maintaining an "open shop," employing both union and non-union men. It operates nine quarries in Wisconsin and South Dakota, employing 200 men at Red Granite.

WILLISTON HAS $20,000 BLAZE.

Williston, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Strand general store and Voh meat market were destroyed by fire here early today, with a total loss of about $20,000. The fire started in the basement of the general store and had a big start when discovered. The cause is not known.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Menominee—The council has decided to hold a special election Feb. 3 to decide whether $15,000 in bonds shall be issued for a city hospital and also whether the water works system shall be taken over by the municipality.

Reedsburg—Tim Kelly, a farmer living in the town of Winfield, north of here, was instantly killed while driving on the road. When about half way home his team became unmanageable and ran away, throwing Mr. Kelly and wife and daughter out of the buggy.

Milwaukee—Charles Lieberman, 60, senior member of the firm of Rosenberg & Lieberman, one of the oldest agricultural seed houses in the United States, died at Riverside sanitarium Saturday night of pneumonia.

Antigo—Mayor Louis Freiburger of Antigo has issued a call for a special election Feb. 3 to vote on the adoption of the commission form of government. Two years ago the plan was defeated by a narrow margin.

Grand Rapids—At the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Cranberry Growers' association here the following officers were elected: President, Andrew Searls, Grand Rapids; vice president, O. O. Potter, Warren; secretary, H. J. Ebhart, Black River Falls. Addresses were made by S. N. Whittelsey of Cranmoor, S. R. Jones of Madison, S. L. Lervis, Jr., of St. Paul and C. M. Saecker of Mather. The annual summer meeting will be held Aug. 11 at Mather.

La Crosse—A posse headed by Sheriff John R. Weber is scouring La Crosse county for John Lund, a farm hand, who is alleged to have stolen $450 from a bureau drawer at the Roberts farmhouse and made his escape.

Antigo—Not one cent of inheritance tax was collected in Langlade county during the past year, according to County Treasurer Ings today. Collections in 1912 totaled $14.66 from one estate. The 1911 collections totaled $794.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Houghton—Albert Jay Nock, associate editor of the American Magazine, has arrived in Houghton to look over the strike situation at close range.

Lake Linden—Ernest Meyers has taken a contract to remodel the Lake Linden opera house. It is not known who will take over the management of the place, although the name of A. E. Des Champs, proprietor of the Grand theater, has been mentioned in this connection.

Calumet—Mrs. Sarah Walch, aged 50, wife of Thomas Walch of New Allouez, died Jan. 15 at Newberry, following an illness of a number of years. She is survived by her husband and one brother, Alfred Watters. The funeral was held here.

L'Anse—The Baraga County bank elected these officers: President, John O. Maxey; vice president, F. W. Hebard; cashier, Thomas D. Tracy; directors—J. O. Maxey, F. W. Hebard, Thomas D. Tracy, H. J. Seifert, Octave Sicotte, August Paulson and Paul F. Roehm.

Calumet—Guy Shoemaker has arrived in Hubbell to take charge of No. 7 furnace at the Calumet & Hecla mill. Mr. Shoemaker has been transferred to the local plant from Buffalo, where he was employed in a similar capacity.

Lake Linden—James Smith of Lake Linden and Miss Catherine O'Connell were married in Ishpeming, the home of the young lady. The couple were attended by Miss Amelia, cousin of the bride, and the bride's brother. Mr. and Mrs. Smith have arrived in Lake Linden and will make this village their home.

Calumet—Calumet lodge of Odd Fellows on Saturday evening, Jan. 31, will observe its forty-fourth anniversary with an appropriate program and entertainment at the Calumet Odd Fellows' hall. Rev. L. K. Long will deliver an address. Following the program there will be dancing.

Marquette—John Holland, aged 45 years, died Wednesday Jan. 18, after a long illness. He was well known in Marquette having spent the greater part of his life here. For about four years he served as guard at the Marquette branch prison. Mr. Holland is survived by his wife, one son, and four daughters, all of whom live in Marquette. He was a member of Division No. 4, Ancient Order of Hibernians, the members of which will attend the funeral Wednesday in a body.

Negaunee—Par C. Fulkerson, physical director at the Negaunee high school for the last three years, has resigned to take effect at the close of the first semester. Supt. Orr Schurtz has been directed by the school board to take steps to fill the vacancy.

Ishpeming—William Anderson Bylander, died Jan. 18 from cancer, with which he had been a sufferer for a year past. He had been confined to his bed for eight weeks. Mr. Bylander was born in Sweden and was 75 years of age. He came to Ishpeming in 1869. Mr. Bylander is survived by his widow and three daughters, Mrs. Andrew Peterson of Michigan street; Miss Signe Bylander living at home, and Miss Jennie Bylander of Marquette. He had one brother, who lives in Nebraska. The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon.

Houghton—Judge Patrick H. O'Brien left Houghton Monday morning for Eagle River to open the January term of the Keweenaw county circuit court. No jury has been drawn, owing to the lack of issues of fact, both civil and criminal, on the calendar. The term will extend until Wednesday night.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Tenstrike—Charles Gustafson is again publishing the Tenstrike Tribune. The paper suspended publication more than a year ago and since that time the editor has been devoting his time to other business.

Ironton—W. Smith of Duluth has been in town looking after matters connected with his addition. He and Mrs. Smith are to leave for Los Angeles, Cal., this week on a two months' trip.

Brainerd—The Mrs. J. J. Hill division, No. 173 of the G. I. A. to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers installed officers as follows: President, Mary Stillings; vice president, Fannie Yost; secretary and insurance, Amy J. Bertram; treasurer, H. Emma Hallett; chaplain, Hannah Leak; guide, Helen Bispham.

Spooner—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Cloverleaf Co-operative Creamery association will be held on Tuesday, Jan. 27, at 2 p. m.

Baudette—Ed Blau, who is employed at the Rex hotel found his eyes suddenly falling and fearing blindness made haste for Milwaukee to have them treated by an eye specialist. After one treatment his sight was fully restored and he returned home in good shape.

Mankato—Mankato lodge, No. 12, Free Masons, appointed a special committee to look into the feasibility of constructing a new building as a headquarters for members of the order on the site of the present Masonic building.

Stillwater—Policeman Herman F. Lange Saturday took David L. Berneche to Fort Snelling and turned him over as a deserter from the United States army. He was promised a reward of $50 to be sent within a few days.

Spooner—A petition has been circulated by V. E. Lindholm of Spooner calling for the erection of a co-operative telephone line to be built along state road now under construction—telephone to run from Spooner to Loman.

St. Hilaire—The annual meeting of the St. Hilaire Co-operative Creamery association will be held at the village hall on Monday, Jan. 26.

St. Cloud—John W. Lawler, a prominent farmer of Maine Prairie, living four miles northeast of Watkins, was instantly killed at that village Jan. 16, when he was struck by train No. 107, the coast train on the Soo road. His team of horses also met death at the same time.

Baudette—L. F. Munsey has returned from a trip to Ottawa, Ont., where he attended a convention of the general chairmen of the telegraphers of Canada.

St. Cloud—The Minerva society of the Normal elected these officers: President, Miss Gladys Kittelson; vice president, Miss Claire Rohre; secretary, Miss Cora Schilling; treasurer, Miss Zelah Harland.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Antler, N. D.—Several boys of the neighborhood are suspected of acts of vandalism in connection with the destruction of property in the Belmont schoolhouse. Every window in the building was broken, books and desks were thrown out, holes were shot in the ceiling, and other damage to blackboards and permanent fixtures was done.

Inkster, N. D.—Hog and cattle raising were featured at the annual farmers' school, conducted here under the direction of the Inkster Commercial club. John Christianson of New Salem, N. D., Frank Sanford of Valley City, A. P. Hollis of the agricultural college, N. J. Jewett of the North Dakota Better Farming association, were the principal speakers.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Mrs. C. W. Kelley of Devils Lake, has been invited to speak on "Tried Conveniences in the Country Home," at the corn and clover show which will open here Feb. 2.

Bismarck, N. D.—An attempt is being made to maintain the state bonding law, which the supreme court recently declared unconstitutional. The attorney general's department filed an application for a rehearing on the ground that in setting aside the law the supreme court overlooked several important features of the state's case.

Towner, N. D.—A prairie fire burned several stacks of hay on the meadows near Smoky Lake. After sweeping a stretch of country of about ten miles in length the fire ran down into the lake, where it was extinguished.

Harvey, N. D.—There was an entire change in officers in the First National bank of this city at the annual meeting. R. W. Akin of Anoka, Minn., is one of the new officials, being elected vice president. August Peterson is president, and J. W. Reimer is cashier. The bank stockholders voted favorably to membership in the Federal reserve system.

What So Precious As a Healthy Baby?

Every Youngster Can Have Fine Digestion if Given a Good Baby Laxative.

In spite of the greatest personal care and the most intelligent attention to diet, babies and children will become constipated, and it is a fact that constipation and indigestion have wrecked many a young life. To start with a good digestive apparatus is to start life without handicap.

But, as we cannot all have perfect working bowels, we must do the next best thing and acquire them, or train them to become healthy. This can be done by the use of a laxative-tonic very highly recommended by a great many mothers. The remedy is called Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and has been on the market for two generations. It can be bought conveniently at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar a bottle, and those who are already convinced of its merits buy the dollar size.

Its mildness makes it the ideal medicine for children, and it is also very pleasant to the taste. It is sure in its effect, and genuinely harmless. Very little of it is required and its frequent use does not cause it to lose its effect, as is the case with so many other remedies.

Thousands can testify to its merits in constipation, indigestion, biliousness, sick headaches, etc., among them reliable people like Mrs. James R. Rouse of Marinette, Wis. Her little son, Howard, was fifteen months old last April, but he was sick with bowel trouble from birth and suffered intensely. Since

HOWARD ROUSE.

Mrs. Rouse has been giving him Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin all trouble has disappeared and the boy is becoming robust.

Thousands keep Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin constantly in the house, for every member of the family can use it from infancy to old age. The users of Syrup Pepsin have learned to avoid cathartics, salts, mineral waters, pills and other harsh remedies for they do but temporary good and are a shock to any delicate system.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

QUICKLY ENDS THE WORST BACKACHE

Makes Kidney Troubles, Bladder Disorders and Rheumatic Pains Vanish.

It is no longer necessary for any one to suffer with backaching, kidney trouble, have disagreeable bladder and urinary disorders to contend with, or be tortured with rheumatism, stiff joints, and its heart-wrenching pains, for the new discovery, Croxone, quickly and surely relieves all such troubles.

Croxone is the most wonderful remedy yet devised for ridding the system of uric acid and driving out all the poisonous impurities which cause such troubles. It is entirely different from all other remedies. It is not like anything else ever used for the purpose. It acts on the principle of cleaning out the poisons and removing the cause.

It soaks right in through the walls, membranes and linings, like water in a sponge, neutralizes, dissolves, and makes the kidneys sift out and filter away, all the uric acid and poisons from the blood, and leaves the kidneys and urinary organs clean, strong, healthy, and well.

It matters not how long you have suffered, how old you are, or what you have used, the very principle of Croxone is such, that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. There is nothing else on earth like it. It starts to work the minute you take it and relieves you the first time you use it.

If you suffer with pains in your back, and sides, or have any signs of kidney, bladder troubles, or rheumatism, such as puffy swellings under the eyes or in the feet and ankles, if you are nervous, tired, and run down, or bothered with urinary disorders, Croxone will quickly relieve you of your misery. You can secure an original package of Croxone at trifling cost from any first-class druggist. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if it fails in a single case.

Water Department Can Get Along Without the Big Consumers.

So Says Manager Reed, But Doubts If They All Quit.

That the water and light department will not suffer materially if all the big customers cease patronizing the city, was the declaration of Manager D. A. Reed at a conference with the city council in Mayor Prince's office this morning.

His contention was that if the city is relieved of the heavy demands made upon the water system by the big consumers the loss in revenue will be offset by the saving in operating expenses and construction which will otherwise be necessary.

To illustrate his point he said that if the big consumers continue to use water as in the past the department will be obliged to spend $40,000 for mains in West Duluth and $20,000 for an additional pumping unit at Lakewood. If the heavy users discontinue the service he said that he believed the department could dispense with the booster pump which is now operated at Forty-second avenue west and Grand avenue and also make a saving in other ways.

Manager Reed asserted, however, that he did not believe the city would lose all of the business of the big consumers. He expressed the belief that they would greatly reduce the amount of water they took from the city but that with the minimum rate increased to 8 cents the revenue would remain about the same. He said that since the first of the year, when the water department announced the new rates to be in effect, the Proctor Water company was consuming about 100,000 gallons daily as against about 320,000 before that time, but that because of the increase in price the bill, at that rate, would be as large or larger.

What Big Consumers Pay.

Commissioner Voss asked him the amount of revenue obtained from the big consumers. Manager Reed stated that he would estimate the bills of the twenty-seven big customers at $3,000 a month, or $36,000 a year. The finance commissioner then wanted to know if it wouldn't be good business to spend $60,000 for mains and pumping machinery to obtain that annual revenue. The manager expressed the belief that heavy expenditures would be necessary in succeeding years and while not positive that the ratio would be the same, he was inclined to the side that these future expenditures would be liable to more than equal the annual revenue.

Manager Reed explained that in working out the new rates the department had endeavored to figure them along scientific lines, such as are followed by public utility commissions. He predicted that Minnesota will have such a commission in a few years and stated that in preparing the rates the department had aimed to anticipate the policy of such a body.

He said that the new rates were figured as far as possible on capital and quantity charges. The department's investigation showed that approximately $100,000 per year is required to meet the interest charges of the water bonds and that $56,000 a year should go into the sinking fund. This would bring the total overhead expense for the interest and sinking funds to $165,000, which the manager said should be applied as a charge against all connections in proportion to their capacity. He gave this distribution as follows: For ½-inch connection, 95 cents per year; for ¾-inch connection (the size in general use here), $1.55 per year; for ¾-inch, $2.20 per year; for 6-inch, $141.37 per year, and for 8-inch, $251.33 per year. He said that when the valuation of the plant has been completed and more accurate statistics gathered, these figures could be changed accordingly. He stated that the new schedule is not scientifically accurate, but that it is better than the old rates with their wide spread from 17½ to 2½ cents per 100 cubic feet.

Hydraulic Elevators.

Manager Reed said that it might be better for all concerned if hydraulic elevators changed to electric power. He estimated that the quick closing and opening of the valves causes leaks and damage to the mains which cost the city $10,000 to $15,000 a year. He added that some of them are equipped with wasteful and extravagant apparatus and used more water than necessary.

The commissioners were a unit in expressing the belief that the charges for fire service connections were just and reasonable and should stand. The local charges compared very favorably with similar charges in other cities cited by Manager Reed. The Duluth charge is $1 per month for each inch of diameter of the connection.

The water rate question will be brought up again at 2 o'clock next Monday afternoon. The council has announced that a public hearing will be held on the rates at that time.

Shipmasters Dance Thursday.
The first annual ball of the Duluth lodge of Shipmasters will be given on Thursday evening of this week at the Spalding hotel. Supper will also be served. It is expected that the attendance will be large, for already many tickets have been sold.

Find Missing Man.
After hanging around police headquarters for the last week trying to get free lodging every evening, Arthur Ralph was yesterday identified as the man wanted in Buffalo, N. Y., by his sister, Mrs. N. Perrin, who wrote to Chief Troyer several weeks ago for information. Upon being questioned Ralph admitted his identity and declared that he is willing to go back to Buffalo. He is now serving a ten-day sentence for vagrancy.

Likes Farm Life.
Mike Culkin, 65 years old, thinks so much of the new work farm that he came into police headquarters last evening and declared he would plead guilty to a charge of vagrancy if he could go out to the farm. Mike was granted his request and this morning was sentenced to serve thirty days on the farm.

Settler Arrested.
John Hukklo, 28 years old, of Embarass, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Game Warden Storey on a charge of having moose meat in his possession. Hukklo pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for 10 o'clock the morning of Jan. 28. He will be tried before a jury.

Investigating Assault.
Chief Troyer is still investigating the holdup and assault on Mrs. Warren V. Jones at Lake avenue and Third street last Thursday evening. He said this morning that the police are now working on a new clue and that the young woman's assailant may be arrested within a few days. Mrs. Jones has arranged to call at police headquarters this afternoon for a conference with the chief. She returned from Chicago yesterday afternoon.

Calls Jury Calendar.
Judge Windom called the regular jury calendar in municipal court this morning. The first case to be heard is that of Peter Nesgoda, who is suing George Larson for $450 alleged damages. Nesgoda claims that on Oct. 5 last his horses were struck by an automobile driven by Larson on the Kenwood road, just off the Boulevard drive.

Fugitive Caught Here.
Charles Laurie, 29 years old, who is wanted by the authorities at Houghton, Mich., for deserting his wife, was arrested here yesterday afternoon by Officers Monahan and Ricketts. Chief Troyer received word this morning that an officer is now on his way from Houghton to take the prisoner back on a warrant sworn out by his wife.

Guilty of Assault.
Walter Sprinkle, clerk at the La Salle hotel, who was arrested last week on the complaint of Sundra Konoven, the cook, who claimed the former had struck her, was found guilty in police court yesterday afternoon. He was fined $75 and costs or sixty days. Huber paid his fine.

Saloon Keeper Fined.
S. Huber, proprietor of a saloon at the town of Ault, who was arersted Dec. 10 last on a charge of having kept his saloon open on Sunday, was found guilty in police court yesterday afternoon. He was fined $75 and costs or sixty days. Huber paid his fine.

Hillsiders Will Meet.
The Central Hillside Improvement club will meet at the Franklin school Friday evening, Jan. 23 at 8 o'clock. The subjects for discussion are the new rates of the water and light department and the adverse criticism of the city engineer's department. The committee on schools and roads will report. It is expected that one of the city commissioners will be present to address the meeting. The meeting is open to anyone interested.

Jury Still Out.
The jury in the case of Stans Sankoski, charged with burglary, which retired at 10:45 o'clock this morning, had not returned its verdict up to 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Sankoski is charged with having entered a room at the Adelphi hotel, 2801 West Superior street, on Jan. 1, with the intent to commit a theft.

FIELDER AGAIN IN GOVERNOR'S CHAIR.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 20.—James F. Fielder was today inaugurated governor of New Jersey with the usual simple ceremonies. Mr. Fielder was acting governor after Woodrow Wilson became president of the United States, and retired from the place last fall to become a candidate for the term beginning today.

President Wilson telegraphed congratulations to Governor Fielder.

ARMEGARD, N. D., FINALLY HAS TRAINS.

Armegard, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Armegard is now enjoying a regular train service. Only a mixed train is being operated every other day, but having been without a train until recently, the county is quite advanced at present. The train accepts local shipments of freight and express and the people of this part of McKenzie county are at last somewhat in touch with the rest of the world.

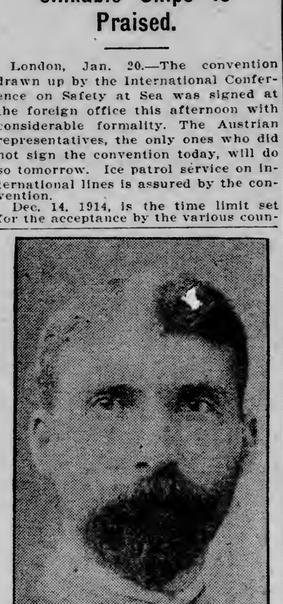

SEA SAFETY PACT SIGNED

All Nations Parties to Conference Will Be Asked to O. K. It.

Admiral Capps' Plan for Unsinkable Ships Is Praised.

London, Jan. 20.—The convention drawn up by the International Conference on Safety at Sea was signed at the foreign office this afternoon with considerable formality. The Austrian representatives, the only ones who did not sign the convention today, will do so tomorrow. Ice patrol service on international lines is assured by the convention.

Dec. 14, 1914, is the time limit set for the acceptance by the various countries concerned in the convention, drawn up and unanimously accepted by the revision committee conference. If the treaty is approved it will go into effect in July, 1915.

REAR ADMIRAL CAPPS, U. S. N., Who Won Praise By His Plans for an "Unsinkable" Ship.

For Unsinkable Ships.

Among the proposals accepted by the conference was Rear Admiral Washington I. Capps' system of making ships, so far as practicable, unsinkable. The American naval officer's plan, which received great praise, divides a ship into side and cross-wise compartments, each of them being watertight. Thus if, as the result of a collision, either end or either side of a ship is smashed in, the water cannot go beyond the particular compartment penetrated.

The question of wireless telegraphy equipment was settled by exempting ships carrying less than fifty passengers, and also vessels plying within 100 miles of the shore, from carrying wireless apparatus.

A special miniature life saving apparatus for children also was approved.

BURGLARS ENTER WEST END SALOON

Policeman Chases Burglars and Recovers Part of Loot.

The saloon belonging to the Emil Johnson estate at 2011 West Superior street was entered and a large quantity of cigars, wine and whisky taken about 2 o'clock this morning. Thirteen of the seventeen boxes of cigars stolen have been recovered.

Just about 2 o'clock Patrolman Magnuson saw two men hurrying down Superior street, after turning the corner at Twentieth avenue west. They saw the officer and began to run, one of them with a large bag under his arms. The officer yelled at the men to stop, but they kept on running. The officer then fired, but being some distance away from the fugitives he missed them. One of the men dropped the bundle in his effort to escape and it was found to contain the cigars which are now at headquarters.

Detectives Tomlin and Bradley investigated the robbery this morning and arrested two young men. There is no evidence against them and it is probable that they will be released some time this afternoon.

The thieves gained entrance to the saloon by breaking through the rear door. An examination of the saloon this morning disclosed the theft of seventeen boxes of cigars, of which thirteen were found in the bag, eleven bottles of port wine, three bottles of whisky and two bottles of brandy. The latter articles are still missing.

The saloon has been closed since the first of the year and only yesterday was a license granted to Emil Johnson, who obtained a transfer of the A. L. Brewer license at 211 Central avenue to 2011 West Superior street. Emil Johnson, former proprietor of the saloon, died several months ago and his license was declared void by the city commission. The saloon is now owned by his estate.

ST. PAUL WOMAN KILLS HUSBAND AND HERSELF

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Albert H. Taverna shot and mortally wounded her husband, a teamster, today, and then turned the revolver on herself, dying instantly. Taverna died this afternoon at a hospital. The tragedy occurred on a business street and was witnessed by many people.

The Tavernas had been married less than a year and both were under 30 years old.

WILL SEEK A COMPROMISE

Commissioner Voss Would Collect Part of Fourth Street Assessment.

City Needs Money Which Will Be Tied Up By Litigation.

Finance Commissioner Fred J. Voss will endeavor to collect a substantial portion of the assessment which has been levied for the paving of Fourth street between Fourteenth and Twenty-third avenues east, although it was decided at a meeting of property owners last night to take an appeal from the assessment to the district court.

In view of the city's urgent need of funds with which to carry on the improvement work of the coming season, he is hopeful that the property owners will see the justice of his proposal and accede to it.

The idea of the finance commissioner is to have the property owners pay such ratio of their assessment as will not jeopardize their interests insofar as they may be affected by any findings of the court. One of the grounds on which it is announced the appeal will be taken is that the street car company should be obliged to pay for the paving between its tracks and for a foot on each side of the outer rails. The finance commissioner will direct City Assessor J. Allyn Scott to determine what would be the share of the street railway company under those circumstances. Making allowances for the street car company's share he would have the property owners pay the balance. Then if the city wins its suit against the company the city will collect from the company. Should the courts hold that the company is not obliged to pay for paving between its tracks the city will collect from the property owners the remainder of the assessment which has been levied against them.

Another ground of appeal is that the work was not up to specifications. The finance commissioner is not sure that those holding that view will be willing to agree to the arrangement, but he trusts that some mutually satisfactory agreement may also be reached with them whereby they will pay part of the assessment.

A. C. Weiss appeared before the commissioners while they were holding an informal meeting at the mayor's office this morning to suggest that the city endeavor to make an arrangement of that nature. He pointed out that the city needs to be reimbursed for the money which has been spent from the revolving fund to lay the paving. Mr. Weiss expressed confidence that such a proposition would meet with the approval of many of the property owners, as they would not wish to unnecessarily handicap the city's improvement program.

Commissioner Voss said that he had discussed the matter of dividing the assessment in that manner with City Attorney Harvey S. Clapp and that the attorney was of the opinion that it could be done.

TALKS ABOUT THE TRUST MESSAGE

Clark Praises It and Murdock Brands It Inadequate.

Washington, Jan. 20.—"It's a very, very fine message—that tells the whole story. How can one say more?" was Speaker Clark's comment on the president's message.

"The president's plan is inadequate," declared Representative Murdock of Kansas, leader of the house Progressives. "Like all inadequate plans it will render the trust evil more acute. It will not remedy. The president is well intentioned, but so long as there are reactionary forces in his party, he cannot get results in this problem."

Marshall and Underwood.

"As always, the president speaks tersely and with clarity," said Vice President Marshall. "While it recommends radical reforms, the message is couched in conservative terms."

Representative Underwood, Democratic leader of the house, said:

"The president's message points the way to progressive remedial legislation that will relieve the people of the United States from evil practices that have sometimes been carried on in the past, and at the same time the tone of the message is such that it leaves no cause for alarm by the legitimate business interests in the country."

NEGRO IDENTIFIED AT LEEGSON INQUEST

Isaac Bond Denies He Pawned Dead Woman's Jewels.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—When the inquest into the death of Miss Ida G. Leegson, art student and sculptress, was reopened here today, Thomas Bersick identified Isaac Bond, who was present, as the negro he saw with Miss Leegson Oct. 5, the day of the murder. Bond is formally charged with the murder.

Mrs. Vade Burnett, with whom the young woman lodged, testified that she received an anonymous telephone call from a man who promised employment as nurse to Miss Leegson. This was the call which lured Miss Leegson to her death. Instead of meeting an employer, she was met by a man who is supposed to have choked her to death with a light, tough cord.

Michael Binkowicz, employed in the pawnshop of Eli Nierman, testified that Bond was the man who pawned Miss Leegson's jewels the day after the murder. Bond rose excitedly and exclaimed:

"You're wrong, you're wrong! I'm not the man!"

Nierman was less positive than his clerk, saying that Bond resembled the man wanted for the murder.

EX-SENATOR CULLOM'S CONDITION UNCHANGED

Washington, Jan. 20.—The condition of Shelby M. Cullom, formerly United States Senator from Illinois, was reported by physicians today as unchanged. The aged statesman is suffering from a general breakdown.

Wilson Sees Alaska Exhibit.

Washington, Jan. 20.—After President Wilson read his message to congress today he went to the senate office building and visted the exhibit of the Alaskan bureau of the Chamber of Commerce of Seattle, Wash. The president expressed to Senator Pittman his deep interest in the Alaskan railroad bill pending in the senate.

DUPLICATE FORCE MAIN

Water Pipe From Lakewood Pumping Station Is Deteriorating.

Manager Reed Plans to Relay It on Installment Plan.

The water and light department is planning to duplicate by sections the big force main which brings Duluth's water supply from the Lakewood pumping station to the city, according to a statement made by Manager D. A. Reed at an informal meeting of the commissioners held in the mayor's office this morning to consider water rates.

Manager Reed said that the department expects to duplicate 1,000 feet and possibly 2,000 feet of the big steel main with 36-inch cast iron pipe. At estimated cost of $10 per foot the duplication of the section will cost $10,000 to $20,000.

The part of the main which will be duplicated has begun to deteriorate quite seriously. The city is wholly dependent upon the main for its entire water supply, and the department officials are determined to take no unnecessary chances of a water famine, the consequences of which would be exceedingly disastrous.

The program is to duplicate the entire length of the main in this manner.

A section will be laid each summer. This will enable the work to be done from the earnings of the department and spread the expense over a period of years. It will also obviate the need of a bond issue of up to $500,000.

The proposal to sell the steam pumps in both the Lakewood and the abandoned Endion stations was discussed. The opinion of the commissioners was that the city might better have the $35,000 or $40,000 which might be realized by the sale than to have the machinery. The city's water is now pumped entirely by electricity, which has been found to be more satisfactory and more economical.

Manager Reed also said that during the coming summer the department will make a careful examination of the intake pipe to ascertain if it contains any leaks. These would be most serious near the shore, as sewage seeping through them might contaminate the water.

Manager Reed went to Lakewood this afternoon to make an inspection of the intake well and the other equipment.

CRITICIZES CARE OF SICK

Dr. R. O. Beard Says Conditions at Poor Farm Hospital Are Inexcusable.

The care of maternity and contagious disease cases at the county poor farm and the housing of the non-offending poor and unfortunate in the jail and city prison were roundly criticized by Dr. R. O. Beard of the University of Minnesota Medical college at a banquet at the Commercial club this evening, given by a committee from the Woman's council. Dr. Beard's criticism was impersonal, but he said the conditions were inexcusable and that the present care of the sick at the poor farm was malpractice.

A lively discussion was aroused by Dr. Beard's remarks. J. H. Hearding, member of the board of poor commissioners, said that the present handling of cases was simply a make-shift until a hospital could be secured, and that he felt the course being pursued at the poor farm was justified by expediency. Dr. Beard, however, stuck to his ground and maintained that present conditions could not be justified as action should have been taken long ago to secure a hospital.

Dr. Beard favored a board appointed by district judges to supervise a public hospital. He said that appointed officials were preferable for such positions as more efficient men would likely be selected and that an appointive office carried its own dignity, making the salary secondary. He favored a salary for such officials, however, as he believed the idea of securing regular service free of charge was un-American.

Maternity Cases.

In speaking of maternity cases he deplored the fact that such cases should be treated at the poor farm and by a person who was not even a trained nurse. He said the nurse was even more important than a doctor. He then spoke of cases of contagious disease being treated in the same building and by the same nurse who had charge of the maternity cases.

After Dr. Beard's address a general discussion ensued for a few minutes as to the best methods of securing a public hospital. The consensus of opinion was that the public stands ready to pay for and support such an enterprise but that conflicting opinions of Duluth doctors were blocking progress.

The guests at the luncheon were: Dr. and Mrs. Beard, R. B. Knox, president of the Commercial club; Dr. J. J. Murphy, city health director; Mayor W. I. Prince; Dr. William Forney Hovis, president of the Duluth Ministerial association; J. H. Hearding, member of the county poor commission; Mrs. F. L. Barrows, chairman of the committee from the Woman's council; C. S. Mitchell, Dr. F. C. Bowman, Mrs. W. S. Woodbridge, Miss Agnes Atwood, Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Tuohy, Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Walker.

WILL LECTURE ON ALBANIA

The Albanian question and the Balkan war will be discussed in Duluth at the First Presbyterian church Friday evening by Rev. Charles Telford Erickson under the auspices of the Inter-church council of this city. The council will give a banquet at which practically all the churches of the city will be represented.

Rev. Mr. Erickson comes highly recommended as a lecturer and authority of foreign questions. He was driven out of Albania by the Servians. Having spent considerable time in prison in Albania and having been an eye witness to the scenes of bloodshed there, he comes with first-hand knowledge. While in Albania Mr. Erickson was present at many meetings of the Albanian cabinet.

FARGOAN IS APPOINTED.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Announcement is made here today of the appointment of E. R. Orchard as deputy state bank examiner. He was formerly city auditor and will be detailed for the examination of the accounts of municipal officials.

CLAPP REAL BULL MOOSE?

Is Said to Have Served Notice He Is Out of G. O. P.

Murdock Says He Attends Third Party Conferences.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Jan. 20.—According to well authenticated reports here, Senator Moses E. Clapp of Minnesota has served on his senate colleagues notice that he is no longer a Republican, but will hereafter train with the Bull Moose.

It is stated on good authority that within the last few days Senator Clapp notified a Progressive Republican senator, who is seeking re-election, that he could make no speeches for him in the coming campaign.

"The Progressives will have a candidate in the field, and I will be unable to speak in your behalf," is what Mr. Clapp is reported to have said to this Progressive Republican senator.

Progressive leaders here, especially Victor Murdock of Kansas, say that "Moses is a tower of strength to the Progressives. He attends the Progressive conferences here, one of which was held Monday of last week. He preaches straight-out Bull Moose doctrine."

These same Progressive leaders marvel that Mr. Clapp does not let the people of Minnesota know that he is a Progressive by a straight-out statement, instead of letting his constituents learn from other sources that he has become a Bull Moose. Any attempt to get a declaration from Senator Clapp is met with the statement that he "does not care to discuss the matter."

CALLS EUGENIC LAW UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 20.—The Wisconsin eugenic law, which provides for the issuance of marriage licenses only upon a certificate of a clean bill of health, including the Wasserman test, from a physician, was this afternoon declared unconstitutional by Judge E. C. Eschweiler of the circuit court. The court allowed the writ of mandamus compelling the county clerk to issue a license to Alfred Peterson. The case will later go to the supreme court.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

FORD AND CAMNITZ JOIN FEDERALS

Two Big League Pitchers Desert American and National League Teams for Outlaws.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—The Federal league signed two big league pitchers today—Russell Ford of the New York Americans, and Howard Camnitz of the Philadelphia Nationals. The news of their signing came from managers of Federal teams.

Ford probably will be added to the Chicago roster and Camnitz either to Pittsburg or Indianapolis.

GATES BROTHERS WILL END 'SPIEL

The Gates brothers of Superior will play off the final game in the Minneapolis event at the curling rink tonight.

It is expected that this will be one of the most sensational games of the bonspiel, and will officially end the spiel which nominally closed last Saturday night or Sunday morning.

The rinks skipped by the brothers, Joel S. and Clough, performed among the most creditably of the bonspiel and came out well in every event. Clough Gates' rink won the grand aggregate.

It is expected that a large gallery will watch the contest.

LONG SOUGHT SNOW BOON TO LOGGERS

Timberman Around Chisholm Planning to Log on Big Scale Now.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Several inches of damp snow fell here during the night and it is still snowing. Loggers are rejoicing. For several days they have been trying to sprinkle the roads, but the weather was too warm, not freezing nights. The present storm will enable good roads to be built. The contractors will begin the delivery of logs and timber immediately. The season is severa weeks late and many contractors have prepared to haul in wagons. The snow today saved thousands of dollars. The prices of mining timber and logs advanced the last fortnight as a result of the unfavorable weather.

FINAL EVENT ON SATURDAY NIGHT.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The schedule for the second round in the curling contests for the Klass buttons has been completed and it is now planned to have the final game on Saturday night following or preceding one of the games for the Ordway trophy to be played on the local rink.

Tonight Rooney will play Kleffman on ice No. 1, Murray vs. Bullen on No. 2; Middlemiss against Thomas on No. 3 and West against Flannigan on No. 4. Wednesday evening McIlhargey will play Kirby. Wellner is bye in this round. All games must be played before Thursday as the new schedule for the semi-finals will be arranged by that time.

FACE COVERED WITH PIMPLES--RESINOL CURED

Atlanta, Ga., April 24, 1913.—"My face was covered with pimples which defied creams, soaps and cosmetics. They were a source of constant humiliation to me, coming in contact with many strangers as I do, as a business woman.

"By the time I had finished a cake of Resinol Soap and half a jar of Resinol Ointment, my skin was soft as velvet, and as smooth. My friends were stunned, and everyone asked me what I had done. When I told them, I think they hardly believed it, for the transformation was simply wonderful.

"Since then I have been using Resinol Soap and shall never be without it again, for I have learned the delights of a clear, soft, beautiful complexion that may be attained by its constant use." (Signed) Miss E. P. Gaddis, 284 South Pryor St.

Resinol Ointment (50c. and $1.00), and Resinol Soap (25c.), stop itching instantly and speedily heal eczema, and other skin humors, dandruff, sores, burns and piles. Sold by every druggist. Don't be fooled by "substitutes" for Resinol offered by a few unscrupulous dealers. For free trial, write to Dept. 43-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

MINE SALE IS HALTED.

Owners Pay Royalties to State and Get Return.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 20.—Cancellation of the lease of the Alberta mine near Virginia, advertised by the state auditor some time ago, will not be made, parties interested in the lease having come forward and paid the delinquent royalites, amounting to $443 and interest.

Failure to pay the royalties for the third quarter of 1913 resulted in the auditor giving the usual twenty-day notice of cancellation of lease, and the state took possession of the mine and such property as was on hand.

FINDS VIRGINIA IS MUCH CHANGED.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Louis Gilpin, superintendent of the State Lumber company at Kalispel, Mont., is here for a week's visit with relatives and friends. Mr. Gilpin, who is a cousin of Probate Judge S. W. Gilpin, was a resident of Virginia a number of years ago, when he was in the employ of the Bailey Lumber company as filer, and he expressed great surprise at the number of improvements that have been made since he left here.

CANCER CLAIMS MRS. O. O. BENSON.

Tower, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Benson, wife of Dr. O. O. Benson, superintendent of the government Indian school at this place, died Sunday morning about 9 o'clock.

She had been a sufferer for some months from cancer of the stomach and was operated on at a local hospital last September. Her decline since that time has been gradual. Several of her immediate relatives have been at her bedside of late. She is survived by her husband, daughter and son.

RANGE YEOMEN TO CELEBRATE

Seventh Anniversary of Order's Founding to Be Observed.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—All of the range homesteads of the Brotherhood of American Yeomen, including Two Harbors, Eveleth, Gilbert, Virginia, Kinney, Chisholm and Hibbing, will celebrate the 17th anniversary of the Yeomen society.

District Manager P. F. Harouff, who is in charge of the range district, recently made a tour of the range, and installed officers for the several homesteads, where all arrangements have been made and committees appointed to look after anniversary meetings. Eveleth, Gilbert, Kinney and Virginia homesteads will all hold a joint anniversary in Virginia on Tuesday evening, Feb. 24, where a class of candidates from all the homesteads will be initiated by the Virginia team, assisted by state and supreme officers, after which a banquet will be served to all present at the Fay hotel. Chisholm and Hibbing will celebrate jointly, Feb. 23, at Hibbing, after which a banquet will be served by the Hibbing hotel.

Grand Foreman William Koch of Des Moines, Iowa, Chief Correspondent William E. Davy of Des Moines, Iowa; Ada L. Garland, supreme sentinel, of Superior; J. H. Murphy, state manager of Minnesota, from St. Paul, will all accompany District Manager Harouff on this tour, and will end up at Two Harbors, where a large class adoption will take place, with a banquet and dancing party following.

The homestead at Two Harbors will also install their officers on Tuesday evening, Jan. 27. State Manager J. H. Murphy will be the installing officer, assisted by ten ladies of the order and one gentleman. This will be an open installation, and invitations have been sent to 100 friends and many Duluth visitors are expected. A dancing party and lunch will follow the installation.

CLAIMS CONTRACT IS ILLEGAL ONE

Mill City Man Seeks to Have Agreement Set Aside.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge C. W. Stanton arrived from Bemidji today and is holding a brief session of district court. The most important matter to be disposed of is the proceedings instituted by M. H. McDonald of Minneapolis to have set aside an agreement or contract he made with a woman now known as Mrs. Amber McMillan, in which he conveyed to her a royalty on iron ore taken from some Itasca county mines he owns.

Thering & Rossman of this village, McDonald's attorneys, today argued a motion to have the contract set aside on the ground it was secured by improper representation. Larrabee & Davis of Minneapolis, Mrs. McMillan's counsel, are resisting the motion.

Allegations in Case.

The allegation is made that McDonald, who has been divorced from his wife, met the McMillan woman before her marriage and that their relations were of such a nature that she threatened to bring breach of promise proceedings against him. In order to settle the matter, it is asserted that McDonald made a contract conveying to the woman a royalty or bonus of 5 or 6 cents a ton on all iron taken from certain mines in Itasca county of which he was the fee owner. That such agreement or contract was made does not seem to be disputed, but McDonald now seeks to dodge its terms, according to Mrs. McMillan. At any rate, he has prevented payment under its provision until the amount now is between $25,000 and $50,000. The money is in a savings bank at Mount Clemens awaiting the order of the proper owner.

HIBBING WEDDING.

Former Wakefield, Mich., Man Marries Virginia Girl.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Bodoh of Hibbing and Miss Anna Laura Bedford of Virginia, were married yesterday morning at the Church of the Blessed Sacrament here, Rev. Father Hogan officiating. The bride is a sister of Mrs. W. C. Corey of Buhl and the groom is a citizen of Wakefield, Mich. The couple were attended by Mrs. Corey of Buhl and J. R. Harrington of Hibbing.

The ceremony was witnessed by a number of friends and relatives and a wedding breakfast was served at the home of Mrs. Harrington. Mr. and Mrs. Bodoh left for Virginia where they will be the guests of friends going from there to Duluth and the Twin Cities for a trip. Upon their return they will make their home at 117 Garfield street.

VIRGINIA SKIING DATES TO STAND.

Ashland, Wis., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Askel H. Holter, who yesterday announced changes in dates for ski club tournaments under the auspices of the National Tournament association because of the warm winter, as stated in Monday's Herald, said today that if possible no change will be made in the date of the national tournament at Virginia, Minn., which is now set for Feb. 14 and 15.

To Put on Flesh and Increase Weight

A Physician's Advice.

Most thin people eat from four to six pounds of good solid fat-making food every day and still do not increase in weight one ounce, while on the other hand many of the plump, chunky folks eat very lightly and keep gaining all the time. It's all bosh to say that this is the nature of the individual. It isn't Nature's way at all.

Thin folks stay thin because their powers of assimilation are defective. They absorb just enough of the food they eat to maintain life and a semblance of health and strength. Stuffing won't help them. A dozen meals a day won't make them gain a single "stay there" pound. All the fat-producing elements of their food just stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste. What such people need is something that will prepare these fatty food elemnts so that their blood can absorb them and deposit them all about the body—something, too, that will multiply their red blood corpuscles and increase their blood's carrying power.

For such a condition I always recommend eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is not, as some believe, a patented drug, but is a scientific combination of six of the most effective and powerful flesh building elements known to chemistry. It is absolutely harmless, yet wonderfully effective and a single tablet eaten with each meal often has the effect of increasing the weight of a thin man or woman from three to five pounds a week. Sargol is sold by Boyce Drug store and other good druggists everywhere on a positive guarantee of weight increase or money back.

THREE MEN HURT.

Miner and Two Woodsmen Are Injured on Vermilion Range.

Tower, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nathan Wastilla, a miner, crushed a finger while drilling on the surface of the Mud Creek mine.

Joseph Labin, an employe at Whalsten & Sons logging camps, cut his great toe and is at the Soudan hospital.

Philip Davis, a laborer, is still at the Soudan hospital suffering from injuries to his right ankle and leg, sustained when he was caught between two logs at Whalsten & Sons camp.

HUNTED WITH HOUNDS; PAIR FINED $25.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles and Amado Rokko were arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriff George E. Wood in the woods near Kinney, charged with hunting with hounds. They were brought before Judge Brady, pleaded guilty, and were each fined $25 and costs or twenty-five days in the county jail. Both paid.

FORMER POSTMISTRESS GOING TO WASHINGTON.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Mary H. James, for seven years postmistress, will leave next week for Detroit, Mich., and Washington to spend the winter. She will return to Detroit in the spring to make her permanent home. Mrs. James has been a resident of Virginia since June, 1893. Her husband, the late Col. J. R. James, rode into the city on the first train on the Missabe road.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—A charity ball will be given under the auspices of the Associated Charities on Friday evening, Feb. 6. The ball will be held in the Elks' building, which has been donated by the lodge for the occasion. The arrangements are in the hands of committees, which plan to make the affair the most successful of its kind ever given on the range.

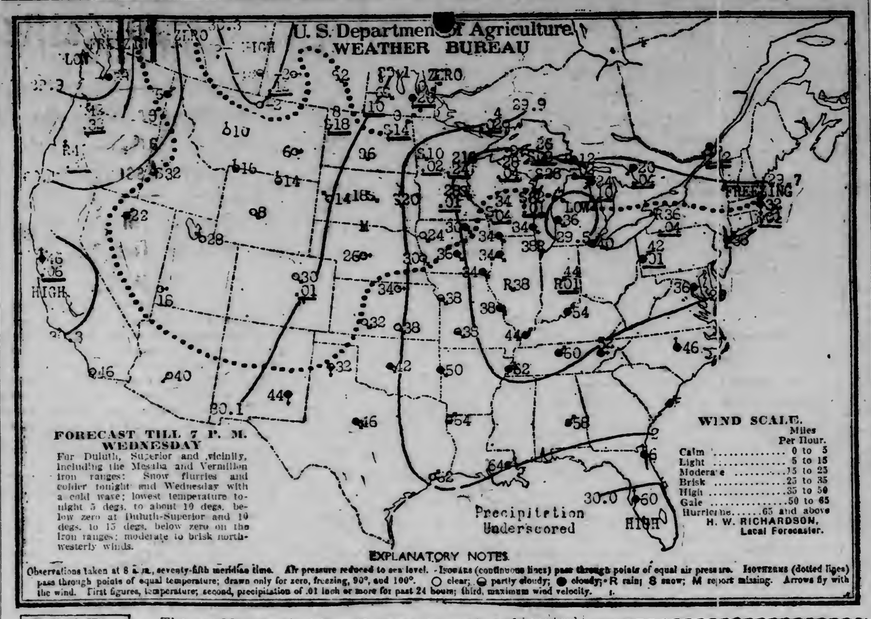

FARMERS' MEET IN FEBRUARY

Soil Tillers Around Chisholm to Discuss Free Seed.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—President J. J. Stukkel of the Chisholm Farmers' association has issued a call for a farmers' meeting the first week in February and it is expected a representative gathering will respond.

The purpose of the meeting is to elect officers and to discuss matters of interest to the tillers of the soil. Among the most important subjects to be brought up is the offer of free seed and the early planting of those plants, grain, etc., most suitable to this climate.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

The sudden est change of a radical nature that has been experienced here so far this winter has just arrived. Yesterday rain and slush with weather too warm for heavy overcoats was the prevailing brand. Snow started last night and today is still falling, with a first-class imitation of a regulation storm. Then a cold wave is promised for tonight with the temperature from 5 to 10 deg. below zero.

A year ago today Duluth was hit by a cold wave. After fair weather so history repeats itself. The sun rose this morning at 7:46 and will set this afternoon at 4:53, giving nine hours and seven minutes of sunshine, three minutes more than yesterday.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Decidedly colder weather prevails throughout the Northwest and the Rocky mountains. In those districts the temperature has fallen anywhere from 10 deg. to 30 deg. during the last twenty-four hours; zero weather occurring in Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and the northern portions of Montana and North Dakota. In the meantime light snow or rain fell over the lake region, Ohio valley and Upper Mississippi valleys, the Northwest and Pacific states."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Wednesday:

Wisconsin — Unsettled weather tonight and Wednesday, probably snow flurries; colder.

Minnesota — Unsettled weather tonight and Wednesday; probably snow flurries in east portion; colder tonight and in east portion Wednesday; cold wave in northeast portion.

Iowa — Generally fair in west, unsettled in east portion tonight and Wednesday; colder tonight and in east portion Wednesday.

North Dakota — Generally fair tonight and Wednesday, preceded by unsettled in east portion; colder tonight.

South Dakota — Generally fair tonight and Wednesday; colder tonight with cold wave in east and central portions.

Montana — Generally fair, except probably rain or snow in extreme west portion tonight or Wednesday; colder in southeast portion tonight.

Upper Michigan — Snow and colder tonight; moderate cold wave in north portion; Wednesday local snows and colder.

Lower Michigan — Snow and colder tonight; moderate cold wave in west portion; Wednesday, local showers.

LEE WOULD HAVE CANDIDATES REPLY

Hears Some of Would-Be Governors Will Stand Pat and Won't Recognize His Elimination Proposal.

W. E. Lee of Long Prairie, who will doubtless soon file for the Republican nomination for the governorship, has sent The Herald a communication following up one received two weeks ago in which Mr. Lee proposed an elimination conference of the anti-Eberhart candidates for the governorship nomination. In the communication just received he further urges such a conference. His communication follows:

"Two weeks have elapsed since I made public my proposal for an elimination of candidates for the Republican nomination for governor, and there has as yet been no public nor direct response from the men who are already announced candidates or publicly considered as probable candidates. I have been reliably informed, however, that some of these gentlemen refuse to consider any elimination plan; that they profess to the belief that they have sufficient strength to win the nomination in the primaries; and that my entrance or that of any other man will not affect them.

"It is clear that all cannot win, and if these men have the strength they claim, why are they unwilling to submit their case to a convention of the people? Is their attitude then a confession of weakness? If they are really opposed to the machine and honestly desirous of forwarding the people's interests, why do they refuse to consider a proposal to unite the opposition to the machine?

"Governor Eberhart, in a recently published letter, emphatically condemns any elimination plan. The only surprise in this is that he was bold enough to publicly proclaim to the people the game being played on them.

"We are engaged in a great conflict to determine whether the people, or a political machine, organized, financed and controlled by the enemies of good government, are to fix the policy and determine the future welfare of our state, and the people have a right to know in detail the motives that prompt public men to take positions that are foreign to the very nature of things contribute to the success of this political machine."

Hibbing to Hear Peck.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—On Friday evening, Feb. 20, the men of the First Presbyterian church will have a banquet in the church parlors. Edward W. Peck of Minneapolis, state secretary of the Y. M. C. A., will attend. Following the banquet Mr. Peck will give an illustrated lecture on the Men and Religion Forward movement. Mr. Peck has recently returned from a trip around the world in the interest of this movement.

Discussed Sheridan.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—"The Work of Sheridan" was the title of a paper read before the Virginia Study club at its regular meeting in the public library yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Otto A. How to Make the Best Cough Remedy at Home

A Family Supply at Small Cost, and Fully Guaranteed.

Make a plain syrup by mixing one pint of granulated sugar and ½ pint of warm water and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of pure Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup. This gives you a family supply of the best cough syrup at a saving of $2. It never spoils. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

The effectiveness of this simple remedy is surprising. It seems to take hold almost instantly, and will usually conquer an ordinary cough in 24 hours. It tones up the jaded appetite and is just laxative enough to be helpful in a cough, and has a pleasing taste. Also excellent for bronchial trouble, bronchial asthma, whooping cough and spasmodic croup.

This method of making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup (or strained honey) is now used in more homes than any other cough syrup. This explains why it is often imitated, though never successfully. If you try it, use only genuine Pinex, which is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and other natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

WOOL AND STOCK MEN FAIL OF AGREEMENT

Try to Unite on Kent Bill Terms—Tariff Is Discussed.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 20.—At a meeting which lasted until late last night, a committee from the National Wool Growers' association met with a committee from the Western Stock Growers' association here in an effort to compose ideas on the matter of grazing lands, as embodied in the Kent bill now pending before congress. The committees adjourned without arriving at a definite conclusion to report to the opening session of the American National Livestock association convention, which opened in Denver this morning.

The effect of the new tariff law upon the wool and cattle industry is to be discussed by the stock growers and the wool growers' association. Dr. T. N. Carver, director of the rural organization service of the Federal department of agriculture, was to speak today.

Meat Producers Not Hurt.

That the meat producing industry of the United States has been permanently placed on a free trade basis without benefit of cheaper prices to the consumer, and that the removal of the tariff will not appreciably injure the livestock industry were the principal conclusions drawn by President H. A. Jastro in his address before the annual convention of the American National Livestock association here today. He said that perhaps, in the distant future, there might be a realignment of parties and one similar to the agrarian parties of Europe might favor a different treatment of this industry, but this is a remote possibility and the livestock growers "may as well adjust themselves to a free trade basis on their products."

POISONS THAT IRRITATE

When the delicate machinery of the body is not working harmoniously, poisons are retained that should be expelled. These may accumulate in the tissues and cause irritation. Should this irritation affect joints or muscles you have rheumatism; if a nerve becomes inflamed you have neuralgia.

But if the system is kept toned up with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and no body poisons are retained, foods that once distressed you will be harmless, exposure will bring no rheumatism and neuralgia and even germ diseases need hardly be dreaded.

The lowering of the tone of the system which results from thin blood is easy to recognize. Weakness is always present, a tendency to perspire and fatigue easily, ringing in the ears, black spots passing before the eyes, weak back, dizziness, wakefulness and unrefreshing sleep. These conditions Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will correct.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood and strengthen the nerves. In this way the general health is improved, the appetite increases, and new ambition and energy is developed.

These pills are sold by all druggists. Send to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for free book "Building Up the Blood."

NEW YORK THEATER STAGE HANDS STRIKE

Claim Brady Violated Union Rules—Ushers Shift the Scenery.

New York, Jan. 20.—Ushers, ticket-takers and other employes in two of the leading theaters were put to work shifting scenery at last night's performances as a result of a strike of stage hands. The trouble arose over the question whether William A. Brady, theatrical manager, violated the employes' union rules by refusing to hire a traveling stage crew when he moved a play from one theater to another in the city.

Brady contended that as both theaters were within the city limits he was not required to employ additional stage carpenters, electrician and property man, as demanded by the New York local of the International Alliance of Stage Hands. He agreed to pay the salaries of the extra men, but would not permit them to work. By this attitude, the strike leaders said, Brady failed to recognize the union. The strikers accordingly did not walk out for the money involved, but for the right to have their "extras" perform acts of labor in the two Brady theaters.

Brady said resort would be had to the courts to prevent interference with his employes. Police guarded the stage entrances of the theaters last night, and there was no disorder.

Carson Against Compromise.

Belfast, Jan. 20.—At a big Unionist demonstration here yesterday Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster Unionist leader, deprecated any attempt to compromise on the Ulster question, and announced the determination of the Ulsterites to fight the home rule bill until the last.

THE FIEND INCARNATE

"I am the greatest criminal in history. Have killed more men than have fallen in all the wars of the world. I have turned them into brutes, destroyed countless homes and made millions more unhappy; transformed numberless ambitious youths into hopeless parasites, and made smooth the downward path of countless millions. I destroy the weak and weaken the strong; make the wise man a fool and trample the fool into his folly. I have ensnared and ruined innocent millions and shall ruin millions more. The abandoned wife knows me; the hungry children know me; the parents whose child has bowed their gray heads in sorrow know me.

(Signed) ALCOHOL."

Never was there so appalling a statement made in so concise a form. Surely, there must be some haven of immunity from this arch destroyer.

The great work and purpose of the Neal Institute is to reach and save the countless thousands that are daily drifting into the insatiable maw of alcoholism, and we are fully convinced that countless thousands would avail themselves of the opportunity offered by the Neal treatment if they only knew how effectually it eradicates the appetite for liquor and restores the vital organs to their former strength, thereby insuring the beneficiary against relapse and future alcoholic influence.

REMEMBER the Neal treatment removes both the cause and effect in three days without the use of hypodermic injections and solely through the agency of harmless vegetable formulas. There are none too young or none too old to undergo the treatment with absolute safety.

Our new booklet, "The Modern Method of Treatment for Alcohol and Drug Addiction," telling the whole interesting story, mailed free on request, in plain sealed envelope.

MARKET HAS QUIET DAY

Wheat Prices Weaken at Finish and Close Is Slightly Lower.

Flaxseed Firm With Good Crushers' Inquiry and Light Offerings.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 20.—The market was slightly easier at the close. May wheat closed a shade up at 88¼@88¼c and July ¼c off at 89⅝c. May durum closed ⅛c off at 87½c.

Oats closed ¼c off at 35¾@36¼c. Rye closed unchanged at 52½@55½c for the best grades and barley unchanged at from 44c to 66c.

At Winnipeg, January oats closed at 32⅞c bid and May at 36½c bid.

Calls on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 87⅜@87½c bid and calls at 87⅜c bid.

Fractional advances were recorded in the wheat market during the first three hours' business today. Bullish factors came in higher Liverpool cables and a decrease of 326,000 bu shown in the world's visible supply, as compared with a large increase in the preceding week. The world's visible is now reported at 212,138,000 bu, as against 202,141,000 bu a year ago. The European visible showed an increase of 2,672,000 bu in the week however, as a result of heavy world's shipments.

Duluth operators as a rule feel bullish regarding the ultimate course of the wheat market. In support of their position, they point to the unexpected decrease in the Australian crop surplus and the continued cutting down of the Argentine estimates. It is also taken into account that in view of its light snow covering, the winter wheat plant is without protection in large areas and that its present high condition might easily be lowered several points through the coming about of severe weather conditions during the next few weeks.

Receipts at this point are running light and primaries are showing a large falling off from last year. Inspections here today were only 92 cars, compared with 228 last year and arrivals of all grains on the tracks for the day were reported at just 35 cars. Minneapolis receipts were 251 cars against 278 a year ago.

May wheat opened ¼c up at 88¼c and gained ⅛c more up to the final hour. July opened unchanged at 89⅝@89¾c and gained ⅛c. May durum opened unchanged at around 87¼c and held at around that basis.

Flaxseed Holds Firm.

The market in flaxseed was firm from the opening with good inquiry from the crushers' interests and comparatively light offerings. The bullish tone of the market was helped along by higher cables and small current receipts.

Price changes during the session showed only fractional advances, however.

Business was monopolized by the May option. It opened unchanged at $1.52⅝, advanced to $1.53 and closed at $1.52⅞. The January closed at $1.48⅞ nominally.

At Winnipeg, January flax closed at $1.26¾ bid and May at $1.33¼ bid.

MARKET GOSSIP.

A. P. Allensworth, manager of the American Linseed company's Winnipeg office, was a visitor on the board of trade today.

It is the general opinion at Winnipeg, he said, that the Canadian government will not place wheat and flour on the free list at the present session of parliament. Though the Conservative Manitoba government passed a unanimous resolution in favor of the proposal and the farmers of the Western province want the duty taken off wheat in order to enlarge their markets, all the big interests, including the millers, railroads, and manufacturers, are arrayed against it.

"Eastern Canada is strongly protectionist and the people down there have the controlling votes, so it looks as if nothing would be done to upset conditions at the present," said Mr. Allensworth.

The ex-Duluthian said that the cash demand for wheat from the mills is good at present, and that for a long pull traders are bullish on the situation. The market up there is, however, a two-sided affair now, it being thought by many that there is too much company on the long side. While farmers' stocks in the West are thought to be about cleaned up there are large supplies of wheat in country elevators on account of the good carrying charge.

The Minneapolis cash market was steady with a fair demand for choice, but slow for ordinary wheat. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at 1c over to 1½c under May, and velvet chaff at 1c to 1½c under May. There were moderate flour sales with a little for export. Cash No. 1 northern sold there at from 86¼c to 88¾c and No. 2 northern at from 83⅜c to 85¾c.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Wheat market opened dull and unchanged. Easier American cables yesterday, pressure in Winnipeg and lower Buenos Ayres closing were offset by improved spot demand and some outside speculative support owing to the continued scarcity of Plate offers. At 1:30 p. m. the market was steady at ¼d to ⅜d higher.

"Corn—Opened unchanged, but later advanced ½d on cold weather here and firmness in Buenos Ayres and Rosario."

According to the 1913 returns of the New York produce exchange the year's movement to that market amounted to 140,127,781 bu of grain and flour, a gain of 8,725,692 bu over the preceding year. December's arrivals of grain and flour aggregated 16,153,845 bu, the best in any single month of the calendar year. One of the features of the December deliveries at the port was the heavy canal traffic in cereals which equaled nearly 2,000,000 bu or 11.84 per cent of the total.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Advances, But Fails to Hold Top Prices.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Wheat failed to hold an advance which today resulted from a less favorable crop outlook in Western Europe. The flattering prospects for the winter crop in the United States acted as more than an offset, being emphasized by the Ohio state report, which put the condition at 101 as against 90 a year ago. Opening prices were ⅛@¼c higher and there was a slight further gain but the market then receded below last night's level.

Lightness of primary receipts tended later to check the bears. The close was steady, unchanged to a decline of a shade.

Mild weather had a bearish effect on corn, more than neutralizing an early upturn due to sympathy with temporary wheat strength. Reports of lack of demand for cash corn at Kansas City counted against the bulls. Prices started a shade to ⅛@¼c higher and after hardening a trifle underwent a decided sag.

Firmness of cables helped to rally the market some but not in a lasting manner. The close was steady, ⅜@⅝c net lower.

Oats merely reflected the changing sentiment, regarding other grain. Commission houses did most of the buying.

Provisions suffered from absence of support. Selling pressure was only moderate. After opening unchanged to 2½c lower, the market gradually declined.

STRONG AT THE CLOSE

Stocks Move Over Narrow Range During the Morning.

Advance on President's Message and Declines Are Recovered.

New York, Jan. 20.—Quotations swung back and forth over a narrow range during the morning. The undertone was good, but the active shares made no appreciable headway in either direction. Little business was transacted, pending delivery of the president's message to congress later in the day. Sentiment was cheerful owing to low money rates and indications of better business. Oil shares were buoyant, Mexican Petroleum rising 5 points. Some high-priced railroad issues were in better demand, especially Louisville & Nashville, St. Paul, Pennsylvania and New York Central. Canadian Pacific lost more than 2 points, its decline being due to foreign selling. Steel and Reading were under pressure at times and selling of these stocks overcame upward tendencies elsewhere. Bonds were firm.

First prices of stocks today held close to yesterday's final range. The volume of business was unusually small. The only important stock which fluctuated more than a fraction was Canadian Pacific. The stock opened off 1⅝.

Opening prices were shaded but the market afterward moved up in a decisive fashion in spots. St. Paul gained 1 and Mexican Petroleum 3 points.

Activity increased after the publication of the president's message and prices were higher. Southern Pacific reached 94½. Steel and Reading made up their losses.

Efforts to put prices down were renewed with some degree of success, the average level falling to the lowest of the day. Lack of support for Reading encouraged bear activity in other quarters.

The market closed strong. Stocks were put up again by force of covering operations in the final hour, an oversold condition apparently being established in some of the leaders. Canadian Pacific recovered nearly all of its decline and Western Union improved 2½ on President Vail's optimistic statement as to the prospects of the company.

London Stocks.

London, Jan. 20.—American securities were dull and irregular pending the receipt of President Wilson's message. The only feature was the weakness in Canadian Pacific, which was attributed to Lord Strathcona's illness. A wholly unconfirmed report that Emperor William had suffered a paralytic stroke caused a momentary scare on the London stock exchange today. Consols dropped ½ point, but soon recovered ⅝ of the fall.

Midway Horse Market.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Before the Railroad and Warehouse Commission of the State of Minnesota.

In the Matter of Establishing Joint Rates Under the Provisions of Chapter 344 of the General Laws of 1913.

You are hereby notified that by the terms of Chapter 344, of the General Laws of 1913, the Railroad and Warehouse Commission is required to establish joint through rates for "such traffic and on such routes as in its judgment the fair and reasonable conduct of business requires shall be done by carriage over two or more lines of railway, and which will promote the interests of the people of the state."

A hearing for the investigation of said subject will be held by the Commission at its office in the State Capitol Building, St. Paul, Minnesota, on Thursday, the Fifth day of February, A. D. 1914, at ten o'clock in forenoon of said day, at which time all railroad companies, persons, partnerships and corporations who are interested in the subject may present themselves and be heard.

BY THE COMMISSION.
A. C. CLAUSEN,
Secretary.

Dated at St. Paul, Minn., this 7th day of January, A. D. 1914.

ORDER OF HEARING ON PETITION FOR LICENSE TO SELL, MORTGAGE OR LEASE LAND—

State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis, ss—

In Probate Court. In the Matter of the Estate of Valentine Sperlonga, decedent.

The petition of Anthony Fiskett as representative of the above named decedent, having been filed in this Court, representing, among other things, that for reasons stated in said petition, it is necessary and for the best interests of the estate of said decedent and of all persons interested therein, to sell certain lands of said decedent in said petition described and praying that license be to him granted to sell the said land, It is ordered, that said petition be heard before this Court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in Duluth, in said County, on Monday, the 2nd day of February, 1914, at ten o'clock A. M., and all persons interested in said hearing and in said matter are hereby cited and required at said time and place to show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted. Ordered further, that this order be served by publication in The Duluth Herald according to law, and by mailing a copy of this order to each heir and interested party at least fourteen days before the said date of hearing.

Dated at Duluth, Minn., Jan. 5, 1914.
By the Court,
S. W. GILPIN, Judge of Probate.
Attest: A. R. MORTON,
Clerk of Probate.
Seal Probate Court, St. Louis Co. Minn.
D. H., Jan. 6, 13, 20, 1914.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

Whereas, default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage bearing date of the 21st day of March, 1912, made, executed, acknowledged and delivered by John Karki and Anni Karki, his wife, mortgagors, to Austin Lathers, mortgagee, to secure the payment of the sum of Four Hundred and no-100 ($400.00) Dollars, with interest thereon at the rate of seven per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, which said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 25th day of March, 1912, at two-thirty o'clock P. M., and recorded in Book 286 of Mortgages, on Page 381; and

Whereas, thereafter, for value received, said Austin Lathers duly assigned and transferred said mortgage and the indebtedness thereby secured to Reliable Investment Company, a corporation, by written assignment dated March 27, 1912, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 28th day of March, 1912, at Two-thirty o'clock P. M., in Book 303 of Mortgages, on page 213, which default consists in the non-payment of the interest due on the 21st day of September, 1912, and on the 21st day of March, 1913, and the 21st day of September, 1913, according to the terms of said Mortgage; and

Whereas, said assignee and holder of Mortgage has duly elected and does hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum secured by said mortgage to be due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the Power of Sale therein contained; and

Whereas, there is actually due and claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Four Hundred Forty-eight and 22-100 ($448.22) Dollars, principal and interest, and the further sum of Twenty-five and no-100 ($25.00) Dollars, attorney's fees, as specified in said mortgage; and

Whereas, the Power of Sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding is now pending at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof,

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, That under and by virtue of the Power of Sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said Mortgage will be foreclosed by the sale by the Sheriff of said St. Louis County of the premises described in said Mortgage, to-wit: All those tracts or parcels of land lying and being in the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit:

The South One-half of the Northwest One-quarter (S. ½ of the N. W. ¼) of Section Twenty-six (26), and the Southeast One-quarter of the Northeast One-quarter (S. E. ¼ of the N. E. ¼) of Section Twenty-seven (27), all in Township Fifty North (50 N.) and Range Nineteen West (19 W.) of the Fourth P. M., to the highest bidder therefor for cash, at Public Auction, at his office in the County Court House in the City of Duluth in said County and State, on the Twelfth day of February, 1914, at Ten o'clock A. M. of that day, to satisfy the amount which shall then be due on said mortgage, with interest, costs and expenses of sale, and said Attorney's Fees.

Dated December 11, 1913.

Help Those Who Help You, Mr. Dealer

There is no copyright on the Golden Rule, and it is not open to improvement. It works mighty well in business—works for your pocketbook.

The manufacturer who goes into The Herald with his advertisements of goods on your shelves is trying to help you.

The least you can do is to help him by showing his goods and pushing them. (If they were not worthy of it you wouldn't have them in stock, would you?)

Just make this one of the golden rules in your business to help the manufacturer who helps you.

You will be surprised to find out how it will work for good all around.

CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION —OF— PROCTOR LAND COMPANY.

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS, That we, the undersigned, do hereby associate ourselves together for the purpose of forming a corporation pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 58, Revised Laws of Minnesota for the year 1905, and Acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, and do hereby adopt and sign the following certificate of incorporation.

ARTICLE I.

The name of this corporation shall be "PROCTOR LAND COMPANY."

The general nature of the business to be conducted shall be: To buy, own, hold, mortgage, sell and generally deal in lands, tenements, and hereditaments, and all other kinds of property, real, personal and mixed, both for itself and as agent for others; to build, construct, furnish, lease, sell, maintain and manage office buildings, apartment houses, blocks, shops, dwelling houses and structures of all kinds and to collect the rents therefrom; to make and obtain loans upon real estate, improved or unimproved; to carry on the general business of insurance of persons and property, including thereunder the transaction of a general life, fire, marine, casualty, plate-glass, burglary, and guaranty insurance business; and to do all things necessary, incidental and convenient to the conduct of a general real estate, insurance, rental and brokerage business.

The principal place of business of this corporation shall be at the City of Duluth, Minnesota.

ARTICLE II.

The time of the commencement of this corporation shall be the 23rd day of January, 1914, and the period of duration thereof shall be thirty (30) years.

ARTICLE III.

The names and places of residence of the incorporators of this corporation are: A. J. Roth, Elmer F. Blu and Ethel A. Bishop, all residing at Duluth, Minnesota.

ARTICLE IV.

The government of this corporation and the management of its affairs shall be vested in a board of three (3) directors, each of whom shall be stockholders, who shall be elected annually at the annual meeting of said corporation, and who shall at the first meeting of said board held after said annual meeting elect the following officers, namely: a President, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer. Any two of said offices may be held by the same person, with the exception of the offices of President and Vice President.

The annual meeting of said corporation shall be held on the second Monday in January of each year.

The names and addresses of those composing the first Board of Directors until the first election are as follows, to-wit: A. J. Roth, Elmer F. Blu and Ethel A. Bishop, all of Duluth, Minnesota; and until the first annual meeting and until their successors are elected and have qualified, A. J. Roth shall act as President; Elmer F. Blu shall act as Vice President and Ethel A. Bishop shall act as Secretary and Treasurer.

ARTICLE V.

The amount of the capital stock of said corporation shall be Fifty Thousand Dollars, which shall be divided into five hundred (500) shares of the par value of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) each; and such capital stock shall be paid in as called for by the Board of Directors of said corporation.

ARTICLE VI.

The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which said corporation shall be at any time subject shall be Twenty-five Thousand Dollars ($25,000.00).

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, We have hereunto set our hands and seals this 15th day of January, 1914.

On this 15th day of January, 1914, before me, a Notary Public within and for said County, personally appeared

The Lights of Brightest Gold!

This is the season when gold, silver, diamonds and other precious stones come into their own.

It is a splendid season for buyers to study the advertising in The Herald and to use it for a guide.

You want to be sure when you buy jewelry—for you are depending largely on the integrity of the dealer.

It is a wise rule to patronize the jeweler who advertises, for he is putting himself and his claim publicly on record.

He is stamping himself with a guarantee, just as his solid silverware is stamped Sterling.

He cannot go back on his printed promise—it would be commercial suicide.

Study The Herald carefully before you go on your shopping tour and it will be to your profit.

COAL MINERS MAY HELP THE COPPER MEN

United Mine Workers' Aid Forecasted By H. G. Street.

Early Report Expected From Copper Country Grand Jury.

Gompers Urges Congressional Probe in Michigan and Colorado.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The striking copper miners in the district probably will have the financial support of the United Mine Workers during the remaining days of their fight, according to H. G. Street, who was sent here by the Mine Workers to investigate the situation.

"Labor needs to win this strike," said Mr. Street today, "and I believe it will win. I spent all of yesterday among the strikers at Calumet, and I have never seen men more determined. Their families are being well cared for by their union, and they do not appear to have the slightest thought of giving in."

Mr. Street declared that it was apparent that the citizens were not in sympathy with the strike because most of them were in a measure dependent on the mining companies. The fact that the strikers had held out so long in the face of this hostility, he said, indicated that they would remain steadfast.

Will Report to Union.

As soon as he has visited all the locals in the copper district, Mr. Street will go to Indianapolis to make the report on which he expects the United Mine Workers will decide to extend financial help to the Michigan strikers.

The United Mine Workers' organiza-

SULZER TESTIFIES IN JOHN DOE INQUIRY

New York, Jan. 21.—William Sulzer, former governor, now an assemblyman, was the chief witness cited to appear today at the resumption here of the so-called John Doe inquiry into political graft, especially as concerns state road construction.

During the period before and after his removal as governor, Sulzer made many charges against his enemies, but he did not take the stand at the impeachment proceedings and his appearance today was his first under oath. It was understood that District Attorney Whitman insisted that the witness sign a waiver of immunity.

Charles F. Murphy of Tammany Hall may be a witness in the inquiry. He said he was willing to testify at any time. Murphy declined to comment on the testimony given last week by James C. Stuart that the state canal board had refused to award Stuart a contract after a man named Gaffney had tried to assess him for a $150 political contribution.

BUILDING COLLAPSES AT OTTAWA EXHIBIT

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 21.—Four persons are known to have been killed and several injured in an explosion which today wrecked Howick pavilion, a huge cement and steel structure at the exhibition grounds where Ottawa's winter fair is being held.

In the confusion that followed the explosion it was impossible at first to ascertain accurately the number of killed, and it was feared that some may have been buried in the debris.

Many prize horses and cattle perished.

The building caught fire after the explosion, but firemen were able to check the flames. The accident was caused by the explosion of the heating plant.

APPLEBY'S SUIT HALTS

Baroness De Pallandt Is Taken Ill With Heart Trouble.

Former St. Paul Man Tells of Winning at Monte Carlo.

London, Jan. 21.—The sudden illness of Baroness May de Pallandt, formerly Marie Dugas of Chicago, caused an indefinite adjournment today of the suit brought against her by Dr. Ernest Villiers Appleby, formerly lecturer at the University of Minnesota, for the recovery of $20,000.

On the reassembling of the king's bench court this morning, counsel for the baroness announced that she had suffered a collapse through heart trouble, and had been taken to a sanitarium for treatment. The judge thereupon postponed the hearing.

Made Money at Monte Carlo.

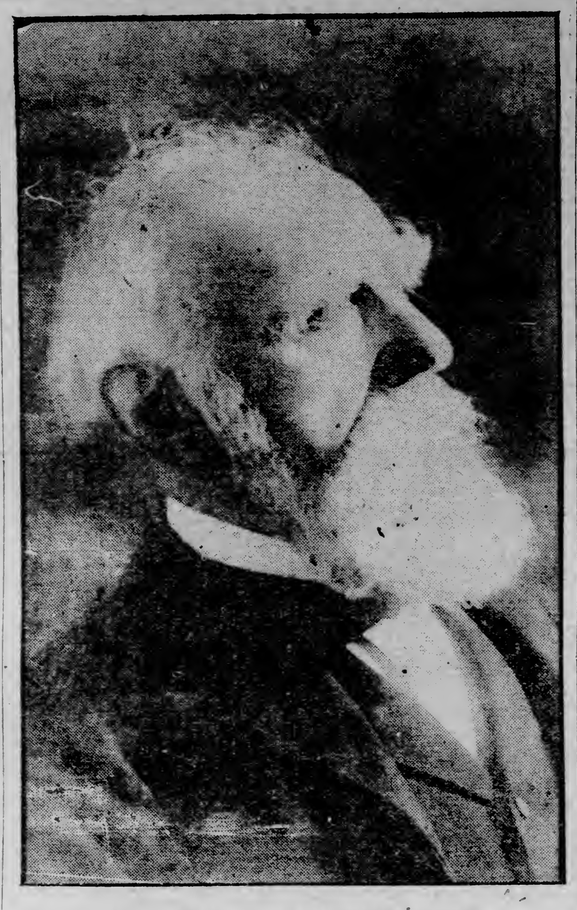

Dr. Appleby, astonished the courts yesterday with stories of his successes at Monte Carlo.

"I did not gamble at Monte Carlo," explained Dr. Appleby, "but I exchanged money at the tables and made money every year by my investments there. One year I made more than $50,000 profit. I was a sure winner in the way I played."

Judge and counsel tried to get an

"LION OF THE NORTH" DEAD IN LONDON

LORD STRATHCONA AND MOUNT ROYAL.

LORD STRATHCONA IS DEAD; HELPED BUILD UP CANADA

Career Begun as Hudson Bay Company Clerk Is Ended.

Scotch Lad Rose to Be High Commissioner for Dominion.

London, Jan. 21.—Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, high commissioner for Canada, died at 1:55 o'clock this morning.

Born in Scotland.

Donald Alexander Smith, Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, was born in Morayshire, Scotland, in 1821. At 18 years of age he received a clerkship in the Hudson's Bay company in Canada, and by successive stages he grew to be head of the corporation and he was its last resident governor. During his service before becoming chief commissioner, which was largely in Labrador, he was threatened with snow blindness and he had to make a forced march of 500 miles through the snow to Montreal for an operation on his eyes. This was but one of many instances of his perseverance. After thirty years in the Eastern wilds he became resident governor of the company, in Montreal. This was in 1868, and shortly after that the first rebellion of the Metis in the Red River country, under the leadership of Louis Riel, broke out. He was appointed a special commissioner by the Dominion government to treat with Riel and his followers and he accompanied the expedition of Gen. Wolseley to the Northwest to secure the installation of William McDougall as lieutenant governor. It was largely due to Mr. Smith's tact that the trouble was ended. For the important services that he rendered on this occasion he received the thanks of the governor-general in council.

Worked for the Northwest.

The welfare and development of the Canadian Northwest became Mr. Smith's chief concern, and it was almost entirely due to his efforts that the construction of the Canadian Pacific railway was carried to a successful issue.

FORMER AUDITOR'S WIFE IS BURNED

Wife of One Time Ramsey County, N. D., Official Loses Life.

Devil's Lake, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Emil Elch, aged 43 years, wife of a former county auditor and sister of R. V. Bice, cashier of the First National bank of this city, was burned to death when the Elch farmhouse, fifteen miles northeast of here, was destroyed by fire early today. A farmhand was the only other person in the house at the time. He was awakened in time to save his own life, but was unable to rescue Mrs. Elch. The cause of the fire is unknown.

HEAR RESERVE BANK CLAIMS IN ST. LOUIS

Federal Organizers Call Witness There—Minnesota Banks Join.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 21.—Bankers from all parts of the Southwest were present today when Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and Secretary of Agriculture Houston began hearings here to determine where the Federal reserve bank for this section should be located.

The claims of St. Louis for a regional bank were presented by a committee of local bankers and business men, headed by Festus J. Wade, president of the St. Louis clearing house.

Join Reserve System.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Applications for membership in the new Federal reserve system were received by the treasury department today from the First National Bank of Ada, the First National of Mankato, the First National of Walker, and the First National of Ellsworth, Minn.

RADIUM LAND PLAN FOUGHT

Colorado Official and Mining Head Oppose Withdrawals.

Latter Promises Big Supply to Government at Low Price.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Vigorous opposition to the proposal to withdraw radium lands from entry was made before the house mines committee by Thomas R. Henahen, state mining commissioner of Colorado, who declared that such action would ruin the radium mining industry.

"All we want is to be let alone," he declared. "We are getting out the radium. If you tie up these lands, prospectors will not go into them. As it is, ninety-nine out of one hundred prospectors fail. What they need is encouragement, not discouragement, if this radium is to be mined."

Joseph M. Flannery, president of the Standard Chemical company of Pittsburg, said his company had spent in three years $650,000 to produce two grams of radium. The effort had been inspired by the fact that a close relative was afflicted with cancer, he said. The grams cost $480,000 to produce, he estimated, and brought in $240,000. In April, he said, the company would be producing one gram a month.

Supply World Five Times Over.

"There is enough radium ore in Colorado to supply the world five times over," said Flannery. "Only 200 grams are needed for the whole United States. I will undertake to deliver to the government in five years from Jan. 1, 1915, 200 grams of radium at a maximum price of $80,000 a gram."

Flannery declared his experiments showed that radium was valuable for the treatment of many diseases.

"We have 100 physicians working with radium for diseases other than cancer, with as great results," he added.

Hospitals Planned.

Flannery told the committee he had a friend "philanthropically inclined," whose name he declined to give, who was considering spending $15,000,000 building twenty radium hospitals in sections of the country where they would serve 66 per cent of the population. Each would be endowed with five grams of radium, not only for the treatment of cancer, but also other diseases. He said he expected a decision soon.

Flannery intimated under questioning by committeemen that the man he was speaking of was neither John D. Rockefeller nor Andrew Carnegie.

CULLOM, REPORTED DYING, HAS RALLY.

Washington, Jan. 21.—While the condition of Former Senator Shelby M. Cullom showed a slight improvement this morning, no hope is held out for his recovery, and according to the attending physicians, the end may come at any time.

Shortly after 2 o'clock the members of the family were called to his bedside to witness what was thought to be the rapidly approaching end, but a rally took place and between 7 and 8 the patient partook of breakfast, consisting of a slice of bacon, an egg, coffee and toast.

BEARDSLEY SURRENDERS

Defied Law and Officials in New York State Eight Days.

His Nine Children Go to Home of Grandmother.

Mayville, N. Y., Jan. 21.—Edward Beardsley, the Chautauqua county outlaw farmer who for over a week has defied the efforts of Sheriff Gust Anderson and a posse to arrest him, gave himself up to C. D. Backus, a local hotel man, at 4 o'clock this morning, and was locked up in the jail here.

Backus, who was appointed a deputy sheriff by Sheriff Anderson, effected the "capture" alone, and in keeping with a plan agreed upon between him and Beardsley yesterday. The outlaw was taken to the hotel, where breakfast was served.

He then went to a barber shop, after which he walked to the sheriff's office and formally gave himself into the custody of the law. He was served with a warrant charging him with assault in the first degree in having shot G. W. Putnam, overseer of the poor of Chautauqua county, with intent to kill.

No one was allowed to see Beardsley after he was locked in a cell.

Defied Law Eight Days.

Beardsley's "capture" came after eight days of open defiance of the law, and his effective defense of "Fort Beardsley," as his farmhouse stronghold became to be known, dwindled into a burlesque, with the outlaw in the principal role. He would allow anyone to see and talk with him except the sheriff, and he turned his notoriety into money by the sale of autograph postal cards, posing for photographers and moving-picture men. He boasted that Sheriff Anderson would never "take" him.

A week ago Tuesday Beardsley shot Putnam as the latter was about to take the outlaw's nine children to the county institution. He barricaded the windows and doors of his farmhouse and kept the sheriff and his posse of twenty-five men at bay by threatening to use the children as a shield against their bullets.

Children Cared For.

On Monday he agreed to surrender today if the children were allowed to be taken out of the county and he be permitted to give himself up in Mayville. The children will be given into the care of Beardsley's mother-in-law, Mrs. Austin of Titusville, Pa.

Mrs. Edna Pier, sister of Mrs. Beardsley, who was accidentally shot in the ankle when one of the children brushed a revolver off the windowsill, was taken today to a hospital for treatment.

Putnam, the wounded overseer of the poor, is in a hospital in Jamestown. He will recover.

SUBMARINE FOUND; IS 200 FEET DEEP

Hydroaeroplanes Are Used By Britons in the Search.

Plymouth, Eng., Jan. 21.—The British submarine "A-7," which disappeared on Friday last during maneuvers in Plymouth sound, was located today on the bottom at a depth of 200 feet.

The services of several aviators were enlisted today in the search for the British submarine A-7, which, with her crew of eleven, disappeared on Jan. 16 during maneuvers.

A number of hydro-aeroplanes attached to the British navy left today for Whitesand bay.

BILLS ARE DRAFTED TO CARRY OUT PLANS FOR NEW TRUST LAWS

Five Measures Are Being Completed in Congress.

Individual Responsibility and Trade Relations Board Planned.

Members of Committees Have Talks With President.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Five bills to carry out the suggestions of President Wilson's trust message were being completed in congress today. The bills will embrace the following:

An interstate trade commission, with inquisitorial powers into corporations and authority to aid the courts and keep big business within the law.

Prohibition of interlocking directorates in interstate corporations, railroads and national banks.

Empowering the interstate commerce commission to regulate the issuance of railroad stocks and bonds.

A Sherman law definitions bill, which would define specifically what constitutes conspiracy in restraint of trade.

Punish Individuals.

A general trade relations measure, seeking to eliminate "cut throat" competitive business and which would provide punishment for individuals instead of business and make it possible for firms or individuals injured by unlawful business restraint to avail themselves of findings against combinations and institute suits in equity for relief.

Following a conference last night at the White House, members of the

CONFESSION OF ATTEMPT AT MURDER PROVES FALSE

PAUL CARL.

New York, Jan. 21.—Investigation has proved there is no truth in Paul Carl's story that he shot Monroe F. Mills, a rich New Jersey man, some months ago. Carl claimed he was hired to attempt the murder by a woman who paid him $400. The police now are as puzzled over the young man's fake confession as they are over the perpetrator and motive of the shooting.

BUILT TOWN; WRECKED IT

Missouri Man Admits Fault and Goes to Arkansas Prison.

Defeat in Mayoralty Race Said to Have Roused Spite.

Fort Smith, Ark., Jan. 21.—Martin Korff of Rolla, Mo., former cashier of the defunct Bank of Everton at Everton, Ark., pleaded guilty to embezzlement of the bank's funds today and was sentenced to twelve years in the state penitentiary.

Korff is said practically to have made and unmade the town of Everton. He went there two years ago when the place had only a half dozen houses. He induced the citizens to organize a commercial club, which attracted an industry or two. Later he formed the Bank of Everton and had the town incorporated.

He ran for mayor, but Everton citizens turned against him as a "stranger" and he was defeated. It was charged he brought about the wrecking of the bank because of this defeat.

With the failure of the bank and arrest of Korff the town dwindled into a mere village again.

Killed on South Shore.

Ewen, Mich., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Struck by a South Shore train near Lake Gogebic, Hans Ogenberg, aged 30, was fatally injured. He died at Thomaston and was buried at Ewen. Only the man's name is known. Whence he came is a mystery.

Loses Eye; Kills Himself.

Galesburg, Ill., Jan. 21.—Several weeks ago George Yerbe of Brimfield lost an eye. The affliction so preyed upon his mind that last night he borrowed a shotgun of a neighbor and killed himself.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at noon.

Senator Thomas introduced a resolution for investigation of the Colorado coal strike.

Members of the interstate commerce committee had a series of conferences over projected trust legislation.

Smoot bill to open Alaska classified lands to homesteaders favorably reported.

Report against the seating of Frank P. Mann of Birmingham, Ala., formally presented.

Minority report against seating Blair Lee from Maryland also presented.

Passed the Root bill to empower the supreme court to review certain cases involving constitutionality of statutes.

Senator Sterling introduced an agricultural extension bill.

Senator Ashurst spoke on the woman suffrage amendment.

Naval militia pay bill, already passed by the house, favorably reported.

HOUSE.

Met at noon.

Democratic leader Underwood, after a conference with President Wilson, said he hoped congress would adjourn by June 1.

Resolutions asking investigation of the Michigan and Colorado strikes were forwarded to members by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor.

Resumed debate on the Alaska railway bill.

Representative Edwards asked for a naval board to select a naval armor plant site at Savannah.

FINDS GUEST AND MAN ASPHYXIATED

Ohio Woman Did Not Know of Latter's Presence in House.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 21.—Gas fumes escaping from the stove in the room which they occupied caused the death here of Albert Walters, a prominent business man of Norwood, Ohio, and of Mrs. Margaret Deckard of Columbus.

Mrs. J. S. Greenwood, at whose home the pair were asphyxiated, declared to the coroner that she did not know of the presence of Walters in her house until she found the bodies in a bed in an upper room.

Walters was vice president of a Cincinnati shoe last company.

Mrs. Deckard leaves two small children, in addition to her husband, who is a street car conductor. Walters also leaves a family.

MUST DEEPEN THE HARBORS

Admiral Watt Says Future Warships Will Draw More Water.

Tells Congress Atlantic Coast Needs More Drydocks.

Washington, Jan. 21.—"Ships we are going to build in the future will have even deeper draughts than thirty feet, and the depth of prominent harbors in the United States should be at least thirty-five feet," said Rear Admiral Watt, chief of the naval bureau of construction and repair, in a statement to the house naval affairs committee, made public today.

Admiral Watt favored a contract for use by the navy of private drydocks at Hunter's Point, San Francisco, where, if the proposed contract is executed, a new basin will be built capable of docking the largest vessel that can be passed through the Panama canal docks. Construction of this dock could be completed within twenty-four months.

Admiral Watt urged that this acton was imperative.

Figures on Canal.

"With the opening of the Panama canal," Admiral Watt explained, "it is probable that our principal fleet will have periods of duty on the West coast. This provision would permit the docking of the largest ships at Hunter's Point, instead of sending them to Seattle, 900 miles further north. We cannot get the battleships to Mare Island navy yard, and even though the channel were deep enough to send them to the yard, the present docks there would not take ten of the last vessels of the fleet. The battleships contemplated to be sent to the Pacific coast will draw twenty-seven to thirty feet. They can get a ship drawing twenty-four feet up to Mare Island at low wtaer, though dredging is being done with a view to deepening it to secure thirty feet."

Not Enough Drydocks.

The admiral also told the committee that there were not enough drydocks for practical purposes on the Atlantic coast.

"It would be unwise," he added, "to start the construction of any large dock that would not take any vessel that could pass through the Panama canal locks. The canal locks do not fix the ultimate limit of the size of ships, but it is the limit for a long time to come, and the limit of transportation from one ocean to the other."

INDIANS MAY GET NOTHING BUT PROBE

Mille Lacs Delegation Presents Needs at Washington.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Jan. 21.—To urge congress to give them relief, five members of the Mille Lacs band of Indians representing 400 Indians who are living in the vicinity of Mille Lacs lake, are in Washington. The indications are, however, that legislation enacted this session will only provide for an investigation by agents of the Indian bureau, with directions to report the actual needs of the band early in the next session.

Representative Miller, who is a member of the committee on Indian affairs, today indicated that this would be done and he will also ask for an appropriation for schools and temporary appointment of a physician to attend these Indians. The secretary of the interior has asked for an appropriation of $20,000 to buy land for the Mille Lacs, but Mr. Miller says this is not enough and he favors giving the Indians all they need at one time rather than by piecemeal appropriations.

Thousands of rural teachers throughout the Southern states receive less than $150 a year.

RETURN PART OF THE RENT

Booth Holders at Second Duluth Exposition Get Pleasant Shock.

Finance Committee Gives Back 16 Per Cent of Payment.

Those who rented booths at the second annual Duluth exposition, held last October, are receiving cheerful news today, together with a check for 16 per cent of what they paid for the use of the booths. This was not looked for, and will, therefore, be all the more pleasing.

The finance committee of the exposition management, consisting of Maj. H. V. Eva, chairman, G. H. Bate and George M. Peterson, is issuing today a financial statement of the exposition, showing why 16 per cent of the rental of the booths is being returned. Matteson & MacGregor, accountants, have been going over the books and accounts of the committee and find that after all expenses have been paid a balance of $783.23 remains on hand. In view of the fact that the exposition each year is not run as a money-making proposition, only a nominal balance is desired. So of the amount remaining on hand $728.80, 16 per cent, is returned to the booth renters, leaving a balance of $19.43 to be used for preliminary expenses for the next exposition.

Following is the complete financial statement:

Duluth Socialists have arranged for a sereis of lectures and discussions which will be held at their headquarters at 310½ West First street, during January, February, March and April. The subjects coming up for discussion cover a wide field and include the most prominent topics now holding the attention of that party. John G. Ohsol will be the instructor. The meetings will begin at 8 o'clock. Lectures will cover forty-five minutes and discussions forty-five minutes. Following is the program:

Jan. 22—"Stages of Economic Development Previous to Capitalism."
Jan. 29—"The Capitalist System of Production."
Feb. 5—"Social Classes Under Capitalism."
Feb. 12—"Indictment of Capitalism by the Utopian Socialists."
Feb. 19—"Scientific Socialism."
Feb. 26—"Materialistic Conception of History."
March 5—"Economics of Socialism; (a) value and surplus value."
March 12—"Economics of Socialism; (b) wages and capital."
March 19—"The Class Struggle."
March 26—"Economic Organizations of the Working Class."
April 2—"The Role of the Capitalist State in the Class Struggle."
April 9—"The Mission of the Socialist Party."
April 16—"The Difference Between Socialists and Reformers."
April 23—"Objections and Objectors to Socialism."

ALICE LLOYD CONTEST CLOSES

About Two Hundred Write Advertisements for Ticket Prizes.

The Herald's ad writing contest will close tonight, and the man who takes care of it feels grateful over the fact that the end is in sight, for he has been swamped. Not only have about 200 answers arrived, but the telephone has been kept ringing with inquiries. Out of these 200 contestants, 100 will get tickets to the opening performance of the Alice Lloyd show at the Lyceum on Friday afternoon. Following the show, Miss Lloyd and her staff of tango experts will teach that fascinating dance to all who attend the matinee, and the stage will be used for dancing lessons.

The contest closes at 6 o'clock tonight, and the list of successful contestants will be announced in tomorrow evening's Herald. The contest consists of writing the best brief advertisement of The Herald's want ad page. In a general way the ads must conform to the large advertisement which appears in the upper left hand corner of the last page of The Herald each evening, and must not exceed 100 words. In fact, the briefer the better for in this case "brevity is the soul of wit," and is necessary to make an advertisement attractive and striking. The fifty successful contsetants will be given a pair of tickets each.

All communications should be addressed to the Alice Lloyd Contest Editor, Herald, and must have the contestant's name and address plainly written.

STRONG SUPPORT FOR ENGINEER

Many Demands Made for Lifting of Charges Against Wilson.

Letters are being received by Commissioner Murchison, as well as an increased number of telephone messages and personal visits from many prominent citizens, asking him not to accept the resignation tendered him by City Engineer John Wilson.

The tenor of all of them is complimentary to the engineer, indorsing the work of which he has had charge since he has been in office. The sentiment expressed is that if those who have been criticizing the engineer are acting in good faith and in the best interests of the city, they will be willing to come forward and publicly state their reasons for thinking that he is not the right man for the position.

Commissioner Murchison's announcement that he is anxious to thoroughly sift the situation at public hearings and requesting that those opposed to the engineer give their grounds seems to be meeting with much approval in all parts of the city.

EIGHT ARE RESCUED BY BREECHES BUOY

Life Savers Work Waist Deep in Icy Water.

Chatham, Mass., Jan. 21.—Capt. Hart and his crew of seven men were rescued by the use of the breeches buoy today when their vessel, the New York two-masted schooner Gen. Adiebert Ames, was wrecked off Monomoy Point. The Ames, which registered 450 tons net, was bound from St. John for Philadelphia.

The schooner struck before daybreak on Bear's shoal, about 200 yards off shore. The surfboat was driven back and the beach gun was brought out. The combined crews of the Monomoy and Monomoy Point life saving stations, working waist deep in the icy water, fired four shots before getting a line across the Ames.

The first man ashore from the schooner said the masts were swaying and that the vessel might go to pieces at any moment.

SAYS JAPAN IS NOT AT ALL SATISFIED

Minister Makino Reports to Parliament on California Affair.

Tokio, Jan. 21.—Japan regards as unsatisfactory the replies made by the United States to her protests in connection with the California alien land ownership legislation, according to a statement made today by Baron Nobuaki Makino, the Japanese foreign minister, in a lengthy summary of the Japanese-American negotiations given in his annual address to parliament. He continued:

"Japan recognizes the necessity of elaborating other plans for the solution of the question. The nature of these plans I am as yet unable to report."

Baron Makino's declaration that "no answer whatever" had been made by the United States to Japan's third protest, presented in August, was the signal for an attack on the government by several members of the opposition, who alleged that too much reliance had been placed on the good will of America.

LIVESTOCK MEN TALK OF FARMERS' WIVES

Transportation and Rates Also Discussed at Convention.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 21.—Railways and markets as they affect the livestock industry were discussed today at the seventeenth annual convention of the American National Livestock association. "Transportation and Rates" was the topic of A. E. De Ricqles of Denver, and following the report of the committee on transportation by S. H. Cowan, the general discussion was led by E. L. Burke of Omaha. Market facilities were discussed by A. Sykes of Des Moines, Iowa.

An appeal for community organizations of farmers and for increased social activity on the part of farmers' wives and daughters, was made late yesterday by Dr. T. N. Carver, director of rural organization service of the Federal department of agriculture. The lives of the women on the farm came in for much of Dr. Carver's attention. He declared that their home lives should contain more pleasure and less drudgery. Dr. Carver declared it his belief that much of the migration of farmers' children to cities and towns, could be checked if the farm house became a farm home.

200 LISBON STRIKE LEADERS ARRESTED

Four Hundred Others Evade Service of the Warrants.

Lisbon, Portugal, Jan. 21.—Two hundred of the ringleaders of the general strike of railroad men in Portugal were arrested today by order of the government. Warrants against 400 others were issued, but the men evaded capture.

The strike, which was declared on Jan. 14, has been broken. Many of the men have resumed work and the passenger service has been restored almost to normal conditions.

PANAMA CANAL CAN TAKE STEAMERS NOW

Water Thirty Feet Deep Through Culebra and Cucaracha.

Panama, Jan. 21.—The Panama canal has reached such a condition of completion that a large ocean steamer could now pass through, according to a statement today by Col. George W. Goethals.

There is thirty feet depth of water through the Culebra cut and the Cucaracha slide, and it is Col. Goethals' intention to send a Panama railroad steamer through the canal in April.

Both ends of the canal are practically completed, only the electrical installation and cleaning up remaining unfinished.

NO FEDERAL JOB FOR MYER OF DICKINSON

Senate Public Lands Committee Votes for Adverse Report.

Washington, Jan. 21.—The senate public lands committee today voted to report adversely the nomination of Otto R. Myer of Dickinson, N. D., to be receiver of public moneys at Dickinson. Former Governor Burke of North Dakota, now treasurer of the United States, appeared against Mr. Myer. It was charged that he conducted a bar in his hotel in violation of the prohibition law of the state, paid frequent fines, and that since he appeared before the committee last June he had gone into the drug business and taken out a Federal liquor license.

NO TWO-CENT RATE IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Federal Judge Willard Says It Would Be Confiscatory.

Sioux City, Iowa, Jan. 21.—Federal Judge Willard filed a decision here today holding the 2½-cent passenger rate is valid and shall go into effect in South Dakota. He held the action taken by the state to put a 2-cent rate in effect was unconstitutional, and that such a rate would be confiscatory. The decision ends several years' litigation.

AMERICA THREATENS LONDON'S MONEY LEAD

Sir Felix Schuster Talks of Tariff and Currency Laws.

London, Jan. 21.—The United States tariff act and the currency bill passed by the American congress were the most important events of the year 1913 in the commercial world, according to Sir Felix Schuster, governor of the Union of London and Smith's bank, in his general review of the financial and trade outlook, read at the annual meeting today. He continued:

"These two measures must have far-reaching consequences, for they have made the United States a more formidable competitor than ever before, not only as regards international commerce, but as threatening London's position as the center of international banking."

Sir Felix said he had no doubt that commerce would be stimulated by these enactments, and that Great Britain's trade with the United States would be increased to the advantage of both nations.

BELIEVES HIS AUTO WAS SET ON FIRE.

Dickinson, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—An automobile owned by Walter Christianson of New Salem, which had become disabled while he was traveling south of the city, was fired by incendiaries, causing a $2,000 loss.

Christianson had been compelled to leave his car on the road. Late in the evening a farmer passed it, and it was then in good condition, but the next morning it was in ruins. Christianson believes it was set afire. He had no insurance.

Larimore Case Argued.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The contest for the majority of Larimore was submitted to the supreme court Monday. Martin Nelson is contesting the right of M. Gass to the position, and he cites alleged violations of the corrupt practices act as a basis for his action.

Efficiency Expert Is Suicide.

New York, Jan. 21.—Stephen T. Williams, known as the first business efficiency expert and who reorganized more than 400 of the largest business concerns in the country, committed suicide in his home here. Mr. Williams was 60 years old.

Diner at White House.

Washington, Jan. 21.—The president and Mrs. Wilson gave their first diplomatic dinner at the White House last night, entertaining the diplomats of all nations represented in Washington.

Convicted of Murder.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 21.—Harry Dorow was last night convicted by a jury after three hours' deliberation, of the murder of Mrs. Emily Wills, last October. Dorow tried to prove an alibi.

CUMMINS AND CLAPP CLASH

Express Opposite Views on Future Parties in America.

Minnesotan Says There Will Always Be Two Big Ones.

Philadelphia, Jan. 21.—Divergent views as to the future of political parties in the United States were expressed here last night by United States Senators Albert E. Cummins of Iowa and Moses E. Clapp of Minnesota, in addressing the American Academy of Political and Social Science. Senator Cummins, who led the discussion, declared there is no question or series of questions on which the people may be equally or nearly equally divided, and that the future will bring into existence a great number of parties divided on minor questions, none of which will be in the majority in congress.

Has Changed Mind.

"The modern problems of statecraft, no matter what form they take," said Senator Cummins, "practically all relate to the distribution of wealth and to its immediate incidents, the health, happiness and general well-being of the people."

He had formerly felt, he said, there would be a division of the people along the lines of radical, liberal, or progressive on one side, as opposed to conservative, stand-pat or reactionary on the other. His opinion was changed, however, because he felt no great body of the people are or will be conservative in the sense in which that word must be taken in order to be the basis of a political party, and there will always be widely divergent views as to the time and manner in which the various reforms are to be effected.

Clapp Thinks Differently.

Senator Clapp, on the other hand, declared that in his opinion there would be two great political parties, and that in the future "one party will be based on special privilege, and the other on the general welfare."

He outlined the history of monarchial and oligarchic parties against Democratic parties in this and other countries, and stated that he believed the struggle to limit the activity of the many in favor of special privilege for the few will continue.

HATPIN STABBER'S ACTION IS UPHELD

Coroner Exonerates Milwaukee Girl Who Fatally Stabbed Escort.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 21.—"Justifiable homicide" was the verdict of the coroner yesterday in the "hat pin murder" case, in which Daniel Sweeney, 22 years old, was killed, and Miss Catherine Hermacs, 17 years old, was the slayer.

The stabbing occurred two weeks ago when Sweeney who was escorting Miss Hermacs home from the first dance she had ever attended, attempted to assault her. The girl pulled out one of her pins and broke it off in the first jab into the man's body.

Lives With Punctured Heart.

She then seized another and plunged it into the heart of Sweeney. He fled, returned to his work the next day, and, although the blood slowly dropped from the wound, it was not until a week afterward that he became unconscious and died.

KILLS FORMER BOSS.

Montanan Is Held for Slaying Sheriff William Moses.

Billings, Mont., Jan. 21.—At a coroner's inquest into the killing Monday of Sheriff William Moses, at Rosebud, Mont., a verdict was returned here that he came to his death from gunshots at the hands of John H. Burgess, former deputy sheriff.

Sheriff Moses had gone to Burgess' home to serve a warrant on him and Burgess shot him down. Mrs. Burgess, it is declared, had just previously stepped out onto the porch with a rifle, and in the shooting was wounded in the shoulder. The fact that the wife of Moses had left him and had gone to live with the Burgesses is believed to have caused bad blood between the men who had been bosom friends.

BEATEN WHEN ASKING FOR NOTE'S PAYMENT.

Ryder, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—George Sierck claims he was beaten by Otto Nothagel and seeks the latter's arrest. Sierck says Nothnagel demanded a note for $40 for an alleged indebtedness he did not owe and he went to Nothnagel's to talk the matter over. After a discussion he was invited into Nothnagel's home and asserts that immediately after entering the room, he was knocked down and kicked. He ran outside and asserts the attack was repeated with the same results.

Warrensburg, Mo., "Dry."

Warrensburg, Mo., Jan. 21.—Warrensburg voted to remain "dry" yesterday by a majority of 200. At daybreak 200 women formed a cordon about certain blocks where liquor was supposed to be stored and searched everyone suspected of carrying intoxicants. The women said they feared the liquor interests would attempt to corrupt voters with their wares.

OFFER REWARD FOR FINDING MILLIONAIRE.

Santa Barbara, Cal., Jan. 21.—Clinging to the hope that F. Lewis Clark, the Spokane millionaire, who disappeared here Friday night, was not drowned, as at first believed, $15,000 reward is offered for finding Clark alive. Clark bade his wife good-bye last Friday when she boarded a train for San Francisco. The police at first thought he had committed suicide by jumping off the wharf.

Relatives believe Mr. Clark is in some sanitarium or hospital.

DR. APPLEBY'S FATHER ONCE LIVED IN DULUTH.

Dr. Ernest Villiers Appleby, who has jumped into notoriety in London, England, through his suit for $20,000 which he claims he advanced to Baroness De Pallandt, is a former Minnesotan, and his father lived in Duluth for a number of years. The father was Archdeacon Appleby, who was connected with the Duluth Episcopal diocese for some time.

Dr. Appleby was practically unknown here. He resided in St. Paul. Rev. A. W. Ryan, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, said that while he met Dr. Appleby once, he does not remember of ever having known the doctor to visit Duluth.

Bismarck's Theater Opened.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 21.—The municipal opera house was opened Monday evening with a performance of Robin Hood. The entire house was sold out at advanced prices. It is the first municipal opera house in the state.

HOLDS UP NEW HAVEN AS HORRIBLE EXAMPLE

Senator Kenyon Favors Government Railroad for Alaska.

Washington, Jan. 21.—What has happened to the stockholders of the New York, New Haven & Hartford system was held up to the senate by Senator Kenyon of Iowa as an argument for government ownership of railroads. The senator was speaking in support of the Alaskan railroad bill.

"Is it any consolation to the widows and orphans holding New York, New Haven & Hartford stock, who are told that the dividend has been passed, to know that $50,000 of that company's funds went as a donation to the Republican national campaign fund?" he asked.

A report of Commissioner Prouty of the interstate commerce commission on the New Haven manipulation showed that $324,000,000 that did not represent anything had been loaded upon the backs of the people.

Senator Kenyon was the fourth Republican member of the senate to support the Alaska railroad bill.

MILLIONAIRE HIT BY EXCLUSION LAW.

New York, Jan. 21.—The ruling of the United States supreme court that "intended concubinage" is ground for the exclusion of aliens was broadened and supplemented by the United States circuit court of appeals in a brief disposing of habeas corpus proceedings instituted in behalf of Hans Bauer, a Swiss millionaire, who, while belonging to the class excluded, applied for naturalization and obtained first papers in September, 1911. The decision holds that aliens who have been excluded for "intended concubinage," whether they return singly or together, are forever barred from the United States.

WILL START WORK ON CUYUNA LINE.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—George I. Reid, president of the Minnesota Central Railway company of Duluth, is here consulting with George H. Gardner, local counsel of the company. It is the intention of the company, Mr. Reid said, to begin engineering work for the Brainerd Street railway and Cuyuna range electric road as soon as the frost is out of the ground this spring and to begin active construction work in Brainerd not later than Sept. 15 next, as required by the Brainerd franchise.

"BE GOOD BOY," SHE TELLS SON'S SLAYER.

Sedalia, Mo., Jan. 21.—"Be a good boy in the future," counseled Mrs. John McGowan as she congratulated Finish Black, 22 years old, on his acquittal on a charge of killing her son, Robert McGowan, 25 years old. When the verdict came, the aged mother of McGowan threw her arms about Black's sister, who had remained at his side during the trial. Then she shook Black's hand.

Black killed McGowan in a street fight last September. His plea was self-defense.

New Job for Simmons.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 21.—Edward Simmons, whose mural paintings adorn the Congressional library in Washington, the Massachusetts state house, the Minnesota capitol and the appellate courtroom in New York, has arrived in San Francisco. He will decorate the panels in the Court of the Sun and Stars at the Panama-Pacific exposition.

Named in Paper; Kills Self.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 21.—Because his name was mentioned in a local newspaper in its campaign against advertising doctors, Dr. James L. Miller committed suicide here. In a note left to his wife the physician declared the newspaper had ruined him and his business.

Boy's Eye Shot Out.

Winona, Minn., Jan. 21.—While Ray Fredericks, 9 years old, was at play with a number of companions in an alley near his home Tuesday afternoon, one of the boys leveled an air rifle, and pulled the trigger. The shot entered the Fredericks boy's left eye. The optic was removed at the hospital and the patient is recovering.

ELECTRIC ROAD IS BEING BUILT

First Unit in System Out of Thief River Falls Started.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Northwestern Minnesota is rapidly coming into prominence on account of its wonderful agricultural resources. The start of the construction work on the lines of the Minnesota Northwestern Electric railway mark an epoch in the history of the development of this section. In a few short months the electric cars and locomotives will be speeding across the rich and fertile prairie lands where only nine years ago dwelt the Indian.

The Minnesota Northwestern Electric Railway company is now constructing a system of electric railways radiating from Thief River Falls where the general offices are located. The system will be operated by gas-electric cars which have proven so successful on many branch lines of steam railroads. The first division of twenty miles will be finished and placed in operation about Sept. 1, 1914.

ENLARGING NORMAL.

Marquette Institution to Be Largest in Upper Peninsula.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Designed to cost $160,000, which has been appropriated by the legislature, the central building of the Northern State Normal school here is in course of erection and will, it is expected, be completed a year hence. The two wings of the structure, both large buildings, were erected previously and have since housed the school and its equipment. The new building will contain the executive offices, library, gymnasium, several educational departments and an assembly hall with a seating capacity of 1,800. It will be 128x165 feet, three and one-half stories high and fireproof. The completion of the structure will make the Northern Normal the largest educational institution in the upper country.

MICHIGAN PRODUCT TO SOUTH AFRICA.

Newberry, Mich., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fresh beef from Australia is making its appearance in Upper Michigan markets. Notwithstanding it is shipped thousands of miles it is selling at 2 cents a pound less than the price asked for the American product of the same grade. The beef comes from Queensland. The carcasses average 700 to 800 pounds. Each quarter bears the Australian inspection tag. The meat is frozen at the point of original shipment and is maintained in that condition until delivered to markets in Upper Michigan.

BRAINERD GAS OFFER.

First Reading Given Franchise to St. Cloud Concern.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The franchise for a gas plant asked by the Light & Power company of St. Cloud, was given its first reading by the council. A. G. Whitney, president, and H. A. McKenzie, secretary of the Public Service company of St. Cloud, were present. Mr. Whitney said, that if given the franchise, the Brainerd Gas company would be organized to handle the Brainerd plant. Mr. Whitney offered Brainerd a gas plant built by a company which had the financial strength to immediately commence work and which offered 1,000 cubic feet of fuel gas for $1.25 net and 1,000 cubic feet of gas for lighting at $1.40 net. These were figures, said Mr. Whitney, which would give service of a standard kind with no breaks. In six years that Mr. Whitney had managed the St. Cloud gas plant, said he, there had not been one second's interruption in service.

To Build Valley City Church.

Valley City, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Congregationalists of Valley City will erect a new church and they have fixed $40,000 as the cost of the proposed edifice. At the present time the facilities are entirely inadequate. Already a portion of the fund required for the construction has been obtained, and a committee will push the work of completing the fund immediately.

Highway Commission Meets.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—An adjourned session of the North Dakota highway commission is being held here today. Leading members of the organization from all over the state are expected to be here. At the last meeting the attendance was not large and many matters were put over till this time.

WHAT OTHER CITIES ARE DOING

CHAUFFEURS for city officials of Portland, Or., will no longer be permitted to spend their spare time around the corridors of the city hall. They must be kept busy all the time, just as any other city employe, according to Purchasing Agent and Commissioner Bigelow, of the department of finance. How to occupy their spare time has at last been solved, and hereafter whenever they are not engaged in operating the machines they will be given employment doing clerical work in the purchasing bureau. Chauffeurs for the mayor and engineering bureau were given their first lessons in their new clerical duties when they were assigned the task of sorting bills and doing other work under Purchasing Agent Wood.

Chauffeurs working for the local administration have not been required to do clerical work. Taking the year through they have considerable spare time but no definite program has been outlined for its utilization. During the winter when their respective cars are not in service they do inside work but otherwise they do not do much more than handle the machines. The commissioners might get an idea from Portland and evolve a scheme for making use of their spare time.

CLOSING THE CITY'S CASE

Attorney Francis W. Sullivan Reviews Testimony in Franchise Suit.

Oscar Mitchell Will Be Given Chance to Argue in Rebuttal.

Closing arguments for the city in the quo warranto proceedings brought before Judge Cant in district court to test the validity of the franchise granted to the street railway by the legislature of 1881 are being made today by Francis W. Sullivan.

At the trial of the case, Mr. Sullivan conducted the greater part of the examination of the witnesses and his arguments today are largely to the effect that the evidence fails to disclose that the company complied with the requirements of the grant.

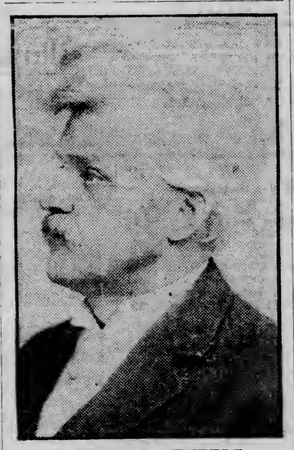

Mr. Sullivan called the court's attention to the testimony of various witnesses called by the city who testified that the western terminus of the first line was at a point between Sixth and Seventh avenue west instead of at Eighth avenue west as has been contended by the company. His arguments will probably be concluded this afternoon.

Mr. Sullivan will be followed by Attorney Oscar Mitchell for the street railway who will reply to the arguments which have been advanced by attorneys for the city during the past two or three days. The case will then be submitted. Yesterday afternoon, J. C. Netheway, assistant attorney general, argued to the court on the state's interest in the litigation. The quo warranto proceedings were brought in the name of the state at the instance of the city authorities.

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

WEALTH IN ANIMALS BREAKS ALL RECORDS

Figures for 1913 Are Given Out By Farm Paper.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—The annual live-stock report of the Orange Judd Farmer, made public here today, shows a farm wealth in this form of property that breaks all records.

The increase in value during the last twelve months is placed at $143,758,000, while the total value of all classes of farm animals reached $5,596,024,000. Of this total, horses furnished $2,185,555,000; mules, $520,330,000; milch cows, $1,032,960,000.

By way of comparison, the total value represents 50 per cent more than the total money in circulation in this country and is almost equal to all the deposits in the more than 7,400 national banks now in existence.

The increase in value during the last twelve months is twelve times as great as the value of the United States and Alaskan fisheries for the year; seven times as great as the total lumber production, and three and a half times more than the yearly production of gold and silver from the mines of the United States.

ISSUES DATA ON LOW GRADE ORES

School of Mines Would Enhance Value of Mesaba Range.

Of especial interest to many Duluthians are the results of the first work undertaken by the university school of mines to gather data that may be used in devising methods for the utilization of the large tonnage of low-grade iron ores found on the Mesaba range. A report of the work has just been made by Dean William R. Appleby and Prof. Edmund Newton of the Minnesota School of Mines in a bulletin, "Preliminary Concentration Tests on Mesaba Ores."

The bulletin summarizes the report as follows: "The tests made by the experiment station show a wide variation in the grade of concentrates and recovery from crude ores of practically the same grade. This seems to indicate that the texture and character of the several sizes of material composing the crude ore are the criterion of their washability, and not their chemical analysis."

In gathering data forty-three samples of low-grade and non-merchantable ore from the Mesaba range were gathered and taken to the experimental station at the mining school. About fifty tons of additional materials have been brought to the institution since the work started, having been sent there by the many mining companies on the range, which were interested in the experiments.

The bulletin contains tables and charts showing graphically the results of the testing of these ores, which are low-grade and are found alongside the high-grade ores on the Minnesota range.

GRABS MONEY FOR TREAT AND RUNS

Arrest of Gust Miller Is Result of C. Fisher's Generosity.

Charley Fisher told Gust Miller in a Superior street saloon yesterday that he was going to "be a good fellow" and buy a "round of drinks."

According to Fisher's story in police court this morning, no sooner had he placed a half dollar and a dime on the counter in payment for the drinks, than Miller grabbed the money and ran out of the saloon. Fisher ran after the man and succeeded in catching him, with the assistance of Patrolman Danielson.

Miller pleaded not guilty to the charge of petit larceny in police court this morning and his trial was set for 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation. If you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 1477 Marcellus Avenue, Manasquan, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

GROWTH IS SHOWN IN M. & ST. L. REPORT

President Newman Erb Says Road's Position Is Enhanced.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Increases in both gross and net operating revenues for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1913, are shown in the annual report of the Minneapolis & St. Louis railway, just made public. Expansion in total assets is shown in the general balance sheet of the company, and a comfortable profit and loss surplus is shown.

President Newman Erb summarizes

NEWMAN ERB.

the effect of the purchase during the fiscal year of the Iowa Central and Minnesota, Dakota & Pacific railways, saying the results of the first year's operation of the consolidated companies have been most satisfactory, justifying the expectations of the management.

Gross Revenue $9,707,004.

Gross operating revenue for the year was $9,707,004, an increase of $1,752,887 over the previous year, and net operating revenue $2,617,011, an increase of $1,173,708. Total assets of $70,509,775 are shown in the general balance sheet, an increase of $1,179,819. Surplus added to the profit and loss account was $1,236,070. Additions and betterment to the property amounted to $373,725.

"The company's position as a common carrier has been greatly enhanced," says Mr. Erb in his report.

SAYS BIG ROADS ARE IN COMBINE

North Dakota Promoter Claims Rival Roads Agree Not to Build.

Beach, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the Milwaukee and the Northern Pacific have entered into an agreement not to invade each other's territory for a period of twenty years was the claim made at a mass meeting here by Mr. Hyde, one of the two promoters of the proposed electric railway through the country south of this point. The statement was made in an effort to secure the co-operation of the people of Beach in his proposed electric line. A committee was appointed to investigate the proposition. Meetings have been held at many points through the territory and the promoters want the farmers within a radius of seven miles of the line to sign bankable notes at so much per acre, regulated according to the distance from the line.

Denied by Hannaford.

In contradiction to the statement of the promoters Former State Senator A. L. Martin, who has just returned from a trip to St. Paul, where he had a conference with President Hannaford of the Northern Pacific, states the latter announced the Northern Pacific would not construct a line south this year because of the financial condition but that if the conditions improved a line would be built next year. Under the Northern Pacific plan no bankable notes, no subscriptions of any kind will be sought.

FARGO MAKES KICK.

Claims Grand Forks Has Better of Express Rates.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—There will be an adjourned meeting of the railway commissioners here tomorrow to further consider the question of express rates. Under the block system suggested by the Interstate commerce commission Fargo and Grand Forks are in different blocks in relation to North Dakota. It enables Grand Forks to make express shipments into Fargo territory cheaper than the business men of this city can ship. Some of the figures are astonishing in their comparisons.

PRISONER MAKES SCENE IN COURT

"You Can't Get Justice Here,' He Exclaims With Oath.

Andrew Norbut's antics while being examined as a witness in his own behalf when put on trial in district court before Judge Ensign yesterday on a charge of assault with intent to rob, availed him nothing. The jury which tried his case was out an hour this morning and returned a verdict of guilty of assault in the third degree. The offense is punishable by a jail sentence.

Norbut worked himself up to a state of high excitement yesterday afternoon and with an oath on his lips and declaring that the jury could do as they liked with him, he left the witness stand. The occasion was the court's ruling against the admission of certain testimony. Norbut turned to the court with the remark that he didn't see why he couldn't be allowed to tell his story if the witnesses on the other side had been allowed to.

"Oh ——— what's the use, you can't get justice here," declared the witness as he jumped out of the witness chair and started to take his seat. His attorney, E. Wharton, managed to calm him and induce him to return to the witness stand. On several occasions during his examination he grew profane.

While his attorney was addressing the jury this morning, Norbut interrupted with, "What do you know about it, you wasn't there," but was finally induced to refrain from saying anything further.

Norbut was accused of attacking Charles Moran, hotel proprietor, at 512 West Superior street, on Nov. 28 with the intent to rob him.

HOUSE MOVER AND AUTOIST IN SUIT

For personal injuries to himself and damages to his automobile as a result of a collision between the car and a house which was obstructing the street, Ray W. Butchart wants Martin West, a house mover, to pay him $1,770. A suit which Butchart has brought against West is being tried this afternoon before Judge Fesler and a district court jury.

Butchart was returning home from Superior at an early morning hour on May 30 last. While driving north on Garfield avenue, he ran into a house which had been moved along the avenue by West and which was occupying the street at about the 800 block.

Butchart claims that the obstruction was unprotected by lights and that this constituted negligence on the part of West as a result of which he is liable for damages. The plaintiff asserts that he was badly shaken up and received a bad cut over his eye. For this he wants $500. He asks $1,000 for the cost of repairing the car and seeks to recover $9 a day for thirty days, or $270 for loss of time while the car was in the repair shop.

DOCTOR WOULD ENJOIN RIVAL

Novel Litigation Started By Stambaugh Physician.

Norway, Mich., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Whether there shall be granted to a physician an injunction to restrain a fellow medical man from practicing his profession in a large part of Iron county is a novel question that Circuit Judge Richard C. Flannigan of Norway has been called upon to decide.

Dr. William McBurney of Stambaugh and Dr. Alexander Schlapik of Iron River are the litigants. Dr. McBurney alleges that he engaged Dr. Schlapik as an assistant four years ago at a monthly salary of $125, inclusive of board and room at the Stambaugh hospital, and it was agreed in a formal contract that Dr. Schlapik should not practice medicine in Stambaugh, Iron River or Bates township without the consent of his employer. Dr. Schlapik opened an independent office several weeks ago. He claims he was summarily discharged by Dr. McBurney and that this action violated a part of the contract which he asserts provided that either physican should give two months' notice of an intention to dissolve the relationship between them.

ASSESSMENT FOR NEW PAVEMENT MADE

City Assessor Allyn Scott has finished spreading the assessment for the improvement of Twenty-third avenue west and will probably present the assessment to the city council for confirmation next Monday. In the meantime the assessor announces that he would be glad to have any of the property owners interested call at his office in the basement of the city hall to inspect the figures and confer with him as to the assessment. The avenue was improved with brick between Superior and Third streets, with sandstone between Third and Fifth streets and with plain macadam to Tenth street. Because of the several kinds of pavement the spreading of the assessment was more difficult than in the average job, where but one kind of pavement is laid.

MUNDAY AND SHIELS ARE ON TRIAL AGAIN

Action Ordered By U. S. Supreme Court Begins in Seattle.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 21.—Trial of the case of the United States against Charles F. Munday and Archie W. Shiels, charged with conspiracy to defraud the United States of coal lands in the Bering river district in Alaska, was begun today. The defendants were indicted by a Federal grand jury at Tacoma, Oct. 14, 1910.

Judge Hanford quashed the indictments and was reversed by the United States supreme court, which reinstated the cases.

SOLDIERS' HOME BUILDINGS BURN.

Marion, Ind., Jan. 21.—Fire that destroyed the quartermaster and commissary department buildings and their contents at the National Soldiers' home here last night did damage estimated at $100,000. Spontaneous combustion is thought to have started the fire. The government carried no insurance on the buildings.

CANTATA CLOSES BETHANY PROGRAM

Church Choir and Many Assistants Ably Render "Bethlehem."

The celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, came to a close last evening with a presentation of the sacred cantata, "Bethlehem," by the choir.

Among the soloists who appeared on the program were: William Anderson, Frank Carlson, Elmer Nelson, Miss Anna Norne, and Mrs. Charles Eliason. An "angel chorus" of twelve voices, composed of young girls, assisted the choir. The scene was that of the first Christmas, the action centering around the birth of Christ, and the stage settings represented the stable where Mary and the Christ child lay. Daniel Ilson took the part of Joseph, and Miss Esther Grandford had the role of Mary.

SECURE SPEAKERS FOR BANQUET

Prof. Price and Attorney Fulton Will Address Commercial Club.

Prof. S. S. Price, director of the extension division of the Minnesota university, and Homer L. Fulton, attorney, will be among the speakers at the annual banquet of the West End Commercial club to be given next Wednesday evening at the Rex hotel. The announcement was made last night at a meeting of the committee in charge.

The committee decided on John J. Moe, as toastmaster. Several local speakers will be secured by the committee. It is expected there will be at least five speakers for the evening.

The banquet will begin at 8 o'clock. It is arranged to have the speaking begin at 9 o'clock. Plans have been made to entertain 150 guests and reservations for about 100 have already been made. The committee in charge consists of James W. Preston, L. A. Simonson and George M. Jensen.

SPAA TEAM DOWNS JUNIOR QUINTET

Hotly Contested Game Ends 18 to 17; More Clashes Scheduled.

The basket ball team of the Spaa club defeated the quintet from the junior class of the Duluth Central high school at the Spaa clubrooms, 1608 West Superior street, last night by a score of 18 to 17. The game was one of the most hotly contested ever seen in the western end of the city.

While the high school boys had the advantage of better team work, individual playing on the part of members of the West end boys caused repeated scoring on the part of the home club. At the end of the first half of play the score was 10 to 10.

A number of other games are scheduled for the near future, among these being games with Y. M. E. A., of Superior and the C. A. C.

DIES AT ALBORN.

Former Resident of the West End Passes Away.

Mrs. Mary Berntson, 66 years old, former resident of the West end, died yesterday afternoon at her home in Alborn, Minn., after an illness of several months. Mrs. Berntson and her husband, Bert Berntson, lived in the West end for nearly twenty-five years. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock with interment in the Scandia cemetery of this city. Rev. J. H. Stenberg will officiate.

Entertains for Son.

Mrs. Albert Skrove, 3215 West Fourth street, entertained at a birthday party at her home yesterday afternoon in honor of her son, Harold Leroy. The guests were:

Mrs. George Holt, Mrs. Louis Mero, Mrs. Fred Holloway, Mrs. S. T. Skrove, Mrs. Sigrid Lovras, Mrs. Albert Stapleton, Mrs. Thomas Holt, Mrs. G. W. Holt, Jr., Mrs. Albert Skrove, Mrs. Alma Lovras; Misses Lilne Holt, Myrtle Holloway, Leona Holt, June Lovras; Masters Harold Skrove, Earl Mero.

West End Briefs.

Mrs. Milton E. Fish, 502 North Twenty-fifth avenue west, will entertain this evening for members of the Delta Gamma Dramatic club.

The congregation of the Trinity English Lutheran church will hold its annual meeting in the parlors of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church this evening.

O. S. Andresen, secretary of the Duluth Remedial Loan association, and Dr. C. H. Schroeder will speak this evening at the social center meeting in the Bryant school.

Clarence E. Patterson of Albert Lea, Minn., who has been visiting in this end of the city left last evening for the Twin Cities where he will visit before returning home.

O. M. Osmundson of Regina, Sask., Can., former resident of the West end, is spending a week in this end of the city renewing former acquaintances.

LAKE RECORDS DURING 1913

Marine Season Is Regarded as Epochal in Many Ways.

Disaster May Change Ideas of Vessel Construction—New Records Made.

During the marine season of 1913 some remarkable cargo and speed records were made. In fact, in many ways, the season is regarded in marine circles as epochal.

The fearful marine disaster of Nov. 9-10, in which so many lives were sacrificed, while setting a high mark for marine disasters in all of the world's history, it is believed, will cause radical changes in the construction of lake vessels, which in itself is of no small moment. Many new marks in the matter of records were set and the day is past when anybody will remark that ships cannot be built any longer than they are. Almost anything is expected and in fact the length of ships is controlled only by the length of canal locks through which they must pass.

The steamer W. P. Synder, Jr., one of the two largest vessels on fresh water, was a star performer last season. On May 23 she brought into Duluth 13,347 tons and sixteen pounds of coal, the largest cargo ever floated on the Great Lakes up to that time, being about 500 tons heavier than any 1912 cargo. On July 14 the same steamer carried from Duluth to Midland, Ont., 464,000 bushels of wheat, thus setting a new record. On May 27, she carried out of Duluth the largest cargo of iron ore ever shipped, loading 12,170 tons at the Missabe dock.

On June 23 the steamer Col. J. M. Schoonmaker broke the Snyder's record for coal carrying, bringing to Duluth 13,712 tons, which was 365 tons more than the Snyder brought up in May.

The steamer James Laughlin carried 589,104 bushels of oats out of Fort William, Ont., on Nov. 21, taking them to Buffalo This is a record on grain cargoes.

The steamer James E. Farrell came to Duluth from Lorain, Ohio, and returned in 156 hours, a new speed record. Her engine crew on this trip was in the W. E. Corey in 1912 and that boat made a record of one round trip every seven days; but this record was beaten by the Farrell by twelve hours.

The steamer Emperor unloaded 356,000 bushels of wheat at Port Colborne, Ont., on Sept. 24, in one day, a record never before equalled.

The steamer J. J. Sullivan, Capt. S. B. Massey, master, arrived in Duluth Oct. 1, making the distance from Detroit to Duluth in forty-seven hours, the fastest time ever made by an ore carrier.

The most unusual ore cargo ever shipped from this harbor was taken out by the steamer Verona on Nov. 26. She took five different grades of ore from as many different mines and was loaded at three different docks, the Great Northern, the Northern Pacific and the Missabe. She was the last boat to take ore from the two last named docks last season.

EUGENIC LAW BOTH LAUDED AND SCORED

Milwaukee Judge in Declaring It Unconstitutional Gives Views.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 21.—In declaring the state eugenic law unconstitutional yesterday Judge F. C. Eschweiler in circuit court said the law which provides for a physician's certificate of health, including the Wasserman test, is violative of the rights secured by the Constitution and that it conflicts with religious liberty because it tends to halt marriages.

The court disagreed with the recent ruling of Attorney General Walter C. Owen, who held that the law did not require the Wasserman test. "If the Waserman test and others are not applied," says the court, "the doctor giving the applicant a clean bill of health would place himself liable to the law against perjury on account of his false statements, and his license would be subject to revocation."

The court praised the intentions of the legislators in framing the law and said that it was an effort to permit marriages only where the prospective bridegrooms were free from all venereal diseases after all "that can be done by medical science to determine that fact has been done."

The law also is praised because of its movement toward suppression of sexual diseases, but is condemned because its enforcement is practically an impossibility."

The physician's fee of $3 is held to be unreasonable.

State's Duty in Matter.

The court held that if the state wishes to exercise its right for preventing undesirables from marriage, it should assume the burden of weeding out the unfit and thereby not cast on the fit an unfair demand and thus materially impair an inalienable right.

The prayer of the plaintiff that the law was class legislation by demanding tests from men only is refused. The judge said that this was a legislative right. He also overruled the objection to the clause in the law which provides that all examining physicians must be 30 years or older because that feature of the law does not affect the rights of the petitioner.

Judge Eschweiler contended that the physician making the tests must make full and complete investigation himself, according to the wording of the law.

Alfred Peterson and Miss Hattie Schmidt made application for a marriage license at the office of the Milwaukee county clerk on Jan. 2, the day on which the Wisconsin eugenic law went into force. Clark Widule refused the petition because the man did not have a certificate of health from a physician as demanded by the law.

Peterson immediately sought recourse in the courts and yesterday's decision by Judge Eschweiler will enable him to secure the marriage license without the medical examination.

The supreme court, it is expected, will be asked for a final ruling on the constitutionality of the measure.

Many marriages have been held in Wisconsin since the law went into effect, but the Milwaukee case was the only court action begun.

BOLIVIAN CONSUL IN JAIL AT FRISCO.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 21.—Carlos Sanjines, Bolivian consul at this port, occupies a cell in the city prison because of his failure to put up $5,000 bonds or cash bail of $2,000 to insure his appearance in police court for a hearing on a felony charge growing out of an accusation made by two young girls who claim he insulted them at a moving picture show.

Sanjines declares the police have no authority over him, and threatened to make an international incident out of his arrest.

FIRE OUSTS EIGHTEEN

Crossed Wires Cause Blaze in Basement of Norris Building.

Rooming House, Saloon and Cigar Store Damaged By Smoke.

Smoke coming from a fire in the tailor shop of Moses Goldfarb, in the basement of the Norris building, 1 West Superior street, forced eighteen roomers in the Hoffman hotel on the second and third floors out in the street shortly after 11 o'clock last evening. They were all compelled to seek lodging elsewhere for the night.

The fire, which is believed to have started from a crossed electric wire, was confined wholly to the tailor shop in the basement. Heavy smoke permeated the entire building and will cause an aggregate loss to the United Cigar store, Benedict Vail's saloon, the Progressive Medical association and the Hoffman hotel tenants in the building, of atout $2,500. The tailor shop has been damaged to the extent of about $1,000.

Patrolman Robert Smollett saw smoke coming from the stairway leading up to the hotel and immediately turned in an alarm, which brought the entire downtown department to the scene of the blaze. He then returned to the hotel, where he and Mrs. J. G. Hoffman, the proprietor, woke all the roomers and hurried them to the street.

The firemen had considerable trouble in getting to the blaze on account of the very heavy smoke in the basement. After a few minutes, however, they gained control, but it was some time before the smoke was driven out of the building, as it had already spread through the entire three-story structure.

The United Cigar store on the corner suffered the greatest loss from smoke, according to the manager. He estimates the loss at $1,000, while Mr. Vail believes that the loss from smoke in his saloon next door will reach $500. The Progressive Medical association's office on the second floor escaped with a loss of about $50. Mrs. Hoffman said this morning that she has not yet gone through the building, but believes that the smoke damaged the contents of the rooms to the extent of $1,000.

MAYOR PRINCE IS WITNESS

Called By Grand Jury to Give Evidence in Police Probe.

Madam Gain Will Show Her "Graft Book" to Jurors Thursday.

Mayor W. I. Prince was a witness before the January grand jury this morning in connection with that body's investigation of the police department. The only other witness examined at the morning session was Captain of Police A. G. Piskett.

It is generally understood that the mayor was called before the jury to testify as to the attitude of the city council on the liquor license question. It is also thought probable that the procedure of the commissioners in transferring licenses is being investigated by the jury.

Yesterday afternoon Joseph Trudell, Garfield avenue saloon keeper, to whom the license of J. H. La Chance was transferred a few weeks ago, was a witness. C. S. Palmer, city clerk, was also called.

It is stated that Mary Le Flohic, alias Madam Gain, notorious as a resort keeper during the days when Duluth was a wide-open city, will be called before the grand jury tomorrow and will at that time exhibit her so-called "graft book," which, according to a statement of the editor of the morning paper at a public mass meeting, will show where thousands of dollars have been paid out annually by the madam in bribes and for police protection.

Just what connection the so-called "graft book" has with administration of police affairs at the present time or for a year or so back has not been disclosed by those who have pressed charges of this character against the department. It is conceded that the madam has not been engaged in the business of conducting resorts in this city since 1910.

The grand jury investigation may not be concluded this week, according to County Attorney Greene, who is assisting the inquisitorial body in its work.

APPLEBY'S SUIT HALTS

inkling of Dr. Appleby's system, but the plaintiff told them they wanted to know too much.

Baroness De Pallandt also entered the witness box and told the court that Dr. Appleby had not worked for years. "He only gambles," she added. She said the doctor gave her a necklace on which she had borrowed $15,000 from Miss Schafer, an American, whose address she refused to give.

In her cross-examination the baroness said her maiden name was Maria Dugas. She emphatically denied that she had been committed for trial on a charge of larceny at San Francisco, or that she was a fugitive from justice.

Son of Former Archdeacon.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 21.—Dr. Ernest Villiers Appleby, husband of the late Cornelia Day Willer Appleby of St. Paul, a son of Former Archdeacon Appleby of the Episcopal diocese of St. Paul; former University of Minnesota professor and a relative of the duke of Clarendon, who has brought suit in London to recover $20,000 from Baroness May De Pallandt, was widely known here.

The plaintiff's friends in St. Paul expressed surprise at the court action and the alleged relations between Dr. Appleby and the baroness.

Mrs. Cornelia Day Wilder-Appleby died in January, 1903, and according to friends of the family, Dr. Appleby was apparently overwhelmed with grief, and they cannot account for the report that he became infatuated with the baroness in that year. From other sources, however, information was obtained which intimated that he was paying suit to the baroness at the time he was endeavoring to break the will of Mrs. Wilder-Appleby.

Tried to Break Will.

By an ante-nuptial agreement made in Philadelphia, Mrs. Wilder-Appleby promised Dr. Appleby an annuity of $10,000 providing he remain single. The residue of her estate was left to charity. Dr. Appleby sought to have the will set aside on the grounds of public policy, and litigation lasted from 1903 to 1910. The executors eventually obtained a decree permitting them to commute the annuity, and Dr. Appleby was given the lump sum of $140,000. He left St. Paul in 1909 and has never returned. He has since been living in London. The estate left by Mrs. Corenlia Day Wilder-Appleby amounted to $750,000.

Mrs. Wilder-Appleby was the only daughter of the late Ambers H. Wilder. Her mother, Fannie S. Wilder, died in April, 1902, and litigation of the three wills left by the members of the Wilder family eventually resulted in a decree confirming title to the Wilder estates in the trustees and placing the Wilder charities on a firm basis.

Dr. Appleby graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1894 and in 1900 became a member of the faculty as assistant instructor in opthalmology and otology. In 1902 he became chemical instructor in the same department, resigning in 1903.

COLDER BEFORE IT GROWS WARMER

Temperature of 15 Degs. Below Predicted—Warm Wave Will Follow.

The temperature will be 15 below zero in Duluth tonight and 20 below on the range. But a warm wave is coming.

H. W. Richardson, forecaster for the Duluth weather bureau, held out consolation both for the coal dealer and coal consumer today. That the cold wave is rapidly wearing out and would soon give way to a warm wave now on the west coast was his prediction.

Either zero or below-zero temperatures prevailed over the Northwest this morning. It was 9 below zero in Duluth at 7 o'clock. Rain is falling on the Pacific coast, and part of the lake region and Ohio valley are in the midst of a heavy snow fall. The cold wave is pushing on into New England. No more snow is expected in Duluth until after the cold snap.

After the Age of Fifty

From this age the human system gradually declines and the accumulated poisons in the blood cause rheumatism in joints, muscles and back. These warnings should be promptly relieved and serious illness avoided by using the following prescription which comes from a noted doctor and is said to have no equal in curing rheumatism and restoring physical vigor. Good results come after the first dose. "From your druggist get one ounce of Toris compound (in original sealed package) and one ounce of syrup of Sarsaparilla compound. Take these two ingredients home and put them into a half pint of good whiskey. Shake the bottle and take a tablespoonful before each meal and at bed time." If your druggist does not have Toris compound in stock he will get it for you in a few hours from his wholesale house. Don't be influenced to take a patent medicine instead of this. Insist on having the genuine Toris compound in the original one ounce, sealed, yellow package. Published by the Globe Pharmaceutical laboratories of Chicago. Advertisement house judiciary and senate interstate commerce committees went to the capitol today with the program as outlined in mind, and revision of tentative drafts of measures already prepared was undertaken.

Senator Newlands, chairman of the committee which will have charge of the legislation in the senate, and Chairman Clayton, Representatives Carlin and Floyd of the house judiciary sub-committee on trust legislation were in the conference with the president.

Adamson to Have Conference.

Representative Adamson, chairman of the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce, which will have jurisdiction over the bills relating to government supervision of railroad securities and an interstate trade commission, expects to confer with President Wilson today or tomorrow. There is already pending before his committee a railroad securities bill drawn by himself, which will form the basis for the administration measure.

A trade relations bill drafted by the judiciary sub-committee and Senator Newlands and shown to the president last night may be introduced by Senator Newlands, and with other measures pending turned over to the Adamson committee to aid it in its work.

A meeting of the entire membership of the judiciary committee has been called for tomorrow, when bills relating to trust subjects will be reviewed and probably will be introduced the following day.

Senator Newlands had another conference today with the president.

Senator Newlands was with the president only a short time, laying before him a redraft of his bill for an interstate trade commission. Mr. Newlands proposed consolidating the various bills into a single administration measure. The question, however, was not determined finally and will perhaps not be settled until the bills take more definite form and are ready to be reported from the congressional committees.

Senator Newlands also discussed vacancies o nthe interstate commerce commission with the president. Nominations are expected within a few days.

After the house judiciary committee had taken up its work, Chairman Clayton said they hoped to introduce the trust bills, either tomorrow or Friday.

LORD STRATHCONA DEAD

In this great enterprise he was associated with his cousin, George Stephen, and R. B. Angus of Montreal, and they also gave the financial backing to James J. Hill that enabled him to establish the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba railroad, which was the nucleus of the present Great Northern system. He built a handsome residence at Silver Heights near Winnipeg and became a member of the Manitoba legislature, sitting in the assembly from 1871 until 1874. He was elected to the Dominion parliament for Selkirk, Manitoba, and was re-elected three times. Defeated in 1880, he dropped out of public life for a time, but returned to parliament in 1887 as a member from Montreal. For his services in connection with the building of the Canadian Pacific road, he was knighted in 1886, and he was raised to the peerage in 1897 as Baron Strathcona and Mount Royal. In 1896, fifty-eight years after he had first landed in Canada, he was sent to London as high commissioner for Canada and held that position to his death. He was always a hard worker. "The best way to live to an old age," he explained, when found at work at his desk in London on his 93rd birthday on Aug. 6 last, "is to be not thinking about age at all, but just going on doing your work."

In the Boer War.

Lord Strathcona was a governor of McGill university at Montreal and gave $120,000 to constitute a special course or college for women in connection with that institution. He received the degree of LL. D. from Cambridge university in 1887, and from Yale in 1892. During the Boer war he equipped and transported to South Africa, at his own cost, a force of 600 men, "Strathcona's Horse," drawn from the Canadian Northwest. He and his cousin, Lord Mount-Stephen, set apart a sum of $1,000,000 for the erection of a free hospital in Montreal in commemoration of Queen Victoria's jubilee and subsequently gave $800,000 more. In 1902 King Edward's Hospital Fund for London received from them an endowment fund producing $80,000 a year.

COAL MINERS MAY HELP THE COPPER MEN

tion has none but coal miners in its membership. Metal miners make up the membership of the Western Federation of Miners, with which the Copper country locals are affiliated. The former body already is supporting five strikes of its own, it is said.

Sheriff Crues and his men have been unsuccesssful in their efforts to find the three men who left a package containing dynamite caps and fuses in a train seat here Monday night. Union leaders declared today they were positive that none of their men had been carrying deadly explosives around with them.

Think Caps Were "Plant."

They also expressed the opinion that the package was a plant arranged by their enemies, for the purpose of prejudicing their cause.

No steps have been taken yet to extradite Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, and the six other labor leaders who are under indictment for conspiracy.

Another report may be made late today or tomorrow by the special Houghton county grand jury which is investigating lawlessness in the copper mine district.

Most of the cases to be reported on are believed to be assault cases. Two murder indictments may be returned. The jurymen yesterday heard witnesses in regard to the death of Deputy Sheriff Richard Pollock, who supposedly was killed by strikers last October. Two foreign strikers are under arrest charged with the murder.

H. G. Street, an organizer for the United Mine Workers of America, arrived at Calumet yesterday and today began an investigation of the strike of the Western Federation of Miners. He declined to make a statement.

Four striking copper miners pleaded guilty yesterday to the charge of carrying concealed weapons, when they were placed on trial in the Keweenaw county circuit court. John Stanko, John Jerkovich and Emery Toth were sentenced to serve thirty days each in the county jail and Mike Kovich was senteced to fifteen days.

A plea of guilty entered by Matt Kukka to the charge of assault and battery caused Judge O'Brien to impose a sixty-day sentence.

These men were arrested during strike disturbances last month in the vicinity of the Ahmeek mine. Kukka was accused of beating up a non-union miner on his way home from work.

Gompers Asks Probe.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Congressional investigation of the Michigan copper strike and the Colorado coal strike was urged upon members of the house today by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in circular letters authorized by the executive council of the Federation.

President Gompers' letters cited the recent West Virginia coal strike investigation by the senate and the Homestead strike investigation as precedents justifying action by congress in the present circumstances.

The house Democrats will meet in caucus tomorrow night to take up pending investigation resolutions.

Appealed to A. F. of L.

Charles E. Mahoney, vice president of the Western Federation of Miners; Claud O. Taylor, president of the Michigan Federation of Labor; William Mahoney of Detroit, international president of Street Railway Workers, and John H. Walker, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, appeared yesterday before the executive council of the American Federation of Labor and urged support for the movement for a congressional investigation of the Michigan copper and the Colorado coal situation.

They also expressed the opinion that continued financial support should be given the strikers in both these fields "until the fight is won."

The council reserved its decision. Later Mr. Mahoney declared that "things look favorable for a congressional investigation."

The executive council heard also reports of other industries, including textile and garment workers.

The council agreed upon a program to be followed by the special committee appointed by the federation to promote legislation, national, state and municipal for the advancement of industrial, vocational and agricultural education throughout the country. The program directs the committee to study household economics and civics, with a view to recommending remedial changes.

WANT LAW TO GIVE LIEN ON TOMBSTONES

Manufacturers Would Denude Graves If Payments Lag.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 21.—Graves will be denuded of their monuments unless the stones are paid for promptly, if granite manufacturers have their way. The legislative committee on judiciary today took under consideration a bill, presented on petition of the manufacturers, which would give the seller of grave stones a lien on his product similar to that permitted to retailers of furniture.

SCHRANK'S TENEMENT IN NEW YORK SOLD

Mortgage Foreclosure Action Shows He Changed Name.

New York, Jan. 21.—John Schrank ceased to be a property holder in this city yesterday when the five-story tenement house in East Eighty-first street was sold at foreclosure. Schrank tried to kill Col. Theodore Roosevelt in October, 1912, in Milwaukee. The foreclosure action disclosed that Schrank was known as John Flemming, having assumed the name from an aunt and uncle with whom he lived for twelve years after his arrival from Bavaria about thirty years ago.

HOPE TO AVERT ANY ATLANTIC RATE WAR

Shipping Conference Opens Sessions at French Capital.

Paris, Jan. 21.—The first business of the North Atlantic shipping conference, when it met here today, was a resolution not to disclose anything to the public until the sittings conclude. Hope was expressed that means would be found to avoid a destructive rate war between the big steamship companies.

Delegates were present representing all the companies engaged in the Trans-Atlantic trade except the Hamburg-American. The view prevailed that all the other companies would hold together whether the Hamburg-American joined in the agreement or not.

The Hamburg-American is holding out for an increase in its quota of steerage passengers, which under the present pool is fixed at 43 per cent against the North German Lloyd's 57 per cent.

Frost-Bites, Chilblains, Corns, Callouses and Sore Feet. Quick Cure.

Many persons dread the approach of winter on account of chilblains and frost-bites which causes a soreness and itching at times almost unbearable, frequently bringing on a nervous condition. The following treatment gives immediate relief. "Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of warm water. Soak the feet in this for 15 minutes. Repeat this for several days until the trouble disappears." The action of Calocide compound for all foot ailments is really remarkable. It works through the pores and removes the cause. Corns and callouses can be peeled right off. Sweaty, smelly feet and tender, aching feet need but a few applications. Bunions get relief instantly. Any druggist has Calocide in stock or will get it from his wholesale house. A twenty-five cent package is usually sufficient to put the worst feet in fine condition. Each package contains valuable instructions on care of the feet. Published by Medical Formula laboratories of Chicago.

SMALLPOX EPIDEMIC IN NIAGARA FALLS

Steps Are Taken to Close All Public Meeting Places.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Jan. 21.—With 102 cases of smallpox on the records of the health department of the city, steps have been taken to close all places where meetings are held.

FIVE DIE IN FIRE AT ALPENA, MICH.

Woman, Man and Three Children Are Burned to Death.

Alpena, Mich., Jan. 21.—Five persons were burned to death here late last night in a fire which destroyed the residence of Samuel Bloise. The victims were Mrs. Bloise, three children and a boarder. Mr. Bloise, a 14-year-old son and an infant escaped.

A terrific blizzard and deep snow drifts made it difficult for the fire department to reach the burning dwelling.

The father escaped by jumping through a window with two of the children. He was badly cut and his condition today is serious. The mother and the boarder, Donato Dalsamo, were awake and dressed when the fire broke out, but it is thought that during the excitement they ran back into the house to rescue the other three sleeping children and were overcome by the smoke.

It is believed a lamp explosion started the fire. The dwelling was a one-story wooden structure.

HOPE CONGRESS MAY ADJOURN BY JUNE

Underwood Thinks It Can Be Done—Members Scent Elections.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Congress ought to adjourn by June 1, in the opinion of Representative Underwood, the Democratic house leader, who discussed the legislative program of the session today with President Wilson.

The desire of congressional leaders and the president is for an early adjournment. Many members are eager to get back to their districts to participate in the primary and fall elections.

The president has indicated that while he hoped that as many of the things as possible which he recommended in his December message should be taken up, he would be satisfied if, besides the regular appropriation bills and the Alaskan question, legislation could be enacted on rural credits in addition to the points which he emphasized in his trust message yesterday.

James Is Hopeful.

Senator James, who was a White House caller, said the senate would probably debate and pass rural credit legislation while the house was working on the trust question, so that each body would be occupied with an important subject and time would be saved. The Kentucky senator said he thought there would be little difficulty in disposing of the program early.

GIVE BACK RELICS OF JEFFERSON DAVIS

U. S. Government Is Restoring Them to His Family.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Jefferson Davis' two duelling pistols, a double-barreled pistol and appurtenances, seized by Union troops near the close of the Civil war, and which have been in the custody of the war department nearly fifty years, will be turned over to Joseph A. Hayes of Colorado, whose wife is the eldest daughter of the former president of the confederacy.

The shawl and raglan belonging to Mrs. Davis, said to have been worn by Davis when he was captured, were not included among the articles for which Mr. Hayes asked, but they will be returned if Davis' heirs ask for them.

Secretary Garrison decided today to return the relics on an opinion by Attorney General McReynolds that Davis had never been legally deprived of his ownership of the property, and that all his rights in it had been restored to him by virtue of the terms of the proclamation of pardon and amnesty issued by President Johnson in 1868.

HAITI DESPERATE OVER REVOLUTION

Cape Haitien Without Defense Since Flight of Troops.

Washington, Jan. 21.—The Haitien government is making a desperate effort to subdue the revolutionists who yesterday defeated government troops near Cape Haitien.

American Consul Livingston reports the city without defense since the flight of the government troops, and that it is threatened by the revolutionists. The government has hastily dispatched some soldiers from Port Au Prince to the north on a warship.

Some political arrests have been made in Port Au Prince; the minister of war, who fled from Cape Haitien yesterday, has resigned and Charles Salnave has been appointed as his successor.

Quick Action Prescription Cures Colds in a Day

The best and quickest prescription known to medical science for colds and coughs is as follows: "From your druggist get two ounces of Glycerine and half an ounce of Globe Pine Compound (Concentrated Pine). Take these two ingredients home and put them into a half pint of good whiskey. Shake it well. Take one to two teaspoonfuls after each meal and at bed time. Smaller doses to children according to age." Be sure to get only the genuine Globe Pine Compound (Concentrated Pine). Each half ounce bottle comes in a tin screwtop sealed case. Any druggist has it on hand or will quickly get it from his wholesale house. There are many cheaper preparations but it doesn't pay to experiment. This treatment is certain. This has been published here for six winters. Published by the Globe Pharmaceutical laboratories of Chicago. Advertisement.

MILITANT PROMISES TO STOP VIOLENCE.

London, Jan. 21.—Miss Harriet Kerr, secretary of the women's social and political union, who was sentenced last June to a year's imprisonment for conspiracy, has been liberated, according to the Daily Express, on giving an undertaking to refrain from militancy.

German Aviator Killed.

Munich, Germany, Jan. 21.—Sergeant Schweisser, a German military aviator, was killed here today by falling with his aeroplane. The accident was caused by the aviator turning too sharply.

Woman's Realm

The annual supper and business meeting of Pilgrim Congregational church was held in the vestry last evening. There was an attendance of 230 people, the largest annual gathering in the history of the church.

A supper was served by the women of the church. The First Circle of the Ladies' Union, of which Mrs. C. A. Duncan is leader, was in charge of the supper. Mrs. S. W. Clark directing the affair. Young men of the church were the waiters and the tables presented a most attractive appearance. After the tables had been cleared away the formal session of the business meeting followed, the vestry being filled with members of the church and congregation.

The pastor, Rev. Charles N. Thorp, who took charge of the church in October, 1912, presided. Louis B. Wade, president of the Y. P. S. C. E. presented the first report, showing creditable activity on the part of the young people. Mrs. F. A. Grawn, president of the Women's Missionary society, reported well-attended meetings for mission study and a large sum raised by the women for their missionary work at home and abroad. The Friends in Council, a society of young women, gave its report through Miss M. Alice Drew, the retiring president. They hold monthly suppers for their members and guests and raise generous sums for missions.

In the much-regretted absence of Albert Baldwin, the superintendent of the Sunday school, the secretary, Miss Bessie Mars read an interesting report, showing the development of the school during the year. Many new teachers have been secured; a large home department, under Miss Drew; a flourishing Philathea class for young women, taught by Mrs. W. S. Horr, and a junior department organized by Mrs. Thorp has been added to the school during the year. Judge William A. Cant, president of the Brotherhood, reported a good year for that organization. Mrs. William A. McGonagle, retiring president of the Ladies' Union, read a most impressive report, showing the large contribution of this organization to the social side of the church life, as well as large sums raised for many good purposes. The church treasurer, H. W. Nichols, reported all bills paid and a balance in the treasury. Oscar Mitchell, president of the board of trustees, reported for that body, and referred to the recent financial campaign, whereby several hundred dollars in new pledges have been added to the regular income of the church for the coming year.

Gifts to Missions.

Treasurer W. W. McMillan of the benevolent fund reported $2,362 total gifts for missions the largest of any year in the history of the church. The church supports its own foreign missionary, Rev. H. M. Irwin of Talas, near Cesarea, Turkey. All regular missionary obligations of the church have been met, besides the gift of $600 for the new church in Birchdale. Henry B. Paull, chairman of the missionary committee, gave his report with blackboard illustration, showing the working of the apportionment plan. The clerk of the church, Brewer Maltocks, Jr., read a statistical report showing that in 1913, sixty-four persons united with the church, twenty-three at the May communion. The church has a present membership of 472. Charles A. Duncan reported for the special committee which has charge of the project of the removal of the church to some point in the East end. The pastor read a report showing the extraordinary activity of all branches of the church in the past year. The utmost harmony has prevailed, congregations have increased, the vesper service has become established as a permanent and helpful feature and larger undertakings in 1914 are projected.

The election of officers proceeded on a new plan with Roger S. Weaver, chairman. The result of the election will be printed on the bulletin next Sunday.

EXHIBITS PRINTS.

Work of Former Duluth Woman is Praised.

Friends of Mrs. Bertha Bull Lum, who was formerly a resident of Duluth, will be interested in a clipping from the Chicago Examiner concerning an exhibit of some of her Japanese paintings being held there. Mrs. Lum was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bull, formerly of Duluth and prominent in society here, and her work in art is well known here. The note regarding her work was as follows:

"A companion exhibition to the Rubins monoprints, in the Thurber galleries, is an assembling of water-color paintings by Bertha Lum. There are fourteen of these lovely Japanese pictures in line; each one carries its own transcendent beauty. Mrs. Lum is noted for her wood prints of Japanese figures and scenes. These paintings provide a stunning innovation in Mrs. Lum's work and were accomplished in Japan. They show the fervidness of the Orient in line and in refinement of color. They reveal an intimate understanding of the sensuous art of Nippon, which is as the breath of the people."

FORMER DULUTH GIRL NOW PLAYING WITH W. H. CRANE

MISS EILEEN ERROLL.

Miss Eileen Erroll, the actress, who was formerly a Duluth girl. Miss Nan Hay, and who is well known by many Duluthians, is playing this season with William H. Crane in "The New Henrietta," a revival of the old play, "The Henrietta," in New York.

Miss Erroll was a student at the old Cragenecroft school conducted at Hunter's Park and was seen in Duluth about six years ago when she was playing in "A Message From Mars."

INTEREST IN LECTURE.

Helen Keller Will Speak in Duluth.

General interest has been shown in the coming to Duluth of Helen Keller for a lecture to be given Thursday, Jan. 29, at the Lyceum theater. Members of the women's clubs of Minneapolis are arranging for her lectures in the Twin Cities next week and the club women and educators plan to attend in a body.

Interest in the famous deaf, dumb and blind girl is so universal that popular prices will prevail and the inquiries coming in from the range towns and other neighboring places are significant, not only of the popular appeal which she makes but also of the scientific interest which attaches itself to her visit that teachers and professors as well as professional and business men are interested in her work.

Miss Keller's mother and her teacher, Mrs. John Macy, will accompany her on her visit here.

WANT HOSPITAL.

Doctors' Wives Have Annual Meeting.

Work toward the establishment of a county and city hospital in Duluth will be the principal issue to be taken up by the members of the Woman's auxiliary of the St. Louis County Medical association during the coming year. The members are unanimous in their support of the idea that Duluth must have an institution and will do all in their power to further the plan. A discussion of this work was an interesting feature of the annual meeting of the auxiliary held yesterday afternoon at the Commercial club, at which officers were elected and reports read on the work of the past year.

Mrs. A. E. Walker will again head the auxiliary as president and the other officers will be: Mrs. L. L. Haney, first vice president; Mrs. F. J. Patton, second vice president; Mrs. T. R. Matin, secretary, and Mrs. Rood Taylor, treasurer.

EIGHT TABLES.

Mrs. La Rue Hostess at Bridge.

Mrs. W. G. La Rue of 2131 East Second street was hostess at a pretty afternoon bridge party yesterday at her home. Auction bridge was played at eight tables and the card favors were won by Mrs. C. F. Haley, Mrs. J. R. McGiffert and Mrs. Robert Spiegel. Violets and daffodils were used in decorating.

RECEPTION.

Honor New Pastor and Celebrate Anniversary.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Trinity English Lutheran church has planned a reception for Rev. F. O. Hanson, who has arrived from Chicago to take charge of the church, and Mrs. Hanson, to be held tomorrow evening at the church. It will also be in celebration of the first anniversary of the organization of the society and all members of the congregation and their friends are invited. The committee in charge consists of Mesdames: Albert Swenson, J. W. Ekblad, J. C. Eckman, Lecnard Peterson, Jack Anderson, E. G. Pash and S. H. Eckman.

GUESTS AT CLUB.

First Reception in New Building for Non-Members.

Guests at the reception at the Kitchi Gammi club last evening, the first formal function to which non-members could be invited, called between the hours of 8 and 11, and during the evening many of the guests danced. Lunch and refreshments were served, and the beautiful new building was open to the inspection of the guests. Among those attending were:

Ramseyer, superintendent of the Bethel, will be the speaker and following the service there will be a social half hour. All women interested are cordially invited to be present.

W. R. C.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Relief corps will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Memorial hall, courthouse.

Elect Officers.

At the annual business meeting of the Park Point Mothers' and Teachers' club, held yesterday afternoon at the Whittier school, officers for the year were chosen. Mrs. N. J. Henricksen was re-elected president, Mrs. R. P. Bennett re-elected vice president, and Mrs. D. Kennigsberg was chosen as secretary and treasurer. The club plans to continue its meetings in the same manner as they have been conducted in the past.

The social hour which followed the meeting was in the nature of a reception for H. Underhill, the new principal of the Park Point schools.

Pioneer Club.

Mrs. A. E. Piering of 507 East Sixth street entertained informally this afternoon at her home. Her guests were the members of the Pioneer club.

Social Center.

The Lakeside social center meeting will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the Lakeside school. Miss Ila Whiteside will take charge of the basket ball for the girls, and the boys will also have their hour at the sport this evening. A series of games will be arranged to raise money to pay for the baskets which have just been installed in the playroom.

Birthday Party.

Mrs. C. C. Ferguson of 517 East Fifth street entertained at a children's party yesterday afternoon for her little daughter, Marion, in celebration of her 3rd birthday anniversary. The afternoon was spent with games and refreshments were served to the following guests:

MRS. PARSONS HELD FOR STARTING RIOT.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 21.—Mrs. Lucy Parsons, widow of Albert Parsons, who was hanged in Chicago in 1887 for complicity in the Haymarket riots, was arrested here last night on a charge of inciting to riot.

Mrs. Parsons led a crowd of unemployed men from a hall to which they had been denied access to an open square, where an attempt was made to hold a mass meeting. The police dispersed the crowd and arrested her.

Hundreds of men followed the patrol wagon to a police sub-station and began smashing windows of adjacent stores. Police reserves dispersed them and six men were arrested.

Amusement Notes.

Alice Lloyd, the twinkling star of two continents, under the direction of William Morris, who has surrounded her with a big aggregation of nationally famous entertainers, will be the attraction at the Lyceum Friday and Saturday with two matinees.

Miss Lloyd, who is known throughout the theatrical world as England's daintiest comedienne, will be seen in a new style of entertainment, with a song repertoire including "Parisian Crinoline," "Mother, Mother," "My Night Out," "When Mother was Twenty-one," "Lady Policeman," "Ship Ahoy," "Splash Me," "Who are You Getting At," "Never Introduce Your Bloke," "Stockings on the Line," "Tourist and Maid," "Nothing Doing," "Mary Told the Soldier," "The Girls I Left Behind Me," and others.

A promising feature of the big all star show will be a review of all nations entitled "Dance Mad," offering a realistic glimpse of the famous Jardin de Danse atop the New York theater, New York, together with a vivid interpretation of the cabaret life in New York and Paris. Two full orchestras feature among other novelties; many girls of much beauty and considerable grace, and a unique exposition of the "X Ray," "Turkey Trot," "Tango," and modern ballroom dances.

Frank Fogarty, "The Dublin Minstrel," will be another big features of the show. Fogarty has the reputation of being one of the best entertainers in the show world and he needs no introduction to local theatergoers. There will be twenty-two sensational features with the famous Alice Lloyd entertainment.

Gaby Deslys, the most famous of all foreign stars who have ever visited this country, has assured her management that she will bring with her during her engagement at the Lyceum theater Sunday, every one of her one hundred and fifty costumes. These costumes were released from the Appraisers' stores in New York only a few weeks ago, and upon their arrival in New York on the Mauretania the customs officials were dazed at the prospect of having to examine so many clothes on the dock. Consequently, everything that she will wear on the stage was sent to the custom house, and it took Gaby and her five maids over a day to satisfy the custom officials. These gowns are the very latest creations of Paquin and Landorf, Paris. Most of them are after the design of Gaby herself, and they include many startling effects. When asked what is the most beautiful costume she has, she said that it was a tiger coat. This is intended, however, for stage wear, and Gaby likes it so much that she will wear it at every performance, breaking her rule of not wearing the same costume twice in the same city.

Many of her most diaphanous gowns are carried in celluloid tubes, the tubes in turn, being packed in a specially made honeycomb trunk. Gaby's five maids are kept busy arranging the various costumes. As she will make five to eight changes in each of the three acts, it will be necessary to construct a special dressing room for her near the first entrance of the stage, and while the performance of making the quick changes will require that the gowns sometimes be literally thrown at her, yet Gaby has her own way of wearing everything in a chic manner.

Her supporting company in "The Little Parisienne" will include her dancing partner, Harry Pilcer; Forrest Huff and Fritzi von Busing of "Chocolate Soldier" fame; Charles Angelo, Edgar Atchison-Ely, Louise Meyers, Hattie Kneitel, Percy Lyndal and a large chorus.

"How do I write songs?" repeated Ernest Ball, the composer, when the question was put to him at the Orpheum last evening. "Well, the popular delusion is that a fellow gets an inspiration in a saloon, jots down a score on the back of a free lunch card, hands it over to the nearest publisher and gets $15 for it, which he proceeds to blow in for more beer and another inspiration. Don't you believe it. The music-writing game is just as much a business as is anything else. You can't dash off a song between drinks. It takes you weeks to get one to suit, and then you never know how it will go until it has been tried out. In my game I have the advantage.

"In the old days, not so long ago, either, I used to try out my compositions at amateur entertainments. Now I slip in a new song on my act some matinee to see just how it takes. I can tell pretty soon whether or not it will be a go.

"All of my early successful songs were tried out; a great number of them were produced for the first time at shows given by the St. Bartholomew Glee club, New York. That was some minstrel show. I was the musical director for their entertainments, and we had a chorus of 115 voices, and we had good times.

"One day years ago a would-be composer came to me for advice. The work was so awful, and I had not the heart to tell the fellow that his work was rotten, and in a spirt of devilment I gave him a letter to a rival publisher. Since then, when my name became a factor in the music publishing world, they all have been paying me back in the same coin. Now, what can I do? In self-defense I have to pass the bad ones along."

Mr. Ball is appearing with Maud Lambert, the prima donna, in the headline act this week.

The present bill of vaudeville acts, which closes tonight at the Empress theater, is one of the best all around and balanced bills seen at that popular playhouse this season. The program of acts is featured by Julie Ring and her company in the comedy sketch, "The Man She Met," and Mlle. Nadje, the "Perfect Woman." Mlle. Nadje has an act that includes poses and feats of tumbling and contortion. Her manner of doing the many tricky feats makes her a favorite with the audience. Julie Ring is an actress of considerable ability and her part of the Girl in the French farce, "The Man She Met," is a very delightful characterization of the would-be flirt. The work of James Norval is another interesting part, while Carlin Varey as the waiter, is excellent. The Ramsey Sisters are entertainers who offer repartee and musical selections. Lambert and Van are singers, both of the young men possessing good voices. The show is opened by the splendid reel of picture, "Single-handed Jim," and closed by the newspaper play "The Wedding Write-up."

The fun-making show, "The Duke of Durham," will be the attraction at the Empress theater for three days, starting with the matinee Thursday. This tabloid musical comedy has for the leading man William Allan and Miss Vivian Early as the prima donna.

STAY GRANTED IN EUGENICS CASE.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 21.—A fifteen days' stay was today granted by Judge Eschweiler to County Clerk Widule to comply with the court's order of yesterday to issue a marriage license to Alfred Peterson without a health certificate.

The court's ruling of unconstitutionality will be presented to the county board on Jan. 27, and if at that time the board decides to appeal the case, the county clerk will be guided by the new law until the highest state tribunal passes on the measure.

In the meantime applications for marriage licenses in Milwaukee county must be accompanied by health certificates in conformity to the new law.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Don't Ignore Your Poor Relation.

One's poor relations, and those who are old-fashioned, and who refuse to be made over to suit the ideas of the younger generation are often a source of considerable anxiety to those who would keep their identity a secret. Even the family with millions, well able to relieve the poverty of its humbler relatives and make them independent for life, leans more to the plan of ignoring them or keeping them in the background.

It is almost impossible to keep the poor or undesirable relative hidden, even when he or she is willing to remain unknown. Some one always knows more about one's family connections than the individual most concerned. Therefore, anyone foolish enough to feel shame for the poverty, the old-fashioned notions and even the illiteracy of his relatives, better make them independent if it is a possible thing, or manfully own them and give them what help and pleasure one can.

Ignoring one's kin because they do not happen to be as fortunately placed as one happens to be, is a very common failing. In city and town, and wherever men forge ahead of their brothers so much as a hair's breadth, and wherever women hold forth with their ambitions to outstrip their neighbors, there snobbery will be flourishing in all its pride and strength.

A brother is ashamed of his brother simply because he has not succeeded in amassing wealth. A sister refuses to recognize her own sister, except in a limited way, because the later's circumstances do not permit of their mingling in the same social circles. Brothers desert their sisters and vice versa. Sons and daughters are ashamed of their poor old parents for the reason that they are old-fashioned in their habits, untutored and lacking in worldly goods.

What a lot of foolish, weak-willed uncomprehending people there are in the world! The ignoring of anyone and particularly one's own flesh and blood, because they are poor, while one is rich, stamps one as unfit for self-respecting society. Worshippers of money and the wonders it will perform do not rank as representatives of the best society, though, that they believe they do, is all the time apparent.

Better be poor, and old-fashioned, better remain in obscurity to the day of your death, than become of the great number whose god is money and who have no appreciation of the good in anything or anybody unless represented by money.

PROGRESS WITH PEACE.

"Now is the winter of our discontent
Made glorious summer by this sun of York,
And all the clouds that lowered upon our house
In the deep bosom of the ocean buried,
Now are our brows bound with victorious wreaths,
Our bruised arms hung up for monuments,
Our stern alarums changed to merry meetings,
Our dreadful marches to delightful measures."

None need seek far for the reason why President Wilson's splendid message on the trust problem has met with such universal acclaim among lately warring factions.

For a generation, beginning with the Populist movement and continuing incessantly and with waxing heat and growing bitterness, the nation has been in a state of social war. Special Privilege, strongly entrenched in the citadel of Corrupt Politics, was well established: but the popular uprising that besieged its ramparts grew in strength and coherence day by day and year by year.

Yet it was always war. There was war between the advocates of conflicting methods of attack. There was war between embattled Special Privilege and its divided besiegers. There was war, growing disturbance, ceaseless confusion. Prosperity, which hinges finally on continued and uninterrupted activity of labor and capital in joint productiveness and a fair sharing in the fruits thereof, was feverish, uncertain, fluctuating violently.

And the country is weary of this war. It has come to see the folly of it. It has come to realize, when Woodrow Wilson showed it how, that the gravest problems and the most far-reaching can be settled, and be settled surest and best, by amicable and harmonious agreement in a spirit of mutual concession.

This is why the president's message with its program of progress with peace and prosperity has met with such widespread acclaim. Its spirit was what the country had longed for, what the country needed—it was the only spirit that could solve the problems of a troubled nation, and banish the plague of a disastrous and corroding warfare.

There will be critics of the message, and criticisms.

It will not please those to whom continuous disturbance and disorder are meat and drink and the breath of life.

And we have with us always that type of mind which would be seriously put out in a heaven of glory if it saw a barb awry in a feather on an angel's wing.

But to the people as a whole, high and lowly, rich and poor, the message is an earnest of good times and widely shared prosperity, of busy looms and whirring wheels and pouring smokestacks, of economic justice gained in a spirit of reason, of progress without paralysis.

Some proposed methods of curing the evils of monopoly and procuring social justice remind us of the Mississippi steamboat described by Mark Twain. Its whistle was so big that every time it blew the boat had to stop. And so some programs of reform, if adopted, would stop every wheel and silence every loom if by any misfortune they should be adopted.

The president's program is not the abandonment of reform, but its achievement without the abandonment of employment and the stopping of wages and profits.

It is not a call to battle, but a summoning of the calm spirit of reason to the peaceful solution of our economic problems.

The war is over, and under these new articles of "our constitution of peace, the peace that is honor and freedom and prosperity," the country will thrive, and its thrift will profit the many and no longer enrich the few at the bitter cost of the many.

Even though it is impossible to store up sunshine, that is no reason for not remembering it.

Who says all the high finance is in Wall Street? Chicago school children are reported to be pawning public school books to get money to go to the movies.

STATE TAXES IN KENTUCKY AND MINNESOTA.

In Kentucky, a public protest against state extravagance and resulting high taxes has induced the legislature, now in session, to go directly at the work of retrenchment.

Minnesota's legislature will not meet for a year. It is not now elected, or even nominated. NOW is the people's chance to decide what kind of a legislature it wants.

And, before deciding, it might be worth while to inquire whether or not there is as much reason for state retrenchment in Minnesota as there is in Kentucky, where the legislature is at work upon it.

Kentucky has a population of 2,289,905; Minnesota has 2,075,708.

Kentucky's state expenditures in 1910 were $7,578,736; Minnesota's expenditures in that year were $13,145,734.

In 1914 Kentucky's state expenditures had risen to $7,769,132, an increase of two and a half per cent.

IN 1914 MINNESOTA'S STATE EXPENDITURES HAD RISEN TO $21,771,680, AN INCREASE OF SIXTY-SIX PER CENT!

Kentucky's state tax rate remained stationary from 1910 to 1914 at 5 mills; in that time Minnesota's state tax rate grew from 2.7 mills to 5.03 mills —A GAIN OF EIGHTY-SIX PER CENT!

From 1910 to 1914 Kentucky's per capita state expenditures increased from $3.31 to $3.39, a gain of two and a half per cent.

Minnesota's per capita state expenditures in that period increased from $6.37 to $10.49, A GAIN OF SIXTY-SIX PER CENT.

If Kentucky's state legislature feels the need of adopting a policy of retrenchment, WHAT ABOUT MINNESOTA?

And what kind of men is YOUR district figuring on sending to the legislature that meets next January?

How would a Black War Eagle look in the skin of a Bull Moose?

STANDING THE COLD.

Duluth—up to this writing—has not been bothered much by cold or storm this winter, though piercing cold and destroying blasts have afflicted pretty nearly every other region.

Duluth people may have had some trouble in understanding some of the conditions they read about, such as descriptions of suffering and death from freezing coupled with temperatures from zero up. In the crisp, dry air of Minnesota, there is no suffering with temperatures of twenty and thirty degrees below zero? Why, then, should Philadelphia and New York and Washington shiver when the thermometer gets under ten or fifteen degrees above zero?

The difference, of course, is in humidity. Zero weather in the damp air of the coast is infinitely worse than forty below in Duluth.

Sensitiveness to cold is relative, and the human equation enters into it even more markedly than differences in moisture. For instance, Charles Darwin in his "Voyage of the Beagle" thus describes the amazing insensibility to the cold of the natives of Tierra del Fuego, in a southern zone latitude corresponding to that of Hudson's Bay in North America:

> These Fuegians in the canoe were quite naked, and even one full-grown woman was quite so. It was raining heavily, and fresh water, together with the spray, trickled down her body. In another harbor not far distant a woman who was suckling a recently-born child came one day alongside the vessel, and remained there out of mere curiosity, when the sleet fell and thawed on her naked bosom and on her naked body. * * * At night, five or six human beings, naked and scarcely protected from the wind and rain of this tempestous climate, sleep on the wet ground coiled up like animals.

It's all in getting used to it.

Austria is offering a prize of ten thousand dollars for a non-rubber automobile tire, and materials are to be submitted to the Automobiliversuchsabteilung Gumpendorferstrasse. Why doesn't some genius just write out that name and submit it? He'd be sure to win.

THE NATIONAL PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARY.

Maybe the national presidential primary isn't going to come right away. It looks a little that way now. But come it will one day, and come it ought to.

Nominating and electing a president is national business.

It is the American people, a hundred million strong now, who are concerned in selecting a president—not the forty-eight states that compose the nation.

In point of fact, it is utterly no business at all of the states, when you get down to it, for the states have enough to do to look after state matters alone, and some of them might be doing better with that than they are.

The people should elect the president—though the builders of the Constitution did not think so, and were mistaken therein—and the people should nominate the presidential candidates as well.

The choice of the people of the whole country, for nominations no less than for elections, should prevail.

That end, which is the aim of real democracy, will be served only by a national presidential primary system.

In the meantime, state presidential primaries should be strengthened everywhere as the next best thing.

France reports a reduction in the total output of wine, but this will hardly be as effective as a reduction in the total input.

A TIP TO BIG CORPORATIONS.

The Chicago Tribune offers a bit of advice to big corporations that is more valuable than it seems at first glance. Says the Tribune:

> All the corporations would do well to issue a portion of their securities in small denominations.
>
> It may be from the point of view of finance that a thousand dollars is a convenient unit, or that five hundred dollars is smaller than the average bondholder cares to own.
>
> The greater fact remains that people should be permitted and encouraged to buy in even smaller units. Many a hundred dollars might be safely invested in a gilt edge security which, for lack of such security, goes into a fake mining scheme. Many a ten-dollar bill might be saved and put into productive use which, for lack of an opportunity, is wasted or dissipated.
>
> The big corporations are realizing more and more their obligations to the public.
> One of the most valuable steps to the public and to themselves would be the offering of as many securities of small denomination as they can put out.

It must be manifest to the most dull witted and slow visioned "magnate" that this thing of a few owning and controlling pretty much everything, and using pretty much everything for their own selfish profit, has run its course.

The public at large cannot be much longer barred out from the field of cloth of gold, but on some terms must soon be admitted to direct interest in the large industries.

The wider the ownership of industry, the wider its distribution of profits, the better for the industry and the industrial corporations, and the better for society.

The Tribune's advice is good advice —advice of the highest importance.

The Chinese troops sent to capture some bandits sent word ahead to warn the bandits of their plans. And yet some people would have us believe the Chinese are not an accommodating people.

The "Drummer" as He Was and How He Is

From the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

George A. Olney of Brooklyn, said to be the oldest traveling salesman in the United States in point of service, has decided to retire at the age of 79 years. For fifty-eight years he has been in continuous service. He has not announced any plans for whiling away his remaining years, but it is hoped he may write his reminiscences. No vocation has been influenced more by the changes of the last half-century than that of the commercial traveler. The drummer of early tradition was pre-eminently a jollier. His chief qualification was ability as a "mixer." His pockets bulged with cigars and an invitation to "have something" was ever on his lips. Nor was this invitation often refused. The pioneer drummer was also a story teller. His collection of "new ones" brightened every drug store and village hotel. His opinion on matters of national import was highly esteemed. His judgment as to the results of a coming election was likewise prized and many an election bet was based on his "tip." His varied social accomplishments were his capital and were responsible for the liberality of the orders he procured. And to the merchant the drummer was not a representative of a house; he was the whole establishment.

But these conditions have changed very much. The traveling salesman now must talk goods and prices. He must be alert, for he deals with merchants who keep in close touch with the markets. While courtesy is still a valuable asset, as it will ever be, it is not sufficient by itself. The merchant is not looking for good humor, for good stories, for good cigars or for drinks, but for merchandise on which he may make a quick and certain profit. And the down-to-date traveling salesman measures up to the new requirements. While he is often, in his opinion, hampered by his house and his judgment on extension of credits is not final, he still wields a powerful influence. The house scarcely realizes how much his personality counts with the customer. By a tact that is nothing short of marvelous he causes the customer to look upon him as his true friend, always ready to fight his battles with the house. Nor has his old prestige disappeared. His views of men and of measures are still respected and his ability to take care of himself in any argument is a matter of proverb. And he is a loyal booster for the city out of which he travels. Often the praises of rival cities are pressed by customers, sometimes through perversity of human nature and sometimes merely to arouse him to defense, but there is no case on record where he ever conceded superiority to a rival town. With his long and varied experience Mr. Olney could write a story of absorbing interest about the prince of hustling optimists, the traveling salesman.

Mr. Hammond Is Disgruntled.

Life: John Hays Hammond is quoted as declaring that he will never invest another American dollar in a foreign land so long as Woodrow Wilson is president.

Well, well!

John's investment in South Africa got his head into a noose, and helped to get England into one of the most costly and disastrous wars in all her history. He seems to think that governments exist to pull investments out of the fire. President Wilson certainly has a different impression. He has in Washington the same kind of vision that he had in Princeton when his stubborn stipulations lost an endowment for the graduate school. He sees people and principles big and money small. Mr. Hammond sees money big and people small. So do a lot of other men who have got the habit of thinking first of commercial interests and last of folks. To them Mr. Wilson seems a person of defective understanding whose mind does not grasp what is really important.

He will always seem so to them because his conception of what is important is radically different from theirs.

William Allen White on Capital's Rights

From William Allen White's "The Old Order Changeth."

Now democracy in America is catechizing the capitalist. We are asking him to define his uses. We are demanding that he show cause why he should not follow the soldier, the priest and the baron. That is what all this commotion in our politics is about. Over and over we hear this dialogue:

"Where did you get it?" asks old Demos, rubbing his eyes.

"I earned it," replies Croesus.

"How?"

"I built a railroad."

"But," insists Demos, "the railroad only cost you $20,000,000 and you took $60,000,000."

"Promoter's profits," replies Croesus, beginning to move on.

"Stop, thief," cries old Demos, and hales his friend into court.

Or sometimes the dispute occurs over the rate charged for a given service

"This is my business, I have a right to its profits," declares Croesus.

"I am your partner," retorts Demos, "but for me you would have no patronage. Let's see the books."

And they look at the books and down come the rates, and old Demos chuckles. Or if there is further hitch in the matter, he says:

"Come now, down with the rate, or I'll go into business myself."

"Who are you that you should do this un-American thing—invade the domain of private ownership?"

"I," replies old Demos, "am a man."

"A mere man," replies Croesus, "and this is a great mystery—this business."

"All right," says the catechizer, "but I am the man who found that the mystery of soldiering was common courage; that the imponderable mystery of the Bible which I took from the priest and opened was common sense; and the inscrutable mystery of government which I took from the overlord was common honesty. Behold, I am ready for another mystery. Come now—down with the rates, get your profits down to 6 per cent, or I shall borrow money from the same widows and orphans that support you at 6 per cent and go into business myself."

"But the widows and orphans whose earnings I have taken?" whines Croesus.

"They are my friends; they will take my notes," replies Demos, and advertises for bids for the municipal plant.

But when Demos finds a man who has invented something, whether a business system, a telephone, a combination of effective men, or a religion, there Demos stops. That is achievement. All democracy demands is value received. If the capitalist can show that he may have his millions and welcome to the care they bring him—or the joy, if he is wise. In this new definition of achievement which democracy is making for the capitalist, the first requirement is that achievement shall return to society value for the money he gets; next that the money shall be taken honestly. And now by inheritance tax laws in thirty-seven American states, democracy is demanding that rewards for achievement shall not descend until the third and fourth generation.

War and Sleep

Life: A woman in Prussia has invented a powder which, when discharged with the exploding shells of a hostile army, puts the enemy to sleep on the battlefield. The war department of Prussia is making experiments with it.

The idea of having a painless death in battle is, of course, a distinct advance upon previous methods of warfare. We cannot necessarily say anything to underrate its desirability, but so long as we have an instrument of this sort, why not use it upon the cabinet officers who get together beforehand and create the war?

If by sending a shell into the conference composed of the leading financiers who are making plans to kill off a couple of hundred thousand men we can put them all to sleep long enough, it might be possible for these hundred thousand men to continue to live, raise their families and enjoy themselves generally. This, of course, is a highly radical doctrine and will no doubt be resented in all war circles.

Of One Who Seemed to Have Failed.

Death's but one more tomorrow. Thou art gray
With many a death of many a yesterday.
O! yearning heart that lacked the athletic force
And, stumbling, fell upon the beaten course,
And looked, and saw with ever glazing eyes
Some lower soul that seemed to win the prize!
Lo! Death, the just, who comes to all alike,
Life's sorry scales of right anew shall strike.
Forth, through the night, on unknown shores to win
The peace of God unstirred by sense of sin!
There love without desire shall, like the mist
At evening precious to the drooping flower,
Possess thy soul in ownership, and kissed
By viewless lips, whose touch shall be a dower
Of genius and of winged serenity,
Thou shalt abide in realms of poesy.
—Dr. S. Weir Mitchell.

Only a Dog.

Only a poor dumb creature?
Not so poor as you and I,
He was as true to nature
As the clouds are true to the sky,
For he was no quibbling coward,
No recreant, false friend he,
Faithful to one—and forward,
With a dog's firm constancy.

There's surely a welcome haven
For dogs who are true and good;
And a dog who was never a craven
Deserves to be understood.
So, as sure as a kindly nature
Has limned the earth and the sky—
So will this poor dumb creature
Be remembered as you and I.
—Horace Seymour Keller.

Animals in the Family.

Dundee Advertiser: "Everybody in our family's some kind of an animal," said Bobby to the amazed lady visitor.

"Well," replied Bobby, "mother's a dear, my baby sister is mother's little lamb, I'm the kid and pa's the goat."

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Friends of Senator Ollie James, of Kentucky, our most huge statesman, say that Ollie is as proud of his figure as a leading lady. This may seem funny, at first thought, for Ollie is fully six and one-half feet high and weighs about the same as a horse. His is not a figure that adapts itself readily to the tangoing and fish-walking and kindred vices of the present day, and yet Ollie's shape is one to conjure with politically. For it has distinction. It is not every one who can be the most mammoth person in public life. Such a figure gives one standing in a community. It makes a person noticed in a crowd. No one with a front, side and rear elevation like Ollie's could be a nonentity. So Ollie is perfectly reconciled. He is more than that. His shape suits him right to a T, and he is greatly in favor of it.

Senator William Alden Smith of Grand Rapids, Mich., was escorting a group of constituents through the White House. The officer in charge was giving the usual lecture as they proceeded through the rooms, telling where different vases and pieces of furniture and tapestry came from.

When they had reached the Green room, Senator Smith listened to the guide's tale with especial interest and then a look of mingled solemnity and chagrin o'erspread his features. A moment later he was seen to call the guide to one side and engage him in a whispered conversation.

The guide then continued his talk and remarked:

"I have neglected to state, ladies and gentlemen, that the three tables and the cabinet in the Green room were all made in Grand Rapids."

Ever since then the reference to Grand Rapids has been a regular and never failing feature of the guide's remarks.

Representative James F. Byrnes of South Carolina is certain that Representative Joseph W. Byrns of Tennessee is about the most accommodating man in congress, if not in the entire country.

You can see for yourself the similarity of the names. When Byrnes was nominated for congress in South Carolina, where the nomination on the Democratic ticket is equivalent to being elected, several hundred voters in the district assumed that Brynes was henceforth a member, and began to write to him, making all manner of requests.

All this mail went to Joe Byrns of Tennessee. Byrns reads the papers, and soon figured out what was the matter, but did not have the heart to shove off congressional duties on a man not yet a congressman. He simply looked after the correspondence himself. If a South Carolina man wrote in for a horse book or a document, Byrns of Tennessee supplied it out of his own quota. The South Carolina folk passed many encomiums on the promptness with which their congressman caught on to his new official chores.

Joe Byrns used up tons of good energy looking after the correspondence of the man with the name like his before he ever knew the man by sight.

When Samuel V. Stewart was about to be inaugurated governor of Montana last year, he expressed the wish that the inaugural ball be made a thoroughly democratic affair. The committee assured him that the invitations would be sent out in great numbers and not limited to any particular set. But even that was not enough for Stewart. He said the very idea of sending out invitations at all was undemocratic. He thought the proper thing would be to put the invitation in all the papers and model it after the invitations issued by church bazars. They did so, and the invitation read something like this:

"There will be an inaugural ball at the capitol Monday night. All come."

One of the grave questions confronting the present administration is that in regard to the matter of precedence of the secretaries of commerce and labor. Cabinet officers always proceed at social functions in the order in which their department was created. First comes the secretary of state, then the secretary of the treasury, and so on. As the departments of commerce and labor were one until divided by act of congress a few months ago, no hostess knew whether Mr. Redfield or Mr. Wilson should come trailing in at the end of the cabinet procession. It has been settled, however, by somebody holding that the department of commerce comes first, because the word commerce came first in the act that created the joint departments. This makes it extremely rough on Secretary Wilson, but he will have to bear up.

The highest ranking member of Senator Chilton's famous knife club is William J. Bryan. Chilton's club, you know, is made up of persons to whom Chilton has presented pocket knives. Instead of handing out cigars or buying drinks for his friends, he gives each one a good pocket knife and lets it go at that. When he got around to giving a knife to William J. Bryan, Chilton, thinking of the old free-silver days, thought he would play a neat little joke. So he gave Mr. Bryan an elaborate, gold-handled knife costing $35.

Secretary of Labor William R. Wilson is perhaps best remembered in the house of representatives in connection with the remark he made in a colloquy with J. Hampton Moore.

Wilson, then a congressman, was discussing a bill he had in tow, and J. Hampton passed various criticisms on it, pointing out ambiguities and other defects in its phraseology.

This got on Wilson's nerves, and after "Hampy" had raised a point of grammar that seemed to Wilson trivial he jumped up and made one or two rather heated comments with a strong Welch accent.

"Language," declared he, "is intended primarily to convey thought. If it does that it has served its purpose. For example, if I were to say that there are a lot of blamed fools in the world, that would be good grammar. But if I were to say that there is a lot of blamed fools in the world that would be bad grammar. Yet everybody here would know who I meant."

Ford, Wilson and Opportunity.

Baltimore Sun: Two glaring illustrations of the fact that America is still the land of opportunity: Henry Ford, Woodrow Wilson. Both were poor boys. Five years ago 99 out of every 100 in this country had not so much as heard of either of them. Yet today one is head of an automobile company that last year made $37,000,000 profit, and the other is president of the United States.

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

Henry Probably Wouldn't Object.

Brown's Valley Tribune: Even some of the leading Democratic papers of the state are offering to make it unanimous for Henry Rines, Republican candidate for state auditor. Mr. Rines seems to be a winner anyway, and he might as well be saved the annoyance of a long campaign.

What Could Be Fairer?

Greenbush Tribune: We are in receipt of a copy of a speech delivered by Senator Knute Nelson telling how the Democratic party disfranchised the Republican members of the conference committee on the currency bill. Well, we cannot give the Hon. Knute any sympathy on this proposition. The people enthroned the Democratic party and it should have full sway in putting through its program. If the Democratic program doesn't suit the people the said party will hear about it at the next election.

All Right; Suggest Something.

Warroad Pioneer: If we are to have government ownership of some of the public utilities—and that is not a bad idea—we ought to begin with something else than the telegraph lines. Telephones and wireless are rapidly putting them out of business, and in a few years more they will be old junk.

A Very Great Pity.

Biwabik Times: Anti-Eberhart Republicans had apparently as well give up hope. With a half dozen opposition candidates in the field, all after the vote opposed to the governor, the latter will surely have a walkaway. It is certainly to be deplored that the antis could not get together and support one particular candidate.

Demand a Change.

Grand Rapids Independent: The plan to reconstruct the state Constitution is meeting with general approval, and from everywhere come expressions of the opinion that the present Constitution has about served its usefulness.

Well, Why Not?

Morris Tribune: James A. Peterson has announced that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor. William E. Lee is expected to enter the race in a few days. This makes five candidates at the present time, Elwell, Iverson, Peterson, Lee and Eberhart. There can be only one result and that is that Eberhart will be renominated and re-elected. The situation last year showed what a joke the primary law is and the situation this year only continues the comedy. If we are to continue this method of nomination, the only sensible thing to do will be to elect every officer from governor down by a non-partisan method, holding a primary to select the two highest and an election to determine the final result.

Not a Bad Idea.

Brainerd Dispatch: The only picture show in Pine Island is conducted by a church of that city. Shows are given twice each week and members of the Sunday school are given admission free of charge. Perhaps if the plan was tried out in other places the Sunday schools would be able to boast of a larger enrollment.

It's Becoming the General Sentiment.

Ada Herald: It begins to look as if the American people would be willing to give Teddy an extended leave of absence. With Wilson in the president's chair the country is safe.

Not in Utopia

Kansas City Star: Of course you will think that the following is a report of the secretary of the interior of Utopia. You have been told that only private corporations, managed with the incentive of profit, are competent to control large and intricate affairs. But, to avoid misleading you, what follows is only a particularly interesting and well stated epitome of the activities of the interior department of the United States government. It was written by Secretary Lane:

> Permit me to note here that we care for the Eskimo in Alaska and for the insane in the District of Columbia; for 324,000 Indians scattered throughout the continent, for whom we hold property in trust approximating in value $1,600,000,000; that the choice beauty spots of our country have been set aside as national parks which are in our care; that we distribute to over 890,000 pensioners, their widows and dependents, a round sum of $165,000,000 a year; that we issue to inventors of the United States and foreign countries an average of more than 3,000 patents each month; that every miner in the land is interested in those means which we are taking to prevent mine accidents and to more fully realize the mineral wealth of the land; that the schools of the Indians and the national university of the colored people are under our jurisdiction, together with the Hot Springs of Arkansas and the cliff dwellings of Colorado; that the internal economy of the territory of Hawaii, as well as that of Alaska, fall within the purview of this department; that it is our part to measure the waters of a thousand streams, survey the lands of all the states, and look beneath the surface to see what they contain; that we have still in our care a great body of public land (some 800,000,000 acres outside of Alaska), out of which each year approximately 60,000 farms are carved; that we have a bureau of education, which should be provided with the equipment by which it may adequately do a great work for the schools, the teachers, and the children of this country, or be abolished.

Is there a private corporation possible that would be big enough and efficient enough to attend to all this multiplicity of policy and detail as well as it is attended to by a governmental department presided over by a $12,000 a year man?

Graft.

This is the thing we have laughed about,
This is the "jest" that's bandied on the stage,
This is the "joke" that brings a raucous shout
Of empty mirth, where it should rouse to rage!
This is the subject of our quip and jape,
This foul and cruel beast, this hideous shape
Which crushes little children under heel,
Which drives frail women into death and shame,
Which sends men forth to lie and rob and steal
And makes of lives mere counters in the game;

Along the trail of Graft are Vice and Death,
Honor and woe, disease with fetid breath,
Wrecked homes and ruined souls and needless pain,
Truth, Justice, Honor sacrificed for Gain—
And there's your jest, your light and merry quip
Which drops so smoothly from your smiling lip;
Look on it now and know its every deed,
Its ruthlessness, its blind, insatiate Greed;
This is the Joke at which you're wont to chaff—
Lift up your voice and laugh and laugh and laugh!

Weak Men.

Detroit Free Press: At a supper at the Players' club in New York Witter Bynner, the sonneteer, remarked:

"A resolution is the only thing on earth that is stronger at birth than at any other time."

At this witticism the eyes of Butler Glaenzer, the essayist and critic, snapped behind the lustrous pince-nez, and Mr. Glaenzer said in his calm, fluent voice:

"And of resolutions above all other things, it is true that the good die young."

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

THE COST OF CHARITY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The writer has for a number of years contributed either personally or through our firm to the Associated Charities, believing most thoroughly in charity when properly conducted.

I have at hand the published report of the association's treasurer, J. W. Lyder, as published in the booklet just issued by the association, and regret to find that out of a total of $6,883.62 collected, the very small sum of $1,011.93 went for a visiting nurse.

The sum of $1,931.07 went for relief work and $186.66 went for sundry uses, a total of $3,129.66, and the balance went for expenses for distributing; in other words, it took almost half of the receipts to distribute the other half, a very poor business record, indeed. Salaries for secretary, assistant secretary and stenographer amount to $3,680.44, or more than the amount distributed, so that it really takes three people at a cost of 100 per cent to distribute the insignificant sum of $3,129.

Why couldn't the visiting nurse fund be handled by the city welfare board at little or no expense. There are plenty of good, intelligent, able citizens right here in Duluth who would be glad of the job of distributing the balance of the receipts for $100 per month, or for one-third of what it has cost by an outside man.

No, gentlemen, if I have any money to give to charity I want charity to get it, not half of it to go for salaries and needless expenses.

I base this opinion and the above facts are direct from the report as issued by the association. If I am wrong I would like to be apprised of the fact, enlightened as it were. If not, I should suggest for the good of organized charity and the benefit of the needy that the present association be rejuvenated, reconstructed, reorganized along approved and modern business lines, so that the ratio of expense to the proportion of the money distributed may seek a more even percentage basis. I thank you. Yours truly, I. GIVE "S."

Duluth, Jan. 17.

This sort of criticism of the Associated Charities, here and elsewhere, is very common, very unjust, and—with all due apologies to the correspondent—very ignorant. And it is by no means so common as it was, because people are learning the truth.

Those who make this criticism have not yet understood that the Associated Charities is not primarily a charity-distributing agency, but a clearing house for the co-ordination of charitable work; that its fundamental purpose is not to provide food and clothing and shelter for the poor, though it does that, but to put them on their feet and make them self-supporting, and to direct into proper channels the generosity of the organized agencies which directly distribute charity.

Those who make this criticism have not yet learned to understand that even if every dollar of its receipts were consumed in overhead charges, and not a dollar of it went into direct relief, still the Associated Charities might be performing a vastly useful function in the community by finding and teaching proper methods of relief and directing available relief into worthy and useful channels.

This critic has forgotten all the many avenues of use the Associated Charities has opened up for itself, and all the many useful things it has achieved which do not and cannot appear in a financial report. In point of fact the value of this organization to the community is not at all to be measured by the proportion of its relief expenditures to its total expenditures, but by the character and extent of the work it does.

We venture to predict that if this critic will spend half an hour in the office of the Associated Charities finding out what has been done and what is being done, he never will make this criticism again, nor listen to it with patience when he hears it from others. —The Editor.

A FIREMAN ON THE SMOKE NUISANCE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

It is very truly said "What a funny little world this is."

People pray for a thing and when they get it they want to get rid of it, or at least make things very interesting for all concerned.

They will build up a city on both sides of a railroad with crossings every 100 feet and insist on a train stopping on every crossing, and at the same time expect to travel at the rate of at least sixty miles per hour. It is funny, is it not?

They will ride on a train, kick because it goes slow, and if it goes fast the engineer is drunk.

If the wind blows just right so the gas or smoke enters the coaches the fireman should be dismissed from the service at once.

If a child happens on the track and the engineer "shoots the works" he is reported to the superintendent in hopes that he will get fired or at least get about sixty days without pay for shaking them up. If the child is scared, hurt or killed, they want him shot at once.

Ninety-nine and one-half of the people in this world think no one has any trouble but themselves.

I have been in the firing line for a good part of twelve years; I have fired wood, coal, straw and other things.

I appreciate that black smoke is a very dirty and offensive creation.

I have noticed from time to time pieces in your Open Court on the smoke nuisance or the smoke question.

On May 5 some guy signed R. M. felt very sorry for Garfield avenue people on account of the smoke, but if the smoke from the railroad engines could be any worse than the smoke and smell from Garfield avenue alleys it would have to be something rare.

In addition there are a great many who write, claiming that they know from where or what they talk. I have had the honor of talking with one or two and they don't even know what a British thermal unit is; neither can they commence to tell what the composition of soft coal is, or what is, or from whence comes black smoke, or why it stays when it comes in the city of Duluth.

Some also say that railroad engineers are the greatest offenders. They don't stop to think that a locomotive is for most part an improvised furnace, exposed to all the elements and expected to do so much work.

The public demands the service.

The company agrees to do it; they tell the conductor to take so much; that the engine will haul it. He ties it on. The engineer then has to get everything that is in said engine out of her. To do so he must have steam.

Then comes the fireman. If he falls down for steam he is pulled off and perhaps fired in some cases. He is expected to get steam if there is any way to do so. And if it makes black smoke there is some one ready to convict him, even men who know better, because if they tell or say what they think it will possibly cause them some little trouble.

I will say this, that with a modern type of engine, not leaking and properly draughted, black smoke can be eliminated to a very great extent, and on road engines that are constantly working it can be almost entirely avoided.

But in yard service where a fire is being constantly rebuilt to suit the weather or amount of work being done, just so long as soft or bituminous coal is used there is going to be more or less black smoke.

Then another thing, business will be growing, with that more engines will be used.

The people of Duluth perhaps don't know that the railroad companies had pretty close to an average of 400 engines working in this city daily up to but a very short time ago.

That number of engines burning soft coal, even though it be mixed and doctored up, would make some dirt and gas.

While the city is in the business, she had better start in right at home and clean up, for there is not a dirtier set of public buildings, so far as black smoke goes, within a good many miles of Duluth.

And a stationary boiler or heating plant can, with a good deal of attention or the proper equipment, be fired with practically no black smoke.

People say, hire intelligent firemen; that is good enough.

I have had passengers report me to the superintendent for making smoke, when we had extra coaches, poor coal, flues leaking and engine in general poor condition. And if a fireman would put the blame where it belonged, he would be booked as an agitator and dismissed for the slightest offense that would show that the officials were justified or where it could be made to appear so.

Duluth has prayed for the big steel plant. What is she going to do with the smoke and gas from there.

While I am interested in the better conditions of the city, I wish to say that if Duluth is to be the city that all indications point to, those who cannot stand smoke, dust and gas will have to go to Lakeside or on top of the hill.

For Duluth will always have black smoke and so will any other busy city so located as she is, on a water front with a hill back of it.

And if business should pick up in Superior she would furnish us with smoke. She is doing pretty well even now, as it is. Yours very respectfully,

JOSEPH J. SWAGGLES,
Per N. P. Roundhouse.

Hair Grew 4 Inches In A Few Weeks

A St. Louis Lady Increased the Length of Her Hair Four or Five Inches in a Few Weeks With This Simple Home Recipe.

A well-known St. Louis lady, after using a simple recipe on her hair which she mixed at home, made the following statement: "Without exaggeration, my hair has grown four or five inches." The recipe she used is as follows, and any lady or gentleman can mix it at home: To a half pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ½ oz. of glycerine. Apply to the scalp two or three times a week with the tips of the fingers. It not only promotes the growth of the hair, but removes dandruff, scalp humors and prevents the hair from falling out.

It darkens streaked, faded, gray hair and makes it soft and glossy. These ingredients can be obtained from any drug store at very little cost and mixed at home.

VALLEY CITY FIRE.

Bank and Other Buildigns in North Dakota Town Destroyed.

Valley City, N. D., Jan. 21.—Fire at Marion, Barnes county, north of here yesterday, destroyed the First National bank, a large hardware store, a grain elevator, feed mill, telephone exchange and several small buildings. A heavy snow and wind storm was raging, and for a time the entire business part of the town was in danger. The loss is about $75,000.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache Is Sign You Have Been Eating Too Much Meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Agent, Wirth's Red Cross Drug store, 13 West Superior street.

DIAMONDS HIS HOBBY

Young Negro Bought Sparklers With Bad Checks and Pawned Them.

Worked Game Successfully in Minneapolis—Arrested in Duluth.

Wanted by the Minneapolis authorities for passing eight worthless checks in the Mill City, a young colored man, giving his name as Dr. J. Walter McDonald, 22 years old, was arrested here late yesterday afternoon after he had passed a check for $120 on the Henricksen Jewelry company in payment for a diamond ring, had attmepted to pass another check for $50 on the Albert Jewelry company and was at the time of his arrest trying to pawn a diamond ring in the Keystone Loan office.

McDonald came into the Albert Jewelry company's store at 501 West Superior street late yesterday afternoon and purchased a diamond worth $80 from Albert H. Polinsky, the proprietor. McDonald then offered a check in payment for the diamond, but Mr. Polinsky seeing that the man was rather nervous, asked the former to leave the check for a few minutes, until he could be identified. McDonald offered to do this and immediately left the store, saying that he would return after a short time.

Mr. Polinsky followed McDonald out of the building. He trailed the negro up Fifth avenue, to First street, along to Third avenue west, down Third avenue to Superior street, and then east to the Keystone Loan office, 22 West Superior street, where McDonald had entered and was already dickering with Jacob D. Siegel, proprietor, about the pawning of a diamond ring. McDonald wanted $65 on the ring, while Mr. Siegel offered only $50.

Telephones Police.

Mr. Polinsky stepped into an adjoining store and telephoned police headquarters. Officer Youngberg was sent to the scene, but before he arrived, Patrolman Dave Olson, who happened to pass the store, was called in and he placed McDonald under arrest. Mrs. Mary J. Walsh, police matron, also happened along and she assisted in making the arrest.

An investigation following the arrest disclosed the fact that the ring McDonald had attempted to pawn was the one he had purchased at the Hendricksen Jewelry store, 332 West Superior street, earlier in the afternoon. He had paid for the ring with a check, having given J. Lewis Erwin, a colored lawyer, who formerly lived in Duluth and who went to St. Paul last summer, as a reference. He also gave as references Splady, Albee & Smith, building contractors at 414 Plymouth building, Minneapolis.

Shortly after McDonald's arrest, Mr. Polinsky telephoned the Commercial National bank at Minneapolis, on which institution the checks were drawn, and learned that there was no account credited to a Dr. J. Walter McDonald of 91 South Thirteenth street, the address given by the prisoner. The officials at the bank asked that McDonald be taken into custody at once.

In the meantime McDonald had been taken to the office of Chief Troyer, where he was questioned regarding himself and his business. While the chief was talking to the prisoner, Chief Martinson of Minneapolis, having received word from the officials at the Commercial National bank that the same McDonald wanted in Mill City was arrested in Duluth, called headquarters and notified Chief Troyer that the prisoner was wanted for passing eight worthless checks in Minneapolis. He asked that McDonald be turned over to him, should the local police not care to prosecute.

Before Grand Jury.

Chief Troyer said this morning that he will take the matter up with County Attorney Warren E. Greene and have the case considered by the grand jury some time today. In this way the police may secure an indictment against the prisoner, without having him arraigned in court. Should the grand jury be too busy, a warrant will be sworn out against McDonald and he will be arraigned first in police court on a charge of passing worthless checks.

McDonald tells a very disconnected story about himself, insisting, however, that he is a licensed physician and a graduate from a medical school. He refuses to name the school or tell where he was educated. He claims that he was born in Mississippi and that he spent the earlier years of his life in England, leaving that country with his parents when 15 years of age. He is tall, well appearing and very well dressed. His conversation, however, does not show any evidences of education in higher schools.

WIDOW AWARDED $10,534.98 DAMAGES

Judgment Entry for Anna Benson Last Step in Prolonged Action.

Judgment for $10,534.98 was entered in district court yesterday against the Lehigh Valley Coal company in favor of Anna M. Benson, widow of Henry Benson, laborer, who was killed in an accident on the company's Superior docks several months ago.

The formal entry of judgment marks the last step in a legal fight between the widow and the company for damages for alleged wrongful death. Mrs. Benson, mother of eight children, sued under the Wisconsin statute and recovered a verdict for $10,000, the maximum allowed. An appeal was carried to the supreme court but the finding of the lower court was sustained.

Stops Tobacco Habit In One Day

Sanitarium Publishes Free Book Showing How Tobacco Habit Can Be Banished in From One to Five Days at Home.

The Elders Sanitarium located at 1059 Main St., St. Joseph, Mo., has published a free book showing the deadly effect of the tobacco habit, and how it can be banished in from one to five days at home.

Men who have used tobacco for more than fifty years have tried this method and say it is entirely successful, and in addition to banishing the desire for tobacco has improved their health wonderfully. This method banishes the desire for tobacco, no matter whether it is smoking, chewing, cigarettes or snuff dipping.

As this book is being distributed free, anyone wanting a copy should send their name and address at once.

A. M. Chisholm of Duluth Establishes Fund for Needy Persons in His Old Scotland Home.

A. M. Chisholm of Duluth has been playing the role of fairy godfather to his native district, Strathglass, Scotland. The Northern Chronicle, a newspaper published in Inverness in the land of the heather, has an article headed: "Generous Strathglass Native. Long Series of Benefactions." The article, which touches upon Mr. Chisholm's work, follows:

"Many men have gone from the romantic district of Strathglass to seek their fortune in foreign lands, but few men have ever remembered the district where they were born with the beneficence of A. M. Chisholm of Duluth, Minn.

"For several years Mr. Chisholm has been giving valuable book prizes to the best pupils in every class in every school in his native parish. He has further instituted a scheme whereby deserving boys and girls are helped in their education and thereby enabled to rise to positions to which they could never have attained within the limits of their parents' means.

"Quantities of coal suited to the requirements of the recipients are being given to very poor persons who do not come under the wing of the old age pension act or the ordinary poor law relief.

"He has also a fund for supplying boots and warm blankets to old people who in their day have been striving hard for a living, but on whom fortune has always frowned.

"From another fund are supplied groceries, such as tea and sugar, to which has been added potatoes, butcher meat and meal. This is one of the most comprehensive of all the schemes, and Dr. Leach, who administers all Mr. Chisholm's benefactions, has called in the help of the Beauly Dorcas society, Mrs. Leach and Mrs. Macrae, U. F. Manse, helping in Beauly, and Mrs. Gordon, Struy, and Mrs. Falconer, Cannich, for the upper parts, in order to make sure that no really deserving case escapes notice.

Medical Attendance.

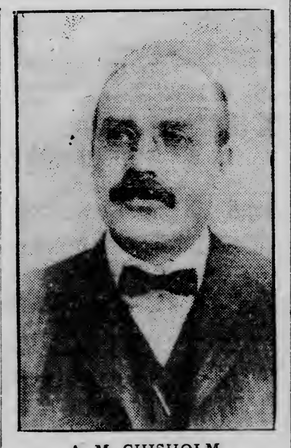

"There is also a scheme for giving wine, medical attendance, and comforts to persons suffering from diseases who could not otherwise receive such attention.

"Mr. Chisholm has restored the house of an old woman in Strathglass which was falling in, even to the extent of new grates, and intends extending the scope of this part of the scheme to similar cases.

"No sport worthy of the name in the district has not shared by Mr. Chisholm's beneficence. The golf club has received a valuable cup and several handsome money donations. The bowling club has likewise been granted a cup as well as monetary assistance, and the Shinty club has received a handsome check and the promise of continued support.

"The Dorcas and Nursing associations have also been well supported by Mr. Chisholm.

"By the thoughtful and generous kindness of Mr. Chisholm, Duluth, Minn., writes another correspondent, many of the poorer homes in Beauly and district were brightened and cheered this Christmas season. Mr. Chisholm has now for some years back remembered his father's native district in various ways. His means of doing good are happily keeping pace with the generous wishes of his heart. His aim is to relieve distress, to aid the needy, to make young hearts happier, and add to the enjoyment of athletic sport in the Strathglass and Beauly districts. In the carrying out of these purposes he has been fortunate in securing the services of Dr. and Mrs. Leach to be the channels of distribution. Their wisdom, tact and sympathy help them in their ministration in such a way as to earn the admiration of everyone concerned. At their last meeting before Christmas, Mrs. Leach, through the Dorcas society, distributed a large number of parcels, each containing one pound of tea and four pounds of sugar, among the more necessitous homes."

WOULD CURB THE CONTRACT JUMPERS

Belated Payment of Salary Raise Expected to Hold Teachers.

With the view of curbing the practice of teachers of rural schools of breaking their contracts during the middle of the school year, the county board of education, which has direct supervision over the schools of the unorganized districts, has adopted a novel idea, which will, it is believed, put a stop to many resignations.

County Superintendent of Schools N. A. Young comments upon the situation as follows in the Rural School Bulletin, the official organ of the county schools:

"The county board of education of St. Louis county has been accustomed to raise the salary of any first grade teacher who is deemed worthy of retention, at the rate of $40 a year as long as she remains in the service. So far this increase in salary has been paid at the rate of $5 a month, but, in all probability, it will all be paid, next year, with the last month's salary. In other words, any teacher, who is now receiving $75 a month, will receive, next year, $75 a month for the first seven months, and, in case she teaches the eighth month, she will be paid $115 for so doing. This arrangement may not stop resignations, but the school board will have $5 for each month of the uncompleted term to be thankful for, in case the teacher does find it necessary to break her contract."

OUCH! MY BACK! RUB PAINS AWAY END LUMBAGO, SCIATICA, BACKACHE

Get a Small Trial Bottle of Old-Time Penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil."

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right into the pain or ache and by the time you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing, penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the ache and pain right out and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless and doesn't burn or discolor the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica and lame back misery so promptly and surely. It never disappoints.

COMMERCE COMMISSION IS OVERBURDENED.

The interstate commerce commission is overburdened with appointments. Its docket is so extensive that it cannot cover the entire country. Even great railroad centers like Chicago must at times be overlooked.

For that reason the Washington officials, through congress, may be called upon to name a subsidiary board of commissioners. From the headquarters of the commission in Washington comes the news that plans for lightening the work of the commission are expected in a short time. The impression prevails that the solution will be in the naming of additional examiners, each of whom will be qualified to write opinions, to be submitted to the commission.

NO DAMAGES FOR LOSING PET CORN.

La Crosse, Wis., Jan. 21.—In circuit court a jury refused to award L. L. Brown, route agent for an express company, $2,000 damages for the loss of his pet corn. Brown allowed a barber shop chiropodist to remove the corn, which had been his constant companion for ten years, but afterward was dissatisfied with the job and sought to collect damages from the proprietor of the shop. The jury returned a verdict of no cause for action.

FREE ADVICE ABOUT YOUR

Manly Strength

TO MY READER:

Whether or not you lack an abundant vigor, here is a free offer which will surely interest you, and through which you may easily profit from now on to the end of a ripe, healthy, advanced age. I have compiled a little treatise (or self help book form) which I am pleased to send absolutely free by mail in a perfectly plain, sealed envelope to any man anywhere who writes for it. Over a million copies have already been thus distributed to those who wrote for them from all over the world. There is no obligation whatsoever involved in this offer, nothing which you are required to buy nothing which you are required to pay for in any way, either now or in the future. It is just simply an out-and-out free proposal. In this little book of 72 pages, 8,000 words and 30 half-tone photo reproductions, I have endeavored to give a stright-forward talk to men, young and elderly, single and married, a concise compendium for self-reference, a perfectly plain discourse upon those important, personal matters relating to vital strength of men, the preservation of virility, its possible self restoration, its legitimate uses and its wanton abuses. Every man should be in possession of this book. One part describes a little drugless mechanical vitalizer which I make and distribute, but whether or not you wish to use one of these vitalizers is for you yourself to determine.

IT'S THE MAN, NOT THE CLOTHES THAT COUNTS.

However, aside from anything it contains in reference to my vitalizer, the book should be read by all for its own real worth. Therefore, please use free coupon below.

SANDEN, Author.

Reader, the whole world is today alive to the importance of a better general understanding of sex hygiene. The much discussed science of eugenics is teaching the great mass of people that strong, healthy, rugged parents beget equally sturdy children.

Manhood, no matter where or in what condition of life we find it, is the single power that most fascinates both men and women. The one who radiates this manly influence, this result of a vigorous, sturdy nerve force, is the one who forges to the front, while weaker people stand aside.

It is my opinion that any man may hope for a complete restoration of his manhood and vigor if he but make up his mind that he WILL conquer himself. Of course I do not include the man of extreme old age or the one who is incurably diseased. Lost vitality is not, according to my theory, an organic disease. It is more a sick condition of the mind and the nerves and a lowered state of the whole body, all combined. My free book tells you just what you may do.

The vitalizer referred to above, which I make and distribute, is a little appliance that men who desire to restore lost vitality are using everywhere today. The book in one part fully describes it. You wear this vitalizer comfortably upon your body all night. It weighs but a few ounces, and pours a great, gentle stream of FORCE or VITALITY into your blood, your nerves, your muscles and organs while you sleep. Men say it drives away the nervous weakness or pain in small of back often by one application; that vigor is restored in 60 to 90 days. With special attachments my vitalizer is also used for rheumatism, kidney, liver, stomach, bladder disorders, etc. It is a wonderful little appliance and generates and sends out a marvelous force. Possibly you might want to use one of these vitalizers in your own case. If so, you can, after reading the free book, let me know and I will make a special proposition whereby you may have one. If you live in or near this city I should be most pleased to have you call and get a free demonstration of the vitalizer, otherwise write. Hours 9 to 6; Sundays, 10 to 1.

LET ME SEND YOU THIS BOOK FREE.

If you live too far to call, or if you cannot call, please fill in the coupon below and send it to me. You will receive free, sealed, by return mail, my 72-page illustrated book, containing 8,000 words, a complete compendium of useful information for men, young or elderly, single or married, who want the truth about the subject of vital strength, its preservation, its possible self-restoration and its legitimate uses and wanton abuses. You get it all, free.

TELLS HOW HIS WIFE BEGGED FOR DEATH

Eighty-Year-Old Veteran of Civil War Describes Killing.

Philadelphia, Jan. 21.—Tottering under the weight of his 80 years, William Eberwein stood in criminal court here and told a simple but dramatic story of how his wife, 15 years younger, had asked him to kill her and how he had committed the deed. After the old man had completed the story, Judge Walling of Erie, Pa., temporarily presiding in the court, surveyed the bent form of the prisoner, fixed the crime at murder in the second degree and imposed the minimum penalty, which in this case was practically a life sentence. It was solitary confinement in the penitentiary for not less than seven years or more than fourteen.

Holding on to the prisoners' dock with trembling hands, Eberwein, who is a veteran of the Civil war, told the court that his wife was an invalid, and one day last October he came into their home and found her lying at the bottom of a stairway down which she had fallen. He offered to have her sent to a hospital, but she would not go.

"It's No Sin.

"You do it, William," Eberwein alleged she said.

"'Do what?' I asked," the prisoner continued.

"'End it all for me. It's no sin when I'm suffering so.'

"I had a board in my hand that I had brought in out of the yard. I looked at her and guessed it wouldn't be a sin.

"'Go on, William,' she said, 'go on.'

"Then I tapped her on the head with the board, and I tapped her again. She didn't moan much, and once when I stopped she kind o' whispered, 'Go on, it won't be long.'

"So I kept on tapping and she got quiet."

Eberwein stopped speaking, but no one urged him on. Then he began again and told of his arrest.

"If I get out of this, I want to go to the Sailors' home," he said.

TO INSPECT DOCKS AT TWIN PORTS

Island Creek Company's Manager Arrives From Minneapolis.

W. H. Groverman of Minneapolis, general manager of the Island Creek Coal company, arrived in Duluth yesterday for an inspection of the local docks and the company's property in Duluth and Superior.

Mr. Groverman, who is in charge of the docks and the sales department, was in Chicago last Saturday, where he conferred with T. W. Davis, president of the company. It was the latter's plan, according to Mr. Groverman, to come to Duluth on a short visit, but owing to an urgent call from New York, he was compelled to return East, after spending the following day in Minneapolis.

No additional building will be done by the Island Creek company this year, according to Mr. Groverman. The work now under way will be finished, he said. He admitted, however, that negotiations are under way for several additions to the docks within the next few years.

FOLLOWS WIFE AND MALE COMPANION

Canadian's Travels Take Him to Minneapolis and the Coast.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 21.—Tracked by her husband over a trail that crossed the Canadian boundary three times, Mrs. Rose Helder, wife of A. Helder, a wealthy citizen of Victoria, B. C., was arrested yesterday in company with Edwin Wright and charged with having contributed to the delinquency of her two minor children, Jack, aged 7, and Helen, aged 5. The children had accompanied Mrs. Helder and Wright on all their travels since they left their home in Victoria. Wright also was arrested.

Mrs. Helder and Wright left Victoria two months ago. They went to San Diego, Cal., and thence, according to Helder, to Winnipeg, Man. Helder followed them, only to learn they had gone to Minneapolis.

When Helder arrived at Minneapolis he was told that Wright and Mrs. Helder and the children had fled to Kansas City. From Kansas City they came to Los Angeles, and Helder found them here.

DULUTH MAIL ORDERS GROW

December Business in This Department Best in History of Office.

Duluthians Receive $85,-125.22 Through Mails in One Month.

The biggest domestic money order business in the history of Duluth is now being done by the local postoffice. There is no doubt but what Duluth is rapidly getting into the class of the Twin Cities as a mail order center.

According to figures prepared by Miss Ella R. Stringer, superintendent of the money order division, the business during the month of December was the largest in the history of the city, both in the domestic and international money order departments. The total amount issued exceeded the month of December, 1912, by over $15,000, while the amount paid out was $3,000 more than paid during the same month in 1912.

During last month there were 8,311 domestic money orders issued, amounting to $66,862.50, with $515.57 in fees being paid the postoffice. There were 9,565 orders paid out, amounting to $85,125.22, most of which was redeemed by local maid order houses. This makes a total of over $21,000 a week during the month of December. During December, 1912, there were 6,987 orders issued, amounting to $61,021.99, and 10,343 redeemed, which totaled $80,520.42.

There were 2,238 international money orders issued, amounting to $40,740.32, while during the same month in 1912 only 1,855 orders totaling $30,231.26 were issued. But sixty-two international orders were redeemed here last month, amounting to $1,797.56. In December, 1912, sixty-eight orders were redeemed, totaling $3,020.77.

Miss Stringer said that the total issue of money orders during last month was $107,689.34 and the total paid out was $86,922.78.

The local postoffice is also the depository for 185 smaller offices in this section of the state and during the month remittances totaling $272,491.10 were received. In December, 1912, the total was $241,695.24.

At the rate of last month, with a slight reduction to reach an average, the incoming and outgoing business of the local postoffice during the present year should easily reach the $2,000,000 mark, according to Miss Stringer.

GOMPERS SEES GOOD TIMES AHEAD

Labor Federation Head Is Optimistic Over the Outlook.

New York, Jan. 21.—"Business? I am an optimist," said President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor. "I think we are on the beginning of real prosperous times. I do not know how many of our people are out of work, but I doubt if it is much above the average at this season.

"But things are looking up. There is no reason for anybody's being pessimistic—the country and the people in it are all right and good times are ahead. What more can we ask for?"

FAMILY DEAD AFTER FAREWELL FEAST

Texans Had Not Been Seen for More Than a Month.

Fort Worth, Tex., Jan. 21.—M. F. Taylor, his wife and two children were found dead yesterday afternoon at their home here. They were last seen alive Dec. 6, when Taylor quiet work saying he was going to Oklahoma City.

Officers found evidence of what they believed to be a farewell feast provided by Taylor before the family was exterminated. The bodies of Mrs. Taylor and a 2-year-old daughter were covered up in bed. That of Homer, aged 5, had been partly burned, but the others had been shot.

Nominated to Congress.

Catarrh! WHETHER IN Head, Throat, Stomach, Kidneys or Bladder, Use S. S. S.

It is definitely known that catarrh can be cured by the simple process of inoculating the blood with antidotal remedies that stop inflammatory conditions throughout the mucous linings of all the organs of the body. This is done with the famous Swift's Sure Specific, or as it is widely known, S. S. S. It is taken into the blood just as naturally as the most nourishing food. It spreads its influence over every organ in the body, through all the veins and arteries, and enables all mucous surfaces to exchange inflammatory acids and other irritating substances for arterial elements that effectually cleanse the system and thus put an end to all catarrhal pollution. S. S. S. cleans out the stomach of mucous accumulations, enables only pure, blood-making materials to enter the intestines, combines with these food elements to enter the circulation, and in less than an hour is at work throughout the body in the process of purification.

You will soon realize its wonderful influence by the absence of headache, a decided clearing of the air passages, a steadily improved nasal condition, and a sense of bodily relief that proves how completely catarrh often infects the entire system. You will find S. S. S. on sale at all drug stores.

For special advice on any blood disease write to the Swift Specific Co., 306 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Do not delay to get a bottle of S. S. S. from your druggist.

Always insist that you want S. S. S. and nothing else. Beware of all attempts to sell you a substitute.

BIG OUTPUT OF LUMBER

Despite Mild Weather Duluth Mills Will Saw 135,-000,000 Feet.

About 655,000,000 Feet to Be Marketed Here—Prices Strengthening.

Though woods operations were hampered through the long extended spell of mild weather this winter, the cut of lumber in Duluth and district for the season will, it is estimated, aggregate 790,000,000 feet.

The cut of the Duluth mills is placed at 135,000,000 feet, of which 100,000,000 feet is to be credited to Alger, Smith & Co.; 30,000,000 feet to Mullery & McDonald company, and 5,000,000 feet to the Scott-Graff Lumber company.

Outputs of operators at points in this territory, but marketed here, are put at 655,000,000 feet divided as follows: The Cloquet Lumber company, Johnson-Wentworth company and the Northern Lumber company at Cloquet, Minn., 200,000,000 feet; Trout Lake Lumber company at Tower, 30,000,000 feet; Virginia & Rainy Lake Lumber company at Virginia, 250,000,000 feet; Hines Lumber company and Swallow & Hopkins at Winton, 50,000,000 feet; operators at points on the Canadian Northern railway to the Canadian border, including those at Baudette, 100,000,000 feet, and by various small mills at points in the territory, 25,000,000 feet.

Year's Output Normal.

"While the scaling of logs up to the present will show quite a falling off from last year, I think that on the final roundup, the output at Duluth and in the territory tributary to it will reach fully 800,000,000 feet for the season," said a prominent local jobber this morning. "Should market conditions warrant it, the cut may easily be increased as the big concerns now in the trade are in a position to jump up their outputs whenever desired. What they do is not so much contingent on weather as on selling conditions. Sizing the situation up, it is remarkable how well the outputs of forest products in Northern Minnesota have been maintained. From many districts, thought to have been completely stripped ten years ago, considerable stuff is still coming out, and it looks as if pulpwood and ties as well as saw logs will be marketed from them for many years yet. However, with these big annual cuts, the country is being rapidly denuded of its timber resources, and unless something is done in the way of reforesting, it will be only a matter of time when we will be up against it for timber. How rapidly that condition is coming about is shown right here in Duluth. Within a ten-year period the number of mills at this point has been cut down from ten to four, and of these one plant, that of the Virginia & Rainy Lake Lumber company at West Duluth will probably not operate this winter."

Prices Are Strengthening.

While no large sales of lumber have been reported so far this season, the market situation is strengthening. Stocks remaining at the Lower Lake ports are computed to be the lowest in years. As a further strong factor it is estimated that the season's supply from the Northwest will fall far below its last year's total, while at the same time the cut at Georgian Bay limits on the Canadian side is likely to show a serious diminution. Under these conditions, mill men have up to the present not shown any anxiety to name their prices, and the market is said to be working up. Inquiries from the East have been received here during the last few days, and buyers are expected to visit this market early next month.

Contracts for boxwood have, however, been already entered into on practically the same basis as last season's best prices. Figures on white pine boards are nominally now about where they were a year ago.

CLARK TOO BUSY TO GO OUT TO DINNER

Explains Declination of Invitation—No Connection With Bryan.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Speaker Clark's declination of an invitation to attend a Democratic dinner this evening at Calvert hall, the historic home of Lord Baltimore, at which Secretary Bryan is to be a guest, stirred so much commotion that the speaker issued a characteristic statement.

Published reports connected the speaker's declination with the presence of Secretary Bryan and echoes of the Baltimore convention. The speaker did not dignify this suggestion with a reference, but explained that he has declined all social functions except those he felt it necessary to attend as the speaker of the house of representatives.

"I have cut out all dinners and functions except those I feel under obligations to attend in my official capacity," said the speaker.

Had Two Reasons.

"I did this for two reasons: First, because I haven't the time to attend them. I have too much to do. Second, Mr. Safford, so long librarian of congress, once told me that most public men and army and navy officers who died in Washington 'dug their graves with their own teeth,' a saying which I took to heart.

"The people of the country are not interested to any considerable extent in dinners in Washington, but they are interested very much as to what congress does, and when it does it, and I am trying my best to expedite business so that we can get away from here before the snow flies next fall and give the country a rest. That is a good policy for both the country and the Democratic party."

RETAIL LUMBER DEALERS' MEET

Twenty-Fourth Annual Session Being Held in Mill City.

Minneapolis, Min., Jan. 22.—The second day's session of the twenty-fourth annual convention of the Northwestern Retail Lumbermen's association began this morning with a large attendance. Addresses were made by E. W. Mayer, Triumph, Minn.; C. L. Wright, Fairfield, Iowa; George M. Gillette, Minneapolis; A. D. Schelk, Dubuque, Iowa; L. C. Boyle, Kansas City City, and J. E. Marcellus, Philadelphia.

In his address yesterday President Wood gave a rosy view of the business outlook for 1914, and informed the members present that the mail order houses, which had at one time threatened the retail lumber dealers with serious loss, had failed in their attempt, and that all danger from that source had passed.

Scored Mail Order Houses.

President Wood bitterly arraigned the mail order houses, claiming it was the influences of false advertising matter circulated promiscuously by these concerns through the mails that had caused a bitter prejudice in the minds of the general public against the lumber dealers and other organizations of business men.

"I hope to see the day, and that soon," he said, "when honest advertising will be compulsory by Federal statute and honest goods and honest service shall prevail wherever the Stars and Stripes control."

Other speakers Tuesday were Thomas R. Cooper of Fargo and George S. Wood of Chicago.

ADMITS PART IN RESORT HOLDUP.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 21. — Lloyd Carter, 26 years old, has confessed, according to the local police, that he was one of a band of highwaymen who held up a resort in Omaha on the night of Jan. 15, killed Harry E. Nickell, a bank teller, and robbed frequenters of $8,000 in diamonds and money.

Carter was arrested in St. Joseph, Mo., and brought here. After Carter's alleged confession, the police claim to have found concealed in his coat four diamonds said to be worth $800.

MOUN DAY AND HIS WIFE FOUND GUILTY.

Kansas City, Kan., Jan. 21.—Don A. Moun Day of Topeka, Kan., and Mrs. L. D. W. Moun Day, his wife, were found guilty in the Federal court here yesterday of the use of the mails to defraud in the sale of 165,000 acres of land in the Upper Pecos valley of New Mexico. Each of nine counts on which they were found guilty calls for a sentence of not more than five years in the penitentiary, and a fine of not to exceed $1,000.

THE DEMAND is increasing enormously Can we tell you the Reason Why?

Neuralgia, Colds, Sore Throat

STOPPED!

not slowly—after a while—but at once! The effect of Sloan's Liniment is magical. You have but to lay it gently on the afflicted spot—and presto! It goes right through the flesh straight to the source of the ache, and soothes, soothes, soothes till all the pain is quickly gone.

Don't wait till pain visits you—buy a bottle of Sloan's Liniment today—keep it in the house—it's the best known insurance against aches and pains.

Cured Quinsy Sore Throat

Mr. Henry L. Caulk, of 1242 Wilson Street, Wilmington, Del., writes: "I bought a bottle of Sloan's Liniment for the quinsy sore throat and it cured me. I shall always keep a bottle in the house."

Stopped Neuralgia and Toothache

Mrs. Rudolph Nischke, Oconto, Wis., writes: "I have used Sloan's Liniment for toothache and neuralgia in the head where nothing else would help, and I would not be without the Liniment in the house."

Cured Neuralgia

Mrs. C. M. Dowker of Johannesburg, Mich., writes: "I wish to say your Liniment is the best medicine in the world. It has cured me of neuralgia; those pains have all gone and I can truly say your Liniment did cure me."

SLOAN'S LINIMENT

STATE GETS $172,690.34 FROM MINES

Royalties for Last Quarter of 1913 Are Paid.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mine royalties paid the state for the last quarter of 1913 totaled $172,690.34. Payments are due the 20th day of the month after the quarter, in this case yesterday. The figures were compiled today.

Of the total, $157,690.30 comes from thirteen large mines, shipping ore during the year, and about $15,000 from mines which, although shipping no ore, are subject to a minimum royalty on 5,000 tons.

During the year 2,869,197 tons were shipped. This is almost twice the amount shipped in 1912.

Receipts for the year were $715,049.25. To this should be added about $75,000 for minimum leases and $10,000 for other leases not opened but for which $100 each is paid for ground rent, making approximately $800,000 accruing to the state from the mines during the year.

On Aug. 1 there were 164 state mineral leases, of which 66 were in the royalty class and 19 shipped ore.

Four-fifths of the receipts go to the permanent school fund and the remainder is divided between the swamp land and university funds.

Office Men Meet.
The Duluth Association of Office Men will hold its first regular weekly meeting at the Commercial club assembly room at 7:30 this evening. It is hoped by the officers that the attendance will be good for the reason that the matter of the constitution of the association will be taken up, committees will be appointed and the current year's program will be mapped out.

Jury May Disagree.
A jury disagreement is looked for in the trial of Stans Sankoski, charged with burglary, which is now on in district court. The case was given to the jury at 10:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon and although the jury has been out for nearly twenty-eight hours no verdict has been brought in. Sankoski is charged with having entered a room at the Adelphi hotel, Jan. 3, with the intent of committing a robbery.

LONELY, HE BURNS HIMSELF TO DEATH

Peterson, Minn., Jan. 21.—Oppressed with loneliness because of the absence of his wife and child, receiving treatment in a hospital at La Crosse, Christ J. Bentson, money lender and wealthy retired farmer, today set fire to his home and burned himself to death in it. Bentson made two attempts, neighbors extinguishing the first fire.

SAYS "J. C. R." IS NORTH DAKOTAN

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—"J. C. R." is Jay Allen Caldwell of Taylor, N. D., in the opinion of Adam A. Lefor of Taylor, N. D., who was here today. Mr. Lefor knew him from boyhood until he disappeared seven or eight years ago. Dispatches from Chicago a few days ago indicated "J. C. R." might be Caldwell, according to identification made by two women.

Mr. Lefor saw the photograph of "J. C. R." taken in Chicago and is certain it is Caldwell.

GETS TITLE TO ORE LAND

In district court today, Judge Bert Fesler handed down a decision in an action which involved a dispute as to the title to a one-sixth interest in a tract of land near Buhl, which is claimed by some of the litigants to be worth upward to $3,000,000 because of iron ore deposits.

The court vests the title of the disputed interest in Charles McGillis, who was the original homesteader on the land. It was disputed by Amelia Stubler, wife of Jacob Stubler of this city. The land is described as the northeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 20, 58-19.

At a forfeited tax sale held June 18, 1899, McGillis claimed that he bought the property in, but that he borrowed the money to make his payments from Jacob Stubler, with whom he agreed that the tax title certificate should stand in the name of Mrs. Stubler until he could repay the money.

Through some mistake two certificates were issued by the county auditor. The court in its findings holds that McGillis is owner subject to the lien of the Stubler claim, which must be paid off by McGillis before his title is clear.

The owner of a two-thirds interest of the tract is the Pennsylvania Iron & Steel company, represented by W. S. Telford.

LOST BULK OF HIS $1,400,000 FUND.

New York, Jan. 21.—Frank E. Vogel, once a millionaire meat packer, has nothing but a few thousand dollars to show today for investments of $1,400,000 made in the enterprise of Henry Siegel, with whom he was co-partner in drygoods ventures which failed recently. Vogel so testified today before a special master appointed in receivership proceedings involving certain Siegel interests.

Georgia Bank Closed.
Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 21.—The Travelers' bank was closed today by the state bank examiner. The bank was organized about two years ago with a capital stock of $200,000. Its deposits are said to be less than that amount.

DEAN WOODS IS SPEAKER

Minnesotan Addresses Tri-State Meet on Agricultural Education.

Women Attending Fargo Gathering Also Discussing Pertinent Themes.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—This is conservation and women's auxiliary day at the Tri-State Grain and Stockgrowers' convention being held here and the second day brought out a larger attendance. Dean Woods of the Minnesota Agricultural college and Governor Hanna were among the chief speakers today along with President Worst, who delivered his annual address.

President Vincent of the Minnesota university will speak this evening. This morning Dean Woods spoke on "The Organization of Agricultural Education." "Briquetting Lignite Coal" was discussed by L. M. Davis of Minot. State Senator Meuer of Hettinger spoke on the "Manufacture of Pressed Brick from North Dakota Clays." Dean Babcock of the state university discussed "The Clays and Coals of North Dakota."

The afternoon program included addresses by J. D. Pierce of Larimore on "Paper Making from Flax Straw," "Prevention of Tuberculosis" by Mrs. J. Stevens of Grand Forks and addresses by Governor Hanna and George W. Cooley of Minnesota.

DEAN A. F. WOODS.

Women Also Meeting.

The wives and the daughters of the farmers held a convention today at the agricultural college presided over by Mrs. Amidon, wife of the local Federal jurist, who was raised on a Cass county farm and still is engaged in farming. Her annual address was the first number on the program after the musical selection. Pure Food Commissioner Ladd spoke on "Food Adulterations." "The Economy of Human Energy in the Farm Home" was discussed by Mrs. C. A. Fisher of Oriska and Mrs. J. E. Dodds of Wheaton, Minn., spoke on "The International Congress of Farm Women."

The ladies were entertained at lunch at Ceres hall by the department of domestic economy of the college. The afternoon program consisted of an address by Miss Rae of Fargo on "The Value of Poultry on the Farm," Mrs. J. E. Hudson of Forman spoke on "Science of Color in the Home" and Mrs. G. L. Martin of the agricultural college gave demonstrations of tests of adulterated textiles. Following the addresses, the livestock barns and the poultry yards and the college laboratories were inspected by the women.

Thursday Livestock Day.

Tomorrow is livestock day. It will be featured by the presence of Governor Eberhart of Minnesota. There will be addresses by Thomas Cooper of the North Dakota Better Farming association; A. J. McGuire, Grand Rapids, Minn., W. L. Houser of Mondovi, Wis., M. F. Greeley of Aberdeen, S. D., Frank Sanford, Valley City, Professor Smith of the Minnesota agricultural college, Professor Thomas Shaw of St. Paul. The business meeting and banquet will be held in the evening.

The Tri-State convention program for the evening provides for addresses by President McVey of the North Dakota university and by Governor Eberhart of Minnesota.

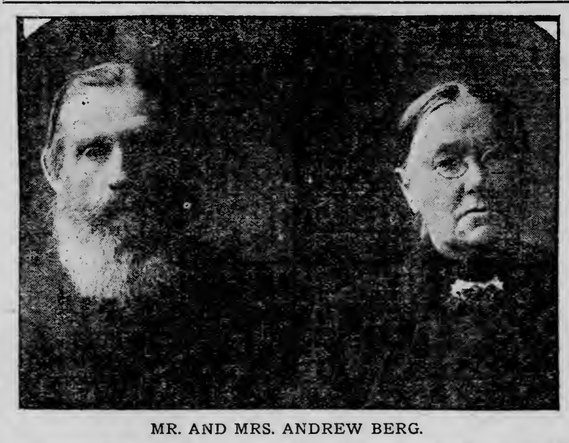

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies Are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides, it takes off dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance. Agent, Wirth's drug store, 13 West Superior street.

KENNEDY, MINN., COUPLE MARRIED FIFTY YEARS

MR. AND MRS. ANDREW BERG.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Berg of Kennedy recently celebrated their golden wedding. About 200 of their neighbors and relatives attended. Mr. and Mrs. Berg were presented with a substantial purse of gold. An elaborate dinner was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Berg are both of the same age, 71 years, and were married fifty years ago at Wargola, Sweden. They came to Nicolett county, Minn., in 1872 and to Kittson county in 1881 and settled on a homestead six miles west of Kennedy where they resided till 1903, since which time they have resided in Kennedy. The marriage resulted in eight children, seven of whom are alive together with twenty-four grand children. The children are: S. Berg of Kennedy, Charles J., Crookston, Alfred, manager of a store at Enok, Minn., Albert, manager of the Kennedy Implement company, Oscar W., of Park River, N. D., Miss Hannah of Kennedy and Mrs. Hilda Peterson of Alberta, Can. Mr. and Mrs. Berg are still robust.

AUSTRALIAN MEAT IN UPPER PENINSULA.

Munising, Mich., Jan. 21.—Woodenware manufactured in Upper Michigan is finding markets thousands of miles distant.

One Munising concern has just shipped a large consignment to Cape Town, South Africa. Exports to other foreign countries are not unusual. Upper Michigan's woodenware companies produce a great variety of products. Butter dishes, clothes, pins, pie plates, bowls, ladles, rolling pins, spoons, dippers, towel racks and clothesline pins. The big logs that enter the manufactory emerge as the finished products, packed ready for shipment. The processes of manufacture have been so perfected that machinery does practically all the work and the volume of the outputs is marvelous.

IS MARRIED BY FATHER; WRITES WEDDING "STORY."

Bowman, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—When George A. Totten, Jr., decided to be married he sent out for his father, Rev. George A. Totten, who performed the ceremony and this week the bridegroom's newspaper in Bowman will carry the story of the wedding, written by the groom himself.

Only the bride's mother and the clerk of the hotel at which the wedding was performed witnessed the ceremony.

Miss Wilhelmina Hammer was the bride.

NORTH DAKOTA HAS AGED HOMESTEADERS.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—North Dakota boasts of homesteaders of advanced years.

Recently Mrs. Hamblin, who had a claim near St. John, made final proof. She is 83 and extremely active, appearing to be no more than 65.

T. W. Hyde, 75 years old, is holding down a claim near Plaza on the Berthold reservation, and will make proof this fall.

EAU CLAIRE MAN DIES.

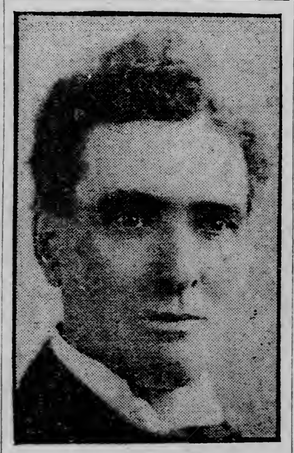

Albert L. Dodge, Pioneer Druggist, Heeds Final Call.

Eau Claire, Wis., Jan. 21.—This city is mourning the death yesterday following an operation of Albert L. Dodge, a pioneer druggist, who had long been prominent in church and civic work, aged 67. A native of Vermont he went to Boston when a young man and studied the drug profession and came here in 1865 and engaged in that business for many years.

He has been a member of the First Congregational church of Eau Claire since 1866 and was president of the first Y. M. C. A. in Eau Claire. He is survived by his wife and three children, James A. Dodge of Chicago, and Mrs. Amer Wrigley of Freemont, who were with him and Albert Cole Dodge of London, Eng. Also two brothers, Henry of Kenosha, and Fred of Bridgewater, Vt., and one granddaughter, Dorothy Dodge of London, Eng.

Mr. Dodge was the first president of the old Y. M. C. A., holding the position at the time it closed in 1895. He kept an excellent record of the proceedings and took an active and prominent part in the launching of the new Y. M. C. A. and building of its first permanent home.

SEEKS POSTOFFICE AT GRAND FORKS

J. J. DUNLOP.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. J. Dunlop, assistant postmaster here, a position he has held for a great many years, is a candidate for the postmastership as a successor of Frank V. Kent. Mr. Dunlop is a life-long Democrat and was one of the first entrants in the field for appointment. New zest has been added to the fight for the office recently by the entrance of George E. Duis.

BIG STEELE COUNTY FARM IN NEW HANDS

Large North Dakota Property Reported Sold to Syndicate.

Sherbrooke, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—G. K. Jordet, who owns the largest farm in Steele county, is reported to have disposed of his holdings to a German colonization syndicate. It is proposed to bring a family of German farmers for each quarter section.

Illinoisans Buy Lands.

Casselton, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Closing a deal with capitalists at Rockford, Ill., William McRoberts of this place has sold them 11,500 acres of land in Billings county, which includes eighteen sections. Farmers now renting lands in Illinois will be brought to this state and quarter and half section farms will be sold them from the tract on easy terms.

GETS $36 BALM FOR HEAD BLOW.

Wahpeton, N. D., Jan. 21.—Thirty-six dollars was the amount of damages of the jury which sat in the case of Berg versus Lovedokken thought the defendant was entitled to, after deliberating over the case a short while. Berg charged that Lovedokken had hit him in the head with a notary seal, and brought suit against him for $10,000.

RED WING SCHOOL BOYS BREAK OUT.

Red Wing, Minn., Jan. 21.—Prying off the door of their room in Cottage "A" with a jimmy, five of the oldest boys at the state training school effected their escape from the institution.

Three were captured six miles below Red Wing. Two are still at liberty. Authorities between Minneapolis and La Crosse have been notified to be on the lookout.

AUTO GOES THROUGH MISSOURI ICE.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 21.—The auto livery car driven by Carl Sheckenberg went through the ice of the Missouri river Tuesday and the car sank until covered by water. Sheckenberg was on the way to Flasher with two passengers and struck an air hole about two miles from Bismarck. Both the driver and the passengers escaped before the car sank.

SKULL CRUSHED OILING MACHINERY.

Ambrose, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—With a fractured skull and an arm broken in two places, William Bolsley of this place is in a serious condition. He was oiling the electric light plant, when his arm was drawn into a wheel. He was thrown with such force against the machinery that his skull was crushed.

Object to Canadian Quarantine.

St. John, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—St. John residents are aroused over the quarantine established against this town by the Canadian officials, which prohibits the entry of passengers from this station on the train and compels the train crews formerly stopping here to go on to Rolla and remain there. Other discriminations are alleged and the local people have demanded that the state board of health investigate conditions here to demonstrate there is no necessity of a rigid quarantine.

GET RELIEF FROM CATTLE HIDES FOUND; THEFTS ARE SUSPECTED.

Schafer, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The discovery of a cache of six-five cattle hides in an abandoned well confirms the suspicions of the officials that an organized gang of cattle thieves have been operating in the southwestern part of McKenzie county for several months.

NORTH DAKOTA PAIR FOOL GIRL'S PARENTS.

Belfield, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Baranski secured the assistance of a Dickinson liveryman, hid behind a hill near the Gregory farm and when pretty Mary Gregory, 16 years old, started ostensibly to visit a neighbor, it is said, they eloped. They are supposed to be in Montana. The parents objected to the attention of Baranski to their daughter and forbade him the place.

FARM MANAGERS ALSO MEETING.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—An interesting side feature of tri-state convention here today was the meeting of the Farm Managers' association. The membership is composed of leading farm managers in the Northwest. O. D. Center of the Better Farming association, John Dalrymple of the Dalrymple bonanza farms, Prof. Chase of the agricultural college and others are on the program. There will be a banquet tomorrow night.

CAN'T BE DEPORTED.

North Dakota Makes New Ruling in Deportation Case.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 21.—Upon the ground that foreigners who enter the United States from an adjacent country, unless that country is used as "a back door," cannot be deported to Europe, Judge Charges Amidon, in Federal court yesterday issued an order restraining the commissioner of immigration from deporting to Austria five laborers who entered the state from Canada last fall.

The men were employed on an American farm three miles from the border when arrested, and neither employer nor laborers knew that the law was being violated.

At the trial Judge Amidon imposed a fine of $5 on James Longtin, the employer, and ordered the laborers released.

The department has now instituted civil suit for $5,000 against Longtin and ordered the laborers deported. Judge Amidon forbade the department to carry the latter order into effect, although the laborers may be deported to Canada from where they entered.

MARRIAGE FEE CASE GOES TO HIGH COURT.

Beach, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The disposition of the money for marriage licenses is to be passed on by the supreme court. The county commissioners have ordered that a suit be brought against M. H. Jefferson, county judge, to compel him to turn over the marriage license fees to the county. It has been the custom since statehood for the officials to retain this money as a perquisite. Section 4039 of the Revised code of 905 is their authority. The county commissioners insist that under the recent ruling of the state supreme court regarding the fees of the county auditors the county judges should also turn this money over to the treasurer.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Hancock—The Norwegian Lutheran church elected these officers: Secretary, Markus Kajander; treasurer, Ollie Nelson; deacons, E. Simonson, Mrs. Ollie Anderson, Mrs. Isaac Olson and Elnar Iverson; trustees for three years, Ollie Olson and E. Simonson; collectors, Markus Kajander, Elnar Iverson and Mrs. Julia Sjorstrom; superintendent of Sunday school, Ollie Anderson; organist, Miss Annie Anderson.

Calumet—Two unsuccessful attempts to gain entrance to the Royal theater were made Saturday and Sunday night and officers are at work on clues that undoubtedly will lead to arrests.

Hancock—News of the death of John T. Gunnis, a former Copper country resident, at Anaconda, Mont., was received Saturday evening by Thomas Coughlin. The deceased was well known by many Hancock people.

Marquette—The Marquette County Agricultural society held a meeting Jan. 19. John D. Mangum was elected president; W. A. Ross, vice president and B. W. Wright, treasurer; A. H. Palmer, M. E. Asire and A. H. Palmer were chosen as directors.

Negaunee—The Catholic Order of Foresters installed as follows: Chief ranger, T. J. Flynn; vice chief ranger, J. P. Green; recording secretary, M. J. Curley; financial secretary, J. P. Miller; treasurer, Octave Jandron; speaker, Clovis Nadeau; spiritual advisors, Rev. H. A. Bucholtz; trustees, Louis Grenier, Joseph Mercier and Guy Katus.

Marquette—The establishment of public night schools was strongly favored by the board of education Monday evening. Although no definite action was taken, it was the sense that a night school be started in the domestic science department at the beginning of the second semester in February and that, if successful there, the work be extended along other lines as necessary.

Gladstone—A daughter was born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Le-Duc. The baby is the latest of thirteen children, of whom eleven are living.

Escanaba—Miss Alice G. Duncan, instructor in science at the Escanaba high school, suffered burns about the hands, arms and neck in her rooms at the home of Prof. E. W. Doak. Miss Duncan was filling a lighted alcohol lamp from a can, when an explosion occurred.

Negaunee—George P. Chambers, secretary of the Menominee Commercial club, is making inquiries from officers of business men's organizations in this part of the upper peninsula as to wether the proposed plan for building a trunk highway from Chicago through to the Copper country has been dropped.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Appleton—Charles Armon, Chicago, arrested here on Dec. 8, after a hand to hand battle with Attorney R. G. Jones and Mrs. W. H. Zuehlke, who caught him burglarizing the home of Col. Zuehlke, pleaded guilty here and was sentenced to five years in state prison. Armon was here on his honeymoon. His bride has deserted him.

Baraboo—William Sherwood, aged 60, was killed at the county farm by a bull. He was an inmate of the asylum.

La Crosse—John F. Kerrigan, aged 43 years, well known Pine Creek, Minn., agriculturist, died at a local hospital, Jan. 20, after a short illness with a complication of maladies. A widow, a son, and daughter survive.

Ashland—Ben Milavetz was convicted of having green deer hides in his possession in municipal court and fined $25 and costs which he paid.

Neenah—The Hotel Landgraff, one of the oldest hostelries in the Fox river valley, will be sold at public auction here soon. This action is necessary to settle the estate of the late Val Landgraf.

Green Bay—The Wollworth 5 and 10 cent store was entered and $100 taken from the safe; a saloon was entered and robbed of $18; a grocery store was robbed of $3; an office was entered, but nothing taken.

Fond du Lac—Falling asleep with one leg across the track Jacob Yonker, 60 years old, Soo line brakeman, was struck by an interurban car near this city. His left foot was cut off and his spine injured.

Milwaukee—J. M. Cleaveland, commercial agent of the Pere Marquette railroad, Milwaukee, who has been connected with the Pere Marquette railroad traffic department here for fourteen years, has been appointed to the position of general freight agent of the Pere Marquette line steamers, effective on Feb. 1.

Marinette—A. H. Bouchard and his niece of Big Suamico, had a narrow escape in a peculiar accident. Bouchard drove out on the ice in his automobile. The ice gave way and the machine went down. Fishermen nearby saved both. The machine was raised.

Mauston—Edward Van Dusen of Linden, driving home, met a neighbor, Mr. Krueger, also driving in that direction, tied his team behind Krueger's wagon and rode with him. The Van Dusen horses became frightened, plunged into the Krueger wagon and threw both men out. One of the horses stepped on Mr. Van Dusen's head, killing him.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Palermo, N. D.—In jail on conviction for embezzlement, J. C. Hoff is seeking a new trial. He contends that he has new evidence that will show he was not guilty. He was convicted of taking money from a homesteader for a specific purpose and not carrying that out.

Minot, N. D.—After finishing fifty cases in the biggest criminal calendar in the history of Ward county, Judge William Murray set the civil cases of the county for Jan. 20. About sixty civil cases will be settled.

Grand Forks, N. D.—In the opinion of City Attorney J. B. Wineman, who bases the same on facts as given him by the city engineer and others, the Continental Jewell Filteration company of New York has no just grounds for legal action against the city of Grand Forks because of its alleged use of a patent owned by the company in the installation of the filtering plant in this city.

Valley City, N. D.—The jury trying the case of L. H. Kuhry of Oriska, charged with blind-pigging, returned a verdict of guilty after being out thirty hours.

Fessenden, N. D.—Automobile owners of Wells county will meet here Jan. 28, at which time they will perfect the organization of the Wells County Good Roads' association, and when a scheme for the utilization of road funds for the construction of highways will be evolved.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Walter Schlosser, a junior law student, was elected captain of the University of North Dakota football team for 1914.

Mandan, N. D.—For the second time within a year, the residence of Charles Waite, a farmer residing near here, has been burned to the ground. It took fire while Mr. and Mrs. Waite were absent, shopping in the city.

Rolla, N. D.—A contract has been signed here for the appearance at Rolla of the Men's Glee club of the state university during the week beginning April 30.

Ellendale, N. D.—While reducing a can of carbolic acid to liquid form Rowe Amphlett of the Axtell-Amphlett Drug company, narrowly escaped serious injury when the acid exploded, burning him badly about the face and very close to the eyes. It is fortunate indeed that Mr. Amphlett escaped with his eyesight.

Grand Forks, N. D.—O. G. Hanson, formerly of Northwood, and former sheriff of Grand Forks county, announced that he will not be a candidate for the position of sheriff of Grand Forks county.

Bismarck, N. D.—During the past three years 160 postoffices have been discontinued in North Dakota. Thirty were closed by the establishment of rural delivery routes. In many cases the fact that the office has been closed, causes delay in the delivery of mail. During the past year four offices have been raised from fourth to third class, these offices being Antler, Deering, Goodrich and Hannaford.

Eagle Butte, S. D.—The Eagle Butte Hardware company has been forced into involuntary bankruptcy because of inability to meet obligations, although the firm's liabilities are about the same as the assets. The assets amount to $3,000 with $3,500 liabilities.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Stillwater—Judge Stolberg decided in the case of Evelyn Peters against the American Central Insurance company that the plaintiff is not to recover because the insurance policy on the dwelling damaged by fire had become void before the burning, on March 2, 1912.

Mankato—Several years ago Lake Gilfillan, which was a shallow body of water of some extent, was drained by a ditch running to Lake Ballentyne. Since then the bed of the lake has become meadow land and pasture. Steps have now been taken to have the bed surveyed and divided among the farmers who paid the cost of constructing the ditch.

Brainerd—Iron Moulders union, No. 226, has elected and installed its officers for the ensuing term, as follows: President, George Williams; vice president, Allen McLeary; recording secretary, Rae Hellar; financial secretary, Peter Anderson; corresponding reporter, John Taylor; treasurer, Richard Isle; inductor, Harry Taylor; doorkeeper, Oscar Emilson.

Riverton—The first village election here resulted as follows: President of the village council, John C. Metz; trustees, Louis Stolcis, Ray Wiggins and Jack Smith; clerk, J. H. Packard; treasurer, H. A. Swanson; justice of the peace, William Stearns and Russell A. Matter; constables, George Ridley and James Thomas.

Mankato—Henry Jesse, city fireman, had a fight with a prairie wolf not far from Kasota. He had gone to hunt rabbits, together with George Heil and John Walfrath, but became separated from his companions, when he was attacked by the animal. "Chink" fired two shots at the wolf, but neither seemed to take effect.

Bemidji—Next Saturday evening the high school basket ball team will journey to Walker, where they will meet the high school team of that city.

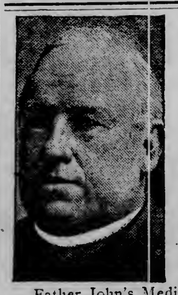

Crookston—The real estate men of Crookston decided to place an exhibit at the Sycamore, Ill., midwinter fair and short course, Feb. 10 to 13.

International Falls—Carrie Kelsey and R. Coburn were married Saturday evening by Rev. C. L. Heermance of Bethlehem church. The bride is well known in the city as the proprietor of the International bakery and Mr. Coburn has a large number of friends, although he has not been so long a resident here.

Minneapolis—Burglars entered the home of Otto E. Naegele, former president of the Germania bank and former vice president of the Metropolitan National bank, Sunday, but obtained only a cigarette case. Mr. Naegele, having suspected that men were plotting to rob his house, had his silver and other valuables stored.

Fairmont—Mrs. William Wood of the town of Center Creek, 47 years old, the wife of a farmer, killed herself Jan. 19. Because of illness her mind has been affected for months. The body was not discovered for several hours.

Litchfield—W. H. Van Ness, one of the pioneer settlers of Meeker county, died at his home in this city Saturday. He took an active part in the Indian troubles here in 1862.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

LIVE SPORTING GOSSIP

By BRUCE

KID McCOY has challenged Carpentier. This must make Tom Sharkey itch with impatience. And yet while the till in the Fourteenth street thirst emporium sings one of the sweetest songs in the world, there is yet hope that Thomas will not burden the world and add woefully to its weight of sorrows by issuing another annual challenge.

Kid McCoy has challenged. Old Fitz is told to file a brief stating his rights to fight again. Can it be possible that the lucrative lure of the game will drag from the bucolic bushes John L. Sullivan, the noblest Roman of them all?

Then there are James J. Corbett and Jake Kilrain and Tommy Ryan. This life is just one * * * * * thing after another. We are emulative. We get that from our ancestors, the monkeys. Example is one of the most powerful things in the world, despite what the temperance lecturers may say about a certain other thing. Fitzsimmons has set an example by wishing he could fight once more: horrible heavens, perhaps it is just possible that some of the others will become jealous of the limelight that is radiating off that old bald dome and will hurry to dress for similar parts.

Venerate True Genius.

SOME of those who would lead out of the paths of Stygian darkness the heedless athlete who accepts a needful dollar now and then, have taken to picking on defenseless Hannes Kolehmainen. Forbear; nay, cease.

Down through the dark corridors of the ages genius has been naively and charmingly exempt from the rigid rules of conduct that govern the rest of us. Kolehmainen is a genius—one of the greatest we have had; leave him alone.

The finished Finn is the greatest runner of all time. Turning back the leaves of history, we must go back to the messenger carrying the message between the cities of antiquity to get any basis of comparison.

Hannes runs like some poetry reads—not all poetry, understand us clearly. He is a joy and a thing of beauty—after he gets into motion. With his makeup on he is the smoothest article of the age? Molest him not. There are no other Hanneses in this dark and bleak world—he is a genius, let us humor him while he remains divinely wonderful.

Under the Limelight.

THERE are certain men who have the remarkable knack of getting certain million other people to exclaim—"Well, now! What do you think of him now?"

Jack Johnson was down and out—so they said. Suddenly he informed the world, with the assistance of the cable and postal people, that a certain very well known millionaire has guaranteed him $35,000 to fight Frank Moran.

"Well what do you think of Johnson?" the people exclaimed.

Kid McCoy has been quiet of late. His name has not been tossed on the tongues of the mob. The kid is competently familiar with the minds of the mob. He waited till Carpentier was on the lips of many, then he challenged him.

"What do you think of McCoy?" exclaimed the office boy today. There are millions of others wondering along similar lines.

It is so easy to get arrested in these degenerate days that it is hardly fair to class the publicity efforts of the Pankhurst trio, mother and the devoted daughters, along in the same line with some of the others. All they have to do is to heave a brick and lo and behold columns of live and livid stuff.

Old Fitzsimmons has had a hard time. Finally he struck the right hunch and went to court about his rights to battle. Now he is once more the cynosure of countless eyes.

Frank Gotch has a charmingly simple method of attracting attention. Frank Alvin goes out and purchases largely of fertile acres, and lo and behold many of the papers of our country give up space to the act. Agricultural journals are now for Frank and join in with generous comment.

Jack Herman, who is in our midst today, is one of the most ingenious press agents of the country.

When J. H. was handling the affairs of Zbyszko, he had a check that was more written about than any check in the world. It was a certified check; a good honest check, and every time Mr. Gotch made a move this good honest check was posted in the hands of some sporting writer, who presumably being quite unused to handling money immediately went into nervous paroxyms and wrote much regarding the check and of what it was intended for.

Mr. Roosevelt has been fairly successful.

Rube Waddell was one of the greatest. He used to fight fires, carrying stoves from buildings being one of the favorite press agent stunts of the great port flinger. Tending bar at a noon rush and then serving a drink on the house, was another of the little bits of publicity baiters of the Rube.

There are lots of 'em; loads of clever ones. Some of the clever people must be employed by the Federal leaguers, don't you think?

Y. M. E. A., Superior's best team, vs. Catholic Athletic Club, coached by W. H. Schilling, at C. A. C. gymnasium, Second avenue west and Fourth street, Wednesday evening, Jan. 21, 8 o'clock. Admission, 25c. Official, Ray W. Fenton.

MACK ANNOUNCES 1914 PLAYERS

Little Difficulty in Getting Men for World's Championship Team.

Philadelphia, Jan. 21.—Connie Mack, manager of the world's champion Athletics, has announced the names of the players that have signed contracts for the coming baseball season, the list including all the regulars with the exception of Pitchers Coombs and Plank, Catcher Thomas and Capt. Dan Murphy. The last named player is away on a hunting trip and the other unsigned men will send in their contracts in a few days, it was stated.

In addition to McInnis, Collins, Barry and Baker, Orr and Cruthers have signed as infielders. Lavin, another substitute, has not yet signed and may not be with the team this year.

Several new pitchers are revenled in Mack's long string. They are Baker, Van der Ver, Boken and Graves, and the young catchers signed up are McAvoy and Sturgis. They will work in the South with the team in the spring and may reach the big league.

The outfielders besides E. Murphy, Strunk and Oldring, include Daley, Thompson and Brickley, the latter a brother of Harvard's football captain.

C. A. C. BOYS WILL PLAY THE Y. M. E. A.

Crack Basket Ball Teams of Duluth and Superior Will Meet.

Basket ball fans are looking forward to tonight's game when the fast Y. M. E. A. team of Superior will meet the C. A. C. quint.

The C. A. C., now under Mr. Schilling's able coaching is proving a surprise to a number of fans. The Y. M. E. A. team is composed of players who have played on high and Normal school teams. They know basket ball like their A, B, Cs. As the C. A. C. boys' floor is the best in the Twin Ports they will not be handicapped by a poor playing surface.

Ray W. Fenton will act as umpire.

The Emerald-Spaa game will be a battle from start to finish as the Emeralds are out to win this game in order to even things up. They lost the first game to the Spaa, when they played them on Spaa club's floor in the West end.

COSSACK IS IN DULUTH

Gigantic Russian Wrestler and Fristensky Ready for Contests.

J. H. Herman, famous over two continents as one of the best known sporting men in the world, is in the city with Gustav Fristensky, the great Bohemian wrestler. With C. D. Mullen is Ivan Mamutoff, the gigantic Russian, the largest wrestler in the world. Costello, the huge American and Paul Martinson, the big Danish heavyweight who will battle against Fristensky, are also here and ready for the big affray of this evening.

"Duluth will see one of the elimination battles of the country," said Herman at the Spalding hotel. "You see Gotch will wrestle only one man—the best of the lot. Therefore there is great rivalry among the best of the wrestlers as to which one will earn the chance to meet Gotch.

"Fristensky and Mamutoff look like two of the best of the lot. Zbyszko is coming over a little later. Wladek Zbyszko won the Paris catch-as-catch-can tournament and must be recognized as one of the greatest of them all. Mamutoff and Fristensky made a wonderful showing in the international tournament of New York, and one of these men should meet Gotch.

Mamutoff and Beell.

The huge Russian Cossack, one of the largest athletes the world has ever seen, will engage in one of the most unique contests ever wrestled in this country, or in the world, in fact, when he faces Fred Beell at Kansas City.

Mamutoff offers to give to Beell $10 for every minute the little Wisconsin wood-chopper remains on the mat. If Beell should remain an hour, it would mean that he would earn $600, and in the event of a two-hour tussle, the little Dutchman would cart away $1,200. They must think the former bodyguard of Nicholas II pretty good, to make such an offer, and especially against a man like Beell.

Tonight's Big Battle.

At the Auditorium the Duluth fans will see two of the most famous wrestlers of the present day in action. Fristensky goes against Paul Martinson, one of the best heavyweights of the country, and the Giant Mamutoff will oppose George Costello. In the preliminary Louis Zorbas will take on Young Gotch. The show will start at the usual time.

GOPHERS LOSE BASEBALL COACH

Archie Persons, Engaged for This Year, Refuses to Fill Contract.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 22.—Archie Persons, once captain of the University of Wisconsin baseball team, engaged last June to coach the Minnesota team during the season of 1914, has backed out. As a result the spring training season is approaching and the Gopher board of athletic control finds itself without a trainer for the university baseball men.

Persons had not since been heard of since his engagement until yesterday, when a letter was received saying he would be able to fulfill his contract. He has been playing in the Southern league since leaving Wisconsin.

NAVAL MILITIA TEAM DEFEATS THE ARMY.

The Minnesota Naval militia team defeated the Co. C team last night in a fast game of indoor baseball at the armory, the score being 5 to 3. The game was featured by the pitching of Brian for the Navy team, who allowed but four hits and had twelve strikeouts, while Foster for the Co. C team proved easy picking for the Navy team. The Navy team is looking for games with any of the city teams. The Navy line-up follows: Blanchard, catcher; Brian, pitcher; Lindberg, first base; Smith, right short; Oline, left short; Swanstrom, second base; O'Donnell, third base; C. Whiteside, right field; Huyck, left field.

SIGN THREE PITCHERS AND FOUR UMPIRES.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—While representatives of organized baseball again predicted its early demise, the Federal league yesterday continued collecting major league ball players, signing three pitchers as well as completing a quartet of umpires. The pitchers signed are Russell Ford of the New York Americans, who will be with the Chicago Federals; Howard Camnitz of the Philadelphia Nationals, who will go either to Indianapolis or Pittsburg, and Edgar Willett, the Detroit pitcher, who was signed by Mordecai Brown, manager of the St. Louis team of the new league.

The battle to gain possession of the North Side plot on which the new league is to play ball here, was won by the Federals yesterday, according to President Gilmore and Charles Weegham, head of the local club, when the latter delivered a large amount of cash to the holder of a lease on a strip of land, which, if held by an enemy, would have made ball playing impossible on the field. The Federal leaguers out-generalled and out-sold representatives of organized ball in the efforts to get the strip, they said, but President Johnson denied all knowledge of an attempt to balk them.

Easy for Dillon.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 21.—Jack Dillon, middleweight pugilistic aspirant from Indianapolis, easily defeated "Vic" Hanson of Salt Lake City in a 12-round bout here last night. Hanson was knocked down for the count of nine twice during the bout, and at no time threatened Dillon.

Demaree Remains Giant.

New York, Jan. 21.—The signed contract of Al Demaree, one of the crack pitchers of the New York National league club, was received yesterday by President Hempstead.

STAR PLAYS IN 1913 FOOTBALL

Dr. Parke Davis Sums Up Last Season as to Unusual Feats, Long Kicks and Long Runs.

New York, Jan. 21.—Some astonishing cases showing the popularity of intercollegiate football during the season of 1913 have been compiled by Parke Davis, Princeton's member of the rules committee and noted statistician in this department of sport. According to his estimates, computed from personally collected data, 400 colleges and 5,000 schools throughout the country were represented by elevens last autumn. Approximately 43,200 games were played and 150,000 players participated in the contests and practice. Placing the average attendance at these games as low as 300 the total attendance would not be far from 13,000,000.

Amid the great amount of data secured by Dr. Davis, many interesting and unusual football facts are recorded including long runs, field goal kicks, high scores and other peculiar gridiron feature plays. The longest goal from the field was a place kick of fifty-two yards scored by Carl Woodward of Tulane university against St. Louis university. The second longest goal was also a place kick, forty-nine yards, achieved by J. J. Dunn of Baltimore City college against Gilman school. The honor of the longest drop kick scoring a goal goes to a school boy, James M. Porter of McKenzie school, who, in a game against Hackley school, sent the ball spinning over the bar forty-five yards distant. The longest goal from a drop kick by a college player in 1913 was the forty-three-yard goal by H. A. H. Baker of Princeton against Yale. Separated from Baker by a single yard, are R. M. Calvin of Pittsburg who sent a drop kick from the 42-yard mark through Carlisle's goal posts, and H. P. Tallman of Rutgers, who duplicated the feat against Trinity. Two other place kicks entitled to mention were a 45-yard goal achieved by Ronald Kinney of Trinity against New York university and a 46-yard goal by H. A. H. Baker of Princeton against Holy Cross.

The record for the greatest number of field goals by a single player in one game goes to Charles E. Brickley of Harvard, who scored five against Yale. Pressing him closely, however, is the school boy performant, Porter, who, in the game against Hackley referred to, kicked three other goals from the field, all by drop-kicks.

One of the surprising features of 1913 was the frequency of long runs from kickoff. Hitherto they have been so rare that seldom more than one appeared throughout a season. The following freak scores were rolled up during 1913:

Newberry 159, B. M. I. 0; Allegheny 116, Wooster 0; Gallaudet 103, Baltimore 0; Louisville 100, Washington 0; Washington and Jefferson 100, Grove City 0.

An opposite cause of distinction is found in the record of New York university, which played eight games without achieving a single victory or scoring a single point.

BALLOON RACE WILL START FROM K. C.

New York, Jan. 21.—The international balloon race for the James Gordon Bennett cup this year will be started from Kansas City, Mo., on Oct. 6. The contest committee of the Aero club of America has awarded the race to the Kansas City Aeroclub, which agreed to offer $7,200 in prizes, free gas to the entrants, and to make all arrangements for handling the event. The Aeroclub of America had the privilege of making the award by virtue of the victory of Ralph Upson, American, in the international race from Paris last year.

Upson and Capt. H. E. Honeywell, the American pilot, who finished second in the 1913 international event, will be offered the opportunity of being two of the United States team of three to enter the 1914 race, it was announced.

The third member of the United States team is not yet selected.

Kentucky Horsemen Meet.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 21.—The Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' association, at its annual meeting here today, re-elected Edward A. Tipton president. A resolution was adopted approving the proposed amendments to the rules of the National Trotting association and American Trotting association, providing that the records made in performances against time shall not be considered as a bar to eligibility to races.

CHARGE MADE AGAINST SOO

Canadian Hockey Team Said to Have Used Professionals.

Duluth Beaten in Second Game of Series By 8 to 3 Score.

According to the statement of Palmer Harbinson, manager of the Duluth Curling club hockey team, the seven of the Canadian Soo, which defeated the Duluth team last evening, was packed with professionals.

"Team packed with professionals. Game very dirty, but no one hurt," was the message flashed to The Herald from the Soo. In a message to Secretary McGregor of the club, confirmation of this charge was borne out.

If this is true, the officials of the Canadian Soo club are taking a deliberate step toward breaking up the league. Professionalism is one of the things that has been fought by the Duluth officials, and its outcropping is an offense that they hope will be sternly dealt with.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Jan. 21.—The Canadian Soo hockey team reversed the result of the first game of the series, by coming back last night and defeating the Duluth team by the score of 8 to 3.

The ice was in excellent condition and the game was one of the fastest ever seen in this section of the Northwest. The team play of both of the aggregations was great, but in the general combination work the locals excelled and it was in this regard that the edge was secured.

Wray Is a Star.

Wray, playing his first game of the season with the Canadian Soo team, proved the star of the contest. The new member was a flash and scored three of the goals hung up by the locals. In addition to the three goals scored by Wray, it was his clever combination work that resulted mainly in the scoring of the remainder of the points of the winning team.

Linder, Kahler and Owens played a great game for the visitors. Capt. Linder was in the game every minute and gave a remarkable exhibition of defensive work.

The lineup:

Soo, Ontario—		Duluth—
Hesson	g	Bellack
Elliott	p	Linder
Smith	c	Bogan
Wray	r	Barkell
Wilson	rw	Owens
Nichols	lw	Pryor
Yacombach	c	Kahler

C. McClurg, referee.

FRED CURTIS TO MANAGE WINNIPEG.

According to news received from Winnipeg, Fred Curtis has been made manager of the Winnipeg baseball team. It is not known who will be the manager of the Superior team during the present season. W. J. Sommer is said to have several men under consideration. Curtis has a fine lot of material at his command.

FULTON WINS IN ONE ROUND

Minneapolis White Hope Knocks Out Mr. Mike Burns.

Fred Fulton, the Minneapolis policeman, made short work of Mike Burns, who claims New Orleans as his home. The Burns party made a rush for the Fulton fellow in the first round of the embroglio and Fulton thereupon swung one from the floor that made immediate connection with the chin of the Burns party. While the people were walking out Mr. Ulrich's arena the Burns one arose and asked if the storm had done a great deal of damage.

One of the things Mr. Burns did—the only thing of consequence—was to strike Fulton on the nose. This seemed to anger the tall and angular Minneapolitan and he then swung the afore mentioned swing from clear behind him and the Burns hope ceased to hope.

Windup Is Very Good.

Kid Coffee, who hopes to get a roll, was up against Young De Foe, who hails from Red Wing. Despite this fact the youngster is good. Coffey and—De Foe went ten rounds at full tilt and the battle was the only one of the evening that presented anything of a cheering nature. Those present were cheering the contestants at frequent intervals.

The bout was of an even nature, though some of the spectators were inclined to believe that De Foe had somewhat the better of the bout. It was good, both boys being willing and mixing all the way through.

Kid Billings of Superior had little trouble with Young Harvey of Duluth. The referee stopped the bout in the second round to prevent any further unpleasantness to young Mr. Harvey. It was the Duluth boy's first bout—and it may prove to be the last. Who knows?

According to the announcement of Promoter Ulrich the winner of the white hope bout of last evening will be sent against Al Palzer.

BAGLEYS AND BIG DULUTHS WILL MEET.

There will be a hockey game this evening at the French rink in the West end between the Bagleys and the Big Duluths. As the two teams are great rivals for honors in the Duluth Amateur league, the contest is expected to prove one of the most interesting that has been played in the league during the present season.

At the Northern Hardware company's store tomorrow evening there will be a meeting of the league. As there are some important matters to come before the consideration of the officials, it is desired that all of the representatives be present.

Wins at Billiards.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 21.—Charles Morin of Chicago last night defeated Harry Cooler of Indianapolis in the interstate three-cushion billiard league game 50 to 44.

Rucker a Trolley Dodger.

New York, Jan. 21.—"Nap" Rucker has signed a three-year contract with the Brooklyn National league club. This announcement, just made by Vice President Edward McKeever, put to rest the rumors that the star left-hander would jump to the Federal league.

JOEL GATES IS FINAL WINNER

Joel Gates won from Brother Clough Gates in the final game of the Minneapolis event last evening at the Duluth Curling club. As will be remembered, the Superior curlers were tied for the final game of this event, it not being finished during the spiel. The score of 15 to 6 was a genuine surprise.

There are a number of games on this evening's draw at the club. From now on all of the games will be rushed. Following is the result of the Gates game and the draw for this evening.

DATE SET FOR SKI TOURNEY

Announcement was made today that the tournament of the Duluth Ski club would be held on Feb. 8. Requests for entries have been sent out and it is expected that names of prospective riders will be coming in within a few days.

Officials of the Duluth club believe that the tournament of the present season will be one of the best held here in years, should all the plans under way materialize.

It is expected that all of the clubs that have withdrawn from the National association will help make the tourney a large one.

TRIES HIMSELF OUT.

Johnny Coulon Will Box Young Sinnet at Racine.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—Johnny Coulon, bantamweight champion, left this morning for Racine, Wis., where tonight he boxes "Young" Sinnet of Rock Island, in a bout expected to show to a certain extent what chance he would have to successfully defend his title against Ed Campi or "Kid" Williams, who seek it. Sinnet finished his training at Racine.

Neither boxer expected to have trouble making the stipulated weight of 116 pounds at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Basket Ball Results.

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 21.—In the last few seconds of a fast game Chicago defeated Illinois at basket ball here last night, 12 to 11. Most of the game was fought under the Maroon basket.

Northfield, Minn., Jan. 21.—Basket ball last night: North Dakota Agricultural college, 26; Northfield college, 24.

Football Player Recovers.

Winfield, Kan., Jan. 21.—Fred Hamilton, the Southwestern college football player, who shattered his fifth cervical vertebra in a football game on Thanksgiving day, left the hospital yesterday apparently entirely well. For five weeks the athlete was incased in a plaster cast, affixed so rigidly that he could not move his head or neck in any direction.

PLAN MEAT IMPORTS ON ENORMOUS SCALE

Lower Meat Prices in Duluth May Result From Entrance of New Competitor.

Preparations for the importing of Argentine and Australian meats upon an enormous scale are being made at New York, and the effect of this may be reflected in lower meat prices in Duluth.

A large English company, headed by Sir William Vestey, is announced to have leased a large water front at Brooklyn, which with the purchase of a cold storage plant now on the property and the proposed building of another one, will involve an approximate outlay of $800,000.

The heavy shipments of meats which this company plans to bring in, together with the cargoes being laid down by the Cunard company, and the preparations for importations on a large scale from New Zealand as permitted by the new tariff, are expected to eventually lead to a substantial lowering of meat prices in this country.

It is the intention of the new syndicate to run weekly beef boats, which will greatly increase the volume of the meat trade. Direct importations from Argentina and Australia to New York instead of via Liverpool or London, will, it is estimated, reduce the cost of those meats to the English basis. The concern just entering the trade is declared to be competitive with the older companies which have controlled the business for so many years, so that an interesting situation for consumers is thus created.

PROFITED BY THE "UNSCRAMBLING"

That shareholders of former producing companies of Standard Oil company have not fared badly since the dissolution of the trust, is evidenced in the statement that four of these concerns, the Ohio Oil, Prairie Oil & Gas, South Pennsylvania Oil, and Washington Oil companies, paid cash dividends of $10,585,000, last year, as compared with $8,200,000 in 1912.

In addition to these cash payments, shareholders of the Pennsylvania Oil company received a stock dividend of 300 per cent and the right to subscribe to new stock to the extent of 100 per cent of their holdings as a result of an increase in the concern's capital stock to $12,500,000.

The balance sheet of the Ohio Oil company showed a surplus of $49,000,000 against only $15,000,000 capital stock outstanding. Its liquid assets were over $25,000,000.

The wonderful prosperity of the oil producing companies is said to be attributable largely to the enormously increased consumption of gasoline through the development of the automobile industry.

CRITICIZES GOVERNORS

White Makes Report at United Mine Workers' Meeting.

Green Says Union Treasuries Contain Three Million Dollars.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 21.—Sharp criticism of Former Governor W. E. Glasscock of West Virginia and of Governor E. M. Ammons of Colorado for what he termed a hostile attitude toward labor in connection with the coal miners' strikes in those states was made here yesterday by John P. White, president of the United Mine Workers of America, at its annual convention.

Friendly relations of the United Mine Workers with the Western Federation of Miners were touched upon by Mr. White, who expressed regret at the recent deportation from Calumet, Mich., of C. H. Moyer, president of that organization.

Mr. White recommended biennial convention of the miners, advocated a change in basis of representation at national conventions of the organization and a new method that will give the rank and file the right to choose delegates. He surveyed the negotiations that ended in the Cleveland agreement in connection with the interstate joint movement, and said this agreement gave the organization great impetus.

"Our union is solvent," said Mr. White; "it has clothed, fed and housed the strikers and their families; protected men against oppression; secured the highest mining rate in its history without the aid of a serious strike; the interstate joint movement has been rehabilitated, and more than 125,000 new members have been added, all of which should be gratifying to every true friend of the trades union movement."

Three Millions in Treasuries.

"In our district, sub-district and local union treasuries there are more than $3,000,000, every dollar of which can be used for defensive purposes," said William Green, secretary-treasurer, in his annual report.

The monthly relief assessment of 50 cents a member will be continued, the report states, and, with the regular income, will be sufficient to continue the coal miners' strikes indefinitely.

The mine workers expended $1,624,942 in relief work among its striking members during 1913, according to Mr. Green. In addition, the striking copper miners in Michigan and strikers in other localities were aided from the war chest of the coal miners. Total expenditure for all purposes in 1913 amounted to $2,102,261.

Work in Non-Union Fields.

Development of the United Mine Workers in non-union fields was commented on at length in the report of Frank J. Hayes, vice president of the organization. He also spoke in disapproval of the labor situation in West Virginia; was caustic in his comment on the campaign of the Colorado mine owners in the Western coal mine strike and was outspoken in his criticism of the Sherman anti-trust law in its application to organized labor, and insistent in demanding its repeal or amendment.

"During the last two years we have waged a vigorous campaign in the non-union fields," he said. "Organization of the non-union fields is one of our chief tasks, and the culmination of the campaign we have started must and will result in the complete organization of the coal mining industry of the land.

"In the last two years we have added 121,426 new members to our union. Half of the total gain in membership shown by the American Federation of Labor during the last year came from our union, and, because of our success in recruiting new members and conquering new fields, the American Federation of Labor has exceeded all records, and now has more than 2,000,000 members."

SAYS BEARD SPOKE FROM HEARSAY

Dr. C. J. Woolway Replies to Criticism of Poor Farm Conditions.

Bitterly criticizing Dr. R. O. Beard of the University of Minnesota Medical college for launching into an attack on conditions at the county poor farm without first having personally visited the institution, Dr. C. J. Woolway, medical superintendent of the county institutions, brands the remarks of Dr. Beard yesterday noon at the Commercial club as a "rank injustice."

Dr. Beard spoke at a luncheon given by a committee from the Woman's council and during the course of his talk he declared that the care of the sick at the poor farm amounted almost to malpractice. He advocated the securing of a corps of trained nurses for the institution.

Dr. Woolway, superintendent of the institution, had the following to say with regard to Dr. Beard's remarks:

Relied on Hearsay.

"If the doctor who made the statement that conditions at the hospital amount to malpractice, had taken sufficient interest to make a personal inspection before uttering such charges, instead of relying on someone else to inform him, his opinion might be given more weight.

"The complaint that a trained nurse is not employed for the maternity cases is trivial," he said. "We have had a number of such cases, and the nurse in charge has always handled them in an entirely satisfactory manner, and all have responded satisfactorily to the attention and care given them. There is not a case in the hospital at this time where there is any temperature, and trained nurses would actually be in the way.

"The great majority of the cases are those of men with ailments which do not require the attention of a high salaried trained nurse. There are ablebodied inmates who care for these cases under my direction and the treatment is all that could be desired. We had 714 cases at the institution last year and the death rate is remarkably low considering that many of the cases sent to the poor farm are those which the hospitals in the city had refused absolutely to accept. The wards are kept neat and the beds are as clean as can be found in any hospital and any criticism which charges a lack of attention for those unfortunates brought to the institution is not founded on fact."

COURT HEARS NELSON CASE

Writ of Review Sought By Former Virginia Board Commissioner.

His Attorney Claims Council Acted Outside of Its Authority.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Hughes in district court here today heard arguments for and against the writ of review sought by S. A. Nelson, who was removed by the city council from membership on the fire and police board for alleged drunkenness and other acts. The court reserved judgment.

Attorney M. H. McMahon of Virginia, appearing in support of the writ, contended the city council lacked jurisdiction because Nelson had not been properly served as to the time and place for the hearing of the charges against him. He also contended the charges made in the accusation did not constitute sufficient cause for removal. Admitting that the charges were true, Mr. McMahon argued they did not constitute sufficient cause for removal since the alleged acts were not committed at a time when Mr. Nelson was engaged in official duties as a member of the board. He also claimed the council exceeded the authority conferred in the city charter.

City Attorney D. D. Morgan, resisting the motion, argued against all the points set up by Mr. McMahon and contended the council did have authority to remove Mr. Nelson and that it acted within its charter power in hearing the charges and removing him.

Starts $2,500 Damage Suit.

A damage suit for $2,500 was filed in the district court today. Zekan Pullach is the plaintiff and the Mahoning Ore & Steel company is defendant. The plaintiff seeks this sum for injuries sustained while working in the Mahoning mine at Hibbing.

Several damage suits against various companies for various amounts less than in Pullach's suit were also begun today.

MUCH ROAD WORK IS NOW PLANNED

Itasca County Board to Carry Out Voters' Wishes.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the meeting of the board of county commissioners, steps were taken to get things in shape for an early start in building the trunk line roads for which the county elected to issue bonds last fall as soon as the weather conditions permit of operations being taken up in the spring.

Notice for bids was ordered published for a road running eastward from Grand Rapids to where the main roads now forks east of Swan River. This is an important stretch and will be among the first to be looked after in the spring. There has been some question as to whether or not the line of this road as now contemplated is most feasible, and it may be decided to change it to run along the meridian line.

Want Western Road Bids.

It was also decided to ask for bids for a road running westward from Deer River to the Mississippi, there to connect with the Duluth-St. Vincent road.

It was found that the plans and specifications for the road from Grand Rapids westward to Deer River had not been completed and action on this stretch was laid over until next meeting.

The most important and costly piece of road under consideration at the meeting was the piece running from Deer River northward to the Koochiching county line. This line is estimated to cost $40,000 and is the connecting link between Deer River and Northome. At its southern extremity it connects with the Duluth-St. Vincent line and with the International Falls-Twin City line at the northern end.

The contracts for these roads will be let as soon as bids are received and work commenced on them as early in the spring as possible.

TO REREAD METERS.

Discrepancies in Hibbing Bills Are to Be Checked Up.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Though December is a month in which light bills ordinarily run high and though last month the meters were read for forty days instead of thirty as has been the custom, indignant residents who believe that they have been overcharged will be given every benefit according to the decision of the council last evening, when a rereading of all the meters in the village was ordered.

It is believed that in this manner any error may be caught and corrected and a refund made to the user who paid under protest.

It is expected, however, that the length of time that elapsed between readings is largely responsible for the size of the bills.

$3.50 Recipe Free, For Weak Men.

Send Name and Address Today; You Can Have It Free and Be Strong and Vigorous.

We have in our possession a prescription for nervous debility, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that we think every man who wishes to regain his health, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So we have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write us for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men and we are convinced it is the surest-acting combination ever put together. We think we owe it to our fellow man to send him a copy in confidence so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop drugging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what we believe is the quickest-acting restorative, upbuilding, spot-touching remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop us a line like this: Interstate Remedy company, 4671 Luck Bldg., Detroit, Mich., and we will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $3.00 to $5.00 for merely writing out a prescription like this—but we lend it entirely free.

MISS PEARLE A. SHEEHY.

PROF. G. C. JENSEN.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Pearle A. Sheehy of this city and Prof. George C. Jensen of Virginia will take part in the meeting of Boys' Study and Recreation Club of the Presbyterian church on Friday evening at the home of Mrs. R. M. Cornwell, 215 Chandler avenue when the evening will be devoted to great composers. They will sing.

CHISHOLM MAN ROBBED OF $520

Former Boarder Who Stayed Over Night Suspected of Theft.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Annise Lajber, a Monroe location boarding house keeper, was robbed of $500 in cash and a $20 check last night after retiring for the night.

Nick Earmovich, a former boarder, stayed there last night and is missing today. The thief used an axe to pry open the house desk where the money was kept.

The police are searching for Earmovich.

FROM COCOON TO SILK.

Hibbing Sixth Grade Learning About Silk Culture.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The children of the industrial sixth grade are today learning the process of silk manufacture, from the cocoon to the woven silk. The class is divided in sections, part of the children are winding the fine soft thread from the moistened cocoons, others boiling or scouring the skeins of floss to remove the gumlike substance of the cocoon, while still others dye the skeins, or learn the manner of weaving the floss into cloth. About the room are exhibited numerous pieces of silk cloth which have been loaned to the students by Hibbing people, showing the different uses to which the finished silk may be put. This afternoon the room is opened to the patrons of the school.

VACANCY IS FILLED.

Herman Antonelli Appointed on Hibbing Library Board.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Herman Antonelli last night was appointed by Mayor Power to succeed Rev. Frank Durant as a member of the library board and has accepted.

Mayor Power pointed out that Mr. Antonelli had been indorsed by the board, that he had been of service to the members in the past by helping select books for people of his nationality and that the foreign element were not at present represented on this board.

Mr. Antonelli has been a hard worker in all civic organizations in the village and is interested in the work of the library.

HIBBING MONEY MACHINES TABOO.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Slot machines that pay nickels instead of trade checks are not to be tolerated in Hibbing according to an order issued last evening by Mayor Power informing the chief of police to so instruct all saloon keepers and proprietors of poolhalls or other establishments where such machines were alleged to have been run.

Get Scales Bids.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bids were received last night by the council from the Howe company and the Fairbanks-Morse company for furnishing the village with a scale for public use. They were laid on the table until the next meeting when a decision will be made.

WILL SPEAK ABOUT ITALIAN IMMIGRANTS

Native of Italy Will Occupy Eveleth Church Pulpit Sunday.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The services in the First Presbyterian church on Sunday evening will be of special interest to the people of Eveleth. Rev. Gaetano A. Lizzi will be the principal speaker, his subject being: "The Italian Immigrant and the Roman Catholic Church." Mr. Lizzi is especially qualified to speak on this subject, having come from Italy about seven years ago. He is a native of Naples where he was a member of the Waldensian church. His work since coming to America has been exclusively among his own countrymen. Since November he has been on the Mesaba range, holding a commission from the Presbyterian Board of Home Missions in New York under the department of immigration. He will make Eveleth his headquarters for the next few months. Previous to coming to the range, Mr. Lizzi labored successfully on the Pacific coast with headquarters at San Francisco where he established a mission and also at Portland, Tacoma, Los Angeles and other points.

Has Been Encouraged.

Since coming here Mr. Lizzi has received much encouragement from his countrymen of the range who are welcoming him to their homes and giving him their confidence. According to the census of 90 there are over 7,000 Italians on the Mesaba, more than one-half of the number in the entire state, and Mr. Lizzi finds that this large and growing element of population has been neglected by both the Protestant and the Catholic churches. He is opening day schools where the children are taught the Italian language, and is organizing Sunday schools and missions among them where they receive Bible instruction. Prosperous and well attended schools are already established at Virginia, Gilbert and Mountain Iron, and the work is now being organized here at Eveleth.

In his address on Sunday evening Mr. Lizzi will speak of the Italian immigrant and his present relation to the Roman Catholic church and tell why he is becoming indifferent religiously thus demonstrating the need of aggressive Christian work among the Italians. The services will begin at 7:30 and all are most cordially invited.

HIBBING'S COAL RECEIPTS SHORT

Big Discrepancy Between Amount Charged for and Received.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—A report from the water and light commission was received by the village council last evening claiming that there was a difference of $943 in the amount of coal billed and the amount received from the Hibbing Lumber company.

According to the communication these discrepancies were discovered by checking the bills with the freight bills. Differences of from 2,000 to 40,000 pounds were found to exist and in some cases whole cars that were charged had never been received, according to the board.

Big Discrepancy Alleged.

It is charged that the difference between the coal charged and the coal received amounted to 219,000 pounds, that four cars were billed and not received and that freight was paid on three cars that were not billed or received.

The recorder was instructed to notify the Hibbing Lumber company to have a representative at a joint meeting of the council and the water and light commission called for next Tuesday evening at 8:30 when explanations will be requested.

ALLEGED SHORTAGE FOUND IN ACCOUNTS

Missing Hibbing Official Said to Be Short in Accounts.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—That there is an apparent shortage of $6,982.85 in the accounts of J. L. Stewart, village accountant, whose mysterious absence from Hibbing since Dec. 18, when he left in response to a telegram announcing the death of a brother, has caused endless comment and speculation, was the information contained in a report to the council presented last evening by Special Accountant S. S. Williamson.

Not only was the shortage alleged to exist, but the system of bookkeeping used in the office was decried, lax methods were alleged to have been used and a practically complete change was recommended.

Mr. Williamson explained that in making this report at the request of the council he had had no opportunity to thoroughly examine all records and that the figures might be subject to change. The books, he explained, had not been posted for some time, no cash balance had been kept and no trial balances prepared at the end of each month. The lack of any record of money paid for meter deposits or of the transactions involving the purchase of cemetery lots made it hard to get at the exact figures on short notice.

In Two Classifications.

According to the report the shortage is in two classifications, one, $6,011.92, existing, it is claimed, in the cash book, and the other of $970.93 orders given Mr. Stewart by Sam Harris.

The Harris transaction is a peculiar one, according to the information that can be secured. The village orders were given the accountant in trust by Mr. Harris. When they were called in for payment, Mr. Stewart had gone and Harris went to the village treasurer for the money. The money was paid over after a complete receipt had been taken noting the numbers of the warrants, the amount and with the understanding that the orders were to be produced. It was expected that they would be found in the small safe in the village vault, to which Mr. Stewart only held the combination. They were not found, though other papers belonging to Mr. Harris were carefully addressed to him in an envelope. Since that time a number of the warrants have been turned into local banks by apparently innocent purchasers.

Need New System.

The need of a new system for carrying on the financial work of the village was outlined by Mr. Williamson in one of his reports. A daily cash balance was ordered taken beginning today, while other features will be added as rapidly as possible.

A monthly balance report from the accountant and the treasurer was recommended and will probably be adopted. This balance would be presented to the council and undoubtedly included in their minutes for the information of the public.

A book for recording cash taken in from other sources than the payment of water and light bills will also be installed.

An effort is to be made to straighten up the tangle involving the cemetery lots by having John Wineberg, who has charge of the ground, appear before the joint session of the council and water and light board with such records as he has in his possession.

DAMAGE SUITS ARE SETTLED

Virginia Council Disposes of Actions Growing Out of Blast.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—A settlement between the city council and several claimants for damages by reason of injuries sustained on account of a blast fired by a gang of men in the employ of the city was agreed upon by the council last night.

The damages by the blast were to the occupants of a hack in a funeral procession from Eveleth to this city and to the hack itself, when the horses became frightened and ran away. The driver and all of those in the hack were more or less injured and the hack was badly demolished. By the terms of the settlement B. N. Jereissati will receive $110, J. Ellerd $110, D. David $60, Albert Bonsnala $55 and Daniel Coffey, owner of the hack, $150.

To Thresh Out Report.

Alderman Heritage, chairman of the finance committee, asked that the report of the chartered accountants who made an investigation of the permanent improvements for the years 1910, 1911 and 1912 recently, be taken up and considered in committee of the whole. The report was submitted to the council two weeks ago, when the finance committee submitted a majority and minority report. The minority report was prepared and presented by Alderman Heritage, in which he recommended the suspension of City Engineer E. F. Johnson and this was opposed in the majority report, signed by Alderman McGhee and Harvey, the other members of the committee. The matter will be threshed out by the council at a meeting which will be held on Friday afternoon.

Annexation Laid Over.

The matter of the annexation of West Virginia to the city, which was petitioned for by the residents of that section several weeks ago, was laid over until some time in the future, the council desiring further time in which to consider the matter.

It was decided upon recommendation of the finance committee to extend financial assistance to the Virginia Ski club for the national tournament which is to be held here next month.

TRY OUT NEW SLIDE.

Virginia Ski Jumpers Are Testing Contrivance Before Tournament.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The snowfall of the past two days has brought joy to the officers and members of the Virginia Ski club. The lack of snow had made it impossible for a tryout of the new slide which would demonstrate its possibilities in the way of records being broken here next month. Axel Hendrickson was the first rider to make the run and during his trials he attained a distance of 145 feet. The best jump made on the old hill at any time was 139 feet, and local skiers are confident that the world's record of 169 feet will be shattered here next month. Local riders plan to be out in force next Sunday, when it is expected the slide will be in first-class shape, and Axel Hendrickson, the somersault artist, will give an exhibition at that time.

EJECTMENT SUITS ARE INSTITUTED.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Suits have been brought in the district court by the North & Southside Land company against residents of Orange, Balsam and Magnolia streets and Mesaba avenue who are said to be occupying houses belonging to the company. The defendants are declared to be in houses which are on the site of the Columbia mine, which is to be operated by the Interstate Mining company. Several of the defendants appeared in court and asked for sixty days' time in which to find new quarters. About forty residents of the streets named are affected by the suit.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

FAIR

The cold wave arrived all right but it is not so terrible after all, merely giving the air a tang which to most people is enjoyable. The prediction is for fair weather tonight and tomorrow with the thermometer going as low as 15 deg. below zero. The ranges will get it worse than that.

A year ago today was fair and cold. The sun rose this morning at 7:45 and will set at 4:54, giving nine hours and nine minutes of sunshine, two minutes more than yesterday.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Much colder weather prevails in the lake region, central valleys and south western states, while over Western Canada, the eastern Dakotas and Minnesota there was a further drop in temperature during the last twenty-four hours. Light snow or rain fell during Tuesday or last night over the Lake region, Ohio and upper Mississippi valleys, Atlantic and Pacific states, North Dakota and Montana."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Thursday:

Wisconsin—Mostly cloudy tonight and Thursday;; somewhat colder tonight in east and south portions.

Minnesota—Generally fair tonight and Thursday; slightly colder in east portion tonight.

Iowa—Generally fair tonight and Thursday; slightly colder in east portion tonight.

North Dakota and South Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Thursday; not much change in temperature.

Montana—Unsettled weather tonight and Thursday, probably snow; not so cold in northeast portion.

Lower Michigan—Local snows and colder tonight; Thursday generally fair.

Upper Michigan—Colder and fair tonight, except snow near Lake Superior; Thursday fair.

TWO POSITIONS ARE COMBINED

Ely City Engineer to Look After Water and Light Too.

Ely, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council held its regular bi-monthly meeting last evening. Routine business was transacted after which it was decided to combine the offices of city engineer and superintendent of the water and light department, giving to the superintendent of the water and light department an assistant. Charles Nutter, the present city engineer, was appointed to the joint position and William Mitchell, assistant superintendent.

During the illness of the late T. W. Toal, Mr. Nutter had charge of this department in addition to his work as engineer for the city.

Water Supply O. K.

A report was also received from the state board of health relative to the water supply of the city, and it was shown to be in splendid shape. The supply has been tested monthly since last summer, when there were several cases of typhoid in the city, but examination of the water supply failed to show the typhoid germs in the city water.

PLANS SLEIGH RIDE.

Ely Young Men's Club to Enjoy Spin Over the Snow.

Ely, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Young Men's Social club are planning on a sleigh ride next Saturday evening, closing the evening with a social hour at the home of one of the members.

The S. H. and E. F. of A. entertained last evening in the Odd Fellows hall at a necktie social. A large number were in attendance and the evening thoroughly enjoyed.

The Rev. Joseph C. Mapson, pastor of the Presbyterian church is reported ill at his home with grip.

BANGOR MINER IS VICTIM OF HOLDUPS.

Biwabik, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The officers are trying to find the highwaymen who yesterday held up and robbed Joe Plichtach, a miner employed at the Bangor mine, of $50 as he was returning home from work. He claims the men who robbed him were Austrians.

Plichtach said that when he was passing a dark stretch of road, two men attacked him from the rear and that he was thrown to the ground. On offering resistance, he said, they beat him about the head and took from his pocket $50 in bills.

BOUND OVER FOR STRIKING RELATIVE.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 21.—John LeSarge was brought before Justice Kearney and placed under bond to keep the peace. He was arrested on complaint of his mother-in-law, who claimed that he had struck and kicked her when she interferred to prevent him from beating his wife.

Deputy Sheriff Gunderson went after him, but LeSarge refused to accompany the officer, and the latter found it necessary to handle him rather roughly before he could get him to the lockup.

MOTHER! IF CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED

If Cross, Feverish, Constipated, Give "California Syrup of Figs."

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Don't be fooled!

CROSBY'S FUTURE IS TALKED ABOUT

Members of Commercial Club Discuss Pertinent Matters.

Crosby, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Securing a bridge across the Mississippi river at a point that will accommodate the greatest number of farmers living north of the river, a report from the white way committee, the question as to whether Crosby could have more saloons if the village took a census and found that the population was great enough and the appointment of a committee to arrange for a farmers' institute were among the subjects of interest that were given attention at the Crosby Commercial club meeting Monday night.

Secretary Charles S. Roulo reported that the white way committee had succeeded in collecting the assessments from local property owners and that there were but a few out-of-town holders to hear from.

The question was raised as to whether or not Crosby could have more saloons if the citizens took a census and found that the population was large enough. Attorney F. E. Murphy stated that only state or United States census figures could be taken in granting saloon licenses. According to Mr. Murphy, Crosby will not be entitled to more than one saloon until next year.

New Bridge Needed.

Dr. H. W. Froehlich brought to the attention of the club the fact that in connection with the new road that will run north to the Mississippi river there should be a new bridge. He suggested that it be built at a point that will accommodate the greatest number of north country farmers. The matter was referred to the committee in charge of the north road. Because the farmers can get cash for their products in Crosby, instead of having to take trade checks, as they do at Brainerd and other range points, Dr. Froehlich stated that they were anxious to come here to trade. In this connection, he said, County Agricultural Agent A. J. Agtke had agreed to furnish speakers for a farmers' institute, providing the Crosby Commercial club would make arrangements for a hall and a feed. This, Dr. Froehlich believed, would promote a friendly feeling for Crosby among the farmers and work to the good of the village. J. B. Haskell, W. G. Young and F. F. William Butt were appointed as members of a committee to take the question up and see what could be done.

Whether the board of education of School District No. 51 plans on holding formal dedication services when the new Franklin grade school is completed was another question given attention. The members of the club thought that some fitting services should be held and the club will endeavor to interest the board along such lines.

ASSETS EXCEED LIABILITIES.

New York, Jan. 21.—Smith, Gray & Co., dealers in men's clothing, with branches in other cities, were thrown into bankruptcy by creditors today. The liabilities are estimated at $450,000; assets at $825,000. Receivers were named for the company's stores both in New York and Brooklyn.

The firm was organized in Brooklyn forty-five years ago by Edward Smith and Allen Gray. It does both a wholesale and retail business. Among the creditors are the executors of the estate of the late Millard F. Smith, son of the founder, with claims for money loaned. Edward Smith, II, is president of the concern. The proceedings are said to be friendly.

River Holds Body.

Williston, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The treacherous Missouri river refuses to give up its dead, and authorities who searched for the body of Carl Dean, who drowned near this city, have desisted.

But for Dean's action in shouting his name to would-be rescuers, after it was apparent that they could not save him, the identity of the drowned man would never have been established.

Crosby Couple Wed.

Crosby, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Katherine M. Gillis and Edward Burns, both of Crosby, were married at the Lakeview Roman Catholic church parsonage Monday afternoon. Father Quillien officiating. They will be at home in the pretty new bungalow recently built in Lakeview addition by Mr. Burns. The groom is employed as head bookkeeper at the Ironton mine.

A WOMAN'S HEALTH

Every woman's health is peculiarly dependent upon the condition of her blood. How many women suffer with headache, pain in the back, poor appetite, weak digestion, a constant feeling of weariness, palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, pallor and nervousness? If you have any of these symptoms, do not despair of getting better but begin now, today, to build up your blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. See how the nervous energy of the body is restored as the blood becomes pure and red and the entire system is strengthneed to meet every demand upon it.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are useful for all women but they are particularly valuable to girls of school age who show symptoms of going into a decline, who become pale, nervous and languid. These pills aid in securing perfect development and health by strengthening the system and purifying and building up the blood. Thin blood during the growing years of a girl's life usually means a flat-chested and hollow-cheeked womanhood. There can be neither health nor beauty without red blood which gives brightness to the eyes and color to cheeks and lips.

Write now to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for two helpful booklets, "Plain Talks to Women" and "Building Up the Blood."

Why Should We Suffer?

Why should any person in this enlightened age run the chance of ending their lives in misery? Why should you, my friend, who have everything to live for, neglect your condition and put off treatment for even a day, knowing these facts, when it may be avoided so easily? Knowing that you want to get well, and free from suffering—free from pain, and so that you may profit by newly originated treatment. It matters not how bad your case may be or how different doctors have failed to help you; it matters not how despondent or discouraged you are; it matters not whether you have faith, you will be convinced in a very short time that the Electro Vito treatments will drive all pains from your body, and make the world look brighter, give you more ambition, strength and energy, and start you on the road to health. So do not despair or give up, it is only necessary that you simply try to see yourself again.

Let the Electro Medical Doctors aid you in the restoration of your health.

HOW I CURED MY SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

A Friendly Scientist showed Me How to Cure It Forever

I WILL TELL YOU FREE HOW TO GET RID OF YOURS TOO

For a long time I was sorely troubled by a hideous growth of Superfluous Hair on my face and arms. My face was indeed a sight from the exasperating growth and I grew almost to hate myself for my unsightly appearance. There are many things advertised for Superfluous Hair, and I think I tried them all but never with any result, except to waste my money and burn my skin.

But, notwithstanding all my years of disappointment, today there is not a sign of Superfluous Hair on my face, arms or anywhere else. I got rid of it through following the advice of a friendly scientist, a Professor of Chemistry at an English University. The treatment he advised is so thorough, simple and easy to use that I want every other sufferer in America to know about it. It worked such a change in my appearance and my happiness, that I gladly waive my natural feelings of sensitiveness and will tell broadcast to all who are afflicted how I destroyed every trace of hair, never to return.

If you are a sufferer and would like to have full details, just send along your name (stating whether Miss or Miss) and address, and a two-cent stamp for return postage and I will send you in full detail the advice and instructions which resulted in my own cure after all else failed. Address your letter, Mrs. Kathryn Jenkins, Apt. 651 B. C. No. 264 Purchase St., Boston, Mass.

NOTE: Mrs. Jenkins as her photograph shows, is a lady of refinement, and for years was well-known as a Society Leader in Scranton, Pa.

ALLEGED SLASHER IS PUT ON TRIAL

Frank Jacobs, Negro Porter, Says Conductor Abused Him.

Frank Jacobs, negro porter, charged with having slashed A. D. Cummings of St. Paul, Pullman conductor, in the face with a knife on Nov. 22 following a quarrel between the two, was brought to trial in district court this afternoon on an indictment charging first degree assault.

Cummings is expected to testify that the negro cut him with a knife after he had reprimanded him for not reporting on time. Jacobs claims that the conductor used abusive language in addressing him.

EUGENICS LAW FAVORED BY HEALTH COMMISSIONER

Recommends State Supervision of Marriages in Annual Report.

Breed Thoroughbred Stock; Why Not Thoroughbred Human Beings?

DR. H. E. WEBSTER.

That marriage should be under state supervision; that the control of the liquor problem means in large measure the solution of public health problems; that health work is hampered by the patent medicine exploiter and unlicensed practioners, and that no sympathy should be wasted on smallpox victims because the disease can be prevented by vaccination, are features of the annual report of Dr. H. E. Webster, director of public health.

"Marriage should be under state supervision," says the report. "Only those capable of bearing progeny without taint of disease should be allowed to wed. The breeder of horses, cows, swine and sheep, the horticulturalist and the agriculturalist have a system of eugenics, but the tainted human is allowed to sow future seeds of sorrow and death without restraint.

"Intoxicants play a most important part in general health welfare as well as in baby welfare. Closely associated with over-indulgence in intoxicants is venereal disease. This combination is a most formidable one and strikes at the very heart of American life. The control of the liquor problem means in large measure the solution of public health problems.

"Our work to control chronic infectious troubles is hampered by the pernicious influence of the patent medicine exploiter and the unlicensed practitioner. The former is perpetuated by advertisements without which they would soon sink into oblivion. The latter are also given to using the same medium to draw victims into their net, but they have the additional audacity to employ large window signs of the most expensive character to enlarge their sphere of influence. Scores of lives are menaced, demanding intervention and legislation for the protection of the public.

Tuberculosis Work.

"We are pleased to report that our work in tuberculosis has apparently been productive of good results, as shown by the statistics.

"We believe that legislation should be enacted to prevent typhoid fever patients who contract the disease outside the city from coming into the city for treatment. It is impossible for them to come without menacing the health of our own citizens.

"We have succeeded beyond our expectations in the infant welfare work and have been ably assisted through service as well as financially by the Masonic fraternity. Our aim is not only to save the life of the baby, but to prepare the way for vigorous manhood and womanhood.

"Legislation relative to the regulation of barber shops, the sanitary code and the handling of milk and meat is, in our opinion, along the lines which make for better public health and we urge the adoption of new measures along that line alone, which ought to outweigh any opposition based on the convenience of those intimately concerned.

Best Milk in Continent.

"We have the best milk on the continent and are constantly improving it. The last year was undoubtedly the banner year. Duluth babies may be fed milk furnished by almost any of our dairymen without fear. Improvement in the methods of handling and delivery are contemplated for the near future.

"Last year we had sixty-seven cases of pneumonia, according to the records. Undoubtedly many cases were not reported. All but two of those which we have a record were reported by undertakers. We are not satisfied to remain in ignorance as to its extent and because of that ignorance make no effort to curtail its ravages. Heretofore we have used only the velvet glove but the steel hand lies underneath and we shall not hesitate to use it in the future unless a radical change is immediately manifested in reporting these cases.

"No sympathy ought to be wasted on smallpox patients, for the disease can be prevented by vaccination 99 out of 100 times. The health department offers this protection free to those who cannot afford to pay for it. For the past few years the disease has been of a mild character but we are beginning to receive reports from other cities where it is again figuring in the death reports. The public should take warning for smallpox will become malignant as it once was and useful lives will be lost through indifference."

ANCHOR LINE ASKS HEARING

Wants to Know If It May Continue in Business.

The Anchor line, the official name for which is the Erie & Western Transportation company so far, is the only lake line concerned under the Panama canal act, that has filed a petition with the interstate commerce commission asking for a hearing to determine whether or not it may continue operating vessels after July 1 next. This act, which was passed by congress, Aug. 24, 1912, and becomes effective July 1, prohibits railroads from retaining control of or interest in lake lines with which they compete. The act leaves the matter to the discretion of the interstate commerce commission as to when and where the act should be enforced.

Only a few days ago, G. Roy Hall, secretary of the traffic commission of the Commercial club, attended a meeting of traffic representatives of lake ports to discuss the matter. It was decided that the representatives should return to their homes, determine on the sentiment of the business interests of their respective cities and meet again next month. Mr. Hall said today that other companies, similarly situated, will doubtless file similar petitions in the near future. Many points will be involved, he said.

The company in its petition asserts that the steamers operated on the Great Lakes by it serve points that are not reached by either its own lines of railroad or those of associated companies. The company operates thirteen steamers, including the passenger steamers Juniata, Tionesta and Octorara, many of which make regular stops at this port.

The company also asks that an order be issued giving it authority to continue operation of the boats of the Erie & Western line, which handled package freight and passengers.

By the operatiton of the Anchor line steamers, the company avers that it is not in any way barring lake competition. It also claims that the line of steamers is being operated in the interest of the public and is an advantage to the convenience and commerce of the people.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

FEDERALS SERVE NOTICE OF READINESS FOR WAR

Chicago, Jan. 21.—The Federal league today notified the powers of organized baseball that their signing of players already under contract with the Federals will be fought in and out of the civil courts.

This ultimatum was in the form of a telegram which President Gilmore of the Federal league sent to President Baker of the Philadelphia Nationals, declaring he would "protect" the contracts signed by Ad Brennan and Will Killifer.

Ford Goes to Buffalo.

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 21.—Russel Ford of the New York American team, who is reported to have signed a Federal league contract in Chicago, will come to the Buffalo team, according to Manager Schlafly.

Ex-Catcher Caught.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—Frank C. Roth, catcher of the Chicago White Sox in 1906, when that team won the world's championship, and who played last season with Louisville, was married here today to Miss Maude Gleason. Both gave their ages as 35 years and their home as Burlington, Wis.

VILLAGE MOURNS GOSSIP VICTIMS

Does Day of Penance for Suicide of Young Couple.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—The hamlet of Cortland did penance today for the death of young Ray Aldis and his 16-year-old bride. The stationmaster alone of the 300 inhabitants was at work.

Aldis married his sister's daughter at Clinton, Iowa, and brought her home to live, only to be beaten down by the crush of gossip which greeted him and his bride. Threats of annulment of the marriage made the burden too great, and, locked in each other's arms, they took poison. Beside the empty vial was found a note laying responsibility for the act on the gossip of the town.

CAR LINE INQUIRY OPENS IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Jan. 21.—"As broad an inquiry as any ever conducted by the interstate commerce commission," was the way Commissioner Charles C. McChord characterized an investigation into the relations of the railroads with special car lines, opened here today. At least 150 attorneys, railroad men and traffic managers were present.

The inquiry involves tank car lines, fruit dispatch companies and meat refrigerator car companies—in fact, all cars not owned by the railroads. It has been charged that the products of corporations owning their own cars have been unduly favored in freight rates. Every phase of the situation will be investigated, McChord said.

PENSIONS TO EMPLOYES

Steel Corporation Has Paid More Than $1,000,000 in Three Years

More Than 2,000 on Rolls; Duluth Man Is a Trustee.

The third annual report of the pension fund of the United States Steel corporation shows that since January, 1911, the retired employes of the corporation have benefited to the extent of more than $1,000,000; $281,457.37 in 1911, $358,780.92 in 1912, and $422,815.14 in 1913. These figures show an increase of about $75,000 per year.

In the Pittsburg district alone, $133,885.07 was paid to retired employes; in the nearby coke regions, $51,130.21, and in other parts of Pennsylvania, $32,558.98. The Cleveland district received the large sum of $40,739.20; other parts of Ohio, $38,427.56. Those in Chicago received $14,513.59, while those situated in other parts of Illinois received $16,552.41. The iron ore region benefited to the extent of $19,996.16 and $32,698.12 was paid to those who had been employed in plants located at Worcester, Mass. The balance covers other plants scattered throughout the country.

There are now over 2,000 former employes on the pension roll with an average pension, for those added in 1913, of $20.85, an average service of 28.82 years and an average age of 63.73 years.

Basis of Fund.

The basis of the fund was $4,000,000 from the Carnegie Relief fund, to which the Steel corporation added $8,000,000, making a joint fund of $12,000,000. Operations were commenced on Jan. 1, 1911. The fund applies to all who were in the service of the United States Steel corporation, or of any company owned or controlled by it, on the above date, or thereafter. It is administered by a board of twelve trustees, viz., Frank D. Alamo, Duluth; Raynal C. Bolling, New York; William B. Dickson, New York; Robert A. Franks, New York; Elbert H. Gary, New York; James H. Hoyt, Cleveland; Kemper K. Knapp, Chicago; George W. Perkins, New York; James H. Reed, Pittsburg; Andrew Squire, Cleveland; Charles L. Taylor, Pittsburg and Hampden E. Toner, New York, through a manager who is located in Pittsburg.

Pensions are computed as follows: For each year of service, the employe receives 1 per cent of his average monthly pay received during the last ten years of service. For example—an employe who has been thirty years in the service and has received an average monthly pay of $80, in the last ten years of service, would receive a pension of $24 per month. No pension is less than $12 or more than $100.

Those Eligible.

All male employes, who have been in the service twenty years or longer and are 60 years or more of age, are eligible to pension. Women are eligible at the age of 50 years. The records show that a great many of those retired have taken up easier work and yet add good earnings to their pensions. Indeed, more than 70 per cent of those on the pension rolls voluntarily requested to be pensioned. Only in cases where it is obvious that employes are unable to properly perform their work, are they requested to retire, and then only on the personal approval of the president of the company employing them.

The plan embraces those employes who become permanently and totally incapacitated, for at the beginning of the year 1913, the rule relating to permanent disability was amended, so that any employe, age not considered, who has been in the service only fifteen years, and has become absolutely unable to earn a livelihood, through no fault of his or hers, as a result of sickness, or injuries sustained while not on duty, may be pensioned. If an employe is injured while on duty, he is taken care of by the voluntary accident relief plan.

All the time lost on account of disability, shut-down, or lay-off, not exceeding two years' duration in any one period, is credited to employes as service, provided of course they return to work as soon as they can after such lay-off.

If a retired employe desires to return to his native land, arrangements are made to send his pension to him by foreign bank draft or by postoffice money order, and he may remain as long as he likes. In case a pensioner becomes incompetent to handle his pension, it is paid to his wife or to a guardian.

WANTED FOR BREAKING HIS PRISON PAROLE.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Notice has been served upon the authorities of Grand Rapids by the Marquette prison officials that one M. J. Reese, alias E. A. Carter, arrested in that city on the charge of passing a bogus check and carrying a loaded automatic pistol, is wanted at the penitentiary here. The man has been identified as John M. Leonard. He was released from Marquette prison on a conditional parole in 1911. This parole he has violated and it is desired that he be returned to serve the four remaining years of a sentence given him in Lake county in 1904 on conviction for burglary.

OFFICIAL'S HEAD IS CRUSHED IN MINE

F. E. Woodbury of Milwaukee Is Killed at Ironwood, Mich.

Ironwood, Mich., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—F. E. Woodbury, vice president and general manager of the Schlesinger syndicate of Milwaukee, of which the Newport Mining company is a part, was instantly killed about 10 o'clock this morning. He was inspecting a shaft at the Newport mine, in company with General Manager E. L. Cullen and Capt. Grigg, and was in the ladderway when he looked up the shaft and did not notice a skip approaching from below. His head was caught between the skip and the steel set. He was about 53 years old and lived in Milwaukee. He had been here several weeks, attending to business matters at the mine.

HIGH PRAISE IS GIVEN PRESIDENT

Message Called Reassuring to American Commerce and Industry.

New York, Jan. 21.—The World editorially comments upon President Wilson's trust message as follows:

"Such a message as Mr. Wilson has written cannot fail to be reassuring to American commerce and industry. The days of government by denunciation, no less than of government by purchase, are ended. All the froth and foam and fury of the Roosevelt rocking horse crusade seem as far removed from the question at issue as one of Thad Stevens' speeches on Andrew Johnson. The executive authority of the government of the United States is now in the hands of a man, not in the hands of a spoiled child of fortune and the president is seeking to use that power to establish the peace that is honor and freedom and prosperity."

TUG STARTS ON MIDWINTER TRIP

Without harbor lights or the assistance of lighthouses anywhere on its trip, the tug Fashion started on a run to the north shore this morning. Navigation on the lake at this time of the year is unusual.

The tug has been chartered by the Booth line from its owners at Ashland, and is on its way to the north shore to collect a quantity of fish recently purchased by the company.

Although there is very little ice at this end of the lake, it is expected that the tug will run into a field before it reaches its destination on the north shore. The boat is expected back within a few days.

OBITUARY

Edwin Ginn, publisher of school and college textbooks and founder of the International School of Peace, died Jan. 21 at his home in Winchester, Mass., aged 76 years. He had been in failing health for several months. In addition to his labors in the cause of universal peace, Mr. Ginn had been prominent in an effort to establish more harmonious relations between capital and labor and in promoting better housing conditions.

Francis De Pressense, an eminent French political writer, who was for a few months in 1880 secretary of the French embassy at Washington, died in Paris Jan. 20, aged 60 years.

Russel C. Wetmore, 65 years old, vice president and treasurer of the American Shipbuilding company, died in Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 20 from pneumonia.

Archibald Couper, said to have been the oldest brother in Masonry in the world, died in Dunnville, Ont., Jan. 20, in his 93rd year, after being a member of the order for seventy-six years.

Capt. Jared Griffing, 89 years old, the last of the old New Haven sailing masters, died in New Haven, Conn., Jan. 21. Capt. Griffing was for years a notable figure in the coastwise shipping and West Indian trade. During the Civil war he gained considerable fame as a blockade runner.

Monsignor J. J. Prendergast, vicar general of the archdiocese of California, pastor of St. Mary's church in San Francisco, and a Catholic priest in San Francisco for fifty-three years, is dead. He was born in Ireland seventy-six years ago.

Alice A. Holmes, who delighted in the title of "The Blind Poetess of Jersey City," is dead at her home in that city. She was 93 years old.

Sheffield Silver

This ware, in reproductions of old-time English and Dutch patterns, is now firmly established as a table favorite.

We show a wide variety of pieces in tea and breakfast service sets, as well as in individual designs. The modern craftsman have well caught the spirit of the eighteenth century workers, reproducing with fidelity the quaint, simple, decorative quality which has brought Sheffield ware such popularity down through the century.

You will find the prices most moderate in our Sheffield Silver department. Single pieces can be obtained as low as $3.00 to $5.00.

MARKET HAS STRONG TONE

Wheat Holds Firm on Higher Liverpool and Argentine Cables.

Flaxseed Bulges at Opening and Then Sags Through Day's Session.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 21.—Wheat was steady up to the close. May wheat closed 1⅛c up and July 1⅛c up. May durum closed ¼c up.

Oats closed ⅛c lower at 35⅝@36⅛c. Rye closed unchanged at 52½@55½c for the best grades and barley unchanged at from 44c to 66c.

At Winnipeg, January oats closed at 32½c and May at 36¼c.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 87¾c bid and calls at 88c.

A strong tone prevailed in the wheat market today, though the spread in trading was narrow. There was an improved general inquiry, and bullish sentiment was created through the reported working of considerable hard winter wheat for export at the seaboard and higher Argentine and Liverpool cables.

Increased pessimism was advised at Buenos Ayres over the outcome of the harvest, and estimates of the exportable Argentine surplus were reduced to 64,000,000 bu.

St. Louis was higher, with improved business reported and on fears of possible damage to the winter wheat plant owing to cold weather coming on with the territory generally devoid of snow. Exporters and elevators at Kansas City were said to be buying May wheat freely against cash sales.

Inspections of wheat at Duluth today were down to 15 cars, against 92 last year, and there were just 61 cars all grains on the track for the day. Wheat stocks here have increased 95,000 bu in the last three days, and they are now up to 12,848,000 bu. Stocks of all grains in Duluth elevators are reported at 19,057,000 bu, a gain of 144,000 bu since the beginning of the week.

Arrivals of wheat at Winnipeg today were only 56 cars against 462 last year, but the slump was mainly attributed to a severe storm setting in over the Canadian West.

May wheat opened unchanged at 88¼c and gained ¼c during the first three hours' business. The July option opened ⅛c up at 89⅞c and held on that basis. May durum opened ⅛c up at 87½c and advanced ¼c more on good inquiry.

Flax Trading Nervous.

Flaxseed was strong at the opening on the execution of liberal buying orders from crushers. That resulted in advance of 1⅛c in the May option during the first few minutes trading. After the early orders were filled, the market turned dull and a sagging tendency was shown to the close. The light receipts at Duluth and Winnipeg were bullish influences in the market.

May flax opened ⅝c up at $1.63½, advanced to $1.64 and closed ¼c up at $1.63½.

The July option was not traded in, and it closed nominally ¼c up at $1.49⅛c.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed at $1.33½ bid, and July at $1.35½ bid.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Tokens of appreciation from the successful candidates in yesterday's Duluth board of trade elections were in evidence on the floor today. W. J. McCabe, B. Stockman and H. J. Atwood opened up boxes of cigars; W. C. Mitchell a box of apples, and D. A. Willard a box of oranges.

Improved demand for flour during the last few days is reported by A. D. Goodman, manager of the Duluth Universal Milling company. The betterment is in a measure attrnbuted to the impression that the Canadian government will not place wheat and flour on the free list during the present crop year, at least.

Price Current says: "Another spell of warm weather over the winter wheat belt brought a thaw which ended in rain over a large portion of the area, and snow over a small portion. The land is not in condition to have a freeze on the heels of the wet weather. Hogs for the week ending Jan. 17, were 648,000, compared with 688,000 for the preceding week and 504,100 for the corresponding week a year ago."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The easier American cables and pressure at Winnipeg were offset here by less favorable reports from Argentine and the strength in Buenos Ayres and Rosario, and at the opening values were ¼d higher. Following the opening, there was a further gain of ¼d which was maintained throughout the morning, but trading was dull. The demand for spot and expectations of liberal world's shipments again this week and liberal stocks at all centers, served to check the advance. At 1:30 p. m., the undertone was steady, ⅛@¼d higher.

"Corn—Opened ¾d higher. The easier American cables were offset here by firmness in the Argentine markets and less favorable crop news from that quarter. The cold weather here is increasing consumption. During the morning, the market was dull at the opening advance."

Broomhall's International Review today says: "The market was firm during the early part of the week, later easing with the continent irregular. The sustaining influences were the reduction in the Australian crop, smallness of Argentine offers, absence of Indian offers, and lack of selling pressure from North America. The weakening influences were the large Australian shipments and large stocks everywhere. I think the market is likely to remain under the influence of heavy shipments because the Argentine movement is sure to increase and Australian shipments are sure to keep large. It is expected that fair to good quantities will be received from North America and Russia and, as already there is evidence of freer offers from the Danube. The continent is absorbing the great bulk of it. The demand from importing countries is generally about as large as expected. Germany is disappointing, but Mediterranean countries continue to buy freely. The present large supplies cannot be maintained without help from North America and Russia. The latter still maintains great reserves as regards selling and some authorities predict that Russia will not ship freely before spring."

* * *

Advices received by Broomhall from Australia today said that the standard for wheat at Sydney had been fixed at 64 pounds to the bushel and at Adelaide at 61½ pounds.

* * *

Flour shipments from Minneapolis mills from Jan. 1 to date this year were reported at 894,000 bbl., as compared with 1,047,000 bbl a year ago.

* * *

Cash wheat was reported in good demand at Minneapolis today. Cash No. 1 northern sold there at from 86⅛c to 89c and cash No. 2 northern at from 84c to 86c.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Is Stronger Owing to the Cold Weather.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 21.—Cold weather over the Northwest and higher outside markets imparted some strength to the local wheat market at the opening today.

Wheat—May opened 87⅞c, high 88¼c, low 87¾c, closed 87¾@87⅞c bid. July opened 89½c; high, 89⅝c, low 89¾c, closed 89⅝@89½c bid.

Flour millers reported a moderate demand in the flour market. Fancy patents, $4.55; firsts, $3.35; seconds, $2.50. Shipments, 55,009 bbl. Barley, 48@66c; rye, 55c; bran, $22.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Argentine Reports Cause Advance in Wheat Prices.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—Wheat advanced today on account of unfavorable harvest reports from Argentina, where estimates of the surplus had to be again reduced. Cold weather northwest of Chicago tended also to help the bulls, as fears were aroused that a severe drop in temperature might occur throughout the winter crop belt. The market opened ⅛c to ¼@⅜c higher and made a slight additional gain.

A further rise came on news of export sales at New York. The close was steady, ⅛@¼c to¼@⅜c net higher.

Failure of the Argentine crop to maintain recent high promise gave some strength to corn. Offerings, however, became decidedly plentiful at a slight advance. Prices started the same as last night to ⅛c higher and seemed inclined to keep within that range.

Subsequently reports showing 5 to 7 per cent decrease in the number of meat producing animals on farms compared with a year ago, acted as a depressing influence. The close was easy ¼c to ⅛@⅜c net lower.

Oats hardened with other grain. Demand, though, was small.

Weakness at the yards left the provision market without friends. First sales were 2½@5c to 10c lower and a further sag followed.

Wheat—No. 2 red, 96@96½c; No. 3 red, 93@93½c; No. 2 hard, 89¼@90½c; No. 3 hard, 88½@89½c; No. 2 northern, 90@91c; No. 3 northern, 88@89c; No. 2 spring, 89@90c; No. 3 spring, 88@89c.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Favorable Trade News Affects Steel and Railroad Groups.

Dealings Largest of Any Since Improvement Began.

New York, Jan. 21.—Improving tendencies were evident today in the stock market with the short interest an active factor in the advances. Special stocks were influenced by favorable trade news. This was particularly true of the steel and railroad groups, many new high prices for the movement were reached.

Bonds strong.

A strong tone pervaded the market at the opening today. The active shares were bought in large amounts, and with few exceptions higher prices were quoted. Reading, Lehigh Valley, Northern Pacific, Louisville & Nashville and Western Union made a gain of about a point.

Speculative sentiment was more hopefully disposed, and after a slight pause following the opening dealings the advance was resumed. The Pacific group was especially strong, Northern Pacific and Southern Pacific gaining a point each.

The high price realized for the New York state $51,000,000 of 4½ per cents stimulated the general market. These bonds sold on the curb at 107⅝. Prominence of Reading had a good effect, as it probably indicated completion of the recent selling that had held it back.

A sharp reaction in Reading checked the upward movement. When out-of-town buying orders began to come into the market as a result of the successful state bond sale, prices again advanced with a heavy demand for the Western stocks.

The market closed strong. Distribution at the higher levels took off the edge of the advance, but the undertone was not impaired. Dealings in bonds and stocks were the largest of any day since the improvement began. Gains reached a point or more in eighty stocks.

WEST DULUTH CURLERS

Ray McDougall, lead for the Wade rink at the Western Curling club, is one of the new members of that organization and played his first curling games this year. "Mac" says he enjoys the game, and that his only regret is that he did not start at it two or three years ago.

The Quinn, Evered and Mallory rinks were put out of the Union Match trophy by losing to their opponents last night. Quinn lost to Olson by a score of 11 to 10; Evered was defeated by Zauft by a 12 to 6 score, and Wade defeated Mallory by a score of 12 to 10. This evening Iltis will play Wieland; Olson will play Sullivan, and Zauft will be opposed by Simpson.

The draw in the event follows:

BANQUET PLANS KEPT IN DARK

Wampus Club Secretly Arranges Annual Program for Jan. 29.

Mystery surrounds the plans for the "blow-out" to be given by the Wampus club on Thursday evening, Jan. 29. The members call the affair the club's second annual banquet, and it will be held at Gilley's hall, 322 North Central avenue.

Martin Kennelley, president of the club, and a cohort of assistants are said to be scouring the brush in the vicinity of the stone crusher for the "wampus," which Mr. Kennelley claims to have discovered early last year and which he later allowed to roam around while fattening for the feast. Among his assistants in the search for the "animal" are Leon Pond, R. J. Baker and Herb Winters.

The banquet is to be an exclusive affair. Only twenty-five guests are to be invited and it is said that there will be a scramble for the places. Last year the banquet given by the club was attended by twenty-three guests.

PLAN FOR 500 BANQUET GUESTS

Reports of the names selected to fill the positions on various committees of the West Duluth Commercial club will be made at the meeting of the club Friday evening. The selection of the names was made at a meeting of the special committee of ten members held a week ago.

It is expected that the club will also announce the names of the members of the club who will serve on the general committee, which will have charge of the club's annual banquet to be held early in April. The club intends making this affair one of the biggest ever held by the organization and if a sufficiently large hall can be secured plans will be made for entertaining about 500 guests.

The members will discuss the subway under the D., M. & N. railroad and the completion of the Getchell road. The subway and a bridge across Keene's creek are the only improvements needed to complete the highway to the farming district.

LONG ILLNESS ENDS.

Mrs. Samantha Beatty Succumbs at Duluth Hospital.

Mrs. Samantha Beatty, 51 years old, wife of John A. Beatty, 226 North Fifty-sixth avenue west, died at 2:30 o'clock this morning at the Duluth hospital after an illness of four months. Mrs. Beatty had been a resident of West Duluth for about fifteen years.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Beatty is survived by one son, Clifford Butterfield of Spokane, Wash., and four sisters and six brothers. The funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the residence, and the body will be taken to Bangor, Wis., her former home, for burial.

WILL LECTURE AT SOCIAL CENTER MEETING

Dr. E. L. Tuohy will speak on "Heredity in Connection With Tuberculosis" at the meeting of the social center at the Irving school tomorrow evening. The lecture is one of a series to be given on "Heredity" at the social centers of the city.

Carroll Graff will also speak on the work of the Duluth Remedial Loan association in the city. It is probable that arrangements may be made to have a branch of the association established at the social centers to which the people of this end of the city can apply when wishing to borrow money.

At the women's meeting of the social center much interest was shown by the visitors in the cooking school. The preparation of cereals, cooking and serving were demonstrated by the instructors. The class will become a permanent feature of the Tuesday evening meetings.

Mission Service.

Rev. C. V. S. Engstrom, pastor of the Swedish Mission church of West Duluth, will speak this evening at the Swedish Mission church of the West end. The program will also include vocal duets given by Misses Jennie and Hulda Erickson, and Misses Anna Norain and Esther Philstrom.

Dies at Jeffrey, La.

Mrs. F. H. Crowley of West Duluth yesterday received word that her brother, William B. Carlin of Jeffrey, La., had died suddenly on Monday. Mr. Carlin was a resident of West Duluth for several years and at one time was superintendent of one of the local saw mills. He was in charge of a large sawmill at Jeffrey, La. The message failed to state whether Carlin met with a fatal accident or whether death had occurred from natural causes.

Funeral on Friday.

The funeral for Mrs. Bridget Method, wife of Victor Method, 325 North Fifty-nine avenue west, who died yesterday morning, will be held Friday morning at 9 o'clock from the St. James Catholic church. Rev. D. W. Lynch will officiate. Interment will be at Calvary cemetery. The funeral will be attended by members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the A. O. H. and the Ladies' Aid society of the church.

Gauthier-Gemett.

Miss Mabel Gauthier and Peter Gemett were married at 8:30 o'clock this morning at the St. James Catholic church. Rev. John Begley read the service. Mr. and Mrs. Gemmett will make their home in this end of the city.

West Duluth Briefs.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the West Duluth Swedish Mission church will be entertained tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Simon Gilluson, 4025 East Superior street.

Duluth chapter, No. 59, R. A. M., will hold its regular meeting this evening at the West Duluth Masonic hall.

John O. Winten, 611 North Central avenue, is passing a few days in St. Paul, attending the meeting of the Masonic grand lodge. Mr. Winton is worshipful master of the Euclid lodge of West Duluth.

The trustees of the Asbury Methodist church, Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street, will entertain this evening at a reception in the church parlors. A program of several numbers has been prepared.

The twenty-sixth annual ball given by the Butchers' union, Local No. 12, will be given Thursday evening at Coffin's dancing academy. Admission, 75 cents per couple.

Rev. T. J. Paulson of Virginia is conducting a series of revival meetings this week at the Swedish Mission church, Fifty-ninth avenue west and Greene street.

Watch repairing. Hurst, W. Duluth. Adv.

L.A.A.O.H. ATTENTION
All members of Division No. 2, Ladies' Auxiliary, A. O. H., are requested to attend the funeral of our late sister, Mrs. B. Method, Friday morning at 9 o'clock at the St. James Catholic church.
(Signed) MARY E. SPENCER, Secretary.

Superior

BANQUET FOR SOO PRESIDENT

Edmund Pennington Is the Guest of Superior Business Men.

Superior business men will turn out en masse this evening to the complimentary banquet to be tendered to Edmund Pennington, president of the Soo railroad, at the Commercial club. The committee of the Rotary club, which has the affair in charge, has received applications for tickets and it is expected that about 250 guests will be present.

Mr. Pennington, accompanied by a number of the railroad officials, arrived in the city early this morning. At 4:30 o'clock this afternoon a reception was held at the Commercial club in his honor. The banquet will begin at 6:30 o'clock.

RED CROSS SEALS WERE STOLEN

Discrepancies amounting to considerable sums have been discovered in the sale of the Red Cross Christmas seals by the local tuberculosis committee which has been in charge of their sale. Hundreds of the seals have been stolen, it is said, from the cards left in various stores, the thieves evidently taking the stamps for their own use or else selling them to others interested in the movement. Since the discoveries of the shortage were made the police have been working on the case, but have been so far unable to get any track of the parties who took them. The local committee raised about $700 from the sale of the stamps this year.

SUPERIOR MAN TO HEAD MILWAUKEE SCHOOLS

N. P. Cotter, former principal of the Nelson Dewey high school of the East end, was last night appointed superintendent of schools of Milwaukee. Mr. Cotter left here several years ago to take charge of the schools of Pueblo, Colo., and is now superintendent of schools in St. Paul.

TO EXTEND INTAKE.

Stambaugh City Council Is After Purer Water.

Stambaugh, Mich., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—In an attempt to procure for domestic consumption water that is not foul smelling and nauseating, as is the case at present, the Stambaugh common council has ordered that the intake pipe in Ice lake be extended 400 feet. It was noticed last summer that the water in the lake, which is the source of supply for the entire village, had attained a fish-like taste and by fall the taste had become even "fishier." The flavor has persisted with the arrival of ice and cold weather and now in an endeavor to get rid of the taint the intake pipe will be extended into deeper water. The fishy taste is noticeable even in prepared foods. Every day in Stambaugh is like Friday elsewhere.

Hardwood Men Meet.

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 21.—Lumbermen from different sections of the country are here today to attend the annual convention of the Hardwood Manufacturers' association of the United States. The convention will continue two days. Technical subjects were considered today.

M., in Book 298 of Mortgages, on page 72, and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz.: Lot numbered Ten (10), Block numbered Fourteen (14), West Park Division of Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said St. Louis County and State of Minnesota, together with all the hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging, which said sale will be made by the sheriff of St. Louis County in the sheriff's office in the Court House in the City of Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 14th day of February, 1914, at ten o'clock A. M. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of $1,046.00 and interest and taxes, if any, on said premises, and $50.00 attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale, as provided by law.

Dated at Duluth, Minn., Dec. 31, 1913.
JOHN M. ROBINSON, Mortgagee.

HUGH J. McCLEARN,
Attorney for Mortgagee,

Help Those Who Help You, Mr. Dealer

There is no copyright on the Golden Rule, and it is not open to improvement. It works mighty well in business—works for your pocketbook.

The manufacturer who goes into The Herald with his advertisements of goods on your shelves is trying to help you.

The least you can do is to help him by showing his goods and pushing them. (If they were not worthy of it you wouldn't have them in stock, would you?)

Just make this one of the golden rules in your business to help the manufacturer who helps you.

You will be surprised to find out how it will work for good all around.

Serve the Public, Mr. Dealer

When a reader of The Herald picks up his paper and sees a nationally made article advertised, his first thought is where can he get it.

Mr. Dealer, that's your cue!

Tell him you have the goods. Mention the fact in your advertising.

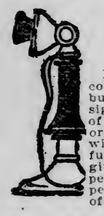

Show them in your windows. Let the manufacturer know that you appreciate his efforts to make a market for you.

Serve the public while public interest is aroused.

And by such service you serve yourself—first in immediate sales and second by getting the friendship of the manufacturer who may have other good things to throw your way.
